TEACHERS' COLLEGES ARE REMAINING IN LITTLE NINETEEN

McANDREW AND BEYER IN ATTENDANCE AT MEETING IN CHICAGO

The expected eruption in the Little Nineteen conference meeting failed to materialize and an unusually peaceful session was held at the Y. I. A. C. annual gathering at the Sherman Hotel in Chicago, on December 2. The local college was represented by Coach William McAndrew, athletic director, and Dr. Richard L. Beyer, faculty commissioner of athletics.

As was expected, one of the major issues of the annual affair was the relationship of the state colleges and the Liberal Arts colleges of the conference. The major discussion seemed to come from alleged inequalities in attaining eligibility and the resolutions adopted were for the purpose of equalizing the requirements in the quarter and the semester basis as used respectively by the State colleges and the Liberal Arts colleges.

At a summer meeting a committee was appointed for the purpose of studying the situation and making recommendations at the recent annual meeting. Two of these recommendations were adopted by the body.

The first was that a student entering the winter quarter would be ineligible six weeks and a student would be ineligible for spring competition when entering the spring quarter. If entering for the first time in the fall quarter the athlete becomes eligible immediately.

Second, a student attending a college operating on a quarter basis, who passes less than 16 quarter hours work and then stays out a term must be in attendance a quarter before he is eligible for competition or he must make up the deficiency in a summer school.

A minority report by the committee was to the effect that the conference be divided into two sections.

Commerce Club Plans Varied Program for Tomorrow Evening

A program that promises to be entertaining because of its variety and range of interest will be presented by the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the Sororitic Hall. The concluding feature will be a theatre party at the Barth Theatre in Carbondale, following the program.

On the program proper, moving picture reels of the Egyptian pyramids will comprise the first number. Following this the entire audience will participate in singing some well known and popular songs. Virginia Shields (B), will lead the singing. A talk by Kenneth Bayer on the subject of the manufacturing industry will be the next number on the program. Malinda Ragsdale (3), will then play a piano solo. She has not announced the selections which she will play.

Miss Esther M. Power of the English department, who has spent some time studying in England, will address the audience on "Glimpses of Commercial Life in England." This number on the program will no doubt be as delightful as it will be educational.

Motion pictures showing "Paths in Palestine," followed by a Motion Picture of the S. I. T. C. Homecoming parade, will conclude the program presented on the campus.

Hill Announces December 10 Last Day in Pictures

Margaret Hill (8), editor of the 1933 Obelisk, announces that all pictures for the year book must be taken at Cragg's studio before December 10. Positively no cuts will be accepted after that date, even though the number ready for appearance is small. Following the new policy of responsibility under which the book is to be managed this year, finances have been planned in detail, and the management feels it cannot neglect the reduction offered by the engraving company if the material is presented on that date. Therefore, unless individual class pictures are made by the end of this week, they will NOT appear in the Obelisk of 1933.

S. I. T. C. Presented With Martin's Books On Aeronautics

Mr. Rex Martin, secretary to Congressman Kent E. Keller, has presented to the Southern Illinois Teachers' College with a copy of his three-volume treatise on COMMERCIAL AERONAUTICS. Mr. Martin was formerly a student here, and has recently spent some months in Carbondale in connection with the candidacy of Congressman Keller. He served during the war in the field of aviation, applied himself to both the theory and the practice of aviation and thus became a recognized expert in the subject.

The books which he has written and edited are used as standards texts of aviation in colleges, high schools, universities, flying schools, and ground schools. Their merit is widely recognized, as the following typical statement from Mr. Clarence M. Knox, Commissioner of Aeronautics of the state of Connecticut, will indicate:

"I have had the opportunity of looking over your work on commercial aeronautics quite in detail, and I do not hesitate to say that I consider this the most valuable work of its kind to be brought up to date. I certainly wish to compliment you upon the work and trust that it will meet with the immediate success to which it is entitled."

Mr. Martin's fine attitude toward the S. I. N. U. is expressed in the note of presentation which he has penned on the fly leaf of Vol. I, as follows:

"To S. I. N. U.:

Y.W.C.A. Sponsors Japanese Sale At Delta Sig House

On December 6 and 7 the Y. W. C. A. gave a Japanese Tea Sale at the Delta Sigma Epsilon house. Tea was served to the guests, who attended and many attractive articles were for sale. The proceeds of the sale went to the organization.

These Japanese tea sales are an annual feature of the Y. W. C. A. calendar of activities. They are unusually held just before Christmas, in order to give students and town people a chance to buy Japanese articles for Christmas gifts.

The tea this year was unusually successful, for there was both a wide and varied selection of articles for sale and a large number of guests who attended.

Faculty Members Attend Recital

Twelve faculty members and students attended the recital of Jascha Heifetz, world famous violinist, presented at the Odeon in St. Louis the evening of December 1. Miss Madeline Smith, Miss Louise Bach, a member of the Carbondale Community High school; Mrs. Edith Krappe, Miss Julia Jonah, Mr. Wendell Margrave, Mrs. Julia Chastaine, Mr. and Mrs. David S. McIntosh, Mrs. Helen Mathes, Dr. Vera Peacock, Aubrey Land (4), and Wendell Otey (3), attended the concert.

Proceeds From Textile Sale to Go To Student Loan

Four reasons why you should visit Room 111, Main Building:

1. To enjoy the oriental textiles—hand woven, hand blocked in lovely colors and textures.
2. To get ideas for Christmas at bargain prices—25c, 40c, 75c and up to $5.00.
3. To help the Student Loan Fund to grow.
4. To be able to tell others—Your mothers or your house-holders about this exhibit and to invite them to come to see it, too.

This exhibit will be up until Christmas vacation.

College Students Have Part in Play, "Crashing Through"

Several S. I. T. C. students will be seen in the performance, "Crashing Through," a play sponsored by the Lions club of Carbondale for the benefit of the school children's milk and food fund.

The play will be presented tomorrow night in the Shryock Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Marion Dill (3), has the feminine lead, the part of Helen Landers. Miss Dill is an actress of exceptional ability, and she has proved herself capable of carrying dramatic and comedy roles.

Pat Randle (3), who is well known for his character roles, will have the part of a polished young crook, James R. Broker. Mr. Randle will be remembered for his excellent interpretation of numerous comedy parts, and his performance in "Crashing Through" will be no exception.

Eddie Bagler, Jr., a youngster from the Allyn Training school, will be seen as the son of a big Indian chief. Eddie's name is "Little Strong Arm" in this performance.

The choruses will include, in addition to high school girls, the following college women: Amy Lewis Campbell (1), Virginia Draper (2), Cecil Rushing (2), and Mary Isabel Campbell (1).

The Lions' club is also sponsoring a popularity contest, the winner of which will receive an Elgin wrist watch. The greater part of the candidates have been selected from (Continued on page 6)

Roland Hays Club Elects Officers To Serve During Year

During the latter part of the fall term, the members of the Roland Hays club, colored musical organization, grouped themselves into a formal organization. Edward Woods (4), was elected president, Sarah Murdock (1), vice-president, and Mabel Walker (2), was chosen to serve as secretary-treasurer.

Meetings of the Roland Hays club are held twice weekly at the same time when the club meets for musical practice and rehearsal. Up to the present time, the group has no social affairs planned, but as the new term progresses, the members will doubtless arrange several functions.

Mr. David S. McIntosh, head of the Music department, is the director of this club.

MEN ORGANIZE CHI DELTA CHI ON LOCAL CAMPUS

FRATERNITY PLANS TO GO NATIONAL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

At a meeting held last Thursday night at Karr's house, 804 S. Normal, sixteen young college men organized themselves into a fraternity, known as Chi Delta Chi. The fraternity is local, but the chapter is enthusiastic and ambitious to become national in the very near future.

The meeting last Thursday was concerned primarily with the details of organization, the selection of an appropriate name for the group, the nomination of sponsors, and the election of officers.

James McGuire (1), was elected president; Max Heinzman (2), vice-president; Harold Brown (2), treasurer; John Robert Hill (1), recording secretary; Henry Hitt (2), was chosen corresponding secretary; George Huggins (1), first sentinel; Howard Moorman (1), second sentinel; and Donald Coleman (2), historian.

In addition to the officers, the fraternity includes the following charter members: Nelson Kias (3), Bill Bachman (1), Harold Green (2), Curtis Hill (3), Laverne Bishop (1), Leslie Perks, (1), Jim Stotlar (3), and Edwin Kraus (1).

A special meeting has been announced for tomorrow night, at which time the faculty sponsor will be selected, and the design for the fraternity insignia will be considered.

Mr. McGuire stated, "Chi Delta Chi isn't going to be just partially organized and then allowed to die out, but we're going to stay back of this organization and do all we can toward getting a national charter."

Judging from the fact that the fraternity is composed chiefly of underclassmen, who will be enrolled at S. I. T. C. for at least two more years, the outlook for the group is a particularly bright one.

The organization of Chi Delta Chi has the complete approval and sanction of President Shryock

Music Department Will Present Usual Christmas Program

As far as can be ascertained at the present time, the Music department will present the usual Christmas musicale at the Chapel exercises which in all probability, will take place on December 23. The MacDowell chorus and the Roland Hays chorus will have the principal parts, singing Handel's "Messiah."

"There will be ample opportunities for solo parts, the soloists to be determined and announced at a later date," stated Mr. David McIntosh, supervisor of both choruses.

The Christmas program, aside from the spring operetta, is one of the outstanding achievements of the Music department. According to partially completed plans, the choruses will wear the conventional white robe, as in former years. This coupled with the semi-darkness of the auditorium, the strength, clearness, and pure beauty of the voices, has never failed to leave a lasting impression upon the audience.

The general admission to a novelty dance sponsored by a university in California, was one-half cent per pound for the lady. Men were admitted free. Those who were too modest to be weighed were charged $1 for admittance. It pays to be thin!

Second Attempt of Y. W. Book Exchange Proves Successful

As still another phase of its many social service programs, the Y. W. C. A. conducted a very successful Book Exchange, on the first floor of the Main Building in Dean Woody's office during the first week of the term. This is the second undertaking of this sort this year, and proved much more successful than the one held the fall quarter.

Students who had books to sell brought them to the exchange in Dean Woody's office, filled out a blank leaving their name and address and the price of the book. The books were then left on a shelf—and students who bought them, left the money with the girls in charge at the desk. In this, over one hundred and seventy-eight dollars worth of books were sold. Of this amount, ten percent goes to the Y. W. C. A., while the rest is sent out to the original owners of the books.

Literally hundreds of the students took advantage of the exchange during the four days it was open. Most of the books brought in were quickly disposed of. The rest will be returned to the owners.

This plan was used by the Y. W. C. A. last year, but since the exchange was held on the top floor of the Science building, students were not so quick to take advantage of the opportunity. This year, with the books in so convenient a place, the exchange was crowded at all hours.

The book exchange was in charge of the social service committee of the Y. W. C. A., under the leadership of Mildred Workmeister (2). Other members of the committee are Margaret Ann Cummings (2), Marian Thrailkill (4), Irene Hemmshaus (2), Eleanor Etherton (2), Lena Bible (3), Leta Pennington (1), Elsa Keller (22), and Virginia Hueting (2).

The plan will be used again next term, probably with Dean Woody's office as the headquarters.

Tri Sigma News

Frances Mae Moore (1), pledge, spent the week-end at her home in Percy.

Margaret Watson (2), pledge, visited at her home in Golconda last week-end.

Mildred Connaway (2), and Florence Crossman (3), were Sunday guests of Mrs. Marvin Garfield at her home, on W. Elm street.

Bonita Leib (1), pledge, spent last week-end at her home in Spent.

Mildred Connaway (2), and Florence Crossman (4), were visitors in Du Quoin Tuesday night, where they attended an annual musical performance.

Juanita Richardson (4), visited at her home in Sparta last week-end.

MISS SARAH BAKER'S GRANDMOTHER DIES

Mrs. Mann, grandmother of Miss Sarah Baker, died at her home in Cobden, Sunday afternoon at the age of 82 years. The funeral was held at Cobden, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Mann had been ill for seven weeks.

MR. DON CAMERON TO ADDRESS JOURNALISTS

Mu Tau Pi will begin its winter term at a meeting this afternoon at Miss Esther Power's apartment. Mr. Don Cameron, publisher of the Carbondale Herald, will be the guest-speaker.

With the admission of four new members, Mu Tau Pi plans increased activity. An effort will be made to secure for Carbondale, in the mid-winter, a nationally known lecturer.

Students at Macomb Teachers' college were recently given the opportunity to express themselves on what they thought of petting. Of the individuals questioned, the women students were reluctant to express themselves, but the men quite frankly favored the matter in question.—The Western Courier.

Faculty

Dr. Richard L. Beyer and Captain William McAndrew attended the Little Nineteen conference meeting held in Chicago last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis La Croix of St. Louis, were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Cramer last week-end. Mrs. La Croix is the sister of Miss Julia Jonah.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Tenney motored to St. Louis with Dr. Richard L. Beyer Friday, November 25, to see "Maedchen in Uniform," a German vomic shown at the American theatre.

The faculty members living at the Geneva apartments celebrated Miss Krause's birthday with a breakfast last Sunday morning at the Roberts hotel.

Miss Myr Crawford, Miss Esther M. Power, Miss Emma Baywer, Miss Frances Barbour and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ragdale spent Thanksgiving vacation at Memphis, Tennessee, attending a convention of English teachers.

Miss Gladys P. Williams, Miss Emma Bowyer, Dr. Vera Peacock, Mrs. C. H. Cramer, and Miss Fay Hart entertained the A. A. U. W. with a Christmas party at the Cramer residence last night.

Dean George D. Wham addressed the members of the Epworth League of the First M. E. Church at the meeting last Sunday. Mr. Wham selected as the subject for his address, "Psychology and Religion."

Adams Arranges Lecture Series For Dramatic Club

Will Adams (4), chairman of the program committee of Strut and Fret, has arranged for a series of lectures pertaining to the various phases of dramatics, to take the place of the regular Strut and Fret programs. It was decided that the usual piano solo, reading, and vocal duet type of program was monotonous and relatively valueless from a practical point of view.

The initial lecture of the study course will be offered tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the Strut and Fret room, when Mr. Adams will speak on "Voice Training." Because Mr. Adams has had wide training and experience in public speaking and in dramatics, he can speak with authority on his subject. At the present time, Mr. Adams is conducting weekly classes in public speaking in Centralia. The lectures on voice training will probably extend over several meetings.

Following the completion of this series, Rhoda Mae Baker (3), president of Strut and Fret, will conduct a study of voice expression. As Miss Baker stated, she has studied elocution and expression "for years and years." Her portrayal of the numerous roles she has had in both college and high school plays, have distinguished her as an exceptionally fine actress.

When Miss Baker has completed her lectures on voice expression, James Restivo (3), will conduct the members of Strut and Fret in a study of stage makeup. Mr. Restivo will endeavor to make the course a laboratory, as he hopes to have the members experiment on each other with the makeup. During the sum-

Heitman Expects To Resume Studies About December 12

RAY HEITMAN

"I feel like nobody's business," said Ray Heitman, business manager of the Egyptian, who has been ill for several weeks with typhoid fever, to an Egyptian reporter. "But I do wish that every person who comes to see me would bring me three square meals. Gosh! I'm always hungry."

Mr. Heitman has been a patient of Holden hospital since November 14, and while his condition was serious for some time, his temperature has gradually dropped, and he is considered out of danger.

In his anxiety to return to his classes, Mr. Heitman expressed the wish that he might be out of the hospital and in his classes by December 12.

Anthony Hall

New residents at the Hall for the winter term include: Catherine Gould (1), of Belleville; Beryl Hankla (1), of Cobden; Lela Lewis (2), of Mounds, and Ethel Jennings (1), of Shawneetown.

Mary Rose Colombo, '32, and Dorothy Stoecklin (2), entertained last Saturday afternoon at an informal tea. The tea-table, laid in the living room, was appointed with yellow roses. Connie Bech (2), and Elizabeth Peace (1), poured.

Polly Peterson (1), visited at the home of Alice Baehr (2), New Athens, last week-end.

Einstein To Teach In U. S.

Professor Albert Einstein, famed originator of the theory of relativity, has accepted a life appointment as head of the School of Mathematics at the proposed Institute for Advanced Study, to be situated at or near Princeton, New Jersey. Professor Einstein will live at Princeton, but will spend his summers in Germany.—McKendree Review.

mer Mr. Restivo studied under Professor Baird at Northwestern university. Professor Baird is the author of a standard textbook on "make-up."

Miss Julia Jonah, dramatic coach and sponsor of Strut and Fret will conclude the study course, by delivering lectures on acting problems and coaching problems. This last set of lectures will prove to be helpful to those students who expect to do dramatic coaching in their teaching positions.

There will probably be 16 lectures in all which will extend through the winter and part of the spring terms.

Except for the meeting tomorrow night which will start at 7 in order to enable students to attend the performance of "Crashing Thru," regular meetings will be held each Thursday at 7:30.

Delta Sigma Epsilon

Virginia Chapman (3), pledge, who had computed from her home in Her-rin during the fall term, has taken up residence at the chapter house for the new term.

Mauriene Webb (4), president of the chapter, spent the week-end at her home in West Frankfort.

The annual Y. W. C. A. Japanese Tea and Sale started yesterday afternoon at the Delta Sig house. The sale will be concluded this evening. Mary Eleanor Helm (4), is president of the Y. W.

Betty McElhatten (1), of Du Quoin spent the week-end at her home.

Julia Jackson (1), of Vienna, has moved into the chapter house for the winter term.

Illinae Installs Officers at Meeting Held Monday Night

Installation of officers for the winter term featured the program given by the Illinae Women's Debating Society last Monday evening.

The officers installed for the term include: president, Georgia Sniderwin (3); vice-president, Lela Locke (1); secretary, Eleanor Etherton (2). As this was the first meeting of the term, the program was concerned with the studying of the ethics in debating. Impromptu speeches followed this discussion.

Miss Julia Jonah, sponsor of the group, conducted a discussion of inter-collegiate debating, and it was decided that an effort would be made to make inter-collegiate debating a feature of both the winter and spring terms.

W. A. A. Holds Sports Banquet November 17

Thursday night, November 17, the W. A. A. held a sports banquet in honor of the members of the volleyball and hockey teams, which played in the fall tournaments held the last three weeks of the term. Forty-four girls were present at the banquet, which was held at the Baptist annex at 6 o'clock.

The tables were attractively decorated in maroon and white, with a miniature volley-ball court and hockey field represented at either end. President Juanita Adams (4), acted as toastmistress.

After dinner, a program of talks, awards, and songs was given. Several of the girls had during the tournament gained enough points for a minor letter, while many freshmen acquired the required 100 points for active membership in W. A. A.

FIRST REGULAR MEETING OF ILLINAE TO BE DECEMBER 19

On December 19, the Illinae will have their first regular meeting for this term. A debate will be given on the subject: "Resolved: That the World War Debt Should Be Paid." The affirmative side will be taken by Margaret Cummins and Frances Noel, and the negative, by Euphemia McMurtone and Marjorie Womble.

OSCAR SHUTE, Manager

Sharps and Flats

Is there anything new on the campus? There ought to be because this is a new term. But for some reason new things aren't so frequent any more. There was the old freshman struggle for the favorite rhetoric teacher, but since the English department very obligingly rearranged all inconvenient schedules to suit the taste of the English department, there are no longer any disturbances in that area. However, the P. E. department is still hopping mad.

Just before the old term closed there was a ballyhoo abroad concerning the formation of the new all-weather fraternity, Rho Dammist Rho. According to brother McGuire of the said fraternity, it was a most dignified and elaborate organization observing all due forms of the most modern frats and staunchly supported by more than a score of leather-lunged actives.

This peculiar fellow Thompson, made his four A's again last term. And so it goes on forever. Always making straight A's and always ready to bet that next term he won't. Some day, somebody is going to take him up and bankrupt this genius. Say, this Dick Arnold ain't so bad, nuther. Nawwah.

We notice that the front seats in the freshman sections of the auditorium are largely vacant. It is also noticeable that the balconies are rather better filled than usual. This change of seats may indicate something, or may not. It shows, perhaps, that there are fewer freshmen in school, that the balcony is popular, and that the first eight or ten rows are unpopular. And there is reason enough. From a front seat, one can see the first row of faculty members, and the scenery that hangs above the stage. All are worthy objects in themselves but not exactly as exciting as watching Bailey pound these kettledrums. Verily, our freshmen are developing taste.

They have said that the hitch-hiking trail is not so good as formerly. Maybe it is not, but it serves as a bus line for a lot of us. And we find that it still works. An old S. I. N. U. sticker and a collegiate smile will generally pick up a ride to most old place. And then, too, one meets such interesting people. The last time we went home we rode with a gruff old truck driver who said he wouldn't shift gears on any hill between Carbondale and Anna; and from the way he set his chin when he said it, we believed every word. The next fellow we chanced on was a paradoxical old gent who talked about wild parties for a space and then recited Thanatopsis from start to finish without a break. What a man.

Last Saturday the Barth started another serial with a soul-stirring title. Which means that again we shall avoid the Saturday night presentations until the horrid thing has run its course. Ach, we don't care, we generally go home over the week-ends, anyhow.

On reading our diary we find that a vacation consists principally of afternoons and evenings. Somehow we don't remember any mornings that is, after 3 o'clock. And that, my dear, is the life of Riley. And though the old school is quite dull between Thanksgiving and Christmas, we're glad it's there. For recuperation and recreation, you know.

We hear reports of a class at S. I. N. U. in which there were 15 students. From this class of 15 two flunked and five made A's. That is what we term extraordinary. What a curve system, what a curve system.

Examination Wisdom

Final examinations provide such endless opportunities for priceless boners that the Egyptian could not resist printing another column of these funny, funny mistakes. If the readers enjoy them half as much as most of the instructors do, the column should be a grand success.

Patient Femme, Wasn't She?
"Henry VIII divorced his wife in order to marry a lady-in-waiting to be queen."

Productive Cows
"Three types of dairy products are corn for ensilage, hay, and sugar beets."

Exposes, Perhaps?
"The mystery play was about Col and some of his doings."

"A morality play is a play showing the work of saints."

Such Preachy Verse!
"It consisted of nine lines, eight with didactic pentameter and one with didactic sestetameter."

True, No Doubt
"The library is in excess to my use."

Fancy Nature!
"Anthracite coal is so situated in the mountainous regions of eastern Pennsylvania that the strata are in ruffle layers."

A Vegetarian's Definition
"Occupations are heavy foliage, such as evergreens, forest, and the Douglas fur tree."

A New Classification?
"Blank verse contains iambic pentameter feet, but is different from poetry in that it has no end rhyme."

Mixed Identities
"The second dramatist was Grammer who wrote Gurton's Needle."

"Kidd was probably the first writer of sea and adventure. He wrote The Spanish Tragedy."

What Was His Enrollment?
"Herrick was a very good poetry writer, having graduated from the Benjamin Johnson school. He was the best in his class at that time."

And So It Is!

The first of the winter term has come and gone. Everybody who flunked knows it. Some of us who thought we were going to didn't and are duly grateful. Some of us are gnashing our teeth because we didn't get the A's that we thought we were going to, and others of us are going around in a sort of daze thinking that maybe we have been burdened with an inferiority complex up til now and really are smarter than anybody gave us credit for being.

We're all signed up for four new courses—two of which we like, one of which we are indifferent to, and one that we despise. We've spent all our money to register and to buy textbooks, even though we did sell that history book we paid $1.00 for last term to Pete for $1.25.

We're still contemplating our four cuts in chapel and thanking our own especial ethics that the end of the term came when it did, so as to save us last term.

We're pretty mad because we have to go to school on 'till Christmas Eve, but two weeks at home look pretty good and we've already written to our girl at home to remember that vacation lasts 'til January 8.

In the meantime, we've settled down for three weeks more. We're not unhappy, nor are we particularly elated. "Life goes on."

Chemistry Seniors Meets Tuesday Night

Carl Renshaw (4), and Lowell Hicks (3), were the principal speakers at the Chemistry Seminar meeting held November 15. Using the recent work of Dr. Rose of the university of Illinois as the basis for his talk, Mr. Renshaw explained the unknown Amino acid which is contained in Cassin of Milk. Mr. Hicks spoke on "Difluorodichloromethane as an Aefrigerant."

At the meeting last night, Harold Adams (4), spoke on "Poison Gases in Warfare," while Robert Hicks addressed the members on "Paladium."

According to the latest survey of Chicago University, the best scholastic students live in dormitories, those second best in boarding places, those rating third in private homes, and those doing poorest work in fraternity and sorority houses.

New Officers Will Be

Elected at Meeting Of Chemeka Monday

The S. I. T. C. Chemistry Majors decided on "Chemeka" as the name of their fraternity at their last meeting Monday, November 14. The program of the evening was under the supervision of Carl Renshaw (4).

Each member of the club contributed his part to the program. Topics were passed out by Dr. Neckers, and each member had to speak on the topic given him. The name of the fraternity was the next business before these amateur chemists. "Eka-chemists" was first discussed, but the name "Chemeka" was finally accepted.

December 12 will be the next meeting of the Chemeka fraternity. At this meeting new officers will be elected, and it is thought that two new members will be brought into the organization. The group will also decide upon a fraternity pin.

"Chemeka" means "similar to but, as yet, undiscovered chemists," according to Dr. Abbott.

CAN YOU EXPLAIN THIS?

By exchanging with other college publications, the Egyptian notices that a number of these colleges enthusiastically support and encourage the cultural broadening of their students by bringing noted literary, or musical, or political figures to their particular campuses. And strange as it may seem, the students are vitally interested in these famous people and they attend the programs in large numbers.

Now, turning the light on ourselves here in southern Illinois, we are faced by an appalling and distressing fact. We simply don't endorse or like anything that will distinguish us as being above average. We are unaccustomed, unmindful, and uninterested in anything that may broaden us mentally.

This fact was admirably shown when the local unit of the A. A. U. W. succeeded in bringing Carl Sandburg, famous American poet, to Carbondale. The audience was composed chiefly of faculty members and townspeople—a sad reflection on the college students. Then this same organization made another attempt to awaken this group of mentally slumbering young people and Lewis Browne, nationally known author, was brought to the campus. Some student was heard to say, "I didn't like Sandburg when he was here last year, so I don't think I'll go to hear Browne." Incredible, isn't it?

FALL TERM!

During registration for each term there is a preponderance of students who wander about the halls crying out the woes they have encountered through supervised assignments. With deeply furrowed brows and attitudes of despondency of hysteria according to temperament, they pour out the bitterness which this or that insistence on some course which does not, at the moment, fit the student's whims.

Such bitterness toward faculty members who so unselfishly manifest an abiding interest in student welfare, is uncharitable and should not be the privilege of anyone even in our inclusive enrollment. It is not ours to discuss the relative merits of a democracy and an aristocracy of education; but if we are to be members of a system which offers no restriction to mediocre mental capacity, which thrives on the proposition that higher education is the promise and positive duty of every young man or woman, we must either suffer ourselves to fall into the line of a curriculum strictly supervised by discriminating advisers or be dragged into the plane of mediocrity which would result from giving free rein to the headlong, unreasonable desires of a shortsighted majority.

LOST AND FOUND

In an effort to assist students and faculty members who have lost personal possessions on or near the campus, the Egyptian is planning to add a new feature to the paper—a Lost and Found column. Individuals who have lost articles may have the announcement printed in the Egyptian, free of charge. It will be necessary, however, that this item be brought to the Egyptian office not later each week than four o'clock Friday.

Since all articles that are found should be turned in at the President's office, a "found" announcement may seem unnecessary. From experience, nevertheless, we know that the finders are often unintentional keepers who simply forgot to report their find.

This column will go into effect next week. Lost or found articles for the December 14 edition must be reported to the Egyptian by four o'clock, December 9.

The Sphinx Knows:

Dr. Purdy's Math. 110 students want to solve problems by the "Unitarian" method. Wonder why they don't try the Baptist or Methodist or Episcopalian.

Ray Heitman, who is in the hospital downtown and who was very sick for awhile, was lucky in one respect. He didn't have to take finals.

These people who take practice at Carterville get all the breaks. A ride every morning and noon all free for nothing—any maybe with their best girls. Oh tuch—the world's progressing.

I guess we're pretty glad that the faculty had to stay in once. And might we counsel Lowell Bailey to behave himself and so forth.

In all the years I've been here, I've seen nothing so phenomenal as the change in FORM of outside reading requirements.

Paul Williams says he used to be draft clerk in a bank—he opened and closed the windows.

Mr. Nolen and Dr. Cramer want to know who shot their police dog, "Van."

The Sphinx Wonders:

How Luu is getting along. I've just been so darn busy that I've neglected my little darling terribly. I saw her the other day and she looked somehow saddened. I wonder what's happened. Could it be that she flunked, too. Everybody else seems to have.

Why the boys at Ross's lived so much in the dark last week. If there's anything that's more work than an accounting class—it's another accounting class.

If you knew that Luella Denney, a student on the campus, has been a missionary in Egypt?

And that we have a World war nurse in school now—but I forgot her name.

What Oral Harris was doing with a camera in chapel the other morning?

If Mrs. Chastaine ever found her class Wednesday afternoon?

If you, too, won't be glad when they quit showing football games in the news reels for awhile?

Why Bob Mundy has not won his fraternity pin recently?

DEAR SPHINX:

Where does Mr. Wright teach his third hour class? Where is Mr. Comb: the fifth hour? Where does Mr. Davis hold his classes? And Mr. Margrave?—where is his room? What am I supposed to do with this class card? I've changed from the fourth to the sixth hour. Do I keep it or give it to the teacher or take it back to the president's office? Does it matter if I don't put my registration number on the directory cards I fill out in chapel? Why can't I sit upstairs with my girl if I want to? And why can't I take Senior College Composition? I made A in Rhetoric 101 and I liked it. I'm disgruntled.—A Second Term Freshman.

DEAR DISGRUNTLED ONE:

You'll find that this upset occurs every 12 weeks. Just as we get settled down to our good old routine, get acquainted with the people who sit by us in chapel, just about have the teacher sweet-hearted into letting us sleep in class, and have begun to find out what our course is all about—presto change! It's over and we have to learn all over again, plus going through a lot of grief over a new course.

It's not a thing you can explain, just one of those things that are. Life is like that.—THE SPHINX.

A new type of classroom is being experimented with at Phillips Exeter Academy, a famous preparatory school for boys. The students, averaging about 12 to a class, sit in big comfortable chairs around a table. The instructor sits near by at a desk on a level with the students, and not on the traditional elevated platform. Would Horace Mann approve of this?

What Do You Think?

For years the Sphinx's sayings have filled the bill as a dirt column for the Egyptian, but with the development of the school some have suggested that a true scandal sheet should be supplied.

Zerweck Approves

Josephine Zerwick (2), was considerate in her reply. "It would have to be managed so that there are no hard feelings. But it's a 'splendid idea—if you have good enough dirt."

"Everyone Would Read It"

Bill Rushing (3), finds a single column too narrow. "Make it a whole scandal sheet," he advised, "and everybody will read it. It would be easy to get scandal that is general enough to interest everybody."

"A dirt column," his companion, Harold Brown (2), exploded. "Why, that's all they read the Egyptian for now. I'd make it stronger than the Sphinx, because it's mild."

Others Endorse It

"I think a dirt column would be spiffy," Dorothy Jones (3), explained, "and I wouldn't make it principally funny, either. I'd make it dangerous."

Bill Thomson (3), suggested that the proposed column include "dirt on the teachers. Why, I know some things I'd like to see in print."

Not Too Dirty

In contrast to the first opinion quoted, we have one of Maureen Webb (4). "It would be cute if it were just clever things and not too personal. It shouldn't be mean. But I like the idea, because it's something everyone wants to know."

Helen Schremp (4), finds the proposed plan attractive. "A dirt column—why, that's almost what the paper is now." Her consort, who prefers to remain anonymous, exclaimed, "It certainly is! Not dirty, exactly, but awfully mean."

Chapel Notes

Assembly periods last week were devoted chiefly to organization purposes. Directory cards were filled out Wednesday and the free period was given on Thursday. All students not present at the Wednesday session should call at the business office to file their directories for this term.

The "Triumphal March" from Sigurd Jorsalfar, by Grieg, was the featured orchestral selection last week. The interpretation was splendid in its expressing of unchecked exultation. The portion in which the string section and the wind group alternated in carrying the main theme was particularly effective.

Because of a great number of inquiries, President Shryock explained in the Friday meeting as to the situation concerning failures among freshmen for the fall term. Those who have failed to do more than three subjects, he said, will be allowed to remain in school until the end of the winter term so that they may have equal opportunity with university freshmen who were allowed eighteen weeks for adjustment.

The band played the Attila Overture, by Karoly, a descriptive Hungarian selection Friday morning. The overture falls obviously into two movements, the slow and the fast. The first is grandiose, heavy, and above all, impressive. With smooth transition, the faster movement, melodious and syncopated, is introduced and the effective ending is quickly accomplished.

The East Central State Teachers' College, Ada, Oklahoma, has a museum containing many freaks. Among them may be found a kitten with two heads, a pig with two bodies, a small hairless pig with one eye in the center of its forehead, a chicken with four legs, a grasshopper with a lip for a leg, and many others.

For a senior at the Colorado State Teachers' College won a prize of $5 because he was able to sit through the moving picture, "Movie Crazy" starring Harold Lloyd, without laughing. He must be "money crazy."

Davison, Bertoni Elected Captains of 1933 Football Squad

After the seventh annual football banquet held at the University Cafe on Monday following Homecoming, Ralph Davison and Louis Bertoni were elected co-captains of the 1933 Maroon football eleven.

Davison, who will be playing his third and last year with the Carbondale Teachers, has earned the honor of being elected backfield captain by his teammates through his playing ability and the excellent judgment displayed this year in calling signals. "Dave" weighs only 140 pounds, but makes up for the lack of weight by the energy and perseverance shown in the past two years. His home is in Johnson City.

Louis Bertoni, elected line captain, played most of the year at the half-back position, but was moved to an end job where he has made good. "Louie Blooey" has been one of the outstanding blockers and pass receivers for the past season. Bertoni will be but a junior next year and therefore will be expected to do big things his last two years with the Maroons.

U. High Defeats Marissa, Score 26-23

Thanksgiving day witnessed a victory for the University High school basketball squad over Marissa, the score being 26-23.

Coach Clarence Steven's team displayed a splendid type of teamwork throughout the game. That the two teams were well matched is indicated by the fact that the score was tied at the end of the fourth quarter, 23-23. In the overtime period, U. High showed its efficiency and speed by skillfully scoring a leading three points, while their opponents scored no points.

The Marissa team is coached by a coach, S. I. T. C. football star, "Cabbage" Floyd.

The lineup for U. High was: B. Hickam, forward; M. Hickam, forward; Logan, forward; White, center; Byassee, guard; Dillingier, guard.

Maroons' Flashy Forwards

MIKE LENICH

LYNN HOLDER

Mike Lenich will start his second year with the Maroon basketballers when he steps out on the local court against the University of Tennessee Junior College quintet, December 15. Mike, along with Holder, is one of the fastest men to play for the locals in several seasons and was the smoothest passer in the Carbondale lineup last year. Lenich is a sophomore and bids fair to be one of Carbondale's aces. His home is in Hurst-Bush.

Lynn Holder, a sophomore, playing his second year on the varsity, needs no introduction. He received conference honors last year and became high point man, due to his own ability and the co-operation of his teammates. When a few points were needed to clinch a game, Holder was usually ready with a basket or two. If Holder improves he should make the all-star conference team this season.

Egyptian Selects An All-Opponent Football Team

The following is an all-opponent team picked by the Sport Staff of the Egyptian. In choosing men for the named positions, several factors were taken into consideration. The player must have been one of the best performers in his respective position, and he must have been a good sport either in winning or in going down into defeat. Several men, other than the ones listed on the all-star team deserve mention. Nicolet of Shurtleff was probably the most valuable man to his team, and he might have been given the captaincy of the mythical eleven except for an injury that kept him out of most of the Carbondale games. Nori of De Kalb did good offensive work, but he did not do with some of the others in the several departments of the game. Orr of Shurtleff and Johnson of Normal do deserve mention.

Three Maroons On McKendree All-Opponent Eleven

In a recent publication of the McKendree Review, three Maroon men were placed on its all-opponent team. Wilson, end; Reeves, guard, and Holder, halfback, were given berths. The following article was clipped from the McKendree Review:

Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, in the recent election and executive director of the League for Industrial Democracy, will be the first speaker on the Decatur I. I. D. program which begins Tuesday, January 17. Mr. Thomas will speak on "The American Scene, 1932"—The Decaturian.

Tough Basketball Schedule Is Facing Southern Cagers

The first week of intensive drill has brightened the basketball prospects for the Maroons, who face one of the toughest cage schedules in the history of the school. Coach McAndrew will be assisted by Glenn Trulove and Ralph Foley in looking over the abundance of material that has been made available through the record enrollment. "Mac" has his six "pony" lettermen back, including Bricker, Holder, Davison, Reeves and Lentric. These boys played remarkable ball last season and will be counted on to carry the brunt of the attack this season. Frank Scott, letterman of '29 is back in school this term and looks good in pre-season workouts. Clarence Stephens, rangy forward of the '31 squad, is also rounding into shape rapidly. Jim Gray, Prather, Mitchell, Springer and Brimm of last season's reserve squad are out fighting for varsity recognition. This crew won a majority of its games last season and will be counted on to bolster weak places in the lineup. The new freshmen material looks good and several individual stars have been uncovered. Bozarth of Harrisburg and Lemme of Greenville are a pair of fast midjet forwards. Emery of Carterville, high scorer of the Southern Illinois High school conference for the past two seasons, will undoubtedly break into the lineup because of his basket shooting ability. Lingle of Dongola, Saunders of Sandoval, and Veach of Simpson are also good prospects. The opening game will be held on the local court on Thursday, December 16, the U. of Tennessee Junior College quintet furnishing the opposition.

MARTIN TO VISIT IN CARBONDALE WHEN PRO FOOTBALL SEASON ENDS

Abe Martin will play his last professional game this season at Memphis Sunday when the Chicago Cardinals meet the Memphis Tigers, one of the best professional teams of the south. A bus load of fans went to St. Louis Sunday to see Abe play against the St. Louis Gunners. Martin has played most of the time in the Cardinals games, and has in five games received special awards for being the best player.

Abe's plans for the coming year are undetermined, but he will visit friends at Fairfield and Carbondale after the football season closes.

the State schools and the Liberal Arts colleges. Such a plan, if adopted, would naturally have "separated" the teachers' colleges from other Little Nineteen schools, but this recommendation was rejected by an unanimous vote of the body.

The much discussed idea of dividing the conference into four sections was introduced by Fred Muhl of Illinois Wesleyan, but no vote was taken on the matter.

The conference voted to approve and to adhere to the Model Resolution of the North Central association, which is a standard of athletic ethics and control.

The office of conference commissioner which has been dropped for some time was revived and William Harmon of Jacksonville and formerly of Illinois college was elected to that post.

The conference considered introducing the metric system for measuring track events, but the suggestion was vetoed as the sentiment of the conference was to the effect that the members wanted to wait and see what others would do—particularly the Big Ten.

As usual, the conference meeting saw the awarding of places and the determining of dates for the Little Nineteen meets. The following meets were scheduled:

Indoor swimming meet at Monmouth college, date to be announced later.

Indoor track meet at North Central college, March 11.

Outdoor tennis meet at Macomb Teachers' college, May 12 and 13.

Outdoor track and golf meet at Knox college, May 19 and 20.

Officers elected for the coming year were:

President—James A. Campbell, Knox.

Vice-president—William McAndrew, Carbondale.

Secretary—V. F. Swain, Bradley.

Treasurer—L. M. Cole, James Milliken.

Eligibility Committee—Fred Muhl, Wesleyan; C. E. Horton, Normal;

A. V. Swedberg, Augustana.

C. P. Lantz of Charleston State Teachers' college is the retiring president.

Life's Summing Up

Life is constantly weighing us in very sensitive scales and telling every one of us precisely what his real weight is to the last grain of dust.—Lowell.
