Southern Debaters Enter Tournaments At Purdue, Eastern

Two Southern debate squads will leave campus tonight to attend meets at Purdue university, and at Eastern Illinois State Teachers college. The invitational tournaments will last all day Saturday, and the squads will return Saturday evening.

Three states will be competing in the meet at Eastern to which Southern is sending eight experienced debaters. Students participating in the event will be Sue Smith, Helen Duckels, Jo Ann Eblen, Carolyn Reed, Carroll Boyles, Lloyd Bitzer, Jim Gibbons, and Hugh Pettus.

Dr. C. H. Talley and Tom Sloan, graduate assistant in speech, will accompany this group.

ANOTHER GROUP of debaters will journey to Purdue university, where six states are expected to be represented. This tournament is primarily for novices or beginning debaters, according to Albert Croft, instructor in speech, who is to accompany Southern's delegation. The two freshman teams going from SIU are composed of Gene Penland, Charles Tucker, Juanita Nowers, and Sue Martin.

The debate squad from Wheaton college will be here on the SIU campus Monday, Feb. 4. The Wheaton debaters will meet with a debate team from Southern Monday at 8 p.m. in the speech barracks.

The question to be discussed will be "Resolved that the national government should adopt a permanent program of wage and price controls."

SIU Personnel Give 237 Pints in Blood Drive

During the blood donor drive held here in Carbondale Monday and Tuesday, Southern personnel (including students, faculty members, and employees) donated a total of 237 pints of blood, according to Captain P. M. Lunde of the Air Force ROTC, which led the campus drive.

SIU Moves Toward Television Station

First steps were taken in bolstering a request by SIU for a TV station at a meeting held recently at St. Louis, Mo. Southern Illinois University was represented by President D. W. Morris, and Buren C. Robbins, director of radio, among others.

Special recognition of the problem faced by Southern was given when a resolution adopted at the close of the meeting asked the Federal Communications commission to consider favorably applications of other communities and schools than those for whom tentative channel allotments have been made.

SIU IS SEEKING a VHF (very high frequency) channel, and the only two of these tentatively allotted to Illinois for educational use are at Champaign-Urbana and Chicago.

Radio director Robbins stated that an educational TV network, such as the one discussed at St. Louis, would enable SIU's proposed TV station to benefit by the use of programs from operations at Champaign and Chicago, as well as TV operations throughout the nation. Thus SIU would not have to originate all its own programs.

The grand total of pints donated by both SIU personnel and Carbondale residents was 352. Thus, approximately 67 per cent of the blood was donated by persons directly connected with SIU.

Donations were taken at the Elk's club in downtown Carbondale. The blood is to be used for military purposes.

Two fraternities on campus, donated 51 pints in the drive. Chi Delta Chi donated 23 pints, and Tau Kappa Epsilon, 28 pints.

ON MONDAY, 166 pints were taken, followed by the donation of 186 pints on Tuesday.

The quota for the city was topped by two pints, as 352 pints were given, and the quota was 350 pints.

Mrs. C. S. Gill, in charge of the blood donor program for the county, said that the whole program went very smoothly. All the work at the center in the Elk's club was performed by volunteers, except the staff of the blood unit. Registered nurses, Grey ladies, Red Cross staff assistants, and hostesses were on hand to help the donors through the process. About 70 women donated their services to help in the drive.

Eisenhower and Truman Favored in Poll

by Joyce Weece

Either Eisenhower or Truman will be our next president, according to a recently conducted poll of 15 Southern Illinois University students.

When asked the question, "Who do you think will be the next president of the United States?" six people answered Eisenhower, six Truman, two Kefauver, and one replied Taft.

Three of those who favored Eisenhower said he would be elected to the presidency because people admire him because of his outstanding war record. As a student expressed it, "He is the hero of the former service man and is a symbol as the man who guided us through the war." Other replies were "Because the majority of the people are behind him," and "Because people are down on Truman."

"TRUMAN WILL BE elected because the Democratic party represents the majority of the voters. Taft will not be elected because the working class of people do not like him, and Eisenhower will not be elected because people are afraid of having a military man leading us," stated one of the six who favored Truman. Others interviewed replied "Because the Democratic party is the majority party," and "Because his party and political machinery is better organized."

Some predicted that Truman would win because people know more about him, and are reluctant to change in such hectic times. Or, as one person put it, there will be no one else running who is any better qualified than he is.

TWO PERSONS said Kefauver is in the running because he will clean up politics.

The one person who seemed to differ from the general drift of opinion thought Taft would be elected, "Because he is known as Mr. Republican, and is a symbol of the Republican party."

Summing up the general flow of opinion it seems that the majority of the people are betting on Truman because he represents the majority party, or on Eisenhower because of his brilliant war record. On the other hand, many people expressed their distrust of Eisenhower because of his military connections.

Campus Cuties

How many cute gals on campus do you know? Can you count 'em on the fingers of one hand, or would it take hours to name them all? If you know of any potential pin-ups who haven't been up for any of the Homecoming titles, or for Miss Southern, let us know about it. You can leave the names in the Egyptian office, or in the letters-to-the-editor box in the crosshalls of Old Main. The coeds, who may be from any of the four undergraduate classes, will have a studio portrait made of them by the SIU Photographic service and will be featured as a "Pin-up of the Week" in The Egyptian.

Dr. Charles Neal Edits Education Magazine

Dr. Charles D. Neal, director of teacher training, is editor of the January issue of "Education," a magazine devoted to the "science, art, philosophy and literature of education."

Each issue of "Education," is devoted to one educational topic. Since the topic selected for January was teacher training, Dr. Neal, as a specialist in this field, was asked by the publishers to serve as editor.

"Well, we had a swell evening—by the way, what's your name?"

Wouk's Novel Has Grim War Setting

by Gwen Applegate

One of the most widely-read and discussed books of the day, "The Caine Mutiny," by Herman Wouk, is the nation's number one best seller. Here is an honest war novel which tells its vivid story without vulgarity and yet with complete realism. It is a realistic chronicle of one aged destroyer-mine sweeper and the conflicts of the men who kept her in action.

Not one, but many individual stories make this a memorable novel. There is shiftless and lazy Willie Keith, who graduated from Princeton to be subsidized and pampered by his wealthy and adoring mother. Willie fell in love with lovely May Wynn, a poor girl he could never marry. But war offered Willie and May a real chance.

THERE IS KEEFER, communications officer, brilliant intellectual, whose contempt for navy traditions and rules made him use others to carry out his plots of revenge. Keefer, when the time came, had to accept command and prove himself hero or coward. There is executive officer Maryk, forthright and honest, but easily influenced by others, who took command of his ship by force during a typhoon, and was later tried for mutiny.

And there is Captain Queeg, a domineering tyrant who earns the contempt and hatred of his men by his petty cruelties. You will finally pity Queeg as you learn that he, after five years of war, is mentally ill.

"The Caine Mutiny" is almost painfully funny at times, but always tense with the drama and realities of war. This is probably one of the greatest novels to come out of World War II.

Book Review

'I Killed Stalin' Is Suspense Novel

by Gwen Applegate

Here is Noel Sterling's sensational new novel of terror and suspense, "I Killed Stalin."

A man by the name of Jan Miles was once, nine years ago, named Ivanovitch. But Ivanovitch died, was given a public funeral. As Jan Miles, he became active in American Communist underground work—and for a good reason. He lived for one purpose, to kill the man who had cold-bloodedly murdered his father.

AS JAN MILES he planned and executed a million-dollar bank robbery for his Communist bosses, stole an atom-bomb secret and delivered it to the Russians. Now, after nine years, he was the most trusted Red agent in America—lected as one of the faithful to be taken to Moscow. At long last, he was to have his chance for revenge. He goes to Moscow to murder the man he hates most on this earth. The man's name is Joseph Stalin!

A more thrilling novel has not yet been written. The hate in this story is as real as the ruthless man who lived, dreamed and planned for revenge.

Future Graduates To Stay In Area

by Bill Young

Southern Illinois may not be so bad after all. Ten of 15 students who were asked the question, "Do you intend to seek employment in Southern Illinois after you graduate?" said "yes."

This is in contrast to the census figures which showed that more people left the section than settled here in the past ten years.

"I have lived here all my life and want to stay here," was the most consistent answer given to the question. Those who answered negatively gave "No opportunities" as their reasons for leaving Southern Illinois.

Two persons said they were planning to go to another school for more study; consequently leaving the area. One sophomore stated that he had no reason for leaving except that he "just did not like to live in Southern Illinois."

A breakdown of the percentages showed that 66 and two-thirds percent wish to stay in the area while 33 and one-third percent do not wish to remain in Southern Illinois.

No person gave a "No opinion" answer; all were either definitely for or against staying in Southern Illinois.

Ginn spent three days acquainting himself with the members, making a very general inspection of chapter conditions and offering helpful suggestions to better fraternity functions both in officer duties and active attitudes.

Randy Ashley was elected to take charge of Teke's entry in the Greek Sing this coming spring term. Ashley, a music major from Marion, also conducted last year's Sing. ## Allyn Art Gallery To Exhibit Paintings By Mrs. G. K. Plochmann

Mrs. Carolyn Gassan Plochmann, young Carbondale artist, will have a one-man show at the Allyn Art Gallery at Southern Feb. 10 to 22.

Five of her most important prize-winning paintings will be included in the show. Her "Orient No. 2," a recent work, is a vigorous study of a woman caught in a moment of suffering and resignation during the mine disaster.

Mrs. Plochmann, whose work has been acclaimed for its strength and originality, received her early education in her native Toledo, Ohio. As a student on a scholarship granted by the Toledo Museum of Art, she continued her studies at the State University of Iowa, where she received the Master of Fine Arts degree in 1949.

SHE WAS ART supervisor at the University school during the academic year 1949-50. She is the wife of Dr. George Kimball Plochmann, assistant professor of philosophy, SIU.

Her work, outstanding for its beautiful tones of muted color and simplified three-dimensional form, has been exhibited in such places as the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh, Bowling Green State University, and Ohio University. Her paintings are now represented in the permanent collections of the Butler Art Institute and the State University of Iowa. A large and brooding picture, Steffi, is owned by the Toledo Federation of Art Societies, and is on loan for the forthcoming exhibition here.

The exhibit, sponsored by the Southern Illinois University art department, is open to the public. School and club groups are invited to make appointments with the art department for conducted tours of the exhibit.

Flying Club Now Being Organized

Approximately 65 persons attended the first organizational meeting of a proposed flying club for Southern Illinois University Monday night, Jan. 27, in room 107, Parkinson Lab.

Principles and the purpose of the club, which is being sponsored by the AFROTC at Southern, were outlined by John Keller, one of the organizers. Plans for the purchase of an airplane and the costs involved were discussed at the meeting.

The next meeting of the proposed club will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 6 in room 107, Parkinson Lab. It is open to any interested air-minded students of Southern.

Health Service Reaffirms Procedure Concerning Absences from Classes

The new Health Service system concerning the absences of a student from class due to illness was reaffirmed today by Dr. R. W. Bradshaw, university Health Service director.

Dr. Bradshaw feels that many students do not understand the procedure in regard to excusing absences which was established in October in compliance with the college deans.

The following points have been listed as the procedure for becoming excused from classes:

1. The Health Service does not excuse absences.
2. No penalty is attached to an absence from class if the student has assurance from one of the physicians from the health service during that day.

3. If a student is not well enough to come to the Health Service, the student's housemother may call the Health Service.

4. Each day the health service sends to every dean a list of names warranted by illness for an excused absence.

5. A student should report to his instructor and tell him the reason for the absence.

6. Every instructor is to check with the dean for the lost of absences due to illness.

7. Each student must accept the responsibility for the clearing of his absences with the instructor.

8. A physician cannot excuse classes for an absence taken in the past.

State Scholarships Available to Veterans

Although the GI Bill of Rights is no longer available to most Illinois veterans for education purposes, there is still an opportunity for any Illinois veteran to obtain a tuition-free college education from the State of Illinois, the Illinois Veterans Commission has announced.

The education benefit is offered through the Illinois Military Scholarship Act which offers veterans education on the college level from the state-supported institutions of higher learning, including SIU.

To be eligible a veteran must have been a resident of Illinois at the time of entry into service and must have been separated from service under conditions other than dishonorable, after at least 90 days service.

Application can be made direct to the school or through service officers of the Illinois Veterans commission. When applying the veteran should submit a photostatic or certified copy of his military separation papers.

Persons interested in applying for either of these awards should see David Kenney, assistant to the dean, in the office of the Graduate School.

INSIDE THE INTRAMURALS

Saluki Cagers Face Illinois Normal Here Tomorrow Night

The invasion of Southern's home court on Saturday evening, Feb. 2, by Illinois State Normal of Bloomington will renew the cage series between the two schools which is now approaching its thirty-fifth stanza.

The scorecard to date reads: Southern, 16 wins and 1,555 points; Normal, 16 wins and 1,432 points. As a result of these figures the Salukis can boast of holding an over-all series edge over each of the other four Illinois members of the Inter-state Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Records show Southern leads Northern, Eastern, Western, and Normal in cage victories.

The series with Normal, however, has been extremely close. In 34 meetings between the clubs, SIU shows an average win of just 45-42. In all, eight games have been decided by one or two points. Of those eight, the Bloomington boys have captured seven.

In most recent years the Normal quintets have proved most effective. From 1944 to 1948 Southern fives won eight consecutive games, but after that, the Bloomington team came fast to take over. Included in recent Normal wins were the two victories over Southern's 1950-51 aggregation. A once wide Saluki margin of eight wins has now been cut to just two.

This year, Normal is one of the better ball clubs in the league and though defeated, can point with pride to its narrow 81-80 loss to the strong Eastern State team. The Salukis, also high in IIAC circles, will be looking to improve their present standing and to ward off the sudden rush of the Normal men towards series supremacy. Two wins for Normal this year would tie up the standings. This, Coach Lynn Holder and the boys would like to present.

It seems in all sports, there are some athletes who seem to suffer more than their share of injuries. Such is the case of Jerry Hoppeter, 6-6 junior on Southern's basketball squad.

Hoppeter graduated from Northeast high school, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. While there, he received two letters in basketball, and played on the team that twice beat the state champions.

After graduating in June of 1949, he entered Oklahoma A&M. He made the freshman team, and showed promise of being excellent varsity material. But an ankle injury forced him to lay off of basketball for the remainder of the season.

Hoppeter dropped out, and transferred to Southern in March of 1951. He scored 17 points in one of his first games in a maroon and white uniform, and saw enough action to earn his letter.

This year, big things were expected of the tall junior who can fill in at either center or forward. But again, injuries entered into the picture. Hoppeter hurt his leg in a practice session shortly after the opening game against Indiana State. This injury kept him side-lined until early this month. Although he is now back in uniform, he still favors his leg, and consequently is slowed down because of it.

Harvey Welch, a lean, lithe sophomore from Centralia, is the new scoring threat for Southern's cage team.

Welch, a guard, has been averaging 12 points per game and is expected soon to catch up with the point total posted by Tom Millikin before he left for service. In Southern's first two games after Millikin's departure, Welch led the Salukis to conference victories over Central Michigan and Michigan Normal, scoring 14 and 20 points.

After the Eastern game Thursday night, in which Welch potted 16 points, his season's scoring record was 87 field goals and 28 free throws, a total of 202 points. Millikin had scored 220 before answering his draft call.

Before transferring to Southern this year Welch played for Centralia junior college and was a star on the 1949-50 Centralia high school team. That was the last year that Arthur Trout, now retired, coached a full season at Centralia and Welch still uses the Trout trademark—the long, two-handed "kiss shot"—to score many of his points.

Welch, who stands six feet two inches, started the season for Southern at forward, the position he played in high school. Coach Lynn Holder later switched him to guard to make room in the lineup

At the end of last week's intramural cage play there remained just nine undefeated quintets from the original field of 49. The Chi Delta Club team of the Stanford League fell by the wayside to make room for the Maroon Manor and Slowpokes who are now tied for the lead.

Play in the other six leagues has eliminated most teams from title contention. Only in the Stanford and the Kentucky Leagues, where the TKE (B) and the Commerce Club (B) have unblemished records, are there two teams still in the unbeaten class. Play will continue through mid-February though, so that the number two and number three teams in each league can be determined for the play-offs.

LEADERS IN leagues not-already mentioned are: Sig Tau A (3-0), Ohio League; Theta Xi (4-0), Tennessee League; Sigma Pi team (3-0), Texas League; Gamma Delta (4-0) Michigan League; Yanks (4-0), Illinois League. These records include games of last Thursday night.

Play will resume tonight when teams in the Michigan and Illinois Leagues take to the courts. Highlight of play in the Illinois League will have the Deacons A meeting the second-place Maxtown Hoopers (3-1), who are breathing heavily on the leading Yanks. Top billing in the Michigan League will go to the Commerce Club-Kaps game, featuring two once-beaten quintets, and to the Gamma Delta-Southern Acres game.
