IBHE: $220 million budget for SIU

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended that SIU get $220 million in state funding next year, an 11.4-percent increase over this year but 5 percent less than the University requested.

The IBHE recommendations include:

—A 10-percent faculty and staff salary increase;

—Nearly $3.4 million in program and institutional support for SIU-C —$318,000 for new buildings at SIU-C, such as the library storage facility.

The recommendations total $156 million for SIU-C and $62.4 million for SIU-E. The central administrations would get $1.9 million.

The total IBHE recommendations for higher education amount to $1.2 billion, a 12-percent increase over this year's funds.

Donald Wilson, vice chancellor for financial affairs, has said the University cannot afford reductions from its request.

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit presented the IBHE with SIU's requests Dec. 4. The IBHE released its recommendations Jan. 5.

The Legislature will review the IBHE recommendations and present Gov. James Thompson with its recommendations. The governor has the final decision on state support of higher education unless the Legislature overrides the governor's decision.

Higher education was dealt a major setback in this year's budget when the governor cut funding by 4 percent. The setback prompted SIU to implement an 18-percent, mid-year tuition increase last year.

Somit, Pettit differ on restructuring Illinois colleges

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

A controversy has been stirring over whether the administration of higher education in Illinois needs to be revamped to make the state's universities more equal.

Albert Somit, political science professor and former SIU-C president, argues that the Illinois Board of Higher Education should be eliminated and that the state's four university systems could be reorganized into two systems.

But university administrators throughout the state, including SIU Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit, have argued against such a change, saying the problem with higher education in Illinois lies not in its structure but with a lack of commitment from legislators.

Illinois' organization of higher education has been called the "system of systems," in which four governing boards oversee 12 universities.

Three die in crash

By Toby Eckert
and UPI reports

Three people were killed when a small private airplane crashed a half-mile short of the runway at Southern Illinois Airport Monday.

The victims' names are being withheld pending notification of next of kin. "We have a good idea it was three in the plane, but it could have been more," said Jackson County Sheriff William Kilquist.

State Police Sgt. Ray Lichliter said the plane — a 1973 twin-engine Piper Aztec — ignited upon impact. He said the fire may have hampered identification of the crash victims.

"I would assume that the bodies were burned beyond recognition or we would have had some identification by now," Lichliter said.

The crash occurred at 5:48 p.m. Kilquist said he could not speculate on the cause of the crash. "We won't know until the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) makes a determination," he said.

Kilquist also refused to say where the plane originated

Blacks need to vote, speaker says

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Black Americans must vote to free themselves from the chains of illiteracy, welfare and government subsistence, speaker Nona Setler-Logan told more than 500 people Monday at a breakfast honoring Martin Luther King Jr.

"We must vote," Setler-Logan said. "It (voting) must of meant something to blacks who were jailed and for our forefathers who died for the right to vote."

Poshard: They couldn't kill King's dream

Marches, services honor King nationwide

Setler-Logan is head of the Cairo Clinic. She was picked to speak because she is the only black female medical doctor in the area, said Linda Flowers of the Carbondale NAACP. The NAACP and the Attucks Community Service Board sponsored the breakfast, which was held in the Thomas School cafeteria.

Those who don't vote are directly responsible for the fact that black progress has been stifled, she said. A few isolated voters cannot make an impact, but blacks collectively can, Setler-Logan told a cheering crowd.

"We don't want welfare, but we do deserve a fair share of the voting process," she said. "Voting can become fashionable; a pledge of honor. It can become our birthright. It becomes our legacy."

Many say King's death marked the end of an era, but today many black Americans believe there is much to do to salvage the dream, she said.

"We must demonstrate to our children what is right and what's wrong, she said. "We must have our voices heard again."

Spring training over for Simon, Hartigan says

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Spring training is over for Paul Simon and the World Series is 24 days away, said Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan.

"Paul Simon won spring training, he's in the lead to win the World Series and to be the next president of the United States," Hartigan, who accompanied Simon at a press conference Saturday in the Student Center, said.

Later that day more than 1,500 people attended the $100 a plate "Simon Gala," his last major fund-raiser before the Feb. 8 Iowa caucuses.

Simon, who launched his campaign with little name recognition and a 1-percent poll rating, admitted Gary Hart's reentry has made a difference. Simon added that he's ahead in the latest CBS-New York Times poll for the first time since Hart reentered the race.

"Things are going better than expected and my campaign is selling everywhere," he said. "Iowa plays a very important role in determining who the candidates are. I'm back in front and I'm winning."

The excitement of Hart's reentry is over and the press and candidates are back to the issues, Simon said.

"I'm not running for President because I want to live in a big white house, hear cheers or have 'Hail to the Chief' played for me," he said. "I'm running because I want to make a better nation, a better world."

Charles Manatt, chairman of Simon for President and former national Democratic Party chairman, named Simon the most electible Democrat to the presidency.

"In 1984 surprising things happened," Manatt said. "If Iowa clicks as I think it will, strength will grow quickly."

Simon, sporting a red, white and blue bow tie, said a Democrat will be the next president of the United States.

"I haven't been to Utah, but as of today I'm ahead in Utah," he said. "Jeanne's been there. I guess I should stay out."

In a dramatic speech during the gala, Hartigan told Simon's cheering supporters that Hart tried to test Simon during the Iowa debate Friday but that "it would be Gorbachev who would blink, not Paul Simon, when it comes to the question of peace in this world."

Democratic presidential candidate Sen. Paul Simon of Makanda was greeted by campaign supporters upon his arrival at Southern Illinois Airport Saturday.

Enrollment limit considered for some majors

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The University probably will limit the number of applications it will accept in certain majors as early as next fall to prevent overcrowding.

"That way we can better serve the largest number of student possible," Benjamin Shepherd, acting vice president for academic affairs, said. However, he added, it is not yet certain limits will be placed.

Kirby Browning, director of admissions and records, said the radio-television, marketing and finance departments are prime candidates for application limits.

Browning said that in the past two years there has been a 20 percent increase in the number of applications. A similar increase is expected this year.

Last year, the number of applications reached an all-time high.

Shepherd said that in some departments, accreditation requirements dictate the maximum student-teacher ratio. In other departments,

"we will determine how many students we can serve in a quality way," he said.

"It may reach a point at which we will need to deny students admission. If that happens, it will be done on a program-by-program basis," Shepherd added.

Minority education must be improved

ON THE OCCASION of the birthday celebration of Martin Luther King Jr., it is appropriate to examine the state of civil rights in America.

Although King is dead, his struggle to ensure the civil rights of minorities is anything but a dead issue.

Racial discrimination today may be even more insidious than in the 1950s and 1960s. In decades past, racial bias usually was quite obvious, in the form of segregation laws and voting restrictions.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS movement spawned such great social reforms as the Civil Rights Acts (1964, 1966) and the Voting Rights Act (1965), but it also may have disguised discriminatory practices and made the civil rights battle much more difficult. The foe that civil rights activists in King's time fought in the daylight has moved into the shade.

That racial discrimination is not as obvious as it was a few decades ago has inspired apathy in Americans. Many have been tricked into believing that racial discrimination is no longer an important issue and are too lazy to look deeply enough to realize its existence in today's society. But such conflicts as the violence in Howard Beach, N.Y., illustrate the presence of racial bias in America.

AS KING WROTE in "Stride Toward Freedom" in 1963: "He who passively accepts evil is as much involved in it as he who helps to perpetuate it. He who accepts it is really cooperating with it."

Americans should not be satisfied with affirmative action programs that enable more minority students to attend college and that ensure the hiring of a greater number of minorities after college. These programs are a step in the right direction, but the trek to racial equality is nowhere near its conclusion.

IT IS A good idea to give minority students a better chance of going to college, but they also must be given a greater chance of succeeding in college. It is an undeniable symptom of an unfair educational system that many minority students are admitted to college despite lower scores on standardized tests than normally are required for admission.

The goal of the American educational system should be to make such allowances unnecessary. This can be done only by improving public grade schools and high schools with large minority enrollments.

Until minorities are given the same educational opportunities from grade school on, any program to allow more students from inferior educational backgrounds into college is tantamount to treating the symptom and not the disease.

MINORITIES DO NOT want charity, but rather equality.

King wrote: "Philanthropy is commendable, but it must not cause the philanthropist to overlook the circumstances of economic injustice which make philanthropy necessary."

In a June 15, 1963, speech in Washington, D.C., King said: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."

Let us do more than dream of such a nation. Let us create it.

Football fans behavior indicates patriotism contains many ironies

BOTH TEAMS were on the field. The crowd stood for the singing of the National Anthem.

Everybody except one man. The band began playing. The singing was led by a TV star who had been up all night drinking gin. Ten jets swooped over the stadium. Fifty majorettes thrust out their chests.

The one man stayed in his seat and looked at his program.

"Stand up," somebody hissed.

"I'll stand for the kickoff," the man said.

Another man glared at him. "Why don't you stand and sing?"

"I DON'T believe in it," he said.

The other man gasped. "You don't believe in the National Anthem?"

"I don't believe in singing it at commercial events. I wouldn't sing it in a nightclub, and I won't sing it at a football game."

A man behind him said: "What are you, a damn radical?"

He shook his head. "I'm not a stadium patriot."

"What's wrn agr?" people shouted from a few rows away.

"A RADICAL insulted the anthem," someone yelled.

"I did not. I won't be a stadium patriot."

"He says he's not a patriot," somebody else roared, swinging a punch.

A policeman pushed through. "What's going on here? Break at up."

People yelled: "He refused to stand... He's a radical... Sit down - I can't see the girls..."

The policeman said: "Why wouldn't you stand?"

"Not at a football game," the man said.

"Let's go, fella," the policeman said.

HE WAS fined $25 for disorderly conduct, and the judge lectured him on his duties as a citizen.

The next week he had a seat for the Stupendous Bowl game.

Both teams took the field and the crowd rose for the National Anthem. They were led in song by a country music star, who had been up all night playing dice. A dozen jet bombers flew over. Sixty majorettes thrust out their chests.

This time the man rose with everyone else, and he sang. He sang as loud as he could, in an ear-splitting voice that could be heard 20 rows in any direction.

THEN IT was over, everyone applauded, yelled "Murder 'em" and "Belt 'em," and sat down to await the opening kickoff.

Everyone but the one man. He remained on his feet and began slowly singing the second stanza in his loud voice.

People stared at him. But then they jumped up and cheered as the ball was kicked.

When they sat down, the man was still standing, singing.

"Sit down. I can't see through you," said someone yelled.

An usher asked him to take his seat. He shook his head and began the fourth stanza as a touchdown was scored.

The people behind him were outraged. "I couldn't see that because of you... Make him sit down... He's a radical..."

He went on singing.

SOMEbody TRIED to push him into his seat. They scuffed and swung their programs. Somebody dropped a hip flask. The man struggled to his feet, still howling the fourth stanza.

A policeman pushed through. "What's going on? Break it up."

"He won't sit down," someone yelled. "He won't stop singing," someone else said. "He's trying to start a riot. He's a radical."

"Let's go, fella," the policeman said, leading him away.

The judge fined him $25 for disorderly conduct, and warned him about not shouting fire in a crowded theater.

THE NEXT week he went to the Amazing Bowl. The crowd was led in singing the National Anthem by a rock star, who had been up all night with three groupies. A squadron of dive bombers flew between the goal posts.

He stood with everyone else. As the music was played, he moved his lips because he was chewing peanuts, and he stared at the chest of a majorette. Then he sat down with everyone else.

The man in the next seat offered him a sip from his flask.

Pulliam offices move, make way for renovation, asbestos removal

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

Offices and classes are being moved from Pulliam Hall so workers can begin removing asbestos-containing insulation from the 37-year-old building.

The College of Education, which made Pulliam its home, has moved offices to suites A, B and C in the Baptist Student Center on campus. John Evans, associate dean of the college, said the temporary location "seems to be working out okay."

The only offices still left in the building are those of Project Achieve, a program which provides tutors for students with learning disabilities.

Sally Dedecker, assistant coordinator of Project Achieve, said the program's offices, located on the third floor of Pulliam Hall, will move to Suite D of the Baptist Student Center as soon as the suite is remodeled to meet its needs. "We should be out of (Pulliam) sometime in February," she said.

The temporary offices will remain in the Baptist Student Center until the asbestos removal and renovation projects are completed. It will cost between $40,000 and $50,000 to prepare the office space in the Baptist Student Center.

In July, architects discovered that much of Pulliam's insulation contained asbestos, ruining plans to use parts of the building while it was being remodeled. Breathing asbestos fibers has been linked to lung cancer and other respiratory ailments.

Classes originally scheduled for Pulliam for the fall semester were moved to other locations. However, some classes and offices remained in Pulliam. Henry Andrews, assistant director of admissions and records, said no classes were scheduled in Pulliam for the spring semester.

Dance classes were held in Pulliam Hall's Furr Auditorium during the fall semester. Dance instructor Donna Wilson, assistant professor of physical education, said dance classes will now be held in the Student Recreation Center and in Davies Gym.

Alan Haake, supervising architect for the Physical Plant, said bidding for the asbestos removal will open Wednesday.

Removing the insulation will cost about $600,000 and should begin the second week of February, he said. The project should take about 12 weeks to complete.

"We have to get the asbestos out of there to make it safe for the workers doing the renovation," Haake said.

A complete renovation of Pulliam should begin at the end of May, Haake said. The renovation will cost about $5 million. The building should be ready to house classes by fall 1989, he said.

Included in the first stage of the renovation will be $75,000 worth of repairs to fix structural damage in the Pulliam Hall clocktower. Haake said he is uncertain what caused the damage. "I'm not sure whether the damage is from earthquakes or just age," he said.

The renovation also includes a new roof, new windows and doors and repairs to the brick and mortar.

The second phase of the renovation includes making access easier for the disabled; installing new plumbing, new heating and air conditioning systems and a new fire alarm system; and replacing insufficient electrical wiring.

Bids for the renovation will be solicited after the bidding documents are reviewed by the Capital Development Board in Springfield on Wednesday, Haake said.

Pulliam Hall was built in 1951 and originally was University School, a teacher-training school. The building houses 15 classrooms, several offices, a gymnasium and a swimming pool.

Plans to renovate the floor plan from the old-fashioned school layout to a design more appropriate for modern office needs fell through when asbestos was discovered. The $650,000 originally intended for the floor plan changes was diverted to the asbestos removal.

If the University is reimbursed for the asbestos work in its 1989 budget, the floor plan changes will go back into the plan. If bids are low enough, surplus funds in the project account may be used for new ceiling lighting and conversion of Furr Auditorium to a permanent dance studio.

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

In an article in the October issue of "Illinois Issues," Somit alleges that the IBHE is a primary cause of inequities in state funding for universities and that it consistently favors the University of Illinois system, which governs the Champaign and Chicago campuses, over the other three systems.

Those systems are Southern Illinois University, which includes the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses; Board of Governors, which includes Chicago State University, Eastern Illinois University, Northeastern Illinois University and Western Illinois University; and Board of Regents, which includes Illinois State University and Sangamon State University.

He argues that having four systems in addition to the IBHE "is needlessly expensive."

Somit said that the two U of I campuses, Southern Illinois University and Northern Illinois University should be placed under one system because they conduct more research than the other state schools. He said the other schools should be placed in a second system.

Pettit said the state needs to implement a tax increase and improve legislative leadership in higher education. He also said SIU could benefit itself by sharpening its goals and doing strategic planning.

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit, however, said Somit's proposed solution is "beside the point."

Pettit said the state needs to implement a tax increase and improve legislative leadership in higher education. He also said SIU could benefit itself by sharpening its goals and doing strategic planning.

"If we can do these things, then restructuring is irrelevant," Pettit said. "If we can't do these things, then restructuring isn't going to help anything. "It's very hard for me to imagine the U of I board would give SIU-C a very high priority," he continued. "I think it would always be the stepchild."

Somit and Pettit agree that the state's method of increasing university budgets by a similar percentage perpetuates inequities in the state's universities because the University of Illinois budget is larger than other universities' budgets.

Somit's contention that the current organization of state universities costs too much was refuted in an article in the November "Illinois Issues" by James M. Furman, who was executive director of the IBHE from 1975 to 1980.

Furman wrote: "Somit adds up the system costs (far less than 1 percent of the appropriated and nonappropriated budgets of the universities involved), and proposes to 'save' $4 million in direct costs and a possible $4 million in indirect costs.

"It is easy to show paper savings like this, but far more difficult to realize them."

from until the victims' next kin were notified.

The four-seat plane was registered to McClure Construction Co. of Bourbonnais, said Mort Edelstein, FAA spokesman in Chicago. The plane was being handled by the Kansas City, Mo., Air Traffic Control Center and was turned over to the Murphysboro tower shortly before the crash, Edelstein said.

"The pilot reported to be (Murphysboro) tower that he was at the (runway) marker. Those were his last words," Edelstein said.

Shortly after the pilot lost contact, a citizen called the airport and reported a "fireball" a half mile northeast of the runway, Edelstein said. Rescue workers found the plane engulfed in flames in a muddy field.

Visibility at the time of the crash was about one-half mile with a ceiling of 300 feet, Edelstein said.

Council to vote on zoning change

R-1 occupancy code would make landlords liable for tenants

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Carbondale landlords soon may be responsible for permitting too many people to occupy a house in areas of the city zoned for single-family housing.

The City Council will vote at 7 p.m. tonight on an ordinance that would require owners to show proof that they do not allow more than the permitted number of people to occupy or rent a house than zoning laws permit.

The council decided Dec. 7 to postpone voting on the ordinance until students returned from Christmas break. The postponement was designed to allow the Chamber of Commerce, landlords and other concerned citizens a chance to discuss the proposal and define what makes up a family.

However, City Manager Bill Dixon said Monday that the groups never met to discuss the ordinance. "At least not with city personnel," he said.

Dixon said he expects the proposal to pass. But David Madlener, city affairs commissioner for the Undergraduate Student Organization, said the issue needs more discussion.

"The City Council did wait until students were back in session, but voting tonight is poor timing," Madlener said.

"They should wait to vote on the ordinance for about two weeks. A lot of students forget over break. It's just poor timing."

"The ordinance is definitely a step in the right direction and it should pass, but we still need to get to the heart of the issue," Madlener said.

The Carbondale Planning Commission voted after a public hearing Nov. 18 to recommend that the City Council approve the proposal.

The proposed ordinance applies to areas of the city that are zoned R1, such as the southwest side. These areas are restricted to single family residences, which allow one family plus one unrelated person per residence.

Students living off campus in R1 zoned areas are violating the zoning ordinance if more than two unrelated people live in the same house. The city presumes people with different last names are unrelated unless residents can prove otherwise.

Kissinger joins parent company of Southern Illinois paper chain

WEST FRANKFORT (UPI) — Hollinger Inc. Monday announced the election of former U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as a director of the corporation, as well as the appointment of Larry J. Perrotto as president and chief executive officer of its subsidiary, American Publishing Co.

Kissinger served as secretary of state in the Nixon administration from 1973 to 1977 and assistant to the president for National Security Affairs from 1969 to 1975. He currently is chairman of Kissinger Associates Inc., an international consulting firm.

Perrotto, of West Frankfort, joined Hollinger in 1986 after the corporation purchased a chain of newspapers headquartered in Bradford, Penn. Perrotto was an officer of that chain and publisher of papers it owned in West Frankfort, Marion, Eldorado and Carmi.

Hollinger also has acquired newspapers throughout the Midwest including those in DuQuoin, Murphysboro, Christopher, Benton, Herrin, Johnston City and Carterville.

Perrotto succeeds F. David Radler, who recently became president of the Canadian-based Hollinger and chairman of American Publishing. Other officers recently appointed to positions in American Publishing include: George R. Sample, vice chairman; John H. Satterwhite, executive vice president and J. David Dobb, executive vice president.

Poshard remembers King, calls for equality

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

A few people with hatred in their hearts tried to destroy the dream of equality for all by jailing and killing Martin Luther King Jr., state Sen. Glenn Poshard, D-Cartersville, said Monday.

"But they couldn't kill the dream," Poshard said with his eyes closed and his right fist in the air. He spoke at a service honoring the late civil rights leader at the Mount Olive Baptist Church in No. 9.

"That was his dream. It's got to be our dream," Poshard told about 75 people gathered in the church. The crowd responded with cries of "amen" and "right on, brother."

King, while jailed in Birmingham, Ala., chronicled the injustices blacks suffered in America. He wrote that black children couldn't attend the best public schools; that blacks had to sit in the back of public buses; and that blacks couldn't eat in restaurants. But people deserve such inalienable rights, Poshard said.

"A higher law says they're inalienable rights," he said. "That authority doesn't come from the state of Alabama or the state of Illinois, but from God."

"The laws (of equality) were written upon the hearts of all people," Poshard said. "Thomas Jefferson said 'We the people,' not 'We the white people.' Not 'We the black people.' Not 'We the rich people.' Not 'We the poor people.' But 'We the people.'"

King had dreams of undoing the heavy burdens of slavery, of letting the oppressed go free and of having a person's future determined not by skin color but by skill, he said.

The United States was a nation half free and half enslaved, but because of King's dream "we had the opportunity to make this world over again," Poshard said.

Martin Luther King Jr. honored nationwide

By United Press International

Americans marched, rang bells, cared for the less fortunate and prayed Monday in memory of Martin Luther King Jr., the Atlanta minister who led a campaign of non-violent civil disobedience to force the nation to share its Bill of Rights with all citizens.

Civil rights leaders, politicians and preachers called on Americans to make Monday's third national commemoration of King's birth the dawn of a renewed struggle against intolerance of any kind.

Thousands marched in downtown Phoenix to demand that the holiday be restored in Arizona. Last year, Gov. Evan Mecham repealed the state's observance of the holiday in the first of many actions that have prompted an effort to drive him from office.

In Atlanta, where King was born and is buried, the Ebenezer Baptist Church was filled with music of local choirs and oratory of dignitaries. With his father, King was pastor of the church until his April 4, 1968, assassination in Memphis, Tenn. King, born Jan. 15, 1928, would have been 52 last Friday.

In Memphis, a wreath was laid at the steps of the Lorraine Motel, where King was shot, and several hundred people gathered there heard a trio of blues musicians play "When the Saints Go Marching In." In Los Angeles, marchers paraded along the boulevard named for King.

Forty-three states mark the national holiday, the third since a divided Congress declared King's life worthy of the recognition given before only to George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Art and reason

When Mark and I decided to spend the weekend at his mother's house, I never imagined I would be walking into a mouse's nightmare. There were cats everywhere.

Cat plaques, cat statues, cat clocks, even a cat mat. I couldn't begin to duplicate her collection of kitty litter if I spent a year at a garage sale. Conspicuously absent, however, was a real cat. Strange, I thought, and began to fear that a weekend with cat woman could be a lot less than purr-fect.

But then she came home, and Mark introduced her. She was dressed surprisingly well—no leopard pants. In fact, you could say she was the cat's meow, but I'd rather not.

She offered me a cup of Dutch Chocolate Mint. Now that was something I could relate to. Then she brought it out in the most beautiful, distinctly un-fine china I'd ever seen. As we sipped, I found out that Mrs. Campbell has my same weakness for chocolate, loves the theater as much as I do, but, incredibly, never saw "Cats." So Mark and I are taking her next month.

Emotional exhibitionism creates tension in art

By Richard Nunez
Entertainment Editor

If you have ever felt the tension of confronting a blank, white page as you prepare to write, you may understand the tension involved in viewing Phyllis Bramson's artwork.

Bramson, a renowned Chicago artist, will display her artwork through Feb. 11 at the University Museum in Faner Hall.

Bramson is considered one of Chicago's most outstanding imagists. Imagism is a 20th-century movement in art encouraging the expression of ideas and emotions through clear, colorful images.

Bramson's artwork is at once bright and vibrant, not just in color, but also in the bold sweeps and flows of her brushstrokes, which are reminiscent of the powerful, swirling brushstrokes of Vincent Van Gogh. Bramson's floating, dreamlike images also are reminiscent of the surrealist painter Salvador Dali.

However, her art cannot be easily classified as a mixture of the work of both Van Gogh and Dali, because Bramson's art does not depend upon either artist's style to be impressive.

There is a tension in her work between fantasy and reality, between the emotion and the idea, or to put it on a more universal level, the tension sometimes felt between the writer and the blank page.

Bramson said, her work is "a staged existence where images point to a painter's conflict of needing to put emotion and ideas on display."

Bramson appears as a subject within most of her works, confronting and submerging herself within a sensual and dreamlike landscape heavily adorned with symbolic figures and meanings.

Bakker plans new 'Jim, Tammy Show'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — PTL founder Jim Bakker said Monday he is planning to build a religious retreat in California and is negotiating with a television producer for a new, nationwide "Jim and Tammy Show."

Bakker, in a telephone interview from his home in Palm Springs, Calif., said he has learned from his past mistakes and will use those lessons to help build a bigger and better ministry in California.

"Our goal is to build a new Heritage USA on the West Coast, so we are progressing now toward opening a city in California," Bakker said. "I've made mistakes and learned a lot and now I will use what I have learned to build the best retreat ever."

"It's going to be one of the first all-weather Christian retreats so people can come no matter how cold it is and enjoy the retreat without going outside. It will be well beyond anything that has ever been done before."

The Heritage USA retreat Bakker founded 10 years ago in Fort Mill, S.C., has a water theme park that is closed most of the year by inclement weather.

But the South Carolina park has an all-weather shopping

Fine arts

Kevin Vears, graduate student in art, adjusts the Bramson exhibit, which runs through Feb. 11 at Faner Museum.

The phallic symbols are apparent and obvious, but also at work are an array of symbols representing freedom and abandoned pleasures, as well as symbols of oppression and conflict.

Her work is often sensual and her figures are often seen reclining or floating in a sort of ecstasy, but this ecstasy is almost always in conflict with other images within the painting.

In "Trance Dance," a nude figure is seen clinging to a lamppost in what seems like sexual ecstasy, but this is offset by another figure clinging to a lamppost upside down and bound by the phallic figure of a snake.

The conflict is there, but it is not quite easy to understand or articulate. The conflict perhaps lies in the artist's confrontation between fantasy and reality, or perhaps between desires and inhibitions.

Because the tension is not quite clear, the desires and inhibitions she so powerfully renders in her paintings, at times become recognizable as desires and inhibitions within ourselves.

Her artwork is very aggressive and may be mistaken as an exploitation of men, because she treats the male body in much the same way as the female body has been treated in art in the past.

However, she does not exploit. Rather, she celebrates the human body, both male and female, and human desires, both expressed and unexpressed.

Bramson's work will be on display to the public from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sundays. Admission is free.

complex and indoor pool that draw visitors year-round.

Without being specific, Bakker said he has financial backing to build a new retreat and also pay off PTL's current indebtedness if he returns to the ministry he resigned last March after admitting to a sexual fling with Jessica Hahn in 1980 and paying her more than $250,000 to hush up the affair.

Bakker turned the PTL television and entertainment ministry he calls his "baby" over to the Rev. Jerry Falwell, who led it into bankruptcy court, then resigned in October in a dispute with a federal bankruptcy judge.

Bakker said his plans for a California television ministry and retreat do not rule out a possible return to PTL, but for now he is content to leave the future of the PTL in the hands of God.

"We made mistakes. I was wrong in what I did eight years ago. The marriage of Jim and Tammy nearly broke up. But I think history will vindicate Jim and Tammy and I've committed this whole thing to God. It's time to stop looking back and stop looking at the past."

New tax law adds to paychecks

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Paychecks will increase slightly in 1988 because of a new federal tax withholding law.

The second phase of the 1986 Tax Act took effect on Jan. 1. This law is designed to benefit workers in lower income brackets by increasing the value of their personal exemption.

Faculty and staff will reap the largest rewards from the change, but students also may benefit from the law because it allows $1,900 to be earned before federal taxes are withheld, as opposed to $1,090 last year. Student paychecks probably will increase only one or two dollars, Jeanine Jones, payroll clerk, said.

But what the taxman giveth, he also may taketh away. Students whose parents claim them as dependents will not be able to claim themselves. This could increase the amount of federal taxes withheld from dependent students.

A survey conducted on Jan. 12 by the payroll office showed the increase for faculty and civil service paychecks will be between 11 cents and $17. "There won't be that big of a change in net paychecks to all employees," Tom Gallegly, assistant director of payroll, said.

The paycheck increase will depend not only on the gross amount earned, but also which tax bracket one is in.

The law has simplified the tax process by reducing the seven categories of withholding to three. Some itemized deductions also have been reduced or eliminated.

Gallegly said many students may not be aware of the new law. He said his office has received about 40 phone calls from faculty and staff asking for information on the law but only two calls from students.

New overpass's opening delayed

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

The long-awaited pedestrian overpass to East campus may not be ready for another two weeks.

The opening of the overpass, which was to be completed last August, was delayed by a rail design that had to be specially ordered.

The rails are now in place, but all the lights have not been installed. The overpass cannot be used until they are up, Dale Nobel, project engineer for railroad relocation, said.

The lights should be finished by Jan. 18, Jeff Doherty, Carbondale assistant city manager, said. But the opening will be delayed until fencing for the overpass is completed, he said.

He said the overpass, which spans Route 51 and the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, should be open by Feb. 1.

Pedestrians still use a shortcut across the railroad tracks, dubbed the Ho Chi Minh trail. University officials see the trail as a nighttime danger and hope the overpass will eliminate the problem.

The overpass is part of the city of Carbondale's Railroad Relocation Project, which is a safety-oriented program designed to reduce conflict between trains, cars and pedestrians. The project also involves sinking the ICG Railroad tracks 30 feet below street level through two miles of the city.

The $2.3 million cost of the overpass is funded mainly by the federal government. However, 5 percent of the cost is divided by the city, the University, the Illinois Department of Transportation and the ICG Railroad.

A dedication ceremony for the overpass was held on Oct. 30, in spite of the delay, because over 100 invitations were sent out before the problem with the rails arose.

Limo owners lure customers with smooth ride

By Phyllis Coon
Staff Writer

Tired of traveling to St. Louis in a cramped car or boring bus? How about taking a ride in a limousine equipped with a color TV, stereo, bar, ice box and electric moonroof?

Two Carbondale firms, a limousine service and a travel agency, have joined forces to provide what they hope will be a more comfortable trip to and from St. Louis airport. Two chauffeur-driven limousines are available 24 hours a day from B & A Travel Service, Don Wills, owner of Classic Limousine, said.

"If there is a limousine available, no matter what time of day or night, we will make the arrangements," said Dave Coracy, vice president of B & A Travel.

Although the service has been offered only for about a month, it is beginning to see ridership, Coracy said. "We have had a dozen inquiries and have carried a dozen people to St. Louis since the first of the year," he said.

Coracy thinks the service will be successful because the type of riders the service is attracting includes businesspeople who make frequent jaunts to St. Louis and are tired of driving or uncomfortable flying. St. Louis is about 100 miles from Carbondale.

Coracy hopes the service will grow to scheduling definite departure and arrival times.

Wills said rates for the limousine service were determined after a market study of rental car and flight costs was conducted to find a competitive price.

Rates for a rental car from Carbondale to St. Louis range from $16.95 a day and 16 cents per mile to $48 a day and 20 cents per mile, with 100 miles free. Flying to St. Louis from the Southern Illinois Airport costs $57 and a flight from Williamson County Airport to St. Louis costs $73.

The limousines can carry up to six passengers. A one-way trip to or from St. Louis costs $75 for the first rider and $50 for each additional passenger. The limousine service also has a family plan through which the head of the family pays $75, the second member $50 and each additional member $35.

Frequent travelers also can get discounts. After 20, 50 or 100 trips, riders win fringe benefits including free trips in the limousine and private use of a limousine and chauffeur.

CARBONDALE: UNIVERSITY MALL

University English courses set for Japanese campus

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Twenty University English instructors soon will have the opportunity to teach in Japan, Charles Klasek, associate vice president for academic affairs, said. The University international education program will expand in May when English classes begin in Nakajo, Japan.

University and Nakajo city officials signed the agreement on Dec. 11. The idea for the Nakajo program, which originated with the USA-Japan Committee for Promoting Trade Expansion, has been in the works for about two years.

The long term goals of the program are to help internationalize Japanese higher education and improve trade relations between Japan and the United States, Klasek said.

Nakajo is about the size of Carbondale and is located on the west side of Honshu, the Japanese mainland.

Plans call for the city to eventually provide a campus. The University will help provide faculty and design the curriculum.

Nakajo officials signed a letter of intent in July to begin planning for academic programs with the Mid-America State University Association. The University, an adjunct member of the MASUA, has been the main negotiator.

American tax dollars will not pay for any part of the program. It will operate on a cost-recovery basis, and Japan will foot the bill.

An endowment of $4 million will be provided by the Japanese state of Niigata. Several Japanese businesses also have donated millions of dollars to the fund, Klasek said.

If the program runs for 25 years, the university will receive the principal from the fund to use toward international education projects, he said.

About 150 students are expected to enroll in the program. Although recruitment 'as been underway for only a couple of weeks, many people already have shown interest, Klasek said. Registration will close in late February or early March.

Japanese students will pay about $9,000 a year for the English program. They will be taught by a 22-member delegation from the United States. All but two of the instructors will be from the University, Klasek said.

During the first year, classes will be taught in a Nakajo recreational center that has space for classrooms, two gymnasiums and an indoor swimming pool. Students will live with residents of Nakajo the first year. After that, there will be dormitories, Klasek said.

General education classes also have been discussed. These would be taught in English and would begin in May, 1989.

Students also would be able to transfer to a university in the United States without losing any credits.

Intersections to get traffic lights

By Antoinette Hayes
Staff Writer

Traffic signals will be installed at what are considered the most dangerous intersections in Carbondale.

Installation of traffic signals at the intersections of South Illinois Avenue, Mill Street and University Avenue is scheduled to begin May 2, said James R. West, general manager of Sullivan Electric Co. of Marion.

However, West said if weather permits, installation could start as early as the first or second week of April. He said installation should be complete by Aug. 19.

Sullivan Electric Co. was awarded the $115,889 contract for the project in December.

Brain's halves affect emotions

NEW YORK (UPI) — The left and right halves of the brain play different roles in our emotions and moods and research may reveal not only "how we speak and reason but also how we love, hate and yearn," a neuropsychiatrist reported Monday.

Considerable research supports the idea that the brain's hemispheres are specialized for different kinds of thinking, Laurence Miller wrote in Psychology Today.

"Now it's beginning to look as if the hemispheres are also specialized for different emotional experiences," he said.

"Studies of the link between brain functions and emotions may reveal not just how we speak and reason but also how we love, hate and yearn."

"Studies of people who have had strokes or head injuries suggest ... an emotional division of labor between the hemispheres" indicating the left side of the brain "had a different mood, even a different personality, from the right."

The installation will cause some traffic delays and lane closures during regular business hours, but there will not be any major changes in traffic flow (when five overhead signals are installed at the Mill Street intersections).

The installation will cause some traffic delays and lane closures during regular business hours, but there will not be any major change in traffic flow, West said. He said five overhead signals will be installed at the Mill Street intersections.

The lights should lessen the number of accidents at the intersections, but there may be a temporary increase in the danger of rear-end accidents until drivers become accustomed to the new lights, Woody Gump, traffic engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation, said.

Gump said there were 30 accidents and four injuries at the intersections in 1986, the last year for which the department had figures.

Federal judge to rule on hypnosis confession

CHICAGO (UPI) — The use of hypnosis by police to secure confessions from criminal suspects will be the focus of a federal trial involving a Moody Bible Institute student's claim he was coerced into a murder confession as a youth.

William Boyd Jr. is seeking $10 million in damages for false arrest, imprisonment and negative publicity in a federal lawsuit scheduled for trial this week before U.S. District Judge William T. Hart.

Boyd was arrested and charged with murder nearly seven years ago after he was questioned by a psychotherapist at the suburban Wheeling police station about the slaying of schoolmate Mary Kosinski.

Wheeling police contend Boyd confessed voluntarily under a technique called guided relaxation, but Boyd contends his rights were violated by police who were too eager to solve the murder.

While under hypnosis, Boyd said he fantasized a story about smothering Kosinski with a pillow in the shed behind his parent's home on July 18, 1981.

A Cook County judge dismissed the murder charges against Boyd in 1983 after ruling the confession was obtained improperly.

Boyd and his attorney, Anthony Finelli, contended in the lawsuit that police failed to advise Boyd of his constitutional rights, threatened and harassed him and induced him into a confession while he was in a state of shock.

Hit man's customer to go free

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — An 18-year-old former cheerleader who said she paid to have her father killed because he forced her to have sex with him is to be released from jail today, a spokesman said Monday.

Cheryl Pierson was granted youthful offender status and served 3½ months of a 6-month jail term. She was given credit for two weeks she spent in jail before sentencing and another two months for good behavior. She will then be on five years probation.

She pleaded guilty last March to a reduced charge of first degree manslaughter in the murder of James Pierson Sr., 42, who was shot in the driveway of his home Feb. 5, 1986.

Sean Pica, 19, the classmate Cheryl paid $400 to kill Pierson, also pleaded guilty to manslaughter and is serving a prison term of 8 to 24 years.

The mother of Robert Cuccio, 20, Cheryl's boy friend, said she hopes Cheryl will be taken directly from jail to her home in Selden for a belated Christmas celebration.

"The lighted Christmas tree is still up, and we have all the gifts for Cheryl and for our family still wrapped under the tree," Tina Cuccio said. "We haven't opened any of them."

Cuccio, who delivered the $400 to Pica after the murder, pleaded guilty to criminal solicitation and was placed on five years probation.

Mrs. Cuccio said her son has been visiting Cheryl almost daily and hopes to marry her.

"But, right now, they are not formally engaged," she said.

Cheryl's attorney, Paul Gianelli, said last week that Cheryl will live with her brother, James Pierson Jr., 22, at an undisclosed location and will try to get work as a hairdresser. While free on bail she took a course in hair-dressing.

James Jr. testified at a pre-sentencing hearing that his father had physically abused him, and said Cheryl never told him their father forced her to have sex with him.

Cheryl has renounced any claim to her father's $250,000 estate and the beneficiaries are James Jr. and another sister, JoAnn, 10. Their mother died of cancer a year before the slaying.

Cheryl said one reason she had her father killed was she feared he would sexually molest JoAnn. She said she began seriously thinking about it when she came home one day and found him "wrestling" with JoAnn on the living room floor.

JoAnn lives with her paternal aunt, Marilyn Adams. Adams and Pierson's elderly mother, Virginia, have been estranged from Cheryl since the killing and bitterly rejected her assertion that her father sexually molested her.

Foundation controller resigns

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

The assistant controller for the SIU Foundation has resigned, leaving a temporary vacancy at the foundation's office in Springfield.

Larry Ragel tendered his resignation on Jan. 11, said Bryan C. Vagner, controller for the SIU Foundation. Ragel's last day on the job was Friday.

Ragel was in charge of preparing financial statements at the foundation's Springfield office. He is taking a position as sectional chief of internal audits for the Illinois Department of Public Health in Springfield.

"I got the proverbial offer that I couldn't refuse," Ragel said in a telephone interview Monday. "It was a tough decision, I had a lot of ambivalence about leaving. I enjoyed my work with the foundation, but I just couldn't pass up the opportunity."

Ragel's decision to leave the University came at a short notice. "I realized the foundation recognized me as a valuable employee and I considered staying, but I couldn't pass up the chance for the new experience," he said.

Vagner said Ragel, "worked out fine for the University," and he was sorry to see Ragel leave.

In his three years with the foundation, Ragel was "instrumental" in enacting new policies that enabled the Springfield office to operate more freely of the foundation's main office in Carbondale, Vagner said. With Ragel's assistance, the Springfield office began writing its own checks and accepting and depositing donations independently of the Carbondale office.

The SIU Foundation is a not-for-profit organization that contracts with the University to raise funds. The Springfield office is primarily responsible for raising funds for the School of Medicine.

Roaches invade family housing, angry residents want them out

By Steven Starke
Staff Writer

An angry group of residents at the University's family housing units have some roommates they want killed.

Cockroaches are infesting some of the apartments at Evergreen Terrace and Southern Hills. Although the University has contracted with a local exterminating firm, Tabor's Termite and Pest Control to liquidate the pests, one resident claims he kills between 10 and 20 cockroaches in his apartment daily.

Judy Thompson, a building representative at Evergreen Terrace, said many residents have cited a lack of adequate service by the current contractors as part of the problem. A spokesman for Tabor's said the company has received few complaints and that those who did complain needed to clean their apartments better.

According to resident Dan DeFosse, a business education student, the situation is symptomatic of problems with the policy of contracting for University services through the bid system.

"This is a quality of life issue. With low budgets, the University is forced to take low bids. We'd like to see the state change its concepts on accepting low bids."

—Dan DeFosse

"This is a quality of life issue," DeFosse said. "With low budgets, the University is forced to take low bids. We'd like to see the state change its concepts on accepting low bids."

Housing Director Edward Jones said he has received some complaints from residents about the problem and is discussing it with Tabor's. He said pest control is a two-part situation involving not only the exterminators, but the residents as well. Jones said residents must help by not providing the insects a place to breed through proper home care.

The spokesman from Tabor's agreed, saying pest control programs can not be efficient without proper sanitation.

Thompson said the residents feel the current extermination schedule, in which each apartment is treated once a month, is having little or no impact on the infestation.

The building representative said that within days after the spraying of her apartment, the insects were returning.

Several other exterminating services in Carbondale said their services include follow-up visits every seven to 10 days should bug problems persist and, under certain guarantees, visits every day until the infestation is controlled.

Thompson said that based on past experience, she feels that if the exterminators are not accompanied by residents or University personnel when working, they are not spraying as thoroughly as they should.

Auditions set for 'Magician'

Auditions will be held for Calipre Stage's production of "The Magician's Nephew" at 4 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday on the second floor of the Communications Building.

Twelve parts are available for the production, including the two leading parts of Digory and Polly, said Marion Kleinau, professor in speech communication, who adapted and will direct the play.

"The Magician's Nephew" is a C.S. Lewis story that chronicles how Narnia, a mythical country, first came into being and the adventures of Digory and Polly, who witnessed it, Kleinau said.

The play will be performed March 3 to 6. Tickets will go on sale in February, Kleinau said. Tickets will cost $2.50 for adults and $1 for children.

Parks plan classes

The Carbondale Park District is offering a variety of exercise classes at its Life Community Center.

The "Happy Hour Exercise" program will meet from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m., every Monday and Wednesday, beginning Feb. 1.

Registration is at the LIFE Community Center, 2500 Sunset Drive, until Jan 25. Fees are $20 for Carbondale residents and $30 for non-residents. The program is offered for those who are 16 or older.

An exercise class for expectant mothers will be held from 6:15 to 7 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursday from Feb. 2 to March 10. Registration ends Jan. 28. Fees are $12.50 for residents and $18.75 for non-residents.

Hardbodies aren't always healthy

By Barb Rester
Wellness Center

"Jenny's beautiful! She always looks great, dresses great, and her hair is always perfect! I wish I could look like her."

Jenny goes on junk food eating binges and slugs beers with the best of them, but still maintains her sleek figure. Jenny has an eating disorder. She gets rid of those unwanted calories by secretly vomiting. She's often depressed and experiences intense feelings of being "out of control."

"Look at Todd! What a body! With looks like that I bet he doesn't have any trouble getting dates! I wish I could look like him."

TODD WORKS OUT a lot. As a matter of fact, he skips classes in order to work out! He supplements his workouts with steroids and megadoses of vitamins and amino acids to maintain his muscle mass. He has high blood pressure, kidney problems, and he runs the increased risk of liver damage and heart disease.

Jenny and Todd look like "pictures of health." They both fit that "perfect" image that television, movies, and magazines so often convey. They have another thing in common — they are both destroying their health in order to look like pictures of health.

IT'S HARD to tell how healthy a body is just by looking at it. Someone who appears a bit overweight can actually be healthier than someone who looks like a model or an athlete. There's much more to being healthy than having a muscular or a lean body. Good health can never be determined or created by only one or two factors. Health is a complex integration of physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual influences in our lives. Perhaps one of the most influential factors is how we perceive ourselves in relationship to the world around us. These perceptions are too often formed by one-dimensional, stereotyped images that are portrayed to us through the immensely powerful media of television, movies, and advertising.

BOMBARDED SINCE childhood by media's warped images of health and happiness, it is sometimes difficult to find out for ourselves the things we really need to do to grow healthier and happier. How much can our happiness truly be affected by drinking wine coolers or wearing a certain brand of jeans? As in the cases of Jenny and Todd, attempting to fulfill those media images can actually be self-harming. Allowing the media to determine our own needs. Generally, it's not something we even think about.

LISTENING TO OURSELVES can be difficult when the flash and dazzle of mass media is constantly surrounding us and the volume is usually higher than that of our inner self. Turning up the volume on our inner self is a lot harder than on a television set, but there are many ways to begin the process of self-discovery and independent thinking. Some people get results by keeping a journal, practicing relaxation exercises, or meditation. Others find that physical exercise can help develop a connection between mind and body that enhances the discovery of self. Some may find that talking to others can actually put them more in touch with the quiet and loving honesty of their self.

WHAT WE SEE when we look in the mirror is merely a reflection of our outer shell. We can change our outer shell in many ways simply by getting a haircut, growing a beard, losing or gaining weight. But real healthful change happens inside ourselves through slow, caring, and sometimes painful self-discovery.

If you are interested developing a better sense of yourself and improving your health and potential for success, look into the resources at the Wellness Center. The Wellness Center offers workshops and individual counseling to help learn techniques, which promote inner reflection and self-discovery that lead ultimately to an enhancement of your overall health and well-being.

To Your Health is produced in conjunction with the Wellness Center

Manufacturer recalls AIDS drug

CHICAGO (UPI)—An anti-fungal drug used to treat infections in AIDS patients and others has been voluntarily recalled because of adverse reactions and concerns the product might be contaminated, a drug company said Monday.

Lypho-Med, a Chicago pharmaceutical concern, began recalling about 40,000 vials of amphotericin B on Jan. 13 after the Food and Drug Administration voiced concern about fevers and chills seen in AIDS patients injected with the drug, said Dr. John N. Kapoor, the company's chairman and president.

Amphotericin is used to treat fungal diseases of the respiratory tract, swelling of the lymph glands and candidiasis, or chronic yeast infections of the skin, scalp, nails and other tissues. Candidiasis is frequently found in people with acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

But Lypho-Med's drug caused fevers and chills in one out of every 4,000 times administered, perhaps because of contaminated raw materials used in the generic product, Kapoor said. Lypho-Med will resume production of amphotericin "when the specific cause is determined and the raw material problem resolved," he said.

But the Washington Drug Letter reported Monday that it was the third time in less than a year that Lypho-Med had come under FDA scrutiny for alleged violations of quality control and questions about its manufacture of drugs, including pentamidine, another AIDS medication.

The newsletter said amphotericin included ingredients purchased from a Danish company that had products embargoed by the FDA last summer because the materials were not sterile.

In December, Lypho-Med recalled more than 55,000 vials of four other injectable drugs, because the FDA was not certain the products were sterile, the newsletter said. Inspections of two plants in the Chicago area alleged there were violations of the sterile and quality-control practices required by the agency.

Kapoor acknowledged Lypho-Med is continuing a recall of some lots of three drugs made at a Chicago plant that was closed November. But he said the closing of the 20-year-old facility was "purely economic" since the company has moved its manufacturing operations to a new plant in a Chicago suburb.

Despite the FDA's concerns, he said no contaminated drugs have been found from the old plant. "We recalled them because there weren't very many, and we wanted to close the book on the old plant," he said.

The weekly said that during inspections last year, the FDA also cited the company for making "Pentam 300," a form of pentamidine, in the newer plant without permission. Pentamidine is used to treat pneumocystis carinii pneumonia.

Polygamist bombing suspect, family encircled

MARION, Utah (UPI) — Heavily armed law officers for a third day surrounded the mountain farm of a polygamist bombing suspect holed up with family members waiting for the resurrection of his father-in-law slain nine years ago Monday.

Adam Swapp and family members, reportedly including nine children ranging in age from 10 months to 17 years, for three days ignored the requests of 150 law officers who want to question them about the bombing of a Mormon meeting house about 40 miles east of Salt Lake City.

Fifth Circuit Judge Maurice

Jones said Monday he signed arrest warrants Sunday for John Singer's widow, Vickie, and her son-in-law, Swapp, on felony charges of aggravated arson.

Doug Bodrero, deputy state commissioner of public safety, said the family was planning some type of memorial service for Singer, shot at the same farm when he pointed a gun at officers trying to arrest him Jan. 18, 1979, for defying a court order.

"They have some type of a family gathering planned today in commemoration of the event that occurred nine years ago," Bodrero told reporters. "It is not our intention to interfere with that in any way. It is our intention to continue to strive and plan for a peaceful resolution to this situation."

Coed's death fails to alter preppie lives

NEW YORK (UPI) — The killing of a popular prep school graduate by another member of New York City's privileged "preppie" set has failed to crimp the high life of the group, the owner of a favorite bar said.

The bar, Dorrian's Red Hand Restaurant, remains so popular that the best friend of the victim went straight to the bar after she finished testifying last week in the trial of Robert Chambers, charged with murder in the death of Jennifer Levin.

It was at Dorrian's on the Upper East Side where the victim and killer initially met and where they spent the last night of Levin's life. Chambers is charged with second-degree murder and admits killing Levin, but says it was an accident.

Bar owner Jack Dorrian said this weekend the attitudes of the young people who use his establishment as a clubhouse have scarcely been touched by the tragedy.

"Nothing has changed," he sighed as he described the high jinks of the prep school set. "They go on with their lives."

The shockwaves that jolted the teenagers when Chambers, 21, was accused of murdering Levin, 16, have long since waned and the preppies have gone back to their loose and easy lifestyle, Dorrian said.

Levin's best friend, Elizabeth "Betsy" Shankin, 19, now a Boston University sophomore, headed for Dorrian's Friday as soon as she got off the witness stand at Chamber's trial in state Supreme Court in Manhattan, the barkeep noted.

Shankin had earlier described how she and her chum had been drinking a combination of vodka and cranberry and pineapple juice called Bay Breeze in Dorrian's the night Levin was killed.

The young victim, who had a boyfriend, had wanted to have sex with Chambers, who had a girlfriend, and let the killer know he was "handsome and sexy," Shankin testified.

Also scheduled to testify this week was the son of unsuccessful vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro, John Zaccaro Jr. Zaccaro, who faces drug charges in Vermont, was the bartender that night.

Shryock drops two shows from Celebrity Series slate

By Richard Nunez
Entertainment Editor

Financial considerations have forced the cancellation of two spring season programs in the Shryock Auditorium Celebrity Series. Robert Cerchio, director of Shryock Auditorium, said.

The programs include Company Philippe Gentry, a French puppeteer troupe scheduled to perform Jan. 29, and the musical revue "Beehive," scheduled Feb. 13.

Cerchio said the University will seek reimbursement for $936 in promotional costs from the Gentry troupe, which was under contractual obligation to perform.

"I have every expectation that we will receive our thousand dollars," he said.

The puppeteer troupe canceled after only a few weeks of its tour, Cerchio said.

"One critic in Los Angeles wrote a nonplussed review on the show and it was devastating to the company," he explained. "The audience died. At times, they were playing to houses of only 18 people."

According to the four director of "Beehive," Cerchio said, two contractors in charge of presenting the show were not receiving enough in box office receipts to fulfill their contracts. The contractors canceled their remaining dates — two weeks of performances which could not be rescheduled — and the production company was forced to cancel the rest of its tour.

"We did not get the contract back from them (Beehive)," Cerchio said. "The agency never signed the contract, so we have no legal recourse for reimbursement."

Mr. Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band will perform Feb. 13, replacing the performance date of "Beehive," Cerchio said. The 13-member band performs turn-of-the-century brass music in a show that includes authentic scenery and costumes of the era.

Celebrity Series season ticket holders may order tickets for the performance in advance of public sale, he said. Refunds also are being offered until 30 days after the show dates.

Cerchio said economic conditions in Southern Illinois have hurt his ability to book quality shows and prevent cancellations. Many professional acts hesitate to perform in the region because of uncertain revenues.

"They are not going to take fringe dates, and Southern Illinois is a fringe area," he said. "Season ticket sales are down 28 percent this year. We have had no show with an audience attendance over 800 this year. That is just under three quarters of the total house seating.

"If the economic state of the nation is good, we do okay," he added. "If the economic state of the nation is okay, we do bad. We tend to feel bad economic times harder than most."

"We are not doing well this year. I hope we don't have to go through another year of this."

Program offers foreign study

By Steven Welsh
Staff Writer

The International Student Exchange Program is offering students a chance to study in four foreign countries during the summer semester.

The exchange programs — to Thailand, Hungary, Korea and Mexico — are designed specifically for students who do not speak a foreign language, said Thomas A. Saville, conference coordinator for International Programs and Services.

"All the courses will be taught in English unless enough students who are proficient in the language sign up," Saville said. This is most likely to occur in the Mexican program, he said.

Optional language instruction programs also will be offered in the Hungarian and Korean programs, Saville said.

This is the first time ISEP has offered so many programs during the summer, and there already appears to be much interest, Saville said.

"I've received quite a few inquiries, especially about the Thailand and Hungary programs," he said.

Students participating in the programs can earn four to six credit hours, Saville said. The programs last from four to six weeks. To qualify, students must have a 3.0 cumulative grade-point average.

Although prices are not definite because of the fluctuating monetary exchange rates, Saville estimated the cost will be "in most cases about one-quarter of the tuition for the year — $1000 or less."

Curfew lifted in Palestinian refugee camp

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The army lifted curfews at Palestinian refugee camps in the West Bank Monday during a third day of relative calm in the occupied territories, but maintained a military blockade around U.N.-run camps in the Gaza Strip.

Commercial strikes shuttered stores in Arab east Jerusalem and several towns in the West Bank and Gaza, despite efforts by security forces to force shopkeepers to reopen. A firebomb destroyed the store of a money changer in east Jerusalem, and several merchants reported they received telephone calls telling them not to reopen.

In Hebron, 20 miles south of Jerusalem, a mob attacked an army flatbed truck. The driver suffered minor stab wounds during the melee, the military said.

The assault was the only serious disturbance reported Monday in the third straight day of subsiding violence in which Israeli gunfire has killed 38 Palestinians since anti-Israel protests erupted Dec. 9.

"The situation is rather calm," said Police Minister Chaim Bar-Lev after a tour of Gaza, the scene of the worst violence during the unrest. "The refugee camps — the big ones and the violent ones — are under a curfew and there you see the situation is calm."

Curfews, one of the government's major tactics against the unrest, were lifted at all 19 refugee camps in the West Bank, a military spokesman said.

Seven of the eight U.N.-run Palestinian refugee camps in Gaza remained under a military curfew, and the estimated 200,000 residents living in the camps were permitted out of their homes for only one hour a day.

Military officials predicted the curfews would be lifted in the next few days, but warned the army would reimpose the restrictions if new violence broke out.

The unrest highlighted divisions within Israel's uneasy coalition government. Foreign Minister Shimon Peres said he was not optimistic that his left-wing Labor party and Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's right-wing Likud bloc will be able to agree on a future policy for the territories or a unified approach to Middle East peace talks.

Peres raised the possibility of early elections to break the deadlock in the government. Elections are planned for October or November.

"Maybe we cannot (resolve the differences), so the people will have to decide, and maybe the earlier the better," he said. "In my opinion, we can start elections within 90 days."

Shamir later rejected Peres' suggestion. Arab workers from Gaza and the West Bank, who have either stayed away from their jobs in Israel or have been prevented by curfews from traveling to work, began returning Monday in large numbers.

U.N. relief officials have complained that Israeli troops have prevented deliveries of food and medicine to the camps, a charge vigorously denied by military officials.

Peres urged government officials to intensify the search for a political solution to the situation in the occupied territories.

United States backs Israel with vote

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United States Monday exercised its U.N. Security Council veto to block condemnation of Israel for attacks on Lebanon and encroachment of Lebanese territory.

The 15-member council voted 13 to 1, with one abstention, on a non-aligned draft resolution that would have "strongly deplored" repeated Israeli attacks on Lebanon and "strongly requested that Israel cease all acts of encroachment of land, construction of roads and setting up of fences that violate the border." The negative vote by the United States counted as veto, blocking adoption of a resolution that U.S. Ambassador Vernon Walters said was one-sided. Britain abstained from the vote. The council has met many times in recent weeks to deal with the violence in Israeli-occupied Arab territories. The United States in December joined the council in deploring Israel's handling of Palestinian demonstrations. Israel has deported four Palestinians.

U.K. skipper backs U.N. force in Gulf

ABOARD HMS SCYLLA (UPI) — The skipper of a Royal Navy warship that spearheaded a dramatic Christmas Day rescue of crewmen from a burning tanker cautiously welcomed Monday the notion of a U.N. naval force in the gulf.

"The more cooperation that we can have by everybody concerned the better it would be," Cmdr. Bob Money said during a rare respite on the bridge of his Leander class frigate, HMS Scylla.

Money, 45, stressed he was speaking in a personal capacity and not for Royal Navy policy or Britain's Armilla patrol that has been "accompanying" British merchant shipping in the gulf region since 1980.

Asked whether he believed a U.N. naval force would work, Money said "It certainly has in the case of NATO navies."

The guided missile frigate USS Elrod and two French warships, the Duplexe and the Marne, were visible in close proximity to HMS Scylla.

Since the Reagan-Gorbachev summit last month in Washington, there appears to have been a steady drift of Western opinion in favor of a U.N. gulf force.

"If all the nations were cooperating, it would be a better thing," Money said, reflecting as his sleek 372-foot ship bristling with Exocet missile launchers, Oerlikon guns and SeaWolf guided missiles, neared the end of a six-month tour of duty in the gulf.

Dollar, stocks rise on foreign exchanges

By United Press International

The dollar rose on most foreign currency markets Monday but lost some ground against the Japanese yen as stocks advanced on all major world exchanges except the Paris Bourse.

Gold and silver moved higher.

The dollar, which climbed against the West German mark and declined only marginally against the yen, clung to most of the substantial gains racked up Friday on news of the smaller-than-expected U.S. trade deficit.

The stronger dollar helped buy stocks in New York, London, Tokyo, Hong Kong, Singapore and Sydney, Australia. But prices finished lower on the Paris Bourse.

DOLLAR TRADING in the United States was light because banks were closed for the observance of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

"It's an extraordinarily thin market — only about 5 percent of foreign exchange operations are open," said Samuel Lek, a vice president in foreign exchange at Bear, Stearns & Co. in New York.

The market, which had bid the dollar down for weeks because of an excess of U.S. imports and a dearth of exports, reacted jubilantly Friday to the news that the U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $13.2 billion in November from $17.6 billion in October.

Bear, Stearns & Co., one of the few institutions in New York to open its trading operations Monday, quoted the dollar at 130.00 yen in the afternoon, down 0.6 percent above the 130.60 Friday close.

THE DROP in the trade deficit pushed up the dollar Friday by 3.7 percent above its Thursday close of 126.15 yen.

The dollar bought 1.6815 West German marks Monday afternoon, 0.06 percent higher than its 1.6805-marks close Friday, Bear, Stearns said. The dollar rallied by 3.1 percent Friday over its 1.6300-mark close Thursday.

In Tokyo, the dollar shot up to 131.70 yen Monday, a 40-day high, from a 127-yen close Thursday. The dollar did not trade in Tokyo Friday because of a national holiday.

In Frankfurt, the dollar closed at 1.6850 West German marks, up from a 1.6815-marks close Friday.

LEK DECLINED to predict the dollar's direction for the rest of the week, saying it is difficult to isolate trading trends in a narrow market.

In Tokyo, Koichi Yamamoto, chief manager of foreign exchange for Yasuda Trust & Banking Co. said, "We can't see any heavy buyers in the market, so the dollar won't go above 135 yen."

In Europe, the dollar rose on most foreign exchange markets, fueled by the unexpectedly large reduction in the U.S. trade deficit and renewed confidence in the currency, traders said.

The dollar also was helped in European trading when U.S. Commerce Secretary William Verity said President Reagan thinks the currency's present level is appropriate.

The New York Commodity Exchange quoted gold at $474.90 an ounce Monday afternoon, up from its $473.60 close Friday, and silver at $6.67 an ounce, up from $6.60 Friday.

ON THE New York Stock Exchange, the Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 39.96 Friday, was up 0.16 to 1956.23 around 3 p.m. EST in sleepy holiday trading.

On the London stock exchange, prices were firmer, bolstered by the healthier dollar. At midday, the Financial Times 100-stock index was up 9.9 points at 1796.6 and the top 30 industrial average was ahead 6.9 points at 1443.6.

In Paris, stocks ended lower in light trading after experiencing a dramatic run-up on the trade news and the dollar's performance Friday.

Reagan to highlight past achievements in talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As he begins the 12-month countdown to the end of his White House days, President Reagan will look back this week on the record of the past seven years and show he remains true to his political convictions.

Over the next few days, Reagan will trumpet the achievements of his administration in an annual pep talk today for political appointees and his State of the Union address next Monday to a joint session of Congress.

At the same time, he will set the stage for one of the few remaining ideological battles of his presidency — a new bid for tens of millions of dollars in military aid to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

By all accounts, Reagan's agenda for the next year is a modest one. His State of the Union address, in the past a forum for announcing ambitious policy initiatives, this year will be largely devoid of far-reaching new proposals.

Reagan will touch base this week not only with pro-Contra forces, but also offer a pledge of continued moral support to leaders of the anti-abortion movement, some of whom have criticized a lack of presidential effort on their behalf.

The prelude to his new drive for aid to the Contras will come Wednesday.

Ruling appealed by Union Carbide

BHOPAL, India (UPI) — Union Carbide Corp. Monday appealed a court order that it pay $270 million in interim relief to victims of the December 1984 Bhopal gas leak disaster.

A company official, who asked not to be named, said from Bhopal the appeal was filed in the Madhya Pradesh High Court in Jabalpur, 160 miles east of Bhopal.

The official said the high court would decide in a hearing Thursday whether to consider the appeal of a Dec. 17 Bhopal District Court order that the U.S.-based multinational pay $270 million in interim relief within two months to victims of history's worst industrial disaster on Dec. 3, 1984.

J.B. Dadachandji, a Union Carbide attorney, confirmed in New Delhi that the court would determine Thursday whether to hear the appeal, and reiterated the company's position that the order for interim relief was tantamount to a finding of liability before the case is even tried.

"The court order for interim relief without trial is against the law. We have a good case. We are hopeful our petition will be granted," Dadachandji said.

"The order for payment amounts to a judgment and decree without trial, judgment without evidence, judgment without considering the defenses of Union Carbide Corp.," said a statement from the company's headquarters in Danbury, Conn.

India says 2,850 people died and more than 200,000 others were injured when 40 tons of methyl isocyanate vaporized and leaked from an underground tank at Union Carbide's Bhopal pesticide plant, covering large areas of the Madhya Pradesh state capital in choking, blinding fumes.

Most of those exposed were poor laborers and their families and thousands of survivors still suffer health problems that exacerbate their economic hardships.

The government filed a suit for $3.1 billion, charging Union Carbide's negligence was responsible for the leak. It also brought culpable homicide charges against the company, its Indian subsidiary and 10 senior executives.

The company blames sabotage by a disgruntled employee for the disaster and has filed a counter-suit charging the central and state governments share some liability for the enormous casualty toll.

Efforts to settle out of court have been unsuccessful and the case is expected to take years to adjudicate.

The company statement said the order for interim relief "merely delays ultimate resolution of victim concerns by introducing a new and unenforceable concept of law."

The issue of interim relief was raised by Bhopal District Court Judge M.W. Deo and his order followed a series of hearings.

Inquiry is 'witch hunt,' cryonics lab head says

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — The president of a cryonics laboratory that froze a woman's head in the hope of eventually bringing her back to life said Monday a coroner's investigation of the center is a "witch hunt" and "a vicious smear campaign."

Michael G. Darwin, president of the Alcor Life Extension Foundation, denied the center was guilty of any wrongdoing when it surgically removed the head of Dora Kent, 83, Dec. 11.

"During the past three weeks, the Alcor Life Extension Foundation and many fine people associated with it have been the victims of an absolutely vicious smear campaign directed by the Riverside County Coroner's Office," Darwin told a news conference.

"Bluntly, you (the media) are being used as an instrument of a witch hunt, the objective of which is the gratuitous destruction of Alcor and of the people in Alcor's care."

Coroner Ray Carrillo has demanded Kent's head to determine whether the woman died of natural causes or whether her death was artificially hastened.

During a 30-hour search last week of Alcor, coroner's investigators found sedatives that may have been used to kill Kent, Carrillo said.

A medical examination of Kent's headless body has shown she may have died of pneumonia and arteriosclerotic heart disease, but Carrillo insists, the autopsy cannot be completed without the head, which Alcor officials have refused to give to coroner's investigators.

Alcor officials say an autopsy would so harm the skull and brain that the woman could never be returned to life.

Kent's son, Saul Kent, who Alcor officials claim has his mother's head, joined Darwin at the news conference and refused to comment on the head's whereabouts.

Saul Kent, who brought his mother to the center from a nursing home shortly before her death, said his mother insisted on being cryonically preserved.

"She absolutely wanted this procedure," Kent said, "she definitely did want to be frozen."

Cryonics adherents believe bodies frozen now may be thawed and revived when science has advanced sufficiently. Often they freeze only the heads in the belief science will discover a way to clone new bodies.

The search for Kent's head began when Alcor applied for a permit to cremate her headless body. The coroner investigated because Kent was not under a doctor's care at the time of her death.

Superior Court Judge Victor Miceli last week issued a temporary restraining order barring the coroner's office from thawing either Kent's head or six other heads and a body, which are stored at the cryonics laboratory. A hearing to determine whether the restraining order should be extended is scheduled for Feb. 1.

Gymnasts place 11th at Chicago

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

The men's gymnastics team faced its toughest competition of the season at the Windy City Invitational in Chicago Saturday.

The Salukis placed 11th in the 12-team field with a score of 262.15. Illinois won the meet with 284.70, followed by Minnesota, 277.95 and Ohio State, 277.25.

Highlights of the meet included a first-place finish by senior Tom Ghelmi and all-around personal bests by junior Brent Reed and sophomore Scott Belanger.

Ghelmi won the individual vault competition with a score of 9.52.

Reed, the Salukis' top gymnast, finished 12th in the all-around competition, tying his career-high score of 55.30.

In the final competition, he placed in the top 10 in three of the six events. In the floor exercise he placed sixth with a score of 9.35. In the parallel bars he scored a 9.00 to finish seventh, while placing 10th in the high bar with 8.90.

Belanger also set a new personal best in the all-around, scoring 52.95. His previous best was 49.15.

Women swim past No. 16 Nebraska

By Steven Welsh
Staff Writer

The men's and women's swim teams turned in strong performances against the nationally ranked Nebraska teams Saturday at the Recreation Center pool, with the Saluki women scoring a 152.5-140.5 upset, and the men narrowly losing, 57-56.

Both Nebraska teams entered the meet undefeated. The Cornhusker men were 3-0 and ranked eighth nationally, their highest ranking ever. The women's team was 4-0 and rated 16th.

The Saluki women benefited from strong individual performances from seniors Lori Rea and Karen McIntyre and sophomore Kathi Wire. They also received some much-needed depth from freshmen Janel Patrick and Annette von Jouanne.

"There were some surprises — we got some depth for a change, especially from Patrick and von Jouanne," said coach Doug Ingram. "And our top people are continuing to improve."

Wire won both the 200 and 500 freestyle, with times of 1:53.86 and 5:05.46 respectively, and finished second in the 100 freestyle to Rea. Rea won the 100 free with a time of 52.75 and the 50 freestyle in 24.19. McIntyre won the 200 butterfly with a time of 2:07.20 and the 100 butterfly in 57.31. Senior Suella Miller won the 200 individual medley with a time of 2:09.92.

Senior Celia Gales won the one-meter diving event, scoring 248.175 points.

time of 1:36.73. The team of Rea, von Jouanne, senior Jackie Taljaard and Wire are ranked seventh in the country.

The Saluki men got some strong individual performances, led by sophomore All-America Harri Garmendia's three wins. Sophomore Scott Roberts, and freshman Eric Bradac had two wins each.

Despite winning nine of the 13 events, the men suffered from a lack of depth. Gar-mendia won the 200 breaststroke in 2:04.28, but Nebraska clinched a win because the Salukis' Lee Cary could finish no higher than fifth.

Garmendia also won the 200 individual medley with a time of 1:51.38 and the 200 freestyle in 1:39.91 and the 200 backstroke in 1:54.75. Bradac won the 1,000 freestyle in 9:31.82 and the 500 freestyle in 4:33.12. Senior Kevin Nagy won the 100 freestyle in 45.95, and nearly beat one of the top sprinters in the country, the Huskers' Peter Williams, in the 50 freestyle. Williams won in 20.82, while Nagy finished second in 20.85.

The men now have a 5-4 record, while the women stand at 4-6. Their next meet is Friday against Missouri at the Center.

Herrin's troupe suffers 5-game slide the extra five minutes and Nurnberger added six free throws.

The win gives the Salukis a 7-8 overall record and 2-1 Missouri Valley Conference mark. Indiana State is 4-11 overall and 0-3 in the MVC.

Nurnberger led the Salukis' with 25 points. Middleton had 23, with 21 coming in the second half.

In the first half the Salukis were sluggish, falling behind 23-8. The lead enabled Indiana State to play at a deliberate pace. The Cyclones used most of the 45-second clock every time they had the ball.

"We really didn't come out to play early," Herrin said. "They made us play their game exactly for 40 minutes. Every minute it was their game. After that, it was our game."

The win came at a crucial time for the Salukis who have road games against Bradley and Illinois State this week.

"We had to win it. If we would have lost this one it would have really been a blow," Nurnberger said.

Women win sixth in GCAC

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

The women's basketball team compiled a 7-2 record over Christmas break to bring its overall season record to 10-5.

The Salukis defeated Wichita State 57-48 Friday and Southwest Missouri 76-68 on Sunday, ending their holiday schedule with a 6-1 record in the Gateway Conference.

Center Mary Berghuis led the Salukis past the Wichita Shockers with 18 points, while Dana Fitzpatrick grabbed 10 rebounds.

Against Southwest Missouri, Junior guard Tonda Seals made a career-high of 27 points while Deanna Sanders and Berghuis each had 13.

Over Break:

The Salukis began their holiday schedule Dec. 19 with a 76-58 victory over Western Kentucky at the Arena in a non-conference game. Seniors Bridget Bonds and Berghuis led the scoring with 22 points each. Berghuis also had a game-high eight rebounds.

Bonds returned to her power forward position, which she played for three years, ending her stint as a small forward. Bonds' performance was good enough to put her over 1,000 total points for her career.

Berghuis also reached the 1,000-point plateau, scoring eight points Dec. 21 in SIU-C's 82-67 loss to Purdue in West Lafayette, Ind.

The Boiler-makers went to the free-throw line 38 times while the Salukis attempted only nine free throws. SIU-C also committed 16 turnovers, including 12 in the second half.

Tonda Seals led the Salukis with 20 points and Fitzpatrick added 14.

The Salukis lost their Gateway Conference opener to Eastern Illinois 62-50 Dec. 30. It ended the Salukis 39-game GCAC winning streak.

The Saluki backcourt netted only 15 percent of its shots, connecting three times in 20 attempts. Bonds led SIU-C with 17 points and 10 rebounds.

SIU-C ended its two-game losing streak by defeating Bradley 81-59 in a GCAC match Jan. 2. The victory was Saluki coach Cindy Scott's 200th of her career.

The Salukis were hot from the field in the second half, hitting 71 percent of their field goals. Seals led SIU-C with 22 points, five steals and five assists. Berghuis added 13 points and 11 rebounds.

The team improved its conference record to 2-1 by defeating Western Illinois 89-63 Jan. 4. The Salukis shot 66 percent from the field, their highest mark on the year. Four Salukis scored in double figures. Junior Cathy Kampwerth led the team with a career high 26 points. Bonds, Berghuis, and Seals added 16, 13 and 10 respectively.

The Salukis defeated conference foe Drake 61-53 at the Arena Jan 7. This was the Salukis' third consecutive GCAC victory. Seals led the Saluki scoring with 17 points.

SIU-C continued its GCAC winning streak, defeating Northern Iowa 71-39. Bonds was the Salukis' leading scorer and rebounder with 13 points and six rebounds.

Sports in '87

The 1987 year in sports provided Saluki fans with pleasant surprises and mild disappointments. While some teams dominated their opponents en route to winning seasons, others fell prey to injury and defeat.

Winning its second straight undefeated Gateway Conference championship, the women's basketball team lost to Louisiana Tech in the second round of the NCAA tournament. The Salukis won their first game of the tournament without starters Ann Kattreh and Bridgett Bonds, who were injured.

The men's basketball team posted a 12-17 overall record, finishing sixth in the MVC.

The football team finished at 3-8, its worst record under the direction of Coach Ray Dorr. The Salukis were plagued with injuries, including quarterback Kevin Brown and linebacker Mike Carbonaro.

The Saluki volleyball team ended with a 15-19 overall record, 6-3 in the Gateway Conference. That record was enough to finish fourth in the conference.

Senior Vivian Sinou finished third in the NCAA regional, leading the women's cross country team to a seventh place finish.

The men's cross country team finished eighth at the NCAA regional.

The women's swim team had a disappointing 18th place finish in the NCAA finals.

The men's swim team had all seven NCAA qualifiers earn all-America status. The all-Americans include Alex Yokachi, Scott Roberts, Erwin Kratz, Kevin Nagy, Chris Gally, Harri Garmendia and Thomas Hakanson.

The men's gymnastics team finished second in the National Independent Championships, but missed its goal of qualifying for the NCAA tournament.

The women's golf team had a disappointing second-place finish in GCAC, losing to rival host Wichita State. Favored to win the conference, the Salukis lost by a 16-stroke margin.

The men's golf team ended the fall season on a frustrated note. The team finished third in the Saluki Invitational at the Rend Lake Golf Course.

The Saluki baseball season was highlighted by Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones' 600th career win. The team finished 36-19 overall.

The softball team ended its season in fourth place in the GCAC with a 20-11 overall record.

The women's track team won its second straight GCAC title. Highlights of the season included Carlon Blackmon's school record of 2:13.41 in the 880-yard dash.

The men's track team finished fourth in the MVC this year.

The women's tennis season was highlighted when Ellen Moellering and Beth Boardman broke the record for most wins by a doubles team. The team finished 9-3 in the fall season.

The top individual performance for the men's tennis team came from No. 1 singles player Jairo Aldana, who won the Illinois Intercollegiate championship. Coach Dick LeFevre is trying to get a Colombian transfer student for the spring semester. "He (the student) could turn everything upside down," LeFevre said.

Jimmy "The Greek" retains Laxalt as lawyer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CBS sportscaster Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder, who said black athletes excel because of breeding during the slavery era, was fired Saturday by the network and retained former Sen. Paul Laxalt as his lawyer.

"CBS Sports today ended its relationship with Jimmy 'The Greek' Snyder," network spokesman Mark Carlson said. "The action follows remarks made by Mr. Snyder Friday in Washington to a local broadcaster which have been widely reported."

In the interview with NBC affiliate WRC-TV in Washington, D.C., Snyder said whites would no longer play a major part in professional sports if more blacks obtained head-coaching positions.

"I want you to listen to everything that was said and then you make your own decision as to what I said that was wrong."

—Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder

"If they take over coaching like everybody wants them to, there's not going to be anything left for white people. All the players are black. The only thing that the whites control are the coaching jobs," Snyder said.

Snyder, in the nation's capital for Sunday's NFC championship game between the Washington Redskins and the Minnesota Vikings, also said black athletes performed better than white athletes for reasons that could be traced to slavery.

"The slave owner would breed his big black (man) to his big woman so that he could have a big black kid.... That's where it all started," he said. "The black (athletic) talent is beautiful."

Snyder, in a statement issued following his dismissal from CBS's "The NFL Today" show, apologized for his remarks but offered no other comment except to say, "I have referred this matter to my attorney, (former Nevada) Sen. Paul Laxalt, who is presently looking into it."

There was no comment from Laxalt, a former Nevada governor, two-term senator and close friend of President Reagan who once owned a Carson City casino, or from his Washington, D.C., law firm.

Snyder, a game prognosticator on the CBS show, initially issued an apology for his remarks Friday and later asked that his comments be taken in totality.

"I want you to listen to everything that was said and then you make your own decision as to what I said that was wrong," Snyder told United Press International on Saturday before CBS announced its decision. "I feel quite poorly. Of course, I apologize to everybody."

"Please let me alone for the rest of the day," he said. "I got enough headaches right now. I mean I'm 70 years old and I've never been in trouble in my life over anything like this. I didn't think I said anything — please, please, I don't want to make it any worse for CBS than it already is."

WRC officials and CBS said they received angry calls about Snyder's comments, prompting him to issue a statement Friday that read, "I'm truly sorry for my remarks earlier today and I offer a full heartfelt apology to those I may have offended."

other times a player scored in double figures.

During the seven game stretch, Saluki players scored in double figures 21 times. By contrast, opposing players reached double figures 28 times.

"For us to win we have to get good, balanced scoring," Herrin said.

That is what the Salukis received during their two wins. Five players scored in double figures against Creighton and three against Indiana State.

Western Kentucky — The Hilltoppers beat the Salukis 84-73 in Bowling Green, Ky. The Salukis lost the game on the boards, getting outrebounded 49-25. SIU-C enjoyed a three-point lead at half but was outscored 49-35 in the second half. Steve Middleton with 24 points and Kai Nurnberger with 20 were the only Salukis in double figures. Each hit four three-pointers. SIU-C connected for 11 three-pointers to Western Kentucky's two.

Stetson — The Salukis lost a 98-96 heartbreaker to the Hatters in DeLand, Fla. The Salukis had a 96-95 lead until Terry Johnson drove the lane and hit the game winner with seven seconds left. A last second attempt by the Salukis was thwarted when Eric Cumbie stole the ball from Nurnberger. Cumbie was fouled and added a free throw.

The Salukis again took advantage of the three-pointer, hitting eight to Stetson's one. Middleton had 35 points, 10 rebounds and three assists. Nurnberger scored 26. Rick Shipley had 12 points and nine rebounds.

SIU to play Northern Feb. 20, officials say

By Dave Miller

For once the fans were right about the officiating. The referees were definitely responsible for the outcome of the Dec. 19 Northern Illinois-SIU-C game. They didn't show up.

A scheduling mixup in the Missouri Valley Conference office caused the 2 p.m. game to be canceled after no officials arrived after an hour wait. The game has been rescheduled for Feb. 20 at 7:35 p.m.

The MVC has taken responsibility for the can-Evansville — The Purple Aces beat the Salukis for the second time this season, winning 91-77 in Indiana. SIU-C was losing by three points with 1:19 left when Evansville reeled off the game's last 11 points.

Marty Simmons and Dan Godfred helped Evansville overcome a 52-39 Saluki rebound advantage. Simmons scored 32 and dished out seven assists. Godfred, who blocked Sterling Mahan's shot to preserve the Purple Aces' victory in Carbondale, had 23 points, 11 rebounds and five blocked shots.

Shipley grabbed 19 rebounds to go along with 13 points. Middleton scored 25 and Nurnberger had 17.

Missouri — The Tigers cruised to an 86-66 win in front of 6,125 at the Arena. Missouri's 45-30 rebound advantage and .611 shooting percentage was too much for SIU-C to overcome. Trailing 41-27 at the half, the Salukis could only come within 11 points with 11:34 remaining.

The Salukis' only bright spot was the play of Tim Richardson who finished with 16 points and 10 rebounds.

Derrick Chievous led Missouri with 25 points and Byron Irvin had 21.

Drake — The Bulldogs beat the Salukis 99-86 in Des Moines, Iowa in SIU-C's Missouri Valley Conference opener. Once again the Salukis lost the game on the boards, getting outrebounded 48-29. The huge gap negated SIU-C's eight-to-one edge in three-point goals.

Eric Berger came off the bench to lead Drake with 21 points. Berger replaced Glenn Martin of Carbondale, who sprained an ankle in the first half. Middleton led the Salukis with 29 points and Nurnberger scored 23. Shipley had 13 points and eight rebounds. Richardson had 10 points and seven rebounds.

Creighton — The Salukis snapped a five-game losing streak, beating the Blue Jays 102-96 in Omaha, Neb.

Nurnberger made four free throws in the last 30 seconds to hold off Creighton. SIU-C never relinquished the lead after a Randy House layup gave the Salukis a 96-94 lead with 2:35 remaining.

The win evened the Salukis' conference record at 1-1.

Middleton had 32 points and 11 rebounds. Nurnberger had 22 points, seven rebounds and five assists.

Track team wins pair at Purdue

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

Men's track coach Bill Cornell's major concern prior to Saturday's Purdue Invitational was the condition of his athletes following the holiday break. "I didn't have them come in early and they had finals week off," Cornell said. "This no-score meet is to see what kind of shape they are in."

The team put its coach's suspicions to rest with two victories and three personal best performances. "They did pretty well considering the break," Cornell said.

Leonard Vance placed first in the triple jump with a jump of 49 feet, 7 1/2 inches. "That would have won the conference last year," Cornell said.

Modiba Crawford finished second in the event with a jump of 47-3/4. Patrick Williams was fourth with a personal best jump of 45-6 1/4.

Saluki Kent Leek won the 5,000-meter run with a time of 15 minutes, 22.11 seconds.

"Those were our only two wins, but it was an 18-team meet," Cornell said.

The Salukis placed second in four events, including Crawford's finish in the triple jump. Ron Harrer finished second in the shot put with a throw of 53-6 1/4.

Brian Bradley captured second in the long jump, leaping 23-6 1/2. In the 200, Billie King placed second in 22.56.

Pettigrew hits hurdle

Senior Andy Pettigrew found out over break that in England, they do take visa.

Cross country and track coach Bill Cornell said Monday that Pettigrew, a consistent point-scorer in track conference meets, was having problems getting back to Carbondale at first, but that he will be arriving in St. Louis today.

Pettigrew had lost his passport and student visa while he was here, Cornell said. He said Pettigrew got a temporary passport and through some mixup at the American Embassy was waiting for the visa.

Pettigrew came to SIU-C three years ago from Maidenhead, England. He was home for break.

Middleton, Nurnberger put Salukis in overtime

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

The Salukis' dynamic duo pulled off its most heroic feat of the season, defying the odds to beat the bad guys from Indiana State in overtime, 82-72.

Steve Middleton and Kai Nurnberger brought the Salukis back from a five-point deficit with 20 seconds left and put the fans back into the stands Saturday at the Arena.

Two Eddie Bird free throws gave Indiana State a 66-61 lead. With 15 seconds left, Middleton cut the lead to 66-63 on a layup but was called for a charge. Dion Campbell then missed the front end of the one-and-one.

Kai Nurnberger

With six seconds left, Campbell fouled Middleton to prevent the Salukis from attempting a game-tying three-pointer.

Middleton hit the front end of the one-and-one, cutting the deficit to two. He missed the second shot on purpose. The ball was tipped in the lane by Rick Shipley and went to Nurnberger on the left side. Nurnberger shot the ball off the glass. The ball bounced on the rim before falling in to send the game into overtime.

Middleton did not need a reminder from Coach Rich Herrin on what to do when he stepped to the line.

"It was common sense," Middleton said. "We were down by three. There was nothing another free throw was going to do for us. We needed a basket. That's what the play called for at the time."

"I was very fortunate. I aimed it right at the front of the rim and shot it real hard. It jumped up a little high over the Indiana State player and Nurnberger was right there to pick it up."

"It was pretty lucky," Nurnberger said.

The miracle play propelled the Salukis to outscore Indiana State 16-6 in overtime. Randy House scored nine points in

The men's basketball team started as cold as the weather during Christmas break, losing five straight.

But the Salukis are beginning to thaw, having won two Missouri Valley games in a row. Saturday's win against Indiana State gave the Salukis a 7-8 overall record and a 2-1 conference mark, which is good enough for a four-way tie for second place in the MVC.

"We played good basketball (over break)," coach Rich Herrin said. "We just didn't play well enough to win. We could have won every ballgame but the Missouri game."

Guards Steve Middleton and Kai Nurnberger did the bulk of the scoring during break, scoring in double figures in each of the seven games. Between them, they scored 20 or more points 11 times.

The brilliant play of Middleton and Nurnberger resulted in only two wins because, between the rest of the Salukis, there were only 10

Bonds, Berghuis top 1,000 career-point mark

By Jeff Griesser

Two Saluki women basketball players achieved milestones in their careers over the holiday break.

Bridgett Bonds and Mary Berghuis topped the 1,000 career point mark in December, within two days of each other.

Bonds scored 22 points Dec. 19 as the Salukis upset 11th ranked Western Kentucky 76-58.

She is now eighth on the all-time list with 1,966 points, only 20 behind Jeri Hoffman, who played from 1975-79.

The Salukis lost to Purdue 82-67, but Berghuis scored eight points to break the record.

She is now ninth on the scoring list with 1,076 points. The two players also are on the move on the all-time rebounding list.

Berghuis is fifth on the rebounding ladder with 707 career boards while Bonds is seventh with 652, only 14 behind Hoffman.
