20 Student Senate Seats Open in Fall Election

Senate Chairman Richard Karr announced Tuesday that 20 out of 31 senate seats will be up for grabs in the upcoming fall senatorial elections.

Due to irregularities in last spring's elections, Karr said, the total number of seats is five more than the usual number available.

He said the irregularities had left seven vacancies in the Commuter and West Side Dorm representation when all ballots were declared invalid by election officials. Eleven of the seats will be retained by senators elected in last fall's election.

Six senators will be elected from each of the Commuter and West Side Dorm districts. Half of the senators elected from each of these areas will serve only until the spring term. The remainder will retain office until the end of the fall quarter in 1968. Candidates receiving the largest total of votes in both districts will serve full year terms.

Karr said those filing for candidacy should have an overall 3.2 average, be able to fulfill residency requirements of the district represented and have a petition signed by 50 SIU students residing in the district in which he is running. The petitions should be submitted to the Student Government Office before 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 9.

Senate elections will be held Nov. 16. The offices of president and vice-president are voted upon during spring elections.

Senate seats are available from the districts of Thompson Point, University Park, Commuter, East Side Dorm, West Side Dorm, East Side Non-Dorm, and the West Side Non-Dorm. Commuter is defined as living at home with parents or guardian or residing outside of the corporate city limits of Carbondale.

Karr warned that campaign material should not be put up before Thursday and that any violations concerning election law infractions would be brought before a Judicial Board.

"All candidates should take it upon themselves to become concerned with the vital issues on this campus," said Karr. "Students are going to want to know the answers to questions dealing with Free School, the proposed judiciary system and the other important matters at stake."

GOAL POSTS COMING UP-Clarence Blessing, SIU's iron foreman, starts cutting 3-inch steel pipe which will be welded to form new goal posts for McAndrew stadium. Old posts, also made of steel, were torn down by exuberant fans last Saturday when the Salukis upset the high-flying Hurricane from the University of Tulsa at Homecoming.

Student Government Termed Ineffective

Representatives at a Student Action Party convention last night were told that in too many cases the SIU Student Government is "only so much sound and fury signifying nothing."

Dr. Robert Gold, professor of history, said that in order for Student Government to be effective the senators should know their constituents and have knowledge of the real needs.

"If you're going to be able to conjure up some kind of support from this University," Gold said, "you need

Gus Bode

Gus says every man has his price but some are not worth it.

the voice of the students to get a clear mandate to work from toward progress."

The speaker said that effective Student Government has become a fact of the times and is developing into something much more meaningful in the culmination of "student power."

"Student power is full student participation of University life including academic planning, student regulations and activities," he continued, "Anyone who says student power is not a coming factor in the future life of universities is being unrealistic."

Gold suggested a need for more referendums, petitions and hearings to get the voice of the student lost in the bigness of the University system.

"Whether it be the issue of draft card burning, Vietnam or legalization of marijuana," he emphasized, "these issues are too often lost because the basic population regards them as just so many immature student mouthings."

"I don't care what stand you take on the issues," he concluded, "unless you represent the students, there is no student power."

Sidewalk Study Group Formed by City Council

The City Council took a major step last night towards solving one of Carbondale's most serious problems by establishing a citizen's sidewalk advisory committee and entrusting it with the task of developing a city-wide program of sidewalk construction.

The council approved the appointment of the 12-member advisory group and passed a special resolution setting down the committee's course of action.

According to the resolution, the committee will determine the number of miles of sidewalk needed; the estimated cost of construction; and the methods of financing sidewalk construction.

In addition, the committee is charged with the responsibility of deciding what neighborhoods and streets are in most urgent need of sidewalks.

The appointment of the citizen's sidewalk committee is the climax of a fast-moving

Activities Planned

Parents Invited to See SIU First

A letter of invitation to participate in Parents Day Weekend has been sent to parents of SIU students.

Signed by President Morris and co-chairmen of the day Jon D. Carlson and Patricia K. Chandri, the letter announces activities scheduled for the weekend.

Activities begin at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 17, with a musical highlights program in Shryock Auditorium.

Saturday's activities begin with registration at 8 a.m. in the University Center. A coffee hour, slide program and tours will follow from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the sidewalk campaign which began in September after two SIU students were struck and killed by an auto along South Wall St. where there were no sidewalks.

In the meetings following the tragic accident, the Council expressed its concern over the dangerous shortage of sidewalks in Carbondale and subsequently approved construction of walk-ways along South Wall St.

At last week's council meeting 23 residents of Emerald Lane requested sidewalks for their heavily-traveled street explaining that their children were in "dire danger" because they were forced to walk and play in the street.

The sidewalk committee will work in cooperation with the city administration, the Carbondale Planning Commission, and with school officials.

The committee is expected to return its recommendations before the city budget is drawn up in April.

In other business the Council voted to remove all parking along South Forest St. from Grand to Main St. The one-way stretch of South Forest between Walnut and Main will be changed to two-way traffic.

MacVicar President In Morris' Absence

Besides his regular duties as vice-president of academic affairs, Robert W. MacVicar will be the acting president of SIU while President Delyte W. Morris is on his three-month world tour.

Paul Morrill, assistant to the president, said that any regular business dealing with the President's Office will be handled through normal channels there but will be forwarded to MacVicar.

According to Morrill, President Morris will be making reports on his visits to the various SIU missions around the world, but he will be out of contact with most of the daily business of the University.

Morrill said that MacVicar will attend the Board of Trustees meetings. He will also receive any of the commission reports that may be submitted.

MacVicar began his duties as acting president Saturday when he officiated at the Homecoming Parade with Carbondale's Mayor David Keene.

Center. SIU will meet Drake in a football game at 1:30 p.m. in McAndrew Stadium.

Receptions in residence halls are scheduled from 4 to 6 p.m. and a buffet dinner will be held from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the University Center.

A Parents Day Dance is planned for 8:30 to 12:30 p.m. in the University Center Ballrooms.

The University museum, greenhouses and art displays will be open Sunday afternoon Nov. 19.

Parents spending the weekend on campus may obtain meal tickets in the dining room of the residence areas.

National Mock Election May Tell Grassroots Fans LBJ-RFK Status

SIU backers of Robert Kennedy as the Democratic presidential nominee will pit their favorite against incumbent Lyndon B. Johnson Thursday as part of a national mock election.

A spokesman for the local sponsoring group, the Southern Illinois Citizens for Kennedy Movement, said that an easy victory was expected.

"With national elections just a year away, we feel this is a good time to convince Johnson that his support has dwindled," said Al Blumenthal, chairman of the organization. "We are confident that Kennedy is the choice of most Americans."

Results favorable to Kennedy supporters would be used by grassroots factions to convince their candidate to run for the presidency.

Blumenthal says a Kennedy victory on the Carbondale campus is a virtual certainty after noting the poor support Johnson's policies received in a recent student referendum. The question dealing with Vietnam gave Johnson's present policies only 10.9 per cent minority.

"This is an effort to convince Johnson not to run again in '68," Blumenthal continued. "Not only are people dissatisfied with his policy in Vietnam, but they have been upset by his proposed increases in spending and taxes."

Blumenthal quoted a recent resolution passed by the SIU Young Democrats stating that the Democratic Party once offered young people "the challenge of building a better world both at home and abroad."

"Now it offers little but death abroad and disillusionment at home while a Democratic president squanders valuable resources on a war he cannot win and will not end," Blumenthal added. "Meanwhile, the real war-- against poverty, ignorance, illness and hate-- must wait while people despair and cities burn."

Voting booths will be available in Room H of the University Center for SIU students while Carbondale residents will be asked to cast ballots at the Murdale Shopping Center.

CONCERT SCHEDULED--Mildred Miller, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan, Vienna and San Francisco Opera companies, will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday in a concert in Shryock Auditorium. The concert is the second of the Carbondale Community Concert Association's 1967-68 series.

Thanksgiving Break Longer To Alleviate Crowded Trains

SIU's Thanksgiving break will begin at 10 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 21, and will end at 8 a.m. Monday, Nov. 27.

In past years the break began at noon on Wednesday and ended Monday morning after Thanksgiving.

The '67 schedule is hoped to alleviate overcrowding of passenger trains between SIU and Chicago.

The University of Illinois is scheduled to break at noon

Wednesday and resume classes at noon on Monday.

Representatives of the University of Illinois, SIU, and the Illinois Central met in Champaign during the summer to revise the scheduling.

Trains will leave Carbondale for Chicago every day at 12:50 a.m., 4 a.m., 4:50 a.m., 11:50 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. The 4 a.m. is a Pullman.

Saluki Specials may be announced soon by the Illinois Central.

'The Search: Seventh Series' Is Poetry, Southern Style

A total of 43 poems by 22 SIU students is included in SIU Signs Placed On Student Buses

New signs, reading SIU, have been placed on all buses provided by the West Bus Service serving students of the campus community.

According to Carlton Rasche, manager of auxiliary enterprises, the signs are part of the developed plan to establish an improved transportation service.

The SIU bus service will be operated along the lines of a commercial or city bus as far as motorists are concerned in heeding traffic safety rules.

This means that motorists may pass the buses when they come to a full stop to let out students. This is a traffic violation for regular school buses.

Thomas Kinsella, poet-in-residence in the Department of English and editor of this year's "Search," said two or three of his students seem already to have made moves toward true poetry.

In a forward to the 63-page volume, Kinsella dedicated the poetry collection to Georgia Winn who sponsored the previous six editions, beginning in 1961.

The volume sells for $3.75 and is available in the University Center Bookstore.

Step Towards The Big Time

If the football Salukis never win another game this season, Saturday's victory over Tulsa should still be enough to sustain those dreams of SIU someday becoming a major football power school, if the fans really want them badly enough.

There is no doubt in Coach Dick Towers' mind that the team played its heart out because there was an overflow homecoming crowd of over 15,000 people in McAndrew Stadium.

SIU outblocked, outtackled, outdefensed and outpassed Tulsa. And Tulsa, considered one of the nation's top teams, went into the game with a 4-0 record.

Among Tulsa's wins was a 77-0 slaughter of Tampa and a victory over always tough Arkansas. Tulsa was No. 1 team in the nation in total offense, passing offense, total defense, and it was number two in the nation in rushing defense.

Tulsa certainly was a better opponent than any of the teams that SIU had lost to this year. And SIU's victory had to be one of the biggest upsets of the college weekend.

If playing before a large crowd could cause such an achievement, what would happen if the team were to play before such a crowd every home game? And what might have happened if 15,000 people would have been at the first four home games this season?

Let's hope that all of those 15,000 people fully realize the team performed the way it did because of "the old school spirit."

If 15,000 people would pack McAndrew Stadium for every home game, there would be no doubt in the minds of the school administrators that SIU could support a big-time football program.

We tore down those goal posts. Now let's tear down McAndrew and build a new stadium. Then we can tear up the major college polls!

Letters to the Editor:

Metamorphosis at SIU

To the Editor:

In the relatively short four years of my college career here at Southern, I have watched the institution grow, bend, and strive for the policies required of a school of "higher education". Along with this growth in Southern, itself, came a transition in the student body. From a small, content, body of students, primarily concerned with education and the learning process, emerged a seething mass of rebellious, hypercritical protestors. Amazingly, only a period of two or three years separates these contrasting units.

The most striking evidence of this comparison can be seen in the editorial page of our own Daily Egyptian. Each edition comes forth with more belligerent and striking articles on any subject from Race Relations to the War in Vietnam. Obviously, these are the two topics of the year.

As an example, the Friday, October 26 issue of the Egyptian brought out several letters dominating the page with discrimination and unqualified ideas. One which caught my eye was Patricia Harvey's answer to Mr. Wood's feelings on the Olympic Boycott. In this article alone we can see aggressiveness, hate, and fear. When Miss Harvey states the "Disillusioned American salutes the flag for America's sake, goes to war for his land's sake, and writes editorials for justice and common sense's sake", she places herself on a pedestal of ignorance--"for her sake".

Our Country can be compared to a family: It has its good times, bad times, and general growing pains. It's made right decisions, wrong decisions and as many errors as any child in the process of growing up. But the real answer lies in the fact that Our Country is always striving to rectify its past errors and prevent its future ones.

All this, believe it or not, is in the name of the people, one of which, I might add, Miss Harvey is! Miss Harvey's presence here as a student is alone enough to prove that the long battle of equality for one and all is equally progressing, or are we to assume that she is on a weekend "pass" from one of the South's renowned "plantations". You say you've got "logic", Miss Harvey? If this logic leads you down the path of violence, boycott, Un-Americanism, and civil revolution, let ignorance reign!

Several other articles in the same edition dealt with the rising dissatisfaction in the Vietnam War. Our process of education, which I would prefer to refer to as over-intellectualism, has somehow been distorted in use. The student body, or should I say a small minority, feels that three or four years of "higher education" give the individual the right to sit in judgement of major administrative decisions, and even promulgate its own.

The fact that we, as a democracy, elected and supported the present administration, is alone enough to justify our backing. But aside from that, how can we who haven't yet emerged into mental maturity, qualify ourselves to condemn an administration with years of experience in government, world policies, and democracy. Granted we have a right to our own opinions, and that these same opinions are often supported by responsible citizens, but very rarely do these citizens attempt to "shove them down the throats" of the people of the United States with violence, aggression, and strong-arm tactics.

When our own student body president, Ray Lenzi, attempts to represent SIU at a violent and aggressive protest that will prove to be a blemish on the history of the United States, we know that the real function of education has been lost in the process.

The entire situation reminds me of the old cliché about being born with a "silver spoon" in your mouth. This unsettled minority which feels its decisions and ideals should be the ruling factor in our country is placing that same silver spoon in their own mouths. But with the persistence of their subversive methods, they can only succeed in choking themselves!

Mature Decision

To the Editor:

I am proud of SIU and its student body for its show of true maturity and responsible thinking. I am referring to the recent execution of a truly fair, open, and impartial Homecoming Queen Contest. A contest based on the talent, personality, intelligence, and beauty of the participants, not superficial features.

I have been a student at the SIU Carbondale campus for four years now and am entering my fifth year. I have earned one degree here and am working on another. Since coming to SIU I have seen the student body grow in number and mature in attitude. I have seen students form RAM and initiate the first hopes of student rights at SIU.

I have seen dedicated student leaders bring about the abolition of compulsory AFROTC at SIU. I have seen the Greek social groups successfully resist the administration's forced redesignation of house names. I have seen, just this year, the first semblances of a responsible and, I hope, effective student government. I have seen a two-page student newspaper that printed only campus gossip and what the administration told it to print grow and develop into a student newspaper that prints campus news (with some degree of accuracy), world news, and national and local columns, as well as an editorial page that is really composed of student and faculty editorials, not administration mandates.

However, I think the most encouraging and heart-warming event I have witnessed in my four years of attendance is this recent emancipation of student values from those of the surrounding community.

At long last, SIU can hold its head high and walk among the truly "liberal" institutions of higher learning, instead of living in the infamous shadows of the University of Mississippi and other prejudiced southern universities.

I know not and care not to whom or where credit is due for these progressive steps. I can only say keep up the good work and continue to develop and mature so I can be even prouder to claim myself as a SIU alumnus, graduate student, and participant.

I wonder what critical comments Dick Gregory would have about SIU now if he were to return.

Steven D. Spaner

Law Yields To Few

After reading the Daily Egyptian article of October 27 concerning the recent "melee" in the northeast side of Carbondale, one is left with the impression that the police department's decision to issue no warrants was not determined by whether the law had been broken. Rather the decision was apparently based on the department's fear that the "howling crowd," specifically the "Eastside Rangers" would "punish" the department and the city with violence if the police tried to enforce the law.

Are we to assume from this that the law in Carbondale is enforceable only when it meets the approval of the northeast side or of the "Eastside Rangers"? Does the presence of chains and clubs deter the police from functioning in their capacity as law enforcers? If so, can I too get out of obeying the laws of this city if I carry a chain and a club or if I join the "Eastside Rangers"?

"True Peace March Story Untold"

By Stuart Novick

One of the crucial questions raised prior to and following the Oct. 21 anti-Vietnam war march on Washington is, simply, why did people go?

In answering, I am offering only my own conclusions.

People went to that march for thousands of different reasons, but the idea which generally unified all was the reaction to the bitter taste of the denigration of American morality, ethics, and optimism. Those who participated were and are, generally, committed enough to the ideals of this nation to retain a willingness to give of themselves to attempt to rectify what they believe is the betrayal of our American heritage.

The belief that protest can change the status quo is an optimism rooted deep in American history and founded on a relentless commitment to strive towards honest attainment of our ancient goals of freedom, justice, equality and happiness for all men.

The words echo across the nation: "What happened in Washington, D.C. on Oct. 21-22, 1967?" Often the persons least capable of answering the question are those who actually participated, as is the case with any large mass of people involved in making history.

Yet, the view from afar is just as unsatisfactory, for it is distorted in that it sees, of necessity, only the results of people acting. My effort is to supplement that overview with some statements of fact and with some explanations of what I personally witnessed and experienced.

Thousands of people lined all sides of the reflecting pool stretching to the Washington Monument for the pre-march rally Saturday. They lounged about, watching other people lounge about, reading from the abundant supply of all varieties of literature, listening at times to excited but rather superfluous oratory, enjoying the sounds of a couple of the talented folk baladeers out of the many mediocre ones, appreciating the harmony and spirit of Peter, Paul, and Mary-- and waiting four or five hours to march.

Then the march started, stopped, started, stopped, till the grassy dirt leading to the Pentagon access road was reached. There the order ended.

From the outset no one really knew what was supposed to happen at the Pentagon. The original call for direct action seemed to suggest some sort of militant approach. But before the marchers left the rally, the announcement came that "the direct action" was to be in the form of a "teach-in" to the troops.

However by the time I had arrived a large militant group had already tried, unsuccessfully, to breach the main entrance.

Suddenly, I was in a group of about 200 people who were moving towards the building and who were being detained by not more than 50 soldiers.

Suddenly, a breakthrough. About 30 made it up the steps. The first few had their heads cracked open by U.S. marshalls. Some made it into the building.

The crowd kept growing. People were scaling the wall up to the parking lot by use of ropes hastily thrown over the side. Organization was impromptu and amazingly swift considering the fact that there were no leaders.

By 6 p.m. the group numbered about 3,500, most of whom were sitting, singing, talking to the troops, wondering about getting arrested. The driveway where we had come up was now filled with troops wearing gas masks.

Two cannisters were fired on people below to keep them from coming up the driveway. But they merely climbed up the ropes. Why nobody ever thought about securing the wall where people were coming and going at will, no one yet knows.

The atmosphere began to calm. The protestors relaxed and started talking to the soldiers about Vietnam, about the injustices of the draft, about their duty under the Nuremberg precedents to make an individual decision about the morality of their orders. The military Police were commanded not to speak to the demonstrators, but as it got dark, a few of the soldiers found themselves more lonely and cold than obedient.

Then some beautiful things began to happen. The people on top had been sitting for two hours without water and most had not eaten since that morning. The people below responded without question or hesitation. Within two hours more food, water, cans of juice, cigarettes, candy was lifted up by the ropes than anyone could have imagined. And everything was shared. The spirit was the same as in the rally of support down below. Get what you can, share what you get. No questions, no doubts.

That feeling of humanity is beyond the reach of my words, but it was the most moving and beautiful experience of my life, the feeling that everyone was one with each other, the spirit of the unity of existence.

Soon those who had been jeering at the soldiers realized that they were there through no desire of their own, that they were cold and hungry too, that they were, in fact, sharing the same conditions that we "enjoyed," that they were people.

Then, rather than hate, there was compassion. People built their bonfires close to the troops to keep them warm. People sang to the troops. People chanted "we love you" to the soldiers guarding them. The spirit of oneness, of human commonality, of wholeness with man became the dominant mood.

Yes, there were a couple of incidents. The television cameramen unexpectedly turned their spotlights on the jittery crowd at about one in the morning. At this time there was much troop movement and almost everyone expected wholesale arrests to begin. The people ran excitedly over to the lights and, when they discovered what they were for, began jeering at the cameramen; for as soon as everyone had stopped running the cameras went off.

The television men had created an incident (even if unwittingly) and had filmed it and had turned off the cameras as soon as calm came over the group.

Later, a soldier's knee buckled, and he fell on top of a young student. The marshalls patrolling behind the troops waded in, no questions asked. They hauled the soldier off and then three marshalls proceeded to zealously beat on the student's head.

This young man was sent to the hospital. When we left at 6 that morning in an orderly and peaceful procession, he had not yet regained consciousness. The prognosis was that he never would.

What was proved? First, the few militant persons present are the ones who achieved notoriety and "bad press."

The beautiful things, of course, were not mentioned. Nor was the fact articulated that the militants were acting on their own and not as a part of the march.

The press and especially the television media apparently feels that primary coverage must be given to one hour (at most) of our twenty-four because "action is what the people like to see and read about."

But it is the worst form of falsehood: willful distortion by omission. The vast bulk of the participants were committed to change through non-violent means.

If one is to reform a society, if one desires to establish human civilization according to moral and ethical imperatives, then no amount of violence and killing will bring these goals to fruition. To work for peace through violent means is Orwellian doubletalk.

But the beautiful things so overwhelmingly outnumbered the ugly things that I believe that our optimism is not unwarranted. The beauty which evolved out of the ugliness was, in my mind, the single most important occurrence, and, hopefully, the most prophetic.

It is a crime that those who see no purpose to such a demonstration must rely on the American mass media to relate what happened. If only every American would be able to feel for but a few minutes the spirit of peace, brotherhood, harmony and happiness that pervaded beneath the menacing shadow of the Pentagon, then there would be no more need for war.

County Forms Pre-Jury Screening Group

By Al Manning

Jackson County's month-old jury commission hopes to save taxpayers' money and save many people from some of the problems that might be involved in jury duty, according to committee chairman Archie Jones of Carbondale.

Opera Scores To Be Sung November 12

The SIU Opera Workshop will be held at 4 p.m. Nov. 12 in Shryock Auditorium.

Marjorie Lawrence will direct the workshop, assisted by Raeschelle Potter. Martha Harpstrite will be accompanist and William Mc Hughes, stage manager.

The workshop will include excerpts from Madame Butterfly, Turandot, La Cenerentola, Il Barbiere Di Siviglia, Reviled Patriot, Boris Gudunoff, Così Fan Tutte, Don Giovanni, Don Carlo, Rigoletto, Otello, and Les Contes D'Hoffman.

Students participating in the workshop include: Peggy Parkinson, Gloria Barringer, Dolores Cohen, Deanna DuComb, Willie Hart, Beatrice Hines, Cheri Moore, Marie Porton, Pamela Sanabria, Rebecca Seiglar, Sandra SirHenry, Linda Sparks, Susan Aschenbrener.

Students Volunteer To Continue Work

At least some people are willing to work without pay. Seventeen SIU students who work in a federally funded Activity Therapy Program at Anna State Hospital have volunteered to continue work without pay until federal funds become available.

According to Hospital Health Educator, Frank LaFoon, the students met when they learned that the federal funds for the program were frozen and voted unanimously to continue the work on a volunteer basis.

The students work evenings and weekend to supplement the regular hospital staff hours with therapy programs.

The volunteers are Pam Bridwell, Wanda Dillon, Vicki Jo McDonald, John Menton, David Parks and Larry Miles, all of Anna; Linda Frick and Archie Hazel, Jonesboro; Dennis and Lee Marie Olvera, Mascoutah; Thomas Foss, Lawrenceville; Mary Keeton, St. Louis, Drew Just, Skokie; Janet Just, Pekin; Dennis Keeton, Batchtown; James Tapen, Alton; and Laura Beckenbaugh of Carbondale.

The Commission is taking names from the registered voter lists of the county's 48 precincts and compiling a list of candidates for grand and petit jury service.

Other commission members are Joe Pelzer and Frank Parrish, both of Murphysboro. Mrs. Gordon Barth of Murphysboro was named secretary.

Jackson County became eligible for a jury commission when the previous state legislature lowered the population minimum to include counties of 40,000 or more. The former minimum was 70,000.

Previously, jurors were selected from lists provided by township supervisors for grand jury duty and from lists of registered voters for petit jury service. The new system began Sept. 15.

"Approximately 3,000 questionnaires have already been issued and we will probably send 6,500 to 7,000," said Pelzer. "The names are drawn by lot, the same selection as in the past."

The questionnaires ask for information concerning occupation, marital status, physical disability, age and age of children. At present the returned sheets are deemed acceptable or not acceptable for jury duty, according to Pelzer.

Newspaper employees, medical people and those associated with the court are placed in the non-acceptable list.

Students and school teachers are placed in the acceptable pile. Pelzer said the commission had no estimate of the number of SIU students who had been accepted, but some count would be made at the first of the year.

"We won't work a hardship on anyone," said Pelzer. "We are trying to eliminate people who will be looking for an excuse when called for jury duty," he said.

Pelzer cited examples of deaf or blind people, elderly people in a nursing home and mothers of young children, as those being eliminated from the prospective list.

"It will save these people the time and trouble, and perhaps cost, of making the trip to Murphysboro to tell the judge the reason they cannot serve," said Pelzer.

"The voting lists are not up to date," he said. "Many people are deceased or out of the state. One person is in now in India."

Jones said, "We are not professionals. We'll make some mistakes. But the new list will help everyone concerned."

The three commissioners receive a salary of $30 a month and work part time. Jones and Parrish are retired school teachers, and Pelzer was formerly associated with the Jackson County Battery Co.

Mrs. Barth is employed full time by the commission.

Marketing Group Initiates Pledges

Pi Sigma Epsilon, national marketing fraternity, initiated 11 men at an initiation-banquet recently at the Logan House.

New members are Michael Astorino, David Denoit, Michael Cronin, Joseph Grodzinski, Larry Kite, Fred Maloznik, Phillip Mitrick,

Rich vs. Poor in Musical

'Greasepaint' Portrays Clash of the Classes

According to one of the characters, "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd" is a very simple story.

The Anthony Newly-Leslie Bricusse musical is a simplified statement of the class war, the rich versus the poor, the strong versus the weak. "It's as simple as that," says Sir, the rich, strong bully.

And in the poor, weak corner sits Cocky, played by Edward Earle in the production coming to SIU Monday.

The show will be at Southern by special arrangement with the American Theatre Production of New York. Curtain times will be at 3:30 and 8 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at the University Center or by mail from the Student Activities Center. Mail orders should enclose payment, a self-addressed, stamped envelope and indication of which performance and the number and kind of seats desired.

General public reserved seats are $1.25, $2 or $3 for the matinee, $1.50, $2.50 or $3.50 for the evening performance.

Student tickets are $1, $1.50 or $2.50 for the matinee, $1.25, $2 or $3 for the evening performance. Checks should be made payable to Lectures and Entertainments.

The award-winning score includes such tunes as "Who Can I Turn To?", "The Joker", "Nothing Can Stop Me Now", and "A Wonderful Day Like Today."

Shelby Appointed Conference Head

Lon R. Shelby, associate professor of history and associate dean of the Graduate School, was elected president of the Midwest Medieval History Conference which held its annual meeting last week at Creighton University in Omaha, Neb.

The conference was founded at SIU in 1961 by Shelby and James Powell, then at the University of Illinois. It has since grown to the largest regional medieval history association in the United States.

SIU Professor to Research Prose Translation in Ireland

Thomas Kinsella, Irish poet and professor of English at SIU, will go to Ireland in November for research connected with his translation of the eighth-century Irish prose epic, the "Tain Bo Cuailnge" ("The Cattle Raid of Cooley"). His translation was commissioned by the Oxford University Press, London, in 1963 and is now nearing completion.

Revision Made in Student Guidebook

A one-page revision to the Student Guidebook, 1967-68, really only changes the wording on University regulations for the possession of narcotic drugs.

The change to section titled "Knowledge of Public Laws," reduced the previous statement which attempted to name all the areas when possession would not be permitted to a general statement of "Possession of narcotics in any form is not permitted."

Also changed is a line at the conclusion of the regulation against firearms which says "Special provision is made for registration and storage of certain firearms."

While in Ireland, Kinsella will read his poetry at the Belfast Arts Festival on Nov. 20, will make a recording for the British Broadcasting Company, and will give another reading at the experimental Peacock Theater attached to the new Abbey Theater.

The last appearance will coincide with the Dublin publication of his latest book, "Night-walker and Other Poems," which has been selected as the Christmas Recommendation of London's Poetry Book Society. An American edition of the book is scheduled for spring publication by Knopf, New York.

Kinsella was poet-in-residence at SIU for two years before his appointment this fall to the English department faculty.

Romney Proposes Neutrality in Asia

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)-- Michigan Gov. George Romney Tuesday proposed neutralization of Asian nations involved in the Vietnam war as an alternative to the administration's policy.

He mentioned as possible nations to be neutralized both North and South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

The governor, an undeclared candidate for the GOP

Presidential nomination, stopped off in Rhode Island on the next-to-last stop in a five-day tour of most of New England.

Following a speech in nearby Cranston, Romney left by plane for an overnight stop in Portland, Maine, before leaving for Michigan Wednesday.

The neutralization proposal, Romney said, offered "the greatest promise" as an alternative to administration policy.

Strict control and review of the plan would be necessary, Romney said.

He charged that the Johnson administration "hasn't told us the truth about anything." He said the administration's attitude has caused a lack of confidence among Americans and overseas.

Romney called the Johnson policy "a ping pong"--with a "little escalation" followed by a switch in tactics as the public reacted.

At Cranston, Romney told a luncheon meeting he planned another visit to Vietnam sometime in November. He said he would not be "misled" this time by administration spokesmen. When he returned from his previous Vietnam trip he said he had been "brainwashed" by officials and military leaders.

Bank Bandits Captured

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP)-- A small army of police officers surrounded a resort cabin near here Tuesday and captured two men wanted in the robbery of a suburban Chicago bank last Friday. Two policemen were killed and two other policemen were wounded in the holdup.

The FBI said Clifton Daniels, 29, and Henry M. Gargano, 35, offered no resistance and walked, as ordered, backwards from their cabin at Upper Fish Lake 12 miles southeast of this northern Indiana city.

Two women, Mary F. Cook, 30, Chicago, and Annette Gargano Leonardo, 26, Lemont, Ill., also were picked up with the two men.

Harold A. Berger, senior resident agent for the FBI in South Bend, said Gargano had been wounded in the upper arm during the robbery. He was hospitalized at La Porte.

Daniels and the women were taken to the La Porte County jail here. Berger said Gargano and Daniels were held on bank robbery charges filed earlier.

Berger said his agents, tipped off by the FBI in Chicago, teamed with state police and La Porte County sheriff's deputies in making the arrest.

There were weapons in the cabin, Berger said.

Most of the cabins in the capture area were vacant, the agent said.

A savage gun battle occurred during the robbery of the Northlake Bank, Northlake is a western suburb of Chicago.

Police said the robbers escaped with an estimated $83,000 in loot. Some of the loot was dropped during the gun battle in front of the bank when police arrived as the bandits were leaving.

Humphrey Unhurt by Viet Cong Shells

SAIGON (AP) - The Viet Cong fired four mortar shells Tuesday night at South Vietnam's Independence Palace where the nation's newly sworn president, Nguyen Van Thieu, was entertaining U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and 2,000 guests at a glittering inaugural reception.

Only hours before, Thieu had taken the oath as president of this nation's first constitutional government in four years and announced he would propose peace talks to North Vietnam.

Three shells exploded on the palace grounds and one outside. The building was not hit, nor was anyone at the reception, but fragments injured three persons not at the party. Though windows shook, the band played on and the reception, and a later dinner for Humphrey and some other guests, went off as scheduled.

Investigators found the building from which the mortar shells had been fired five blocks away from the palace. Three men fled the scene and inside the building, which had been used as a laundry, was found the body of a 73-year-old Vietnamese man--presumably the owner--shot to death.

The laundry had been closed for two months and police reported it appeared Viet Cong agents disguised as workmen entered the building Tuesday morning, saying they were going to make some repairs, and smuggled in the mortar tube at that time. The Vietnamese man apparently was slain then.

Economic Boom Ties War Record

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's economy Tuesday matched the longest boom in history--the 80 months before and during World War II--and there are indications that records will fall for many months to come.

The last day of October completed 80 months of an economic expansion which began in February 1961, a month after President John F. Kennedy was inaugurated.

It took three tax cuts to coax the expansion along and now the Johnson administration wants a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to slow up the present phase it contends will generate heavy inflation in coming months.

The 80-month expansion hasn't been completely smooth. Just this year alone, the economy experienced a first-half pause while some declines in the latest economic data have marred an otherwise rosy picture.

The newest distortions are blamed on strikes in the automobile, copper and steel haulers industries and government economists said this won't affect the basic strength in the economy. Lost production is made up after a strike is settled, they explained.

Depends on the giant. Actually, some giants are just regular kinds of guys. Except bigger.

And that can be an advantage.

How? Well, for one thing, you've got more going for you. Take Ford Motor Company. A giant in an exciting and vital business. Thinking giant thoughts. About developing Mustang. Cougar. A city car for the future.

Come to work for this giant and you'll begin to think like one.

Because you're dealing with bigger problems, the consequences, of course, will be greater. Your responsibilities heavier. That means your experience must be better--more complete. And so, you'll get the kind of opportunities only a giant can give.

Giants just naturally seem to attract top professionals. Men that you'll be working with and for. And some of that talent is bound to rub off.

Because there's more to do, you'll learn more. In more areas.

You'll develop a talent for making hard-nosed, imaginative decisions. And you'll know how these decisions affect the guts of the operation. At the grass roots. Because you'll have been there.

If you'd like to be a giant yourself, and your better ideas are in finance, product engineering, manufacturing, marketing and sales, personnel administration or systems research, see the man from Ford when he visits your campus. Or send your resume to Ford Motor Company, College Recruiting Department.

You and Ford can grow bigger together.

THE AMERICAN ROAD, DEARBORN, MICHIGAN

Reagan Denies Aides Were Homosexuals

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) --A published report that two of his former staff members were part of "a homosexual ring" in Sacramento was described by Gov. Ronald Reagan on Tuesday as a ridiculous lie.

Asked about the report carried by Washington columnist Drew Pearson, Reagan said at a news conference "there is no truth to the report. He's lying."

Reagan, a Republican, also called Pearson an untrustworthy reporter proved wrong many times.

"I think Drew Pearson shouldn't be using a typewriter and paper. He's better with a pencil on out-building walls," said Reagan.

In Washington, Pearson released a statement saying: "The facts in this case are incontrovertible and he knows it. He has been posing as Mr. Clean and yet tolerated two homosexuals on his staff for approximately six months and did not act regarding them until he was pressured. . . The public is entitled to know the facts about a man who has ambitions to become President of the United States." In a special column distributed nationwide and printed in some areas Tuesday, Pearson talked of Reagan's chances for the GOP presidential nomination in 1968 and "the discovery that a homosexual ring has been operating in his office."

The column said Reagan was given evidence last winter and "did not move to clear up his office until last August when certain members of his staff were abruptly dropped."

The matter was the first question brought up at the governor's weekly news conference. Reagan said "I'm not going to dignify Drew Pearson by even attempting to answer anything as scurrilous and ridiculous as this report." Questions, however, kept him on the topic for more than half the news conference.

Pearson did not name anyone allegedly involved, and no names were mentioned at the news conference.

Asked flatly if he ever had uncovered evidence of homosexuality on his personal staff, Reagan declared: "No."

Justice Department Says

No GM Antitrust Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department conceded Tuesday that it has had in its files for 16 months a rough draft of a proposal that could ask a court to order the breakup of the world's largest industrial corporation—General Motors.

However, department officials described the document as only a sample complaint drawn up as part of a lengthy investigation of the automobile industry. They said there has been no decision whether, if ever, the government will petition the courts to order the breakup of GM.

At the White House, press secretary George Christian said, in response to questions, that "no matter of this kind has ever been brought to the President's attention." He added: "The President's alleged involvement in it is pure imagination."

The Justice Department

statements and the quick White House comments were reaction to a Wall Street Journal story that said President Johnson is in a dilemma over whether to file a suit against GM.

The Journal said Johnson risks the enmity of GM's 1.4 million stockholders and outraging the business community if he proceeds with the suit. On the other hand, the Journal said, if he suppresses it, he risks enraging intellectuals, trade unionists and his own antitrust lawyers.

In New York, a General Motors spokesman said GM would have no comment on the story.

Justice Department insiders say nothing has been mentioned for months about the General Motors investigation. But they feel that with an election campaign getting under way the administration would be reluctant to alienate big contributors in the automobile industry—not to mention the rest of the business community.

The results of a suit against GM also are considered by some as of questionable merit. GM now is said to hold its competing automobile divisions in check so they don't grab too much of the market. If Chevrolet, Pontiac, Buick and Cadillac were turned loose, said one official, "it could mean real bad trouble for Ford, Chrysler and American Motors."

The department also has a federal grand jury in California investigating charges of possible price rigging in the manufacture of automobile anti-rust devices.

UAW Assails GM Overtime

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers official said Tuesday the union will permit strikes at some General Motors plants if the automaker prepares for a possible company-wide walkout by scheduling too much overtime.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock told newsmen he advised the company of the union's plans at a contract bargaining meeting requested by the UAW. It was the first meeting of union and company negotiators at the main table since Sept. 19.

Woodcock, who heads the UAW's GM Department, said the corporation would be informed when such a local strike would start and when it would be over. Such a walkout, he said, would be proportionate to the length of overtime worked.

He said the union has evidence that GM stepped up its assembly schedule after an agreement was reached with strikebound Ford Motor Co. He said 21 of GM's 23 auto assembly plants worked Saturday on overtime.

QUEEN HAZEL— A resident of Carbondale for 15 years, Hazel Scott was selected by the student body as the 1967 Homecoming Queen. The 5 foot, 2 inch senior is the first Negro selected for the honor at SIU.

"OUR HAZEL"— Paul Reuscher, manager of Boren's IGA where Hazel has worked for two and a half years, calls her his "our Hazel".

SIU's Queen Hazel

She was the sweetheart of Kappa Alpha Psi social fraternity; then she became the sweetheart of the 19,000 students of Southern Illinois University.

Homecoming Queen Hazel Scott, a resident of Carbondale for 15 years, has completed her official duties of reigning over the 1967 Homecoming activities. She will wear her crown until a new Homecoming Queen is selected next year.

Hazel, a senior majoring in special education, will receive her bachelor's degree next August. She plans to teach educable mentally handicapped (EMH) classes when she graduates and spend summers working on her masters degree.

Last year the men of Kappa Alpha Psi selected Hazel as their sweetheart. She is pinned to a member of the fraternity, William Grathright, who is now with the U.S. Navy.

The 5 foot 2 inch coed is working her way through school as a checkout girl at Boren's IGA. Her gracious, helpful manner has won her many loyal customers in her two and a half years with the supermarket.

KAPPA SWEETHEART— Last year Hazel was selected sweetheart by the brothers of Alpha Kappa Psi social fraternity. She is pinned to a Kappa, who is now stationed in the U. S. Navy.

AT HOME— Hazel, one of nine children, relaxes at home with her mother, Mrs. Charlie Scott, and older brother Calvin. A younger brother Kenneth, 14, also lives at home. Hazel's father is a construction worker. Her other six brothers and sisters are married.

STUDYING MEDICAL SELF HELP—Wendell Smith of Herrin is the victim as Sandra Wilmet, Carbondale, practices artificial respiration in a seven week course in medical self-help conducted on the SIU Carbondale Campus by the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

Group Urges Universities Unity

A representative of the World University Service is visiting SIU in an effort to familiarize Student Government with the international organization.

According to M. S. Chithamparanathan, associate general secretary, the purpose of the organization, which is based in Geneva, Switzerland, is to create an understanding among the universities all over the world. The understanding lies in two areas—faculty and student relationship and student welfare. Chithamparanathan is on a three day visit to SIU as part of a four-week tour of the North America. He spoke Tuesday at a noon luncheon in the Sangamon River Room of the University Center to members and guests of the Society for International Development.

The Swiss resident pointed out that the organization gives students an opportunity to become "aware of other students' aspirations in other universities all over the world." He explained that the key word of the organization, which is dedicated to destroying communications barriers, is sharing. "Students are able to share ideas and influence each others' thinking towards higher education," he said.

This international organization should be of interest to students who wish to play a part in influencing the opinions of other students at universities in foreign countries, he explained. This influence is fostered through educational programs planned by either the International organization or any of its 600 or 700 member universities.

Influence is seen by Chithamparanathan as a two way street. A university in the United States such as SIU may become influenced as well as being influential. The associate general secretary said that various universities in the U.S. have set up planned programs with other countries in order to become acquainted and exchange ideas.

The organization provides the incentive to further costly projects in the field of education on university campuses in underdeveloped areas. In Korea a multi-purpose student center which cost an estimated $175,000 was contributed $50,000 by the WUS. According to Chithamparanathan, "We provided the incentive which made the Korean students enthused enough to raise the remaining money."

Eighty or ninety per cent of the funds acquired by the international organization are raised by students throughout the world. However, there are no specific dues which each member university is required to pay.

The visiting secretary said that SIU has not been an active member of the organization for the past three or four years. He said that the organization is usually administered under the auspices of the student government. It can, however, serve as an independent function of the university.

Tolkien's Fantasy

Interpreter's Theatre Offers Weird Trilogy

The hobbits are coming to Carbondale! The small furry-footed people fond of songs and tobacco from the mythical land of Middle Earth will appear early in November when Interpreters Theatre presents J. R. R. Tolkien's trilogy "The Lord of the Rings." The trilogy tells the story of a ring which gives supreme power to its wearer. Since the ring's nature is to turn good into evil, Frodo Baggins undertakes a journey to destroy the ring.

The production will present Frodo's journey into the land of the enemy to cast the ring into the fire from which it came.

Ballads, poetry and rhymes of love will present the lives of the men, hobbits, elves, dwarfs, and wizards who reside in Middle Earth.

The three-part trilogy will be presented Nov. 9, 10, and 11 and also Nov. 16, 17 and 18 on the Calipre Stage of the Communications Buildings.

The three-successive part production includes "The Fellowship of the Ring," "The Two Towers," and "The Return of the King." Although the three presentations will present the entire fantasy, each production is a story complete in itself.

Marion Kleinau, director of oral interpretation in the Department of Speech, is adapting and directing the presentations.

Tickets for the entire three part production will be available for $2.25. Individual performance tickets will sell for $1.

Tickets will go on sale Wednesday in the Department of Speech. During the first week of the production tickets will be sold Nov. 9 and 10 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Room H of the University Center.

Tickets may be secured by writing or calling the Department of Speech, 453-2291.

SIU Scientific Research

Fungus Considered for Food

By Jay Kennerly

By the year 2002, six billion people will inhabit the earth. Many of them could be near starvation.

In the 17 years between 1945 and 1962, the population of the earth increased 50 percent. During the same period the food supply increased only 15 percent.

A major issue raised in connection with these startling figures is: Will man be able to feed his increased numbers?

SIU botanist and mycologist William D. Gray says, "By traditional agriculture, we cannot meet the world protein requirements and that is what is lacking in the diets of starving nations. However, there is a partial solution available—fungi."

At Ohio State University in 1960, Gray began research on a method of producing protein from a combination of carbohydrates (a familiar term to weight-watchers) and fungi. In 1964 he came to Southern where the project has progressed to the point that its practical application may come about within a year.

This summer he assisted the research department of a large sugar company in England which plans to set up a full-scale operation in the West Indies by next summer.

"Also," he said, "a Washington industrial complex proposes to load a ship with corn mash and protein producing fungi, take it to Hawaii for cattle food, pick up sugar cane molasses, add fungi and sail to Japan. After it off-loads there, I suppose it'll return to the states with motorcycles and transistor radios.

"State economic development commissions and chemical companies have expressed interest too. Requests for information have come in from several countries.

"In the United States, where our protein supply is primarily meat, the fungi protein would be used to feed animals as a supplement to grain crops. This will become necessary since the amount of arable land will not be sufficient to provide grain for animal feeding."

As to the possibility of Americans eating the fungi-protein product—probably not.

However, Gray notes, "The individual who refuses to entertain the idea of eating fungus mycelium reared in pure cultures in sterile medium is often the very same individual who relishes mushrooms which developed on and obtained their sustenance from partially-rotted horse manure."

While in India in 1964, Gray was told by an Indian philosopher that if the fungi were found to be animal rather than plant organisms, the Hindus would refuse to eat them.

Since the new food has no odor, taste or color, it can be easily mixed with other foods to supplement the protein-deficient diet. This could be done without the extensive educational programs usually associated with introducing a wholly new food.

Or, Gray comments, "Even if educational programs are necessary, in a species of which certain members have learned to eat such bizarre items as salted cherry blossoms, chocolate-coated ants, french-fried grasshoppers and sea urchin egg paste, teaching them to eat colorless, odorless and tasteless fungi should be relatively easy.

"The problem remains for man to increase his supply of protein until such times as he can control population to a point where food supply would not be a problem. We feel that the new food can do that."

Federal Aid Forms Changed For Academic Year 1967-68

All students desiring federal assistance during the 1968-69 academic year will be required to complete the ACT Family Financial Statement next spring.

Making the announcement was Frank Adams, head of the student work office, who said the new form would replace two which had previously been used by applicants. He emphasized that the introduction of the new form was not a change in procedural policy but rather one of expediency.

He said that only students applying for federal aid would be required to submit the applications next spring. The form may be used in the distant future to determine eligibility for all scholarships, loans and work programs.

Those required to complete the form are students involved in the National Student Defense Loan, Educational Opportunity Grant and Federal Work-Study Programs.

New applicants for federal aid will be required to complete the forms effective immediately.

Adams said that an estimated total of $1,800,000 in federal funds is available and that 2,800 students are currently participating in the program.

Instructor Receives Government Grant

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has awarded SIU chemist Stephen Darling a $16,600 research grant for investigations of alkali metal reductions used in the synthesis of natural products.

Part of the grant will be used to provide a post-doctoral fellowship to O. N. Devgan, Calcutta, India, a chemist who will collaborate with Darling on the project.

Darling, a native of Appleton, Wis., came to SIU this year from the University of Southern California, with an appointment as assistant professor of chemistry.

Industrial Club to Meet

The Industrial Education Club will discuss its membership drive and plan for group pictures at 9 p.m. Wednesday in Lounge A-18 of the Technology Building.

Economic Group Plans Conference

The council of the Regional Economic Technical Assistance Program will meet Wednesday afternoon in Ballroom A of the University Center.

Several business and government representatives from Southern Illinois have been invited to the meeting to discuss fields in which RETAP's technical services can be of use.

Speakers at the meeting will include Dean Hancock of the School of Business; Arthur E. Prell, director of the Business Research Bureau; Gene Johns, director of the Southern Illinois district of the Department of Business and Economic Development; Hall Fleming, regional coordinator for ETA; Robert J. Ellis, RETAP director and Webster Ballance, assistance director of RETAP.

RETAP objectives are increasing employment and raising of family income in Southern Illinois through existing businesses and formation of new enterprises. The program was designed by SIU's Business Research Bureau and approved and funded by an $81,818 grant by ETA.

The rage for the title in the Big Eight Conference took a surprising twist last week that left only two teams, Oklahoma and Kansas, undefeated in league play. And this week, 12th-ranked Oklahoma will hang defeat #2 on Colorado, but it'll be touch-and-go. The Sooners are favored by just seven points.

The Pacific Coast Conference boasts the number one and number two teams in the country in Southern California and U.C.L.A. The Trojans will beat California by 27 points, but the Uclans might be ripe for an upset at the hands of Oregon State. They've survived some real cliff-hangers, and they just might run out of cliffs one of these fine Saturdays. Oregon State is the underdog, but the difference is only six points. And there's finally only one undefeated team in the Southeast Conference... 3rd-ranked Tennessee. After knocking off Georgia Tech, Alabama, and L.S.U. on successive Saturdays, they can be forgiven for being involved in the mismatch of the day. The Volunteers will tenderize Tampa by about 54 points.

Though each of them still has four conference games to play, a three-team race has taken shape in the Big Ten. One of the three is a delightful surprise to the ex-

Minnesota Gopher who sits on this shaky 'l'imbevery week with these forecasts... Another is a fantastic fantasy to the entire state of Indiana (no fantasy any longer!)... And the third is Purdue, the 5th-rated Riveters will pummel Illinois by 18... 19th-ranked Minnesota should spill the Iowa Hawks by 19... And Indiana, #20 after six straight wins, will topple Wisconsin by twenty points.

In the traffic jam at the top of the Southwest conference, most of the teams still have a chance for the title. 10th-ranked Texas should give S.M.U. its third conference loss, this one by 24 points, and Rice is favored over Texas Tech by three. That'll make it about three down and five to go!

North Carolina State, #4, will ship Virginia by 23.

Defensive Tackle Out for Season

By George Knemeyer

The Homecoming victory did more damage than just the two goal posts being torn down.

It put Ted Schoch, the Salukis' fine defensive tackle, out for the season.

"Schoch is finished for the season," coach Dick Towers said. "He has some torn ligaments and it could possibly be cartilage damage in his knee."

Schoch was injured in the first half on the kickoff after SIU scored its only touchdown.

"There's a good chance he'll have to be operated on right away," Towers said. "Schoch's injury is similar to Terry Cotham's."

Cotham was injured in the fourth game of the season against East Carolina. He had cartilage and ligament damage in his right knee and was operated on almost immediately after incurring the injury.

Replacing Schoch at defensive tackle will be Chip Marlow, who regularly played at linebacker. The Salukis won't be losing any poundage on the deal, as both Schoch and Marlow weigh 217.

Backing up the tackle spots will be Charles Canali, a six foot, 200-pound freshman from Pittsburgh, Penn.

"Canali's a tough, hard-nosed ball player," Towers said. "Coach LaRue (Jim LaRue, coach of freshman team) thinks he's the best interior lineman on the frosh team."

Other than Schoch's injury, the Salukis had no other casualties from the Hurricane game.

Towers said that the Saluki win could help them in recruiting. "It should help us in other states outside of Illinois."

TED SCHOCH

Towers commented. "In California especially it should help, because the fellows look at the records, and in Tulsa's case, are impressed by the passing statistics."

"When we show that we beat Tulsa," Towers continued, "this has to help us. Our lack of outstanding victories hurt us when it came to Willie Crittendon (Tulsa lineman). He was impressed with the Hurricane's record so he chose Tulsa over SIU."

In a kind of post mortem gesture, Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs came up to Carl Mauck after the game to congratulate the junior linebacker for his fine game.

Another post game activity was tearing down both of the goal posts at McAndrew Stadium. Supposedly, they cannot be torn down because they are embedded in several feet of concrete. But nobody told the Saluki fans.

Caught up in the excitement of broadcasting the Saluki victory, WSU-TV sportscaster Bob Bruenner said the Salukis had the ball after a punt fumble was supposedly recovered by Southern. It came as a shock to him when Tulsa ran the next play from scrimmage.

It turns out Tulsa had recovered its own fumble but one of the officials had signaled that Southern had recovered it.

Ralph Galloway established a single game record with the three field goals he kicked in Saturday's game. The former mark was one, which was held by many.

Galloway also established a new season mark of four. He also booted a field goal in the first game of the season. The old record was shared by Bob Hight and Tim Kelley. His four field goals also tied the career mark at Southern.

Doug Hollinger, with his two punt returns against Tulsa established a new mark for punt returns in one season, 17. He is also closing in on the career mark of 20.

Hollinger is also approaching the career mark for most yardage in punt returns. The record is 262 yards, and Hollinger has 258.

Barclay Allen seems almost a cinch to break the yardage average for punts this season. He currently holds the record of 38.9 yards per boot, but this year his average is 40.7. He is also within striking range of the most punts in one season, 61. Allen currently has 39 boots this season.

The Tulsa victory also gave the Salukis a shot at their first .500 season since 1961 when Southern was 7-3. The Saluki record stands at 2-5 for the season.

To get the .500 season, the Salukis would have to win their remaining three games against Youngstown, Ball State and Drake. The Youngstown game this weekend is also their Homecoming.

"We all know what Homecoming can do for a team," Towers commented.

McCormick Cops 'Young' Award

NEW YORK (AP)— Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants, a 29-year-old left-hander who was back in the minors in 1964, was named winner of the Cy Young Awards as the outstanding pitcher in the National League Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The veteran, who was paid $50,000 to sign with the old New York Giants back in 1956, and was reacquired by the club last December in a deal with Washington, won in a landslide with 18 of the 20 votes by the committee of writers, two from each league city.

Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs and Jim Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies each received one vote.

It was the first time the writers have voted the Cy Young Award in both major leagues. Always in the past there has been just one winner but the writers petitioned Commissioner William D. Eckert for his approval to change to picking one pitcher for each league. Former Commissioner Ford Frick, who suggested the idea originally, always had favored the selection of just one pitcher.

The winner of the American League award will be named in a few days.

McCormick pitched the Giants to second place with a 22-10 season record, making him the top winner in the league. He pitched 14 complete games, worked 262 innings, allowed 220 hits, walked 81, struck out 150 and finished with a 2.85 earned run average. With Juan Marichal on the ailing list, McCormick became the club's ace.

Jenkins was the only other

20-game winner in the league with his 20-13 record and a total of 20 complete games, tops in the majors. He was a major factor in the Cub's third place finish.

Bunning wound up with a 17-15 record for the fifth place Phillies and led the league with 253 strikeouts.

In past years, when only one Cy Young Award has been given, seven went to the National League and four to the American. Sandy Koufax, now retired, won it three times in 1963, 1965 and 1966. The only other southpaws were Warren Spahn at Milwaukee in 1957 and Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees in 1961.

Intercollegiate Athletics Book to Be Released

Most difficulties that involve intercollegiate athletics have little to do with what goes on in the gymnasiums or on the playing fields, according to a new book co-authored by an SIU physical education specialist.

Edward J. Shea, chairman of men's physical education at SIU, collaborated with the noted E.E. (Ted) Wieman to write the volume, "Administrative Policies for Intercollegiate Athletics," hailed as "undoubtedly the most significant publication on this topic which has ever become available in the 115-year history of intercollegiate athletics" by Dr. A. A. Esslinger of the University of Oregon, former president of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

In a chapter on recruiting, the authors, who spent several years in research for the book, said evidence shows most malpractices related to difficulties in intercollegiate athletics are related to the recruiting and subsidizing of students possessed of exceptional athletic talent.

- Allen II-B vs. Hazard-U's, Field 2

If competition could begin after students matriculate at the institutions of their choice, most problems would leave, the book said. But it would take full commitment of all parties concerned to bring about this ideal situation, according to the authors, who point to human nature and pressures being what they are.

Its 24 chapters contain detailed discussion of such topics as financial aid and subsidization, admission standards, academic requirements, residence requirement and transfer, public relations, standards of conduct, and concludes with comment on emerging patterns.

Co-author Wieman, brother of Henry Wieman, distinguished professor of philosophy who retired with emeritus status from SIU in 1966, played his college football at the University of Michigan, where he was captain of the team.

Foot Injury to Sideline Trojans' O.J. Simpson

LOS ANGELES(AP)—Southern California's top-ranked Trojans face the possibility of going the rest of the season without ace halfback O.J. Simpson, the nation's leading rusher.

Simpson's foot injury, suffered in the 28-6 victory over Oregon, was diagnosed as more serious than anticipated—a sprain in the right arch.

Coach John McKay declared Simpson out indefinitely although O.J. said, "The doctors told me maybe two weeks."

Still on the docket of the undefeated and untied Trojans are California, Oregon State and UCLA, in that order.

"O.J. is the one who got us where we are," said McKay. "Now we've got to do it on our own."

In seven games with USC, after joining the Trojans this year as a junior college transfer from City College of San Francisco, Simpson has rushed for 1,050 yards and passed for 42 more, 3 of the aeriags going to touchdowns.

McKay hopes Simpson can return for the Oregon State and UCLA games, but added, "He can't run now, and if he can't run, he can't help us."

I'd like a big job please.

What's it like to work for a giant?

Depends on the giant. If the giant happens to be Ford Motor Company, it can be a distinct advantage. See your placement director and make an appointment to see the man from Ford when he visits your campus. We could grow bigger together.

AAU Continues to Hinder Amateur Gymnasts

By Carl B. Courtner

Championship athletics are two words which have become almost inseparable from SIU gymnastics.

Both the men and the women's gymnastics teams have dominated in their respective roles in National Collegiate Athletic Association and United States Gymnastics Federation competition.

And when on occasion they have been permitted to enter in Amateur Athletic Union competition, they have walked away with most of the marbles from that corner, too.

But such occasions have been seldom. The AAU, official governing body for amateur gymnastics in the United States, recognizes itself as the only national amateur gymnastics organization and often disqualifies the amateur standing of athletes who compete—under the sponsorship of other organizations.

After losing it, athletes must petition to the AAU to regain their amateur standing. Then, if granted, it is usually only on a conditional basis.

SIU gymnasts have not evaded run-ins with the AAU.

In recent years, the women's team has been barred from AAU championships because it participated in USGF competition.

Two years ago, the late Saluki great Frank Schmitz was in Germany competing for the Faubach-Schuster Cup, one of the most sought after trampoline awards in the world. Schmitz turned in the highest score, but because the AAU would not sponsor him he was not awarded the coveted cup.

Last summer, SIU trampolinist Dale Hardt followed Schmitz's precedent and also "unofficially" turned in the top score in competition for the cup. The AAU again balked, and Hardt also came home without the cup.

But, according to SIU men's mentor Bill Meade, the tide could be turning against the AAU. "The AAU has been the governing body for gymnastics in the U.S. for 75 years and the USGF has been doing all the work," Meade said. "The time has come for us to prove our right to governing control—and we're doing just that."

Meade, vice president of the USGF, bases his argument upon four points:

- The USGF furnishes all the amateur coaches.
- The USGF furnishes all the facilities.
- The USGF furnishes all the gymnasts.
- The USGF furnishes all the publishing.

"What it boils down to is we're doing all the work the AAU says it's been doing," Meade said.

Last week Meade was in Kansas City at the USGF Coaches Congress. Also attending was Raymond Gander, president of the Federation of International Gymnasts, world governor of amateur gymnastics.

Gander outlined the steps the USGF could take to initiate a petition to obtain the governing control in the United States. "Gander indicated that a change in governing control would be highly favorable," Meade said.

Gander also went over the requirements for the compulsory exercises for the 1968 Olympics, "the first time such information was given to Americans much in advance of the world games," Meade said.

He said this indicated to him that for the first time the U.S. was expected to produce some top Olympic gymnasts. Meade said this would only come with the USGF in the governing seat.

SIU Soccer Team Interests NCAA

SIU's International Soccer club has been contacted by NCAA officials concerning the possibility of Southern participating in the preliminary round of this year's NCAA Midwest Regional Championships.

The tournament will be held at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, on the 17th and 18th of November.

Because the club is not recognized by the University, they will not be able to attend.

"It's a shame," said SIU Team Manager Colin Bishop, "because it would put us in the company of St. Louis, Michigan State and other universities in a nine-state area."

Possessing an undefeated record in 10 matches since the club was organized, the players are hopeful of possible University recognition in the near future.

How They Fared

While Southern was having a ball with Tulsa this weekend, four of seven SIU opponents also won their ball games.

The scores, with the Salukis future and past opponents in capitals, are as follows: Central Mo. State 9, NORTH-EAST MISSOURI STATE 0, Citadel 21, EAST CAROLINA 19

Hiram Scott 19, LINCOLN 14, LOUISVILLE 24, Wichita State 17

DAYTON 10, Ohio U. 9, NORTH TEXAS STATE 34, Cincinnati 14

BALL STATE 26, Indiana State 24

Drake and Youngstown were idle.

The loss for East Carolina was their first of the season after six straight wins.

Saluki opponents have now won 46 and lost 23 this season. The opponents have scored 1,355 points while giving up 818 on defense.

University acceptance Bishop said, "That's what we're set up for. I don't know of any player who doesn't want University recognition."

If and when the club enters the selective NCAA ranks, a few of the players would lose their eligibility. These players include Ian Beattie, Ebenezzer Epie, Firemon Kasato and Colin Bishop, all graduates.

When asked of the effect their loss would be on the team's future success captain Frank Lumsden said, "Almost none. We have a great deal of undergraduates who could fill in well."

Those eligible under NCAA regulations include center half Dickie Coke, Lumsden and forward Ali Mozafarian.

Coke, praised by the Jamaican press as one of the top defensive players in his native country, was mentioned by many opposition coaches as a "shoo-in" for All-American honors.

They also mentioned Mozafarian and Lumsden as being

Parachute Club Finishes Fourth

The SIU Sport Parachute Club finished fourth in the National Collegiate Parachuting League Championships last weekend in Tahlequah, Okla.

Tom Stewart won the only first place for SIU. He took the novice accuracy event.

The SIU team won the outstanding sportsmanship award for the second straight year.

two of the best players in the country.

Because many players would not be eligible if the club is recognized, a graduate team is under consideration.
