Major Music Events Slated For Weekends

At least one major musical event is scheduled for each weekend during fall quarter at SIU, according to Robert Mueller, Music Department chairman.

Season's offerings will include a concert in the University's year-long Shakespearean Festival, two concerts by artists-in-residence, the annual high school choral clinic which will bring some 800 students from 30 high schools to the campus, a two-day meeting of composers of the Midwest and two Christmas performances by the Southern Illinois Oratorio Society combined with the University Choir.

Schedule for the fall public performances include:

Oct. 10--Annual Choral Clinic concert, 6:45 p.m. with John Halloran of Hollywood, Calif., radio-television conductor and arranger, as guest conductor.

Oct. 11--Guest artist series, Ruth Slenczynska, artist-in-residence at Edwardsville Campus, piano concert, 4 p.m.

Oct. 18 -- Shakespearean Festival, Krainis Baroque Trio, 4 p.m.

Oct. 24-- Faculty recital, University String quartet, 4 p.m.

Oct. 31--Homecoming concert, Southern Illinois Symphony, 4 p.m.

Nov. 1--Faculty Wives program, 4 p.m.

Nov. 8--Guest Artist series, Flore Wend, soprano artist-in-residence, Carbondale Campus, 4 p.m.

Nov. 13-14--University Composers Exchange conference.

Nov. 15--Opera Workshop Excerpts program, 4 p.m.

Nov. 21--Illinois State Music Teachers Conference.

Nov. 22--Faculty recital, Steven Barwick, pianist, 4 p.m.

Dec. 5 and 6--Christmas Oratorio, 3 p.m. Saturday, 4 p.m. Sunday.

Dec. 13--University School Choral Program, 4 p.m.

8 Off-Campus Representatives, Vice President to Be Elected

Election of eight off-campus representatives and a vice president will be held Oct. 6 at the University Center, according to Off-Campus President Roger Hanson.

Off-campus government has been completely reorganized, according to Hanson, and this year off-campus housing will be divided into eight areas.

Two representatives will be elected from each area, for a total of 16. Eight of the representatives were elected last spring quarter.

The 16 representatives,

Scott to Repeat Performance For Convocation Concert

Henry L. Scott, originator and pioneer of concert humor in America, will make a repeat appearance on the SIU campus, when he takes the stage at today's 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Freshman Convocation in Shryock Auditorium.

Return performances are nothing new to Scott. He is currently breaking all records for return engagements at many universities and colleges.

The piano wizard has performed eight times at both the University of Minnesota and West Point Military Academy.

Scott has twice played concerts at Carnegie Hall in New York.

Residents of New Dorm Will Get Compensation

Building Wasn't Completed on Schedule

A Carbondale landlord has agreed to compensate students living in his off-campus residence hall because it wasn't completed when the students moved in last week.

Len Williams, owner of Williams Dormitory, 504 S. Rawlings, met with the residents of the hall Tuesday night to hear their list of complaints.

Among their gripes:

--No electricity from the day they moved in last week until Tuesday.

--No hot water.

--Stoves could not be used because there was no power.

--When electrical service was started there were not enough switches and receptacles.

--Bare electric wires hanging from the walls.

One resident was allegedly severely shocked when he brushed bare wires after bathing.

After hearing the gripes, Williams agreed to compensate each of the residents $1.50 each day for the five days that they were without electricity and had to eat out.

About 90 boys live in the dorm.

Students over 21 will be given checks for the amount, according to Mrs. Anita Kuo, supervisor of off-campus housing. Those under 21 will be given a form for their parents to fill out before they receive their money, she added.

Mrs. Kuo said she was pleased that the students and the landlord were able to work out their differences. The students had originally brought their complaints about the dorm to the Housing Office.

According to Howard Scheib and Nick Mikrut, both freshman residents of the dorm, "Our only gripe is that the place was not done when they said it would be."

10,000 Expected To Hear Goldwater

Young Republicans are estimating some 10,000 persons will be on hand to greet GOP Presidential hopeful Barry Goldwater when he rolls into Carbondale Friday at 10:15 a.m.

Probably not included in their figures, however, is a group of students, members of the Student Non-Violent Freedom Committee, who plan to participate in an anti-Goldwater demonstration.

The purpose of SNVFC's picket of Sen. Goldwater, according to a spokesman for the group, is: "to protest Goldwater's stand on civil rights and to build a public awareness of this and his other negative approaches to problems which exist in society today."

Persons who wish to participate in the rally are asked to meet at 7 tonight in Room E of the University Center.

Students are to be excused from their 10 and 11 a.m. classes to hear Goldwater. Should his arrival be delayed, classes will be dismissed accordingly.

Parking Committee Seeks Solution to Cycle Congestion

Parking areas for motorized cycles will be discussed at a meeting of the University Parking and Safety Committee Friday.

According to Joseph F. Zaleski, assistant dean of student affairs, one major problem to be solved is relieving the congestion of motorized cycles in the small parking area north of the University Center.

Zaleski said that at least one additional area is under consideration as a parking place for motorcycles, motor scooters and motorbikes.

"How many others will be considered it is impossible to say at this time," Zaleski said. "But we hope to be able to relieve the congestion as soon as possible."

He said the group meeting Friday probably will make a final decision on at least one more spot.

"We must keep the motorized cycles away from the classrooms as much as possible."

Last year some faculty and students complained because riders of motorbikes and scooters frequently made so much noise outside classroom buildings that lectures could not be heard.

Owners of the vehicles were asked to refrain from starting them near the classrooms, particularly in the area of the circle in front of Old Main and Altgeld Hall.

Edward F. McDevitt, supervisor of the Parking Section, said that at present there are no restrictions on parking of motorized cycles.

"There are a number of places we'd like to see them park," he said. "But at present there are no regulations in print governing them."

He indicated that the Traffic and Safety Committee might issue a set of restrictions at a later date.

Gus Bode

Gus says he doesn't know which is worse, trying to find a place to park his car or a seat in the University Center cafeteria.

Dates for Three Major Tests Announced for This Weekend

Dates have been announced for three major tests: the Medical College Admission Test, the Dental Aptitude Test and the Undergraduate English Qualifying Examination.

Registration for the Medical College Admission Test closes Friday. Any student interested in this program should pick up a booklet and application blank at the testing center before the deadline.

On Saturday the Dental Aptitude Test will be given to all students who are registered. The test will be at 8 a.m. in Room 137, Wham Building.

The Undergraduate English Qualifying Examination will be given Saturday at 9 a.m. in Furr Auditorium. It is mandatory that students bring their identification card.

This English exam must be passed by all students planning to graduate from the Schools of Business and Technology. Anyone planning to graduate from the College of Liberal Arts could satisfy the requirement of the examination by substituting a "C" grade or better in English 300, 390 or 391.

ALLAN SHERMAN

On Homecoming Stage

Brubeck to Share Spotlight With Comic Allan Sherman

Allan Sherman, comic mastermind behind some of the country's best-selling albums, brings his genius to the SIU campus Oct. 30.

Sherman will share the Homecoming spotlight with Dave Brubeck and his quartet. Peter Palmer and his orchestra will accompany the singer-comedian.

Details of ticket sales have not been announced.

What began as a series of satirical song recitals at Hollywood parties, has propelled Sherman into a million-dollar business as a star performer, writer and publisher.

Sherman's success has stemmed from his satirical and highly comical renditions of some of the well-known folk tunes, ballads and patriotic songs which have been favorites of music lovers for years.

The owl-faced, Chicago-born Sherman has created a unique niche in recording fame by having sold more than one million albums in eight weeks of release.

What's the Latest?

The Daily Egyptian needs your help. With more than 150 campus organizations--not including the host of organized living units--we quite frankly have difficulty keeping informed of all that is happening.

We certainly haven't enough reporters to visit each group on campus even once weekly, and if we tried telephoning every organization every day, we'd find that we'd need five hours more than 24 to complete the job. Yet, when something is happening, we at the Daily Egyptian want to know about it so we can keep others informed.

So if your group is planning anything from a turtle race to a coming-out party, let us know about it. Give us a buzz at 453-2354 or drop in and see us at Building

T-48. We're friendly; we don't bite.

Things always work better if there's a system, however. We therefore urge that campus groups elect publicity chairmen to hold the responsibility for getting news from their groups to the Daily Egyptian.

We want to do a better job. We can if you help. WW

Job-Inventing Keeps Nobody Busy

By Arthur Hoppe
San Francisco Chronicle

Here we have 5 million people out of work. And, as usual, here are all the candidates promising fervently that, if elected, they will create new jobs. But whom can we actually count on to create new jobs? Nobody, that's whom.

Indeed, fanatic supporters of Nobody for President will be heartened to know that their candidate is already burning the midnight oil down at Nobody for President Headquarters in order to lick the problem. Working with him on this task so vital to our nation's economy is his campaign coordinator, Edmund Tizley, who is responsible for launching the entire project. For at a staff meeting the other day it was he who mentioned that a candidate must pledge to "create new jobs."

At this point, a smile lit the featureless face of the candidate. "I think I've got one already, Ed," he said, "How about a fishing line untangler? It's a healthy, outdoor pursuit and certainly a challenge to any man. Competently performed, it would add immeasurably to the recreational enjoyment of the thousands of Americans plagued each year by tangled fishing lines."

"Marvelous," said Tizley. "Only 4,999,999 more to go." A frown of deep concentration creased the brow of the candidate as a breathless silence filled the room. "I have another," he cried, after several moments' thought. "A cardboard carton crusher. Think what a boon this would be to the frail housewife faced with an overstuffed garbage can. And there's no question about it, Ed, we are fast becoming a nation of overstuffed garbage cans."

"Perfect; only 4,999,998 left," said Mr. Tizley encouragingly.

"And that leads us," said the candidate, gathering steam, "to a professional Boy Scout who will pick up surplus newspapers on a dependable monthly schedule. And what about a squirrel feeder? As of today, the squirrels in our park must rely on the hand-outs of the casual passers-by. But a dedicated professional squirrel feeder, who would make his appointed rounds stayed not by rain nor sleet nor gloom of night, will mean doubling our squirrel population overnight, thus doubling the wonder and delight our little children take in squirrels. Next. . ."

As of yesterday, Tizley triumphantly announced, the candidate had created 12,020 new jobs in the first week, thus mathematically assuring the needed 5 million new jobs during his Presidency. "If," as Tizley archly pointed out with an eye to the future, "he is reelected to a second term."

Well, this proves that in our society there are plenty of jobs for people to do. And plenty of people to do them. All we have to do is bring the two together. Yet despite all of the promises by all of the candidates for a hundred years, which has ever come up with the solution? Nobody, that's which.

'BOTH PARTIES ARE AGAINST POVERTY--THAT'S A START'

Breathtaking Setting

St. John's College Campus: New Look in the Old West

By Neil Morgan
Copley News Service

SANTA FE, N.M.--Oh, to be 18 again, with all day ahead every day to store up knowledge. The place I would go is to the new St. John's College campus among the pinon pine and cottonwoods two miles above Santa Fe's historic Plaza.

The college will be dedicated Oct. 10. Already it has the mellow look of the oldest new campus ever built.

The interiors of the college are clean and functional, by Alexander Girard, the pride of Santa Fe in the world of decor. The buildings are a modified form of territorial architecture, in the Santa Fe tradition. They are earth-colored, a perfect foil for Girard's "color madness." He counts 39 bright colors he uses in dabs, as on the panels of doors.

One does not usually discuss a new campus in such terms, but this one is so breathtaking in its setting and its own beauty that one comes only later to consider the campus as a college.

St. John's is the nation's third oldest college. Its original campus at Annapolis was founded in 1696.

On that campus, as on the new one at Santa Fe, St. John's confines itself to 300 students and to a four-year liberal arts curriculum built around great books. It has abolished the departmental system and eliminated majors and minors at the undergraduate level. St. John's College in Santa Fe will be a western echo of the Annapolis campus.

Classes will begin on Oct. 1, with a freshman class of about 80 students and a faculty of 12--eight of whom have come from Annapolis. The keystone of the curriculum is seminars and tutorials -- in which 10 or 15 students at tables with tutors (the term professor is not used at St. John's) discuss varied subjects.

Each student is expected to read about 125 major books which St. John's regards as the landmarks of Western civilization. All students take two years of Greek and two years of French. There are laboratory programs in chemistry, physics and biology. The only formal lecture is on Friday evening.

What St. John's tries to do is to lead its students to think for themselves by expressing themselves. Some call St. John's "the talkie college." It is a four-year conversation. The coffee shop is referred to as "the other seminar."

As the prototype of the student that St. John's selects is one who reads thoroughly and with interest, who can talk, who has a sense of humor, and a questioning nature. Students are chosen primarily on the basis of their answers to 17 essay-type questions which accompany their applications.

This is the first time that a prominent eastern college has built a full-scale campus in the West. There are interesting parallels, and differences. The growth of the West intrigued the St. John's faculty. Rather than expand past their compact student body of 300, they proposed to build another college.

Annapolis, site of the eastern campus, is a state capital, a historic Anglo-Saxon community out of the mainstream of growth.

Santa Fe is a state capital too, a historic Spanish community, and also out of the mainstream of growth.

St. John's was intrigued by the proximity of Los Alamos, with its vast brain resources; by the Santa Fe Opera summer season; by the setting, and by the wealth in the Santa Fe area.

The result is that already an adult seminar series is being launched on this new campus for the New Mexico people of the area.

The 80 freshmen who have started classes here will be augmented by new freshman classes of similar size each autumn for the next three years until the 300-quota is reached. Thus for the time being, this campus has room to spare. Facilities already completed have cost about $4 million, and another $4 million is projected before the campus will be completed.

IRVING DILLIARD

Barry Stubbs G.O.P. Toe

Barry Goldwater's enthusiastic, open-arms welcome of South Carolina's Strom Thurmond does grave and perhaps even irreparable damage to the Republican party. It is an act so rash and so foreign to the party of Abraham Lincoln that there are only two ways to account for it. Either Sen. Goldwater does not fully realize what he is doing or he does not care.

Irving Dilliard

Let every independent voter understand just who Strom Thurmond is. Strom Thurmond is the one most unconstructed segregationist-reactionary in Congress. He led the Dixiecrats to defeat as long ago as the 1948 Presidential election. If all 100 members of the Senate were placed in order of their concern for modern problems and forward-looking approaches to their solution, Strom Thurmond would be 100th on the list. Actually he would be quite a distance behind the 99th.

Dismays G. O. P. Leaders

For Barry Goldwater to hail such a kamikaze recruit as a prize catch in the fateful year of 1964 is to show contempt for the Republican party's past, present and future. It can bring only more dismay to prominent Republican leaders and big winners in populous states.

This means a further handicap for progressive Governors Romney [Michigan], Rockefeller [New York] and Scranton [Pennsylvania]. It means an additional burden on Senators Keating and Javits [New York], Case [New Jersey], Scott [Pennsylvania], Kuchel [California], and a Cooper [Kentucky]. These Republicans had a hard enough job in trying to overcome Goldwater-Miller at the top of their tickets. Now their lead includes Strom Thurmond!

As for the Republican party's past, Goldwater ought to put lenses in his fake eyeglass frames and read the facts. Were he to do so he would learn that it was founded as a party of protest against control by the Strom Thurmonds of the day.

He would learn that the Republican party has had a strong progressive leadership which began with Lincoln and has done battle with the Old Guard on social and economic issues for more than a century.

Many Liberals in Party

If Goldwater would really study the past to which he looks back so resolutely, he would learn about Republicans from the grass roots up to the White House who have fought for conservation, for public power, and for regulation of transportation and utilities: who have opposed monopoly, exploitation, and greed. He would learn about Republican leaders in Congress like the Bob La Follette, father and son, from Wisconsin, which no less a Republican reformer than Theodore Roosevelt called "the laboratory of democracy."

Yes, he would learn about Republican crusaders Norris [Nebraska], Borah [Idaho], Hiram Johnson [California], Beveridge [Indiana], Cummins [Iowa], and McNary [Oregon]. He would learn that Republicans induced the federal government to meet many needs raised by changing times and national growth. That Republicans Cullom [Illinois] sponsored the interstate commerce act [1883] to regulate unsafe railroads, McCumber [North Dakota] fought for the Fore and Drug administration [1906], and Bourne [Oregon] battled bitter opposition to his parcel post act [1912].

Ignores Long Record

All these and hundreds of other meritorious measures in behalf of the public were denounced as "socialistic" by the selfish beneficiaries of an unregulated, anything-goes economy. To their everlasting credit, many liberal Republicans have carried the fight for these great popular causes.

What a shame that Barry Goldwater seems not to know the history of the party he now misleads. With his personal charm he might have won many to his banner. As it is, he comes up with Strom Thurmond, who is still fighting the Civil war!

Egyptian Student, Farouk Shaaban, Becomes No. 13,500 to Enroll at Carbondale Campus

A 27-year-old graduate student from the United Arab Republic was registered at SIU Friday and became No. 13,500 to enroll at the Carbondale campus for the fall term.

University officials announced enrollment of the 20,000th student, counting both campuses, Tuesday.

No. 13,500 at Carbondale is Farouk A. M. Shaaban, formerly an instructor at Alexandria University in Egypt. He is working on a master's degree in management and hopes to continue in American universities for a Ph. D. degree. He intends to return to his home university to teach.

Shaaban's wife joined him on Southern's campus this fall, having completed a master's degree in business administration at Indiana University in a nip and tuck race with the stork. Their baby, now 16 weeks old, was born the evening of the same day Mrs. Shaaban completed her final examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaaban are graduates of Alexandria University, where she ranked first in scholarship in the class of 1960. He became an instructor at Alexandria while the future Mrs. Shaaban became a teacher at the UAR National Institute of Management and Development at Cairo.

Shaaban terms Morris Library "the best I have ever seen." He explained that the books needed for his graduate studies are well arranged, and the new building offers comfortable facilities for the voluminous reading necessary in the Graduate School.

Shaaban is studying in this country on grants from the United Arab Republic and the Institute of International Education.

SIU Graduate Finds Russia Land of Paradoxes

Hears Anti-Red Sermon, Zealous Propaganda Talks

By Fred Beyer

"It was the greatest experience of my life," said Dale McLaren, a '64 graduate of SIU specializing in Eastern European studies.

McLaren had just returned from a two-and-a-half week tour of Russia and found it a land of likable people and remarkable paradoxes.

One of the paradoxes McLaren noticed were tractors sitting idle for want of parts. Factory floors are given a quota of tractors to put out, McLaren said, and to make this quota they cannot produce spare parts.

There was also a time he was riding in a Russian cab and it began to rain heavily. The cab didn't have wiper blades, McLaren noticed, but the cab driver continued to drive and to see.

It didn't, however, and the cab driver reached in the glove compartment and took out one wiper blade and attached it to his side. Wiper blades are often stolen and he probably couldn't get another.

On the other side of the coin, Moscow has one of the finest subway systems in the world. They have escalators, chandeliers and white marble tunnels, McLaren said. The equivalent of 5 cents will take you anywhere in town.

Despite the good subway system and one of the most modern armies in the world, McLaren said, "If you can generalize, Russia is about 30 years behind in their standard of living...there's no country worse."

Did McLaren think the Russians were trying to show him and his group the best? "If it was their best, I'd hate to see their worst."

McLaren toured with a group of 21 students, all of whom had completed an intensive six-week Russian language study in Oberwart, Austria.

Their trip to Russia was under the auspices of the Institute of European Studies, and the language study had been arranged through the Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages of the University of Tennessee.

As a study group and since they all know Russian, the group was given a great deal more freedom than a tourist group.

The Russian government assigned them a guide to accompany them from border to border. In addition there were guides at each city.

All their guides were members of the Komsomol, the young communists composed of people from 16 to 30 years old. At each city a group of the same speeches heard at previous cities. "They were anxious to impress us," McLaren said, but they believed, as students, the group represented the leaders of tomorrow.

The Russians were easy to meet, McLaren said. He would bump into them on the streets just to start conversation. McLaren was standing by the wall of the Kremlin and a little crowd had gathered around him and asked where he was from.

McLaren told her that they were standing by the wall and looked at it and said, "I wish that's the wall of the Kremlin." She walked is are particularly anxious to meet Americans, McLaren said, but any sort of meeting was impossible. The group would get into trouble if they were seen with an American. McLaren heard, even their best friend to support them, McLaren says. Russian workers are the same as Americans. At a place in Budapest called a "Swath cafe,"

Senate Panel Hits Estes Case Handling

WASHINGTON--The Senate Investigations subcommittee, reporting on its 2-year-old probe of Billie Sol Estes, criticized Wednesday what it called "disinterest and stagnation" in the Agriculture Department's handling of the Texas wheeler-dealer's phony cotton deals.

The report said there were many events in the Pecos, Tex., financier's cotton acreage-allotment deals "which would have served as a warning to a vigilant organization." But it said that once Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman was notified of the situation, the department took prompt action to halt Estes' scheming.

Estes currently is free under bond while appealing state and federal convictions for fraud involving his dealings with liquid fertilizer.

Contacted at his Abilene, Tex., home, the former promoter said he had no comment.

The subcommittee's report did not charge that favoritism was given Estes by department officials.

But--in separate views--two Republican members of the subcommittee, Sens. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska and Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, contended that "the free-wheeling, gift-giving Billie Sol Estes, received favoritism on the county level, state level, and in the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

Curtis and Mundt said the department was "not only inept in its efforts to cope" with Estes but "in many instances it was actually a companion to this fraud through the actions, or failure to act, of its officials in high office."

The subcommittee that conducted the investigation two years ago agreed on the basic report. But additional statements were filed by Mundt and Curtis, by Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Edmund Muskie, D-Maine.

McClellan said high officials of the department had shown "timidity, vacillation and indecision" in handling the Estes case.

Floodwaters Break Reservoir; 100 Dead in Southern India

NEW DELHI, India--A reservoir burst Tuesday near Macherla and the government-run All India Radio said more than 100 persons drowned.

The town, in a mountainous area of south India, was reported to have been flooded by 10 feet of water.

The radio said the report of the deaths came from authorities in towns around the scene and the toll was expected to rise.

All communication with Macherla were disrupted.

A police superintendent at the nearby town of Vijayapuri said waters from the large irrigation reservoir swept away beds in the government hospital as well as a small bus depot and flooded most homes in the town of about 25,000 people.

He said thousands of persons were taking refuge in trees and on high places.

Macherla is about 240 miles north of Madras.

One unconfirmed report said more than 200 people and 1,000 cattle perished in Macherla.

The report said floodwaters from the Chandravanka River breached two irrigation tank near the town.

Widespread flooding of the Krishna and Bhima river spread havoc over several thousand square miles of the state.

Living Cost Drops After Record High

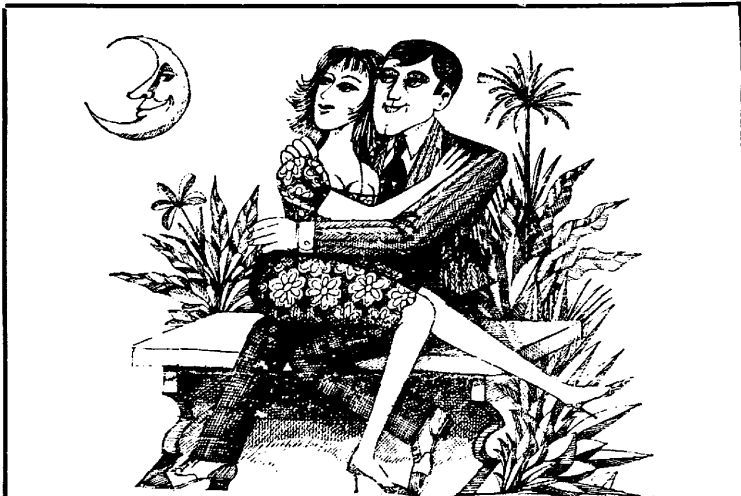

WASHINGTON -- The cost of living declined a tenth of a per cent in August from the July record high, the Labor Department has reported.

This follows the usual trend for August, reflecting low prices for fruits and vegetables, automobiles and women's apparel, the department said.

The consumer price of 108 for August was 1 per cent higher than for the same month a year ago and compared with 108.3 in July.

The index figure means that in August it cost $10.82 buy items that could be bought for $10 in the 1957-59 period used as a base of 100 in the price calculations.

Troops Arouse Fear Of Coup in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam-- The movement of 30 truckloads of troops in battle gear into Saigon touched off fears Wednesday of a new coup, but the movement apparently was normal.

A military spokesman said some of the troops were being shifted from a province north of Saigon to one south of the capital. Others were being put in reserve at a regular army camp in Saigon, he said.

But all such movements were being watched closely by interested observers in the wake of the abortive coup of Sept. 13.

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh pruned his caretaker cabinet, ordered two officers into diplomatic exile and declared no coup would topple him from power before he turns the country over to civilians.

The premier declined to say, however, whether he would give in to demands of young generals for a purge of officers they call corrupt and incompetent.

Goldwater Scores 'Lies' About War

WITH Goldwater in Ohio -- Sen. Barry Goldwater accused President Johnson Wednesday of hiding the truth about South Viet Nam "behind a smokescreen of defeat and deliberate lying by this administration."

Whistlestopping through industrial Ohio, the Republican presidential nominee challenged Johnson to "come clean, tell the truth, answer the crucial question of what we are doing in Viet Nam."

Goldwater spoke to a crowd estimated at 7,000 in Middletown and to one about that big in Springfield. In between, he told an estimated 15,000 people in Dayton the administration campaign policy is "lie and lie and elect and elect."

Goldwater fired off his blast at Johnson's Viet Nam policies at a rally at Columbus. He called the guerilla struggle in the Southeast Asian nation, "Johnson's war."

Goldwater said newspapers are full of bad news about Viet Nam "but they are totally bare of any news or any truth on the situation from the President of the United States."

"The word that something is badly, even crucially, wrong in Viet Nam keeps leaking out," Goldwater said. "Now it's pouring out."

Switch Alignment Blamed In Crash

MONTGOMERY, Ill. -- Investigators tentatively have blamed a switch misalignment for a head-on collision of two passenger trains in which four crewmen were killed Sunday night.

In addition, 40 passengers were injured.

Asked if he believed a segment of the military would attempt to unseat him before he could turn over the country to civilians, he said "there will be no coup."

The premier has said he and fellow members of the ruling military triumvirate will step down Oct. 27.

A Vietnamese officer newly ordered to leave the country on an indefinite basis, had predicted that a group of young generals known as the Young Turks would try to oust Khanh in a coup "in a couple of days."

The officer, Col. Pham Ngoc Thao, pledged his continued loyalty to the Khanh regime, which he said had been forced away from order and discipline by various pressure groups.

Thao, who heads Khanh's press office, has played an important intelligence role in political developments here. He was the second officer to receive walking papers. The other was Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, a member of the ruling triumvirate and the highest ranking military officer in the country.

Hurricane Hilda Aims at Louisiana

Kerner's Aide Got Legal Fees From Firm Dealing With State

CHICAGO -- Theodore J. Isaacs, campaign manager for Gov. Otto Kerner, said Wednesday that while he served as state director of revenue he received legal fees from a firm that has a contract to sell envelopes to the state.

He added, however, that he did not help the firm get the contract or do any favors for it.

Isaacs talked with newsmen after Chicago's American published an account of the connection.

The firm, Cook Envelope and Lithographing Co., has done $1,444,688.17 worth of business with the state.

Isaacs said it obtained the contract by submitting a low sealed bid in conformance with state law.

Isaacs also said he has no intention of resigning as Gov. Kerner's campaign manager.

The American said he has told the newspaper and Joseph Woods, chief investigator for the Better Government Association, that he received $4,000 in fees from the company for services during 1961 and similar fees in succeeding years.

"I was wrong. I made a mistake," Isaacs was quoted by the newspaper.

The newspaper quoted Isaacs, an attorney, as saying he is listed on corporate records as a large stockholder, holding 50 shares of stock, and adding:

"They put it in my name... I didn't actually pay anything for it and I don't really own it, although it is listed in my name."

The American said Isaacs was not sure who "they" were.

FRANCES WALKER AT THE WHEEL OF HER MG-TD

Open Gymkhana

Sports Car Club Plans Meet At Murdale Shopping Center

By Frank Messersmith

If you should happen to hear the cry "Heigh-Ho Gymkhana!" ringing out over the roar of sports cars near the Murdale Shopping Center Sunday, don't be surprised.

While the dictionary defines gymkhana as athletic contests, mainly racing, it has a somewhat different meaning to the sports car enthusiast.

According to Mrs. Frances Walker, a member of the Southern Illinois Region of the Sports Car Club of America (SIR-SCCA), gymkhana has come to mean a sports car competition in which drivers negotiate a tight closed course, usually on a parking lot or unused airport.

Drivers run against a stop watch. The course is generally marked by rubber traffic cones.

SIR is planning a gymkhana on the Murdale Shopping Center parking lot Sunday afternoon.

According to Mrs. Walker, who drives an MG-TD, a gymkhana is a contest of skill which is a measure of the car, but more, a measure of the driver.

Mrs. Walker and her husband, Myers, an art director at WSIU-TV and owner of a Porsche Coupe, are both active in such contests.

Walker has won several trophies in gymkhanas, and Mrs. Walker has received a first-place award in the ladies' class of a gymkhana in the North Carolina Region of the SCCA.

In addition to her driving skill and enthusiasm, Mrs. Walker has received awards of sports car articles published in "Sports Car," the national magazine of the SCCA. The SCCA is the major organization that sponsors amateur sports car races in the United States.

The "SIR" is a division of the SCCA, covering an area from north of Belleville south to the tip of Illinois.

Besides participating in gymkhanas, the Walkers have driven in autocrosses and rallies.

An autocross is an event similar to a gymkhana, except some gimmicks added to the contest. For example, a navigator might have to hold a potato or an egg on a tablespoon while the car runs through the circuit.

A rally is a contest that relies mainly on mathematics and timing. A course is often marked on a map, and entrants must complete the course in a certain time, or at a specified average speed.

The Walkers have a 4-year-old daughter who is giving every indication that she will follow the footsteps of her parents. While riding in the MG with the top down, the child likes to lean over the side and yell, "Go faster, go faster," says Mrs. Walker.

Sports car drivers interested in participating in the gymkhana Sunday need no previous experience and may not be members of a club. The event starts at noon but drivers do not have to be there then to enter.

Small Man Is Big

Work Horse Weber Tops Grid Statistics

Richie Weber is the smallest man on Southern's football team. He is also the biggest.

The 5-8, 175-pound halfback leads most of the Saluki statistics after two games. Weber gained only 27½ yards last year in six games (he was hurt in the Ft. Campbell game and was out for the remainder of the season) but has 137 yards rushing with the season just getting under way.

Although Weber led the Salukis on the ground a year ago, he didn't come into his own until last Saturday's home opener against Louisville, when the little speedster cracked through for 93 yards in 20 carries.

Add 42 yards gained against Bowling Green two weeks ago and Weber has 137 of SIU's 228 net rushing total. The junior scabback has carried the ball 34 times (almost half of the Salukis' rushing attempts) for a fine 4.0 average.

The second work horse for the Salukis is junior fullback Monty Riffer. Riffer has gained 115 yards on the ground in 32 attempts for a 3.6 mark.

Riffer and Weber have each scored one touchdown. Charlie Warren has added the other Saluki six points.

In other individual statistics quarterback Jim Hart is throwing just about at the same clip as last season with 18 completions in 40 attempts for a 45 per cent average. Hart as a sophomore last year, threw at about a 49 per cent clip.

Hart has thrown one touchdown pass as has his understudy, Doug Mougey. Mougey, not seeing too much action, has thrown six passes while hitting his target four times. Enemy defenders have picked off four of Hart's aeriels.

Hart's favorite target is sophomore Tom Massey, who sparkled last week against the Cardinals. Massey has pulled down eight of Hart's passes for 123 yards. Weber and Rudy Phillips have caught four each.

As a team the Salukis are 1-1 and are just about even in all departments. They trail in rushing yardage 228 to 316 and passing yardage, 287 to 303 in scoring, 19 to 41.

Dave Bolger has been doing a fine job punting with an even 35.0 average in 11 punts.

Texas Regains First in AP Poll

Texas, defending national football champion, was placed at the top of the first Associated Press major college football poll this week. Illinois was ranked third.

1. Texas (14) (2-0) 395
2. USC (17) (2-0) 357
3. Illinois (7) (1-0) 347
4. Alabama (4) (2-0) 316
5. Ohio State (2) (1-0) 285
6. Navy (1) (2-0) 210

Tennis Tournament for Students Announced

Students interested in participating in a tennis tournament are asked to sign up in the Intramural Office, Room 128 of the Arena. Starting date will be announced later.

Variety of Sports Scheduled by Intramural Office

For the athletic-minded individual the Intramural Office has set up a program which includes a wide range of sports.

Flag football, bowling, wrestling, a hole-in-one golf tournament, basketball and swimming will be offered this quarter.

Flag football will kick off the intramural program Tuesday. It is scheduled to run through Nov. 1. Five new fields have been constructed south of Lake-on-the-Campus for the games.

Football managers are reminded that their team's roster plus a $2 entry fee must be turned in to the Intramural Office in the Arena before 5 p.m. Monday.

Other sports slated to begin later in October are bowling and the hole-in-one golf tournament. A driving range is being constructed near the new baseball diamond south of the lake for the tournament.

Wrestling and swimming are scheduled to begin around the middle of November.

Basketball will close out the intramural program for the quarter and will continue into winter quarter.

Four Future SIU Opponents Rated as Top Performers

Four future SIU football opponents are ranked among the top individual offensive performers in the nation, according to the latest National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics.

Included are quarterback Jerry Rhome and end Pat Daugherty of Tulsa and quarterback Dan Simrell and halfback Jim Gray of Toledo.

Rhyme and Daugherty will provide some opposition for Southern at Tulsa Saturday when the Salukis meet the Golden Hurricane in an 8 p.m. contest.

Rhyme, a senior standout who finished fourth in the nation in passing last season, currently is listed 18th in the major college ranks. In Tulsa's 31-22 loss to Arkansas last Saturday, the talented Hurricane star completed 20 of 27 passes (an average of .74) for 185 yards and two touchdowns.

Daugherty, Tulsa's rangy 6-4 end, caught eight of Rhome's passes, good for 40 yards.

Simrell, who will meet the Salukis in McAndrew Stadium Nov. 14, is ranked 21st in the big college standings, after two weeks of play. The 6-3, 180-pound Toledo captain has completed 18 of 32 aerials for 244 yards and one touchdown. Gray, an All-American candidate and the Toledo Rockets' leading scorer in 1963, has pulled in seven of Simrell's passes for 96 yards and one touchdown.

Tom LaFramboise, who led Louisville University in its close 7-6 loss to Southern here last Saturday, is still ranked No. 1 in the nation in forward passing. The Cardinal star has completed 45 of 75 passes (a .600 average) for 514 yards and two touchdowns.

Clarence Spencer, Louisville's standout end, is No. 1 in pass receiving with 17 receptions good for 174 yards and one touchdown. That one touchdown represented the Cardinals' lone six points scored against the Salukis last weekend.

Tom Lockhart of North Texas State University is ranked 24th in the nation in punting. Lockhart has punted 10 times for an average of 39.9 yards. North Texas will provide the Salukis homecoming opposition here, Oct. 31.

Football Meeting Set

A second flag football officials' meeting will be held at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday in Room 125 of the Arena. All officials are requested to attend.

Boasting of 'Success' Results In Suspension Status for Four

Four male students charged with stealing an estimated $45 worth of housewares from Lentz Hall last spring were placed in a status of suspension through the winter quarter Tuesday.

The Office of Student Affairs said the four, whose names were not revealed, had planned to use the silverware and dishes in off-campus housing they had rented for this term. However, their boasting of the "success" somehow reached the ears of the authorities. The articles were recovered.

While on suspension, the four must live in supervised housing. Also each of them must buy $25 worth of books from the approved reading list and place them in the Lentz Hall library. None of the four is eligible for automobile privileges while on suspension.

The case was continued from the spring term until Tuesday so the State's Attorney's office could review it during the summer. After consultations Being Sought

For Arabic, Japanese

All students interested in taking courses in either Arabic or Japanese languages have been asked to contact Amil G. Peterson or sign papers in the student government office in the University Center.

considering the case, state officials decided that, while the housewares were state property, the case could best be handled by the Office of Student Affairs.

Baptists Campaign With Hootenanny

The Baptist Student Union is planning a "visitation campaign" Thursday in an effort to contact all incoming Baptist freshmen.

Workers will leave the Baptist Foundation at 7 p.m. and visit the freshmen in their dorms. During the visit, freshmen Baptist students will be asked to return to the foundation for a come-as-you-are party that will include a hootenanny.

This is one of many activities planned by the BSU to familiarize new students with the foundation's program.
