MISS TROVILLION

Any student who has been here before knows the excellence of the articles that have appeared in the Egyptian. This excellence, both as to subject matter and construction, has been in part due to the work of Miss Trovillion, who has been critic of the Egyptian for four years.

Miss Trovillion has always taken an active part in all phases of campus life. Her untiring effort in coaching the Spring plays has produced great results. She is the advisor of the Strut and Fret. Last year Miss Trovillion wrote and coached the play "Milestones at S. I. N. U." which was presented during Homecoming.

Since Miss Trovillion has such an intimate knowledge of campus life and takes such an active part in student affairs, she has shown herself well qualified as critic for the paper which records many of these activities.

The Egyptian is fortunate in having had Miss Trovillion for critic during the past and in having her continue this work during the coming year.

EGYPTIAN REGISTERS ON TIME

Are we late? Not this time. In order to give the Egyptian an opportunity to speak for itself, we place it in your hands the opening day. It is our aim to be able to place the school paper in your hands on Tuesday of each week.

Our school is just what the students make it. We trust that each student who registers will feel that in order to be a full-fledged student he or she must subscribe for the Egyptian. It is your paper. It will just be what you make it. The staff will gladly receive any and all articles which will be of interest to the school and which will build up and not tear down. Subscribe today.

A ford used to be a place where you crossed a stream. Now it's every place you cross a street.

Football Prospects

Prospects for a good football team looks fair for this fall. Seven letter men and possibly eight, will be back from last year. Quite a few men who have earned their spurs in high school will be in. Such would seem material for a rattling team. But most people overlook the fact that it is eleven men working together that make a first class football team and this can only be attained by working together through a period of two or three seasons. The individual needs high training and instruction in his individual duties and then these separate performances must be welded into one co-ordinate execution for the success of plays. The 22nd of September, too, is pretty late to start football practice.

Captain Glenn Lamer and "Red" McLaughlin are the two men from last year's backs who will be in school. Lamer can smash a line in fine shape—McLaughlin is pretty fast a foot and last season gave promise of making a fair kicker. Dunne, center, for the last two years will be back for degree work. Phil Allen who played at the same position part of the time two years ago and is a fine defensive player will be in to help out at the pivot job. "Tiny" Cox, "Crossote" Willoughby, guards are in school. Both tackles from last year are gone. Fisher and C. Cox. Pyatt and Rogers, two huskies who performed at guard and tackle last year are the most likely candidates for those positions. Patterson and Mellyth ends are missing. Two new wingmen will have to be found. Denny Lee, quarter, Ken Blair and Duke Johnson ball carriers, are through, as is Brimm substitute back and end.

Of the scrubs who took all the drubbing last year, Purnell and Jordan and E. Hearn ends will be available. F. Hearn, and Gilbride, two huskies will make a good bid for places at guard. Cherry and Carrington will battle for places in the back field.

Of the new material that has reported and which will add strength are the following men from last year's Community High team champions of the "Little Ten." Mountain, quarter, Ross, full and Foley half. Kimmel, tackle and Floyd, tackle, with Colman end and Marberry substitute center.

Mr. Lentz Retires

During the war much was said about "the man behind the gun" and "the man behind the plow"—about their service in furthering the interests of our country. The Egyptian, whose aim has always been to further the interests of S. I. N. U. has had behind it for the past few years Mr. E. G. Lentz who has acted as faculty advisor. Mr. Lentz is not in the habit of telling just how hard he works at tasks, but any one who has been connected with the Egyptian can tell how valuable has been his aid to it. His willingness to advise, direct, and co-operate with the staff has been unflinching.

This year Mr. Lentz has asked to be freed from the position of faculty advisor, and has taken charge of a department which is a new feature for the Egyptian. This is the Alumni department, which will give news concerning the graduates of S. I. N. U. and their work. We are certain that this new department will be an interesting and valuable feature of the paper under his supervision.

Herman Greer '17, Ed. B. '22, received his master's degree from Chicago University at the close of the summer quarter. Mr. Greer goes back to State Teacher's College Pittsburg, Kansas, where he has already taught a year in the history department.

MISS BOWYER

Miss Emma Bowyer, of the English Department, has been chosen as the Faculty Adviser of the Egyptian for this year. The Egyptian feels fortunate in having her as a member of the Board.

Miss Bowyer has for the past few years been the Junior Examiner and Adviser. She has rendered much service both in and out of the class room and has taken a personal interest in the success of the students.

Much of the work has been at a sacrifice, but willingly done to help the school.

Two years ago she helped organize the College Book Store. It is largely through the interest of the Faculty Advisers that the Book Store has been a success.

The Y. W. C. A. appreciates all that Miss Bowyer has done for their organization in helping the girls carry on the work. During vacation she chaperoned the delegates to the Summer Convention at Lake Geneva.

She has been one of the Faculty Advisers of the Student Council and an Honorary Adviser of the Illinae, and in these organizations has helped unflinchingly and cheerfully as she does in all the campus activities.

THE ALUMNI BULLETIN

It is the purpose of this department of the Egyptian to give news of interest from week to week concerning former students of the S. I. N. U. Graduates and others are urged to keep up informed about their doings. Your school, your class and the great body of the alumni would like to keep in touch with you through the columns of the Egyptian. We are always glad to hear of your achievements and your success. This department is a news-letter which will go weekly to hundreds of your friends. Its success will depend upon how cordially you support it. Let us hear from you.

OUR PRINCIPAL STEPS

INTO THE LIMELIGHT

In two recent issues of a well-known school publication appeared two articles by our principal, Mr. O. H. Epperson. His subjects are unique, and his treatment and presentation, clever. Indeed, had the first one appeared in some other magazine, without the writer's name, we might have attributed it to Mencken himself.

In the first article, "The Intellectual Itch," Mr. Epperson "envies" the reader who contentedly devours the Saturday Evening Post and "smacks his lips over the predigested, spicy dishes" and thinks he is getting an intellectual feast. While he marvels that so many prefer the soothing-syrup type of reading which requires no mental exertion, he longs for the same mental complacency himself—so he says, in his true Eppersonian vein.

The second article, "Thou Maun Live," is as brilliantly written but in a rather somber mood. The temperature on that particular day or the kind of breakfast he had eaten may account for the mood. But seriously, the proposition that he sets forth is true, tho we may hate to admit it.

We watch with growing uneasiness these articles appear, written by his him, in our mind's eye, taking his facile pen, for we can already see rightful place behind an editor's desk in the East, the Mecca of all literary reniuses—and the much maligned profession will have lost one of its most brilliant representatives.

NOTICE TO SENIORS

Seniors are requested to hand to the registrar names printed as they wish them on diplomas, also the degree desired:

1. W. F.—Worse Flunky.
2. M. A.—Most Awful.
3. J. D.—Just Dumb.
4. M. D.—Moderately Dumb.
5. D. D.—Dedcedly Dumb.
6. Ph. D.—Phenomenaly Dumb.
7. Ed. B.—Edelweiss Blossom.
8. N. H.—No Hopes.

THE FRESHMAN'S PRAYER

I want to be a Senior, and
With the Seniors stand,
With a fountain pen behind my ear
And a note book in my hand,
I wouldn't be a President,
I wouldn't be a King,
I wouldn't be an Emperor
For all that wealth would bring;
I wouldn't be an angel, for
Angels have to sing;
I'd rather be a Senior
And never do a thing.

Doubtful

An old negro woman, standing by the grave of her late husband, shook her head and said mournfully: "Poor Raftus! I hope he's gone where I 'spect he ain't."

THE FEMALE OF THE SPECIES

She doesn't like
A shady joke.
She doesn't hike
She doesn't smoke.
She doesn't swear
She never flirts.
She doesn't wear
Those shortened skirts.
She doesn't dance,
She doesn't sing.
And goofs in pants
Don't mean a thing.
She doesn't use
The beauty salves,
But won't refuse
To show her calves
You ask her name?—
Well, that's a wow—
She's not a dame
She's just a cow!

GRAMMAR

You see a beautiful girl walking down the street. She is, of course, feminine. If she is singular, you become nominative. You walk across to her changing to verbal, and then become active. If she is not objective, you become plural. You walk home together. Her mother is accusative and you become imperative. Her small brother is an indefinite article. You walk in and sit down; you talk of the subject. You kiss her and she becomes subjective. Her father becomes present and you become a past participle.

—Exchange.

AND THAT'S A FACT

Some folks like mutton, some like lamb,
And some prefer beef stew,
While others yell for pork and beans,
A thing I never do!

To some corned beef is just divine—
They have no use for veal,
And wonder how in—well, you know
The Eskimos eat seal.

But I have yet to meet the guy
Who is so brave and rash
That he will up and tell the world:
"I love it—g/mme hash!"

An Apt Student

She went to Columbia to take her degree of doctor of philosophy and married her professor in the middle of the second year. When she announced her engagement one of her friends said:

"But Edith, I thought you came up here to get your Ph. D."
"So did I," replied Edith; "but I had no idea I would get him so soon."

Idle Broadcasting

Radio Fan: "I have a crystal set in a match-box."
Fannie: "Yes I shouldn't wonder, I have a crystal set in a ring."

"PUTTING IT OVER"

The Zetetic Society will present the three act comedy drama "Putting It Over." A play full of humorous situations, and terse interest holding crises. The time of the playing of this comedy is two and one-quarter hours.

"Putting It Over" is a story of two engineers, two girls, and two fathers.

One of the two engineers steals the plans of the second and is awarded a contract, belonging to the second. The first engineer is not man enough to put the plan over, so he blows the job with the daughter of the contractor. The second engineer turns up and like Mike and Ike, they look alike, he is mistaken for the first. The crooked contractor offers him five thousand to go away—the second girl offers him her friendship if he will stay. He'd like to stay—but five thousand is some item. Does he stay? Come and see.

The time and place of the present action of this play will be announced later, both by poster and by announcement in chapel. Every one is invited. There will be no admission charged but the play will be given at a regular meeting of the society. Don't fail to come out.

The cast of this play is one with both experience and ability. It is as follows:

- Tom Browne—The Chief Engineer.....
- Carl Smith
- Jack Stewart—Up Drew the Plans....
- Colonel Lane—A Heavy Stockholder..
- Cary Davis
- Lannon—A Contractor ... Van Browne
- Bolton—Browne's Vallet Leamon Wells
- Daintry—Foreman at the Dam.....
- Robert Marberry

- Eva Lane—The Colonel's Daughter....
- Syvilla Reiss
- Torrence—Lannon's Daughter
- Roberta MacCracken
- Mrs. Lane-Turner—Eva Lane's Aunt
- July
- Lucille Coulter

Entered as second class matter at the Carbondale Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

Office Telephone
Main Building, Room 16 University Exchange No. 17

Students of S. I. N. U., we present for your approval the first number of The Egyptian for the coming year. Last year's paper proved very successful and this year's paper will be nothing more or less than you are pleased to make it.

We honestly feel that no other single enterprise so truly represents the complete student body as does the Egyptian. This is your paper and not ours. Any member of the staff will gladly consider any article that you desire to hand in. We must cooperate if The Egyptian is to be a success. Start the school year right by subscribing for the Egyptian.

ZETETIC SOCIETY GREET'S YOU

Zetetic Society welcomes all old and new members. To the new ones, here for the first time, we greet you with open arms. To the old students, who have no society, we intreat you to join our ranks.

The society is the largest and the best on the campus—we think. It is an organization, made up of the choice students. Its history is a thrilling struggle beginning before many of the readers of this were born and extending down to the present day. But enough of the past, it is not with that we are concerned but with the happy present and vague future.

The word Society suggests to all members of the S. I. N. U. the words Zetetic and Socratic. These are the names of the two great literary societies, both good and strong organizations. Each year these societies are rivals but friendly rivals—if I were not a Zetetic I would be a Socrat. We admire the Socrats, but since we are Zetets we would not leave THE I ranks for the world.

It is the custom of these societies to play two matches of basketball each year, one between the girls and one between the boys. Last year the Zetets won them both. This Society lacks athletics to the utmost. We often have officers who are letter men. We back all school activities, the Egyptian, the Obelisk and the rest.

In closing, I wish to say that you can not do better than to join the Zetetic Society—you are more than welcome. We wish you to come out and make yourself one of us.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

What do you think when the world goes wrong,
And you seem to lose your will;
When the clouds hang low and the wrong winds blow
So cold and dry and chill?
Do you think life's not worth the living,
And success seems far away,
Why, listen man, you're dreaming!
Get up and enjoy the day.

What do you say when the world goes wrong,
And you don't care what you say,
When no smile or song, however long,
Can drive the blues away?
Do you fuss at your friends the live long day,
Till no one will stay with you?
If you do, get up, smile the tears away
And you'll quit feeling blue.

What do you do when the world goes wrong?
And you've lost your very best friend,
When your check comes late and your mother relates
The letter she forgot to send?
Do you blame the world as a whole,
And say it's rotten and weak,
Why, wake up, man, a friend goes by
And you forgot to speak!

Is that what you think and say and do
When all the world goes wrong?
Don't you think you could better improve the day,
With a happy cheery song?
Even if the lump does choke you at first,
You can soon drive it away.
It's you and not the world my friend,
If it goes wrong today.

THE ILLINAE

The Illinae is an organization whose purpose is to give training in debating, public speaking, and parliamentary practice to the girls of the school who are interested in them. A group of girls, feeling that such training is an asset to a girl teacher, organized the club in 1921. It is the only girls debating club on the campus, and is in close rivalry with the 'two boys' debating clubs.

Each year a mock trial is held in which the Agora and Illinae societies participate. Then too, a tri-club debate is held each spring the club winning this receiving a silver loving cup. The Illinae won this in '22, tied for it in '23 and yielded it to the Agora in '24.

The Illinae meets each Monday evening in Association Hall. Any girl interested in debating is welcome to join—the membership is limited, however, to twenty-five.

SCHOOL TIME

September sunshine, warm and low,
On all the hills is lying,
But through the fields and pastures go
The vagrant breezes, sighing,
The butterflies flit aimlessly
Above the short, green clover;
The squirrel with his glancing eye
Has searched the woodland over.

Upon the beach the white sands lie,
Unstirred by little fingers;
The bright waves lapse reluctantly,
The last unnoticed lingers,
The shrunken brook goes murmuring by,
All its brown pebbles showing;
The robins sing, complainingly,
"We may as well be going."

But in the weed-choked paths once more,
And where rank grass was growing,
The school house's dingy door before,
The little feet are going,
"Good-bye," they say, "dear hill and sea,
Good-bye sweet summer pleasures,
Keep safe for us, O field and tree,
Our precious forest treasures!"

WEE WUNDER

Why do girls comb their hair in class?
If you have a vaccination scar?
How you like the old school?
Why are some of the students always showing off?
Why Lewis Ed is so popular?
When we will have our first game of football?
If you have any new, snappy yells?
Atta boy! Give 'em to the yell leader.
Isn't it great to get back with the old gang again?
Are you bashful?
What are the easiest classes?
Why Burtis Trees is so busy?
If you know that tomorrow (Sept. 23rd) autumn begins? Just ask Colyer for details.
Why are some studies about as clear as mud?
If you have subscribed for the Egyptian?

The story is told of a scientist engaged in the archeological discoveries at Luxor who picked up a sandwich near the excavations and immediately called around him a group of students. He then proceeded to lecture, directing their attention to its wonderful state of preservation. There were, as he pointed out, unmistakable traces of butter. Evidences of ham were plainly visible and the bread far from being petrified. "Of course," he was concluding, this sandwich is not now edible." Just then another member of the party ambled up and remarked: "I'm sorry to hear you say that, professor. That is a part of my lunch."

Old Student—"One of our faculty members has hats which are so becoming to him."

New Student—"Is he handsome?"

Old Student—"No, he's bald."

He—"I'm going to kiss you, honey." She—"Do you want me to cry for help?"

He—"No, thank you dear—I don't need any!"

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS
HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

In the interest of the students of local history and current World problems, there has been organized in Southern Illinois, a society to promote and direct the study of local history and of World problems of the present.

The organization was perfected August 26th by the students of the Senior College class of Carbondale working under the wise counsel and cooperation of Professor Lutz.

It has for some time past been the opinion of the department of history and economics in Carbondale, and of those most intimately in connection with the study of the rapidly changing development of World history, that such an organization would be profitable in assisting teachers of history to acquaint themselves with current topics and in the preservation and recognition of local history; and to stimulate and intensify a spirit of international concern.

The organization has planned to meet twice a year; at the Normal Home Coming in Carbondale in the Fall, and again at the time of the S. I. T. A. in the Spring.

This organization has very great possibilities. There is no limit to the possibilities in this field nor to the benefits that can be derived from it by the members. Bulletins shall be issued periodically by the association carrying valuable material contributed by the members. It is the ambition of the association to become connected with the State Historical Society.

Anyone may become a member who is of Senior College rank or whose major is history.

The following officers were elected for the following year:

- President—Arthur W. Cox.
- Vice President—Thille Sturm.
- Secretary—Mr. Walker.
- Executive Committee, N. W. Draper, Loy Norrix, May S. Hawkins.

It will be much to the interest of our youthful organization for every one who is interested in this work to give it encouragement by becoming an active member.

HISTORY OF THE SOCRATIC SOCIETY

What is the Socratic Society? This is one of the first questions asked by a new student at S. I. N. U.

The present Socratic Society was founded during the second regular session of this school. On October 1, 1875, the Constitution and By-Laws were endorsed by the faculty.

Later it was decided to convert the organization into the Socratic Literary Society. A committee was appointed to interview the faculty on this matter. The faculty agreed and allowed the use of a large bare room in the southwest corner of the Mansard story of the old building which was destroyed by fire in 1883.

An old minute book, later destroyed by fire tells us that a lamp had to be borrowed for the first meeting. Later, when 'dues' were collected, a lamp and some chairs were purchased and a platform was built.

Debates were a prominent feature in the program. The arguments grew hot and furious and sometimes lasted until midnight.

Before a year had passed a very great question came before the society. The question was "Should ladies be admitted to the society?" So radical a step as this called for an amendment to the constitution. The question was discussed and voted upon a number of times but it lacked the necessary two-thirds. Finally one night, when six members were present, a vote was taken, and the ladies were admitted by a vote of four to two.

Being a member of one of the Literary Societies gives a student access to a certain phase of school life which he would otherwise miss. In the work of the Socratic Society no such a thing as an aristocracy has ever existed, but every member has been considered an equal and given an equal chance. Members feel toward their society as they feel toward their school. They back the athletics, the plays, and the various activities of the society as they do those of the school. The society exerts great influence in developing the abilities of students in many lines. Old members may truly look back to the old society and exclaim: "Thanks, thank to thee, my worthy friend, for the lessons thou has taught."

A hearty welcome awaits both new and old students at the Socratic Literary Society. We would like to be your friend and we invite you to our first meeting next Friday evening.

ANTHONY HALL LIFE

Carbondale, Ill.
Sept. 30, 1924.

My Dear Chum:

I haven't written to you as I have promised to do because I have been very busy.

Anthony Hall is such a happy place. There are about 75 of us here and no chance for a person to get lonesome. We can always find someone to cheer us up when we're sad, someone to talk to and waste time with us, someone to sympathize with us when things go wrong and someone to help us when the lessons are difficult. Our matron does all in her power to make us feel comfortable and at home. We are just one big family.

Our dining room is large enough so some of the girls living out of the Hall can take their meals here too. Next week we will draw for tables. By doing that we have a better opportunity to get acquainted with every one.

The first evening I was here I learned all about the gong and d'ps. The gong calls us to meals and helps to awaken us in the mornings. The d'ps regulate the hours for study and turning out the lights. We have study hours from 7:30 to 9:30 P. M., then a half hour recreation. At ten all lights are turned out, excepting Friday and Saturday nights, then we have an extra half hour.

One evening last week the girls that were here last year entertained the new girls by giving a "kid party." Don't you know then the dignified Seniors dressed like kids and enjoyed it as much as we did. We are looking forward to another party the old girls have been telling us about, that's when the young men are invited for an evening of fun.

Your old pal almost got into trouble last night. Must tell you about it. I was struggling so hard over my English theme and thought I'd slip to the next room for a little help. I knew it was against the rules to do that during study hours but when you are in trouble you will take a chance. All worked out nicely until I was ready to come home. I heard the matron on an "inspection tour" and dodged back into the room just in time to not get caught.

It is study time now and I must review for an exam for tomorrow.

Your Chum,
BETTY JANE.

A small girl attended a vaudeville with her mother, for the first time. During the performance, a beautiful girl came out on the stage dressed in the quaint, old-fashioned hoop-skirt. The little girl was at once interested and turned to her mother and said, "Oh! look mother that lady is wearing a lamp shade."

SUMMER TERM OF "24" A REMARKABLE ONE

The first half of the Summer quarter opened with an attendance somewhere between fifteen and sixteen hundred. There are many reasons why this was a particularly interesting term of school. Many of the regular instructors were attending school elsewhere, but in their stead, Principals from the leading High Schools of Southern Illinois were selected. Prof. Van Cleve, Principal of the High school at Olney, Illinois; Prof. E. D. Bottenfeld, Principal of the High School at Anna Jonesboro; Prof. R. V. Jordan Supt. City Schools at Centralia, Illinois; Prof. Todd of the Murphysboro Township High School. In spite of the fact that each department was filled to overflowing the quality of instruction maintained its high standard. The morale of the student body was excellent. There was practically no disorder throughout the term. A good orchestra was maintained and contributed much to the interest of the term.

The second half of the summer quarter was no less remarkable. Three years ago, President Shryock, for the first time in the history of the school simply tried out this second half of the summer quarter. The attendance of the first year, (1922) was a few over two hundred. The summer of "23" it was over four hundred, and the past summer the one just closed, the attendance was over seven hundred. So well do the students like this session that no doubt it will become an outstanding feature of the school. While President Shryock enjoyed his vacation, Prof. Geo. D. Wham, head of the department of Education and Dean of the Faculty was in charge.

Everybody meant business and the term went off in an orderly business-like way. A good orchestra was maintained under the leadership of Miss Boycourt, director of music in the schools at Harrisburg, Illinois. Chapel exercises were interesting and conducted regularly throughout the term. The students enjoyed several musical numbers and also enjoyed an address given by Prof. Armstrong, of the University of Virginia.

C. C. H. S. FOOTBALL NEWS

With only four letter men returning from last year's championship team, the Carbondale Community High football team started practice the first day of September. Coach Woodruff is exerting every effort to fill up the raps left open by graduates of last year's team. The letter men returning are Lowden at center and Dillinger, Sorgen and Williams at guard. Other subs from last year seem to be working in nicely and the line gives promise of being as strong as last year in spite of the loss of Floyd and Ex-Capt. Kimmel at tackles. However the prospects for a smooth working backfield are not bright "Red" McGowan, Hall, Bridges, and W. Foley with Louis McGowan, a sub-end of last year, are fighting for positions in the backfield. It seems almost beyond reason that a backfield can be whipped into shape in early season which can compare with the one which ran through Marion last year 40 to 0 and humbled Benton giants 47 to 7 early in October.

On the football practice field, however, there seems to be a decided change in the spirit of practice. Instead of the cocky sureness of last year, one feels a certain seriousness, a spirit of dogged determination which never quits and the gossip is beginning to float around the school that another Champion team is in making. Who knows!? The following is the schedule of games to be played:

Oct. 4—Johnston City at Carbondale.

Oct. 11—Open.

Oct. 18—Benton at Benton.

Oct. 25—Anna at Carbondale.

Nov. 1—Murphy at Murphy.

Nov. 8—Cairo at Cairo.

Nov. 15—Herrin at Carbondale.

Nov. 22—Marion at Marion.

Nov. 27—(Thanksgiving) Open.

The old fashioned way to cut off days they cut off their hair to spite the nose to spite the face. Now-a-days the relatives.

THE SAME OLD STORY

It was one of those wonderful days when the sun shines to give warmth to the world and the wind blows to add a spicing cool effect. Indeed, it was early autumn and the grass and flowers all gave of the fragrance that tends to cause emotions. His very words seemed to be begging and pleading, but for some reason she seemed to be unmoved by the glorious atmosphere. Was she grieved, was she peeved or disappointed? But he was far too emotional to be dulled by her unmutualism; he was determined to win her over to see his way. He was not fooling, he was very serious. Really it meant so much to him what had he ever done to cause her to act so coldly, so harshly? At last he made one final effort would she give in? She must have had some one else in mind. Her reply was harsh and direct. He'd show her that he too could be independent, so he started to leave her alone, but she called after him:

"You might as well decide to accept my terms for I'm sure that there isn't another vacant place in town."
 "But lady! I don't wantta buy your whole house."
 Such is boarding-house story.

THE EDITOR SAYS—

Forget the slander you have heard.
 Forget the hasty, unkind word.
 Forget the quarrel and the cause
 Forget the whole affair, because
 Forgetting is the only way.
 Forget the storm of yesterday,
 Forget the chan whose sour face
 Forgets to smile in any place.
 Forget the trials you have had,
 Forget the weather if it's bad,
 Forget the knocker, he's a freak
 Forget him seven days a week,
 Forget you're a millionaire,
 Forget the gray streaks in your hair.
 Forget the coffee when it's cold.
 Forget the kicks, forget the scold,
 Forget the plumber's awful charge,
 Forget the icemen's bill so large.
 Forget the coalman and his weighs
 Forget the heat in summer days,
 Forget to even get the blues
 But don't forget to pay your Egyptian dues (if you haven't paid yet).

WHAT SHE WAS WAITING FOR

He told her she was very intellectual. She frowned, but she was not entirely displeased.
 He told her she had dignity and commanded respect. She smiled coldly but remained silent.
 He told her she reminded him of a Grecian goddess, with her clear-cut, marble white features. She tapped her foot with thinly veiled impatience.
 Finally he got "wise." He told her she was very pretty, and asked her to marry him. She flew into his arms!

Orland H. Epperson '21 has just returned to his work in Jackson, Michigan, from a literary pilgrimage in New York and New England which occupied the greater part of the summer. The kodak views he has sent us are of great literary and historic interest.

It will be remembered that Mr. Epperson went from the S. I. N. U. to the University of Illinois where he finished for his Master's degree and then became the principal of the largest school in Jackson, Michigan, where he has the supervision of forty-one teachers. He is a frequent contributor to educational journals. The following article clipped from a Michigan paper will indicate his recognition and rapid rise to prominence:

Sliding Down the Icing

"Will you join our party in the jam preserves?" asked the first fly.
 "No," said the second fly, "the lady of our house has baked a cake with icing on it. We're going in for winter sports."

A Shortage Somewhere

An advertisement of a popular spectacular play had this to say of two of its attractions:
 5,000 people.
 4,000 costumes.

It Surely Is

"Is 'pants' singular or, plural?"
 "If a man wears e'm it's plural."
 "Well, if he doesn't?"
 "It's singular."

Thats Right Why?

"Oh, all women are alike," said the cynic.
 "Why then," asked a woman, "should any man commit bigamy?"

At the Garage

Little Miss—"Mister, will you fix up my kitty? There's a miss in her purr."

A TRAGEDY

I awoke to look upon a face,
 Silent, white and cold.
 O, friend, the agony I felt,
 Can never be told.
 We'd lived together but a year
 Too soon, it seemed, to see
 Those gentle hands outstretched and still,
 That toiled so hard for me.
 My waking thoughts had been of one
 Who now to sleep had dropped;
 'Twas hard to realize, O friend,
 My Ingersoll had stopped.

BRAINS

Brains are things that we all need,
 And most of us possess.
 Brains it takes to make a man
 Who is a great success.
 When it came to passing out
 The brains, I wasn't there.
 So you see without a doubt
 I didn't get my share.

"WHY YOU SHOULD

JOIN THE FORUM"

For the past few years the Forum has maintained a place of high rank among the other activities carried on by the students. This organization has for its sole purpose, training in debating and a mastery for parliamentary law.
 The membership is limited to twenty-five members all of which must be of Junior and Senior standing.
 For the past three years Tri-club debates have been an interesting feature of the training, however, the Forum has not yet been successful in winning the cup. Young men! If you feel an interest in debating and oratory link up with the Forum. Make application early and be one of the dignitaries of the S. I. N. U. of the year of '24 and '25.
 Some of us sigh and think we have lost our hearts. It may be only that we have lost our nerve.

GREETINGS

We are glad to have you with us again and are ready to accommodate you in any way. Wishing you a very successful school year.
