Gracie Squelches Inquisitive Extrovert

Our charming freshman friend, Gracie Garble, today found that, even though her academic training is somewhat inferior to that of numerous students on Southern's campus, her ability to maintain self respect is greater than she anticipated.
 In a recent conversation a very unconvincing upclassman asked, "You'r so 'hi-fu-looter', just what kind of business is your dad in?" Gracie, "Oh, he's in the mining business". Upclassman, "What kind of mining business?" Gracie, "Mining his own darn business!"

Chicago People Rank Southern High

A very strange phenomena exists in the popularity and recognition of S. I. N. U. I have found that people outside of the geographical territory which Southern supposedly serves really recognizes our institution and its many merits more than the home constituents.
 I live in a suburb of Chicago and when I come to school down here people ask me, "Why come all the way down here?", yet when I go home for the August vacation the people at home say "Yes, I've always heard that it is a very good school". As a matter of fact the city superintendent of schools said that he never doubted a teacher's ability if she came from Carbondale. The truth is that there are some teachers in the city system whose college education was received here at Southern.
 Although the 25% enrollment increase for the Fall Term seems to dispense this situation to some degree, I feel that we still have room for more improvement in regard to the public attitude of Egyptians toward their school, S. I. N. U.—D. B.

NINE NEW TEACHERS JOIN S I N U FACULTY

Three Permanent Appointments; Six Filling Vacancies
 Nine new teachers have been appointed to the faculty of the Southern Illinois State Normal University this fall. They are Dr. Mary L. Phares, Dr. Robert C. Cassell, Rockwell McCreegh, Dr. Orville Alexander, Glenn Martin, Fred P. Barnes, Fred Cagle, Golda Hankla, and Elizabeth H. Moore.

JIMMY DORSEY TO PLAY AT S. I. N. U. HOMECOMING; DANCE WILL FOLLOW DEDICATION OF THE NEW STADIUM

Dorsey Broadcasts Nightly Over WGN Mutual Network
 Jimmy Dorsey and his famous swing band have had been selected to furnish the music for the homecoming dance, October 23. Jimmy Dorsey was featured for 2 years on the Blue Crosby Kraft Music Hall program. At present he is playing at the Ben Ar Tommy Club, Chicago, with a new band consisting of WGN and Mutual network.
 In last week's Collier's Paul Whiteman picked him as his No. 1 all-star player in his All-American Swing Band. Paul Whiteman said "My No. 1 all-star player is of course Jimmy Dorsey, and anyone who disagrees with me is crazy. Some might disagree on the ground that Jimmy is even a greater clarinet player as a matter of fact. I'll admit that he's one of the three best swing clarinet players in the country. But on my team he's the No. 1 all-star. You just can't leave him out."
 He is a brother to Tommy Dorsey, and the two formerly had a band together.
 This is the biggest band the school has yet procured. This fact, together with the dedication of the stadium should be the biggest homecoming S. I. N. U. has ever witnessed.

SINU REGISTRATION REACHES 1846; NEED EXISTS FOR 20 NEW FACULTY MEMBERS AND SEVERAL BUILDINGS

Watson, Harvey, Otey Secure Positions at Eastern Illinois State Teachers College
 Three former S. I. N. U. students have been employed by the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College at Charleston for the coming year. They are Dr. Richard Watson, Miss Wendell Otey, and Miss Velma Harvey.
 Dr. Watson, who graduated here in 1922, returned his doctor's degree from the University of Illinois the same year after having completed original work in atomic research. He will serve as an instructor in the physics department.
 Miss Otey, who received her B. Ed. degree in 1927, returned here in 1935 to be an instructor. Mr. Otey, who lives in Charleston from Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, received his Master's degree from Iowa State.
 Miss Velma Harvey of Thompsonville is secretary of this year's graduation class. She will teach in the elementary grades of the Humboldt Training School.
 President Rocco Pulliam in commenting upon the sharp increase in enrollment, stated that it "came as a complete surprise to the administrative officers of the college. We expected a continuation of the small, steady, normal growth which the college has enjoyed ever since the World War, but we did not anticipate a twenty-five per cent jump at one time."
 With a freshman enrollment of 550, almost 300 more than was reported last year, the problem of classroom space is an urgent one. President Pulliam remarked that this increase coming as it does when we are already grossly overcrowded, strains all the facilities of the college to the limit. Unless more are provided soon for the addition of twenty instructors and the construction of additional buildings, the college will have to restrict its enrollment to about 1,500 students.
 In his judgment, the restriction would be a great calamity to Southern Illinois. It would deprive four hundred fifty ambitious young people of the opportunity for a college education which society owes to them. These people are the ones who are willing to work and to stand out from the feet if they are given a chance. It would hardly be fair to close the door of opportunity to them while spending many times as much money as their education should cost on new dorms and unutilized party activities, for people who are perhaps not always anxious to help themselves.
 "Since Southern Illinois is handicapped by the depression and even the middle classes are no longer able to spend much money, it would be out of question for any but a small fraction of the young people who attend school here to go elsewhere."
 Final registration figures at S. I. N. U. will in all probability total over 1,800. These figures do not include high school students, elementary school pupils, or those enrolled in extension courses, which put the total well over the 3,000 mark.
 Fall term registration figures for the past five years showing the student growth of S. I. N. U. are as follows:

 1934 1482
 1935 1482
 1936 1459
 1937 1523
 1938 1846

ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

Three Plays, Butler, LaFollette, Lerner, Knox Are Featured
 The college entertainment program for the fall will be opened on Wednesday night, the WPA Federal Theater Play's presentation of "Learning to Fly," one of the three plays to be given on the campus during the school year by that group of players.
 The regular lecture series sponsored last year by the College Entertainment Committee will begin on October 12 with the lecture of General Smedley Butler. Other speakers to appear on the program include Wilford Laurier Humboldt, Donald Grant, Governor Phil La Follette, Max Lerner, Anna Louise Knox, and John Mason Brown.
 General Butler, who will open the lecture series in the celebration of "Fighting Marine," who is returning here to another of his dynamic lectures. will appear on October 24, is known for having put Martha Child's "Sweden the Middle Way" in pictures. He will speak on the subject "Sweden When Human Values Count" illustrated with motion pictures in color.
 Donald Grant is an outstanding lecturer on the political and international situation. A graduate of the University of Edinburgh with majors in history and modern languages, Mr. Grant has lived, worked and traveled in all parts of Europe since the War, having attended important League of Nations assemblies and the World Peace Conference.

Huge Crowd Attends Dance of Socratic Society

A record-breaking crowd, including many of the new students on the campus as well as the returning ones, proved at its first meeting Wednesday night that the Socratic Literary Society is beginning another year as the largest organization of its kind on the campus.
 Special emphasis was placed upon welcoming the freshmen to the Society by the old members and the new officers for the term. These officers are: Gaylord Whitlock, president, Halbert Gilley vice president, Ellen Todd, corresponding secretary, Kate Bunting, recording secretary, and Glen Malloy, treasurer.
 The formal program consisted of a piano solo by Mary Karler, vocal solo by Ruby Lee Tomlinson, and a humorous reading by Eva Jane Milliken. After the meeting, there was a featured dance with the purpose of getting acquainted. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing and cards.

Rockwell McCreegh, Junior High School critic of social science and English, received his A. B. and M. A. degrees at the University of Illinois.

For the past several years he has been connected with the city schools of Marion, having served as principal of the elementary schools there from 1934 to 1936.
 Dr. Orville Alexander, assistant professor of political science was graduated from the Southern Illinois State Normal University in 1931 and later took his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the state university of Iowa. For the past two years he has served as professor of political science at North Central college in Naperville.
 Glenn Martin, member of the Physical education department, took his B. Ed. degree from the Southern Illinois State Normal and his master's from the University of Iowa. He has taught in the high schools of Paulding and Princeton.
 Fred P. Barnes, rural training school critic was graduated with the bachelor of science degree from Northern Illinois University, having received his M. A. degree there. Since June of 1937 he has served as graduate assistant to Dr. William Gellerman, associate professor of education at Northwestern.
 Fred Cagle, who will serve as director of the museum and teach science in the University High School, took his B. Ed. degree from the Southern Illinois State Normal. He has the equivalent of a master's degree in science at the University of Michigan, but has waived the M. A. course requirements in order to work more rapidly to the doctor's degree. While in school at S. I. N. U., he distinguished himself as an authority on snakes and birds, and worked with the Tennessee Academy of Science at Reelfoot Lake.
 Golda Hankla, assistant librarian, took her B. Ed. degree from S. I. N. U. and her M. A. degree from the University of Illinois. She also has the bachelor of science degree in library science from the University of Illinois. She has taught in the high schools of Dongola, Villa Grove and Streator. During the year of 1937-38, she was librarian at the Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, S. D.
 Elizabeth H. Moore, critic at the Carterville High School, received her training at MacMurray College and the University of Illinois, where she received the B. S. and M. A. degrees. During the years 1935-37 she taught in the Christopher Community High School.

S. I. N. U. Training School Was Built To Serve 297 Students; Now Faced With Necessity of Servicing 1850 Students

The S. I. N. U. training school which was erected in 1907 to serve a student body of 297 students is confronted this fall with a student body of 1850 students. Educators agree that, as a teacher training school, the building is not only affords inadequate physical facilities, but is also altogether obsolete. This training school will not permit the college to continue to main adequate practice and demonstration work on the high school level. The huge increase in this fall's enrollment further augments the situation by crowding classes and teachers into inadequate rooms and offices and making it virtually impossible to offer standard vocational work.

In view of the fact that the college proper is in urgent need of the classrooms and offices in the training school building, it appears that the only logical step that would serve to meet the emergency would be the purchase of the new campus and the erection of a new training school. Otherwise education in Southern Illinois must inevitably suffer.

Into The Fire—

One of the most popular instructors in this college once told a class of sophomores that she hated to attend all commencement exercises simply because of the trite statement that the graduates were about to be embarked upon life. Her words, paraphrased, were that if a college student is not already embarked into life, he would never be. College, with its ramifications and vicissitudes is as typical an example of life as can be drawn from four consecutive years of anyone's life.

History can repeat itself, and so can an editorial writer. You freshmen were officially thrown from the proverbial fire when you completed registration. The next four years will have as many disappointments, general good times, and as much work and worry as you are capable of bearing.

Just remember that self-preservation is the first law of nature, so strive to preserve your standing as a student of S. I. N. U. As Mother would say, "study hard and be good children." Seriously, the primary reason for matriculation at any institution is to get an education. Educations are not given gratis, and it is up to those who seek knowledge to work sufficiently to collect the required number of credits.

Allegorically speaking, however, do not stunt your growth. To derive full satisfaction from a college degree, a person should be able to boast of membership in an indefinite number of campus organizations, as well as a number of keys earned from honors earned. Not only do these aid one in obtaining employment when he graduates, but it develops him to a certain extent so that he will be better able to mix with and to meet people.

The formula is no more complex than that. Two parts study plus one part extra-curricular activities plus one part general recreation. Why not give it a whirl? It has worked more than once.—D. H. B.

A Swimming Pool for Southern?

Southern Illinois State Normal University is as fine a teacher's training institution as any in the state with modern buildings and equipment, competent instructors, and enrollment upwards of eighteen hundred. One of the shortcomings in our whole school is conspicuous—we have no swimming pool.

At present, the addition of swimming to our physical education department is under consideration. The cost of building a modern indoor pool is estimated at $100,000.

The students of S. I. N. U. realize the need of a pool and practically all of the other colleges of any size in the nation have them, and their students are enabled to enjoy the healthful and enjoyable exercise of swimming during the winter months. It might be noted that even the Paulina Junior College has acquired a fine swimming pool.

Socratic Society Was Nurtured In Tradition of Democracy, Says Writer

By DOROTHY PEMBERTON

In the year 1875, William H. Ward and several of his students at Southern formed the Socratic Literary Society. These young men were bringing possibly a dozen and a half, were from the country, and had belonged to debating societies. They were backward about displaying their oratorical abilities and thus decided to form a society of their own. Permission to make such a move was granted rather indifferently by the faculty, and was almost ignored for several years. The members constituted and paid for a platform. Chairs and lamps were also purchased from their own personal funds. Later they even bought and paid for a plant, which however, as well as the archives of the society, was burned in the conflagration of the old building.

At first only men were allowed to become members, but in less than a year the women ventured to be admitted. The debates which were a strong feature of each meeting were now confined almost entirely to the question. It was voted upon and defeated several times. Nevertheless the women secured admission by a majority vote of four out of six on a night when a circus had come to town and thousands of men were flocking there. Thereafter the society grew and progressed more rapidly.

The first meeting place of the Socrats was in a bare fourth floor room in the old Mansfield building. Later, they had meeting halls over the library and the chemistry building.

Shortly after the women were admitted a motto for the society was deemed necessary and one was decided upon. It contained so much Latin that it had to be re-translated. The final version was "Socratica Veritas sine Socratica, which means "No truth without wisdom." The Socratic members sought wisdom and leadership. They founded their society on the broad principle that "all men are created equal" which is embodied in the Declaration of Independence. One of the society's fundamental principles was, and still is, absolute democracy. Each member was the equal of every other. The Society sought to help especially the talented and timid who were slow to assert themselves.

This is carried over and down through the organization, the Socratic Literary Society came to be a necessary and established part of the school and these principles to which it stands.

Growth Of Cooperatives

By FRED BANES

The last year has brought about more growth in cooperative movement than has any other year in its history. The annual lack of cooperation has been less restricted for various reasons although its importance has been evident for a long time. At last a movement has begun under the sponsorship of the school administration that is designed to produce unlimited benefits among students who have worked against odds to achieve an education. As examples of cooperative movements that are making headway we should mention the Farm Bureau, several of our faculty members, the school membership is composed of Triquet Project at the Dowdell Product Bureau the NYA Resident party which was in operation last summer and Howard Wood the first cooperative store for students, is situated on the campus. The latter is making a successful attempt to offer better conditions for students at the lowest possible cost.

Graduate of S. I. N. U. Back As Teacher

The political economy staff has been enriched in the addition of Dr. Victor Alexander who graduated from S. I. N. U. in 1921. He will act as assistant professor of political science. He graduated from the University of Iowa and in the past two years has served as professor of political science at North Central College in Naperville. He is a former student of the Egyptian.

About Pictures

By FRANK HOLLOWAY

Howdy, camera fans and picture lovers. Since we have a mutual fondness for pictures, what say we advance the demand for more and better pictures by giving cooperatively praise, as well as criticism to each who releases.

Somehow on campus sooner or later than their classes on the Old Science Building. It seems that the atmosphere about that building begs to be photographed. Yield to the temptation sometime.

The above said attempts to portray this atmosphere. Note the picture taken at depth and the framing by the tree in the foreground. Also note the path which leads the eye to the center of the picture.

This natural view can be seen with walking from the library to the main building. If you are interested in seeing the original point of this scene visit the Egyptian office. Note in close range the effect of putting on both technical data is supplied with the picture.

And bring with you some of your own interesting questions or suggestions. Any or all of these will be appreciated. Just with your comment on a slip of paper entitled "About Pictures" and leave it in the office.

Expire. We may be able to arrange in the near future some sort of campus picture contest. Tell us what you think of this. In class this year you can help in its development.

Photographs taken by polarized light are becoming more common place. By this kind of light small angles appear when taken through a microscope an actual color that makes pictures unusual to a remarkable degree. Salt crystals, shavings of wood and grains of starch seem no longer dull but glimmer in the corners of the varnished lens. They display.

An excellent explanation of polarized light is to be found in the October issue of Popular Science magazine obtainable in the library.

I am about to be re-elected so until next time.

MUSEUM NOTES

By PHILLIP SMITH

Of prime importance to individuals who are interested in museum projects as well as to collectors of the Museum's collection, that its duties will be to collect, to store, to exhibit, and to loan. It is a museum, not a storehouse. A museum is a place where objects are preserved for the benefit of the public.

Originally the Northwest Territory was claimed by four states, on the basis of great land, the King of England, in treaty with the British, the Dutch, the Spanish, the American, and the Mexican. The territory was divided into four parts, the King of England, the Dutch, the Spanish, and the American.

Historical interest in the details of the mission in a printing of the Northwest Territory. The book is "The History of the Northwest Territory" by John W. Lawrence. The printing was presented to the Smithsonian by Miss Alice R. Lawrence of Long Beach, California. A donation to the Smithsonian Institution of the Northwest Territory was presented to the Smithsonian by Miss Alice R. Lawrence of Long Beach, California.

Last week the Museum received a donation from the Black-owned North Hill from Mr. Norman North Hill, Class of '28. Mr. North Hill is teaching history in the High School. The donation was a perfect specimen and has been made into a beautiful book skin.

An Osprey of fish hawk was sent to the museum last week by Miss Audrey Hill, class of '27, who is teaching history at the Hill High School where Miss Ruth Ella North Hill has been represented in the museum collection and very well with some additions.

LOANS:

For the first time in its history the museum has created a loan service which includes high schools outside the State. The first school applying for a loan was Benton High School where Miss Ruth Ella North Hill, class of '27, teaches history.

FRESHMAN EVOLUTION.
Was a freshman Green as grass
Was a course He couldn't pass
Though he didn't Know his stuff,
Thought he'd risk It with a bluff,
He'll learn! ! !

But the funniest one yet is the one about the obliging freshman who collected all of the song books in the auditorium thinking his classmates had mistook their text books. (No fooler!)

And The Famous Golfers of History—
Samson, who couldn't break away from the hook.
Sam Adams, who staged the Boston tea party.
Sir Galahad, who won the Grail cup.
Gen. Putnam, who beat Howe out at the Bunker.
Magellan, who went around in 1591.

Signs of the times: ! !

modern improvements: brick front and handsome stoop.
—Abra Ka Dabra.

CONVERSATION: ! ! !
Whether you stay on whether you go
It matters not a whit:
I learned a little lesson 'euce,
And here's the sum of it:
There's never a lad worth crying for,
There's never a love worth a fight;
There's never a kiss worth sighing for.

"Why can't you come over tonight?"
—ANONYM.

JUST LIKE A FROSH:
F: I suppose you dance.
S: Oh yes! I love to.
F: Great. That's better than dancing any day.

"NOW SCHMOZ KAP POP."
Here's to the hip-hip-hiper
Who's not so dumb,
Why use your money
When you've got your thumb.

STOOGEE:
Student: I don't think I should get a zero on this paper.
Prof: I don't either, but it's the lowest mark there is.

ENGLISH D.P.T. TO OFFER TWO NEW COURSES
The English department has planned two new courses which are open to freshmen and sophomores. A 220 course in debate is to be taught the fourth hour and is open to anyone who has had debating in high school. Speech 210, or speech training in high school. The other course is another section of Speech 210 which will be taught the fourth hour, for those who have been unable to work it into their schedules otherwise.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL ORGANIZES BAND
For the first rehearsal of the new University High School Band, thirty-two players turned out, most of whom have already had several years experience under the director Mr. Charles Patterson of the University High School faculty. Mr. Patterson has been teaching music in the University High School and the city grade schools for the past three years. The band has many new instruments and hopes to have uniforms later in the year. The members look forward to a busy season playing at the College football games, at homecoming, in public concerts, and in programs in the U. S. Assembly.

BARN DANCES TO BE RESUMED THIS YEAR
The Young Men's Christian Association met Tuesday night of this week for its first business and social meeting.
There was a unanimous decision to sponsor the weekly barn dances in cooperation with the Y. W. C. A. as was done last year. The first dance has been planned for next Tuesday night, September 21, in the Gymnasium of the Old Seaton Building. A general invitation to Freshmen and upperclassmen is extended. Among other things taken up was election of officers. Wednesday evening, September 23, has been chosen as the date of the final election. Nominations for officers and a list of legal voters will be finished at next week's meeting.

To Teach Driving In High School

Twenty high schools in district nine of the Illinois Division of highways have adopted a safe driving course of study which will be made available to interested students based on the text book "Man and the Motor Car" for the school year just started. It was announced here today by L. J. Hills, district engineer. Fifteen more schools in the district will probably add the course during the first semester of the present year, Mr. Hills said.

The highway division, interested in the training of safe drivers in an effort to cut the high traffic accident rate, obtains the text books to be sold to the schools at cost, and cooperates with school authorities by furnishing safety engineers for speaking engagements and drivers' tests.

Over half of the high schools in Illinois, or 644 schools, are planning to use the text book this year. In addition to classroom study and discussion, all students taking the course are tested following completion of the study, and their driving tests are pointed out to them. In some schools "riding the wheel in simulation" is given.

With the coming of the new drivers' license law which will be in effect by May 1, 1939, the course of this a means of training those who will be the car drivers of the future.

BABITZ URGES STUDENT BODY TO SUPPORT DEBATING

After a considerable number of years, debating on this campus is at last beginning to get some recognition that has been due it for some time. Last year the varsity debaters were given golden pins for their work in debate, and this year the college administration has arranged a course in Public Discussion and Debate designed especially for those people who will be working on the varsity question in other words people who go out for debating and receive a quarter hours credit for their work where as last year no credit was given at all.

Debating on this campus is open to all students regardless of their classification. Previous experience is not a necessary requirement if anyone has a desire to debate, to understand, to discuss on political subjects who are interested should debate to join the debate club as soon as possible. The Debate Club is an organization on this campus that attempts to do its share in promoting the art of debating and at the same time develops debaters worthy enough to represent the college in inter-collegiate debate. The Debate Club meets every Monday night at 7:30 in Room 101 of the Main Building.

If you wish to continue debating in this campus we need the support of all students who are interested in debate. Now that the administration of the college is doing its share in promoting debate on this campus the students should cooperate and show their appreciation by taking advantage of the special offer.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL WORK SPONSORED BY SOUTHERN

Barton, Peitman Cooperate With Other Scientists

During the month of August, the first archaeological excavation was made by the Southern Illinois State Normal University under the guidance of the Anthropology department of the University of Chicago. The work was sponsored by the museum and visual education committee with the support of President Rossie Pultman.

Last spring during the Illinois State Academy of Science meeting here, Professor Easton Cooper, to name interested in rock shelters in Jackson County, Tex., hollow rock shelter was selected for excavation. Dr. Peitman of the Chicago University of Chicago technique of excavation was used. The floor was divided into five foot squares and the debris removed in four inch levels. Although other rock shelters have been excavated, this is the first in which detailed scientific methods were used.

As Dr. Miller was in charge of the excavating at Kinwood Mounds, Mr. Peitman was placed in charge of

WAA ORGANIZES COUNCIL AND SPORTS BOARD

Tennis Courts and Field Space Are Inadequate

The Women's Athletic Association plans to work under a new organization this year, having both an executive council and a sports board. The council will consist of the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, executive manager, publicity manager, social chairman, and officers of the American Federation of College Women, and the ex-officio members—the director of the department of physical education for women and the W. A. A. faculty sponsor. The sports board will be composed of the president and the heads of the different sports who are appointed by the executive council. As yet the W. A. A. president, Marjorie Hyatt, has not announced a complete list of board and council members. The extra-curricular intramural activities of the Women's Athletic Association and the regular women's physical education classes are suffering badly because of lack of tennis courts and field space for soccer, hockey and archery. However, the association hopes that some definite arrangements will be made soon and that practices will get well under way within the next few weeks. All women who are interested in coming out for the fall sports should watch the Egyptian and the bulletin boards for further announcements.

Athletes Put In Hard Summer

Southern's football co-captains, Harland Cade and Kenny McGuire, have put in a hard summer's work, and seem to be in fair shape even if they didn't carry ice. They will undoubtedly have enough carrying to do this fall, football being the object of their touch-downs on the objective.

Cade has spent the summer laboring as a filing station attendant, and later, in the Hoopston cannery factory. Harland worked in the cannery room, and one can imagine the heat that must be manufactured there in the warm months of August. His co-captain, McGuire, has a supply of canned goods in conjunction with football. Since the idea of Hoopston. They also have peas, carrots, and apparatus to sale at their cheap, each season, and require busy for prices. So their McGuire's husky build no doubt gave him the inside track on the job of a life-saver at the Hoopston cannery swimming pool. We won't know how many men are allowed up with a complex for soaking objects or too quickly! Kenny also worked with Cade at the local cannery factory, but doing a different thing. He used his strong arms to take care of all the men who disappeared from McGuire's husky frame in the first two weeks since it was hot.

The Maroons have as their co-captains two very capable men from Hoopston, the wonder town, Illinois.

The Duke of Queensbury, "Old Q" was the mightiest eater of 18th century England. His breakfast menu consisted of two breakfasts with a nap in between, two lunches with a half-hour intermission, and five other meals. He lived to the age of 82.

SPORTS EDITORIALS

By GEORGE ROGERS
As the opening of another fall term becomes some eighteen hundred students are entering the college. This department of the Egyptian is hurriedly organized to bring you the first news of front line action in Southern's field of sport. Though the majority of the Egyptian's staff are making their debut at their respective posts and for a while will be acquainting themselves to the attendant duties, it will be their intention to present each week a complete coverage of activities, intramural and inter-collegiate involving the Maroon representatives this year.

Best wishes for a successful future as a member of this college's coaching staff are in order for Glenn Martin who returns to his alma mater this year as instructor.

The appearance of the troop of hankies, equipped with shoulder rods, glistered through the field in recent years. Among the returning lettermen are: Charles "Buster" Keyes, whose smashing tackle play made gridiron history a few years ago. . . . Harvey Sanders, Maroon basketball captain in return. Sanders is known as one of the flashiest of the light or "Pony" backs in the conference. . . . At the terminal positions are Captain Harlan Cade, Gray Groves, and Aiken. . . . Keyes and Ernest Smith. . . . Mickey, the course of the copy-reader, is at the pivotal position, as of yore, Captain McGuire is back for an encore of his successful season of last year. . . . Ervin "Bud" Prater with his unmanly sliding pass is to be seen wading 'em to the ends with deadly accuracy. . . . Brooks one of the likeliest book-finder runners in the business will be carrying Southern's Maroon and White across enemy positions again. . . . Most outstanding among the freshman prospectors in this writer's opinion, are Verlie Cox, Bill Burnette, Sanderson and Burns. These last two boys are about two hundred pounds and half from Cairo while Burnette is a newcomer to a coach's prayer. . . . e. a blocking back, weighs in at one-hundred and seventy in his birthday suit. . . . coming at the Egyptian. . . . Cox, the cream of the freshman crop, is a triple-threat man from Carbondale Community, where they haven't failed to win the High School championship since the 49th year's truly, such as the coach's hair and sleepless nights. . . . Cox has the success habit and will be a hard boy to keep out of the regular lineup once he gets the feel of college competition.

Accompanying Cade and McGuire this year are a few more of our students who are out to help keep Hoopston on the map, as far as football at Southern is concerned. James Forghie, a six foot, one hundred sixty-six pounder, is trying for recognition as an end while Eddie Marshall, measuring five ten in height and carrying one hundred fifty-eight pounds, is signed up as a candidate for a half back post.

Before a week of practice had elapsed the first two casualties of the season had been checked up, both accidents occurring during light tackle workouts. Herman Skasterly, the most seriously injured of the two, was taken to the hospital. A deluged shoulder was the extent of the trouble suffered by Kenny Poole, the other victim.

Among the new men on the field is Cooper Westgren, a six foot prospect from Centralia, who several years ago was chosen all-state high school basketball forward. More recently he has been a member of Centralia's state champion De Molay five.

Added to the training equipment this fall is a new three piece tackling dummy. Incidentally, speaking of equipment, we hear the Maroons will wear fancy new uniforms when they open the season against Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington on September 24. The pants, it is stated, are similar to those worn by the powerful University of Minnesota eleven. Now that the Maroon will be decked out like the Gophers, it wouldn't be at all objectionable for them to wind up the schedule with a record comparable to that usually termed in by the Big Ten Terror. Here's hoping anyway.

Faced with the problem of building a tennis team capable of upholding the prestige accompanying the enviable record piled up by last year's veterans, Dr. C. D. Tenney has issued the first call for candidates for the fall tourney. Returning to form the nucleus of the aggregation are "Peter" Peterson, Harry Kille, Harold Robertson and Charles Klut. Several of the freshmen racket winners, it has been hinted about, may give the lettermen and some half dozen squad members from last year a surprising amount of competition in the scramble for spring rankings.

One person in every 223 of Randall's population owns property valued between $500 and $25,000. The trunk of an elephant has a "finger" on its tip.

By CHARLES SOUTH
ONCE AGAIN Southern opens her doors to the masses that greet us towards her welcoming light. The old college yawns as she stirs and throws off her August languor. . . . She lazily watches the influx . . . after what seems to her to be a reasonable length of time she begins to close the door, only to find it blocked by more, and yet more freshmen. . . . The scene changes. . . . It is one week later. . . . The air has crisped perceptibly. There is a new thing to her at Southern. Her pulse quickens to the surge of new blood thro to her aged veins. . . . It is fall—College. . . . The clear call of the quarterback rebounds over the practice field. FOOTBALL SEASON IS HERE.

WITH THE RETURN of thirteen lettermen, Director of Athletics McAndrew and Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin are moulding a team which, as a conservative estimate, will outdo any team that Southern has put on the field in recent years. Among the returning lettermen are: Charles "Buster" Keyes, whose smashing tackle play made gridiron history a few years ago. . . . Harvey Sanders, Maroon basketball captain in return. Sanders is known as one of the flashiest of the light or "Pony" backs in the conference. . . . At the terminal positions are Captain Harlan Cade, Gray Groves, and Aiken. . . . Keyes and Ernest Smith. . . . Mickey, the course of the copy-reader, is at the pivotal position, as of yore, Captain McGuire is back for an encore of his successful season of last year. . . . Ervin "Bud" Prater with his unmanly sliding pass is to be seen wading 'em to the ends with deadly accuracy. . . . Brooks one of the likeliest book-finder runners in the business will be carrying Southern's Maroon and White across enemy positions again. . . . Most outstanding among the freshman prospectors in this writer's opinion, are Verlie Cox, Bill Burnette, Sanderson and Burns. These last two boys are about two hundred pounds and half from Cairo while Burnette is a newcomer to a coach's prayer. . . . e. a blocking back, weighs in at one-hundred and seventy in his birthday suit. . . . coming at the Egyptian. . . . Cox has the success habit and will be a hard boy to keep out of the regular lineup once he gets the feel of college competition.

SOUTHERN MAKES HER DEBUT at Illinois Wesleyan, playing at Wilder Field, where when they play before a capacity crowd, many fans cheer from the wooden bleachers. Wesleyan is a Methodist denominational college, whose colors are green and white. Their team nicknamed "The Titans" won four, lost three, and tied two games in their 1937 gridiron campaign. They lost last year, according to the Blue Book.

SO IT IS easy to see that Southern's first game is apt to be her hardest one. Here's wishing you luck, fellows.

WOMEN'S P. E. CLASSES 29% LARGER THAN LAST YEAR
The rapidly increasing need for more equipment facilities in the women's physical education department became apparent this week through a summary of the enrollment made by Miss Frances Etheridge, head of the department. The enrollment was found to be 62; an increase of 29 per cent over last year.
The large number of freshmen doubted the usual lead in the treadmill classes. Those recorded a total of 111 an increase of 54 per cent. Sophomore classes remained fairly stable, but the theory classes increased by approximately 55 per cent.

LARGE TURNOUT FOR FIRST SINU FOOTBALL DRILL

Thirteen Lettermen Among The Seventy-Six Hopefuls

When football practice for the 1938 grid season got under way Sept 6, seventy-six prospective players were scattered under the almost tropical sun. Among the mass of material were 13 lettermen of former years, returning to assist in giving Southern a place in the grid-tour. The first practice session consisted in limbering-up exercises, running, kicking, and passing, which, let us all, are about the only things that you can do with a football. Among the veterans returning are:

Co-Captains Cade and McGuire, the former an end of great promise, the latter a half-back of undoubted ability. McGuire has made three letters at his position of half-back, while Cade has duplicated this feat at full end position. Both had last year consisted in limbering-up exercises, running, kicking, and passing, which, let us all, are about the only things that you can do with a football. Among the veterans returning are:

At one tackle, Charlie "Pistol" Keyes, with his tremendous drive is almost a cinch for a regular job. "Bud" was out last fall, but returned in plenty of time to make his place in this fall. Football is "Buster's" main dish, and if his success in this sport is any indicator, it agrees with him. Little Harvey Sanders, with his 153 pounds of dynamite and tenacity will be returning and ready to willing and very, very able for duty in the Southern backfield. "Bob" Gray, whose big brother James electrified the gridiron here a few years ago, is back and ready to duplicate his feats at the drop of a hat. . . . Carters and University Cafe Are Enlarged During Summer
Both the campus cafes have been enlarged since last term to accommodate the increasingly large crowds of college students.

HORRELL OPERATED UPON AT ST. LOUIS HOSPITAL
Bill Horrell, campus and Egyptian staff photographer for the past five years, has not returned to SIUC this term because of a major operation which he underwent at the Missouri Baptist Hospital in St. Louis.

LARGE TURNOUT FOR FIRST S. I. N. U. FOOTBALL DRILL
(Siue has garnered two letters here from Southern, and looks like a strong contender for a first-year berth.)
Robert Smythe, a two-hundred-pound tackle from Hoopston, will probably bolster the left side of Southern's line this year.

Henry Stumpf will be in there do- ing... Southern's goal line at his position for Stumpf will be in there again centering for all he is worth, which is no small matter, as football centers are counted.

The famous Mike Mizgilewicz who has been holding down the pivot position for Southern will be in there again centering for all he is worth, which is no small matter, as football centers are counted.

As in often the case a new star may be born from the ranks of the unknown. This year's freshman crew is particularly imposing. They are all big, fat boys who handle themselves like good football material.

Ancient Aztecs used fire beetles as lanterns to light their paths. Bundles of the insects were tied to the wrists of the night traveler. Seventy percent of the motion pictures in the world's 25,000 theaters are American-made.

S. I. N. U. Will Loan Braille Volumes
HERRIN, Ill.—Nearly 50 Braille volumes will be available for loan to blind readers of southern Illinois within the next month, according to the directors of the National Youth Administration Braille transcription project now operating in Herrin.

Half a dozen are already bound and ready for distribution, and the remainder await only the return of the first 46 pages sent to Washington for approval by the National Red Cross there, which is in charge of all Braille transcription work.

The volumes will be distributed free of charge through the Wheeler Library on the campus of Southern Illinois State Normal University at Carbondale, where the college authorities have agreed to cooperate with the NYA by furnishing space for a Braille department.

Sponsoring the Braille transcription project located at the Herrin Township High school, are Lions Clubs of Cartriville, Herrin, Marion, Johnston City, Carbondale and Hertz; the Herrin Women's and Junior Women's clubs, and Red Cross chapters of Williamson county and of Carbondale.

Located at 209 Harwood Ave., the house is run jointly by the boys themselves. All the work, excepting a small part of the cooking, is done on a cooperative basis.

NOTICE
The Student Council primary election will be held Wednesday, September 21 during chapel hour. Each of the three upper classes will nominate five men and five women as candidates for class representatives on the Student Council for the coming year.

NEW SPEECH COURSE AID TO DEBATING
The Debate Club held a special meeting Monday night to launch S. I. N. U. debating upon its new year.

The Debate Club held a special meeting Monday night to launch S. I. N. U. debating upon its new year. There is now being taught for the first time here a course in public discussion and debate for those interested in the subject.

chapters of Williamson county and of Carbondale. These sponsoring agencies have provided funds for the purchase of the materials necessary to produce the volumes and the NYA has trained the workers and furnished the supervision.
