FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT LUGGERS SUDDEN DEATH OF NATION'S LEADER SHOCK TO WORLD

Robert Weede To Make Return Performance In Shryock Auditorium On April 26

Robert Weede, the Metropolitan Opera baritone, will make his second appearance in Shryock Auditorium of the Carbondale Community Concert Association.

Robert Weede, Metropolitan Opera star, is considered by many to be the greatest dramatic baritone before the public today. Weede was brought up on a farm near Baltimore, and as yet the relatives and friends of Weede remember his vocalizations as he was going about his chores on the farm.

Weede began his vocal studies at his rural roots and during high school at the Christian Brothers' School, in Baltimore. He was a member of school orchestra and took part in operas, in which he was featured in high school, he has climbed the ladder of success rung by rung.

Then a friend took him to the vocal teacher, George Castelle, who urged him to try his luck with the Metropolitan Opera company, which offered an opportunity to local singers on its spring tour, to sing with the regular company. He managed to stumble through "Ave Maria" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," and certain of his powers, but sure of his goals.

From 1927 Weede's steady progress was marked by a series of prize awards. That year he won the contest of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and soon afterward he returned to work at the Eastman School of Music under Adelphi Formis. In 1929 he won the Caruso Memorial Foundation Award. With this $2,000 prize award and an Italian vocabulary he had a doctor working the second Milan to continue his musical education with Oscar Anselmi. Returning to this country Weede was engaged by "The City of Music" at the St. Louis Grand Opera, and the opera companies of Rio de Janeiro and San Francisco, as well as the Worcester Festival, and with the New York Philharmonic Symphony and the NBC Symphony Orchestras.

Robert Weede's first appearance with the regular company of the Metropolitan took place in February, 1941. It was a stirring occasion, the premiere in a great career in the famous opera house. For three years Weede has been featured in "Great Moments in Music" program over the coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

From a rambling farm in Maryland, Weede now lives in the heart of New York, but in this seasonal transition has not made the great

VETERANS ENJOY DINNER AT HUB; OFFICERS ELECTED

On Thursday evening, April 6, the Campus Veterans met in the Campus Veterans' office in the Old Science building, with the sole purpose in mind of enjoying a dinner meeting and election of officers of the Hub Club, held in Carbondale. The group moved to the cafe, where dinner was served at 7:00 p. m. to approximately twenty members and four faculty sponsors including Dr. O. B. Young, Dr. T. L. Bryant, Dr. Neal Phelps, and Mrs. J. Henry Schroeder.

Upon the completion of the dinner the presiding officer in charge, Wm. Woods, introduced the Veterans' advisor, Dr. O. B. Young, who has charge of the Veterans' Information Bureau, who gave a short dissertation on the work in which he has participated, and the advantages of the "G. I. Bill of Rights," and State Rehabilitation laws, and promised to tell what he could to help the Veterans' organization. Dr. O. B. Young has experience in this job, as he is himself a veteran of World War I.

Upon introduction by Wm. Woods, Dr. T. L. Bryant discussed the situation of the veterans on the campus. Bryant is one of the faculty co-sponsors of the Campus Veterans.

Dr. W. Neal Phelps gave a concise but enjoyable talk on his work as advisor for the veterans. Dr. J. H. Schroeder, a Vocational replacement man for the experience men, gave a short speech on the work that he is trying to accomplish.

Next came the call to order, at which time Wm. Woods took charge of nominations and elections of officers. The election results are as follows: Arthur Lusk, president; Hewey Tweedy, first vice president; J. R. Hart, second vice president; Virgil Seymour, secretary and treasurer; Allan Miller, chaplain; Wm. Woods, sergeant at arms.

Also two new officers were added to the Campus Veterans' staff. Ted Phelps was elected publicity director and John Russell was elected recreation officer.

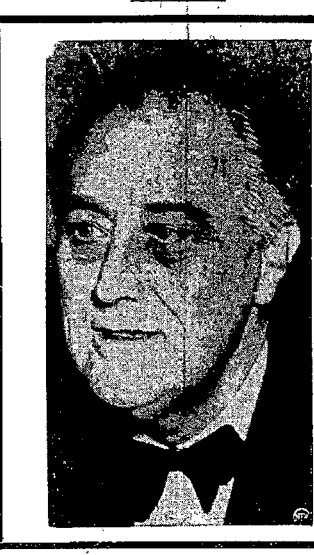

After the election, the new president took over his duties and promised to prove worthy of his position.

As a final talk for the evening, Mr. John Wright, co-sponsor of the organization, and an unexpected guest for the evening, extended his intentions that he would help in the organization to the utmost of his ability.

With a final prayer by the newly appointed chaplain, Allan Miller, the meeting was adjourned.

Legislators On Campus For Special Assembly

William Robinson, August Greb, W. B. Westbrooke, and Paul Powell, members present and explained their reason for being on the campus. Every two years this committee checks on the campus in order to find out the needs of the colleges. After they have made out a list of the appropriations, it is then submitted with a report to Springfield.

The death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt occurred yesterday afternoon at 1:35, and the world over men could only maintain a stunned silence of disbelief.

The president's death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage, according to the announcement made by Secretary Stephen B. Early late yesterday afternoon. He had been at Warm Springs resting since March 29.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had served as president of the United States since March 4, 1933, a period of 12 years, 1 month, and 3 days. His administration had been under constant attack from opposing forces, because of his attempted reform policies and changes, his liberal views, and his moves toward international relations.

Despite his assuring message to Congress that he was feeling well, since his trip to Yalta, he went to Hyde Park twice for long weekend rests after his return, going to Georgia two weeks ago for a more extended rest period.

In his announcement of the death of the President, Secretary Early stated that they expected to leave Warm Springs Friday morning by train for Washington. Funeral services are to be held Saturday afternoon in the East Room of the White House, and interment will be at Hyde Park Sunday afternoon.

The tragic news was flashed throughout the world, reaching Britain almost before midnight. German and Japanese news agencies blared forth the information.

President Roosevelt was expected to have been the main figure in the San Francisco Conference, and to have addressed the opening session on April 25.

Immediately after the announcement, Vice-President Harry S. Truman met with the late President's cabinet at the White House, and later announced that he had asked the cabinet to remain in office. He was sworn in last night as the 32nd president of the United States, succeeding President Roosevelt.

STUDENTS URGED TO DONATE BLOOD TO RED CROSS BANK

In cooperation with the Red Cross blood bank which is to be in Carbondale Tuesday, April 24, the Good-Victory Corps has been registering student donors in the Main Cross-alls since Tuesday. Because all registration blanks must be turned in by the end of the week, those wishing to donate must have registered completely by the end of the school day today.

Registration of such type must have a written consent from their parents before they can make a contribution. Hours for donation must be turned in by the end of the first Methodist church. Transportation to and from the church will be furnished for those indicating desire of such type. Registrar Paul Stuehler is in charge of registration on the campus.

MAJ. GEN. HODGE IN NATIONAL LIME LIGHT

Major General John Reed Hodge was born June 12, 1893, on a farm near Golconda, Illinois. Before he was ten, he was moved with the rest of his family to Carbondale, to live with his mother's sister, Dr. Mary M. Stengall, professor emerita of Zoology at Southern Illinois Normal University.

Hodge began his college education at S.I.N.U. and transferred to the University of Illinois to finish his architectural engineering, but the army had different ideas. In 1917 during his junior year, he was again transferred—to Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

In 1917, he married Lydia Parsons, who was teaching music at S.I.N.U. Shortly thereafter, he went overseas.

General Hodge's ribbons show service in World War I in the battle of St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne. He was also in the army of occupation. After the armistice he did not return to civilian life but remained in the army.

General Hodge's Army Commission rating during peace has most certainly been fully borne out since the beginning of World War II. He is an alert, vigorous commander, and through a very strict discipline, he is well liked by the men with whom he works as well as the officers.

General Hodge is also very active in his campaigns—those to know who is doing what and how it is often found among those in their front lines. Major General Hodge has been active during this war in the Pacific area. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his command of the Twenty-third Army Corps. On Bougainville, he was wounded while commanding the 10th Mountain Division and received the Purple Heart. On New England Island, he captured Burma and set his headquarters on the New England Island as his first campaign on Leyte Island; he led this same corps again in the Okinawa invasion.

In addition to the above mentioned medals and citations, General Hodge also wears the Legion of Merit ribbon and the Silver Star. The decorations were earned actual combat.

Dr. J. T. Landis and P. H. Landis Revise Text Book

Social Living, a high school sociology text, long known to Dr. J. T. Landis, acting head of the Sociology Department, S.I.N.U., and his brother, Paul Henry Landis, Dean of Graduate Studies at Washington State College, has been revised as of 1945. Social Living was the original publication in 1934, is published by H. C. Brown and the present revision is the second since 1938.

The changes in the present book occur in the chapter on "World Peace" and the statistics, pictures, and graphs of the book have also been brought up to date.

The book has a wide circulation throughout the United States, and is also being used in Hawaii by the United States Army. Although it is used in some colleges, it is really a high school text, which is used in approximately 200 schools, 1,000 of which are located in the Mid-western area. Among the states in which Social Living is a state-adopted text are Washington, Illinois, and California.

Particularly outstanding is the use of Social Living within the state of Illinois, where approximately 125,000 copies of the book are sold annually.

"Heart of a City" Promises Excitement At Its Best; McCarty, Woolard, Avis, Mulkins Head Cast

The Little Theatre of Southern Illinois Normal University presents its annual Spring production tonight at 8:00 in the Shryock Auditorium on the college campus. The action carries around the lives of the citizens of a town in the industrial clitoris girls of the Windmill Theatre in London during the dark bits of 1940. The drama is based upon the actual happenings in the real Windmill Theatre in London, which was the only theatre in that great city that kept its doors open to the public when the threat of England was being torn partially leveled to the earth by enemy weapons of destruction. Throughout the terrible experience the girls carry on with the calm determination and courage so typical of the English people.

The production will be a Red Cross benefit performance and all proceeds will be turned over to the national organization to be used to help needy people the world over.

"Heart of a City" is a tale of faith, hope, and courage. It is a picture of the very existence, yet it has time for life's little comedies. Laughing moments, snarked by the excellent performance of Neva Woodard, Helen Schweigman, and Maxine Williams, and Joan Darnley.

Costumes and Make-up—Virginia J. Baralotti, chairman; Margaret Davis, Little comedies; Laughing moments, snarked by the excellent performance of Neva Woodard, Helen Schweigman, and Maxine Williams, and Joan Darnley.

Properties—Lillian Goddard, chairman; Velma Bush, Joan Harper, Evelyn Meyer, June Ornduff, Amy Rudolph, Helen Schweigman, and Maxine Williams, and Joan Darnley.

Business Staff—Nora Fay Philey, chairman; Helen Schweigman, Pat Neely, Dorothy Jones, and Amy Rudolph.

The cast includes the following: McCarty, Woolard, Avis, Mulkins Head Cast

Zino Francescatti To Appear In Shryock Auditorium April 16

A number of great violinists of today can be counted on the fingers of one hand. One of the first-ranking among these is Zino Francescatti, who in four seasons before the American public has established himself as a brilliant and dominating figure in the musical world. This famous musician will make his initial appearance in this part of the state when he appears in Shryock Auditorium Monday evening, April 16, at 8:00 o'clock.

Zino Francescatti, the most celebrated of contemporary French violinists, was born in Marsailles August 9, 1905, to a family of musical renown. His father was a pupil of Sivori, the only direct pupil of Paganini, from whom the fabulous virtuoso composed considerable music.

At the age of three, young Fran was treated by many of the greatest masters of his day as being making his first public appearance, when during the summer of the age of five. When he was nine months he gained recognition by playing for the wounded soldiers in the hospitals of Versailles.

Francescatti proceeded onward in the path of his career, when he started to law school to keep in line with the family tradition. When he was 16, he was summoned to his home, because of the sudden death of his father. Due to lack of funds, he was unable to continue his law studies.

FINIS They crowded the door. Laughing, talking, impatiently waiting: the newboys. The presses roiled. The United Press wire was open. Sandwiches were brought in. Coffee. The EXTRA read: PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DEAD.

He was relaxed with complete leisure at Warm Springs, Georgia. An artist was sketching him. In a matter of minutes it was over. The 31st president of the United States had become immortal.

"In the hour of Victory America loses her President", the headlines scream. The electrifying news spreads. The world is shocked. "Tell me it can't be true", said a thin female voice. And then she said "Dear God" and hung up.

BRETTON WOODS AN ECONOMIC BASIS FOR WORLD PEACE

The most important economic proposal for building a durable peace is that outlined at BRETTON WOODS. This blue print now being discussed in Congress would serve to augment Dumbarton Oaks, which lays down the political structure of world government.

The United Nations Monetary and Financial Conference, held at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, for three weeks in July, 1944, was attended by representatives of 44 nations. The conference met on the invitation of the United States and was the outgrowth of a series of informal bilateral discussions, beginning almost eighteen months before the conference.

WHAT WAS THE PURPOSE OF THIS CONFERENCE? It was designed to draw up a plan which would help solve the economic problems that will face the United Nations when the war is over. With this thought in mind the representatives of 44 nations met at Bretton Woods.

The Fund will be set up to accomplish three ends: 1. Stabilize the value of currencies in terms of each other by requiring every member country to define the value of its currency in terms of gold and to refrain from changing this value without first consulting the fund.

2. Hasten the removal of artificial barriers against the making of payments across boundary lines by requiring member countries to eliminate trade barriers as soon as possible, and not impose new barriers without the approval of the Fund.

3. Provide a supplementary source of foreign exchange to which a member country may apply for temporary assistance. The working capital will be subscribed by the 44 member countries. Its total resources in gold and member currencies will be equal in value to $3.8 billion dollars, the largest single quota.

The immediate establishment of the FUND and the BANK for reconstruction and development will mean that the war and postwar economies, and that the world powers will maintain high levels of productivity. While the Bretton Woods proposals are not THE ANSWER to the economic problems of the world, they are steps toward lasting world peace.

Meyer To Speak At Elcom. Ed. Club Miss Charlotte Meyer, Elementary Supervisor in the Decatur City Schools will be the guest speaker at a dinner sponsored by the Elementary Education Club. The dinner will be held in the Home Economics Suite in the Main Building at 5:30 p. m., Friday, April 13.

WAR BONDS MEAN MORE THAN A GOOD INVESTMENT

STUDENT COUNCIL MINUTES Miss E. S. Pugh To Visit Campus For Youth Movement

The meeting was called to order by the president and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Stanupon, McRee, Doran, and Schroeder were absent. The election committee reported to the Council that the required number of votes to make a majority were not cast for the ratification of the proposed new Council constitution.

The committee to collect clothing for war relief was instructed to have a collection box at the Student Council dance on the night of April 11. Miss Helen Matys asked if the Council would have any objections if the money which the Individual Council is awarding to the organized house with the highest scholastic average were presented on Honor's Day. The Council gave its permission.

Schroeder-Olsen to Be Featured on "Education Time"

The Industrial Education Department of Southern Illinois Normal University will be featured on the "Education Time" broadcast from the S.I.N.U. campus over WJFF, Herin, on Friday, April 13, at 2 o'clock. Mr. J. Henry Schroeder, Superintendent of Phillips County, and Mr. Delmas Olson, Industrial Arts supervisor, will discuss the opportunities found in industrial education here on the campus and the department's plans for the future.

Delta Rho Holds Regular Meeting

Delta Rho, the honorary mathematics fraternity met at the home of Mrs. Maynor on April 10. The program was planned in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Ferdinand Lewis, Phi Kappa Chapter. The story of his life was given by May Mann as an interesting background for his theory of the "Companion of Infinite Classes" which was presented by Helen Blackburn.

Chameleon Russia

Last week a recent flood of news from Russia has always had enemies because of her great potential power but when the Russian people handed the Russian ambassador a note last week, he wasn't without power and friends.

Last week the chameleon had changed colors again. Germany has decided not to stage a campaign against the Alps, so Germany, the ally, turned her tanks and guns toward the eastern front.

Miss Pugh served as secretary, and vice-president of the University Christian Association, was a member of the Metropolitan Student Christian Council, and a member of the New York State Student Christian Movement Council while she was at Bard College. She was a delegate to three years to the S.C.M. conference at Silver Bay, to the Student conference at Hope College, and to the National Assembly of Student Christian Associations at Oxford, Ohio, at Christmas, 1941.

MANN TO HEAD KAPPA DELTA PI

At a meeting of Kappa Delta Pi held Tuesday, April 10, at 4:00 o'clock, Miss Mary Mann was elected president of the Delta Rho Chapter and Miss Helen Matys was elected secretary. The remaining officers of vice-president and treasurer will be elected at a later meeting.

VOICE OF S.I.N.U. SAND COMMENTARY

That democracy and indifference cannot co-exist has been denied by the student body at Southern. The revised student Council Constitution has again failed to pass, with only 289 students voting out of approximately 750.

"THE FIGHT"

The pattern POLITICS and VESTED INTERESTS polluting education seems to be a universal trait in the United States as evidenced by the much-publicized University of Texas upheaval and "situations" in other states.

Enlightened students have risen to fight these powerful forces—only to lose and come back again. The graphic story of the Texas Situation should serve as stimulus for other students who are battling for academic freedom.

This is the story of "The Fight" made by Texas students as told by Malcolm E. Wallace, President of the Students' Association, University of Texas, in an article entitled, HANDS OFF, POLITICS! (condensed from THE INTERCOLLEGIAN, March, 1946).

ROUND ONE: STUDENTS ON TO The students entered the fight in 1945 when the school paper, THE DAILY TEXAN, second editorially a gubernatorial candidate for replacing his editorial in order to win votes. Shortly after, the howl of "Pacifists," "Rad," "Atheists" went up in the legislature.

ROUND TWO: THREE "UNHIRE" The next engagement was in the summer of 1945 when three college students, Dr. Arthur L. Brandon, Public Relations chairman for two minutes to explain the Fair Labor Standards Act. The chairmen refused. The meeting was adjourned.

ROUND THREE: THE UNDERCURS In 1943 the Legislature took offense at a Texas editorial about religion in Old Russia and the threat of censorship lay on the students, but for some reason never happened. They, however, continued their purge activities.

ROUND FOUR: HISTORIC CAMPUS RAPPLE On the surface everything was serene. Then on October 12, 1944, Dr. Rainey published his 16 charges against the Board. On November 3, 1944, Dr. Rainey was discharged by the Board of Regents.

TRAINING FOR ROUND FIVE Since many have wondered if the students had abandoned the fight, it is time to re-examine the objectives of education. The situation was attained, and the second phase? Spreading facts on the fight and extending it into the political year of 1946.

VOICE OF S.I.N.U. FENCE FACE

The fence face—symbolism from olden times to retain old designs on grounds—has a new purpose now. From leading the institutional atmosphere it has retrogressed to become a medium for the display of school colors.

OPERATOR!

Since the move is to improve the school our campus, I feel we should also improve some of the physical needs of the school. There is not a single shop in the Old Science building. This situation does not exist in the other buildings.

ABANDONED?

What has happened to the library? What has happened to the library? Thus far I have seen no publicity about the annual concert.

NEW SETTING

The artistic value of the portrait lost from the first floor of the auditorium and cannot be fully appreciated unless viewed from the balcony. The present setting shows a lack of respectability for the art as well as the work of a great man.

WINCHELL'S PRESS PAPER

Famous Journalist to Be Here For Clarion Trial on April 22; Will Have No Classes That Day

By PAUL J. CAUD NEW YORK, March 15.—Walter Winchell announced today that he would bring a $300,000 suit against the Clarion newspaper of Harrisburg, Pa.

Winchell was the editor of the Clarion in 1942. He was arrested on February 20, 1942, and held in a cell at the Federal House of Correction in Philadelphia.

Winchell's story is so well known that it is not necessary to say that he is a famous journalist.
