FIFTEEN CHOSEN TO BE PRESENT 'WHO'S WHO'

Occupants Selected For Chautauqua Project: To Be Ready For Vets In January

"You have been assigned an apartment in the new housing unit" was the good news that went this week to 99 married veterans at Southern Illinois Normal University.

The housing committee, composed of several faculty members, student veterans organizations, has examined the credentials of 115 applicants for the apartments, and has ranked the applicants in order of their need.

Only two of the applicants were ineligible on the basis of need, according to Van A. Buboltz, project supervisor, and Mrs. Mabel Pulliam, housing counselor.

The remaining 14 applicants have been placed on the waiting list, and will be moved in order as vacancies open. Hereafter, applicants who meet eligibility requirements will be placed on the waiting list in order of their applications, Buboltz said.

Latest notice to University officials from Robert West, Federal Public Housing Authority supervisor on the project, is that 45 of the apartments will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks, but not before January 2.

The first 46 veterans and their families are therefore expecting to move in early in the New Year.

The apartments are two-bedroom units, each with a living room, kitchen, bath, and three closets. Each will be furnished with ice box, gas stove, four single beds, mattresses, mattress, dinette set with four chairs, two occasional chairs, mirror, two chests of drawers.

Rental rates for the apartments have been fixed on a sliding scale dependent upon the individual family's income—one-fourth of the monthly family income—along with a ceiling of $40 and a minimum of $20.50 per month.

The housing project here, constructed jointly by the University and the Federal Public Housing Authority, provides a total of 160 apartments. Under the Lanham Act up to five per cent of the apartments in any college housing unit may be used for non-veteran family members.

Names of the veterans to occupy the new apartments will be made available later this week.

Mr. Buboltz said, as soon as all have notified the housing committee they would accept their assignments. If any decide not to accept, the next applicants in line will have the opportunity to move in.

The New York show will include ceramic sculptures as well as paintings and drawings.

More Textbooks Available This Term

"The book situation is much better this term," Carl Froberg, manager of the bookstore at Southern, stated this week. "Of course, we're short of a number of books, and many students will have to borrow them from the library again this term. However, the situation is being relieved by the arrival of more books."

He went on to say that 225 new music appreciation books, 100 accounting books, and a number of other heavily demanded books should be here after Christmas vacation.

Egyptian Urges College Board To Conduct Fair Investigation

For the past few months phrases as "The Situation," "Adversus Nacionam," "What's Going on at Southern Illinois Normal University," and "Friendly Consideration," has become quite familiar to students on this campus and persons throughout the state.

These terms aren't new to Southern's campus, however. Most of us have heard them before. Two years ago this month another situation existed on this campus—quite a different situation but one which aroused a number of rumors, complaints, comments, and charges. The presidential situation in 1944 was the result of the States Teachers College Board's delay in electing a permanent president after the death of Rosemary Pulliam. An influx of statements, comments, and telegrams from citizens in Southern Illinois poured into the EGYPTIAN office at that time. Some students participated outright in criticizing the Board for its delayed action. All students were concerned over the rumors, and complaints which they heard or read in their home town papers.

The so-called "situation" today developed after various groups printed direct charges against Dr. Chester F. Lay and the administration. At the request of the Alumni Association, the Teachers College Board consented that an investigation be made concerning the present unfavorable publicity about Southern. Furthermore, the State Teachers College Board has invited "all persons interested in the welfare" of Southern to submit "pertinent information" to the secretary of the Board and set December 31 as the deadline for submission of any such evidence, with January 20 as the date for the investigation.

Students of Southern are once again seriously concerned over the rumors, complaints and charges made against the University and her administration. And we should be. We believe that the students, faculty, and the area in general have a stake in the future of Southern Illinois Normal University. If the young people of Southern Illinois are to receive liberal arts, teacher, or vocational training, most of them will have to get it from Southern since it is the only four-year institution of higher learning in this region. Therefore, we believe that we have the most legitimate reason to be concerned over the "situation."

The Egyptian which is the voice of the student body of Southern, has first a responsibility to the 2,559 students enrolled here. Speaking in behalf of them, the Egyptian editors are urging the Board to conduct a fair investigation when it convenes here January 20. The growth and reputation of the University is at stake, and it is the duty of the Board to conduct a free, unbiased, and impartial investigation before making any decision.

Local interest in the Society For the Preservation of the Mile or More has been mounting steadily since last week's Egyptian appeared. A new area for research was discovered in the vicinity of the estate known as "Mr. Marberry's farm," which is located southwest of Carbondale. In a statement in Carters early Tuesday morning, Mr. Marberry disclosed excitedly that he had found "mile, or more" tracks and had heard a weird cry which could have been made by no other creature. Upon further questioning, he described the tracks as being long, with a double fork on the end. In reply to a query as to whether the MOM whose tracks he had observed was walking forward or backward he answered, "Both. It was pacing back and forth without turning around, if you know what I mean." The cry, Marberry went on, resembles the sound produced by a braying donkey and a hysterical laughing hyena in close harmony. He then launched into a long technical discussion of genus and so on, which unfortunately went over the heads of most of his listeners. He concluded that in his opinion the MOM was definitely a nocturnal bird, and that all efforts to capture a specimen should be made after the hours of darkness have set in.

Bill Wilkinson happened by, waving a piece of paper about his head. "Special from Whitfield," he observed happily, his little face all aglow. We all gathered around and Bill generously let us read the post script, which said, "When hunting the MOM, remember, the deeper the head in the mud, the shriller the cry." Indeed, a valuable clue.

Lloyd Evislizer is going to make every effort to isolate the MOM in the Centralia region during the holidays. In a statement he admitted that "I've had more experience hunting the MOM than I care to admit. I can come through Jeff (his father and I are going to find a MOM if we have to look behind every bar in Centralia."

Bob Pulliam, in his own explosive fashion, declared that in all publicity to date, the real truth about the MOM was as yet undisclosed. The important thing about the MOM," he announced Pulliam, "is that it is really a very immoral bird." He then tipped his hat and proceeded on down the street, leaving every one in doubt as to his meaning.

We've all heard the story of the man who, while coon hunting, climbed a tree and edged his way out on a big limb in hot pursuit of a big fat coon, and who then sawed the limb off behind himself. Of course, he hit the ground just as hard as the coon did, and perhaps a little harder. His mistake was his failure to recognize that both he and his quarry were in "the same boat."

That story contains a moral for all of us here at Southern, for faculty members as well as for student body. Some of us have been busy all fall criticizing every aspect of the University and its administration, the housing shortage, the lack of books, the crowded classrooms. And in doing so, we've been sawing a limb off behind ourselves, since our best interests and those of the University are identical. If we continue to criticize the present administration in the rather underhanded manner we've been employing, it's very likely some of us will experience a considerably harder fall than did our coon hunting friend.

Last week a murmur of indignation could be heard running through our halls and classrooms and across the campus. A number of us were very sure that only one-third of the student body was going to be admitted to each basketball game. We knew, because we had seen the three stacks of differently colored activity tickets registration day. Some of us even went so far as to declare that President Lay was using that plan just to "get even" with us for turning a cold shoulder toward the activity fee increase which was proposed earlier in the fall. Persons who hadn't seen a basketball game in years talked as if they thought one of the Four Freedoms had been taken from them. And then we learned the facts. We learned that no one had ever intended barring any of us from basketball games. Administrative officials have stated that no tickets will be placed on sale until all students who wish to attend the games have seats. University students will be given first consideration.

There's a moral for us in that incident, too. Life around here will be a lot happier if we can discard those chips we've been carrying around on our shoulders and with them the attitude of being sure someone is constantly trying to put something over on us.

Vets Commission Promises Speedy Terminal Pay

All enlisted personnel of the armed forces who have not applied for their terminal leave pay were urged today to make application without further delay.

The call came from the Illinois Veterans Commission which reported that only approximately 60 per cent of those eligible for terminal leave pay had made application. The deadline for making application for this pay is Sept. 1, 1947.

Speedy payment now can be expected, the Commission said, since the first big wave of applications have been cleared. The Army and Navy now have a big staff set up to handle terminal leave payments.

Any veteran who wants assistance in making application for his terminal leave may secure the aid of Service Officer D. W. Entenpinner at 1010 1/2 Walnut Street, Marphyboro, Ill.

ACCUSTOMED AS WE ARE (Sponsored by the Press Club, the Hop will give recognition to students displaying library fines at Wheeler, we extend our deepest sympathy to students at the Chicago Teachers College. Fine for overdue books at Southern take a sizeable chunk from our finances; we shudder in horror upon thinking of what their 50 cent fine per book per day overdue would do to us. Effective, we'll admit, but we agree with the school paper, there that the fine is unproportionally drastic.

WE'RE CHUCKLING at that new definition of a wolf we saw the other day in Technical News. Quoting from the column "Slipstick" — again — "Wolf: a modern dry cleaner, works fast and leaves no ring."

STUDENTS AT EVANSVILLE College, Indiana, definitely have an idea there. The B.M.O.C.'s are to be honored by a dance called the "Headliners' Hop" next month.

Debate Team Meets Cape Girardeau

Three debate teams, composed of Lewis Hammack and John Rendleman, Lewis Brussett and Edna Rudesill, and Bob Eaton and Bill Kozzyk, attended a debate session held at Southeastern Missouri State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, Thursday. Each team participated in one debate in the afternoon and one in the evening.

Subject for the Cape Girardeau tournament was: "Resolved, That labor should have a direct share in management of industry."

The next debate will be held at Old Normal, January 10 and 11. There will be meets in debate, group discussion, and oratory at that time.

Question Box for Vets

This column is published each week in the Egyptian as part of a program to answer pertinent questions which concern veterans enrolled in Southern.

What happens to my V. A. records if I leave S.I.N.U.?

If you submit a change of address form, the records are sent to the regional office having jurisdiction in the area to which you have moved. (Langdon.)

I understand that the rent for veteran's quarters on Chautauqua Street is placed at one-fourth of the family income. If my wife and I together earn to report money he earns that we will have to pay $16 per month rent plus utilities?

Maroons - Indiana State Tilt Tonight At 8:15; Evansville Here Jan. 7

By FENTON HARRIS

Hoping to hit a winning stride, the Maroons will play host to Indiana, State Teachers College next Saturday evening. Following the Indiana Teachers game the Maroons will board the train for Kansas City where they will compete in the holiday tournament which will take place December 27-28. Following the holiday tournament, Evansville College of Indiana will come to Southern to play a game on January 7.

So far the Maroons have a record of three wins and three losses. They have established this record while engaging some very powerful teams which has been purposely scheduled by the athletic department in order to open out any difficulties that may develop early in the season.

The Indiana State Sycamores will come to Southern seeking revenge as they were eliminated from the National Intercollegiate tournament by Southern last year. They also will come fortified with what appears to be a powerful team. So far this year they have won three and lost two. They lost to Fort Sheridan and Purdue and defeated Oakland City College, St. Xavier U., and St. Joseph of Indiana.

Southern begins competition in the Kansas City Tourney against the Colorado Aggies, Friday, December 27. Preceding the Southern game, Bockhurst College will play St. Mary's of California. The winners of these two games will play each other the following day.

Southern will be playing under pressure during this tournament as a result of the victory in the National Intercollegiate tournament which was also played in Kansas City last year.

At this time the Evansville Capers possess a record of four wins and one loss. They were beaten by Cape Girardeau in the first game of the season but recovered to defeat Indiana Central; Georgetown of Kentucky; and Eastern of Charleston.

Chemistry Frat Reorganizes After Four Year Lapse

Chemeka, honorary chemistry fraternity, was reactivated after four years at a meeting held on Monday evening at the home of Dr. J. W. Neekers, chairman of the chemistry department.

Members present at the meeting were Wayne Childers, David Karraker, Francis Paule, Robert Fowler, and Robert Sauerbrunn. Also present at the meeting were faculty members Dr. T. W. Abbott, Dr. J. W. Neekers, Dr. R. A. Scott, and Dr. K. A. Van Lente, all professors of chemistry.

The following officers were elected for the present term: president, Glenn Terry; vice president, David Karraker; secretary, Wayne Childers; and sergeant at arms, Robert Fowler.

Scholastic requirements for eligibility in the fraternity are completion of or enrollment in the sixth term of chemistry, a 4.0 average in chemistry, and a 3.5 general average.

Illness Confines Bowyer To Home

Miss Emma Bowyer, chairman of the English department, is recovering from an illness for which she has been confined since the first part of December.

According to members of the English department, Miss Bowyer will be back to her work when school reconvenes after the holiday vacation.

LOYOLA DROPS SOUTHERN 52-47

By John Rendleman

Suffering defeat for the third time in the current season, Coach Lynn Holder's Southern cage squad was dealt a 52-47 loss Saturday by Loyola University of New Orleans, La., on the winner's home grounds.

The New Orleans five led them most of the game, but at no time in the contest led a secure lead over the Maroons. At the midway mark Loyola was on the heavy end of a 25-21 score, but half-way in the second period the local five tied the score up 46-46.

However, they were unable to cultivate this threat to Loyola and the game ended with the final count 52-47.

Quentin Stinson, hold-over star of last season, returned to the lineup Saturday, but was still limping slightly from his injured leg.

Trombador of Loyola captured individual scoring honors with 21 markers, while Bob Colburn, guard, finished with 11 points. Oliver Shoaff of Mt. Carmel and Leodio Cabutti of Johnston City trailed Colburn with 10 each.

INTRA-MURAL

By LEWIS WATERS

During the past week the play in the intra-mural basketball leagues has been moving at a very fast pace. Students who have not had a chance to see any of the games should go to at their first opportunity. The games start at 6:30 p. m. and are played in the gym of Old Science and also in the men's gymnasium. You will see both good and bad plays and players, but you can be sure that the fellows are giving it the "old college try."

It is amazing to see the speed which is displayed in these games, both in passing and dribbling with the ball. The schedule for the coming year has not been completed as yet, but when it is completed it will be posted on the bulletin board at the entrance to the main gymnasium.

The 28 teams are divided into two leagues, the National and American. In the National League the Army Angels are leading the way with two victories and no defeats. Over in the American League the Whiggs have lost two games and have yet to win a victory. Play in the two leagues will be resumed immediately after the holiday vacation.

Six Students Present Christmas Program

Six University students entertained the Women's Guild of the Episcopal church with a Christmas program last Tuesday evening. The group consisting of Evelyn Burgo, Jean Burkman, Joan Eubanks, Thelma McCarty, Gladys Ruth Taylor, and Mary Lou Walker presented a series of choral selections and solo numbers. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Julia Keedy, Associate professor of English.

..Sport Shots..

By BOB McDOWELL

Since basketball season has started, this column has more or less berated the athletic department because of the showing of the team. Therefore, we think it is no more than fair to go the other way when the team shows such improvement as it did in the Arkansas State affair.

We have watched the Maroons perform in every contest except the Loyola game, and, to put it frankly, they looked very bad. However, with Wednesday night's game in the books, it begins to look as if Southern fans are to be treated to more of the type of basketball they expect.

True, the team was hot, and also true is the fact that they missed shots frequently that seemed to be set-ups, but the thing that hit us was the fact that even when they missed they looked good, and what is more important, THEY WERE REALLY TRYING.

Perhaps, although we hope not, they were just having a "night" and will make a poor showing against the tournament teams in Kansas City, but if they put forth as much effort as they did against Arkansas State, win or lose, they will leave with the fans a good reputation.

We have received a plea from the bowlers of Southern for assistance in the form of more men to staff the team. Come on, you bowlers! Ned Davis, Southern's leggers need you. If anyone desires more information about the team, call 878L for Bill Welch.

This may seem like a carry-over from football season, but I hope Band Director Hines and his contingent will continue to keep up the good work at Southern's athletic contests. For most of the year in the wool fans, a good, hot thriller is all that is expected at a cage contest. However, the audience is made up of people who are there not only to see a basketball game, but also to see a bit of college life. A basketball game can be changed into a very lively contest for Mr. Average Fan with band music and other activities during the halftime. So, Mr. Hines, parade your wares for us. I am sure that everyone is waiting expectantly.

ON THE PREP FRONT . . . Tonight's schedule finds Pinckneyville at Carbonada; Commercial, Sparta at DuQuoin, Murphysboro at Elkhart, Anna-Joesboro at Chester, Metropolis at Eldorado, Zeigler at Carterville, Seaser at Carterville, Seaser at Harst-Bush, Centralia at Mt. Vernon, Tilden Tech, Chicago at Marion, and O'Fallon at Freeburg. In the press polls, Champaign is the current leading team of the state.

OF THIS AND THAT . . . A different story could be read on the face of John B. Harris, formerly a student of Southern and a member of the EGYPTIAN staff.

CAGERS TOP INDIANS 72-31

By JOHN S. RENDLEMAN

With John Sebastian and Oliver Shoaff displaying some of the trickiest ball handling and sharp shooting exhibited on Southern's hardwood in several seasons, the Maroon and White scored a decisive 72-31 win over the Arkansas State Indians last Wednesday night.

Sebastian and Shoaff as forwards, Quentin Stinson in the center slot, with John Ruzich and Bob Colburn filling the guard spots, took up the initial chores for Southern. Stinson was the acting captain. Sebastian and Shoaff were Coach Lynn Holder's big scoring guns, with 19 and 16 points, respectively. Stinson, in the pivot slot, rebounded and fed the sphere with the accuracy of an oil master, while Ruzich seemed to be everywhere at the same time, rebounding and tying up the ball "with that old college try."

Southern was slow to get started in the initial period, when the local quints were unable to connect with the hoop. The Indians counted first, and it wasn't until Stinson lallied two free throws that Southern was able to take the lead, 7-6.

With their height as an all important factor, the Arkansas five held a 12-9 lead midway in the first period. From this point on, however, the Maroons dominated the play. As the first half ended, Shoaff dropped one in from the center of the floor to give the Holdersmen a 26-18 lead.

46 Points for Southern. In the second half Southern accounted for 46 markers while holding their Arkansas opponents to 13. Shoaff counted three straight times to give the local hoopers a 32-17 lead. The trio of Sebastian-Shoaff-Cabutti gave the local fans and the giant Arkansas five an exhibition of deceptive ball handling at this point. With the score 43-24 the game experienced a dead-lock, and it wasn't until Gene Hall dropped one through the hoop that Southern again found itself.

While their teammates held the rivals scoreless, Sebastian and Stinson alternated scoring until Holder replaced the entire team with the score 56-24. This five proved effective too, and Bud Wilson, reserve center, tallied three in less than a minute. The contest ended as Ruzich found the hoop to make the final score—Southern: 72, Arkansas State: 31.
