Roots Trip Up Four SIU Tree Thieves

Two patrolmen on the campus police force became tree sleuths and solved the case of the missing Christmas tree. Four students involved in cutting a 12-foot Juniper tree from the lawn of a private home on the Giant City Road just prior to the Christmas vacation this week discussed the matter with officials in the Office of Student Affairs. The students were ordered to get bids on such a tree from several nurseries and to assume the full cost of replacing the tree. They are also going to apologize to the owner, authorities said. Possible disciplinary action is pending satisfactory replacement of the tree.

Thomas Leffler, SIU security officer, said Patrolmen Lowell McGee and Luther Deniston are credited with solving the case.

With a description of the long-gone evergreen as a clue, officers McGee and Deniston decided to get to the root of the problem. They dug up the tree root and went searching for a tree which matched the cuttings.

After some effort, the officers spotted a likely-looking tree in front of a student rooming house. The tree and the root matched and a few questions later, four students were invited to discuss the origin of their Yuletide decoration with campus officials.

President Morris Raps Dupree Suspension

Murphy Bus Given Subsidy

A 65 per cent subsidy for the operation cost of the Murphysboro student bus was necessary during the fall quarter, according to Bill Fenwick, student body president.

Fenwick said it is expected that bad weather will cause the use of the bus to increase at least 20 per cent during the winter quarter.

Receipts for the period between Sept. 21 and Nov. 21 totaled $708. Operating expenses for the period were $2,030. A one-way fare on the bus is 20 cents.

The bus service is subsidized from a fund of $2,000 provided by Murphysboro merchants and $2,000 provided by the Student Council from activity fees.

The Murphysboro bus will definitely continue operations through the spring quarter because it was set up at the start of the school year to operate for a year on trial basis.

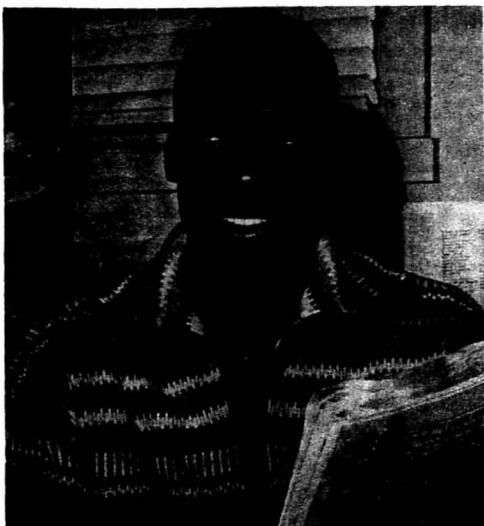

There are some reported cases where the bus service is receiving competition from private cars, Fenwick said.

Fenwick said he doesn't believe that the individuals understand the problems they might run into by charging fees. It is possible that their car insurance might be dropped or their rates increased if they are carrying paying passengers, he said.

Spring Advisement Set

Appointments for spring quarter advisement will be given out today, Wednesday and Thursday in the Olympic Room of the University Center.

Hours are from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Appointments will be given on a first come, first served basis.

Another SIU First:

"College Gang" At Menard Devotes Full Time To Studies

SIU's first full-time college program for prison inmates is "a success to date," according to Thomas Cassidy, who originated the idea in cooperation with SIU's Extension Division and Menard Prison.

Under the program 28 inmates, known as the "college gang" to fellow inmates, devote full time to attending classes and studying.

They attend class under SIU faculty members: Carl Schweinfurth, who teaches European History 101; David Frier, who teaches American Government 101; and Cassidy, who teaches English 101.

Dean Raymond H. Hey of the University Extension Division says, "Menard Prison authorities suggested college offerings for inmates in 1956."

The first course was taught that fall and numerous inmates have attended college since then. At least eight have gone to college after their release and one has even completed his graduate work for a Master's degree.

Cassidy, who first taught at Menard in 1959, suggested the full time college program which was started last September. He helped select the "college gang" from a list of 45 eligible inmates.

According to Cassidy, "the 28 inmates tackle their studies in an industrious and hard-working manner." No discipline problems have occurred even though the 28 are serving sentences ranging from murder to car theft.

Cassidy has had only one chance to compare the "cap-students with SIU students and during that quarter the inmates were superior to the particular SIU class he was teaching. This was true despite the fact most inmates had no previous college training.

Weather Knocks WSIU-FM Off The Air Three Days

Weather has been blamed for WSIU-FM's interrupted broadcasting schedule since early last Thursday.

American games," Dupree added.

Dupree was suspended officially Friday by the AAU for competing in a track meet in Knoxville, Tenn., last Oct. 28 which was sanctioned by the new U.S. Track and Field Federation but not by the AAU.

The AAU and the Track and Field Federation are at odds over the control of amateur track meets.

President Morris issued his statement Sunday. It reads:

"We question the right of the AAU to suspend and declare ineligible for international competition student representatives of educational institutions in the United States.

"James Dupree, a student in good standing, has been suspended by the AAU not because he violated any known amateur rule but because, along with eligible student representatives from other colleges and universities, he competed in a track meet in Knoxville, Tenn., on Oct. 28.

"The suspension would appear to be an arbitrary and wholly unfair action taken against a young American sportsman who has worked for years to become America's No. 1 half-miler."

Saturday, Chick Werner, executive director of the U.S. Track and Field Federation, called the AAU action dictatorial.

Austin Peay Trips Up Salukis, 85-71

It took the smallest man on the floor, 5-8 Jackie Winders of Austin Peay, to run Southern ragged--85-71--at Clarksville, Tenn., last night.

Southern, who now has lost two games in a row, stands at 6-4 for the season while the Governors post a 4-3 slate.

Winders who poured through 15 points for the victors was not the high scorer but he guided his club to the 14-point victory. The Governors led by as much as 22 points in the game but the Salukis pecked away at the lead in the waning moments of play.

It was another guard, Doug Stamper, who also showed signs of brilliance for the Governors, who led all scorers with 21 points. Steve Miller, 6-5 forward, contributed to the win with 18 points.

Paul Henry, the 6-0 transfer from Coffeyville continued to score at a consistent pace to lead all SIU scorers with 20 points. Harold Hood, who started out hot with 10 points in the first few minutes of play, took runner-up honors for the Salukis in the scoring department with 13 tallies.

But it wasn't tall scoring that led to the victory for Austin

Peay. The Governors' big men, Jim DeForest and Sheldon Sled, seemed to handcuff Lou Williams and co-captain Ed Spila. Williams and Spila scored just 4 and 3 points respectively. This was Spila's first appearance in a starting roll since he injured an ankle before the Oklahoma game.

The remainder of the scoring for Southern was distributed evenly with Ed Bigham and Rod Linder adding 9 points, Dave Henson 8, and Joe Ramsey 5. Frank Lentfer and Thurman Brooks failed to break into the scoring column.

Austin Peay will officially become a member of the Ohio Valley Conference next year. The OVC includes such schools as Murray State and Western Kentucky who Southern will play Jan. 14 and Feb. 19.

The Governors are now members of the Pioneer Conference.

Southern's next game is at Carbondale Community Gym Saturday night against strong Kentucky Wesleyan at 8 p.m. Southern's freshmen take on the Kentucky Wesleyan freshmen in a 6 p.m. preliminary.

Council Welcomes '63 With Committee Renewal

The Student Council began the new year with a move to revitalize committees Thursday night.

Three of the seven committees lack chairmen, according to Ted Hutton, Council chairman.

Hutton asked members of the non-functioning committees to meet with him and choose chairmen. The committees are: rules and coordination, campus service and development, and finance.

Last quarter, Junior Class President Gerry Howe headed the three committees.

Hutton also reminded the Council that several bills were still awaiting action. The bills include a proposed bus to

Unregistered Cars To Be Ticketed

The deadline for the removal of unregistered cars was reached last weekend, according to Joseph Zaleski, assistant dean of Student Affairs.

Dean Zaleski said all automobiles not registered for campus use have been ticketed since Monday.

Southern Hills, insurance for graduate students, a put-and-take library, sports and student welfare, and a proposed change in election procedures.

Petitions were approved for 51 Dorm, an off-campus housing unit, and the Printing Management Club.

The Council also recommended to the SIU administration that the Homecoming date be Oct. 19, when SIU plays North Michigan; and Parents Day be held on Nov. 9, when SIU meets North Dakota State.

Southern Hills Senator George Graham introduced the first bill of the year. The bill, referred to the student rights committee, concerns the case of Clyde Kennard, Mississippi Negro.

Kennard is serving a seven-year sentence which, Graham quoted from an article in New Republic, resulted from his attempts to enroll at an all-white Mississippi university.

The bill would have Student President Bill Fenwick write letters to Kennard and local, state and national figures, including President Kennedy.

RUSSELL PEITHMAN
Museum Curator Resigns Post

Russell Peithman, curator of exhibits for the SIU Museum, has resigned to accept a position as director of the Children's Nature Museum at Charlotte, N.C., effective Feb. 1.

Peithman has been connected with the SIU Museum since 1944, when he obtained a part-time job while a high school student. He graduated from Southern in 1956 and has been on the Museum staff ever since. He obtained his master's degree in anthropology in 1961.

The Charlotte museum is operated primarily as an educational adjunct to assist in the teaching program of the area.

Tournament Competition To Draw Fans Jan. 14

Tournament Week for 1963 will be held at SIU Jan. 14-27.

The annual campus tournaments in bridge, bowling, billiards, table tennis, chess, pinocle and checkers attracted about 500 students last year. One campus winner, Ann Strawn, went on to regional competition.

A new incentive to billiards players will be offered this year with the announcement that the best from this campus will have a chance to compete in an international tournament to be held in Albuquerque, N. M., May 2, 3 and 4. The best five from the Region 6 campuses, (Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin), will be invited to make this expense paid trip.

Co-chairmen of the Tournament Week event, Carol Feirich and Al Kramer, have made a complete announcement of the details governing the tournament. Both men and women are urged to participate, they said, and the events are open to both graduate and undergraduate students.

A grade point average of 3.0 is required and completion of an entry form before 5 p.m. January 10, is also required.

The blanks and details are now available at the Office of Student Activities and in the Olympic Room.

Bowling as well as billiards, offers a chance to go on to international competition by way of regional tournaments. Top scorers of five different Region 6 schools will meet at the International Bowling Tournament in Buffalo, N.Y., April 7-8.

Through cooperation with the Association of College Unions, regional tournaments have been scheduled in bowling, billiards and table tennis. Winning SIU players will be invited to participate in each of these three regional face-to-face tournaments February 1 to 16. The site has not yet been selected.

The top five men and top five women bowlers, the best man and woman billiards player and the best in doubles and single in table tennis will be eligible to participate in the Regional play. All off-campus tournaments will be on expense-paid basis.

SIU distinguished herself last year in table tennis by winning first in singles and first in doubles, making the highest team score.

Pairings will be on display in the Olympic Room of the University Center by 5 p.m. Jan. 11, Kramer said.

Deposit Deadline For Flight To Europe Extended To Feb. 5

Deadline for making the initial deposit on the SIU sponsored charter flight to Europe next summer has been extended to Feb. 5, according to a spokesman for Raymond H. Dey, director of Summer Session.

The flight, departing for London from St. Louis on June 17 and returning Aug. 26, is open to all students, faculty, staff members and their immediate families.

Three credit courses will be offered to students who go with the group. Carl Schweinfurth, instructor in the History Department, has recently been signed to teach Government 458 which will be worth eight quarter hours credit.

History 311 and 322 will be taught simultaneously by L. R. Shelby, lecturer, and worth seven quarter hours credit. A third course, German 211-212-213 will be taught by Hellmut Hartwig, professor of foreign languages, for nine hours credit. Courses will last for six weeks.

Once in London, those in the tour may travel freely by themselves or in groups.

A round trip seat on the plane, a Capital Airways supplemental carrier, will cost $344. Initial deposit is $100.

The plane will carry 113 passengers. Mrs. Anne Hendrick, coordinator for the flight, said the fare can be reduced as much as $35 to $40 each if the flight is completely sold out.

Southern Hills Council Elects Douglas Davis Mayor For '63

Douglas Davis was elected Southern Hills Council Mayor at the December meeting of the Council. Daniel Worden was elected vice-mayor and parliamentarian and Judi McCorkendale chosen as secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the executive council of Southern Hills were Mrs. James Hess, Mrs. Charles Van Valkenburg, Edmund Foster and Jack Thomas. The Council voted to hold future meetings at 9:30 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month in the Councilroom of Building 128.

The proposed Southern Hills constitution, as modified by the constitution committee, was presented at the meeting. Discussion on the proposal was held and further modifications made.

Sigma Tau Gamma Sends Delegates To Convention

Robert D. Kopitke and Ronald H. Ewert represented their chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity during a Grand Chapter convention held Dec. 27-29 at Kent State University, Kent, Ohio.

Stan Musial, outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, was initiated as an honorary member. Francis (Butch) LaRoue, star lineman at Western Michigan University, received the first annual Stan Musial Sportsmanship Award at this convention.

The corrected final draft is to be presented to the Council at the January meeting.

A question was raised concerning play areas for children and C. W. Thomas of the Housing Office explained that nine children's play areas are being planned for Southern Hills. The project is now on the drawing board, he said.

SCALE MODEL OF FULLER CONCEPT IN MORRIS LIBRARY

Fuller Design Models Acquired By Library

Scale models of 153 "mathematical principles" designed as structural concepts by R. Buckminster Fuller, research professor of design, have been acquired by Morris Library.

The models--of wood, steel, wire, paper or plastic--range from toy-size simple units of Fuller's unique geometric figures to 30-inch double-layered spheres composed of open triangles illustrating his theory of "tensegrity," a word built from tension and integrity.

All of the models are the work of one man, Charles B. Ryan, associate professor of fine arts at the University of Oregon, and have been constructed with delicate skill of the highest order, according to Fuller.

The geodesic dome, developed to provide a structure of any magnitude without impeding vertical supports, he created by forming a framework composed of interlocking geometric "space lattices" or cells.

The dome concept has been used in more than 2,000 structures built throughout the world, the best known being those used by the United States to house its display at the 1959 American National Exhibition in Moscow; the Arctic "radomes" along the U.S.-Canadian DEW Line; the world's largest stadium now under construction in Tokyo, Japan; the Ford Rotunda Building in Dearborn, which was recently destroyed by fire; and Climatron in St. Louis; and the Union Tank Car Company dome at Wood River; the last a structure with 384-foot clear-span diameter.

Lost anything, like a white, polka dot, or striped umbrella? A pair of bowling shoes, maybe, a note book, a class ring or baton?

The Office of Student Activities has a vast assortment of items being held for the owners.

Ed Salowitz, graduate assistant in the office said, "anything lost by man, we've probably got it."

Most of the personal property lost in the University Center is turned in to the information desk where it is held for a day or two.

If owners do not claim items there, the sweaters, scarves, wallets, cotton balls, watches and what have you, are taken to the Activities Office. From the main floor office, items go eventually, to a store room in the basement of the Center.

Here is a vast treasure trove of learning in the form of student notebooks, all neatly stored. Here also is a box of umbrellas and miscellany, including a white rimmed pair of prescription sun glasses.

Some items picked up elsewhere on the campus are also brought to the office of Student Activities. Many other items

Study Area Youth:

Profs Develop Center For Delinquency Control

Eight SIU professors are working together to develop a Delinquency Control and Prevention Training Center in the East St. Louis area.

They are working with guidance counselors of area schools and are developing courses to aid in guiding problem children.

The SIU Center for the Study of Delinquency, Crime and Corrections is operating the Training Center, according to Myrl E. Alexander, director of the Center. The project is being conducted on the Edwardsville campus near East St. Louis.

This site was selected because it is close to St. Louis, which has a high juvenile delinquency rate.

Next summer the courses being developed will be offered as part of a four-week institute on guidance for problem children.

The faculty members are working with the counselors in an effort to build the teachers' awareness and responsibility for recognizing potential juvenile delinquents.

Goal of the project is to work toward determining who these young people are, and how to guide them away from becoming criminals of the future.

To do this, schools have become the focal point for the study. Alexander pointed out that the Center does not wish to imply that these schools are responsible for delinquency, or that they are a nesting place for such people, but that schools are the one place where all young people are assembled together.

The research project is being made possible because of a federal grant made to the University under the National Delinquency Control Act of 1961. Southern is one of eight universities in the United States undertaking such a task.

At a later date, the Center will work on another project in close cooperation with many organizations and firms of the St. Louis area. This project will focus on community demonstration projects in delinquency control.

Alexander expressed enthusiasm over the number of students who have stopped by the Center requesting information on the work of the Center with regard to its current project.

Anyone interested in the project should send inquiries to the Center for the Study of Delinquency, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. Persons desiring information could also stop at the office at 615 W. Mill, Carbondale.

The Soap Box

Pass The Tea

The Student Council is presently reorganizing its committees. Two committees were dropped last quarter, and a number of committees are electing new chairmen this quarter.

The flop of the Student Council's committees has already been mentioned this year. There has been a consistent pattern of evading responsibility, putting social activities ahead of committee work, and in general, lack of concern for serious work.

Consequently, any steps toward committee reorganization would look good, even if they involved only minor changes. Any changes would be for the better. However, there is little cause for optimism after the first Student Council meeting held last Thursday. The session was very characteristic of past meetings in its dull, sewing-circle-like atmosphere. It was different only in the lack of the usual emotional personality conflicts.

The committees still are not convinced that the success of Student Government depends to a large degree on their work. Many have asked why the committees refuse to do anything. Surely the council members do not conceive of a committee assignment as an honorary appointment;

Possibly some sort of stimulation or attraction could be introduced into the committee system to bring action, such as awarding pins for attendance or serving refreshments.

A new quarter has begun, a certain amount of committee reorganization has taken place, but there is no indication that Southern's Student Council is about to emerge from the trees.

Bus On The Rocks

Beginning in September, a bus between Murphysboro and Carbondale was set up, backed by Student Activity funds and the Murphysboro Chamber of Commerce.

The idea behind the Murphysboro bus was to alleviate two major problems: shortage of housing in Carbondale and the shortage of parking spaces for commuters. However, to date, few students have taken advantage of the bus, so that the operation has been subsidized to the tune of 65 per cent of operating costs.

Should this situation continue through the rest of the year, it is conceivable that the service would be discontinued. In spite of the fact that Murphysboro is interested in the bus service, they could hardly be expected to continue financial support of the bus if it did not succeed.

If the bus were to be continued next year, promotion and financial support of the bus would then have to come from somewhere else. One possibility is that the university would assume a certain amount of the support of the bus, providing that the service is consistent with university policy. However, the success of the bus would have to be assured, and one method that can be suggested would be to stop issuing commuter stickers to Murphysboro students. Aside from the unfairness to the students involved, the absence of stickers would require a bus system coordinated with student's classes and work periods, library hours and the various activities. An increase in the cost of the service would probably result.

It would seem to be to everyone's advantage that the Murphysboro bus arrive at a sound financial basis through adequate student use. The shortage of parking spaces for commuter students is an acute problem. If it doesn't seem to be solving the problem, other methods are sure to be tried, such as withholding or limiting the number of stickers given to students living in Murphysboro.

Southern's Future In Athletics

(First In A Series)

No. 1 On The Threshold

Athletically, as well as academically, SIU stands on the threshold of a bright and glorious future, despite the not-too-good 4-6 record of the football Salukis this fall.

Having parted company with the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, which it dominated for a number of years, Southern has completed its first football season as an independent. Because of SIU's domination of the IAC, both the school and the conference are doubtless better off. Southern's enrollment on the Carbondale campus alone surpasses by more than 3,000 the enrollment of the next largest conference member.

While the record of the football team this season is far from impressive, it must be remembered that this was the first season outside of the IAC. Most of the losses were by quite close scores.

Besides winning title upon title in the so-called major sports of football and basketball during the past several years, Southern has determinedly developed excellence in swimming, track and gymnastics of which all may be proud. If records alone justify the existence of a program--and it is our firm conviction that they do not--Southern's wins in those individual sports over Big Ten and Big Eight conference powers certainly would lend justification.

Prior to leaving the IAC and since that time, Southern has carried on negotiations to enter the Missouri Valley Conference. In fact, it was reported last spring that SIU's acceptance into the Missouri Valley Conference was imminent, although this development has not yet materialized.

Perhaps now is a good time to re-evaluate the entire athletic program. Does any program belong? If so--and let us hasten to add that we think one does--what should be its objectives? Would the objectives best be accomplished in or out of a conference? The answers to these questions will determine whether Southern's athletic future is indeed on the threshold of a new dawn or teetering on the brink of oblivion.

NEXT: The case for a sound athletic program.

Student Believes University Should Operate Food Service

Editor:

Approximately four months ago the university officials felt that it would be wise to relinquish university control of the cafeteria in favor of a private catering service. This writer feels that this change in administrative policy was unwise in that it constitutes a grave injustice to the students of Southern. I feel that the student's interest could best be served if the university resumed control of the cafeteria.

As each student knows a portion of his fees are designated as student union building funds and this fund is being used to retire the debt on our center. It is the opinion of this writer that the facilities of the center should be used to provide the best and most inexpensive services that a student of Southern can purchase in all of Carbondale. This is why the officials of Southern, the guardians of our investment, are being called upon to reconsider their choice of policy.

How right is it that the students of Southern should be called upon to finance a building in which a private concern is allowed to make profits at their expense? How much wiser would it be to allow these same profits to go into the university rather than some rich man's pocket? These same profits could be used to reduce the debt on the center, reduce the high cost of food or even be a source from which funds for an athletic or scholastic scholarships could be drawn.

Another objectionable point is the relationship between student workers and the Slater Catering Service. The availability of cheap student labor allows the Slater Company another opportunity to swell their profits. They have already manipulated the student's working hours so that there has been an increase in the work load per student. Also, many shifts are undermanned and work piles up. Because work schedules are never exact, the student's study time is often cut short because of "extra duty."

These are some of the reasons why it is felt that the Slater Catering Service is not for Southern and why a university controlled cafeteria would be most desirable; one which gives first priority to student, service, and their welfare and not to profits nor self-interest.

They Suddenly Woke Up

Once upon a time, there was a little town called Carbondale, a sleepy little town, deep in Illinois.

Carbondale was no different from any other small town except that it had a big school where people from miles around would come to learn about the moon and the stars, sporting games and other people.

The leaders and people of this quiet little community were proud of the fact that their town had not changed for many years. You see, the people of Carbondale were contented and were strongly opposed to changes or improvements.

Carbondale, although its leaders did not want to believe it, had many problems. The biggest of these problems was the town's long and serious illness. Doctors from all over the region said the town was seriously suffering from such ailments as clogged arteries, congestion and apathy.

The doctors said the illness occurs each year when school is in session. They said the large number of vehicles in Carbondale during the school year tended to clog the town's arteries, causing them to become slow and sluggish.

The doctors said Carbon-dale's old arteries and veins were unable to handle such large numbers of vehicles.

The town was also plagued with the problem of the lack of places to park the vehicles. The places the town did have were few and far apart.

After a period of time, the clogged arteries and lack of parking places caused many persons to become unhappy, and this unhappiness increased because so little was done for the patient.

The keepers of the school were a little more sympathetic and attempted to help by building more parking places. However, the lots were too few in number and many were located so far away from the school that people had to walk great distances to reach their classrooms.

Gradually, the problem grew more serious.

Then one day the town leaders suddenly woke up and discovered that their peaceful, sleepy, little town really was sick. They suddenly realized that they would have to find a cure to clear the town's clogged arteries and relieve its congestion.

Since this is only a fairy tale, everything is going to come out all right.

SIU Swimmers Set 2 Records But They Won't Be Counted

SIU swimmers turned in times bettering the listed American records in the 200-yard freestyle and medley relays Saturday at the Big Ten relays.

The times will not be approved as records because of a rule technicality. The meet was governed by Big Ten rules which permit swimmers not "to touch" the wall on each turn. The NCAA and AAU records, however, must be set with "touch" rules applying.

Southern won the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:28.8 and the 200-yard medley relay with 1:31.1 clocking.

Ray Padovan, Darrell Green, Jack Schiltz, Ted Petras and John Fischbeck swam on the Salukis record-breaking relays.

Padovan, Schiltz, Green and Fischbeck combined talents to win the 200-yard freestyle relay. The winning time of 1:28.8 broke the meet record of 1:30.9 set by Michigan State in 1962.

Times for each individual for 50 yards were Padovan 21.2 seconds, Green 21.6, Schiltz 22.3 and Fischbeck 23.6.

In the 200-yard medley event Ted Petras replaced Fischbeck on the quartet. The medley relay consists of one man swimming each event. Breaststroke, butterfly, freestyle and backstroke are included in the medley.

Petras swam the breaststroke in 27.5 seconds, Schiltz the butterfly in 23.5, Green the backstroke in 26.2 and Padovan the freestyle in 20.9.

Southern's winning time of 1:31.1 also set a new meet record breaking the old mark of 1:39.8 set by Indiana in 1961.

SIU finished fourth in the meet with 47.5 points. Indiana won the meet as expected with 94 points. Michigan finished second with 68 and Michigan State third with 59.5.

Indiana took seven firsts in the 11 events while SIU and Michigan State split the other blue ribbons.

New meet records were set in all the events.

O'Quinn First In Pan Am Gymnastics Tryouts

Gar O'Quinn, Bill Meade's assistant gymnastic coach, finished first in the all-around event in the Pan-American AAU tryouts during the Christmas holidays.

The all-around event includes free exercise, still rings, parallel bars, high bar and side horse.

O'Quinn was a member of the U.S. Olympic gymnastic team in 1960 and appears assured of a berth for the April Pan-American games in Brazil.

Fred Orlofsky, who also competed in the 1960 Olympics, placed third in the all-around in the first Pan-American tryouts and will be trying to hold the position in the second workout scheduled for April 15.

Rusty Mitchell placed second in tumbling behind the University of Illinois gymnast, Hal Holmes. Mitchell still has a chance to make the squad too.

All three SIU athletes were members of the East squad which was coached by Bill Meade.

The Pan-American games in Sao Paulo, Brazil are scheduled for the last week of May.

DENNIS HARMON

Harmon Signs Pro Contract With Bears

Dennis Harmon signed a professional contract with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League. Harmon said he was well pleased with the Bears contract which included a bonus for signing.

He was the eighth round draft choice of the Bears in the professional draft of college players.

He played in the Senior Bowl game for the North squad at Mobile (Ala.). He intercepted one pass and knocked down several others from his safety defensive position.

The South won the game 33-27. Each player on the South team received $800 for playing. Players on the losing North squad received $600.

Harmon's pass interception of the game came midway in the fourth quarter and setup the potential tying touchdown for the North.

The North moved the ball from its own seven-yard line to the South one before it ran out of downs without scoring.

In the first quarter, Harmon let Bill Gambrell of the South get behind him for a touchdown.

It was the first time he had played the safety position.

Football Team To Face Five Major Schools

Games with five major-college schools highlight the 1963 SIU football schedule which has been released by Dr. Donald Boydston, SIU athletic director.

Tulsa, Toledo, Louisville, North Texas State and Bowling Green are the major-college opponents which Southern will face next fall.

It will be the first time that Louisville, Tulsa and Toledo have appeared on SIU's football schedule. Other newcomers on the 1963 schedule include North Dakota State and Evansville.

Bowling Green is the only major-college opponents which the Salukis will face in McAndrew Stadium. All the others against major-college opposition will be away from home.

SIU's other home games next fall will be Lincoln University (Oct. 12), Northern Michigan (Oct. 19), Fort Campbell (Oct. 26) and North Dakota State (Nov. 9).

SIU opens its season at Evansville (Sept. 21) and then comes home the following week to play Bowling Green.
