Pilot worried about fog, tape reveals

Preliminary finding due in two weeks

By John Mohler

and UPI

Recordings of conversations between the pilot of an airplane and the Southern Illinois Airport control tower show the pilot inquired about visibility shortly before the plane crashed and killed three students, a federal investigator said Tuesday.

The pilot radioed the tower and asked if the runway lights were on when the plane was about five miles from the airport, Edward J. McAvoy, an investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board, said. The plane crashed in heavy fog Monday a half mile short of runway 118.

"The conditions were very unfavorable to land at Southern Illinois Airport Monday night," McAvoy said.

Heavy fog cut visibility at the airport to only a half mile with a 350-foot ceiling, according to airport officials. The airport closes down when the ceiling drops to 250 feet.

However, an employee in the airport control tower said that while the fog was certainly a factor in the crash, "If a person is properly rated, it should not be a problem ... People fly in fog like this all the time."

The employee asked that his name be withheld.

Killed in the crash were SIUC students Matthew P. Brady, 19, of Kankakee, freshman, pre-major; Damon E. Deuschle, 18, of Bradley, freshman, pre-major; and Darrel L. McClure, 21, of Bourbonnais, a freshman in

Landlords liable for occupancy

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

The City Council passed an ordinance Tuesday that requires Carbondale landlords to prove they do not allow too many unrelated people to occupy houses.

Previously, only tenants were cited for occupancy violations.

Under the ordinance, tenants and landlords can be cited to appear in city court where a fine could be imposed.

The ordinance can be used to enforce occupancy limits in all areas of the city including areas zoned R1, such as the southwest side. These areas are restricted to single family residences, which allow one family plus one unrelated person per residence.

Students living off-campus in R1 zoned areas are in violation of the ordinance if more than two unrelated people live in the same house.

The city presumes people with different last names are unrelated unless the residents prove otherwise.

In a letter to the Council, the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce said it wasn't opposed to the ordinance, but it believes that the city shouldn't consider it a solution to the R1 zoning problems.

The council decided to study whether the city is interested in:

- changing R1 boundaries;
- changing the definition of "family" and;
- using the planning commission or a task force to study the issues.

Ph.D. studies face ax in history department

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The history department is afraid the Illinois Board of Higher Education will recommend the elimination of the department's doctoral program.

But Robert Wallhaus, IBHE deputy director for academic affairs, said it's still too early to panic.

Wallhaus said the program is under a regularly scheduled review.

"No conclusions have been reached collectively by us or by the University on the matter," he said.

However, Stanley Zucker, coordinator of graduate studies, said, "We've had to

Settlement close in cardboard boat regatta suit

By Curtis Winston

A settlement on the Cardboard Boat Regatta lawsuit appears to be getting nearer to the finish-line.

The SIUC Alumni Association and the Crystal Lake Yacht Club reached a verbal agreement at a Dec. 18 meeting with a federal magistrate in Rockford, yacht club attorney John Sandberg said.

"All the agreement needed was to be put down on paper," Sandberg said. "I've done that and we're still waiting for the alumni association to sign it."

Sandberg said parties in the suit will meet in early February to make sure they are in agreement.

According to a Jan. 4 report in the Crystal Lake Northwest Herald, Sandberg said the Alumni Association requested a gag order on the litigants to prevent disclosure of the terms of the agreement.

But Dick Biel, president of the Crystal Lake Chamber of Commerce president, told the Herald the agreement was "completely satisfactory" to members of the yacht club, the chamber of commerce and the Crystal Lake Park District. "Matters are still in negotiation," alumni association executive director Tom Busch said. "I feel we are

Contras, Sandinistas agree to talk

MIAMI (UPI) — Nicaraguan Contra leaders agreed Tuesday to talk directly with the government of President Daniel Ortega in an effort to restore peace to their country, but said they were skeptical of results because what they called Ortega's record of deception.

"Ortega has a long history of lies and deceit," said Alfredo Cesar, one of six members of the Nicaraguan Democratic Resistance board of directors who held a news conference on a series of proposals made by Ortega last weekend.

Only hours earlier, in Managua, Ortega's government arrested five opposition leaders when they returned from Costa Rica.

A Miami communique read by another Contra leader, Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, said the group planned a meeting Thursday with Cardinal Miguel Obando Y Bravo, Nicaragua's Roman Catholic leader, in San Jose, Costa Rica.

"After this meeting, the Nicaraguan Resistance will be willing to attend meetings of the Cease Fire Commission with the presence of Nicaraguans in San Jose," the communique said.

Ortega said Saturday he would lift the nearly 6-year-old state of emergency, hold direct talks with the Contras, and release thousands of political prisoners if the U.S. government takes them.

On Monday, Ortega formally ended the state of emergency, abolished people's tribunals that try Contra supporters and agreed to including Obando y Bravo as a mediator in direct talks with the rebels.

5 opposition officials jailed as Ortega lifts restrictions

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — The government arrested five opposition leaders Tuesday just hours before President Daniel Ortega lifted a 6-year-old state of emergency, opposition leaders said. State security police arrested the five — all members of the Democratic Coordination, an opposition alliance of unions, business groups and political parties — at the Managua airport when they arrived aboard a commercial flight from neighboring Costa Rica.

Election results show Aquino 'magic' failing

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino Tuesday hailed the results of nationwide local elections, despite signs her celebrated "Cory Magic" is beginning to wear thin. The final vote count was delayed by candidate protests, ballot box thefts and isolated violence that brought the official campaign-related death toll to 103, military officials said. Election officials were urged to speed up the counting, which showed administration candidates taking about 60 percent of the vote in Monday's balloting for 16,400 provincial and municipal posts.

Israeli troops block food shipment to refugees

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — The army began court martial proceedings Tuesday against the ringleader of a five-day military uprising that touched off mutinies in five army garrisons. Lt. Col. Supreme Court refuses to hear North appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With indictments expected shortly in the Iran arms-Contrat scandal, the Supreme Court turned down Tuesday a bid by Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North to stymie a yearlong criminal investigation of the affair. The justices, without comment, rejected an appeal lodged by North in his effort to avoid a subpoena to produce handwriting samples for the grand jury directed by special prosecutor Lawrence Walsh.

U.S., Soviets renew research exchange pact

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet academics agreed Tuesday on a new two-year program of cooperative research reflecting Mikhail Gorbachev's interest in adding capitalist elements to his nation's economy. The seventh two-year agreement of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Commission of the Humanities and the Social Sciences emphasizes economics more than any previous pact, said Allen Kassof, executive director of the International Research and Exchanges Board, which represents U.S. colleges and universities in arranging exchanges with the Soviet Union.

Federal grant offered to coal researchers

By Antoinette Hayes
Staff Writer

The Coal Research Center has received a $1.5 million grant from the U.S. Department of Energy for research into the problems of Illinois' high-sulfur coal.

J. Craig Carrell, assistant director of research at SIU-C Coal Research Center, said the purpose of the grant is to help the research center gather information about removing sulfur from the coal more economically. He said this will make the coal burn better and produce less sulfur.

The grant is a cooperative agreement in which the research center and the U.S. Department of Energy jointly select types of research.

"Improving coal in Illinois will be cheaper than buying it from other states," Carrell said. Because the coal has high heating value, about 85 percent of it is used to heat power plants, Carrell said. The more information the center gathers, the greater the chances are for major breakthroughs in increasing the usability of Illinois coal, he added.

The burning of high sulfur coal contributes to the formation of acid rain in the atmosphere. Some environmentalists contend that acid rain damages forests, lakes and streams.

Most of the research at the center is funded by the federal and state governments and private industries. Carrell said the grant was signed Jan. 1 and will guarantee the center another 12 months to work on the project.

Volunteers needed for regional eagle census

By Edward Rahe
Staff Writer

If you think you have an eagle-eye, the Eagle Foundation is looking for you.

Five hundred volunteers will be needed on Jan. 30 to take a census of bald eagles wintering along the upper Mississippi River system from Minnesota to Tennessee.

Terry Ingram, executive director of the Galena-based Eagle Foundation, said volunteers are especially needed to cover the Mississippi River south of St. Louis. The Eagle Foundation is coordinating the count.

"We hope to have all the birds counted between 8 and 11 in the morning," Ingram said. "Since our organization's census is done in one day we are able to get a more accurate count. The eagle is a very mobile bird and with two or three day counts it's easy to count the same bird twice."

Ingram said those wanting to participate needn't be expert bird watchers, just enthusiastic.

During last year's census 900 birds were counted. The data gathered by the census are used by the U.S. Forest Service and the Fish and Wildlife Service, Ingram said.

Eagles start to nest in mid-January, lay eggs in May and hatch from June through August. Ingram said recent trends show more eagles are nesting along the Mississippi River during summer months.

Eagle counts conducted in the winter, however, did not show the significant population increase expected, he explained.

"We are getting reports from organizations that study nesting habits at other times of the year indicating the birds are nesting more, but we're not seeing it in our counts," Ingram said.

Local bird enthusiast Ben Gelman, Public Information Specialist at University Periodicals and author of "Birdwatching with Ben," said a lot of people do not realize how many eagles are in the area.

Currently, 24 bald eagles are wintering at the Crab Orchard National Wildlife reserve, about five miles east of Carbondale. Gelman said as many as 100 eagles may roost at Crab Orchard during the winter nights.

Those interested in volunteering for the census can receive instructions and special count forms by calling the Eagle Foundation at (815) 777-3500.

High court erred in censorship case

THE U.S. SUPREME Court decision upholding a high school principal's censorship of a Hazelwood, Mo., student newspaper in 1983 is a frightening example of disregard for individual rights.

Either the Court didn't think out the potential ramifications of its decision or it doesn't mind that basic American liberties have been placed in jeopardy by this ruling.

Writing for the Court, Justice Byron R. White proclaimed: "Educators do not offend the First Amendment by exercising editorial control over the style and content of student speech in school-sponsored expressive activities so long as their actions are reasonably related to legitimate pedagogical concerns."

IT IS A quantum leap of illbred logic to assume educators — in some cases school administrators who never have studied journalism — suddenly are qualified to act as editors. Does this also mean that professional journalists now are qualified to be high school principals?

The inclusion of the phrase "...and content of student speech in school sponsored expressive activities" is a particularly chilling choice of words. Expressive activities may include anything from art to theatrical productions to oral recitations from passages of Emile Zola.

BY NOT LIMITING the ruling to newspapers only, sensitive topics now may be omitted from a school's entire curriculum at the whim of a narrow-minded principal. Will school administrators who don't know Ezra Pound from Old Ezra whiskey eventually be able to remove "objectionable" poetry from school newspapers?

In explaining how this ruling will apply to future censorship cases, the Court said school administrators need only show their actions were reasonable. How reasonable is it to teach young journalists that articles dealing with controversial subjects should not be written?

HAD THE HAZELWOOD principal exercised his authority because of a question of libel, slander, malice or invasion of privacy, he would have been acting appropriately. But the articles in question, dealing with teen pregnancy and divorced parents, were none of these, and the students interviewed in the articles gave full consent. His actions were prompted by personal reasons, and were not aimed at teaching a solid foundation of ethics to beginning journalists.

Freedom of expression suffers a tragic disservice from this ruling and its potential fallout. One only can hope that not too many students are denied their constitutional rights by short-sighted principals before the Supreme Court reverses this drastic error.

I DON'T CARE IF YOU ARE THE NEXT SHAKESPEARE, YOU CAN'T SNUGGLE BUNNY IN YOUR POEM!

Prepubescent longing for Mickey Mouse watch fulfilled at long last

As a child I was deprived. I never had a Mickey Mouse wristwatch.

It wasn't that my parents didn't want to buy one. But in our neighborhood nobody bought watches from a store.

Everybody got their watches from Stanley's tavern. That's because when somebody needed a few dollars or ran up a bar bill they couldn't pay, they went to Stanley with a watch. So Stanley wound up owning a lot of watches, and when someone needed one they bought from Stanley.

When I graduated from grammar school, instead of a Mickey Mouse I got a big, round railroad watch bearing the engraved inscription: "To Bruno, with love, Sarah."

Fortunately, not having a Mickey Mouse watch didn't bother me. The only time I even thought of it was when someone asked what time it was. Then I'd throw a tantrum and lie on the floor crying and kicking my feet. After a while, none of the other men in the barracks would ask me the time.

The old desire for a Mickey Mouse watch came back last week. While shopping for a watch in the budget basement of a department store, I saw in a corner of the display case, a genuine Mickey Mouse.

I didn't even know they made them anymore. Today's parents, I assumed, bought their children Swiss jobs that tell the time, year, date, and play rock 'n' roll chimes.

When the saleswoman asked, "Can I help you?" I thought, why not?

"Yes, I'd like that one there."

"Oh, the Mickey Mouse. Do you want it gift-wrapped?"

"No. Just wind it and I'll wear it."

She froze with her hand in the case. "You'll wear it?"

Mike Royko

Tribune Media Services

Wearing a Mickey Mouse is more fun for an adult than for a child.

"Yes."

I could tell she expected an explanation, something about a joke. She was waiting for me to say something so she could laugh. But I said nothing and looked dignified. She shrugged, I paid her, strapped it on, and left.

The strap was the only flaw. It was wide, red, plastic. That's OK for a kid, but a grown man shouldn't have that on his Mickey Mouse watch.

I went to a jeweler and asked the short, round man if he had cheap bands.

"Sure. I wear them myself. Give me your watch and I'll put it on."

I slipped the Mickey off the red band and handed it to him.

He stood for several seconds just staring at it in the palm of his hand. Finally he looked up and said, slowly and firmly:

"This is a Mickey Mouse watch."

"Yes, it is."

"You wear it?"

"Of course."

He looked stern and suspicious. "I never seen a man wear a Mickey Mouse watch before."

"Oh, I wear them all the time. Never wear anything but a Mickey Mouse."

He stared at the watch some more. Then he shook his head and repeated: "I never seen a man wear a Mickey Mouse watch before."

It appeared he wouldn't put a band on or return it unless he got an explanation, so I said:

"I never had one when I was a boy."

He brightened. "Oh, in that case, you're entitled." And he cheerfully sold me a black band.

That is the way it has been for several days. Wearing a Mickey Mouse is more fun for an adult than for a child.

There was the bartender who blinked and asked the standard question: "Is that a Mickey Mouse watch?"

"Of course not. Who ever heard of a grown man wearing a Mickey Mouse watch?"

He nodded. Then he looked closer and said: "What ya givin' me? That IS a Mickey Mouse watch." He called out to his wife in back: "Hey c'mere. He's got on a Mickey Mouse watch."

She smiled, a bit confused, and said: "Well, isn't that wonderful?"

And the bank cashier who said: "You really wear that? All the time?"

"Sure. A man's got a right to wear a Mickey Mouse on his wrist, hasn't he?"

"Sure, sure," he said. As I walked away, he added: "Atta boy, Atta boy."

This proves it is never too late.

Now, if I can just find a pair of "high tops" — those great boots with the little pocket on the side for a little knife. BOY!

SIU-C students killed in crash, friends, family are in mourning

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

Friends and family mourned the loss of three SIU-C students who were killed in Monday's plane crash at Southern Illinois Airport.

The crash claimed the lives of Matthew P. Brady, 19, a sophomore pre-major; Damon E. Deuschle, 18, a freshman pre-major; and Darrel L. "Buck" McClure, 21, a freshman in aviation maintenance and technology.

Brady, from Kankakee, pledged Alpha Tau Omega fraternity last semester and became an active member just before Christmas break. Brady was an accomplished athlete who earned numerous awards on the Bishop McNamara High School track team in Kankakee. He also was a pole vaulter on the University's track team.

Dan Nadler, advisor at the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, said of Brady, "he was a good-hearted person who participated on campus and cared about others."

Visitation for Brady will be held from 5 to 9 p.m. Thursday at the Clancy Funeral Home in Kankakee. The funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Mary's Immaculate Conception Church in Kankakee.

Deuschle entered the University as an Illinois State Scholar from Bradley Bourbonnais High School. He lived at 1217 Schneider Hall. Deuschle wrestled in high school, where he earned four letters. He had aspirations toward a career in business law, said Jeff Fathoff, a friend of Deuschle. Deuschle had lived with the Fathoff family.

Funeral services for Deuschle will be held at the Clancy Funeral Home in Kankakee at an undetermined date.

McClure, who piloted the plane, was pledging Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and membership will be granted in his honor this Sunday.

McClure's wake will be held from 3 to 8 p.m. Thursday at the Scheffer-Sexton Home in Bradley. The funeral will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at St. Joseph's Church in Bradley.

The Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Beta Sigma fraternities are arranging a joint memorial service for McClure and Brady. The date and location has yet to be determined.

Water and sewer hike possible

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Carbondale residents likely will pay more for water and sewer after May 1.

The City Council held a public hearing Tuesday, in which no residents participated, to discuss a combined water and sewer increase of 8.9 percent.

The increase, which was recommended in a 1987 report from a Missouri consulting firm, would raise combined water and sewer fees from $3.34 to $3.64 for every 1,000 gallons used.

The increase is necessary in order for the city to fulfill its contractual obligation with water facilities, Bill Dixon, city manager, said.

The Council will discuss the proposed increase at its Feb. 2 meeting and will most likely approve the increase at its Feb. 16 meeting.

The 8.9 percent increase would go into effect on bills issued after May 1.

The current water rate for every 1,000 gallons used is $1.40 for water and $1.94 for sewer. Customers pay a minimum of $4.20 a month for 3,000 gallons of water.

The firm recommended the city increase its water rate 15.7 percent and its sewer fees by 4.1 percent. Under the increases, water rates would be $1.62 and sewer rates would be $2.02 for every 1,000 gallons used.

Under the proposal, Carbondale residents' water bills would increase and the University's water bill would decrease.

The firm, Black & Veatch of Kansas City, advised the city to cut the University's water bill from $1.40 to $1.38 for every 1,000 gallons, a decrease of 1.4 percent.

The University's water rate would be lower because the University has its own distribution system. The city delivers the water to the campus' two meters, and the University's system distributes the water.

However, the University's sewer rates would increase from $1.94 to $2.02 for every 1,000 gallons used.

Zucker said the IBHE has been asking for reports for the last three years. "We cannot, as far as we can tell, change their opinion about the program," he said.

The IBHE is concerned that too few people are enrolled in the program to make it cost-effective and that the program is duplicated at other state universities, Zucker said.

criticisms the department has received because the IBHE hasn't made any conclusions about their validity. However, he said he has informed the history department of some of the criticisms.

Zucker argued that although SIU-C's program is smaller than the history programs at the University of Illinois or Northern Illinois University, the program is not small when compared to similar programs nationwide.

Autopsies were conducted on Tuesday and the bodies have been released to the victims' families. Jackson County Coroner Don Ragsdale said dental records and other means were used to identify the badly burned bodies.

McAvoy, who arrived Tuesday afternoon from the NTSB's Chicago office, is heading the investigation of the crash. He said he hopes to finish the on-site investigation today. A representative from the Federal Aviation Administration's Springfield office also is investigating the crash.

A preliminary finding may be made public within two weeks, according to an NTSB spokeswoman. A final report will be completed in six to nine months, she said.

According to friends, McClure was to pilot the plane to Southern Illinois Airport, west of Carbondale, as the students returned to school after Christmas break. McClure has had a private pilot's license for over three years, as well as commercial instrument and multi-engine licenses, according to his fraternity brother, Dan Bawinkel of Alpha Tau Omega.

Willard Rusk of Rusk Aviation at the Greater Kankakee Airport said the plane left Kankakee around 4:30 p.m. Monday. Rusk said the four-seat plane was owned by the McClure Construction Co., which is owned by Darrel "Buck" McClure, the pilot's father.

"He (the younger) McClure had quite a bit of flying time —

I don't know exactly how many hours — and was instrument-rated," said Rusk. "He was very well thought of as a pilot."

The plane crashed into an embankment of the Big Muddy River bottoms about 400 yards from the farm of Hugh McGowen of Murphysboro. Jackson County Sheriff William Kilquist said all the victims were found in the wreckage of the plane, which clipped some trees before crashing.

A section of the plane's tail was torn off and most of the rest of the craft was melted by fire, authorities said.

According to McGowen's employee, Jack Etherton, a DeSoto fire truck is taking investigators over the muddy terrain to and from the crash site.

Hunter class has new date

The Jackson County Cooperative Extension Service has changed the dates for its Illinois Department of Conservation Hunter Safety school to Feb. 3 and 6.

The school will meet on Wednesday, February 3 from 6 to 9 p.m., and on Saturday, Feb. 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Bower Park in Ava, on the Ava Blacktop. Students must attend both sessions. There will be a registration fee of $1.00 payable at the first class.

This school will provide certification required for young Illinois hunters to purchase a hunting license.

Adults and youth are welcome to attend. For further information, call the Jackson County Extension Service at 887-1727. Pre-registration is required.

State awards training fund

George Management, Inc., a new data communications company in Carbondale, has been awarded a $3,100 grant through John A. Logan College to help offset training costs. The funds will come from the Division of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education of the Illinois State Board of Education.

The grant was obtained by Logan College under the High Impact Training Services program, which was established by the Illinois State Board of Education.

Soviets give U.S. couple asylum

MOSCOW (UPI) — An American couple who visited the Soviet Union last year as tourists have chosen to remain in the country, been granted political asylum and promised a job, a Soviet spokesman said Tuesday.

Theodore Branch, 43, and his wife, Cheryl, 40, Pennsylvania natives who had also lived in Florida, arrived in Moscow as tourists in December and decided to make a permanent home in the country, Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov said.

Gerasimov described the Branches as "mass media experts" and said the couple was impressed by the emphasis on "law and order" in the Soviet Union and guarantees of equality in the Soviet Constitution.

He said the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, the government's highest legislative body, granted the couple's petition for permission to remain in the country.

"They will now be provided with an apartment and jobs," Gerasimov said.

Theodore Branch's father and mother — Clarence, 78, and Lavera, 73, of Summit Township, Pa. — said the couple went on a tour of the Soviet Union late last year — when they decided to ask about defecting at a Soviet government agency.

"He said to his wife, 'Why don't we just talk to the Russians for fun and see if we can get in there,'" Branch's mother said.

"He was trying so hard to get work here because we're not rich — we're living on the Social Security and he didn't want to stay here ... I was hoping that he would get a steady job that would support them before he left this country.

"He said, 'Mom, I don't want to leave this country, but they're the only ones that offered me a job and I'm going to try it out.'"

Branch's father said, "I tried to talk them out of it. I think it's the stupidest thing they've ever done. In the United States you have freedom. You can go wherever you want. You can go to Canada if you want. But you can't do that in the Soviet Union. I don't understand why they would want to give up their freedom to go there."

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Moscow said he had no information on the couple.

Pastor testifies in PTL inquiry

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — A former missionary who loaned the PTL $10,000 to silence Jessica Hahn about her involvement with Jim Bakker testified Tuesday before a federal grand jury investigating the ministry and said he wants the whole truth told about the scandal.

However, after testifying three hours, the Rev. Sam Johnson refused to discuss the PTL loan with reporters.

"That's confidential between me and the grand jury," Johnson said after completing his second round of testimony before the 23-member panel, which has met off and on since last summer.

Johnson was named pastor of PTL's Heritage Village Church by the Rev. Jerry Falwell, who took over the television ministry after Bakker resigned over his one-time relationship with Hahn in 1980.

"My greatest concern is for the truth and that the truth be told," said Johnson. "I am very concerned with rebuilding the wall (at PTL) and about Sam Johnson, his wife, and his family. That is why I stepped forward to help the grand jury. I'm glad to be a help, and I think I have been a help."

As an Assemblies of God missionary in Switzerland, Johnson loaned Bakker aide Richard Dortch $10,000 to buy the silence of "a kook" threatening the ministry. He claims he knew nothing about Hahn at the time and only began suspecting where the money went after reports became public that up to $363,000 was paid to silence her.

Johnson declined to speculate whether criminal charges will ultimately be filed in the PTL scandal.

'Empire' echoes Capra's common-man theme

By Richard Nunez
Entertainment Editor

Film Review

Steven Spielberg is fast becoming the Frank Capra of the 1980s.

Capra, who directed such classics as "It's a Wonderful Life," "Meet John Doe" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," continually exploited the theme of the common man.

Through such characters as the famous George Bailey of "It's a Wonderful Life," Capra celebrated the ups and downs in the life of a common man, usually ending triumphantly as the main character arrived at some wonderful understanding of the human experience.

Spielberg's "Empire of the Sun," as well as his previous movie "The Color Purple," echo the common-man theme, but he does not handle it as well as Capra.

"Empire of the Sun" takes place in China in 1941 and follows the lives of a wealthy British couple and their son Jim, who live luxuriously among the poor and downtrodden people of Shanghai, China.

As World War II breaks out and the Japanese invade Shanghai, Jim is separated from his parents and taken prisoner. The movie follows Jim's evolution from a spoiled brat to a resourceful packrat intent on survival to a young man who, after witnessing a number of deaths in a Japanese internment camp, arrives at a wonderful understanding of the human experience.

There are plenty of emotional scenes and some are very moving, but Spielberg seems to over-manipulate most of them by trying to push the audience to the brink of tears.

One example occurs during the waning days of the war, when Jim salutes and sings to kamikaze pilots who are about to depart on a desperate, last mission from the air base next to the internment camp.

At first, the song seems as if it is part of the background music. However when it is discovered that Jim is singing the song, the scene immediately becomes ludicrous. He sings it too loudly and too perfectly to be believable.

Though the scene is filmed beautifully, Spielberg takes it too far and expects too much of the audience.

Much of the movie is beautifully filmed. Many of the movie's scenes are breathtaking and at times even staggering.

One example is a scene, shot mainly from rooftop level, of the Chinese stampeding from Shanghai as Japanese troops and machinery swarm in on them. Another scene features American bombers sweeping across the screen as they bomb the internment camp where Jim is held prisoner.

There are many other magnificent scenes, but even with all these epic moments, Spielberg cannot seem to find a direction in which to take the story.

Many issues are explored, including the exploitation of a country, the downfall of a nation and the atomic bombing of Hiroshima. However none of these conflicts are resolved, except for Jim's separation from his parents.

It can be argued that these conflicts cannot be resolved since the story is seen through the eyes of Jim, who could not realistically understand such giant issues at the age of 12. However that would relegate the movie to the status of the animated film "An American Tail," which was produced by Spielberg and is about a young mouse who is separated from his parents as they emigrate to America.

The comparisons between "Empire of the Sun" and "An American Tail" are not coincidental. "Empire of the Sun" is basically a comic book story told in an epic, but syrupy style.

Critics seem to have been blinded by the beautiful cinematography and to have forgotten the movie has no real point or resolution.

"Empire of the Sun" has been nominated for Best Picture by The National Board of Review, whose nominations are considered harbingers of Academy Awards. The movie may deserve a nomination for its beautiful cinematography, but there are many other movies more deserving of the Best Picture nomination.

'Good Morning, Vietnam' makes a kill

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Comic Robin Williams could claim his first movie hit last week when his "Good Morning, Vietnam" topped "Three Men and a Baby" as the No. 1 box-office attraction in the nation's theaters.

The comedy-drama, based on the real adventures of an American disc jockey in Vietnam, was exhibited in 785 theaters after opening on only 156 screens four weeks ago to qualify for Academy Award consideration.

In its fourth week, "Good Morning, Vietnam" grossed an eye-popping $11.7 million for an outstanding per-screen average of $14,972. So far it has collected $12.8 million.

"Three Men and a Baby," the runner-up last week and the new year's first major film hit, grossed $7.9 million to continue its box-office rampage as the Walt Disney Studio's biggest financial hit.

Both the No. 1 and No. 2 pictures were Disney products, giving that studio a record high for the company in gross profits for a single week. Including "Cinderella's" $575,508 gross, Disney reported a total gross of $20.3 million.

Playing in 1,813 theaters, "Three Men and a Baby," the Tom Selleck-Ted Danson-Steve Guttenberg comedy, has amassed $105.1 million in eight weeks. It dropped only two percent from the previous week and managed a $4,396 per-screen take.

"Moonstruck," another film that played only a limited run to qualify for the Oscars, went wide last week in 635 theaters to jump from 19th in the rankings to No. 3.

Starring Cher in a warm, humorous story of an emotional Italian-American family, "Moonstruck" grossed $5 million in its fifth week for a total of $6.4 million. It's per-screen average was a healthy $7,963. It jumped 205 percent last week, thanks to screening in an additional 627 theaters.

No. 4 was teenage sensation Molly Ringwald's new movie about high school heartaches, "For Keeps." It opened in 922 situations and grossed $4.7 million.

Another newcomer was "Return of the Living Dead Part II," which opened in the No. 5 spot by picking up $3.6 million in 1,467 theaters.

One of the biggest plunges of the week was taken by "Broadcast News," which dropped 18 percent and tumbled from No. 2 to No. 6 even with the addition of 67 theaters. It grossed $3.5 million to register $27.4 million in 5 weeks.

Overall, it was a profitable week for Hollywood and the country's theater operators. The total gross at all theaters last week was a hefty $77.3 million compared with $63 million last year and $64.9 million in 1986.

The top 10, last week's gross, total gross, weeks in release:

1. "Good Morning, Vietnam," $11.7 million, $12.8 million, 4 weeks.
2. "Three Men and a Baby," $7.9 million, $105.1 million, 8 weeks.
3. "Moonstruck," $5 million, $6.4 million, 5 weeks.
4. "For Keeps," $4.7 million, 1 week.
5. "Return of the Living Dead Part II," $3.6 million, 1 week.
6. "Broadcast News," $3.5 million, $27.4 million, 5 weeks.
7. "The Couch Trip," $3.3 million, 1 week.
8. "Raw," $2.7 million, $43.2 million, 5 weeks.
9. "Throw Momma From the Train," $2.6 million, $45.5 million, 6 weeks.
10. "Wall Street," $2 million, $29.7 million, 6 weeks.

Survey finds men fail to clean up

NEW YORK (UPI) —

If left to their own devices, most husbands would be wearing dirty socks, a poll released Tuesday by Working Mother magazine said.

In the nationwide survey of 2,811 working mothers, 27 percent said their husbands "never even throw a dirty sock into the washing machine," and a majority depend on their wives for household chores, the magazine said.

The survey, to appear in the magazine's February issue, found 77 percent of working mothers prepare dinner alone; 64 percent clean up dinner alone; and 59 percent set the table.

Fight leads to Japanese altering film

TOKYO (UPI) — Scenes of Japanese soldiers committing atrocities in China will be cut from director Bernardo Bertolucci's epic film "The Last Emperor" when it is shown in Japan, the film's distributors said Tuesday.

The scenes depict the "Rape of Nanking," during which China estimates the Imperial Japanese Army killed 430,000 people when it entered the former Chinese capital in 1937.

The three-hour epic tells the story of K'ang-Te, last emperor of the Ch'ing Dynasty before the Chinese Revolution in 1911. It has been greeted with acclaim in the United States and nominated for five Golden Globe Awards.

Beijing's charges of atrocities committed by Japanese soldiers are still debated in Japan. Recent revisions of textbooks by Japanese publishers and education officials cleared Japan of any responsibility in starting World War II and glossed over atrocities by Japanese troops in China.

Ancient cracks in earth's crust cause local quakes, scientist says

By Steven Starke
Staff Writer

Preliminary results of a geological study underway since an earthquake rocked the Midwest last June have led geophysicist John L. Sexton to movements occurring in the Earth 600 million years ago.

Sexton, associate professor of geophysics, believes the cracking of ancient Precambrian rocks deep in the Earth are responsible for the 1812 New Madrid earthquake as well as many of the other earthquakes that occur in this area.

"The news is that until a few years ago we didn't know anything about this ancient faulting occurring in our area," he said. "It's possible that the Lawrenceville quake was associated with the deep rift."

The effects of that quake, which registered 5.0 on the Richter scale and sent shock waves across 15 other states and Canada, were felt several weeks ago when aftershocks shook the area.

Sexton's findings, coupled with those of research teams from universities and survey agencies that have studied the fault zone over the past 10 years, support the theory that an ancient geological structure, the New Madrid Rift Complex, now underlies Southern Illinois, western Kentucky, southern Indiana, and the New Madrid area in southern Missouri.

It was in this same region where the strongest recorded series of earthquakes in the history of the country took place during the winter of 1811-12.

The method by which the hypothesis was arrived at is known as reflection seismology. Geophysicists set up a series of vibrations in the machines, and record the earth, through explosions or echoes from layers of sediment and rock below. The technique is similar to sonar and radar, in which sound and electromagnetic waves are bounced off target objects to find their shape and distance.

Combining the reflection and velocity data, geophysicists can determine the depths of various rock formations, locate faults in the layers, and get clues about movement in layers of rocks.

Based on his findings, Sexton believes the fault still has the potential for movement that can cause major quakes in the future for the New Madrid Fault area.

The fault area extends from Marked Tree, Ark., to Caruthersville, Mo., and from Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., more than 100 miles north along the Mississippi to St. Louis, and along the Wabash and Ohio valleys.

Sexton and the other researchers hope to learn more about the fault as more data about last summer's quake is compiled.

Telefund set to begin

The annual statewide springtime Alumni Chapter Telefund campaign in Jackson County, sponsored by the Southern Illinois University Foundation, is set to begin. The group is aiming for a record-high goal of $85,000.

Carbondale resident Shirley McGlenn will coordinate a four-day kickoff effort. The telefund is scheduled to last three months.

The Foundation organizes the telefund with the assistance of SIU-C's Alumni Association. During the campaign, volunteers seek alumni donations for scholarships and academic programs.

Twisters kill five, injure dozens

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A savage storm swept eastward across Mississippi and Tennessee Tuesday, spawning tornadoes and floods that killed at least five people and injured more than a dozen others.

Tornadoes started touching down about 10:45 a.m. in northern Mississippi and in Shelby County, Tenn., before the storm headed north and east and spawned twisters in Fayette, Haywood, Gibson and Carroll counties in West Tennessee, the National Weather Service and the Tennessee Emergency Management Agency said.

Three people died in Fayette County when a twister tore through a group of trailer homes, while Haywood and Gibson county officials reported one fatality each from tornadoes.

Officials in Shelby and Carroll counties reported no fatalities.

"They were all completely demolished," Keith Morris of the Fayette County Emergency Management Agency said of the trailer homes.

In Brownsville, Haywood County Sheriff's dispatcher Charlie Duncan said, "We had several houses damaged, one totally destroyed and one tree blew over on another house in Koko."

A Carroll County Sheriff's spokeswoman said a tornado touched down in the northern part of the county, but there were no injuries. There was damage to a house trailer and the front of a mausoleum and some trees were uprooted.

St. Louis plane crash kills one, injures three

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The pilot was killed and three passengers were injured in the fiery crash of a small, twin-engine private airplane from Alexandria, Ala., that struck an unoccupied house while trying to land in fog at Lambert Field, officials said.

The plane, a Piper Cheyenne owned by Robinson Foundry, was on its final approach when it crashed just north of the airport at 7:04 p.m. Monday, the St. Louis County Police said. The plane originally was headed for Quincy, Ill., but the pilot decided to land in St. Louis because of the weather conditions.

The pilot burned to death as the plane became a massive fireball when it landed, said Sgt. Ted Zinselmeyer of the St.

Louis County Police Department. The pilot was identified Tuesday as Raymond Champion, 59, of Bessemer, Ala.

Three other people in the plane were ejected and were assisted by residents in the area.

The six-seat plane hit some wires, clipped a grove of trees and its left wing smashed into an unoccupied house on Richard Kent Road in an unincorporated area known as Robertson, about one-quarter mile northwest of the airport. The side of the house was ripped off and the plane landed in the back yard near another house.

"The plane came in low and clipped some power lines," said Zinselmeyer. "It hit some trees and hit into the side of a house and came down in a field."

The Federal Aviation Administration was investigating the crash Tuesday.

"We have no idea what caused it at this point in time," said Bill Buck, assistant manager in charge of planes and procedure at Lambert Field for the FAA. "The aircraft was on a correct approach all the way down."

The survivors were taken to three different hospitals.

108 killed in Chinese plane crash

By United Press International

Search teams searching a rice paddy Tuesday found a cockpit recorder that could reveal why a Chinese airliner crashed and burned in southwest China, killing all 108 people aboard. Two other aviation mishaps, in Taiwan and the Soviet Union, claimed up to 22 more lives.

Four foreigners — three Japanese businessmen and a British sales executive — were among the dead in the Monday night crash of a Chinese domestic flight near Chongqing, the second-worst accident in Chinese aviation history, officials said.

The Civil Aviation Administration of China, the state agency controlling airlines, said the Soviet-made Ilushin-18 belonging to China Southwest Airways was carrying 98 passengers and 10 crew on a flight from Beijing to Chongqing, 900 miles southwest of the capital.

The four-engine turboprop was on final approach to Baishiyi Airport outside the city when it plunged into rice fields about 5 miles short of the runway at 10:15 p.m., officials said.

An airport spokesman, reached by telephone, said the plane broke into pieces on impact and caught fire, killing all aboard. He denied reports the jetliner hit a power line and exploded.

The accident came as the airline agency held a national conference in Beijing and announced it would undertake nationwide management reform this year. The state airline, long criticized for inefficiency, established China Southwest last October as part of a reform program.

In another airliner mishap, a Soviet TU-154 airliner landing in clear weather at a Caspian Sea port missed the runway and split apart, killing 11 of the 127 passengers and crew members aboard, the official Soviet news agency Tass said Tuesday.

Officials in Taipei said they feared a Taiwan Airlines passenger plane had crashed on a small island off Taiwan's southeast coast with 11 people on board.

The plane, a British-made DN-2 Islander, disappeared about 10 minutes before it was scheduled to land on Green Island, said an airlines spokesman. He said those on board — two crew members and nine passengers — were all from Taiwan.

Library to loan paintings

Framed reproductions of paintings from Morris Library's collection will be available for loan to students, faculty and staff.

Nearly 150 reproductions by artists including Van Gogh, Monet, Picasso and Renoir will be available for loan starting Friday morning when the library opens, said Linda Davis, head of the circulation department at Morris Library.

The prints will be displayed against the wall across from the circulation desk and can be checked out, without charge, until the Friday before the semester ends, Davis said.

In the past there has been a one dollar charge for checking out the prints.

Davis said she is hoping every print in the collection will be in circulation to decrease the damage to prints that are stored for long periods of time.

"I know there are a lot of students who have bare walls who cannot afford to go out and buy a print," Davis said.

House to vote on Contra support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Next month's House vote on sending fresh military help to Nicaraguan rebels will depend heavily on the fulfillment of Managua's promise to pursue peace with the Contras, Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., said Tuesday.

However, a skeptical President Reagan planned later in the day to keep the pressure on Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega by restoring to the Contras the flow of military shipments that had been suspended temporarily.

The administration agreed to suspend the military aid, paid for by the $100 million Congress authorized in 1986, while five Central American presidents, including Ortega, met over the weekend to assess the progress of the August peace plan they signed.

At that meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica, Ortega promised to open direct talks with the Contras on a cease-fire, to lift major political restrictions and to grant amnesty to political prisoners — all major features of the peace accord.

Nevertheless, Reagan planned to certify to Congress later Tuesday that since a cease-fire called for in the peace plan is not in place and the Sandinistas have not made "a good faith effort" to negotiate one, U.S. planes bearing military equipment, suspended during the San Jose talks, will start flying again.

Hamilton, the No. 2 Democrat on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, predicted that Ortega's promise will figure heavily in the Feb. 3 House vote on Reagan's anticipated new

Reagan certification allows flow of weapons to Contras

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will sign a certification Tuesday allowing weapons to be transported to the U.S.-backed Nicaraguan Contras, continuing pressure on President Daniel Ortega to implement democratic reforms, a spokesman said.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the certification, required by Congress, will clear the way for a new arms supply since a cease-fire is not in place in Nicaragua.

He said that a funding request for the current fiscal year will be submitted to Congress on Jan. 26 and Reagan will announce his plans in his State of the Union address next Monday.

Congress was expected to vote on Reagan's bid for a renewed multimillion dollar program for the Contras on Feb. 3.

With only two weeks before the vote, Ortega lifted a state of emergency, began a process of direct talks with the Contra rebels, promised to release political prisoners and set up elections for the Central American parliament and Nicaraguan municipalities.

Fitzwater made it clear the administration is highly skeptical of Ortega's promises to institute reforms.

He characterized the U.S. position as one of saying, "All right, Mr. Ortega, this is what you say. Do it. Do it now."

request for more aid to the rebels.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the amount of Reagan's request depends on Ortega putting words into action.

"The door is open to all options," Fitzwater said, characterizing the U.S. position as: "All right, Mr. Ortega. This is what you say. Do it. Do it now."

"We welcome the new promises," Fitzwater said, "but note that while Daniel Ortega was in Costa Rica making them, his government was arresting prominent democratic leaders inside Nicaragua."

State Department spokesman Charles Redman said, "On the so-called amnesty, it doesn't seem to be an amnesty, but rather a plan to deport thousands of political prisoners if cease-fire negotiations with the resistance fail."

However, Hamilton warned that renewed Contra aid means more war in Central America and the collapse of the accord for which Costa Rican President Oscar Arias won the 1987 Nobel Peace Prize.

High-alcohol-content beverages not kosher with IAAC

By Sharon Waldo
Staff Writer

Tastes great. Less filling. It doesn't matter if it contains more than 6 percent of alcohol by volume.

Members of the Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Committee reported Tuesday that SIU-C Athletics

now has an alcoholic beverage sponsorship policy "on paper." According to the policy, it is designed to "exclude those alcohol marketing activities that do not appear to be in the best interest of higher education."

Gary Carney, assistant athletic director, said a policy was approved in August of 1986, but that nothing was on paper.

The athletics director has the authority to rule in cases where doubt exists concerning acceptable advertisers, according to the policy. Expressly prohibited from sponsorship: alcoholic beverages that exceed 6 percent alcohol by volume, cigarettes, smokeless tobacco and other tobacco products, professional sports organizations and organizations or individuals promoting gambling.

With the inclusion of regulations on tobacco products and organizations, the committee suggested another name be used for the policy. Carney said he would come up with an appropriate name.

Letdown not in Wildcats' future plans

EVANSTON, (UPI) — Northwestern has enjoyed more success against Minnesota than any other team in the Big Ten in the 1980s.

But after playing probably the roughest Big Ten schedule to date in the league this year, Wildcat coach Bill Foster is concerned about a letdown by his club when it hosts Minnesota Wednesday night.

Northwestern, 1-3 in the league and 6-8 overall, can equal its 1986-87 victory output with a triumph over Minnesota. The Gophers are the lone winless team in league play with an 0-3 mark and have lost 19 straight conference games. Minnesota is 6-7 overall.

Northwestern has already had to face Michigan, Indiana, Purdue and Iowa in its first four league games. It upset the Hoosiers at home and gave Purdue and Iowa tough games on the road last week.

"Am I concerned about a letdown? I'm concerned about it but I won't be able to tell you how much until about 11 p.m. Wednesday night," Foster said. "This is an important game for us. We need a strong effort and the game will come down to who shoots and rebounds the best."

Northwestern owns at least one win over Minnesota every season since 1962-63. It has won three of the last four games, including a season-ending 72-71 victory over the Gophers last year.

"They are playing very well right now," Foster added. "They're going to come in here and play with confidence. We've got to be confident and do a better job on the boards."

Minnesota coach Clem Haskins said Northwestern has shown great improvement over last year's 7-21 club.

Minnesota will have a size advantage over Northwestern with center Jim Shikenjanski leading the Big Ten in rebounding with nearly eight rebounds per contest.

Boosters to meet

The Saluki Booster Club will meet at noon Thursday at the Carbondale Holiday Inn.

The guest speakers will be women's basketball coach Cindy Scott and men's and women's swimming coach Doug Ingram.

DePaul's Strickland is his own demon

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rod Strickland has probably killed any chance he might have had for All-America honors this year.

But if there were an award for most valuable player on a team in college basketball, the junior DePaul guard would probably rank right up there with the Danny Mannings, Ferris Dembos and Gary Grants.

When Strickland is in the DePaul lineup, the Blue Demons are an NCAA tournament contender. When he is out of the lineup, the Blue Demons wouldn't rate consideration from the NIT.

"There's no doubt about what Rod's impact on this team is," says DePaul Coach Joey Meyer. "He does things as far as leadership and penetration and defense that not many other players in the country can do."

Strickland may be one of the top two or three point guards in the country. He has outplayed Notre Dame's David Rivers and has shown flashes of brilliance.

Seals adds spark team was missing

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

Midway through the season with a 10-5 record, the women's basketball team has found the stabilizing element it lacked.

Guard Tonda Seals, a 5-foot-7 junior from Wilson, Ark., was the top scorer four times since earning a starting berth nine games ago against Western Kentucky on Dec. 19.

"Tonda has provided a spark that we were looking for," Coach Cindy Scott said. "She's shooting the ball really well for us. Her consistency has been a big help for our team."

Since breaking into the starting lineup, Seals has averaged 14.3 points per game.

FOR THE season, Seals is second only to Bridgett Bonds in minutes played, averaging 11.1 ppg on 47.7 percent field goal shooting.

Sunday's 27-point performance in the 76-68 Gateway Conference win over Southwest Missouri was a career-high for Seals.

"Her outside shooting has made opponents take notice," Scott said. "Our inside game will be more effective if she can keep hitting, and she has that ability."

Despite the 20 points scored in a losing effort at Purdue, Seals led the Salukis to three wins as top scorer. She had 22 to defeat Bradley, 17 over Drake and then 27 at Southwest Missouri.

SEALS ALSO aided the Salukis by compiling 15 assists and 12 steals in all seven conference games.

What Scott has admired the most about Seals' play in the past few games was Seal's belief in her abilities.

"She's scrappy and confident," Scott said. "I'd like to see that attitude spill over to more of our players."

An athletic training major, Seals often has the role of keeping the team relaxed prior to games. "She loves to have fun and be cool. She's into music and is our team DJ," Scott said.

"Tonda hasn't yet realized all she has to offer," Scott said.

game. "It was a lot of fun playing before that many people on the road," Scott said. "Southwest has a good tradition of support there."

The Salukis are 4-1 on the road in the Gateway. Scott said she was especially pleased with the last two wins at Wichita State and Southwest Missouri.

The Salukis are 5-1 at home and have their next four appearances scheduled at the Arena.

Thursday the Salukis play host to league-leading Illinois State (10-4, 6-1). Indiana State (13-2, 6-1) comes to Carbondale Saturday, followed by Western Illinois on Jan. 28 and Bradley on Jan. 30.

cerned simply because we have too many photographs around here of campus with snow on the ground."

Haake said the track construction price tag is approximately $330,000. "This track will last at least 10 years, hopefully longer," he said.

The total contract for work on the stadium is with Sportec International, Inc., of Buffalo, N.Y. Haake said the contract amounts to $330,000, and that the University has paid about $750,000 so far.

Sportec installed the stadium's new football turf last year.

Haake said there are a "few wrinkles on the track that need to be re-stretched."

Sportec will do that and "it's no big problem," he said.

Bears president denies scheme for team's stock

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago Bears president Michael McCaskey testified Tuesday at a hearing on the $17.5 million offer for the 20 percent of the NFL team owned by the children of George "Mugs" Halas Jr. and said there is no secret deal behind the offer.

Christine and Stephen Halas, grandchildren of "Papa Bear," George Halas, claim the offer made by Chicago-based real estate tycoons Neil Bluhm and Judd Malkin is too low and is part of a deal by Bluhm and Malkin to acquire the entire team.

The executor of the Halas estate, A. Gearson Miller, wants to accept the offer for the 20 percent left by Halas.

NCAA ruling to cost SIU-C athletics

By Sharon Waldo
Staff Writer

The SIU-C athletics budget will suffer a loss of $20,000 because the NCAA, at last week's annual convention in Nashville, passed Proposition No. 59 — which raises athlete's Pell Grant awards to $1,400 per year.

Margaret Matthias, an SIU-C representative to the convention, reported Tuesday to

"This means $20,000 to Southern. Now we have to find that $20,000."

—Margaret Matthias

the Intercollegiate Athletic Advisory Committee that "we voted against it because of our pocketbook."

"We had to decide to vote with our hearts or our head,"

Matthias said.

"This means $20,000 (loss) to Southern," she said. "Now we have to find that $20,000."

Matthias and Interim Athletics Director Charlotte

West, who also attended the convention, are not sure at the time how this loss will be made up.

West did say that there seems to be more "humanism" within the NCAA now. "They are granting more special waivers for athletes" to help with academic or eligibility problems.

Other legislation called "an eye opener" by Matthias was proposal No. 39, which failed.

The proposal would have required athletes to have a 1.6 GPA after the freshman year, a 1.8 after the sophomore year and 2.0 after the junior year, instead of allowing the institution to define "good standing."

"We thought we had it and the garden was rosy," Matthias said. After lunch, arguments arose and the legislation failed, she said.

Track resurfacing delayed until Feb.

By Sharon Waldo
Staff Writer

Work on the new track at McAndrew Stadium has been put off until the end of February, when officials will hope and pray for good weather.

During a meeting Tuesday with the head of Intracor, the company in Portland, Ore., that was in charge of the work, it was decided to wait until Feb. 29 to resume work on the track, Mike Perkins, assistant athletics director, said.

Olympic Striping, Inc., also of Portland, will not be back to finish the work, Perkins said. Intracor workers will finish the job, he said.

Olympic, a subcontractor of Intracor, spent more than 100 days in Carbondale working on the track. When temperatures started falling, officials started worrying.

"I hope we have some good weather at the end of February," Perkins said.

About five days of work on the track is needed, excluding the three days of striping time needed to complete the job, he said.

A track meet is slated for McAndrew Stadium March 26. If the track is not completed by that time, the meet could be moved to the track at Southeast Missouri.

"We're just happy we can train on it now," track coach Bill Cornell said. "It's uneven right now, but it's a whole lot better than the last track."

According to Perkins, the track needs "some filling in spots, adding some materials, adding the EDPM red rubber, a spray coat of encapsulating material and to be striped."

E.T. Simonds of Carbondale will put down a running curb between the jogging lane and the running track after the track is complete, Perkins said.

The work has to be done when temperatures are above 50 degrees and there is no rain. The project was delayed because this is very unlikely now.

"Odds are pretty poor for four or five days of good weather" this time of year, Perkins said.

University Architect Allen Haake said, "We are con-

Tennis prospect to get second shot

The men's tennis team missed out on an opportunity to improve itself.

A standout player from Brazil, whose name was withheld, won't be able to join the team because of academic restrictions, Coach Dick LeFevre said Tuesday.

The player failed an English test which was required for him to pass to play this spring.

"He'll get another shot at it in six weeks. We'll know more about the situation then," LeFevre said.

Last November, LeFevre said of the prospective player: "He could turn everything upside down."

The team opens its season Jan. 30 at Notre Dame.

MVC honors Nurnberger

SIU-C's Kai Nurnberger and Wichita State's Steve Grayer shared the Missouri Valley Conference Player of the Week honor.

Nurnberger is the first Saluki to be selected this season.

Against Creighton, the junior guard scored 22 points, grabbed seven rebounds and had five assists. His four free throws in the final 30 seconds sealed the Salukis' 102-96 victory.

In the Salukis' 82-72 overtime win against Indiana State, Nurnberger scored 25 points, had five rebounds and five assists. His basket with one second left sent the game into overtime.

U of I accepts Coach White's resignation

CHAMPAIGN (UPI) — The University of Illinois, under investigation for recruiting violations, Tuesday accepted the resignation of head football coach Mike White, whom Athletic Director Neale Stoner said must bear "final responsibility for the environment of the recruiting process."

"The Athletic Association of the University of Illinois received an official inquiry from the NCAA regarding football recruiting infractions on Dec. 1," Stoner said in a statement released by the school Tuesday — a day after White tendered his resignation.

"The allegations range

The most serious of the NCAA allegations against the U of I involved a cash payment by an assistant coach to a prospective player for lodging expenses in December ...

from minor to serious, but taken in the context that the University of Illinois was on probation at the time of the infractions, in my view they should all be regarded as serious," Stoner said.

"Also, it should be noted that these allegations do not involve any members of the current assistant coaching staff," he added.

The most serious of the NCAA allegations against the U of I involved a cash payment by an assistant coach to a prospective player for lodging expenses in December, the university said. The student enrolled elsewhere and the assistant coach is no longer at Illinois.

"As a result of our investigation into these allegations, we have accepted the resignation of Mike White which was tendered yesterday (Monday)," Stoner said.

"The improvement of the football program should be attributed to Coach White and his staff. However, the final responsibility for the environment of the recruiting process belongs with the head coach. Coach White is aware of such and accepts this responsibility," he said.

White, in a statement issued Monday night, said the alleged infractions "appear to be minor in nature and date back to 1985."

Illinois finished 3-7-1 in 1987, the worst record for the Illini since White's first season as coach in 1980.
