Phi Kappa Tau, Kappaleers Take Variety Show Firsts

By Gary Heape

"I have never seen an amateur show as near professional as this one," said Ernest Jim Butler. This statement was an added tribute to the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and the fabulous Kappaleers who topped all talent to win first place in the tenth annual Theta Xi variety show.

The hard work, tension, and thrill of an excellent performance for all ended in success for some, disappointment for others, and satisfaction of a job well done.

The Phi Tau's received a huge first place trophy for an act entitled "Tomorrow, The World of 30 Years from Now."

The setting for the winning performance was soft light, swaying figures in tight clothing, a solemn off-stage voice, and a dance routine by "Babe" Phelps and Jack "Pappy" Barban that left little to be desired in the way of comedy.

The winning individual act featured the Kappaleers singing "The Banana Boat Song," in Calypso fashion. For the past two years the Negro singers have been stellar performers in the variety show and other campus activities. Dressed in dock workers attire, and backed by congo and mambo drums, Rich White and the Kappaleers sang to a spellbound audience who showed their appreciation with a 45 second applause.

Sig Kaps Second

Second place among the group acts was won by the Sigma Kappa sorority with their skit titled "Heaven Bound." The theme was the portrayal of Earthians first planet, of Mars. Pat Cook did a fabulous job of monitoring the skit. The first meeting between the Earthians and the Martians, ended when a ray gun went off and paralyzed the entire company.

Dick Gibson, ballad singer strummed a fancy guitar and sang his way to a second place trophy in the individual division. Gibson sang two selections. The first was "Mary Ann," a popular ballad, which Dick called "Smoozer Man." Dressed in a western style shirt, black tie and strumming a black and tan guitar, the slender youth gave the Shroock audience a performance they will long remember.

Tri-Sig Third

The Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority brought down the house with their take-off on the Broadway play "L'il Abner" and captured the third-place group act trophy. A host of Tri-Sigs provided the setting for Daisy Mae, Bobby Jones, to pursue and catch the elusive L'il Abner, Doris Dankirk. Bobby Jones, not only did more than her share of winning third place trophy for the Tri Sigs, but put on an excellent performance in two other acts. The Miss Southern of last year danced in the Angermans and did a solo modern dance.

The Variety Show competition acts were over. The audience was prepared to await the decision of the judges. When down the center aisle of Shroock came three gentlemen dressed like fugitives from

Dean T. W. Abbott Chosen For 'Faculty Service Award'

Radio-TV Man To Address Convocation

E. K. Hartenbower, chairman of the radio research committee of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, will be the speaker at the freshman convocation Thursday.

Hartenbower has been in the broadcasting industry since 1929. In 1933 he became the NDC assistant promoting manager and director of such network broadcasts as the Democratic and Republican National Conventions. Later he became an account executive of the American Broadcasting Company. With ABC he later became central division sales manager.

He will serve as consultant in a discussion meeting of area radio and television managers and students at 2 p. m. Thursday. Station management problems will be discussed.

PROFICIENCY EXAM

The most proficiency examination in English for those students who are juniors or seniors and who expect to receive a degree in the College of Liberal Arts and sciences, will be given on April 2, 1957, from 3 to 5 p. m., in the Laboratory of the English student in this category who cannot take this examination should report to Dean Abbott.

Graduating Seniors Must Apply Now

All students who are finishing degree requirements this quarter and who do not plan to take work on campus during the spring quarter must file an application for graduation in the Registrar's Office before spring vacation.

A $15 graduation fee will have to be paid when the application for graduation is filled out. Students under Illinois State Military Scholarship or teacher training do not have to pay the fee. They do, however have to be cleared with the Bursar.

Additional information on graduation may be secured at the reception desk in the Registrar's Office.

Girls Get Late OK for Satch

The 11 p. m. extension for women students attending the Lewis Armstrong concert March 28 was approved by the executive board of the Associated Women's Students at their meeting Feb. 21.

Women students who show their concert tickets to their house-mother or resident counselor will be granted this special permission, according to Mildred Schroebinger, dean of women and coordinator of student housing.

The decision came as a result of requests from the sponsors of the program. Late permission for women students will make it possible for them to attend the second show, and people from out of town can be accommodated at the first show.

VETERAN'S NOTICE

Veterans who are attending under either public law and who do not intend to return for the spring quarter must sign up for March on the last day of his final exams at the Registrar's Office.

Those veterans who are returning spring quarter will not sign up for March until the last day of March.

COMMERCE CLUB

Dr. C. C. Wiegand of the economics department will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Commerce Club. Dr. Wiegand has chosen "Inflation" for the address.

The meeting will be tonight at 7 p. m. in the University School Theater. Students and faculty from all departments may attend.

Sorrell Gables Lead Women In Fall Grades

Grade averages for organized living centers have been computed for the fall quarter, and Southern's women students are still out in front.

Sorrell Gables, a group of five girls, had the highest average, 93.8. This is the third time in succession that the Gables has come in first.

Women's living groups took the top 13 places on the scale. Club Eldorado, with 12 men, was first in the men's groups, but ranked 14th in all University averages with a 93.693.

The all-men average was 83.234, as compared with 93.64 for all women. The all-University average was 93.343.

Sororities as a group outscored women's organized houses. The all-sorority average was 93.586, while the average for women's organized houses was 93.515. Sigma Sigma Sorority, first of the sororities, took third in all University rank. Women's residence halls outranked both sororities and organized houses with an average of 93.640.

On the masculine side, organized houses were on top of the large groups with a 93.221 average. The averages for residence halls and all fraternities were about the same—3.150 and 3.141, respectively.

Cutting Will Speak On Federal Careers

Leland D. Cutting, assistant director manager of the Social Security Administration, will speak on "Career Opportunities In The Federal Government For College Students" Monday, March 11, at Parkinson Laboratory.

His talk, which begins at 10 a. m. in Room 1003, will inform about jobs for college men and women who pass the Federal Service Entrance Examination.

Cutting will be available for personal interviews after his talk and from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. the same day in the Placement Office.

Rieke, Selement Reach Debate Quarter Finals

Joseph Selement and Richard Rieke reached the quarter-final round in the 26th annual North West debate tournament at St. Paul, Minn. this weekend. A total of 47 colleges and universities participated in the competition.

Selement and Rieke won six of eight preliminary rounds of debate. Their six wins were over — The University of Nebraska and Mary Lato College. In the quarter-finals, they lost to Nebraska Wesleyan University.

In the women's division at St. Paul, Marsha Wieth and Regina Miller won five of eight debate rounds but did not reach the quarter-finals. They defeated South Dakota State, University of Minnesota, MacAllister College, North Dakota State, and Concordia College. Their losses were to St. Olaf, Eau Claire, and Hastings.

During the same weekend, three SIU teams participated in the "Savage" debate tourney at Durant, Oklahoma. The team of Robert Holton and Fay Canterbury won four out of five preliminary rounds in advance to the quarter-finals. Their four wins were over Southern Methodist University, University of Oklahoma, Southwestern College and Kansas State at Pittsburg. Their loss in the preliminary rounds was to Northwestern, Oklahoma. In the quarter-finals, Holton and Canterbury were defeated by Pittsburg.

The other two SIU teams at Durant, Oklahoma tourney each won three out of five debates. Their records: Vernal Beckman and Ken

Resident Fellow Positions Open

Students interested in being considered for resident fellow positions in the University residence halls must apply very soon, Mildred Schroebinger, dean of Women and coordinator of student housing, has announced.

Appointments will be announced about April 1; therefore, it is imperative that applications be turned in around the first of March. Miss Schroebinger said.

A resident fellow is a representative of the University whose general responsibilities are living with a small group of students in the residence hall and assisting the resident counselor in working with individuals and planning group activities. Juniors, seniors and graduate students are eligible for the position, and preference is given according to academic standing.

Applications already turned in total 45 for men and 10 for women. Application forms can be obtained from Miss Schroebinger, or Jack Buckle at the Office of Student Affairs; Janet Brackneridge or Sue New, Woody Hall; Jim Burgoon, Illinois Avenue Residence Hall; or Joe Budde, Southern East Residence Hall.

MOVIE FRIDAY

"King Solomon's Mines" starring Deborah Kerr, Stewart Gangner, and Richard Carlson, will be shown at the University School auditorium at 6:30 and 8:30 p. m. March 8.

Council Starts Action On New Student Union Plans

Student Council approved a proposal Thursday night that $39,375 be taken from the Student Union Restricted Building Fund to start working drawings for the new Student Union building.

The fund, which amounts to $76,226.58, includes interest on bonds, as well as money received from fines for traffic violations, vending machine sales, and Student Union building fee.

Two non-members, Harris Rubin and Fahmi Dahdah, attended the Council meeting. Rubin, of Men's Residence Halls Council, spoke in behalf of his proposed community chest drive. Dahdah, president of International Relations Club, requested funds to send a delegation to the Midwest conference of IRC at Holland, Michigan, and gave a report on the Hungarian Student Refugee Fund.

Proposals presented by Rubin were for a community fund drive under the direction of the Student Council which would be the only authorized solicitation of funds for charity on the campus. The plan provides for a 20 per cent reserve fund for emergencies, and the Student Council is to choose which charities are to be benefited.

Staff members are to be chosen

"Right now we have one organization Alpha Phi Omega sponsoring one drive for one charity, which isn't fair," Rubin said.

"But what will happen if an emergency arises which the reserve fund can not take care of?" John Teschner, senior Council member, asked. "Will further drives by individual organizations be forbidden?"

Sonnie Unger, C. president, stated that the purpose is not clearly enough defined as yet. The Council decided to present the reasons for the community fund and the suggested proposals to the student body to get their reactions.

The request by Dahdah for expenses for the IRC conference was approved by an invitation to one of the Council members to attend the conference. The Council voted to appropriate $75 for IRC.

The Hungarian Student Refugee Fund now has over $700, Dahdah reported. Jerry Fezehl, freshman representative and member of the refugee fund committee, said a request for $200 from the Contingency Fund had been refused.

"Dean Davis told us that since the Contingency Fund is built up out of student fees it didn't seem right for the student fees to pay $200 more after they had already paid through the Student Council," Fezehl said.

Jane Curry, senior representative, submitted a petition from the Senate asking that they be allowed to drop all social activities except Christmas Week in order to devote their time to governing and politics.

The Council granted the request and asked the Social Senate to be responsible for finding other organizations to take over the sponsorship of the events.

The Journalism Council according to Dick Hunsaker, approved a policy of advertising which states that the Egyptian will accept no advertising from any place of business which sells liquor or the like.

The Journalism Council is taking interviews for positions on the Egyptian. Hunsaker said "Monday night" The Council also discussed salary increases for the editors and associate editors of the Obelisk."

The date for the spring retreat for the Student Council was set for May 16 and 17.

Absent from the meeting were: Marcia Van Cleave and Mary Kay Sharkey, freshmen; Mary Ann Edwards, junior; and Lois Kalla, senior

A Challenge

It would appear that efforts of supporters of the SIU 1935-36 budget request are being outstripped by opponents of the measure.

Yvonne Steingrub, a Southern Illinois University student, brought an Egyptian article written about Sen. E. R. Peters, chairman of the Illinois Budgetary Commission, to that gentleman's attention.

In reply he sent "one of the many" letters he had received concerning the situation at Southern. He said that critics of that type may have influenced his thinking about the scholastic prestige of Southern.

The letter he sent to Miss Steingrub was unsigned.

In misrepresenting many of the facts and distorting others, the author of the communication presented a rather black picture about this institution. Among other things the anonymous gentleman, or lady, charged irresponsible administration and unwise management of such things as VIT, extension, community development, and the Small Business Institute which, in the opinion of the letter-writer, are useless.

There was also a charge of under-handed methods being used to obtain money which is not really needed.

Also according to the author, faculty morale is dangerously low because of pay mounting to "practically nothing."

Apparently this vehement protest, under the guise of an objection to the wasting of taxpayers' money, is violently opposed to everything and everybody at SIU.

In fact, there are five separate requests in the text of the communication for a full-scale and detailed investigation.

Nearly every charge is prefaced by words to the effect that "it is reported" or "there are rumors" or "people say," no concrete evidence.

If one misinformed prejudiced and anonymous person can have such an effect on a public official that the official makes public statements to the effect that SIU is an infamed institution, imagine what a concerted movement of informed, factual, signed letters could do in the opposite direction.

The Egyptian has published a series of articles and editorials explaining the need for an increased budget at SIU. Those selections were designed to help the students understand the need and to organize in a drive for support of the measure.

So far, there has been no noticeable movement. Are students so complacent that they feel there is nothing to worry about, or so apathetic that they don't care whether this school stands still or moves forward?

It's time to realize that the opponents of SIU are not idle in their efforts to undermine the chances of success. If success in this campaign is to be achieved, it's time for the proponents to do a little active campaigning of their own.

The logical choice to start such a campaign are the students of this University. A challenge has been hurled; it's up to you to accept.

MAIL BOX

To The Editor:
Concerning article in the February 26 issue of the Egyptian. I have read with much concern the letters to the editor concerning the basketball coach, Lynn Holder. To me it seems some people are badly misinformed or are grossly ignorant.

Lynn Holder has been Southern Illinois University's basketball coach for a number of years, and during that time has coached some fine teams. His record, if memory serves me correct, shows no losing season. How can a coach not producing when his winning percentage is much over .500. Even this year, when the howls seem to be the loudest, his team is over .500. This year his schedule is loaded with teams far superior to SIU potential, yet we have won.

How about Michigan State and Indiana, the number one and two teams in the Big Ten? Is Coach Holder expected to beat the best in the Big Ten without having equal facilities, finances, and personnel?

How about beating Fort Leonard Wood, a team with former All-Americans? How about recent victories over Normal and Western? These are two of the best teams in the small college field in the U. S. How can you say that nothing has been accomplished?

It was stated that Coach Holder probably didn't know about players north of Centralia. What has Coach Holder got to offer to players north of Centralia besides a good scholarship? These good players had much rather take a scholarship and go elsewhere than to SIU and scrub floors at night for tuition.

It was stated that Coach Holder probably didn't know about players north of Centralia besides a good scholarship? These good players had much rather take a scholarship and go elsewhere than to SIU and scrub floors at night for tuition.

Anyways, how much do the critics of Coach Holder know about his recruiting program? How much help is he given? How far does the administration back him?

These questions should be answered before a critical analysis of Coach Holder can be made.

It seems to me and many others that some of these critics would be better off taking care of their fraternity duties and intramural programs and let a man who knows basketball take care of basketball at SIU.

Bill Ellis

Dear Editor:
After reading the comments of your sports editor and other SIU students concerning the basketball status here at Southern, I have begun to wonder just how good a job the former instructors of the above mentioned yourself have done in the way of proper education.

Has the college campus stooped so low as to pick up the mud-slinging tactics of political parties? Those who write such letters as appeared in the Egyptian on Tuesday, February 26, cannot be stepped from feeling and doing as they did; they just do not know any better, but for the school paper to print such trash is inconceivable, to say the least. Have you lost all respect for the personal feelings of a human being? How would it feel to pick up a paper and see those editorials and letters with the names, Mr. Cever, Mr. Epperheimer, Mr. Raguse, Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. Clark, and Mr. Brown inserted within? It wouldn't be so funny then, would it?

What do you sideline coaches know about basketball? Very little compared to college players and coaches. Then how can you and who should you try to publicly judge Southern's team and coach? If you think Lynn Holder doesn't want to win, then you're crazy. You can bet he is using his techniques and his players to the best of his knowledge and that he is out there trying his best. Will you publicly degrade a man in that? I hate to think the students at Southern would stoop that low.

Sure, a coach will make mistakes, but then who doesn't. After all, we're only human. It sounds like all our critics were paying the coach's salary, but you aren't; so when and if any mistakes are made, they should be taken care of by the administration, not the students. And finally, Southern would be much better off if people like you would turn your criticisms into support for our teams.

I sincerely hope you will print this letter in the Egyptian so the students and faculty at Southern will get a chance to see both sides of the picture.

Roger Chitty

Let us remind you that we do not consider the situation in the least amusing, as you assume we do. This paper is here for students to voice their opinion, if they choose to do so. You have taken advantage of the opportunity. Are they to be condemned for holding an opinion which is adverse to yours? It is perfectly all right for you to have and voice an idea, but don't brag that you've done it and don't brag to us for allowing them, and you, to have that voice.

Senior Recital In Library Aud. Well Received By Audience

By Marshall Rigan

A violin, a trumpet, a clarinet and a piano transposed a gay, colorful Thursday night crowd into a motionless yet moved audience at the Senior Recital last week at the Library auditorium.

The acoustics in the small pastel auditorium were perfectly suited for the violin of Joyce Petty who opened the recital with the melodic flow and rhythmic ingenuity of Corelli's "La Folia".

Blonde Miss Petty, wearing a model black dress with a white corsage, performed expertly.

Miss Petty followed with "Concerto in E minor" (first movement) by Gounod. The audience was captivated by the flowing melancholy and joyous sadness—perhaps the spirit of Gounod's native Russia—brought out in the composition of Gounod and the artistry of Miss Petty.

The mood was changed but little when Delores Budde continued "Clarinete, opus 167." The opus first wistful, then plaintive, then deep, slow and flowing, was one of the last compositions written by Saint-Saens before he died at the age of 86. The plaintive and subtle wistfulness of Miss Budde's clarinet seemed itself the reminiscence of youth, by age.

Tall, pleasant and talented, Charles Taylor then aired a melody

CAMPUS CANINES

Southern Illinois University's future mascots will be selected from seven frisky Shikari puppies, born last January. The two males and five females comprise the first litter for Ornak Faruk, sired by Burydown Datto, purchased Egyptian hunting dogs presented to Southern by W. W. Vandever, Rock River, Ohio, past president of the SIU Alumni Association. Holding the pups, who will be two months old Friday, are coeds Margaret Coury, left, and Sharon Cherpilak.

ANOTHER WINNER
Tom Sill, the men's winner of the Service to Southern award, is congratulated by Pres. Morris and given a wrist watch.

Sill, Curry Win Southern Services Awards

Six persons among an audience of 1,400 in Shroyck Auditorium Friday night anxiously awaited President Morris to call them to the stage and present the Service to Southern Award to two of them.

The crowd watched President Morris hand watches to Tom Sill and Jane Curry, 1957 Service to Southern Award winners.

Tom, Senior from Carbondale, was the recipient of the men's award and Jane, senior from Cairo, received the women's award.

Other finalists in the annual contest based on participating in extra-curricular activities were Margaret Ritchie, Carbondale; Lois Kalla, Chicago; Earl Spees, Rosiclare; and Clyde Reynolds, East St. Louis.

Morris said "scholarship does not play a part in selecting the winners, but none of the finalists have less than a 3.9."

The activities in which each participated are too many to make note of. However, all the activities that were considered in choosing the winners are voluntary.

Both of the winners have served on many committees here at Southern, such as Homecoming steering committee, Parents' Day committees, New Student week committees, and many others.

at the Theta Xi Variety Show Friday night. Jane was also the 1956 Homecoming Queen.

Winter Exam Schedule

Final exams for the winter quarter will start on Thursday, March 14, and continue through Tuesday, March 19.

Examinations will begin at the hours schedule and run for one hour and 50 minutes except for classes which meet only one or two hours a week. Exams for those classes will begin on the hour or the half hour, and will run for 50 minutes.

When an examination conflict occurs, the student is to take the exam that has the most credit hours. The instructor of the course that has the fewer number of hours is to arrange another time for the student to take that exam.

Any student who must miss the final exam may not take it before the time scheduled for the class. In such a case the instructor records a "W" followed by the tentative grade with a "1" indicating the number of weeks attended. A "W" grade must be completed within one week from the end of the term. If not, it will be recorded as an incomplete grade.

March Arts Festival Features Fine Music

"This year's Fine Arts Festival promises to be one of the best because we have these people coming that are of real interest."

Roy Harris, SIU visiting professor of music, made this statement during an interview. Harris has composed 115 works. Twenty-seven of his works have been recorded. One of the highlights of the festival will be his lecture.

Harris said that the three people who will make this year's Fine Arts Festival one of the best are Suzanne Bloch, renowned artist and player of violins; Louis Krasner, a famous violinist; and Elsie Siegmester, a top American composer. The festival will begin on March 31.

Block Is Superb

"Bloch is an authority on early music," said Harris, "she was a fellow student of mine in Paris from 1926 to 1930. I know personally that she is a fine musician and an inspiring speaker."

"Krasner is one of the best violinists in the country. I believe he gave the first performance in America of Alkan Berg's "Violin Concerto."

"Elsie Siegmester has done a lot of work on American folk material and formed his own chorus and toured the country with the materials."

Freshmen Hear Astronomer Tell About Galaxy

"Astronomy is a most important subject this year, much more than it has been in the last few years," said Joseph M. Chamberlain, chairman of the Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum in New York, to the Freshman Assembly, Feb. 29.

"Most of us do not have much interest in the stars," Chamberlain continued, "but I suggest that you do take advantage of the skies. There will be more and more reason for this in the future."

"If we look into the future, we can predict that our sun will continue to burn for about another 10 or 12 billion years. Yet the sun is a typical star, quite an insignificant one. It is the star nearest the earth."

"The earth, the only planet where human beings are known to exist, is solely dependent on the sun for heat and light, Chamberlain added.

Sun Most Important Body

"To the earth, the sun is the most important of all heavenly bodies because its heat and light make all forms of life on the earth possible. The sun is a million times as big as the earth," said Chamberlain, "but the bright red star Betelgeuse in the constellation of Orion is more than a million times as big as the sun."

"The sun was placed at the center of the solar system, planet Mercury, Venus, Earth, and Mars could all revolve about the sun at their present distance and yet remain well within the surface of that huge star."

Other events in the cultural fair include a production of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" by the Canadian Players of Stanford, Ont.; a lecture-recital by pianist Robert Goldowski; and a dance recital by the Henry Street Playhouse, and many other events.

All of these attractions are free to the public.

Cagers Close Season With 87-62 Loss At Eastern

An Eastern Illinois team with an eye for the basket dispelled the SIU cagers' hopes for a second-place finish in the Interstate Conference last Friday night by virtue of a surprisingly easy victory over the Salukis, 87-62. The game was played at Charleston, and closed the season for Southern.

Taking a 12-0 lead in the first two minutes of play, the Panthers fired in seven of their first eight shots and Lynn Holder's cagers never were in the game.

After three minutes, Eastern had increased the lead to 16-3, and two minutes later it was an imposing 22-5.

Southern temporarily came to life, and midway in the first half, it was 28-13. Seymour Bryson's tip-in with three minutes to go made it 35-24, and it appeared as if the Salukis might have come to life.

45-27 At Hal

However, a drive-in by Charles Session, a jump by John Milholland, a jump by Frank Wolf, another by Milholland, a nd jump over by Milholland, and a jump by Lloyd Ludwig made it 45 for the Panthers. Meanwhile, Gordon Lambert was scoring for Southern and Bryson sank a free shot, and the half ended 45-27.

For the game, Eastern hit 33 of 65 for 51 per cent while the Salukis made 24 of 78 for 31 per cent. The defeat left Southern holding a 5-7 record in IIAAC and a 13-11 over-all record.

Had Southern beaten Eastern, they could have possibly finished in a tie for second place in the conference. The 5-7 record doesn't merit a second-place finish, however.

Milholland Scores 23

Five Eastern players scored in the double figures, John Milholland led the Panthers with 23 points, followed by Frank Wolf and Charles Session with 13 points apiece, and B. J. Smith and Lloyd Ludwig with 10 apiece.

Bryson led the Saluki scorers with 15 markers. Gordon Lambert played his last game for Southern and pulled down 15 rebounds, tops for both teams eight points. Eastern led in rebounds, 55-54. Southern came up with 31 offensive and 23 defensive rebounds, an unusual situation.

Sports In Spurts

By Bill Epperheimer Sports Editor

Last Friday, The Egyptian published a number of letters which criticized "the deliberate humiliation of Lynn Holder in print". At this time, we would like to answer several of the charges made in the letters. For the purpose of clarity, however, let us emphasize that we are not defending the writers of letters which appeared in the Tuesday, Feb. 26 Egyptian. Those letters were personal opinions of SIU students, and did not necessarily reflect the opinions of this editor or of the Egyptian staff.

First of all, it was not our intent to "deliberately humiliate Lynn Holder". In this column of Feb. 19, we questioned Holder's coaching methods and his system of choosing his basketball players. We still question them.

Many letters of last Friday point out that Holder is a "fine, decent man". We have no argument with this statement whatever. We, too believe Mr. Holder is a fine man. But does this make him a good basketball coach?

Several persons in the past weeks have suggested that we criticize the team itself rather than the coach. They argue that Southern's team has "too many individual stars, and not enough team work".

They Fouled Out

They were winning 50 - 41 but lost 2-0.

This was the fate of the high-scoring freshman basketball team in the WAA class tournament last week.

According to rules in girls' basketball, no team may play with less than four players on the floor. The freshman team last week started time, with the regulation six girls in the lineup.

Fouls, however, took their toll, and as the game neared the end, their ranks were reduced to four and they were forced to forfeit.

TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for both the Louis V. Aronson Concert and the Theta Xi Variety Show are now on sale at the Student Union.

Anyone wishing to see the Variety Show trophies can come to the Student Union. They are on display in the main lounge.

Many of the letter writers have called for a new basketball coach. We Holder vehemently do not advocate him for Southern's coaching position.

Finally, let us make our stand at SIU. Others have defended "Duster" Thomas. We Holder do not advocate him for Southern's coaching position.

Where do the rest of you stand?

BOWING OUT

Capt. Gordon Lambert and Robert Welch, only seniors on the SIU basketball team, played their last game as Salukis Friday night against Eastern Illinois. Lambert pulled down 15 rebounds and scored eight points in the contest, while Welch scored three.

Wrestlers Take Second In Ozark AAU Tourney

Coach Jim Wilkinson's wrestlers led by Lee Grubbs in the 137-pound class, captured second place Saturday in the Ozark A. A. U. meet held in Overland, Mo.

Grubbs defeated three opponents on his way to the championship in the 137-pound division, was voted "outstanding wrestler" by squad coaches.

Ritenour YMCA won the team title with 37 points, while the Salukis piled up 36 and Kirkwood Athletic Club had 23.

Other first place winners for Southern were John Orlando, Bob Dunkel, and Ed Haves.

Grubbs defeated Dick Frankenburg of Ritenour in the finals, 6-2, to gain first.

Expert Talks At Typo Workshop

Edmund C. Arnold, one of the nation's leading experts on modern newspaper makeup, will be the guest speaker at the second annual typography workshop, March 16, in the Life Science auditorium.

Editor of the Linotype News in Brooklyn, N. Y., Arnold has had extensive weekly and daily newspaper experience. Arnold is co-publisher of the Frankenthum, Mich. News, which last year won first place for typography in National Editorial Association competition.

Arnold is author of a new book, "Functional Newspaper Design." He is a journalism graduate of Michigan State University.

The workshop will begin at 9:30 a. m., and it will include sessions on page makeup and use of headlines.

Workshop chairman is Francis D. Modlin, SIU assistant professor of journalism.

Orlando, wrestling in the 167-pound class, won on a referee's decision from his twin brother Pete, who competed for Ritenour. The decision came after a two-minute overtime which failed to break a 1-1 deadlock from regulation time.

John won two earlier bouts to regain the championship position.

Dunkel wrestling in the 177-pound class also won first on a referee's decision after an overtime period. He defeated Hankins, a former Purdue wrestler, and also won two earlier bouts.

In the heavyweight division, Big Ed Haves pinned Edwards of Kirkwood A. C. to gain the title.

Here's what other Southern matmen did in the meet: 130—Ron Edwards lost in the first round to Schnellberger of Kirkwood A. C., 3-1.

147—Spencer Smith lost out in the semi-finals to Dornack of Kirkwood A. C., 6-2, and Jack Wabinger lost to Begleiter of Ritenour in the semi-finals.

157—Herman Ayres lost in the finals to Jack Grubbs of Ritenour, 5-0, to gain a second place.

191—Gary Burdick lost to Paul wrestling of Ritenour in the finals by a takedown in the last 10 seconds.
