50c Per Day Wages--

In a Southern Illinois Daily newspaper a ten-inch advertisement appeared which contained the following declaration concerning persons unable to pay their debts: "We urge your cooperation in vouching out the non-deserving who have all had very lenient offers, such as 50c to a $1.00 per day to apply on one or more accounts, which sum would not pay the large sums they owe for years, but would show their honest intention." If the unemployed population find it difficult to live on relief, how can they be expected to live on 50c a day? We wonder if the person running this ad. would be willing to accept one of these very lenient offers of 50c a day for labor and, if he did, how much money would there be to pay debts with. The $1.00 a day wage might take care of the worker, but what about his family? Who can maintain a decent standard of living on 50c a day? If such elements of our population think that this is the best way to solve our unemployment problem, then they would certainly bring us Fascism and not Americanism—M. P. M.

Auditorium Badly in Need of Proper Acoustics

At the present time there seems to be a lot of controversy on this campus concerning new buildings and their improvements. There is one thing that should be brought before the students of the college—it is far better to have a small well-equipped college than it is to have a large, sprawling, poorly-finished institution. Shryock Auditorium has been considered one of the most beautiful buildings in Southern Illinois, but it is well-known that the acoustical properties are very poor. The fact that the sound is reflected and not absorbed makes the tones we hear harsh and in some places scarcely audible. This unfortunate condition could be remedied by treating the flat surfaces of our auditorium with a highly absorbent material. It comes in units made of rock wool, is fireproof, and affords permanent and excellent-sound and light reflection. The State Legislature has recently appropriated a sum of $7300 to be used in painting and redecorating our Auditorium. Instead of spending this money on redecoration and continuing to have such poor acoustics we recommend the treatment we have described. This would be permanent and would provide a low cost maintenance—simple and cheap in comparison to the losses we are now suffering. This remedy should be put into effect before the next Co-operative Concert season gets under way. Several Universities, notably the University of Iowa and Washington University, have spent thousands of dollars in like projects. If these universities think this is important surely S. I. N. U. should consider its value. P. M. and R. R.

S. I. N. U. TO HAVE CHAPTER OF ENGLISH FRAT.

Members Must Pledge to Do Creative Writing

A charter of the Sigma Tau Delta English fraternity has been granted to a group of students, headed by Robert Power, who are English majors interested in creative writing. The granting of this charter marks the beginning of a new honor fraternity on the S. I. N. U. campus. To be eligible for membership a student must be an English major, an honor student, and pledge to contribute at least one original piece of writing a year. It is probable that a group from the chapter at the Southeastern Missouri State Teachers' College at Cape Girardeau will accept the charter and certificates and conduct the initiatory ceremonies. Sigma Tau Delta is a national English fraternity with headquarters at Wayne, Mo.

OUTSTANDING CAST PRESENTS SOCRATIC PLAY

"Laburnum Grove", Spring Production, Is Thursday, May 25

An outstanding cast will present the Socratic Literary Society spring production, "Laburnum Grove", Thursday evening, May 25, in Shryock Auditorium. The play is written by J. B. Priestley, English dramatist, and is considered the last word in subtle and amusing mystery. The part of George Farnham, who is the leading character as a suburban business man in North London, is played by Robert G. Reid, who played the blind fortune teller in the "Yellow-Jacket". Dorothy Hadden, one of the leading men, will be portrayed by Lucylella Johnson. Faye Johnson, who has her first appearance on the S. I. N. U. stage in the role of Chow Wan, a siren in the "Yellow-Jacket", will play the part of the Buddha's daughter, Elsie. Julian Johnson will be Harold Russ, her fiancé. The role of Bernard Buxley, Elsie's uncle, will be taken by Harry Kline, who will be remembered for his striking characterization of the Danford in the recent "Yellow-Jacket". Kline is a veteran of Socratic plays, having acted in "Comed-Light" and "The Torch-Bearers". Mary Ellen Evans will play the role of his wife, Miss Priestley.

Inspector Slack, representative of Scotland Yard in the play, is impersonated by Gaylord Whitlock, another veteran of the S. I. N. U. stage. He played the leading role in the past season's "Moria" as the valet to the prince. He also appeared in this season's homecoming play, "First Lady". Paul Moseley will play the part of Radford's neighbor, Joe Pletten. The part of Sergeant Morley will be taken by James Chandler, who appeared in the "Yellow-Jacket", and "First Lady". Moseley, Lucylella Johnson, Evans, and Julian Johnson are newcomers to the S. I. N. U. stage. This cast, with the help of the stage set committee, is expected to deliver a first rate performance on the night of May 25. The stage set committee is composed of Johnnie Carver, chairman, Betty Funk, Stanley Klans, Robert Callis, Virginia Heilig, Robert Winegarner, and Gene McCreynolds. The play is under the direction of Miss Dorothy B. Magana.

The plot of "Laburnum Grove", concerns George Radford, a middle-aged suburban business man who lives his quiet and uneventful life in a small house near London. He is hardened with relatives who are spending on him and are always trying to borrow money. Furthermore, his prospective son-in-law pretends to be an added sponsor. At the psychological moment, George throws the general assembly of students on that date. The National Conservation Bureau, as is not generally known, is the safety instrumentality of the capital stock insurance companies. The bureau has been described as an accident fighting organization and fights them in four general ways: By training educators, trade engineers, police officers and others directly concerned with public safety; by developing accident-prevention projects to be used by insurance agents, safety engineers, and others; by conducting research, including development of safety codes and standards; and by helping cities to undertake traffic safety and fireproof safety programs. Obviously, the bureau's chief field of action is the promotion of such safety activities by the continued activities we will result in substantial reduction of accidents.

K. N. BEADLE TO LECTURE HERE JUNE 30

The most recent project of the bureau was the grant to New York University for the purpose of establishing the Center for Safety Education. Also, the bureau developed and published over 200,000 copies of the text "Man and the Motor Car" which are in use in over 4000 high schools in the country, 600 of them in Illinois. In addition, the bureau has published numerous research and investigations having to do with safety and methods of teaching safety.

The bureau has also assisted with the establishing of police training schools at Bureau, Northwestern, Pennsylvania State, Yale and other universities. A staff of traffic engineers employed by the bureau are constantly working with the communities and cities in mapping out safety programs.

Mr. Beadle, as Director of the Education Division, has a wide experience in the organization of safety courses of instruction of all types of safety. An open forum discussion is planned for the afternoon of Mr. Beadle's visit to which college students who are interested, and safety instructors in Southern Illinois are invited. Wilfred E. Brown graduated from the Southern Illinois State Normal University in 1927. At present he is enrolled in the St. Louis University Dental School. While at the University of Illinois, he did research in bacteriology under Dr. L. H. Thomas. Wilfred is married and has one child.

GEO. BOOMER WILL ATTEND MEDICAL SCHOOL

George Boomer, '39, Carbondale, has accepted an appointment to Northwestern Medical School. Only 120 students were accepted from a group of 1500 who made applications to the University. Mr. Boomer has majored in zoology and has minored in chemistry here at Southern. Claire Eugene Carr, D. M. U. who is a former graduate of S. I. N. U., is an instructor in anatomy at the Medical School.

Northwestern Medical School, which is affiliated with the Passavant hospital, is located in DePaul University. It was organized in 1859 by the Medical Department of the University of Chicago, and was a pioneer in the advancement of medical education in the United States, as one of the first schools organized as the medical department of an existing university. In 1905 the Medical School became an integral part of Northwestern University. In 1924, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Ward gave the University the sum of four million dollars to be used for the erection of a building—a memorial to her husband, Montgomery T. PETERSEN TELLS IMPORTANCE OF INDIVIDUAL PROJECTS
Industrial Arts students have recently begun individual projects. Mr. L. C. Petersen, head of the department, says of the work:

"This work is to develop personal initiative, independent thinking, insight, and understanding of the requirements for a successful solution of this particular construction problem. This compels the student to study the nature and peculiarities of wood fibre and the strength of wood. The vital fact of 'grain' in wood is so emphatically impressed upon the mind of the student that he will never forget the principal facts concerning this important subject."

CHI DELTA CHI SWING TO BE FRIDAY, MAY 12

The annual Chi Delta Chi Student Swing is scheduled for Friday, May 12. It is to be held in the old gymnasium with Vince Genova's orchestra playing. About one hundred couples are expected to attend, besides a large number of guests of the fraternity, as well as guests of the individual members.

The committee in charge of the dance is: Bob Chambers, chairman; Ben McIntosh, James Cash, Carl McIntosh, Victor Tanquary, Max Davis.

ENTSINGER AND LAWSON HELP MAKE REPORT

A committee of ten supervisors and officers from the five state teachers' colleges of Illinois recently completed and published a report on the policies and procedures of preparing new teachers in this state. Appropriately enough, the report was published during the year of the one hundredth anniversary of the opening of the first state institution in the United States designed especially for the preparation of teachers. The committee which made the report was composed of two representatives from each of the Illinois State Teachers' Colleges. Members were selected by recommendation of the presidents of the colleges represented.

The survey was started in the winter of 1932-1933 and was completed in a little less than two years.

The committee found several recommendations in order but indicated that it "did not make any attempt to treat the general organization of the teachers' colleges of Illinois nor to evaluate their activities in any respect not affecting the actual instruction, supervision, or administration of student teaching." Further, the report strongly commended the present administration of student teaching and urged its recommendation of an organization with the statement: "The committee commends as democratic and progressive the present plan in all five colleges by which public schools in their natural setting and under its recommendation. Some plans seem disposed to keep 'close relationship between theory and practice, between the ideal and the practical. The student teacher is thus assured immediate, first-hand contact with actual public school situations."

The report, which is officially entitled "Student Teaching in the Teachers' Colleges of Illinois," was considered at the last meeting of the normal college. The final report comprises a twenty-three page bulletin published by the Illinois State Normal University Press at Normal, Ill.

2,169 Educators Sign Manifesto of Democracy

A manifesto signed by 2,169 American educators and publicists, summoning their colleagues to accept the responsibility of taking concrete action in activity in defense of democracy, has been released by a committee of seventeen outstanding educators and journalists together with the New York Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom.

The manifesto openly condemns fascism for its intolerance and suppression of civil liberties and urges educators to pledge their support to these measures that preserve and strengthen democracy—freedom, "of speech, press, assembly, and teaching. It states that "our schools must provide liberty and justice for all, without discrimination on account of poverty, sex, religious race," and that our teachers should freely circulate love of liberty and democracy among their pupils and associates.

The signatories of the manifesto include 155 college and university presidents, 6 state commissioners of education, 133 deans, and 39 heads-masters and principals of private schools, representing a total of 41 institutions from 46 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

CONFERENCES ON VOCATIONS DRAW 1000 YOUTHS

HEBRON, Ill., May 12—More than 1000 young people attended the 47th annual Vocational Youth Conference on Occupations and Employment held in southern Illinois during the past few days. It was announced today by John H. Foster, district director of the National Youth Administration, which promoted the conferences. The meetings were held in conjunction with local citizens' committees and high school authorities in the metropolitan area.

The state of Washington, and especially Puget Sound, is the beauty spot of America. If Frank L. Colver is still at the Normal, he will remember the folks that I have mentioned above.

I was a member of the class of 1887, and came to this state the same year and have lived here ever since. It is the best state in many ways that I have seen.

Albert E. Mead, now dead, class of 1885, was here soon after graduation and practiced law till his death. His wife and daughter still are here. A. E. Mead was governor of the state at one time.

John D. McEwen, class of 1889, had his wife here a long time ago. He taught school for a long time. They raised a family of four, all were teachers, are married now, leaving John D. and his wife alone. They live at 29th and Adams street.

Dr. John Hull, serving as president of S. I. N. U. came to Bellingham. He and his wife (Miss Anderson, former teacher at S. I. N. U.) lived here for several years.

C. M. Morgan, class of '89 or '90, was in the U. S. Immigration Service here for several years. I think he and his wife (see Kitty Hord) are now living in Portland, Oregon.

You will see that S. I. N. U. is fairly well represented here. The state of Washington, and especially Puget Sound, is the beauty spot of America.

FORMER SORCET MEMBER '87, WRITES FROM WASHINGTON STATE

By HALBERT GULLEY.
The motto of the Sorcetic Society "Once a Sorcet, always a Sorcet" was reiterated once again this week when the Society received a letter from a Sorcet now in Bellingham, Wash., who graduated from this school in 1887.

Mr. J. H. Kirkpatrick, who is still proud that he is a Sorcet, reminds us that there are still old time members scattered around the world who remember the organization at S. I. N. U.

The letter of interest to everyone concerned with S. I. N. U. reads: See of Sorcetic Literary Society, Carbonado, Illinois.

As one time member of the society, I take the liberty to write you so that you may know that a few of us are still here.

Chemistry Lab. Day Was Here Last Saturday

On Saturday, May 6, chemistry teachers and students from the high schools of Southern Illinois assembled on this campus. The main event was the speech which was delivered by Mr. John Kenneth Craver. He addressed the group on the subject "Plastics".

Later in the afternoon there were demonstrations in the laboratory and experiments showing the action of liquid air on various objects.

After the demonstrations, there were exhibits of models which the high schools brought with them. One of the most clever exhibits was presented by the Du Quoin high school, which showed the purification of water from the beginning to the very end.

The Carlo chemistry department performed an experiment on electrolysis and also displayed how certain household substances react when tested with litmus.

Among other projects which were exhibited were models prepared by the students of Mr. Brock, chemistry instructor at the Mt. Vernon high school. Their exhibits were: The contact process for the preparation of sulphuric acid; a coal gas experiment, in which coal gas and coke were actually made from coal; and white rats, two of which were fed good food and two of which were given food high did not contain the essential body-building elements.

Projects were also shown by the following high schools: Anna-Jonesboro, Murphysboro, Harrisburg, Montezano, and Herrin.

J. W. MaGrave Directs at Band Festival

Mr. Wendell MaGrave, S. I. N. U.'s band director, conducted the band festival held May 8th at Johnston City, Ill. The program was presented by several high school musicians and was well received by those who attended. The program included marches: On the Mall, by Edwin Franko Goldman; Fleming Youth, and Polytechnic, both by W. P. McAdow; and overtures, Anconson by L. Chervinski, and Militaire, by Joseph Hayden. Other musical numbers were: Star Pictures, by Edwin Elgar, and Kiss Me Again, by Victor Herbert.

STUDENT COUNCIL FACULTY DANCE IS SUCCESS

One Hundred Fifty Couples Attend; Dancer and Singer Perform

The Student Council-Faculty dance Friday was the biggest and most popular of its kind ever to be held on the campus. There were about one hundred and fifty couples on the floor leaving enough space for dancing but making for enough proximity to have that friendly feeling necessary to make dances successful.

The orchestra of Vince Genova, popular swing-mastros in this section of the country, furnished the music for the dancers until twelve o'clock. A dancer and a singer were featured with the band.

A new feature of the dance was the serving of punch and cookies in unlimited quantities to the hot and thirsty dancers. The lighting, also, was novel. Japanese lanterns strung completely around the gym furnished necessary illumination.

The faculty and student get-together in the hall hour before the dance started, was considered successful enough to warrant other such meetings in future years, and similar functions will be held later, the next one to be during the coming summer term.

TWENTY-EIGHT MEN ARE IN RESIDENCE AT N. Y. A. HOUSE

On May 20, the N. Y. A. Residence Project, located near the campus, has completed its first year of existence, but it has already proved its right to permanence.

After an hour's visit to the project, an "EXPOSER" reporter came away convinced that the N. Y. A. boys are succeeding in one of the most worthwhile enterprises ever undertaken in connection with this college.

Twenty-eight men are now in residence in the "Dowdell" estate dwelling, and they pay the rent from their N. Y. A. wages. During the present N. Y. A. term, which is scheduled to coincide with the college term, ten of the boys have left the project, but eight of that number left to accept private employment.

The boys are not living in luxury, but neither are they camping out, although whatever comforts they have are the results of their own efforts and initiative. From scrap lumber they have constructed lockers, wardrobes, and closets, shoe racks, and other furniture. Out of the $25.00 a month the boys receive from the N. Y. A., they refund $20.00 to the house fund for their utilities.

Each boy receives five dollars a month from his wages for spending money.

GAMMA THETA UPSILON REWARD GOOD STUDENTS

Each year the Lambda Chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon recognizes those of its senior members who have made the high scholastic records in their geography courses.

This year, Bonnie Mae Allen was first with a 5. average in her courses and will receive membership in the National Council of Geography Teachers, and the Journal of Geography free for one year.

Second was Leonard Taylor with a 4.5 average in all geography courses which he took. He will receive a membership in the Illinois State Academy of Science for a year and the annual publication of that organization.

Honorable mention goes to Wayne Groves and Virginia Sims, each with 4.6 averages.

Three of these four students are charter members in the new honorary scholastic fraternity, Kappa Delta Pi.

Several boys are active in salvage work, one phase of which is the daily collection and baling of all waste paper from the college buildings. The boys keep in regular touch with the waste paper market in order to get the best prices obtainable for a material that ordinarily would go up in smoke.

The N. Y. A. Residence Project is certainly not a rehabilitation project. These boys are not being rebuilt; they don't need rebuilding; but they do need what they're getting, which is simply, the chance to find out what they can do.

Book Store Managers Meet at St. Louis

By W. C. FLYE

Manager College Book Store.

The seventeenth annual convention of the National Association of College Store Managers met at the Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis, on April 24-25, in connection with this convention there were exhibits by fifty wholesale houses carrying merchandise in which college book stores might be interested. The meeting was very interesting as well as instructive to all managers present.

There were managers registered at the way from New York to Texas and California. Problems connected with the operation of college book stores were discussed.

The high light of the entire convention was a talk by Ed C. Rather of the University Cooperative Stores, Austin, Texas. This is the store that supplies the books and school supplies for the University of Texas. Mr. Rather has been manager of this store for twenty-two years. In this time he has encountered most of the problems it would seem that might arise in connection with the operation of this kind of business. He is a very plain, unassuming, practical man who has met these problems in a suitable manner. He especially stressed cooperation between the faculty and the store management and the building of good feeling and a spirit of helpfulness toward and with the student body. He said it is a part of the policy of their store to enter into the spirit of campus activities of the students and to be of whatever help or assistance is possible.

Mr. Rather also took up the matter of profits. He said these should always be reasonable and fair, but that any cooperative or other type of college book store that attempted to operate at one would, in the final analysis, and itself actually operating at a loss and would end by committing business suicide. He said good management presupposes a profit, and at some of this is a service agency, but not a philanthropic institution.

Mr. Rather's talk all the way through was very inspiring and helpful due to the fact that it was so practical and was an answer, and in our opinion, a sensible answer, to many of the problems that arise in the management of a college book store. His talk was followed by a round table discussion in which some of the things that were bothering other managers were taken up and discussed. Altogether the talk and the discussion were very interesting to anyone engaged in this line of business.

ALUMNI NEWS

W. A. Howe, '31, is at present in residence at Mt. Vernon, Ill., the summer home of the W. P. A. The next summer Mr. Howe received his M. S. degree from the University of Illinois.

Willard Johnson, '31, until this year has been teaching at Gilead, Mo. At present he is teaching science in the Mount Vernon High school.

Carl R. Williams is teaching biology, chemistry, and general science in Argo Community High school. In addition he is teaching an evening class in industrial chemistry sponsored by the Auto Products Corporation. He is working on his Masters thesis at the University of Illinois under the direction of Dr. A. E. Sauerb.

Another item on the program that aroused quite a little interest was "College stores and the Fair Trade Laws." Fair trade laws are in effect at this time in forty-four states. As you know Fair Trade laws do not allow price cutting on nationally advertised merchandise. The convention of college stores at this time in 1928 went on record as opposing Fair Trade laws. However, quite a number of college store managers opposed them. The question was up again at St. Louis for discussion. Mr. Nathan C. Baker of G. & C. Merriam, representing the publishers, and Mr. Fred Traut, representing the University of Chicago, read papers and spoke in favor of fair trade laws. Mr. Emerson H. Laird, representing the book store at the University of Ohio, spoke against the maintenance of prices on books and merchandise.

After these talks the question was then open for discussion. Mr. Laird's position was attacked from every quarter and it appeared that his foundation was literally torn from under him before the discussion closed. The first speaker on the topic that followed began by saying "Now I hope I'll not be put on the spot" like Mr. Laird was. So consensus of opinion again seemed to be overwhelmingly in favor of the "Fair Trade Laws."

The wholesalers' exhibits were visited by store managers, and quite a lot of orders were placed by those who were at liberty to buy. Of course, your store manager, as you know, could not participate in this way, as all this is done for at Springfield.

Altogether the convention was quite worthwhile, and some of the managers must have anticipated that it would be since they had come some from a thousand, some fifteen hundred miles away.

U. HIGH SCHOOL BAND WINS FIRST PLACE

Paterson's Pupils Win 16 Firsts and 20 Seconds

Under the direction of Charles Paterson, director, the University High school band received a unanimous vote for first place in the district band contest this year.

All told, the students under the direction of Mr. Paterson won sixteen firsts and twenty seconds at the contest. Seven students took first in the state band contest and six won second places.

This work is all the more outstanding when it is considered that this is the first year the University High has had an organized band. Plans are afoot to increase the effectiveness of the band by purchasing uniforms and new instruments.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD ANNUAL COOKIE SALE

The Esplanade Girl Scouts recently had their annual cookie campaign. In approximately three hours they sold 1000 boxes of "Girl Scout Cookies." Part of the receipts from this highly successful campaign will be used to help finance a week's camping trip for the girls.

The local organization is made up of two troops and one Brownie Pack. The Brownie Pack meets in the Allyn Training building and is sponsored by Mrs. Fred Barnes.

Miss Conits of the English department who is one of the sponsors stated that if there are any former Girl Scout workers who would be interested in working with any of the troops, they might get in touch with Mrs. Leo Brown, the local scoutmaster.

Mr. Logan Speaks at Vienna Kiwanas Club

Following the lead of the University High school, other high schools in Southern Illinois plan to photograph and screen high school activities for a vitalized commencement program. Mr. C. C. Logan, who is director of projection service at the local Aids on the campus, told how this work is being done, using films and film slides to illustrate his talk. Mr. I. C. Kerley, principal of Vienna Township High school, also spoke.

Coach Martin Declares Spring Football Practice Successful

By IKE SCHAFFER.

It was with a smile of satisfaction that Coach Abe Martin terminated spring football practice last week; a smile caused by the way the men have responded to this unprecedented procedure at Southern. The football men asked for spring practice, and Coach Martin agreed to work with them if they would show that they were really interested. Evidently they held up their part of the bargain, because Coach Martin remarked, "I am well pleased with the results of the six week practice, and I feel certain that it will pay dividends for us next fall."

Several of the men showed considerable improvement in the six weeks. Ray Bjorklund and Howard Hough, working at the center post, improved the accuracy of their passes considerably. This improvement should tend to minimize fumbles next season. Bob Gray and Everett Lewis, a transfer from Michigan State, spent several hours tossing passes to potential receivers. Charlie Frey

FACULTY PASTIMES

Note: To readers of this column (if any). Recently there appeared a gross misquoting—a mistake of no little weight. There appeared under the heading of this column something about the writer's middle name being Gullible. Evidently there must have been an error by his amanuensis because it should have appeared as T. Troublesome instead of G. Gullible. Such is life with a stenographer.

Dr. T. A. Scott, Chemistry department: "Hunting and fishing, but none of the big game endeavors—just small stuff. Quail hunting and bird dogs take up most of my spare time."

Dr. K. A. Van Lente, Chemistry department: "Mechanics fill most of my spare hours. I do like to hunt and fish, and I like Dr. Scott. I have my own lute that I made, and a shop with tools to go with it."

C. C. Logan, Physical Aids director: "Collecting magazines has been one of my pastimes for the past twelve years. The value of my total collection is about $400. I find that they often are of much help in teaching my classes. Although some of my students play with my magazines and tear their covers off, and others lose some, I still have most of my original copies. Besides reading and compiling literature, films have occupied part of my spare time for thirty years. However, that is now part of my business. Another is playing dominoes with chemistry equations."

Incidentally, Mr. Logan has a new game called "Chemistry dominoes," which he originated himself for persons interested in chemistry.

John I. Wright, History: "I used to play golf, but I fish now. I do like to hike and see the natural scenery and historical sights. Traveling around in the woods just suits me fine."

Anthony Hall's spring formal on the night of May 6 was made the occasion for the announcement of the engagements of Miss Mary Purdum to Harold West and Miss Dorothy Carver to Oscar Wright.

Miss Julia Harber and Miss Golda Harke were hostesses to seventy-eight couples. Dr. and Mrs. John Mayor, Mr. and Mrs. David McIntosh, and Dr. and Mrs. Louis Gellerman, who were the party's invited guests were: Dr. Melvin Sezal, Miss Hilda Stein, Miss Dorothy Magnus, Mr. Robert Paner, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Scott, and Mr. Thomas Whelan.

Dancing was to the music of Ledbetter's orchestra in the dining room of Anthony Hall which was decorated with flowers on a white lattice background. Part of the flowers were donated by Mr. Marberry. Miss Phares also gave a bouquet.

Harry E. Pantney, 25, has been county superintendent of schools of White county at Carmi for the past seven years.

MATHEMATICIANS SERENADE

I love you to the Nth degree.
A factor I can't deny.
I can't determine if you love me.
Give me your answer, why?

Am I too radical for you dear?
And what is the probability
Of us always being near?
Tell me your corollary.

We'd make a perfect combination
And in life we'd make progress.
We just won't have any variation.
That is my true confession.

Bi-nomial if I don't love you.
Your exponent I'll not be.
The ratio will be one to two.
A kiss for me and two for you.

Chapel Spokes: "Yes, usually my audiences are glad to hear their seats."
Fish: "What a quaint way of keeping them there."

And I still like the one about the boy that answered the telephone of an fraternity house and a deep voice at the other end of the wire informed him it was the president of the school speaking. In rare good form the student countered, "Well, how are you, Pres, this is Hitler speaking." A moment later a moment of silence was followed by a period of mutual embarrassment. The caller actually was the proxy. He talked to the student's father at an out-town meeting and had volunteered to give the boy the parent's message when he got back to Champaign.

It is easy enough to be pleasant when nothing is at hand to amiss. But the man who can smile in the man who can smile. When he reads a bun versus like this:

You're not a Ginger Rogers, love—
You're charms are much inferior.
To those that this fair movie star displays on her exterior.

I'd never term you "quite diving"
Nor liken to a flower—
You're not a Ginger Rogers, love—
Not a Tyronne Power.

It's no credit to me to be Akin to the street car conductor who takes a car ride on his holiday, and the postman who takes a walk on his vacation in the college student who spends his summer loafing.

IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE.

Approaching finals remind us of the unmet man: A professor, who when assured that students had studied hard for a scheduled three hour exam, said if that was the case, he wouldn't have to give it, and didn't.
