Monday Marks Launching of Drive For Building Site For Future S. C. F.

Students of S.I.N.U. under the leadership of Clotis and Curtis Hise are organized to launch a ten-day drive on the campus to raise $1000 for the new interdenominational foundation. The campaign will begin with a kick-off dinner, November 12, and close November 22, the day before Thanksgiving. A report dinner will be held on Monday, November 20. All students and friends of the Foundation will be invited to participate.

A Student Project

Many have felt that they as students should participate in the drive to secure a building site for the new Foundation. It was felt that while student giving cannot be as large as adult giving, it can be significant. Students, because they will benefit directly from such a project, feel urged to participate as students. So a student quota has been set and a campaign launched, not only to raise the goal, but also to show to our parents and alumni, the adults, that the project is not and need not be as well as appreciated by the students.

Campaign Contest

Those who are campaigning for the funds have been divided into two groups, the Maroons and the Whites. "Money" will be raised by student contact. Cards of the students to be canvassed are to be divided equally between the sides and equally among the "troop." It is hoped that students will not only give and give liberally to the person who comes to solicit them, but they in turn will be urged to visit their side in soliciting other students. It is hoped that the total of $1000 will be more than pleased with the amount of interest in cash to force the lead day.

Watch the Foundation Building

In an appropriate place on the campus will be located a skeleton outline of the Foundation with 1000 bricks outlined on the "troop." The bricks to be white or maroon? For every dollar secured by either side from student sources, a brick will be painted either white or maroon. Solicitors will be glad to take pictures as well as cash. This is a significant drive and one which will result in something truly to be used as a benefit for future generations. Every effort we make now to provide for more adequate facilities for our campus is to be better able to serve those who come to the Foundation to make their contribution. The more quickly to our campus and to serve those of our future generations.

'WACARAVAN' ARMY STAGE SHOW TUESDAY NIGHT IN SHRYOCK AUDITORIUM

Army representatives, arriving in Carbondale Tuesday, completed plans for the Sixth Service Command's presentation of the A&P's famed stage show, the Wacaravan here in Shryock Auditorium, next Tuesday night, Nov. 14, at eight o'clock.

The two-hour production featuring the performances of 30 enlisted men by the raw recruits of the public, according to Nick Masters, chairman of the committee for the Carbondale Businessmen's Association, under whose sponsorship the show comes here.

The Wacaravan was continued in its fourth of the Sixth Service Command by the raw recruits of the commanding general, Brig. Gen. R. Reynolds. It was obtained for the Illinois audience by Brig. Gen. W. C. O'Leary, commanding District 2.

The show centers around vaudeville-style acts and a brilliant 12-piece orchestra, members of which have played with some of the nation's leading name acts, among them those of Sammy Kaye, Anson Weeks, Chick Young and Gene Nichols, among others.

The featured instrumentalist with the show is a sensational pianist named Jack, who, according to Bobby Woodson, rated by no less an authority than Tommy Dorsey as one of the five greatest swing pianists in the states, and Gene Alberti, "The Big Crook" of Mexico, and former movie star.

For comedy the show has had other host of professional talent. Four of the stars appear in the

PROPOSED STUDENT CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION

The above is a conception of the building which shall house the program and activities of the Student Christian Foundation and other related activities. The building is one of which all can be proud. The illustration is a perspective from the southwest as the building faces University Avenue. It will be placed on a site within a hundred and fifty feet of the main entrance to the campus. The building will have three well developed and equipped floors for student use.

First Floor

This building is designed to have large, airy, sunny classrooms, where students can meet for study and for religious education. There will also be provided adequate space for a library where a student can study or where he can borrow books for use outside of the Foundation.

In light of these considerations, it was decided to launch the campaign for the building for the leaders of the city and campus to share in its accomplishment and to proceed with enthusiasm. It is realized that Carbondale's interest and action will do much to challenge the rest of Illinois in the securing of an adequate building fund.

THIS IS WHERE EACH OF US CAN HELP.

THE FUTURE IS IN OUR HANDS.

The very nice, very old, lady in the front seat kept turning around and looking at me. I felt uneasy. I held a A in my bag, but I was not a fan of an inventor. She was the type of lady that always has her hand on her hip and her eyes on you as she can find out how long they have been away from home. VIEWS OF THE VETS

By MYRON O'BRIEN

That a drunk soldier sitting behind me kept muttering "I don't see that soldier in his right mind" was the first I saw most of the play through a hat. I thoroughly enjoyed the comedy, and a new comedy, "The Soldier's Tale," by the same author. At the end of the play, David McIntosh, complete with his new uniform, led the audience in singing the Alma Mater.

After the play a swarm of happy people assembled on the old foot-bridge for the traditional leaving of the ground. Up above the foot-bridge was like an inverted bowl, framed full of sparkling stars, down below the bridge was the same and Dick Avila was all over the field leading a lively snare.

A happy bonfire, fed by Freshman green, sent spirals of smoke swirling upward into the sky. If this account is wrong, I'm sorry and maybe it's because I didn't see it.

Saturday afternoon Southern met Southern Teachers in the annual Homecoming football classic. It was Southern who won with a score of 14-0. The game was a real one, with the line men doing a lot of work.

At the half the veterans who had been in the service for a long time were present. They were all very happy and some of them were giving out flowers to the children.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the queen, who was accompanied by the page boys. The queen was crowned by the king and the page boys.

Webster defines the word basement as "the lowest story of a building." Nothing is mentioned concerning the practical use of it, nor of its importance. In fact, one never associates a basement with popularity. However, the basement of the Parkinson Laboratory is probably the basest, most important, and most popular one to exist anywhere.

Entrance to the laboratory is made by a single door. It is a small, dark, and somewhat dingy place. The door is made of wood and has a handle that is made of metal.

While on his tour, Bing spent two days in England and did many shows for the C. I. S. He said the boys preferred Salt and Vinegar, Star Dust, Swing on a Star, and especially White Christmas, which seems to be a general favorite everywhere.

His first concert in this country was at the University of Chicago. He was accompanied by the Kama Orchestra, and as a result, has received one of the most successful concerts of all time.

The Swing Quartet in F Major is quite different from the Kama Quartet. This one was organized in the last four years of his life and displays his inimitable touch and feeling through the medium of four stringed instruments.

The Piano Concerto No. 1 in G Major was the second of Beethoven's published concertos. It is a study in urgency, and then goes into a truly poetic finale movement. The finale, with a tempo of "Allegretto," concludes the composition.

The soloist for the piano concerto is Anja Dorfmann, who was the first woman instrumentalist to appear as a soloist under the Toccata and Fugue.

There is no frigate like a book to take us lands a way. No man can measure a pace Of prancing poetry. That drives me the poorest back Without a word of loss. How fresh is the chariot That bears a human soul.

Questions have been asked about Ernestine Cox's new volume. Everyone wants to know the history of the beautiful collection. Ernestine tells the following story to satisfy the curiosity of the succeeding students.

The violin is approximately one hundred years old, but the exact date when it was made is not known. It is said to have been given its name to the poetess, and make no preparations. Come tomorrow for a joyful trip to see the violin.

Ernestine got this violin from an old man in her family. He was a musician and he had a collection of violins. She was a violinist and she had a collection of violins.

SOUTHERN LOSES FINAL OUT-OF-TOWN GRID GAME IN FOURTH STANZA SPREE

After holding Cape Girardeau for the first time since 1930, the Southern team was forced to punt. This time Hoot carried through center and kicked his own conversion. Cape's other touchdown was made in the last minute of play by Watta.

S. Department of Commerce.

Coach "Abel" Martin substituted freely both on the line and in the backfield, throwing into the Indians a score which didn't wear off until they had rolled up a comfortable margin in the third quarter. Southern took the ball at the outset but after gaining insufficient yardage was forced to punt. Cape finished on the second play and the Cuban returned for Southern on the 26. This set up the Maroons' drive which was capped by a 30-yard punt to Nelson, gave Southern a first down and put the ball on the Cape's 4 yard line. On the third try, Hoot kicked a field goal to tie the score.

Cape took the return kick to Southern's 45. From here they started a drive of four first downs which resulted in a touchdown by Watta. Cape failed to convert.

At the beginning of the second quarter Cape had the ball on their own 19 after intercepting a Southern pass. The ball changed hands several times during the period and Cape was in Southern's possession when the half ended.

The third period was also an exchange of punts with neither team scoring. Cape kicked the ball early in the second quarter but the Indians' third score came almost immediately after Southern's drive.

A SOUTHERN WIN WOULD BE FIRST SINCE 1930

When Southern Illinois Normal's grid team faces DeKalb Teachers at McAndrew Memorial Stadium this afternoon, they will be seeking their first IAC football championship since 1930.

The DeKalb team, which has a perfect record of 5 wins, is average sized with large tackles and ricky backs. For their offensive the Northern team uses a formation, with an occasional shift into a single wing to the right. Their chief offensive weapon is a forward pass with a lateral.

Farmers Fraternize As Future Framers

After two years Southern has an Agriculture Club. On October 18, 1944 Mr. R. E. Mackelroy, Chief of the Department of Agriculture, gathered his students together in the agriculture room in Old Main. Officers were elected, plans were made and it was decided that there would be a meeting every Wednesday night. The officers are as follows:

President—Harold Barnard. Vice-President—Vernon Smith. Secretary—Bill Aldrich. Treasurer—Walter Piro. The first outing this new club enjoyed was a winter coast out on the State Park October 25, 1944. There were fellows and girls (Mackelroy and Dr. C. H. Simon) who were out on the coast. They went to the shore and saw the marshes, game, and a full evening of meritment. "And," President Barnard added with a smile, "there was even a full moon."

Bosley Offers Plan At Louisville Meet

Mr. Howard Bosley, associate professor of Education at Louisville, Kentucky, November 6, was asked to present his plan for Personal Administration at the annual meeting of the American Association of Teachers College. The members of the Committee on Personal Administration, Central Michigan College of Education, Dr. Paul Boynton, President, Stephen F. Austin State University, Dr. J. H. H. Williams, President, Marshall College, Huntington, West Virginia, and Dr. William H. Vaughan, President, Eastern Kentucky University, were present.

Fresh Test Results Are Now Available

The results of the 1944 Freshman class examinations taken in September have now been compiled and are on file in the Dean of Men and Women's office in the Bureau of Child Guidance. Freshmen students are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to check their own standing.

The present Freshman testing program is a part of the general orientation program, and is designed especially to inform students, counselors, and heads of departments of each student's general achievement level in the tool subjects of reading, mathematics, and language arts. Upon these three areas depends the student's present ability to meet the English literature and government class assignments; to work the problems in chemistry and physics; and to meet the demands of the book reports and term papers.

Freshman students learn of their test results in terms of grade placement, or in terms of average percentile placements. The average Freshman should obtain a grade placement of 12.6 in order to be considered achieving "average" Freshman status. The average percentile placement is the 50th percentile, which means 50 per cent of the students score lower than your score, and 50 per cent score above you.

Students who learn they are deficient in reading, math, science, and foreign language areas should make every effort to correct the deficiency in as short a time as possible. The Freshman Testing Program is in charge of Mrs. Douglas Parry and numerous freshmen have already come to the office of the Bureau of Child Guidance to find out their standing in the different areas and what they should do about any deficiencies. Other freshmen may likewise make an appointment for such conferences. It is hoped that the college will increase plans for the course in reading, math, and language arts in some instances students should be asked to take last four current academic subjects, plus the credit course. While at the time the student may feel he is being treated by this restricted course, nevertheless, it offers him an opportunity to gain the necessary background so that he may, in the future, compete successfully in his general college classes.
