Officers for the sophomore, junior and senior classes at Southern will be elected next Friday at the same time as the election of the Homecoming Queen, and her attendants.

The list of original nominees has been subjected to a broad revision since upon required investigation of the names based on credit of each of the candidates, several were found to possess insufficient credit to be considered as members of the class in which they were nominated for office.

Following is the complete list of the eligible nominees for next Friday's election:

Admission will be by activity list.

COLLEGE MUSEUM RECEIVES OWEN COLLECTION

Valuable Collection of Historical Articles Now on Display by Museum Staff

The valuable "Owen" collection of historical artifacts, documents, and publications has just been received by the S. I. N. U. museum and is being prepared for exhibit, under the supervision of John Allen, director of the WPA History Museum project, and John I. Wright, department of history. The collection, a few items of which may be seen on exhibit now, includes several hundred pieces, and was donated by the living grandchildren of Dr. George L. Owen, one of the early settlers of Rainbridge, pioneer town near Marion.

Dr. Owen came to Illinois from Massachusetts, and built his first clapboard house, prior to 1829. Two grandchildren are now living on the same farm in a house completed in 1860. During his lifetime, Owen served as postmaster of Rainbridge for more than thirty years. He also held the positions of land official, farmer, trader, and railroad agent; thus his collection is composed of a wide variety of articles.

Among the books are various encyclopedias, Bibles, government surveys, classical literature, hymnals, Volume 2 of the North American Review, 1829, and medicinal treatises, one of which was printed in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1813. There are lightbulbs of various types—Curtis for readers and blackboard spellers, and college texts used by Dr. Owen's son, who later became a lieutenant in the Union army during the Civil War.

The historical articles in the collection include military decorations of Lieutenant Owen. A few of Dr. Owen's surgical instruments, hand-made wooden kitchen utensils, jars, and the trunk which Dr. Owen's father brought to this country from Wales.

A history of the Owen family is being prepared by the living members and will be added to the collection later. In connection with the work being done on this subject, representatives of a number of other pioneer families near Rainbridge are being interviewed on the early history of the town. The Owen house is the only one left on the site of the town. The college museum now owns the original stone used at the Rainbridge mill as early as 1815.

Robert Link Is Homecoming Play Stage Designer

The set for the Homecoming play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," will be designed and executed under the direction of Little Theatre's head technician, Robert Link, assisted by a large staff of technicians. The design for the living room is Victorian in spirit, but is varied by the introduction of modern furniture and properties. The colors of the background are characteristic of the Victorian period, whereas the tonality of both furniture and stage props is modern in note.

This year's choice of Homecoming play gives the staff an opportunity to create an interior setting—a scenic problem with which they had not been faced for two years.

The personnel of the technical staff will be announced in next week's issue. Committees are already at work on the diversified activities of producing a play of the magnitude of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Kaufman and Hart's satirical three act comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which is this year's choice for Homecoming play, takes place in a small Ohio town. Mesalls by name. The action of this riotously humorous satire is confined to the living room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanley, socialites of Mesalls.

WILL SING HERE NEXT FRIDAY

Lansing Hatfield, prominent young American baritone, who will be the first concert artist to appear at the college this year under the auspices of the Cooperative Concert Association. He will present a concert next Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium.

COLLEGE ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM TO FEATURE RECORD-BREAKING BROADWAY COMEDY COOP ARTISTS

Lansing Hatfield, Baritone, Opens Season Friday; "Life With Father" to Be Presented by Chicago Cast

With the appearance of Lansing Hatfield, young American baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company at Stryock Auditorium Friday, October 17, the Carbondale Cooperative Concert Association will begin its 1941-42 season. Chiefly due to support given to the Carbondale Association by the college, this association has the largest budget of any Cooperative Concert Association in the western district, which includes all states in the Midwest and Far West. This means, according to Dr. Robert U. Fauser, faculty representative of the Inter-Cooperative Council that the members of the Carbondale association and the students of Southern receive more entertainment for the money than any similar group in the western part of the United States.

The features of the Carbondale Concert program are incorporated into the SINO entertainment program each year. The program to be presented this year contains many outstanding artists in the fields of music, drama, art, and the dance.

On October 30 the Graft Ballet, composed of fifteen dancers, modern rather than classical in tradition, will perform at Stryock Auditorium. Thomas Hart Benton, one of America's best known painters and a native of nearby Missouri, will lecture at Southern November 1. What is perhaps the biggest entertainment feature of the year will come December 18, when the company which broke all existing theatrical records in Chicago will present "Life With Father." Admission will be charged for the single performance, to be given at night. Prices will be $2.50 and 50c. All seats will be reserved.

The afternoon's meetings featured a round table session devoted to various phases of college journalism. Russell Harrison, two-year business manager of the Egyptian, presided at one of these sessions, "Improving the Business Staff." Harrison presided in the place of Dr. William B. Schmeidler, Egyptian sponsor, who was unable to attend the conference.

Chosen by representatives from every campus organization, Mr. Reynolds will work with Dr. Orville Alexander, faculty chairman of Homecoming, in supervising the work of seven sub-committees which are composed of students and their faculty sponsors.

Mr. Reynolds is the second general student chairman of Homecoming in the history of Southern, as it was only last year that the plan of making Homecoming an all-student affair was inaugurated.

"Punkin Hollow" Party Tonight

A "Punkin Hollow" party with games, songs, dancing, and what have you, will be held in the gym of the old Science building tonight from 8 o'clock until 12. The Rural Life Club is sponsoring this, their first big event of the year. Everyone is invited to attend.

NIGHT-SHIRT PARADE AND KID PARTY SCHEDULED FOR NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Mourning Ceremony and Pep Rally Will Also Be Features of Girls' Rally Festivities

The annual night shirt parade and kid party sponsored jointly by the Girls' Rally Committee and Southern Knights will take place next Friday night previous to the Southern March game on next day.

Pep Rally

The entire evening will be a giant pep rally that will include every student in the college. The event will begin with three huge torchlight parades of night-shirt clad men and children, a parade commencing at the campus yard. The parade down East Grand avenue will begin across the railroad tracks, the one from West Grand in front of the Kappa Delta Alpha House, and the main procession in front of the Chi Delta Chi house. Students moving along the lines of march will join in the parade as they come by the various cornering houses and street corners. All sections of the parade will reach full strength when they converge at the campus square.

A mourning ceremony around the wooden coffin of deceased March will follow immediately after which the massive procession will go to the athletic field. There an enormous bonfire will light the whole field and the costumed pepsters will take part in a parade along the lines of march to the field. Speeches will be made by Coach Abe Martin, Athletic Director William McAndrew, and all the football players. Southern's top leaders will lead the group in yells and songs.

Following the pep session, every student will go to the Old Science gym for the kid party dance. The "no date" affair will feature prizes for costumes, refreshments, and novelty luncheon as well as "Jumper" jazz dancing. Tickets for the dance are part of a make good for the Girls' Rally Committee and the Southern Knights. A record crowd is expected to attend this big event.

CIVILIAN MORALE

In order to build civilian morale, soundly based on understanding of the problems arising from the world crisis, the President has requested Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt to develop and inaugurate a nation-wide program of public discussion.

"The genius of American democracy," the President stated in a letter to Mr. McNutt, "is expressed in the traditional independence and freedom of our state and local schools and school systems."

The President also referred to the "beneficial results" of the forums and study-discussion groups developed since 1935 through the Federal Forum Project of the Office of Education.

Both the President and Mr. McNutt emphasized the great value of educational forums and public discussion which have been promoted during the past six years by the United States Office of Education.

"Good morale," said Mr. McNutt, "is as important to defense as guns and planes. Morale in a democracy is unity of purpose based on common understanding. That kind of morale thrives on free and full discussion."

Mr. McNutt announced that he was calling on the United States Commissioner of Education, John W. Studebaker, to take immediate steps to adapt the experience and organization of the Office of Education in launching the program proposed by the President.

CLASS ELECTIONS

Though in full realization that we're treading in the same old rut again, here goes anyhow. It's all about student class elections.

When the polls close next Friday we will have new class officers, officers who have been supposedly elected by class members through a system whereby the majority rules.

But does the majority rule? Past elections show a negative interest on the part of our students toward campus political participation.

Seemingly, what this college needs is to stir up some interest, maybe an air raid or a murder would help—but granting the probability of neither there might be other means of stirring up interest.

Our campus politics might be materially aided if there were issues in elections, if there were signs, placards, stumps and soap box speeches, and even cigars.

At present nearly all student elections are mere popularity polls. They have degenerated into this sorrowful state through lagging interest on our own parts.

With a little work almost any organized group can secure the election of one of their members as a SINU class officer. As a result these organized groups secure a preponderance of officers, this followed by an undercurrent of destructive criticism thrown at these successful candidates and their backers.

WHAT ABOUT LINDBERGH?

Charles A. Lindbergh became a nationally known figure and hero because of his epoch-making flight from New York to Paris. Admittedly he is a great aviator. Because he is widely known, he has a large audience when he speaks. His people regard him as an authority on social, economic, and political problems.

First of all let us look at Lindbergh's views on social problems here in the United States. He has never, by word or deed, shown the slightest interest in the welfare of the poor and oppressed. On the contrary he has shown by his acts that his interests lie with the industrialists and Tories. There is little doubt that he is a reactionary.

Lindbergh is now traveling about the country making frequent addresses which urge the halting of aid to Britain and a "negotiated peace" with Hitler. He claims (as Hitler now does) that the Nazis have no designs against the Western Hemisphere or the United States. He states that Roosevelt has destroyed our democratic form of government and that Roosevelt, not Hitler, is the man who is trying to dominate the world.

There is little doubt that the surest way to insure a Nazi victory is to do as Lindbergh urges: stop aid to Britain. Most of us do not agree with Lindbergh that we have nothing to fear from a victorious Germany. In the early days of Nazism, when the leaders were more discreet in disclosing their goals, Hitler said he intended to crush all the "plutocratic" democracies and rule the world with the Germans as the master race.

Lindbergh asks for a "negotiated peace" with the Nazis. Anyone with one eye and half sense knows by now that it does no good to negotiate with Hitler. Promises and treaties mean nothing to him. He breaks them when it suits his purpose.

While Lindbergh was in Europe many events occurred to show that he was a Nazi sympathizer. He made frequent trips to Germany from France, Britain, and Russia, and was treated like a hero by the Nazi chiefs. There Hitler bestowed upon him the second highest honor of the German Reich.

Lindbergh's report on Russia's air force helped cause Czechoslovakia's death. At this time Russia charged that he was a spy. Evidently Lindbergh's expressed opinion of the Red Air Force was incorrect for the "annihilated" Russian Air Force still flies weeks after Hitler started doing his worst.

Lindbergh never has a word of support for democracy. He never says a word of admiration for the British people and the great struggle they are making to halt Nazi aggression. Instead he warns us that England is likely to turn against the United States before the war ends.

NEW HOMECOMING FEATURE

"Some men were born to be leaders; others to be followers. It takes as much energy, usually more, to be as good a follower as to be a leader." Since this quotation is recognized to have some semblance of truth in it, it should be good advice to the students.

On November 8, the Homecoming season will culminate at the dance and, for the students' benefit, Herbie Kay, famous orchestra leader, will have the chore of whirling the bazon. We haven't been as fortunate in the past to engage an orchestra that will measure up to Kay's height, nor have we been able to engage an orchestra who will give a SWINGPHONY preceding the dance.

It is something that requires profound analysis. Then when the Nazis sanded out their official explanation, Lindbergh offered a corresponding explanation to America, Lindbergh said that Hitler had gone to war against Poland because Britain and France forced him to, and that Hitler had attacked France and Britain because they would not let him attack Russia.

The function of a newspaper in a democracy is brought to our attention by the observance during the past week of National Newspaper Week. It reminds us that freedom of expression is one of the four fundamental freedoms without which democracy cannot survive.

As applied to the college newspaper, it has a particular meaning. The college paper is fundamentally an organ of student expression. We at Southern can have that full freedom of expression since we have a newspaper whose administration is dominated by students alone.

This week the paper and its editor have been subjected to criticisms; the body who officially represent the student body has been also subjected to the critical limelight.

In a recent address Lindbergh revealed a part of his philosophy which confirm the view that he is a fascist. First appealing to the isolationist sentiment in the United States, he blamed the Jewish people along with the British and Roosevelt administrations for attempting to bring the United States into full participation in the war.

There is talk of making Lindbergh a presidential candidate in the next presidential election. After reading Sinclair Lewis' "It Can't Happen Here," I shudder to think what might happen should he be elected. What a fright man! He is dangerous. Regard with utmost suspicion every word he says. The facts show him to be a fascist.

COLLEGE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT SPONSORS VOCATIONAL MEETING

An important meeting of Southern Illinois High School Administrators and Agricultural teachers was held on the S. I. N. U. campus yesterday afternoon. It was one of the nine meetings held throughout the state this week for the purpose of organizing the National Defense Training program for out-of-school rural youth.

At this meeting organizational plans for the out-of-school rural youth training program were announced. Four types of training are to be offered to rural youth. Farm carpentry, farm mechanics, general metal work, and electrical work. All are intended toward development of better farmers.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Harry:— Just so I can walk about the campus and feel safe from any over-zealous "leaders" attack, let me try to explain myself.

When I wrote the article "His Speech For His Self" for last week's Egyptian, I had little idea that I would call down the personal attention of Mr. Polan upon my head. I certainly had no intention of starting any "end," being of a very peaceful nature.

And what happened? Mr. Polan, full of pity for the poor weak intellects who had failed to understand him, and seemingly burning to start a journalistic feud, gave the college in general and me in particular his answer.

He did everything except clear up anything. He was so generous as to offer me three guesses as to whether his explanation was meant seriously or not. If I gave a reply, it would have to be a guess, for I confess I couldn't quite keep up with his illogical explanations.

Mr. Polan's mention of Mother Goose quite keeps up with his illogical explanations. If he meant it humorously I think his own suggestion that an explanation be added to this work is a good one, so that we can tell what he is talking about.

Twelve Games Carried On Maroons' 1941-42 Basketball Schedule

Tentative List Includes Foes From Five States and Old Mexico

Although the basketball season is only a dim blur on the sports horizon at the present time, Coach William McAndrew this week released a tentative hardwood schedule for the Maroon basketballers of 1941-42.

The games thus far scheduled include foes from five states, including Mexico City's YMCA team that will come to Charleston for two games on January 14.

At the present time, little can be said as to the type of team that will represent Southern on the hardwood. The team received a severe lashing when "Skat" Corbett, Bob Hunter, and Fred Campbell failed to enroll at the beginning of the fall term.

FROM THE PRESS BOX

Southern's football camp took on added interest this week as members of the traveling squad began putting up new plays and testing out old injuries in preparation for their first road trip of the season when they invade Jonesboro College of Arkansas on Saturday, October 11.

The Jonesboro lads have had a very disheartening introduction to their 1941 football season, but this type of beginning can never be relied upon to remain throughout the season. In their grid opener they met the Missouri Miners of Rolla, and were defeated by an overwhelming score of 40-0.

Last year the Maroons battled Arkansas on our own gridiron and checked out a 7-0 victory. However, with the much improved type of ball playing that the Southern lads displayed in their opening game, Coach Abner Martin's men should have an extra margin to spare. The Arkansas elves will rely chiefly on aerial warfare to turn back the invading Maroons.

Dame fortune has been exceedingly kind to Coach Martin and his men along the lines of injuries. Aside from the usual amount of sore muscles and aching joints, the statistics reveal that virtually no contact for the southern tip.

Earlier in the season, word came in from a very unreliable source that Cape Girardeau's star athlete, Herb Minkley, had joined Uncle Sam's forces. Last week Minkley turned up as president of the varsity club of Cape. Maybe he was turned down because of his physical condition.

Last year one George Rice, two-mile runner of Notre Dame, was released because of his physical condition. A couple of weeks later he won a two-mile race in record time.

SOUTHERN GRIDMEN PLAY SECOND GAME OF SEASON AT ARKANSAS TOMORROW

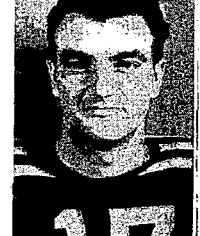

Maroons Hold Slight Edge For Win By Virtue of Opening Win—Arkansas Squad Seeking First Win

Southern's Egyptian gridmen take to the road tomorrow for their first away-from-home encounter of the season when they meet the Arkansas State eleven at Jonesboro, Ark.

Playing their second game of the season, the Maroons will be trying to follow up their victorious opening game by making it two straight wins for the year. The red and black clad warriors from Arkansas, on the other hand, still are in search of an entry into the winning column, they having previously come down in defeat by two forty-yard to nothing scores in early season clashes with Rolla School of Mines and Cape Girardeau.

Little is known of the comparative strength of the two rivals, but judging purely on the basis of 1941 performances the local eleven apparently will hold a slight edge for victory.

Any inference that the host team will in any likelihood enjoy the same tactics as they did in last year's tussle between the two teams also serves to give the Southern the edge for victory. By this is meant the alert pass defense exhibited by the Exhilaris in last week's game should not be in good stead in the Arkansas engagement.

Herman Mims, veteran tackle of the Maroons, who in all likelihood will be called into army service before the current season is finished.

On passes as they attempted twenty-eight, they also decidedly outplayed the Maroons in the total yards department. The locals, however, came out on the long end of the score in that contest 7 to 0 by virtue of a second period touchdown by Lawrence Calafetti.

Only two of this season's Arkansas players, Bill McClelland and Donald Clark, were starters in the game here last season, while the locals have returned to the fold. One of the hosts' veterans, D. Sotomero, was given a retirement berth on last season's Little All-American football team.

Coach Martin will use as starters for this second game ten of the eleven whom he relied upon in the opening tussle with Evansville. The lone newcomer will be Bruno Beyer, sixth district sophomore left halfback, who was starter in last year's game but did not break into the lineup of the opening game this season.

NYA Will Aid 450,000 This Year

By providing part-time jobs the National Youth Administration will enable approximately 450,000 students to continue their education during the 1941-42 academic year, it was announced today by NYA Administrator Aubrey Williams.

It is expected that the number of students who have been able to work their way through schools and colleges by virtue of the part-time jobs provided under the NYA Student Work Program will pass the two million mark during the academic year now beginning. In the six years that the NYA Student Work Program has operated, an estimated total of 1,750,000 different students have been given the opportunity of continuing their education.

The average monthly employment on the Student Work Program for the 1941-42 academic year will be about 340,000. Counting the turnover occurring at the end of semesters, the total number of different youth employed in the course of the year will be somewhat greater than the monthly average.

Attached is a tabulation showing the estimated average monthly employment on the NYA Student Work Program for the 1941-42 academic year, by states.)

GROWTH OF COOPERATIVE HOUSES AT SOUTHERN IS STUDENT ATTRACTION

By NORMA SPARKS

To many students, one of the most attractive features of attending S. I. N. U. is the remarkably low cost of living offered by the numerous cooperative enterprises connected with the school. This inducement, together with the very reasonable tuition and a minimum of special fees, has been instrumental in bringing to the campus not only thousands of students from the immediate vicinity of Carbondale, but also from other cities comparatively far away.

Experimental Start

Beginning in September of 1938, with the establishment of Harwood Hall as a more or less experimental cooperative house, the movement has gathered momentum until now there are eleven organized houses, besides three sororities, six fraternities, and the Methodist minor. In all, approximately two hundred men and women are enjoying the economy, the practical experience in living and the social advantages afforded by pooling their efforts and money.

Although there are many degrees and kinds of cooperative organizations, all of the groups have some common arrangement for serving meals. Others include both dining and board in their program. In Harwood Hall, for example, the men do all of the maintenance work except cooking, while other groups share all or part of the household duties.

Home Management Cooperative

The Home Management Cooperative, known popularly as Harmony Hall, is maintained in a house rented annually by the household arts department. When not in use by the household arts department for training majors in actual home management, the house is open to other women on the campus. The weekly cost here, as at Harwood Hall, is currently $4.50.

It is interesting to note that the proportion of students participating in this movement is relatively high in comparison with the enrollment of the college. S. I. N. U. was also among the earlier adoptors of cooperative effort.

The houses organized thus far are Harwood, Lentz Hall, the Home Management Coop, Parkview Lodge, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. houses, the "Chester Johnson house, Carr's, Bloodworth's, 808 and 810 South Normal, and the Baptist Foundation.

Needless to say, the continued interest and encouragement of the faculty and the administration have been an important help in promoting the success of S. I. N. U.'s cooperative housing enterprise. With much of the work of pioneering behind it, the movement is bound to grow in value.

Of the 98,000 officers in the United States army, fewer than 7,000 are West Pointers.

BRUSH SCHOOL ANNUAL HOBBY SHOW THIS WEEK

The fourteenth annual hobby show of the Brush middle school closes this afternoon after a three-day show to pupils, alumni, and adults of exhibits representing many widely-varying avocations.

Hobbies exhibited include collections of bottle caps, paper dolls, marbles, soap samples, rocks, tin soldiers, stamps, sears, and match covers, fishing, rug-making, card games, cooking, sewing, painting, poetry, dening.

The children act as guides and hosts. One second grade boy even presents a very brief "lecture" as he demonstrates the electrical display which he and his father prepared.

Annual Affair

W. G. Chase, present director of placement for S. I. N. U., originated the event thirteen years ago when he was principal of Brush. Since then it has become a community tradition which last year attracted 300 adults and 1000 school children.

Begin as a combined hobby and pet show. It grew so that the two phases were by necessity planned at different times. (The pets were, too. What had once been a pet pig was shown one year by a proud pupil in spite of the fact that it had grown into an odoriferous hog almost ready for butchering.)

No Prizes

The practice of presenting prizes for the best hobbies has been discontinued on the theory that the importance of the pursuit lies in its value to the individual hobbyist rather than the interest which it holds for others. Instead, a ribbon is awarded in recognition of each entry which is accepted as representative of a hobby.

According to the sponsors of the show, a hobby is "an activity carried on in leisure time that is a source of interest and pleasure to the individual. This activity must be a 'wholesome one.' It must have been pursued for at least three months and should show creative interest or systematic organization to meet the approval of the sponsors.

The show is planned primarily to encourage hobbies among the pupils and other visitors to the exhibits, and in addition to give student teachers experience which will enable them to plan similar events in their later teaching.

OGLETHORPE "BRAIN TEAM" EXPERIMENT STILL CONTINUES

Aim of Educational Experiment Is to Produce Best College Men Ever to Graduate

(ACP)—Six earnest young men, survivors of an eleven-man "brain team," have just qualified for four-year bachelor of arts degrees in less than 20 months.

President Thorwald Jacobs of Oglethorpe university, who started the eleven on a six-year grind in September, 1939, looked over their report cards and observed:

"The collective average for the grades in the first year was 92 per cent on a study program of 30 class hours a week—twice the normal load.

2. The boys are healthy, happy and still going strong.

3. The experiment has gone far enough to demonstrate its principal thesis: that the average college is a largely knelt, time-wasting organization resembling a country club as much as an institute of learning, and approximately half the time of its students is devoted to pursuits other than education."

One of the original eleven married, one withdrew because of illness, another because of religious reasons, another to support his family, and one "just didn't stick up."

The remaining six, with Fred Goss, as leader, expect to qualify for their masters' degrees by next fall, and then continue on four more years of work for degrees of doctor of arts and sciences. Along with their studies they will assist the Oglethorpe faculty until by their graduation in 1945—they will have taught as well as studied every course offered by the university.

"They will be the best educated college men ever to graduate from an American institution," Dr. Jarvis said. "They will have undertaken four times as much work as a Harvard graduate of any particular brilliance on the part of the boys. It is due solely and only to two things:

"1. They have been relieved of all country club distractions, with prescribed time for sleeping, eating, classes, study, recreation and religion.

"2. They are intensely in earnest, knowing that upon them depends the outcome of this educational experiment."

Marshall Asher of Athens, Texas, left the "brain team" as he has from the start, with an average of better than 95 per cent. Second is Edgar Vallette of Silverport, La., with 94.5. Others are John Gold, Trent, Pittsburgh, Pa., Goss, of Proctor, Vt.; John Nearham, Jr., Scotch, Mass., and Keith Lane, Mountaire, N. Y.

"The boys have no distractions," explains Dr. Jacobs. They got plenty of exercise. They ate on the football field more than any other students. They have fixed times for meals, in leisure work study, sleep. From Saturday noon until Sunday at 6 p. m. they are free to do what they wish, except that they must attend church in a body Sunday morning. "The results speak for themselves."

Lovely Ginny Simms, vocalist with Kay Kyser's orchestra, now has her own program on the Columbia network Fridays at 9:55 PM, EST. A favorite of the nation's college girls, Ginny herself attended Fresno State Teacher's College. After graduation, she found the skeleton in New York to teach so she secured a job singing on her local radio station. Kay Kyser heard her and she has been singing with his band ever since.

MUSEUM NOTES

For the last several months W. P. Metz, Stevenson Project, who has been preparing very excellent biological and historical notes and preparations. One group, under the direction of R. M. Horn, have been working on a series of skeletons of the vertebrate animals of southern Illinois. Some of their completed specimens are on display in the museum.

The skeletons are not just a mass of bones gathered and thrown together in a box. Each one is complete, even to the tiny holed bone of the humming bird. The method of preparation of the skeletons is very interesting. The animal is skinned and then all of the large muscles and vessels are cut away. The worker being careful to not cut any of the small nerves and the remaining flesh is dried. The whole skeleton is then placed in a tight box of desiccated borax, an insect that feeds on dried and decayed flesh. After a few hours to days the skeleton is removed—completely cleaned up, all flesh is then bleached and arranged for display.

Among the skeletons on display are: brants, turtles, birds, and mammals. A humming bird skeleton is posed in flight before a flower in one of the striking mounts. Dog, cat, muskrat, rabbit, rat, cow, flicker, English Sparrow, all of these can be seen strewn out on the floor and under the desk this week at the museum. The museum is open every school hour of the day and until noon on Saturdays. It is in room 201 of the Parkinson Laboratory.

"B" NATURAL

The war has begun to create mechanical problems for the recording companies. The chief difficulty is an impending shortage of materials, but it is not yet serious. Research staffs have been working hard in an effort to develop substitutes, and the indications are that they will succeed. In the meantime there is no danger that the output of records will be impeded by any shortage, for ample supplies are on hand to cover all needs of the new album industry.

The shortage of aluminum is the problem that faces the record industry. The metal is employed in the composition of what the trade calls the "masters," from which all records made for commercial use are pressed. The shortage in aluminum applies is bound to affect the record companies in the time, and they must make haste to deal with the emergency.

A spokesman for Columbia said the other day that his company had not yet begun to use a substitute for aluminum, but the engineers are developing something as a replacement. There was no definite commitment that a substitute had been found but apparently some substance is ready, or almost ready, for use in "masters." In any case it is clear that the airplane needs of this nation and the fighting Allies require that aluminum be diverted from such peacetime requirements as record-making and it is not likely that the present stocks of aluminum held by the record companies will be required when they are exhausted.

Another important factor in recording is the wax used on the disks sold to the public. Victor reports that it has been making its records with montan wax, which comes from the Saxony-Thuringia area in Germany. No imports of the wax have come from that country since the beginning of the war, and Victor says that it is working on acceptable substitutes.

H. P. Billings, Victor's wax engineer, declares that montan wax provides a perfect recording base. In the early days of the industry paraffin and cerein waxes were used, but montan, according to Mr. Billings, is harder, has a higher melting point and possesses more ability to unite with other chemicals than any other known wax.

But Billings is hopeful. He says that Victor is "preparing for any shortage and investigating suitable alternatives to fill the breach. We know from our research work that equally good alternate material will be developed so that montan wax will be displaced from its once indisputable position."

Regarding this material and other stocks required in making records, Columbia states that it has enough stock to keep functioning without any difficulties for some time.

S. I. H. S. Fall Dinner to Be Held in Harrisburg
