This Week's Editorial--

IN MEMORIAM Some teachers stand out in the student mind for the part they play in the extra-curricular activities of the college. Some stand out for their share in the administrative work. Some stand out for the eccentricities of their personal habits and appearance. Only a few, on our campus or elsewhere, stand out as embodiments of the ideal of genuine scholarship, an ideal which in college life should take rank above activities, administration, and personalities. Of these few Fuller Combs was a shining example. He did not make a fetish of displaying his knowledge, but few of our faculty are more learned than he was. He did not push himself forward as a master of panaceas for the present age, but he possessed an eye for modern problems doubly keen for his knowledge of ancient problems. He did not cultivate eccentricities but rather a dignified reserve which epitomized the selflessness of true knowledge. The student body as well as his family and the faculty take pride in his devotion to the best in life. The only tribute he would ask we can easily pay, our renewed dedication to the undying tradition he served.

MADelyn SCOTT CONDUCTS EXPERIMENT ON SPECIFIC GOAL

To Be Used As Thesis For Doctor's Degree Miss Madelyn Scott, Brash school critic, has just completed an experiment with the seventh and eighth grade American Government classes of the Lincoln school.

In this experiment, two experimental groups and two control groups were used to determine whether or not the title of the experiment, "Effect of knowledge or speech on the accomplishment of pupils in American Government," was true. As far as Miss Scott has been able to determine, no other attempt has been made to secure evidence in regard to the effect of goals of achievement in the teaching of American Government.

Prepared Six Units Before carrying out the experiment Miss Scott had to write out six units of instruction, including units of understanding and their elements. These include presentation for each unit, guidelines, goals of achievement, worksheets, and examination questions both objective and subjective.

This experiment was conducted under the supervision of Dr. Hollis M. Tryon of the Department of Education in the University of Chicago. To Be Used As Thesis Miss Scott received her high school education at the Carbondale Community high school and received her Bachelor of Arts degree at 5, 1, N. U. She received her Master's Degree from the School of Education at the University of Chicago in 1936, and is using this experiment as her thesis for her Doctor's Degree. She has been teaching seventh and eighth grade history at the Lincoln school for the past seven years.

COLLEAGUES PAY COMBS TRIBUTE IN STATEMENTS

All Highly Compliment Mr. Combs Character And Kindliness

Comments by his fellow workers indicate the high esteem in which the late Prof. Fuller Combs was held by those who knew him well. Following are a few brief statements from college officials and Associate Faculty members about Mr. Combs. All reveal their regard for the kindly veteran teacher.

President Reeder Pulliam In Mr. Combs Southern Illinois State Normal University loses an observant and modest, but faithful and highly competent servant of the College and of public education in southern Illinois. His long experience in the public schools combined with his fine character and his mature scholarship made him an ideal teacher of the young people with whom he worked. His sudden and untimely death has brought sorrow alike to the campus where he worked and to the community in which he lived.

Faculty Senate The teachers of the Southern Illinois State Normal University unite in sorrow that one of our number should be taken from us at the moment when his services had reached fullest maturity. Fuller Combs was a devoted teacher and an intimate of every one of us through his career scholarship, his far reaching and varied interests, his kindness to his students, and the quiet quality which made each association with him an experience of distinction.

Dr. Vera L. Pascook In Mr. Combs the school has lost one of the finest scholarly gentlemen whom it has been fortunate enough to attract. His strength of character, broad optimism, kindness and true courtesy were to his students a constant example of the power of that classical idealism which he loved and from which he drew strength and peace. To his colleagues he seemed

Student Councillors To Be Elected From Five

The Student Council began its second year as an active part of the college administration by holding its 1937-38 primary election at chapel, Wednesday morning, September 22nd. Prol Meyer, student council member of last year presided at the meeting and dispensed of it in the boldest in a very able fashion. The present system of a student council was inaugurated last year under new organization, the members being required to have an average of 3.5 or above. Each person voted for one boy and one girl from his class. The five highest of each will qualify for the final election in which each class will vote on two boys and two girls to represent them in the Student Council. The final election will be conducted in a similar manner as the primary election at chapel hour, next Wednesday, September 29th.

Committee Does Counting The votes were distributed and received by selected students from the freshman class and were counted by a committee with Mr. Troy Stearns in charge. At the time of publication the lists of nominees have not been checked for eligibility. If any changes should occur the chances will be made before the final election. The results of the election in order of the number of votes received are as follows:

Senior Men Earl Thompson James Murphy Joe Dillingier Norman Meinckel Edward Mitchell

Senior Women Margaret Glass Marie Highsmith Mildred Walker Winifred Stone Sue Nelson Jerry Morgan Sue Crawford Katherine Dudenhostel

Cases in which more than five names appear, those in 6th place received the same number of votes. All names will appear on the ballots for the final election as they are listed above.

Training School Resumes Publication

Last week saw the first issue of The Parrot, official publication of the Carterville Training School, for the first time in eight years, when the paper was last published. Instead of making it a weekly newspaper as had been its former status, The Parrot is now entirely a school project, with the staff of students doing all the work from writing to printing. The Parrot is issued once monthly and contains approximately thirty pages. Loren Spires, mathematics critic, is sponsor of the paper, while Olive Lutz, new English-French teacher is critic, and Coach Fred Eudner is advisor. The main student staff is headed by Evelyn Edwards as editor.

FALL EXTENSION ENROLLMENT ALMOST DOUBLED

Director Abbott Releases Schedule Of Classes

Eight extension courses have been arranged for the fall term of 1937 according to the recent announcement made by Dr. Talbert W. Abbott, new director of extension work at the college. Dr. Abbott announced the following: Notes were on the University of Illinois faculty in that capacity.

The extension enrollment has increased from 153 for the fall term of last year to approximately 287 this year. More will probably be added in those courses where late registration is still possible.

The Saturday classes for the fall term include Rural Education 325 under Mr. Troy Stearns and Botany 303 under Dr. W. M. Bailey. The former has held its preliminary meeting at 9 o'clock on September 18 on the campus. The latter will meet at 9 o'clock on October 15 on the campus. Rural Education 326 is an advanced course dealing with practical problems in rural education. Discussions will be centered around persistent problems of rural teachers in their classes. A plan of action for betterment of programs in rural schools will be considered in the treatment of each of the following topics: organization and management; curriculum adjustment to local conditions; selection and use of materials and equipment in the school, home, and community relationships; evaluating pupil progress; the teacher's responsibility with reference to her own growth and work. The prerequisites are: Education 206, 210, or 316 and teaching experience. The popularity of these extension courses can be attributed to the fact that teachers working elsewhere are interested in improving their knowledge and anxious to continue the work for their B. S. degree.

FRIS'S TRAVELS LEISURE TIME TRAVELING AND COMPILING ATLAS ON HISTORICAL ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY

The addition of Mr. Herman Fris to our Geography department has been to our益 a very interesting personality. Mr. Fris received his B. A. and M. A. from the University of California, and did some graduate work at Leland Stanford University. He has also studied in Tokyo, Japan, and is now working on his Doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Before coming to our college, Mr. Fris taught in the Oakland, California school system, the University of Wisconsin, and in Tokyo, Japan.

He comes here primarily to teach geography, for he has spent about three and one half years in the pursuit of this particular field. He has traveled extensively in Canada, Mexico, and the Orient, as well as in the U. S. A. He has done a great deal of field work in the Orient, some of which has been published. He is now compiling an atlas on the Historical Economic Geography of the United States before 1800. He expects to complete this work in about two years.

Like Student Attitude
Mr. Fris states that the students of Carbondale are the best that he has ever associated with. Our hospitality rates at the top. He also says that the students seem to like to cooperate with the teachers and don't try to run over them.

PRACTICE DEPARTMENT USING COLLEGE CRITICS

This year the academic department is cooperating with the training department in a series of various and interesting experiments. The professors in the college are taking over classes and acting as critics over various departments. Of these departments, Barnes and Woody are in charge of the Home Economics in the University High School, Miss Williams in charge of High School Art, Miss Reich in Jr. High School Art, Miss Baldwin in American History, Mr. Bubolz in High School shorthand, Mr. Davis in High School English and Dr. Steagall in High School Biology. Dr. Hurlbut will be an acting critic the winter term, and Dr. Bailey and Miss Scott will be in charge of the High School Biology classes next spring.

Began In Summer
This idea of cooperation between the training department and the academic department began last summer. Under the direction of Dr. Hurlbut, the General Science. Since then much progress has been made and many courses are being planned for future work in broadening the training department in its relations to the college.

Some changes are anticipated in the above program which will place Mrs. Riecke in charge of part of the new work.

MOTION PICTURES BY VISUAL AID SERVICE

Today the college will have for its use the first episode of the Yale Chronicle, "Columbus". This is a four reel picture and one of the finest obtainable.

The career of Columbus from 1482 to 1492 is revealed and includes the discouragements, the persistent effort and the ultimate triumph of the "mad Italian". First seen at the court of Portugal, he discovered the duplicity of the monarch and started anew on the arduous search for support which leads him years later, before Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain. At first rebuffed, he secures a second interview through the intervention of Juan Perez and wins Isabella's aid. Then comes the departure of his tiny fleet for Palos, his dangers on the high seas and his eventual landing upon Watling Islands.

The program for showing of these films is as follows: In Room 203, Parkinson Laboratory, first, second, and fourth period, and in the auditorium the fifth, sixth, and seventh periods.

Library Muratist Thinks Analysis Of His Work is More Interesting Than Himself

By JEAN CHANDLER

Those of us who, from choice or otherwise, frequent the reserve room in the library have noticed a busy little man carefully patting the murals on the walls. He seldom treads ground, except in dip more painful to his brush, so about the only idea most of us have of him is just that he's a busy little man carefully patting the murals on the walls.

The gentleman on the east wall is supposed to represent Shadrach Bond, one of the rich land owners in the southern part of the state. He was elected first governor of Illinois in 1818. His portrait is in the aforementioned museum. The background gains some importance by an old house in Alton. It is said to be the first English colony house in the State. The houses in this style were not provided with the large porches that the French houses had. The main feature of the east wall is a stockade fort of which there were many in those days. Port Kaskaskia were of brick, stockade and whitewashed.

His murals are done in oils on canvas treated with casein. Mr. Kelpo wants it understood that he is not attempting to imitate fresco technique, which is altogether different. Aesthetic Value Stressed
Mr. Kelpo says that a painting must possess aesthetic value as well as material beauty, and that this aesthetic value depends entirely on abstract composition. An artist has to express himself by visual form rather than natural form, and for this reason is allowed to neglect natural form to a certain extent. Such means as rhythm of lines, variation of forms, combination of colors are the characteristics of objects of art no matter to what period or nationality they belong. He even goes so far as to say that subject matter is of secondary importance. He desires that the perspective in his painting should be looked upon as a means of element illustration rather than abstract composition. He assiduously avoids the accentuation of a distinct background and foreground.

Mr. Kelpo quite warmed up to his subject when he talked of the murals he's doing. For his painting is his whole life. The early history of Southern Illinois is the subject for the murals. The years between 1800 and 1840 are represented. On the North West Indians may be seen in a peaceful mood in company with the first settlers, who are harvesting in the wheat fields with a credit to the cutting corn, and building a house of hick logs. The type of woodman in conference with an Indian chief was rather rare in that former progressive time. Some of the farmers are resting from hard labor in front of one of the houses, which is built of roughly trimmed timber, and whitewashed.

Most of the early settlers came up the Mississippi by boat in those days. The west wall illustrates the activity along the river during the hey-day of steam navigation. Some of the workers are of French descent. The early history of the French influence was very strong in the Mississippi valley. As shown, blue was the predominant color in the clothing at that time.

Portrait of Lafayette
Lafayette, whose portrait will appear on the east wall, came by boat from New Orleans when he visited the southern countries of the state in 1825. He was for some time a guest of Pierre Menard, who was elected lieutenant governor in 1818. He lived in great style in an old French mansion at Port Gage. This scene of idleness is shown in the upper portion of the east wall of the well-dressed woman and a French States army officer, also on the same wall, are taken from illustrations in the Museum of the Historical Society in Chicago.

Another famous building of French origin is on the south wall: the State house in Kaskaskia, the capital of the Illinois Territory from 1809 to 1818. The first state legislative convened here. In the foreground a woman carries a basket of apples and in the background, some apple trees, illustrating the abundance of fruit in Southern Illinois.

FACULTY SENATE ELECTED DURING SUMMER

Neckers Chairmans Group of 7; Crawford Is Secretary

One of the newest features of the administration this year is the newly organized Faculty Senate. The Senate, voted for by the faculty members, met this summer and elected Dr. J. W. Neckers as Chairman and Miss Mary Crawford, Secretary. Other members of the Senate, representing their respective departments, include Dr. Willis C. Swartz, Social Studies; Wendell Margrave, Humanities; Miss Hilda Stein, Biological and Physical Sciences; Mrs. Mary Louise Barnes, Practical Arts and Crafts; and Ted R. Ragdale, Professional Studies.

Purely Advisory
This new body, organized with the encouragement of President Pulliam, is expected to have great weight in the ultimate determination of administration policies; although the Senate will act in a purely advisory capacity.

The administration, appreciating the value of mature faculty advice, has given complete support to the Faculty Senate in its expectation of valuable consultative action regarding current matters.

Appointed to Curriculum
Appointment of all the Senators to the new Curriculum Committee at tests to the importance of the new body—and this is merely their first duty—important work is to be expected from them as they assume their prominent role of administration consultants.

Opening Meeting Wednesday Night

The meeting of the Chemistry fraternity, Chemeka, Wednesday night is the opening session of the season. Talks and programs for future meetings will be discussed as well as attending to the regular routine. The session will be held in the Parkinson Laboratory at seven o'clock.

With more than a week of scrimmages under their belts the 37 Southern eleven is facing to get into action tomorrow is the crucial day when they not only get into action, but must have their first chance to see to hear, as the case may be, what sort of a team Coach McAndrew is to have this year.

It is likely that quite a large group of freshmen and others new to Southern football will see action against the Miners, in order that they can see what he can put on the field when his team gets into conference play.

'Stoo had that Heller, Quarles, Keyer, Holliday, Lingle, Snowey Hill and Delph Southern away here, because with that half dozen Mac could form a line second to none, with those now out for the team making one almost as good.

Statistics? The regular sprinting stride is right feet. That stride has really carried him to a lot of victories in his short life. However, Max Patterson has him bested by at least a couple of feet in the matter of stride.

WITH OUR OPPONENTS

The outlook for the Charleston Teachers is exceptionally bright this season what with 13 of last year's 17 letterman back and some fairly promising new material available. Coach Gilbert Carson is of the opinion that in tomorrow's game with Wheaton the Charleston team will present a much stronger offensive brand of football than was displayed last year. The 1936 Eastern eleven had plenty of defensive strength in the forward wall but lacked a good pass offense and a good attack. Carson has been working on those things and the success of his efforts will be determined in some degree at least, by the showing of the team in the Wheaton game.

Only 15 letterman from last season's squad have reported to Coach C. E. Blanchard at McAndrew's camp. Three are Ben Isselhardt, Belleville, Wayne Bice, Olmstead and Ken Atkin. East St. Louis, backs: Bill Doerner and Mal Randall, Hoeman from East St. Louis.

McAndrew hopes have been brightened somewhat by the addition of Ed Fosage, giant freshman fullback, who made quite a name for himself in football, track, and basketball at East St. Louis High School.

Orbe Quarles, formerly of West Frankfort, and a variety end of Southern's football team last fall will be married tomorrow (September 25) in Pontiac, Michigan. Quarles is scheduled a starting berth at end this season. His first year at S. I. Charleston offense will be hindered, N. C.

SOUTHERN GRIDIRON VETERANS

Bill Prindle and Gene Hickey are well represented on Southern's '37 football team in "Big Bill" Prindle, stellar tackle who bids fair to be one of the ablest tacklers in Illinois Inter-collegiate Conference play in this his final season of play, and Gene Hickey, versatile halfback who was a letter in 1931 and now returns to the game after a toughening 6-year layoff.

PETERSEN LEADS VARSITY NET TOURNAMENT

Dodd and Mascher Lead Sub Varsity, Rains Close Behind.

After the first week of play last Monday Robert Petersen varsity man and Bill Dodd and Harold Mascher were leading, respectively, in the varsity and sub-varsity fall tennis tournaments. The closest rival for the former, up to the present, was Jack Cox who had hung up two victories. Third in the varsity listings with three wins and one tie was William Spear.

Although they have played only one match each, Bill Dodd and Harold Mascher topped the sub-varsity ranks with love score victories. Yorkford Rains was situated in a close runner-up position with two wins and one tie. Harold Robertson started off the competition by snatching three consecutive matches. By play of this trial, motioned into varsity play, he was defeated by Petersen.

Several of the varsity and sub-varsity entrants had not begun competition by the first of the week, but were expected to start action before this weekend.

Complete standings as posted Monday were as follows:

U. HIGH WINS CLOSE BASEBALL FRAY FOR GORHAM

Their first start in the newly-formed baseball conference, University High trounced Gorham, 8-5. The game was a tight affair, the score being tied four separate times. The locals came from behind in the second, third, and fourth innings, going ahead in the sixth, only to have Gorham score in the last half of the fifth, to tie the game again at five all.

The game was featured by robbery on the basepaths. Haney, of U. High stole six bases, and Anderson four. Haney, playing first base for the first time so impressed Coach Hall, that he will probably start off at the initial corner for the rest of the season. He was formerly a third baseman.

The locals outted the Gorham nine by the same score as they won 8-5. "Chatty" Eberston allowed a scattered five hits, but two walks and an error aided in the Gorham scoring. Only one extra base hit was registered, and U. High marked one up in the second and had one in the second, third, and scamped home on Sam Morris' single.

U. H. TEAM TACKLES VERGENNES TODAY

The University High School Baseball team will play Vergennes today at Woodfield, 2 p. m., in a seven-inning game, the second conference game they have played this year.

The first conference game was played at Gorham last Friday night and was won by Eli by the small margin of 8-5.

Table with columns: Name, Position, P., 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th. Lists names like Morris, Eberston, Haney, etc.

Under present circumstances, student actively tickets will not be honored and an admission of 25c will be charged per person.

David and Hill On Athletic Crew

Clark Davis, a member of the Chi Delta Chi fraternity, has been appointed athletic business manager for the coming year succeeding Mel Jones. Dale "Puzz" Hill has been named assistant football coach, a post which will probably entail the coaching of the pea-patchers. Hill, a member of the Kappa Delta Alpha fraternity, succeeds Robert Courtney.

MINER SQUAD SHAPING UP FOR FRAY

Bullman Introducing New System With Fast Back Field

The Rolla football team has been shaping up rapidly during the last month under the able direction of their new coach, Gale Bullman. Bullman, who was first years line manager at Washington University, St. Louis, has been putting the team through heavy workouts during the last week in preparation for the Southern game tomorrow afternoon. Special efforts have been made to familiarize the squad with the new system which Bullman has instituted at Rolla this year.

Fast Backfield

It is very likely that the speed of the Maroon ends and tackles will be thoroughly tested in tomorrow's encounter because Rolla specializes in almost, fast backs. Coach Bullman has been very much gratified at the showing of his pony backfield, particularly Otis Taylor, sophomore linebacker and Victor Koziatek, sophomore punter from St. Louis. Taylor has been working in the running position and Koziatek has been at quarterback. Both of these boys have looked good in the practice sessions. If the Macmen can stop these two postmen they will materially decrease the effectiveness of the Rolla offense.

Backs Pleasant

Other backfield men who are expected to see action against South are Richard Cunningham, freshman from St. Louis; Jori Leveridge and Jim Kivler, both veteran backs, and Roy Hiser, another freshman man from St. Louis.

Ball Tackles

The Miners lack reserves in the tackle positions. The only tackles who have experience are Richard Prough, 196-pound senior from Kirkwood and Togo Finney, junior from Glen Carbon.

Rolla is well fortified at guard with the veterans John Kirwan, Ivan Curtis and Harold Volkmer holding sway. Several freshmen guards have done yeoman work in practice.

Short on Centers

Joe Spafford is the only available letterman for the all important center position. Because of the lack of center material Bullman has moved Preston Axthelm, last year's reserve fullback, to center. Axthelm and Spafford have been dividing the time in the first string line.

Agriculture Club Holds First Session

The Agriculture Club, under the direction of Mr. E. F. Muckelroy of the Agriculture Department, met last Thursday evening for its first session. The following officers were elected to serve for the fall term: Raymond Frazer, President, Herbert Hoortick, Vice President, and Miss Charlotte Blumre, Secretary.

Problems Starting Lineups

The starting lineup contains only one freshman-Bobby Brooks, star quarterback who functions at left half back, calling signals, and doing his share of punting and passing. It is indeed a heavy burden for a freshman but Brooks' play thus far in practice indicates that he thrives on such a burden. In last Wednesday's scrimmage he made several long runs, did an excellent job of passing and punted for the first time. Southern followers look to Brooks to fill the void left by Dale Hill, last year's star.

MAROONS OPEN GRIDIRON SEASON AGAINST THE 'RAMBLIN' WRECK' MINERS AT ROLLA, TOMORROW

Opponents Feature Speedy Backfield; Several Football Freshman Will See Action in the Macmen Lineup

The announcement that six veterans of Southern's gym team would give a short exhibition of their skill next Sunday was announced by Coach DiGiovanna early this week. Their performance will be a part of the Catholic Congress to be held at Herrin, the Brown, Hickey, Falk, Green, Davis, and Eberston constitute the sextet picked for the religious tactics.

Problems Starting Lineups

This starting lineup contains only one freshman-Bobby Brooks, star quarterback who functions at left half back, calling signals, and doing his share of punting and passing. Intramural Sports To Start Next Week

The annual S. I. N. U. basketball, pitching and pine pole tournaments will get under way sometime next week. Entries closed Wednesday, September 22 and as soon as the schedules are drawn the tournaments will start.

Gene Hickey, of Marion won a letter in 1934 but has been out of school since since. He is another excellent defensive man, backs terrific power in his stocky frame, is both a good passer and pass receiver, and on occasion can bear his brunt of the punting attack.

Wolfinbarger, a first-year sophomore, is well known to Southern fans. Last year as a freshman he made fair to rival the feats of his elder brother, Arlie, who gained all-conference honors while fullback for Southern in '34. Wolf did more defensive strength to the team, but was not as good as his brother. He has been blocking excellently from his blocking quarterback position.

This starting backfield averages over 165 pounds and is particularly strong on the defense. Brooks plays safety man.

New Wingman

A veteran and a newcomer will adorn the wings when the team takes the field tomorrow. Harland "Baldy" Cade of Hoopston is one of the leading defensive players on the squad as well as being an excellent blocker and punter. This is his third year of varsity play.

Bill Croves, of Carbondale is playing his first year of college football, although he is a sophomore in standing.

At pass receiving he is the star of the squad and with experience will be a much better receiver. This is his third year of varsity play.

Bill Phindie, Benton, is a 210 pounder of strength at left tackle. During the past week he has been slightly ill, but he seems to have recovered completely and probably will be one of the real stars of tomorrow's play.

Carl Henson, of Carbondale won a letter at his freshman year two years ago but saw no action last year. He is probably the most accurate of the team and with experience will be a much better receiver. This is his third year of varsity play.

ELECTS OFFICERS

The Debate club met Monday night and elected officers for 1937-1938:

Barrie Balitz, president
Wilford A. Kerr, vice-president
Rosalee Reynolds, secretary

All of the officers are sophomores. Announcement was made of the appropriation of one hundred and fifty dollars for the club by the administration; the money is to be used for the purchase of necessary debating material and the payment of traveling expenses for the debate team. Last year S. I. N. U. was capably represented in forensic diets at Peoria, St. Louis University, and Bloomington.

The state of national debate question has not yet been issued but immediately upon its issuance the club will begin vigorous research work on both the negative and affirmative sides in an effort to build up formidable, negative and affirmative verbal teams.

Dr. O. B. Young and Dr. Thomas F. Baston, sponsors of the club, have approved the drawing up of a new constitution for the club:

Approximately 90 percent of all persons enrolled in school go to public educational institutions, and 10 percent to private schools.

TACKLE ROLLA

terman from Charleston, Mo. is an other light but aggressive lineman. Shifted from a halfback position which he occupied last year, "Kittie" plays with a reckless abandon and thrives on action.

Robert Plithford, of West Frankfort was a varsity man last season but saw no intercollegiate action. He is a sophomore and by his slashing play the past week has beaten out all of his competitors for the pivot spot. He is an accurate passer and a good blocker. Plithford has a big job ahead of him in playing center, between in Dolph Southard and Russell Emery he has two brilliant predecessors.

To Get Action

Certain to get into action against the Mississippians tomorrow are Albert Norman, of Tilden and Denton; Kenneth McGuire of Hoopston; and Dave Aiken of Zeligler.

Harvey Sanders, veteran flash would probably start at one of the halfback posts, but a knee injury suffered in an early scrimmage makes of him an unknown quantity. Look for him to play safety. Sanders can carry the mail, as well as punt, pass, and defend with the best of them. Last year against Charleston he indicated that receiving passes is probably his leading asset.

Nerops is considered the team's most player and kicker, and he will probably see action throughout most of tomorrow's tilt. McGuire was a regular back last year, but regrettably late to practice this season and has not reasserted himself as yet. However, "Little Red" is another who thrives on action so he may wreck the "Ramblin' wreck" more.

Others who are of varsity caliber are: ends, Jim Cherry of Carbondale, English of Anna, Charles Broadway of Cobden, who plays tackle; and Bob Gray of Carbondale; tackles, Robert Smith of Carversville, Raymond Law of Carbondale, Smokey Hoopston; guards, Roy Rink of Metropolis, Keaton still another Hoopstonite who is giving both of the regular guards a run for their money; Ray Bjerkstrand of Rockford; centers, Russell Boren, Carversville, small but experienced, and Mike Mittelbach of West Frankfort.

Backs certain to see action, any of whom might start and play his position, capably are: James Cash of East St. Louis, a triple threat speedster; Glen Talamon of Carversville, who, although playing his first year of football has been one of the stars of most scrimmage sessions; Franklin McMillan of Carbondale, billed as a standout freshman; and Henry Stamp of New York City who is a power house on either defense or offense. John May of Joppa who saw regular action at McKendree a few

At the time of the suicide of Ivar Krueger, Swedish match king and philanthropist, revealing the complicated nature of his international financial interests, it was rumored that he had only taken his death, and really had departed to South America, to live incognito and in luxury on a fortune that he had established there. This story is the basis of the play selected for presentation by the Little Theatre in the 1937 homecoming play.

Jurors From Audience

The subject of the play is a murder trial, and an unusual feature of it is the recruiting of twelve members of the audience to serve as jurors. These members will not be "planted" in the audience, but chosen by the Jurors selected by the play on a professional basis, for they will be paid a refund amounting to the price of their tickets to the show.

Cohan Gives Approval

"Night of January 16" had a bonum in New York, and has toured the United States. The late Percy Hammond, dramatic critic on the New York Herald-Tribune, wrote of it, "I have the word of no less an expert artist and showman than George M. Cohan that 'Night of January 16' alternately chilled and fired his blood with the drama's agony and fever, more than any other masterpiece that has come within his experience."

The cast for the local Little Theatre presentation of "Night of January 16" will be announced later, since castings are, as yet, incomplete.

teacher preparation to the minimum requirements for certification of elementary school teachers. Six States have relaxed the minimum requirements for high-school teacher certification. Graduates of teachers' colleges and normal schools are again finding positions after a depression slump and over-supply of teachers. Teachers' salaries, while very low in many communities, are quite generally back to pre-depression levels in most of the States. The average salary of city school teachers, latest records reveal, is $3,725, and of rural school teachers, $287 per year.

One-room and New Schools

America's one-room school house is disappearing at the rate of 7 or 8 a day in favor of the new modern and frequently larger school building. Nevertheless, there are still 123,000 one-room school houses throughout the country. One-room school teachers receive $317 a year (median salary) for their services.

This school year, through Public Works Administration grants and loans, communities will be assisted in eliminating many more school houses that are "hazardous to life, safety, or health of children," and which, in many instances, provide poor facilities for both instruction and learning. Many school and other educational buildings erected with the aid of P. W. A. grants and loans also will be ready for occupancy and use for the first time this school year.

Riddle Receives
Better Position

Lester Riddle, last year's business manager of the Egyptian has given up his position with the advertising department of the Chicago Herald and Examiner in order to accept one as a sub-manager for the Remington Rand Corporation. Reports have it that the position is really a promotion. Riddle was a junior in this institution when he left school, and a member of the Kappa Delta Alpha fraternity.

at the present time the group is composed in the artistic manufacture of intricately woven watch chains.

At the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. which was held last Monday evening on the second floor of the Old Seavey building, Woodrow Fildes was elected president of the organization. The other officers were elected as follows: Robert Petersen, vice-president, Charles Harrison, treasurer, William Curry, secretary. Plans were discussed for the extension of membership and the improvement of the weekly program. The Y. M. C. A. publishes the faculty-student directory each year and will have the Y. W. C. A. sponsors a free student square dance every Tuesday evening from 8 until 9:30 o'clock.

The two organizations also frequently combine to bring national speakers to this campus.

Y. M. C. A. extends an invitation to all men students to share the enjoyment of an active and worthwhile organization.
