COUNCIL PLANS TO PUT HIGHER STANDARD ON EXTRA WORK

AVERAGE OF 2.75 FOR MEMBER-SHIP; AVERAGE OF 3.25 TO HOLD OFFICE IN ORG.

Some time ago Dean Wham, as chairman of the Student Council, was asked by President Shrvock to have the Council investigate extra-curricular activities and propose recommendations to regulate such activities here. Dean Wham procured rules and regulations upon this subject from leading universities and furnished copies to members of the Council. A committee for forumlating rules for our own college was appointed by the chairman, consisting of the following persons: Dean Wham, ex-officio member; Mr. Felts, Dr. Steagall, Miss Bowyer, James Hastie, and Mildred Whiteside. The following report was submitted to the Student Council, and after due consideration, adopted it:

"Extra-curricular activities are those not offered in course and for which no credit is given, such as are involved in membership in the following organizations: Athletic Teams and Squads; Dramatic and Debating Clubs; Commercial and Agricultural Clubs; Egyptian and Obelisk Staffs: Musical and Literary Programs; Literary Societies; The Student Council; any other school enterprises and which through consumption of time would result in class work below the minimum scholastic standard.

"The standard of eligibility for membership in any organization is class work of at least a 2.75 average; and for office holding in any organization, class work of at least a 3.25 average.

"It is recommended that a committee of three members of the faculty be appointed by the President to serve as an eligibility committee; (Continued on Page Five)

Commerce Club Plans Industrial Tour

The program is said to be one of the best yet given by this organization. Owen Kerley made a splendid ad-life membership in the Association as of the Illinois State Teachers' Assodress.

The club is planning the third of a series of industrial tours to St. STUDENT COLLAPSES IN Louis on May 17. It is the plan to visit, among other places, the St. Louis Stock Exchange, Armour's will be $2.25 round trip.

MRS. SAMUEL SCOTT OF THEATRE GUILD TALKS TO STRUT AND FRET

The Strut and Fret dedicated its new home in the Chemistry building Guild. The Strut and Fret was host to the audience, which was comp of faculty members and some of the townspeople.

Thursday evening's appearance was not Mrs. Scott's initial one on this campus; she appeared here last fall, under the auspices of the A. A U. W., and gave a lecture on the current plays.

President John Mitchell introduced Mrs. Scott and explained to the audience that she had been invited more to dedicate the new room. Mrs. Scot talked on the "Well-bred and the Ill-bred Audience." Her talk was illustrated by observations of people prominent in theatrical circles. After her talk. Mrs. Scott made a few remarks on the plays current in New York, and then read a one-act play called "The Flattering Word."

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

With the advent of spring comes the ever-present necessity of preserving the grass. The purpose of this grass is to aid in making the campus beautiful. It is supposed that college students realize this. However after a campaign which has lasted several years, the space in front of the Auditorium is almost completely lacking in this beautifying element. This is not due to lack of effort on the part of the school authorities. for they have spent many dollars in a vain effort to remove this undesirable situation. The poor grass never has a chance; the moment it raises its head, it is ruthlessly souelched by the merciless shoe of some-shall we say freshman? Surely no one except freshmen are guilty. Perhaps it will be necessary to put up barbed wire fences and "No Trespassing" signs to keep these freshmen in their rightful places. At any rate something should be done and that right pronto. Very little effort is required to keep on one of the numerous concrete walks which are placed there for that purpose. In the meanwhile if you don't want to be considered a freshman, kindly keep off the grass.

DEMORACY IN THE SCHOOL

The American public school, founded on democratic ideals, maintained by the common purse, free from discriminations of class, color, or creed, should be the most democratic in character of any existing organization in the world. Its members are heterogeneous: the children of the rich, the wellto-do, and the poverty-stricken share alike there. And yet the public school is not democratic. Paradoxically, its very heterogenity prevents its ever becoming a true democracy.

In every public school of any size there are three obstructions to democracy : the aristocracy of the wealthy, the autocracy of the clever, and the olivarchy of the faculty. The rich, having been accustomed to money and its numerous advantages, see no reason why their money should not be used in the furtherance of their recreations. The student of humble means, being unable to maintain the social pace of the wealthy. must keep within his own circle to a greater degree than is usually admitted. The autocracy of the clever is limited. Its power and authority apply only to those school activities in which the clever are engaged. The autocratic character of this phase of school-life is apparent only when the group in control reserves for itself and its favorites the various positions and honors under its jurisdiction. The oligarchy of the faculty is always present. The degrees in which the faculty exercises its mandatory powers is, in most instances, entirely the option of the individual teacher. A board regulation or a school policy carries little weight if it is unfavorable to the instructor A board regulation or a school

Because of these three conditions, democracy in the school is made impossible. There is no reason to believe that the sit_ uation will ever change and no cause for wishing for a change For every aspect of it is natural, as natural as any of the fundamental relations of people to each other. The rich will always employ their money as they wish, and few will resent their doing so; the clever, having attained scholastic power through their own merits and abilities, are entitled to all the privileges adjunctive to their positions; if the faculty chooses to exercise dictatorial powers, its status as the mentor, the supervisory body, affords it the right to command. Since these things are not only natural but inevitable, it is logical to conclude that a strictly democratic school would be undesirable, for such a democracy, being artificial, would through a revolving door without necessarily be unsettled.

READERS' BAIT

For a long time the idea has bee prevalent among Americans that if one were cultured he must travel, or at least, have traveled a considerable mount. This idea, as it should have been long ago, is now exploded in an article in the April issue of the Forum. The essay is written by Thoma Craven, and it shows the folly of going to other lands, or galivanting around in our own country looking for the beauty spots of nature. Peo ple should learn beauty is in the eye of the beholder. In our own section we have some of as enticing scenery as exists in other sections of the country even though they are far away. Are you planning a little sojourn into the lands beyond the boundaries of your own locality? If so, it might be a good idea to read what Craven has to say about great American folly."

Who is to blame for the trouble in the home? Is the wife or husband to be more severely censured? Or perhaps, it is the children if there are any. In an article in the current issue of Forum, E. H. Howe tells us some things of a great deal of interest about The Women. What do you think of them? FROM COLLEGE TO COLLEGE

A new system of scholarship rating has been adopted at S. T. C., Lock Haven, Pennsylvania in order to raise the standard of scholarship. This new system will go into effect September 2, 1930, The present grade system of figures will then be replaced by the letters A, B, C, D, E.

Who Will Be The May Queen?

These are the words on the lips of the students at Fairmont Normal School, West Virginia. The representatives of the organization have laid down several rules for her selec tion. Since these rules might prove interesting in developing queens in other colleges, I'll list them: 1. Personal charm (lt.)

- Admirable,
 Active and well-known.
- 4. Tall and stately.
- 5. Dignity.
- 6. Attractive-lovely and graceful. 7. Commanding respect.
 - 8. Representative.

At last the long felt need of another Greek letter social organization for women has been realized by the es tablishment of the local sorority Theta Chi Mu. This is aproved by the heads of the college as well as the promoters .--- Monmouth College Monmouth, Ill.

An agreement regarding a new dormitory at the Teachers' College, Kearney, Nebraska has been reached The building will house approximately 200 young women, and the cost is nct to exceed $129,000. The various details have been worked out by agencies and bids are to be received in May.

A clever discussion in the Maver ick from Tonkawa, Oklahoma, concludes that mathematically, scientific ally and philosophically "mediums have it. A statistical survey in the various classes always ended with a larger number which could not be classified as either blondes or bru nettes. These were put into that class known as mediums, and the question arose as to whether gentle men prefer them or not. Brunettee argue that men marry brunettes even if they do prefer blondes, but now the "mediums" offer this new argument. Well, what do you think?

Faculty News

Dr. Abbott will be in Atlanta, Ga. all of this week attending a meeting of the American Chemical Society. Refore he became a member of the Chemistry staff here, Dr. Abbott taught in the Georgia School of Technology.

The A. A. U. W. met at the home of Miss Bowyer, Tuesday, April 1. Miss Scott gave a very interesting talk on heredity.

Misses Williams. Cox. Carpenter, Fry, and Shank went to St. Louis last Saturday to see Otis Skinner in Pappa Juan.

During the week of March 24-29 Mr. McIntosh was in Chicago attending the Music Supervisors' National Conference. Some of the outstanding musicians he heard while there were Robert Braun, Hollis Dann, and John Erskine.

Miss Scott and Miss Zimmerschied spent the week end with Mrs. Reef at the Midland Hills Country Club.

There has been quite a lot of moving on the campus lately. Last week Dr. Steagall's zoology class moved down to the first floor in the room vacated by the Chemistry department, and Mr. Petersen and Mr. Schroeder moved the Manual Training department into its new home in the Chemistry building.

Dr. Steagall received a fine shipment of European salamanders from Dr. Emery of Washington, D. C. last week. Dr. Emery is in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Steagall received a letter from the State Forester inviting all biology students and teachers to make use of the new State Forest Preserve along Hudgens Creek just north of Jones-

Miss Scott will be on the program at the meeting of the State Academy of Science at Champaign in the early part of May. We know Spring is here. Dr. Bever

Dumbest Freshman

Dear Sally:

Nothing much has happened around school this quarter. Raymond Carson told me that Raymond Aikin slapped Hannah Morgan one night when he was down to see her. wouldn't have believed it but Clarence Stevenson and Dean Martin saw him; they were peaking through the window

Harold Graves has taken to drinking hard liquor, and, it is whispered, has led Dave Adamson astray. Even Henry broke down and cried when he heard it. Edith Davis has been indicted for theft but Charles Samuel Bateman has covered her tracks. It is that she was tempted because she had to pay Bateman and Creager's beauty parlor expenses, those boys having become addicted to Marcels.

Blanch Stoaffer has been caught snooping into Birdie Hoopaw and Kate Simpson's affairs; in fact a photographer caught her in the act of trying to steal a stocking full of money from the two. No complaint has been lodged because of the untimely death of Miss Simpson.

Orville Alexander attempted to steal a million dollars worth of bonds from Arthur Trammell but was foil-Opai Kern, who attempted at ed. one time to kill her brother, shot Alexander in the heel. This same Trammell is to be brought before the courts this spring for bigamy.

The Socratic Hall was recently reduced to ashes. At first arson was always stringing some one,

I have known perhaps a thousand persons fairly intimately. Of the thousand there are not a dozen who And of this dozen more than half never went as far as high school. I may be wrong, but I believe that no university education has ever aided any human being in approaching life with sanity and hum or, or in solving the emotional problems of the individual, or in making easier and happier his intimate relationships with members of his home and community.

Thee nine hundred and ninety un happy souls are curdling their lives with problems that have little to do with the understandable maladies of poverty and physical illness. Most of them pass as intelligent, and a few are even geniuses in the field of busi ness, literature, music, and engineering. And yet I have locked behind the curtain of their homes, and the things that I see there freeze my marrow with pity. Here is an engineer, master of the principles that control the natural world about him, who cannot control the devils that ride him and who has wrecked three lives through his jealous passion. Here is a rich business executive, who directs the destiny of a corporation, and yet cannot guide his own scottish son or level the barricade of hatred between him and his wife. And here, there and everywhere are friends and relatives ruining themselves with bigotry and egotism, wearing out their lives in lonliness because of timidity, or else consumed by the worm of satiety and enui. It will be held that the universe in helpless, and that the sorry work of individual maladjustment was complete long before the student came to the campus. True, the burden of the blame rests with the stupidities that have shaped us since we first saw the light of day. But the universities. where the highest enlightenment is in the saddle, have done little or nothing to chart new educational channels, liberating man from the obscure Writes to Friend powers that dominate him. On the contrary, more and more stress is placed on the business and professional schools; it is a current article of faith that happiness lies in worldly success and peace comes with profits And no one preaches this doctrine more shrilly than the very men whose intimate lives disclose how fearfully they lie.

> If our highest schools are to search for the highest good, plainly the way lies elsewhere. They teach too assiduously the technique of exploiting the universe for gain, and far too little the winnowing pleasure through the cultivation of new beauties in us and the vanquishing of the nagging impa of greed, fear, jealousy, intolerance, and boredom. We should have a hundred research laboratories in self control and self exploitation to every one that seeks merely to add another beam to the counting house .- E. L. Meyer, in Capital Times.

not suspected, but Emmett Cockrum and Earl Legan have been arrested as the fire-bugs. They certainly looked guilty the last time I saw them Say, do you know I think Guy Neal and Oliver Press are the only innocent ones in the pile. They're cute looking too.

P. S .--- I'm so mad! I just found out this news is all fake; it's just what has happened in the Socratic plays. Ralph Arnold told me. He's

In this period of domestic scarcity the old axiom, "No man can serve two masters," may be changed to read, "No man can master two ser vants." Some professors seem to enjoy dis turbing those who read in class.
