recently of the organization, "The Veterans of Future Wars" by the University students. Slyly condemning the eighteen year war which the veterans have waged for the bonus, the parody with its stinging needle of satire has met with national approval.

After the establishment of "The Veterans of Future Wars" by the organization of "The Gold Star Mothers of Future Wars" and "The Future Munitions Makers of Future Wars" were formed. The foundation of these groups is dangerous to the organization as a whole, since it Gold Star Mothers have been insulted, and since it also tramples on the toes of the innumerable war profiteers.

WORK ON PLANS FOR ANTI-WAR DEMONSTRATION

(Continued from page one) uniqueness and strength. The "Student Advocate," the publication of the American Student Union, states: "Unlike routine peace assemblies or private impressions against war, it represents the most effective procedure technique yet devised for ardent student insistence upon peace. If two years ago the strike was primarily an educational gesture, arousing thought and consciousness on the campus, today it has matured to the point of effecting a change in the attitude of the student body."

The strike signifies the solemnity, determination and perspective of a movement. It dramatizes the firmness of those who declare that no war undertaken by American imperialism can be just or profitable for the majority of American people.

The committee in charge of the strike for peace, which has spent considerable time and energy in preparation is made up of the following students: Chairman, Eugene King; Virginia Spiller, William Brown; Jane Saha, Edward Skinner, Tom Stansfield, Robert Jack, Lowell Hill, William Hasenbueger, and Evelyn Miller. Dr. T. W. Abbott has given valuable assistance to this committee.

PERSONALITIES OF TODAY'S NEWS

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT surprised many when she spoke against the National Youth bill in New York recently. She called the bill both costly and unwise and added that the youth of today is pretty well off, if they only knew it.

HUGO ROHRER, veteran commander of the Graf Zeppelin, was one of the few prominent men in Germany asked to endorse Hitler who refused. He was "punished" for his attitude toward the fate election.

STORY OF A CARD

This is the story of a stadium office card, with its far-reaching bases and sources stretching back into the dim past. Although the processes involved in its late are but the customary methods of solving riddles, the students they will play a great role in the setting-up of the permanent alumni association.

Way back in the horse and buggy days of 1896, John Appleknocker came out of the hills of Union county to obtain his education at our noble institution of learning. When John had paid his registration fees and was admitted, the beautiful girl in the registrar's office at once inscribed his name in the book of the blessed--the registration rolls of S. I. N. U.

We now leave these murky times and speed on the wings of progress to 1936, forty years after John became one of the elect. What do we find now? Where John has exercised gallantly his rights and Swedenborgian club, his son finds a football field and discovers that a football field is seen to have a stadium to accompany it.

In order to do this, two P.S.A. workers under the direction of the stadium office are now working in the President's office in order to perfect an alphabetical and then filed in the stadium on the registration rolls to little white cards. (Exact size, three by five inches). These cards contain the pertinent information of name, county registered from, home address, registration number, and date of entrance.

These P.S.A. workers now transport these cards to the stadium office in the gymnasium. Here these cards are separated into neat little piles according to counties. Next, these piles are alphabetized and then filed in the filing cabinets. Neat rows of filing cabinets are distributed in every vacant space in the office, as each cabinet contains a county file.

This set of cards is retained by the stadium office. Only duplicate cards are made of each of these cards. But to get back to our old friend, John Appleknocker, his card has been filed with the Union county cards under the letter "N". Now it comes forth into the light of day again, and his name and address are copied onto another plain white card.

This card now leaves the stadium office and travels to the office of the county chairman in Union county. This county chairman goes searching to this address for John Appleknocker. Unfortunately, he finds that John does not live in Union county at this time, but has moved to Marion county. If he had found him, he would at once have solicited him for a donation and would have made him a part of the county organization.

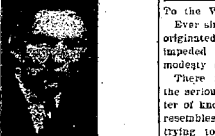

Now, however, it is necessary to send the card back to the central stadium office in the S. I. T. C. gymnasium. Here it is enclosed with the packet of cards to be sent to the Marion county committee. Upon its arrival at Marion county headquarters, the chairman goes to find John Appleknocker.

At last we find the end of our card. Beginning in 1896, the story of John Appleknocker is finished. And like all good stories, this one has a happy ending. Upon the arrival of the county chairman at the home of John, he finds a very pleasant home (Married to S. I. T. C. and live prosperously ever afterward) and Mr. Appleknocker at once furnishes a leading contribution to the fund by his donation of $100. Isn't it a happy ending?

4:15 p. m. final plans for the press conference will be discussed, and it is imperative that all members attend.

Organize So. Ill. Geographical Society in West Frankfort

A Southern Illinois Geographical Society has been recently organized in West Frankfort as the result of the interest in geography, aroused through S. I. T. C. extension courses taught in West Frankfort and Marion during the last two school years. Professor F. W. Cox, of the college geography department, is a sponsor of the new society.

The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest in geography and to learn of its relations to the life of man. Local geography will be given careful consideration by the members of the organization as there are few fields richer in geographical interest than Southern Illinois.

The organization plans to make field trips to points of interest besides their regular meetings. There is a membership of nearly forty, coming from Marion, Herrin, Christopher, Valer, Carbondale, Paulton, and West Frankfort.

The officers elected for the coming year are: C. A. Walker, West Frankfort, president; C. E. Kiefer, Christopher, vice-president; Arthur Chitt, Paulton, secretary-treasurer; Professor Cox, sponsor.
