Guest directors for the annual Choral Clinic of high school choruses have included many of the nation's most famous choral conductors.

This year's guest director, Olaf Christianien, is on tour and presented a concert in Chicago February 6.

Mr. Christianien received his bachelor of music degree from St. Olaf College in 1925, and the degree of master of sacred music from the Union Seminary in New York City. After spending a year in New York City in private study, he went to the public schools for three years. His experiences in school music education range from junior high to college and university teaching.

From 1927 he went to Oberlin Conservatory of Music where he was choral director for 12 years, until he returned in 1941 to St. Olaf College where he is chairman of the College of Vocations and Professions, Dr. Willis G. Swartz, chairman of the Graduate Studies committee; and Raymond H. Day, director of extension and placement services.

The council, which meets semi-annually, is composed of the six state-supported educational institutions and has for its purpose the consideration of national problems and areas of cooperation.

Dr. Thomas F. Barton, chairman of the geography department, will teach in the Arts, Science, and Graduate colleges at the University of Nebraska during the forthcoming summer term, he announced today.

In the Graduate college he will teach as "Summer in Educational Geography."

Dr. Barton has long been interested in the educational phase of geography and has written many articles and book reviews in regard to the subject. His latest article appeared in the November 1946 issue of the Journal of Geography and his latest book review appeared in the December, 1946 issue of the same publication.

Dr. Barton previously served as an assistant instructor at Nebraska, while working for the doctoral degree. He also taught at the State Teachers College at Kearney, Neb., for two years before coming to Southern.

His absence from Southern will not be permanent, as he will remain at 4 1/2 m. to arrange for the following five days during the next fall.

A combination of the traditional classic and the light and evening from Bolero and Petite Suite to the music of Debussy will be featured on the program of the Foxhole Ballet, in their performance in Shryock auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

After successful performances at USO camps and overseas during the war, the group is on its second civilian tour composed of 90 engagements.

Seven Dancers in Group: Grant Mouradoff, leader and chief choreographer of the Foxhole Ballet, is former leading solo dancer with the Metropolitan Opera association in New York, later with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Sonia Woickowka, classic dancer and comedienne, is noted for her part as "Girl who falls down" and "cancer dancer" in last season's "The Oklahoma." She has also danced with the Ballet theatre and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo since coming to this country six years ago.

Gino Richardson, young American dancer, had her start as a dancer in the 1920s with the Metropolitan Opera ballet and then travelled with D'Andrea's National Opera company. Since then, she has appeared in such Broadway hits as the revival, "The Vagabond King," "One Touch of Venus," and "The Merry Widow."

Zoya Leporska, who was born in Siberia, began her balletic studies in Seattle, Washington. Her career was continued in the San Francisco Opera Ballet, the City Center Opera company in New York.

RESIDENCE BEING CONVERTED FOR FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Acquisition by the University of the residence at 910 S. Illinois ave. will set off a chain of classroom and office changes that is expected to provide a great deal of additional space.

Dr. Charles D. Tenney, chairman of the space committee, announced Thursday.

The nine-room residence just off the campus will be converted into a classroom and office for the language department. Plans and specifications for the same, with extensive repairs, remodeling, and redecoration are now being drafted by the physical plant department.

When the language department has moved from the second floor of Old Main, a number of other offices and classroom shifts will be possible, Dr. Tenney said.

Offices for faculty members are to be constructed in space now largely wasted in certain classrooms, but without destroying the usefulness of the rooms for class purposes. These include Main 107, 213, and 207.

These remodeling projects will provide offices for present members of the faculty who are ordered to office facilities as well as for certain contemplated additions to the faculty.

Armstrong, Haroldson, Melvin, Krauzarich, Kraatz Chosen as Members of Sphinx Club

Chosen as members of the Sphinx club this week Fred Armstrong, Jeanne Haroldson, Aliene Krauzarich, Rodney Kraatz, and Barbara Melvin, all senior students, have received the highest non-scholastic honor this campus year to 15.

Ten to 15 juniors are elected each year by the active members of the Sphinx club and are rated in a preferential order; number one automatically becoming president, number two vice president, and number three secretary-treasurer. However, during this selection, it sometimes occurs that one or more students are overlooked or vice versa.

During their senior year, and they then have the charter of being elected that year.

The motto of the Sphinx club is "Service to Southern," and students chosen for membership are selected on the basis of their organizations, extra-curricular activities, and service on committees.

Organized by President Rocco Pullman, this club is for the purpose of choosing for membership those students who not only give their time and who genuinely work for Southern.

Receiving this honor are the following five seniors: Fred Armstrong, Du Quoin, president of the senior class, is majoring in economics and minor in government in the College of Liberal Arts.

Jeane Haroldson, Carbondale, is a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon, W. A. A., Little Theatre, Delta Phi Kappa, Dance club, Oblisk staff, and Student Council. She has chosen for membership on the basis of her work in the junior class and secretary-treasurer of the senior class. She is majoring in physical education, and her minor is art.

Aliene Krauzarich, Christopher, was the 1946 Homecoming Queen. She is a member of Southern's orchestra and Girls' Rally. She has her major in music and her minor in sociology.

Rodney Kraatz, Union, is president of Nu Epsilon Alpha and member of the Southern Knights. He has his major in English and his minor in social sciences.

Barbara Melvin, Du Quoin, is a member of W. A. A. and both the band and orchestra, and the Oblisk staff. She is a former member of the Egyptian staff. Her major is physical education and minor in music.

PORTIA WHITE, CANADIAN CONCERT CONTRALTO, IS FROM FAMILY OF 13 MUSICAL CHILDREN

By June Fulkerson

According to Webster, an artist is "a person who shows unusual skill or rare taste in his occupation." If this quality you add charm, graciousness, warmth, and versatility, you will have a fair picture of Portia White, Canadian Negro contralto, who presented a concert here last Friday night.

Miss White began her professional career five years ago after receiving her musical training at the conservatory of Halifax, Nova Scotia. Previously she had been a primary school teacher and had sung in the choir at the Baptist church at Halifax where her father was the minister.

Two years after beginning her professional singing, Miss White made her New York debut at Town Hall. Offers of two attractive contracts immediately followed her concert. "And she said, 'I've been singing ever since,'" Miss White commented. "It's the one of South America last year in addition to her successes in North America."

"I suppose the most interesting thing about my life," Miss White commented, "is that I'm one of 18 children. And yes, they all sing," she added. In spite of her experience, Miss White insists that each new concert finds her with a bad case of stage fright. "I don't think I'll ever get over it," she said. "I'm always scared before I go on."

In any spare time she finds herself on concerts, rehearsals, and traveling. Miss White likes to work on crossword puzzles, crochet, and read plays. She is especially fond of literature that she terms "fantastic" and lists "Brave New World," "The Hobbit," and "First Man" as her favorite books. She says that if she somewhat favors operatic selections, folk songs are high in her concert preferences also.

Last Friday's concert found Miss White tired from her strenuous schedule of concerts. Just two nights before, she had sung at Carbondale and had arrived at Carbondale late Friday afternoon. "So you see, I really didn't have much time to practice for tonight. But the Carbondale people are wonderful," she remarked. "I've never sung to a warmer, more responsive audience."

Judging from the applause, encore, and after-concert comments, the Carbondale people found Portia White pretty wonderful, too.

EGYPTIAN

Published weekly throughout the school year, excepting holidays, by the students of Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale, Illinois.

The Southern Parade

By DAVE KENNEY

In a recent edition Newsweek magazine presented in its weekly "Education" section an article about the veteran at college. It described the changes which had taken place on the University of New Hampshire campus as being typical of universities the country over.

The veteran as a student, says Newsweek, is more serious and more interested in his work than the average pre-war collegian. His presence on the campus effects "a kind of intellectual uplift."

Something of the same thing is taking place here at Southern. Many former service men who were here before the war and who have returned to complete their educations have done considerably better work in the classroom than they did before going into uniform.

What's more, students here are generally agreed that classroom competition is keener, and a more elusive, than in pre-war days. That is very probably a direct result of the presence of a large group of mature, more determined men upon the campus.

Perhaps the veteran's success as a student contains a certain significance. For several decades some educators have been advocating a shortened preparation for college. They've encouraged entrance at 16 and 15 so that the student would be ready for life or for professional training at 20.

Thank you, Neva.

Those pre-registration blues are here again! Third term seniors can be easily recognized these days, most of them are dashing madly about the campus, clutching schedules and bulletins in their hot little hands and getting thinner and thinner each day.

Has the Southern Vets Organization Vanished?

By LLOYD SCHAFFALE

When a college organization no longer holds regular meetings, no longer maintains the interests of its members, or performs the purposes set forth in its constitution, why does it exist at all? We're speaking of the Southern Veterans Organization. After much attempt at fact-finding, these items were uncovered: (1) The last meeting was approximately six weeks ago.

There are several full time veteran advisers available for those seeking information concerning veterans. They are being paid by the taxpayers for this job. Why duplicate that duty with another organization of similar function?

If Southern wishes to have a veterans' organization, then why not make it a clean cut, closely organized, smooth-running organization representing through parliamentary law the wishes of the majority of its members?

It MAY BE WISE for Southern to consider the disposal of the campus to take care of some of the ends of cigarettes smoked there. It is adequate rooms that cannot be provided for smoking.

CONTRIBUTE TO WSSF

Yes, there are students in Europe and Asia. There are students in Europe and Asia very much like any of our American students. These students are the dispossessed. Of course that sounds a little dramatic. Why should we have a particular concern when the world is heading for a millennium of peace—no more wars, everyone's going to live in Utopia. Yes, the idealists of today might well imagine themselves into such a sublime state of tranquility, but those of us who count ourselves as realists know that this peace isn't going to just happen.

Yes, American students, students of Southern, you are the plutocrats of the world; they are the dispossessed. You are the strong; they are the weak. You are the healthy; they are the sick. You are the free; they, the slave.

Blueprint for assembly enjoyment—

Students who are required to attend assembly find it to be a very boring period in which they are prone to drop off into a deep sleep; therefore deriving no benefit whatever from it. Many find excuses to cut assembly, and some cut it anyway.

It is generally agreed that a weekly assembly is a necessary student gathering program, if conducted in such a way that students revolt against it, consequently missing an essential part of college training.

At the present, the Thursday meeting consists of a band number or two, regular necessary announcements, a speech, and occasionally an instrumental or vocal selection. The lecturer takes up most of the period with a talk which he could have delivered in 10 or 15 minutes.

So the Story Goes...

CURTIS HISE and CLETTIS HISE

AN OPERATIVE TO THE WESTERN COURIER: We down here at Southern Illinois Normal University have recently read with much regret your editorial which has been entitled "The true facts are that ISNU was directed entirely to the latter because the public is already aware of what you have said."

THE STUDENT "BILL OF RIGHTS": Since the ISU student "Bill of Rights" was submitted to the Student Council a few weeks ago there has been much comment pro and con.

Here is what the opposition fails to realize. Seldom is a perfect bill submitted to any legislative body. Seldom is a bill passed without amendments, and this is as it should be.

TEACHER LEGISLATION: Members of the Illinois General Assembly this week presented a bill designed to aid the present teachers and to alleviate the current teacher shortage.

Of the various plans, one called for a 50 per cent increase in state payments to local school districts, a $400 increase for each full-time public school instructor during the current school year; and another bill, which has the support of the Illinois Education Association, provided for minimum salaries ranging from $1,500 to $2,400.

THE SADDIST THING we've seen since they stopped showing war pictures is that spring and an enforcement of "no dress" for the boys who have arrived at Southern at the same time.

SPEAKING OF FINANCE after paying taxes on a seven-acre tract for 35 years, people for a New York suburb found it hard to exist.

Squabbings

By Grant Elliott

Students on campus were sadly lamenting the fact that the currently popular tune "Open the Windows and Let the Sun Shine In" was doing much good. A check on the names of the instructors here showed that not one of them had the first name of "Richard." This ended an otherwise interesting might have had to serenade their favorite instructor.

At least the weather isn't booring in Carbondale—summer at seven, winter at 11—from shorts to fur coats in one day. One student remarks "We don't have climate—we have weather."

Latest issue of Life stated that two thirds of the students at University of Texas had an examination by using such devices as fake watches, and the shoe, knee, and cuff methods. If this number is typical, we wonder how Southern rates.

And we want to mention the good work of the students at the top of Old Main street on the eye-know-what, until some gentlemanly "Richard-like" character, providing civility could be revived if enough of the girls on campus were as feminine as this one. Might be a campaign worth setting for.

Thursday last week we were wondering just which of the odds could be eager enough as to put her telephone number on so many of the trees on the campus. Being sure that she appeared before the council and asked the council to appoint a committee of students to work with him in selecting a chairman and a secretary for the campaign for Rejoicing in Emphasis Week.

From the collection of Illinois proverbs and folk sayings in the English department comes a truism: "You can lead a mule to water, but you can't make him drink." You can lead a boy to school, but you can't make him think.

Perhaps someone can answer this question. What are all of those chubby-holes in the EGYPTIAN office used for? We feel that the office would make an excellent room for a pigeon hutch.

In closing the first class of the current winter term, Miss Barber advised, "Don't cut my lecture!" Said one student under his breath, "Don't lecture my cuts."

Some of us will have to get up earlier to get our procrastination time. Not enough hours in 24 to put off studying.

After Richard had refused to open the door several times, there was a full in the conversation... Finally he said to her brightly, "You know, I think you're a little bit of a peep."

MANY STRANGE... Which reminds us that exam time at Southern is just around the corner.

STAFF MEMBERS... of college newspapers can be pious—and we're not referring to the weekly food-fests that the Egyptian staff holds at the Hub Cafe after each grueling Thursday press night.

THE GIRLS FROM Missouri have it rough. Remember when we told you about those 8:45 p.m. and 11 p.m. house rules at Cape Girardeau?

LOOKING FORWARD... where there is usually, we read with interest that a group of students presented to the Student Council a camouflaged gripe and at best is a summary of all the letters to the editor that the Egyptian has received in several years.

Miracles Not Catalogued In Library... The library serves two types of students, the conscientious worker and the procrastinator.

Miracles Not Catalogued In Library... Consequently, two kinds of reactions take place when the librarian reports "I'm sorry, that book is out to a student and is expected back the fifteenth."

Miracles Not Catalogued In Library... Perhaps the most difficult problem with which the library must contend is the pre-exam rush. Students dash to the loan desk with a dozen call slips, panting, "I gotta have all these books. I'm gonna stay up all night and study for tomorrow's history test. I've got to get 'em out of the library now."

Miracles Not Catalogued In Library... Wheeler library is a necessary part of Southern's educational system. Its facilities are offered to students for the purpose of supplementing classroom lectures and text books. To do this job most efficiently, the cooperation of the users is necessary. By allowing plenty of time for conceivable difficulties, students can be assured of making the best use of the library.

Spring Term Offers Three Courses To Non-English Majors

For the spring term the English department recommends that non-English majors take one of these three courses: English 230—Modern British Poetry—Barbour, English 308—American Novel—Winn, English 306—American Drama—Harris.

They are less specialized than the other 300 English courses which are scheduled. Juniors and seniors should meet the general literature requirements that they fail to get in their sophomore year.

Sports editor of the Egyptian, sports writer for Information Service, editorial writer for Southern Alumnus, publicity man for Southern sports, sports reporter for Carbondale Press and Marionsboro Independent, program printer for Southern's football and basketball games, spotter for sports announcer at football games, free lance writer, member of the cast presenting the weekly journalism radio program, past president of Specialty Services... reads like the professional history of a successful reporter doesn't it. WILLIAM C. BICKNELL

Bob McDowell

Bob is from East St. Louis and is a junior in the College of Liberal Arts, majoring in English. He participates in the above extra-curricular activities in order to get experience to aid him in the future.

He entered the AAF in 1941 and was discharged in the fall of 1944.

Following the line of reasoning that a good newspaper man should have a wide background of experience, he has worked for three different railroads, in a plumbing supply house, for the postal department, driven a truck, taken a farm census in Iowa, dated, audited, and finally worked in Southern's Business office.

His leisure sports writing is mostly featured news. Hence, he makes forecast and personal comments in his columns. One of the most humorous incidents of his sports writing for Information Service was when he declared that the "Junior White Kids" were potentially a better team than last year's NIAH champs. This article was published in various papers, hence the article written by him about Southern's defeat at the hands of Cape Girardeau. His face was almost as red as his "good luck" coat, tie, and socks.

When asked about his present sports staff on the Egyptian, he replied, "I think it is the best staff on the paper. I can count on every one of them. It is a small staff (in numbers) but is of exceptional quality."

Bob's main tool for successful writing are a flashlight, a notebook, and pencil. The reason being that he gets many of his ideas in the middle of the night, so gets up out of bed and jots them down.

As a means of relaxation from the hours of work at sports writing, he plays ice hockey (recognized as one of the most strenuous of sports), eats prodigiously, and plots scientific practical jokes to pull on his friends.

DR. BRACY TO SPEAK AT YOUTH SERVICE

Dr. Carl C. Bracy, president of McKendree College, will be the guest speaker at the United Youth Service at the First Methodist church in Carbondale, February 28, beginning at 8:15 p. m. Following a light supper and group singing, Dr. Bracy will speak to the youth on the topic, "Now That's An Idea."

This service, which is sponsored by all the college-age youth organizations of the city, promises to be one of the outstanding events in youth work this year. All students are cordially invited to attend. The cost of the supper will be 25 cents.

Bicknell, Industrial Arts Expert, Enjoys Studying Social Sciences

By BILL VURNS

Philosophic in views, yet practical in manner, Dr. William C. Bicknell, chairman of the department of industrial education, is a valuable asset to Southern's faculty.

Dr. Bicknell was born in the "wide open spaces" of Texas and received his bachelor of science degree from North Texas State Teachers College in 1924.

While working in his B.S. degree, he was principal of a rural school in Texas. Being versatile, he also coached athletics.

After receiving his degree in Texas, he went to U.C.L.A. where he did some graduate work in the summer of 1928. From there, he moved to the middle west and enrolled at the University of Missouri, where he received the master and doctor degrees.

Photography, leather-work, and good music and books take up most of Dr. Bicknell's leisure time. He likes to read books which deal with economic and social trends.

Dr. Bicknell's work is in the field of practical arts, it seems unusual to find him interested in the intangible social sciences. However, he says, "although I enjoy the practical arts, I think I must have something solid to grasp."

He appreciates good movies and good stage shows—not mediocre ones, but good ones. Stage shows, according to Dr. Bicknell, are just as interesting and should be just as popular as good movies.

Dr. Bicknell is married and has two children, a son, Edmund, and a daughter, Elaine Clare. Both attended Brush grade school.

KAPPA PHI

Norma Trotter led the program at the meeting of Kappa Phi last Monday at the Student Christian Foundation.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION

A World Student Christian Foundation day of prayer service, under the leadership of Mary Ruth Coffman, was given at the foundation last Sunday night. Students who participated in the program were Pat Minor, Ruth McIlure, Calvin Bremer, and Rev. Douglas MacNaughton, director of the foundation.

The social service committee of the Student Christian Foundation, led by Evelyn Burpo and Richard Lovell, is collecting clothing to donate to a local needy family. This family of eight members has been recently "adopted" by the foundation.

BAPTIST FOUNDATION

The student co-op, new civilian BX, has just been organized and is now operating on a non-profit basis with Floyd Jent as manager. Small articles such as razor blades, shoe strings, hair oil, band-aids, etc., are sold, and a "snack bar" supplies sandwiches, ice cream, doughnuts, and other refreshments. Booths will be installed at a later date.

Youth revivals will be held at 11 Baptist churches in Illinois from March 16-21. Seventy students from Southern will be sent to these churches with a preacher, a lay leader, a conference leader, and a devotional leader, attending each one. Problems of the youth of today will be discussed in the conferences.

CHRISTIAN YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

A special mid-week meeting of the Christian Youth Fellowship of the First Christian church has been organized for those students of Southern who are unable to attend the meetings on Sunday evenings, according to Herman Entaminger, president.

Two Of A Kind Is Good Bet; Deniston Twins Are No Exception

This is about people, not poker. Any veteran of the army navy, marine, or high school, know that two of a kind is quite common in poker. In fact, the people we usually play always seem to have about three twos of a kind. This worries us, especially when we're playing fire card draw.

Anyway, this is still about people; sociologists tell us that two's of a kind, or twins, occur only once in every three generations. Twins have been the subject for learned research by people whose I. Q. in comparison with ours would look like the national debt.

So without being intelligent, (a process which is quite difficult) or scientific, we would like to tell you about a pair of Southern twins.

In Carter's we found George and Luther, the Deniston, popular Southern twins. George being the oldest, by 10 minutes, acted as spokesman for the two with an occasional "better leave that out," by brother Luther.

George and Luther, sophomores from Carbondale are both history majors. They entered the army together, became T-5's together, went overseas together, served with the fourth cavalry group together, and landed two hours before H-hour on D-day together. About the only thing they didn't do together in the army was go A.W.O.L.

Without too much knowledge of genetics we can assure you that George and Luther are not identical twins. To us, at least, this is proved by the fact that Luther prefers blondes and George red-heads, and what's more they part their hair on different sides.

Being the other's double, has been amusing for these good-looking twins. This happened once. (This is slightly colored.) When George and Luther were discharged, they stopped by to see George's girl. This time Luther decided to double for George. George's girl came bounding out and said, "George, darling, you're back."

"Yes, I am returned," grinned Luther.

"Hold me, darling." (It gets tender here.) Luther broke one of her ribs.

"Hold me tighter," she sighed. Luther broke three of her ribs, and softly said, "Oh, I almost forgot, I just came in to tell you George is out in the car."

Next meeting of the group will be Wednesday, March 5, in Main 307, 7 p. m. All commerce students are invited.

Bookstore Received Textbook Shipment

Another shipment of books has arrived at Southern's bookstore this week. Carl Traubach, manager of the book store announced.

Included in this shipment were 150 Sociology books by Kimball Young, 100 Basic Speech, 30 Economics, 15 Greek and 40 Journalism—Writing and Spelling Feature Articles. The latter is to be used next term for the feature writing class.

FORTY MEN TO ONE CO-ED

by Julia Cook

Forty men to one co-ed is the situation at Southern . . . every morning at 9 in the agricultural economics class taught by Alex Reed, instructor, in Old Main 114. The co-ed is Maxine Russell, Brown-eyed "Max" is five-feet-tall with natural curly blonde hair. A third term freshman, Maxine is majoring in English, which she hopes to teach. Her mother is a school teacher, and her father farms near Alto Pass. Living on a farm has led her to decide to take the "co-ed" course.

On the first day of the term Maxine found herself surrounded by numbers of the opposite sex. She was frantic at first with thoughts of being the only female among 40 busy males. At first, she assumed that her classmates started because they thought she was a clever freshman in the wrong class room. But much to her amazement, she stayed.

While the teacher read the roll, Maxie noted that her fellow class-

ALEXANDER SPEAKS AT SIXTH ISU FORUM

"The British Empire is in a process of liquidation, and this should be of vital concern to the United States," were the sentiments of Dr. Orville Alexander, professor of government at Southern, in a speech last night at the Little Theatre, where he was featured in the sixth in the series of forums being sponsored by the Independent Student Union.

The probable freedom of India, Burma, and other parts of the British Empire were cited as examples of the liquidation.

He said it was important to us because for the last 100 years the U.S. and Britain have been closely related, and they have given us a stabilizing influence.

Dr. Alexander said that where there is a vacuum, something is likely to move in. He believes there is a possibility that some strong, ambitious power will take over the countries which gain their independence from Britain.

One of the reasons for the breaking of the British Empire is that they have been forced to maintain such a large army, while they don't have enough manpower to operate their home industries. In pointing out other reasons, he said it was inevitable that some of the larger countries would have eventually gained their independence due to their large populations.

Dr. Alexander stated that the current issue between Britain and India is a difficult problem because of Britain's reluctance to give the Indians their freedom until they have established a successful government. He also said that this also is difficult since the country is divided between Moslem and Hindu religions.

In regard to the Palestine issue, Dr. Alexander believes a compromise is necessary to settle the present situation. He thinks that both the Jewish peoples and the Arabs are justified in some of their demands. He said that, for instance, the Jews have no other country to turn to. That serious activities of the Jews are natural were his sentiments.

He stated that people have found that by making a nuisance of themselves, they get what they want. He expressed the idea that Britain's agreement to let the United Nations handle the disagreement was good, and he believed that the U.N. offered the best possible solution.

Alumni Directory Provides Statistics On SINU Presidents

A questionnaire from an educational association this week sent Southern Illinois Normal University researchers scouring the records—to find out the order and tenure of the school's seven presidents.

Everybody knew their names, but nobody seemed to know the exact order in which they held office and nobody knew the exact years of their administrations.

Finally, the information was found in the Alumni Directory, compiled by W. G. Clark, professor emeritus and former director of the Placement Service.

The list—Robert Aillyn, 1874-1892; retired; John Hull, 1892-1898; resigned to accept another position; Harvey W. Everest, 1893-1897; resigned because of poor health; Daniel B. Parkinson, 1897-1918; retired; Henry W. Shroyock, 1913-1921; died; George P. Pulliam, 1925-1944; deceased; and Chester F. Lay, 1945.

Seniors, Graduate Students To Register At Placements Office

Beginning next Tuesday, February 25, the placement service will register all seniors in the three colleges and all candidates for the master degree in June or August. Raymond H. Dey, director of the placement service has announced.

Students will meet with the placement staff according to the following schedule:

Feb. 25 (Tue.)—Teacher candidates who are not taking practice teaching this term (last names A through L).

Feb. 26 (Wed.)—teacher candidates who are not taking practice teaching this term (last names M through Z).

Feb. 27 (Thurs.)—seniors, College of Vocations and Professions, March 3 (Mon.)—seniors, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (A-L).

March 4 (Tue.)—seniors, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (M-Z).

March 5 (Wed.)—candidates for the master's degree in June or August.

Open meetings will be held in Main 102 at 4 p. m. Students who are taking practice teaching this term will register at one of their regular seminar meetings.

This series of meetings, according to Mr. Dey, is for the purpose of familiarizing students with the work of the placement service, to give them detailed instructions for securing the materials necessary for a complete registration, and to give them certain other advice in connection with locating positions following graduation or securing assistantships and fellowships.

Maroons Couer Cinch Crown With Win Tonight

Cagers Assured Of Conference Tie By Dropping Western

by Fenton Harris

One win and one defeat was the result of the road trip by Southern's basketball team last week end when they took another step in defending their Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference crown by beating Western Teachers 38-49 Friday night. Saturday night Holdermen lost their second game of the season to James Millikin of Decatur by a score of 63-51.

The Maroons maintained a short lead throughout the Louthreck contest until the last period when they broke loose and poured it on. Quentin Stinson, of Eldorado, led the Maroons in scoring by compiling a total of 13 points. "Mr. Two Hands," Johnny Sebastian of Odin, followed with 13 points, while "Mr. One Hand," Oliver Shoaf of Mt. Carmel, and Gene Hall, of Galatia, both scored nine.

Bill Will, Western forward, who has a deformed left arm led both teams in scoring with 14 points.

Against Millikin the Maroons were handicapped by the loss of Shoaf, who re-injured a bad ankle, and Sebastian who was suffering from a cold. The Millikin five built up a 24-6 score in the first 10 minutes of the game when they connected with 80 per cent of their shots. However, this percentage fell off when Hall, Bob Colborn, of Flora, and Sam Milosevich, of Zeigler, displayed some close guarding.

The play of Milosevich was heartening as he looked as though he will be able to go full strength for the first time since receiving a leg injury during football season.

Stinson again led his team in scoring by racking 18 points.

The Maroons pulled to within two points of the Big Blue in the second half, but again the Millikin five, led by forward Toiy Altoff, began to hit a high percentage and pulled away from the roadward Southern five.

The Maroons have now won five and lost none in IAC competition and have the opportunity of practically clinching the crown when they play Eastern tonight at Charleston.

SINU Opponents

By DAVE KENNEY

Coach Lynn Holder's in-and-out hardwood squad will go to Charleston tonight with a mathematical chance of clinching the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship. The Charleston Panthers, now in second place, have already lost three games, so all the Maroons have to do to assure themselves of the crown is win one of their remaining three contests.

Carbondale went back to the head of the offensive-rating list in place of Charleston who was on top last week. Charleston lost ground in bowing to Macomb last Wednesday by a bare two points. This week's ratings are as follows: CARBONDALE, 6.7; Macomb, 1.5; DeKalb, 1.1; Charleston, 1.0; Normal, 1.0; Normal, 1.0.

As their respective ratings indicate, both Charleston and the Southerners have displayed equal strength in conference play this season. When they go on the floor tonight, the victory will go to whichever team is having a hot night, as each team has been far from consistent all year. Charleston, with its outstanding team spirit, athletic ability, and accomplishments, was received today by Athletic Director Glenn "Abe" Martin, the athletic department head.

The trophy is a silver two feet high, with a dark base, and a gold colored body. On top of the trophy is the figure of an athlete holding the laurel wreath of victory.

The committee for awarding the trophy has not been selected yet, the athletic director said.

'GABBY' STREET TO SPEAK HERE

Charles "Gabby" Street, radio sportscaster and veteran baseball player and manager, will appear on Southern's campus today from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m. for an informal get-together. Coach Bill Freeburg announced.

The informal meeting will be held in room 208 in the men's gymnasium, and everyone interested is welcome to attend.

Street is on an extended speaking trip through Southern Illinois and will address the Carbondale Rotary and Lions clubs earlier, where he will be introduced by Freeburg.

Street is one-half of the Harry Carey-Gabby Street baseball broadcasting team that played to Southern Illinois during the baseball season by station WJFF. He is also heard on the "Hot Shoe League" program, which is carried by station WJFF of Harrisburg.

'Brick' Young Will Referee K. C. Games

Fred "Brick" Young, well-known basketball official and sports editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph will serve as one of the officials in the National Intercollegiate Athletic Basketball tourney to be held in Kansas City, March 10-16, according to E. S. Liston, secretary-treasurer of the NIAB.

By BOB McDOWELL

Today, we have a story that begins about 14 years ago. Here at Southern, a certain basketball player was burning up the hardwood, setting conference records, and was the team captain.

However, we deal on one specific game. On the night of February 10, 1933, the late coach William McAndrew led his capers to Macomb to battle Western in a contest that would go a long way toward deciding the "Little 10" conference crown, which conference the Maroons used to belong.

Macomb had a good team, and many of the experts rated them over Southern. One player, however, didn't believe the experts, and when the game was over, he had 21 points behind his name, and the Maroons had a 68-27 decision to take home with them.

Western's coach was Ray Hanson, affectionately called "the Ben" by his players, and the timekeeper was Ben Bush.

Last week on February 14, just 14 years and three days later, the stage was set again. The place was Macomb; the Western coach was Ray Hanson; and the timekeeper was Ben Bush, who, incidentally, was timing his 1,700th contest in the state of Illinois.

The Maroons once more took the floor to face a strong Western team, this time with the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference crown at stake, and once more came away with the decision, this time 58-49.

Our man who scored the 21 points 14 years ago? You guessed it. It was Lynn Holder who returned to Western in the role of Southern's coach, to hang it on the same Western coach in front of the same timekeeper, just 14 years and three days later.

SIDELIGHTS on the Macomb

W.A.A.

Women's house basketball tournament got underway Monday afternoon with two tilts, featuring Tamarack against the Tri Sigmas, and Delta Sigma Epsilon against Normandy.

Tuesday afternoon Tamarack defeated Normandy 49-24, Evelyn Parker, Tamarack ace, scoring 25 of the 49 points. Joy Levin scored 19 points for the Tamarack team. The same afternoon Anthony Hall I defeated Delta Sigma Epsilon 28-15.

Wednesday afternoon games proved decisive tilts for Anthony Hall I pitted against Normandy 64-13, and Pi Kaps against Tri Sigmas 28-15.

Pi Kaps defeated Delta Sigma Epsilon 25-8, and Tri Sigmas defeated Normandy 34-10 Thursday afternoon. Next week's inter-house tournament schedule is as follows:

Monday, Feb. 24, 4 p. m. Tamarack vs. Anthony Hall III; Anthony Hall I vs. Anthony Hall II.

Tuesday, Feb. 25, 4 p. m. Normandy vs. Pi Kaps; Sigmas; Tri Sigmas vs. Anthony Hall III; Anthony Hall I vs. Anthony Hall II.

Wednesday, Feb. 26, 4 p. m. Normandy vs. Anthony Hall III; Pi Kaps vs. Anthony Hall II.

Thursday, Feb. 27, 4 p. m. Tri Sigmas vs. Anthony Hall I; Delta Sigma vs. Tamarack.

Everyone is invited to attend these games held in the women's gymnasium.

Millikin Trip—Johnny Sebastian and Quentin Stinson proved that they could "take it" in the Western contest. They were the subject of many of the caustic of the rabid Western fans, but John and Quentin didn't mind it a bit.

We have it on good authority that a certain shopkeeper in Pinckneyville is still looking for Leonard Tucker. "Tuck" went into the store, bought a candy bar, took a bite of it, decided he didn't like it, wrapped it up, and got his money back.

Near casualties on the trip were bus driver Robert "Bing" Miller, and the writer, who were helping the timer and keeping score, respectively. One excited fan who watched Oliver Shoaf hit about three shots in a row, asked us if he did that all the time. When we solemnly replied that he did, the fan nearly became violent, protesting the "phony" he can do that.

However, both the driver and writer escaped unscathed.

ON THE PEEP FRONT

Metropolis at Carbondale Community, Chester at Du Quoin, Decatur at Centralia, Sparta at Nashville, West Frankfort at Pinckneyville, Marion at Mt. Carmel. These are all Friday night games.

Here are the first ten teams in the country rated through the games of February 10 by the CONVERSE-DUNKEL rating sheet. Kentucky—80.2; West Virginia—78.7; Notre Dame—77.3; Oregon State—74.5; Western Kentucky State—72.4; Wisconsin—71.6; Indiana—71.5; Illinois—71.4; Texas 71.1; Washington State—70.8. Southern is rated 62.7, while the next three opponents, Eastern, Chicago, and Normal, are rated 52.2, 57.2, and 44.1, respectively.

Over Fifty Report For Track and Field

Over 50 men have reported to Track Coach Leland P. "Doc" Lingle, to compete in the University varsity track program, the athletic department has announced. The men are working out in the gymnasium and on the track.

However, many more are expected to report when the current basketball season is over and next term is under way, Lingle said.

Wednesday, Feb. 26, 4 p. m. Normandy vs. Anthony Hall III; Pi Kaps vs. Anthony Hall II.

Thursday, Feb. 27, 4 p. m. Tri Sigmas vs. Anthony Hall I; Delta Sigma vs. Tamarack.

Everyone is invited to attend these games held in the women's gymnasium.

Holdermen Face Tough Weekend

With an undisputed Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title at stake, the Maroons face a busy basketball campaign with road games against Eastern Illinois State Teachers College tonight and University of Chicago Saturday night before returning home for their final home game of the season against Illinois Normal on Monday.

The Holdermen are already assured at least a part of the conference title, and by defeating either Eastern tonight at Charleston, or Normal in Carbondale on Monday, they will become undisputed champions. Every team in the conference except Southern has lost at least three games, so in the Maroons' remaining three they have to win only one for the title, which quite possibly can be accomplished this week.

Tonight Eastern will be out to revenge an 18 point lacing they took at Maroon hands in January on the Southern court, when their ace, Zimo Holdcraft, was held to a meager two points in 36 minutes.

Saturday night the Maroons travel on to Chicago for a game with the University of Chicago. Earlier in the season Chicago proved an easy touch, as Southern won 71 to 51.

The unusual schedule the Maroons have suffered from all season will play another trick on them Monday night when they take the floor for their final home game of the season against Illinois Normal, after having played two games and traveled 700 miles in the previous three days.

The starting lineup in these games will probably remain as it has during most of the season with John Sebastian and Oliver Shoaf at forwards, Quentin Stinson at center, and Bob Colborn and Gene Hall at guards.

The game against Normal on Monday will be the last opportunity local fans will have to watch three stars, since Sam Milosevich, Last week's Correction last week's Correction stated that Athletic Director "Abe" Martin was a member of the Illinois basketball committee to decide who will represent Illinois in the NCAA tournament at Kansas City. The tournament should have been the National Intercollegiate Athletic basketball tournament since Southern does not compete in NCAA.
