Larger Enrollment Increases Operating Expenses

(This is the first of a series of three articles explaining Southern Illinois University's budget request for operating expenses during the next two years.)

The Illinois legislature has been asked to vote $25,264,139 for the operation of fast-growing Southern Illinois University during the next two years.

Overcrowded classrooms, heavy teaching loads and low faculty salaries are among conditions that the University hopes to correct if this sum is appropriated.

In its budget request, the University stated that its unprecedented growth has caused problems that cannot be met without sizable increases in funds. During the past biennium alone, enrollment jumped by more than 1,600 to the present level of 6,253 students and professors who have been conservative in the past except Southern's campus to be invaded by 9,000 students in the fall of 1960.

The small college of a few years ago has mushroomed far out of proportion to funds available for operation, SIU officials say, even though substantial bonds have been made by each of the past several sessions of the General Assembly. For 1955-57, Southern received $14,667,427 in operating funds, but this was not enough despite some rigid economies that have proved tough on their students, the faculty and area residents seeking University services.

Southern was forced to place a strict downhold on new projects whether designed to meet educational demands or to benefit the people of Southern Illinois. Off-campus services and extension courses were cut back. Evening and Saturday classes were made part of the regular University schedule so that previous class room space could be used to best advantage. Salary hikes were postponed in July, 1955, after the last session of the General Assembly, but virtually no pay increases have been made since.

Even with these economies, SIU needs a $400,000 deficiency appropriation to make ends meet for the remainder of the current biennium which ends June 30.

Under these circumstances, it is becoming more difficult to hire experienced teachers to meet the enrollment boom, the University explains. They can command more lucrative salaries from other universities and from business, industry and government agencies. It has three first-year positions to make some temporary appointments of faculty members who do not meet the University's normal requirements.

On the other hand, the University points out, even the best instructors cannot teach at top efficiency when there are 30 or more students in a single class. Yet, even courses like psychology in which individual instruction is particularly important have as many as 60 students at Southern.

Although freshman English courses were split up into 89 separate sections last fall, each section still averaged slightly above normal in enrollment. In the entire English department, there were 135 class sections, meeting a total from one to four times a week, which were manned by only 46 teachers. And some of these instructors were only working on a part-time basis, or they held down administrative jobs in addition to teaching. Many of the top administrative officers, including the deans and registrar, pinch hit in the classroom to meet teacher shortage.

Lack of funds to attract enough teaching personnel has other repercussions besides crowding classrooms and forcing faculty members to double up on assignments. Needed research which can have problems has been shelved because staff members are so busy with other duties. For the same reasons, the University's emphasis on service to communities, groups and individuals off the campus has suffered some setbacks.

Subsequent articles in this series will detail how the University would use the $25,264,139 it has requested for operating expenses during the next biennium.

'Romeo And Juliet' Opens Monday For Six Day Run At Playhouse

By Ray Serati

Final touches will be made during the weekend to the Southern Playhouse production of the Shakespeare tragedy "Romeo and Juliet." It will be presented Monday through Saturday, with a matinee on Saturday at 2 p. m. Curtain time for the evening performance will be at 8 p. m. in the Southern Playhouse.

"We are not presenting the play on the regular Shakespearean stage," said Dr. Archibald McLeod, director of the play.

"The play will be done on the 'Simultaneous' stage, on the 'simultaneous' stage the scenery does not change, all the action is done with the same scene," Dr. McLeod said.

"We are doing this so the people will not have to wait for the change in scenery," said Dr. McLeod.

C. V. Bennett, Carbondale graduate student, and Jeanene Sweet, a sophomore from West Frankfort, are the third production on the Playhouse 1956-57 playbill.

Others in the "Romeo and Juliet" cast are:

Jack Baker, Escalio; David Ogg, Darius David Brookbank; Montague; C. V. Bennett, Old Man; Jim Meikle, Mercutio; Jerry Bennett, Tybalt; Dick Hunsaker, Friar Laurence; Jerry Fenzel, Friar John; Vance Cook, Balthasar; Don Bailey, Samson; Richard Gibson, Gregory; Linda Adams, Apothecary; Downs Drage will alternate with Lady Montague and Lady Capulet.

Single admission will be $1. The box office in the Playhouse is open from 3 to 5 p. m.

Students Must Register By March 27

Students are reminded by the Advancement Center and Sectioning Center that they must complete their registration for the Spring quarter before March 27.

Those students who are now attending the Winter quarter, except those taking only night or Saturday classes, who fail to advance register, will not be permitted to register until Friday, March 29, and will be assessed the appropriate late fee.

Professors Are O. K., Sell To Help Blind

Fee statements will be mailed to the student if he is registered before March 1, and if these fees are not paid at the Business Office by 4 p. m., March 15, then registration will be cancelled.

According to Sectioning Center figures, there were over 400 students who had registration cancelled last quarter because of failure to pay fees on time.

Professors left off selling education and tried their hand at selling doormats last week. They are members of the Carbondale Lions Club and were selling the mats for the local Association for the Blind.

The professors along with other members of the club sold house in teams of two to four salesmen. They were able to sell about 460 of the 500 doormats on hand. The doormats which were made by the blind are resold and sturdy. Since a few are left in inventory who is interested might contact Dr. Max Wesley Turner, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Over 2,500 SIU Students Work

"We have student workers in nearly every field from dog catchers to technical skills," Clarence W. Stephens, supervisor of the student work office said recently.

"There are about 1,300 to 1,400 students employed on campus and 1,200 off campus," Stephens said. "Three hundred of the off-campus workers are employed in Carbondale."

Stephens pointed out the case of two students working with electronics. There are a number of students also, he said, who work as tutors in mathematics, science and other fields.

In addition, there are two girls who get up at 4 a. m. to milk cows before coming to school all day, Stephens said. Quite a few students purposely work the swing shift from 4 to 12 p. m. and come to school in the day.

"Many of the people working in manual skills have been in business but feel they have reached their maximum without a degree," Stephens said.

"They come back and wait their way through college so they will be better qualified for higher positions."

Stephens stated that students with a working knowledge of shorthand and typing need not stay out of work.

"We have requests for public stenographers downtown," he said, "and we have jobs which we cannot fill. Right now we have requests for wood preservers and barbers which we cannot produce."

Southern Press Club Meeting Tuesday

The Southern Press Club will hold a meeting Tuesday night at 7 p. m. in the News Laboratory. This will be the last meeting before the installation of an undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi on Feb. 14.

Sigma Delta Chi is a national professional fraternity in journalism. The Press Club petitioned the national group for admission last November.

New members are reminded to bring their $17.50 initiation fee.

Final plans for the initiation will be made, and all members and pledges are urged to attend.

Hal Boyle, A. P. Columnist, To Address SDX Initiation Group

The Southern Press Club will be the Southern Illinois Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

Following the initiation, wives of the University faculty members of the fraternity will be hostesses at a reception in the Library lounge.

William Ray, midwest news director for the National Broadcasting Co., will present the charter to Clayton. Ray is a member of the Sigma Delta Chi Executive Council, and Clayton is a past national president.

Bluetown, Dillard To Speak

Victor Bluetown, Sigma Delta Chi's executive director, and Irving Dillard, editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorial page, will also speak at the dinner. Dillard will also be a past SDX national president.

Also attending the initiation will be Dr. Frederick Siebert, director of the School of Journalism and Communications at the University of Illinois. The undergraduate chapters of the University of Illinois and University of Missouri will send representatives, and members from the Chicago and St. Louis professional chapters also will attend.

Louis 'Satchmo' Armstrong Signed For Two Concerts Here March 28

Thompson Dorm 3 To Have Open House

Preparations are in full progress for the Thompson Point No. 3 open house and dance, according to George Ruzmanik, committee chairman.

The open house will begin tomorrow at 2 p. m. and end at 6 p. m. From 8 to 12 midnight, No. 3 is sponsoring a dance in the first floor lounge.

Invitations were sent out for the open house to parents, members of the chamber of commerce and organizations on campus.

Refreshments will be served during the open house and recorded music will be played.

The Blue Notes, a youthful campus combo, will provide musical entertainment for dancing. The music will also be piped to the second floor lounge for listening pleasure.

The first floor lounge will be decorated with flowers, and colored lighting will spotlight the band.

There are approximately 130 men living in Thompson Point No. 3. They officially moved in from their bivouacked homes the last week in November.

Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong and his fabulous trumpet, the United States' musical ambassador to the world, will appear in two one and one-half hour concerts on the Southern Illinois University campus Thursday, March 28.

Official signing of the contract with "Satchmo" by Delta Chi Fraternity, sponsoring organization took place this week. The concerts will be given in Shroyck Auditorium.

The March 28 date is the second day of the spring quarter.

Armstrong will bring with him to SIU, vocalists Velma Middleton, and his all-stars, a five-piece aggregation featuring Trummy Young on the trombone and Edmond Hall on the clarinet.

Young recently finished seventh in the national Playboy Jazz Pell in the trombone division, while Hall placed eighth in the clarinet division.

Also with the All-Stars will be Billy Kyle at the Piano, Barrett Deems on drums, and Squire Green on the bass.

Delta Chi contracted the concert for $4,000.

General admission at both shows will be $1.50, while reserved seats will sell for $1.75 and $2.00.

"Satchmo," who Harry James says is "our greatest musician," returned here last fall from a European and African tour which prompted many to dub him as "America's ambassador to the world."

Immediately after returning from the tour, "Satchmo" started preliminary procedures for a passport to Russia.

"I'll draw those Soviet cats by brushing them with the happy music," he said.

In Africa, he started a three-day engagement by playing to 100,000 people in Accra, Gold Coast. He was greeted by 10,000 at the airport.

This will be Armstrong's first appearance on the campus.

KELLEY SPEAKS

"The way to salvation is through creative living," said Dr. Noble H. Kelley, while speaking before the Unitarian Student Fellowship last Thursday, Jan. 31.

Kelley, chairman of the psychology department, was the first speaker in a series on liberal religion. The speaker brought out the lying in religion and dignity comes to the individual who is free to realize his potentialities.

"Continuous growth in personal development is the true way to salvation," said Kelley.

Debate Team Travels To Kansas Meet

The Southern Illinois University debaters will be seeking another trophy at the debate tournament at the Emporia State College at Emporia, Kan., today and tomorrow.

The debaters now have five trophies, three for first place, and two for second place. Their latest addition was a second-place trophy won by Peter Morris and Ted Foster at Kansas State Teachers College last week. Their season's record is 118 wins and 42 defeats. There will be three teams representing SIU in the senior division: Joe Selement and Richard Rieke will compose one team. They have already won three first-place trophies this season. Morris and Foster will be the other men's team, and on the women's side it will be Sue Foster and LaDonna McMurray.

Two teams will be entered in the junior division, with Robert Holton and Ray Canterbury on one team, and Regina Miller and Martha Widen composing the other. Accompanying the debaters will be Dr. Walter Morris, debate coach, and Don Faulstich, speech graduate assistant.

Cast Chosen For Children's Play

The cast for the children's play "Rumpelstiltskin" has been announced. It will be presented March 8 at 2 p. m. in the Southern Playhouse. Grade school children from the area will attend the performances.

Playing the part of Rumpelstiltskin will be Diane Finley. Others in the play will be Linda Adams, Mother Haul; Sally Wright, Miller's daughter; Fran Wilhelm, Miller's wife; Don Gilleland, Miller; George Hadzowich, Goshol; Dave Ogg, Ingerd; Don Bailey, King; Terry Van Dover, king's son; Pete Dev. Karen; Velma Neal, nurse; Edith Bankston and Linda Love, ladies in waiting.

Harris' Works To Be Played At Convention

"Ode to Constance" by Roy E. Harris, SIU visiting professor of music, will be presented by the symphony orchestra of the University of Illinois at the National Association of Music Teachers convention, Feb. 13.

Another of Harris' symphonies, "The Third Symphony" was presented for the third time Monday, by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Eugene Ormandy.

Harris has just completed a work for the Pennsylvania State University chorus. This composition, "Palm 150," will be featured on the group's European tour which is sponsored by the State Department.

Currently Harris is writing his "Eighth Symphony" for the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Harris came to SIU in September, 1956, from Oberlin College in Pennsylvania.

Harris has composed 115 works including seven symphonies, five concertos, three ballads and a great deal of chamber music. Twenty-seven of his works have been recorded, and he has received several honorary degrees.

Students Needed For Audience Saturday

Students will have a chance to see a "live" radio show in action Saturday when Sigma Beta Gamma, radio-TV fraternity, goes on the air.

The show is a benefit project to solicit funds for the scholarship fund. It will be carried over five area stations and will feature campus talent.

Listeners will be able to telephone the stations and tell them how much they want to pledge. They will have one week to pay their pledge.

Maintaining Our Academic Rating

Of the $39,319,000 SIU is asking of the General Assembly to be spent on new buildings and capital improvements in the next two years, $29,150,000 is slated for new buildings alone.

Among new buildings that would be constructed if the money were allocated is a Business Administration building.

President D. W. Moores says the building would be used for a variety of purposes, including a "utility classroom building" like Old Main because general classroom space is now at a premium.

This is well and good, but the school of Business studies themselves are sorely lacking adequate physical facilities.

Included in the School of Business are the departments of economics and business administration, the latter of which has more student majors than any other university department.

For several years business students have attended classes in two barracks buildings, G and H, near the southwest corner of campus.

Students enrolled in the business administration department have multiplied to the point that business classes are now scattered all over the campus—in Old Main, Packinson, Allyn, Life Science.

We realize that other departments are also suffering from an acute shortage of classroom space in which to hold the smaller classes.

This is just one example of how inadequate physical facilities are squeezing the life and effectiveness out of university departments that are otherwise top-notch.

The General Assembly must approve the buildings and capital improvements request if Southern is to continually maintain a high academic rating.

Foreign Language Dept. Progresses Since Enlargement Refusals in 1949

By Gary Heape
In 1949 the Foreign Languages department asked the SIU administration to add another instructor to its staff to allow for expansion.

The administration refused, but the progressive department with the help of people like Helmut Hartwig looked for other ways to break the restraining bonds.

"When the administration refused to allow us another full-time instructor, they suggested that we begin the policy of obtaining assistants from foreign countries," said Hartwig.

"Under the policy we set up the assistants would be obtained from countries like Germany, French or Spanish were spoken and brought here to teach conversation classes in their native tongue," he said.

"The first student to come over under the plan was Gerald Landmeyer from Germany."

"The plan is actually going through three phases from 1949 up to the present," said Hartwig.

"First we wrote to the Institute of International Education," he said, "and they would contact prospects in foreign countries."

"Finally the IIE began sending us only one application with the meaning you take this one or else."

"Because of this," he said, "we abandoned the old system and began to write to the people directly."

"The second phase began when foreign students began writing to us and then third or present system began when we have so many applications that we are able to select only the best people."

Hartwig thinks that the foreign students do a better job of teaching conversation in their native tongue than American educated persons do.

"It is primarily because they can convey the country and the background of the country through their teaching," said the associate professor of Foreign Languages.

"We are also doing a lot for international relations by bringing these people here," said Hartwig. "Most of the students who come over are working on their masters degrees and this increases the size and prestige of the Graduate School."

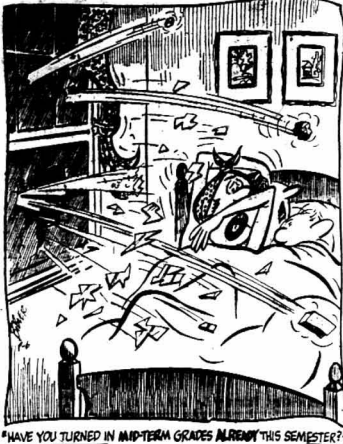

"Next year," said Hartwig, "we hope to have three former students of mine here."

"When I was in Hanover, Germany on a Fulbright scholarship they were among my pupils."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"HAVE YOU TURNED IN MID-TERM GRADES ALREADY THIS SEMESTER?"

MAIL BOX

Sir,
I would like to call your attention to the fact that the extension telephone in the Student Union is no longer open to the Student body. At this time, the Union which serves a student population of thousands, has but one phone — pay one at that. This should not be! A portion of the activity fees that a student pays goes for the use of the Union's facilities. A basic facility is an extension telephone. Why should a student have to pay to call another person on campus or in Carbondale? A telephone should not be so expensive to install and would be a great convenience to students and faculty alike. Can we have one — pay one at that. This should not be! A portion of the activity fees that a student pays goes for

Debate Team Way Ahead 'Best Season in My 3 Years'... Coach Murrish

"This is the best season that we have ever had in my three years as debate coach," said Dr. Walter Murrish as he proudly displayed the four trophies that the squad has won this year.

Joe Selement and Richard Riecke are the top debaters this year, as they have brought home three of the four trophies. All are first place trophies. On Dec. 1, Selement, junior, and Riecke, a senior, captured the first-place trophy at the Northwestern Debate Tournament. In that tournament they defeated the University of Illinois.

Seven days later the same team won the southwestern College Tournament at Winfield, Kan. This was also a trophy tournament. This month Selement and Riecke won the championship trophy at the Milligan Debate Tournament at Jackson, Miss.

"At this tournament the boys met some of the best schools in the South," said Dr. Murrish.

This year the SIU team has received an invitation to attend the University of Kansas debate tournament. Only 14 schools have been invited, and each of them have outstanding records.

This team won the second place trophy at the Milligan Tournament. At Winfield, Kan., they made the quarter-finals of that tournament.

Dr. Harry Lux, a senior, and Laura Dornan McMurray, a senior, were defeated in the Bradley University Tournament. Also undefeated at Bradley were Ken Carter, a junior, and Vernal Beckmann, a senior.

At the Kirkville Tournament at Kirkville, Mo., two teams were undefeated. They were Ray Carter, a junior, and Robert Holton, a sophomore; Lux, and Rich-

Philosophy Talk Wednesday In Library Aud.

The sixth and final lecture of a series presented by the philosophy department will be given by Dr. Willis Moore, its chairman. The title of his speech will be "Can Science Say What Ought To Be?"

The talk will be given in the Library auditorium on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p. m. The series is on "Human Values in the Age of Technology."

Moore said that his talk will try to show that science does have a great deal to say about what men do.

"Social sciences especially have a great deal to offer in helping us to distinguish right from wrong," said Moore. "Findings of social scientists are quite important in helping us to distinguish what man ought to do by indicating the

SYMPHONY IN ACTION
The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra performs at its second concert Wednesday night in Shryock Auditorium. The orchestra, sponsored by the Carbondale Community Center, presented a special program for area school children in the afternoon.

Student Music Program Sunday

Six music students will present the 32nd program of the season sponsored by the music department Sunday. The recital will consist of three soloists and the Woodwind Trio. Pianist Kathryn Wimmel will play "La plus que lente" by Debussy, and Gounod's "Ave Maria." The Woodwind Trio is composed of Marilyn Bains, flute; James Wilcox, clarinet; and Paul Walters, bassoon. Mary Boettcher, pianist, will play "Concerto in A-Minor, Opus 54" (first movement) by Schumann. The orchestra part will be by William McGuire at the second piano.

Minneapolis Symphony Presents Concerts, Antal Dorati Directs

The symbols poised in mid-air for the final crescendo... then the second and final encore was finished. Antal Dorati quickly stepped down from the podium, smiling, shook hands with his concertmaster, and strode through the violin section to the exit. The masterful conductor and the 90-piece Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra had just given Southwestern's Shryock Auditorium a touch of Carnegie Hall. A near-capacity audience of Southern Illinois concert fans attended the two-hour concert by the renowned orchestra last Wednesday night. The program was the third in a series of concerts presented throughout the season, sponsored by the Carbondale Community Concert Association.

Woman To Speak On Girl Scout Jobs

A well known Girl Scout executive will speak on "Girl Scouting as a Profession for Women" in the University School Theater, Feb. 13 at 7 p. m. The talk is being sponsored by SIU's Association of Women Students. The music that filled Shryock Auditorium Wednesday evening consisted of a well-planned and relatively modernistic program of selections by Rossini, Brahms, and Richard Strauss, Bigger, and Ravels. The best received selection by the most of the audience was the "Don Juan," Opus 20 from Richard Strauss' Tone Poem. Featuring solo passages by the oboe, French horn, and English horn, the "Don Juan," selection moved dramatically through the composer's musical story of elation, despair, hope and

Brhms Number Played

The spirited passages of Johannes Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D major, Opus 73, was played by the orchestra before the intermission. Dorati directed the group through four movements and 45 minutes of the Brahms selection, which was referred to by the conductor as a "melancholy" piece of music. It moves slowly at first, the music quickly through tricky solo passages, and finally finishes fast. Hollywood recently used the Brahms' Symphony No. 2 for the background music to the movie "All That Heaven Allows." The selection also contributed a melody in the first movement introduction, from which Stephen Foster later wrote "Beautiful Dreamer."

IFC Workshop Discusses Rush, Expansion Programs; Has Dance

The Inter-Fraternity Council Workshop was kicked off with a speech by L. O. "Svedre" Edlund, national president of Delta Chi Fraternity, last Saturday. Edlund's speech was followed by three discussion sessions during the day and a dance in the evening. A trophy was awarded to Theta Xi for the best attendance for the discussions. The first discussion group met at 10:30 and talked over "rush." Do you have any suggestions for improving the program? Is "rush" as successful as you believe it should be? Why? Why not? Should there be a grade requirement for freshman pledges of perhaps graduating in the upper half of their high school class? Would this increase the quality of pledges and the number eligible for initiation upon completion of the pledge period? Among the other things talked over was the "rush" fee required by students who are interested. This brought out that the money is used in printing the fraternity booklet and carrying on the work. Also it retains those who are not really interested. Another point discussed was the criteria for selecting pledges. At 11:30 a group worked on the expansion of fraternities. The factors determining the policy of admitting new national fraternities, what procedures should a local fraternity follow in order to obtain recognition in the fraternity system; when is a local ready for national affiliation, should there be a set limit on members of each fraternity and what would be the effect of three new national fraternities on this campus. The third group discussed general problems of the fraternities. In room 205 of the Life Science Building, at 7:30 p. m. Soil ecology is the interrelationship of materials in soil with animals and plants that utilize these materials. Refreshments will be served after the meeting, and the public is invited to attend.
