Auction Articles, Student Services At Anatolia College Drive Assembly

The Anatolia College drive, a drive to send funds to the stricken college in Greece, got under way with an all-school assembly yesterday at 11 a.m.

Dr. William J. Tudor, SIU sociology instructor, who served as a Fullbright professor of agriculture in Greece, was the main speaker. Also speaking on the program was Pippi Marinou, a Michigan State university student from Greece, who worked with Dr. Tudor while he was in Greece.

A number of services from different organizations and groups were auctioned. These included waitresses—Jo Rushing, Martha Craley, Barbara Cline, and Anna Mae Hayes; and waiters—Primo Angli, Bob Reiskie, Ron Koler, Mike Scullin, and Max Warren. Carroll Cox and Al Tritan were auctioned off as baby sitters; and John Loy and Dale Cozadd as dishwashers. The services of the Pi Kaps, who are going to knit argyle socks, were also auctioned.

Various articles donated by down-town merchants, six dinners at President Morris' home, and lost and found articles from the Student Center were also auctioned. Pat Randle served as auctioneer.

The proceeds from the auction went into the fund to be sent to Anatolia college in Thessaloniki, Greece. The drive is being sponsored by the Student Council as a substitute for the WSSF drive formerly held on campus.

Open Art Exhibit At Allyn Gallery

An exhibition of 39 paintings entitled "Abstract Painting in America" was opened Sunday, March 23, in the Allyn Art gallery. This is the fourth exhibit to be exhibited since the gallery opened last December.

Prepared by the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the coming exhibit is drawn from the historical survey, "Abstract Painting and Sculpture in America," shown at the New York museum last winter.

The variety of styles within the exhibit has been divided into two main groups by Andrew Ritchie, director of the museum's department of painting and sculpture. The first group is made up of paintings by the Armory show of 1913 generation. The second group is representative of the second wave of abstract art which began in the thirties.

Campus AF ROTC To Crown Queen At Ball Tonight

History will be made tonight as Southern AF ROTC cadets attend the first annual military ball to be held here at SIU. The formal affair is being held in the Carbondale armory, starting at 9 p.m.

Music is to be furnished by Philip Olson and his All-Stars, an organization composed mainly of Southern personnel.

Highlight of the ball will be the crowning of the queen. The coronation, tentatively scheduled at 11 p.m. will be filmed in color by C. William Horrel, of the photography department, in conjunction with the Audio-Visual aids service, directed by Donald Ingli.

Jo Rushing, Chester; Shirley Haug, Xenia; Mary Ann Cagle, El Dorado; Dorothy Edmonds, Chicago; Audrey Mayer, St. Louis; and Carolyn Bernhard, West Frankfort, are the six finalists in the queen contest. Originally only five girls were to be in the final running, but due to tie-vote six were chosen.

THE QUEEN is to be crowned before a visiting audience of high school seniors who will be here for the sixth annual Hospitality Week-end.

Advanced AF ROTC students chose the six finalists several weeks before spring vacation, and basic ROTC students voted last Monday and Tuesday to decide the victor in the queen contest.

Due to a misunderstanding, Captain P. M. Lunde, of the AF ROTC staff, would like to point out that the ball is open only to AF ROTC cadets and officers, guests, and reserve officers in the area. The servicemen on leave, furlough, and on pass from military installations will not be admitted except by special invitation. Captain Lunde said that this affair was not open to non-commissioned officers of reserve components in the area. An earlier release, which was incorrect, stated that all military personnel authorized to wear the uniform would be admitted.

ADMISSION to the ball will be two dollars, payable at the door, or by obtaining tickets from any advanced AF ROTC student, or by going to the ROTC offices on the lower floor of Parkinson.

Officials in charge of the ball stressed the fact that it is formal with no exceptions. Basic and advanced AF ROTC students will wear the formal blue uniform; all others are required to wear apparel appropriate to the occasion.

TO TAKE MEASUREMENTS FOR SENIOR CAPS, GOWNS

The university bookstore has announced that measurement for caps and gowns are now being made for the June Commencement. Measurements should be taken between March 28 and April 11.

High School Seniors Guests on Campus Today

Seniors from approximately 175 high schools will be guests at the all-school dance to be held tonight in the Women's gym from 8 until 11 p.m. Music will be furnished by Ernie Limpus and his orchestra. There will be no admission charge.

Southern Trustees Make Appointments

Appointments made by the Southern Board of Trustees at a meeting last week were as follows: Arthur Gould, Washington State College, as visiting professor of journalism during the summer term; Kent Moore, Kenyon College, as instructor in the SIU library; Prof. Walter Carver, Cornell University, as lecturer in mathematics; and Rachel Wilkes, Centralia Junior College, as lecturer in library service. John Pruis, recently appointed assistant professor at University school, effective in September, also was appointed to teach during the summer term.

The board, also in last week's meeting, approved a request to the state administration for release of $69,300 in appropriated funds to cover architects' fees for the proposed SIU agriculture building.

THE BOARD ALSO approved an increase from 11 dollars to 12 dollars per week for room and board charges per student in the temporary residence barracks for men, approved requisitions for routine purchases and contracts, and voted a salary increase of three percent for faculty-administrative staff on continuing appointments.

Dr. Orville Alexander, chairman of the government department, was granted a six months' leave of absence in order that he might accept appointment as research director for the Illinois School Problems commission.

The commission, composed of six legislators, five governor appointees, and two ex-officio members, was created by the Illinois General Assembly to study public school problems and make recommendations to the legislative body for guidance in problems of state aid and other school legislation.

Movie, 'The Magic Bow,' To Be Shown Here

The movie, "The Magic Bow," starring Stewart Granger and Phyllis Calvert, will be shown Tuesday, April 1, at 7 p.m. and again at 9 p.m. in the University-School auditorium.

The picture is known for its music and for the scenes of Napoleonic warfare. It tells the life of the great violinist Paganini, from his humble beginnings in a small Italian town to a climactic appearance before the Pope.

University students are admitted by their activity tickets. For others, 25 cents will be the admission fee.

* The seniors, guests of Southern for the sixth annual Hospitality Week-End will be introduced to SIU both formally and informally during their day and a half stay.

Invitations were sent to seniors in the 31 county downstate area. Two seniors from each high school were invited.

Barbara VonBehren, over-all student co-ordinator of the weekend, and a staff of assistants have planned a jam-packed weekend for the guests this year. Climaxing the activities will be the banquet in the university cafeteria at noon Saturday. On Friday evening after the dance here, the visiting seniors will be taken to the Carbondale armory, where they may watch the coronation of the queen of the first annual AF ROTC ball.

Climaxing the week-end's activities will be the banquet in the university cafeteria at 12:30 Saturday. Sue Smith will serve as toast-mistress. Richard Anderson will be vocalist for the occasion. Dr. Paul Hunsinger, of Southern's speech department, will be the principal speaker.

To Hospitality Week-End Guests:

Whatever the future in these uncertain days, one thing is certain: it would be fatal to mark time while waiting for whatever time may bring.

In fairness to his country, his community, and himself, every young person must prepare to serve, whether in peace or war, to the best of his ability.

We at Southern Illinois University are ready today to help you discover the fields of endeavor in which you are most likely to succeed and to help you, as an individual, to develop those talents for greatest possible use.

We, too, are looking ahead.
 Sincerely,

D. W. Morris, President of Southern Illinois University

That Southern Hospitality

Today, Southern's campus has approximately 175 new faces appearing on it, for there are that many high school seniors visiting here as guests of Hospitality Week-End, an annual event. Perhaps everyone of these guests will be back on campus next fall to become a permanent part of our enrollment—that is, if they find Southern a suitable place to attend college.

We, the present SIU students, can help these guests make up their minds about entering here next fall by merely showing them the true meaning of "Southern Hospitality."

At 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. today, the Hospitality Week-Enders will visit various classes where that hospitality can be well demonstrated, for we students can welcome the guests to the classes and explain to them the procedures of the class.

Then tonight at the all-school dance, the guests will again be present and again our hospitality will be needed. The first requisite to make our guests feel at home tonight at the dance will be for as many of us as possible to attend the dance, which is to begin at 8 p.m. in the women's gym. The second requisite is for us to mix with and talk to the guests about interesting happenings here at Southern.

Several present SIU students first came to Southern as Hospitality Week-Enders and they all agree that they felt pretty lonely and lost—especially at the dance. Wouldn't it be nice if the students who are now here as guests come here next fall saying they still remember the fine hospitality displayed here by the students?

Letter of Correction

Dear Editor:
 I was in error in the materials submitted, which you used in your editorial on March 25. In item '2' it stated "... during your last term ..." instead of "overall," and in question '3,' the answer given should be "no" instead of "yes."

I am very sorry that this error has occurred.

Faculty Member Presents Concert

Gilbert Fischer, instructor in piano and theory in the music department, presented a program of original compositions here last night.

His work was entitled "Twenty Four Preludes and Epilogue." It was written during the months of January and February. Although the work may be properly described as a modern work, it turns its back on the various modernist cults of composition, being an extension and correction of the musical traditions of Western Europe and America rather than an exposition of a radical approach to music writing.

Fischer completed his undergraduate work at Oberlin. During the war Fischer, serving as a band leader, used his skill in writing arrangements for orchestra, military band, dance bands and a duo-piano team of which he was a member.
