Life Science Building To Be Dedicated Today

Dr. Paul B. Sears' speech to the members of the Illinois State Academy of Science in the Life Science Auditorium at 10:35 a.m. today will formally dedicate the Life Science Building.

Dr. Sears is director of conservation studies at Yale University and president-elect of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. His topic will be "Man and Nature in the Modern World."

Pres. and Mrs. George W. Morris will be hosts at a reception in the new building from 3 to 5 p. m.

During this time visitors will be taken on guided tours of the four-story main building and its smaller auxiliaries.

The Life Science Building is 270 feet long and 89 feet wide and has a gross area of 63,500 square feet.

Although constructed as separate buildings, the Animal Building, the Substation and the three greenhouse function as parts of the whole.

The six-unit group was built at a cost of $1,509,050 and contains $341,414 worth of equipment.

An additional $215,000 is needed to complete construction on the smaller buildings and to equip the auditorium and the laboratories.

The Life Science group holds the Botany, Microbiology, Physiology and Zoology Departments.

"The Life Science building study and attractive, unadorned, but highly functional, is symbolic of the influence a university may have upon the state which it is dedicated to serve," Pres. Morris wrote in a dedication note.

"It is particularly significant that the second major instructional building to be completed on our campus in accordance with present building program is one devoted primarily to instruction and research in the basic sciences," wrote Dr. Luther W. Abbott, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

The Life Science group honors the 15 juniors who have been selected for membership, also on the basis of their service to the school. Those chosen will be tapped secretly later by current members of the club. Their identities also will be revealed on Honors Day.

Also on the agenda is final approval of the 15 juniors who have been selected for membership, also on the basis of their service to the school. Those chosen will be tapped secretly later by current members of the club. Their identities also will be revealed on Honors Day.

The awards, based exclusively on service to SIU, will go to one male and one female student from each of the two lower classes.

Dedication Day

The ultra-modern exterior of the new Life Science building affords the maximum of light and ventilation for the students and staff on the inside. The building has a gross area of 63,500 square feet. Five other smaller buildings together with the main structure, are an impressive picture.

639 Campus, U School Students Await Salk Vaccine Shipment

Salk anti-polio vaccine shots will be given the 639 University School and SIU students who have registered for them "if and when" ordered shipments of it arrive, according to Dr. Richard Lee, Health Service director.

The vaccine was expected May 1, but the manufacturer, Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis, has informed the Health Service a 52-day testing period will be necessary to insure its potency and purity.

"We expect it now about May 15," Dr. Lee said Wednesday, "but it's possible it won't be here before the end of spring term."

Meanwhile, "the polio immunization program is closed to students until more vaccine can be ordered."

Those already registered have a paid $3 each for their three-shot immunization series.

Gov. Stratton signed a bill April 30 for purchase of a million dollars' worth of Salk vaccine to be distributed to 250,000 Illinois children by the State Health Department.

Dr. Lee says this program is being held back, possibly for further investigation of the vaccine.

A specific appropriation is to be given each tax-supported school for vaccine purchase. Dr. Lee says the SIU Health Service will continue to order vaccine through regular channels.

Public Health Service officials have urged the nationwide inoculation program be continued as planned.

Case-control study is being made this week of the 29 children afflicted with polio after receiving Salk vaccine made by the Cutter Laboratories in California.

He will be guest of honor at an all-campus reception in the Woody Hall formal lounge from 7 to 9 p. m. May 11 and he will speak to SIU Journalism classes and hold individual conferences with Journalism students.

Journalism majors will attend the assembly together sitting in the first row of Shirock.

A banquet in the University Catering banquet hall May 12 at 6:30 p. m., will climax the J-Day program. Orchids, flown in from Hawaii, will be given to ladies present at the dinner.

New Parking Lot Ready For Occupancy

Southern's new parking lot on Thompson St., next to the Audio Visual Aids Building, should be ready for use in about two weeks, according to John Lonergan, University landscape architect.

Work on the lot is about 60 per cent complete. Lonergan says physical plant workers will install steel railroad ties as bumper rails when Arthur Warren, contractor, finishes laying a crushed rock base.

The lot, which will hold about 130 cars, is expected to cost about $3,800.

Construction work on a smaller, temporary parking lot across from the new Life Science Building will begin when the Thompson St. lot is completed.

Seats Explains New Rush Procedures

Inter-Fraternity Council president Halton Seat, Monday night explained to about 60 fraternity members in Altgeld 202 a new rush schedule that will go into effect next year.

It calls for two 12-week pledge periods each year. One will extend from the fifth week of fall term to the sixth week of winter term, the other from the eighth week of winter term to the tenth week of spring term.

A student must have an overall 3.0 grade average to pledge or become active. If a pledge fails to meet this grade requirement at the end of the pledge period, he may be initiated at the end of a later pledge period without repledging if his overall grade average is 3.0.

Under the new schedule, rushing or pledging activities are prohibited during the first three weeks of fall term and the last two weeks of every term.

Formal rush dates are the fourth week of fall term and the seventh week of winter term.

Open rush periods are the fifth through the tenth week of fall term, the first through the sixth and the eighth and ninth weeks of winter term, the first through the tenth weeks of spring term and from the end of spring term to Sept. 1.

A Reporter's Attempt At Chihuahua Polychromes And Other Things

Dear Boss,

Just like you said, Dr. Kelley talked yesterday to the Society of American Archeologists in Bloomington, Ind. I've never heard of it. You're absolutely sure you assigned the right reporter to cover it?

The fact I'd never before heard half the words he used doesn't worry me much. Lots of words I've never heard of.

The fact I can't spell 'em I don't mind very much, either. Lots of words I can't spell.

What does make me feel a little insecure is this: These are the very first words I've ever seen in English I don't even recognize half the letters in.

Dr. Kelley was talking about is J. Charles Kelley, you know, director of the SIU Museum. Title of his talk was "The Cultural Affiliation and Apparent Temporal Position of the Schroeder Site, Durango, Mexico."

(You think that's a mouthful!)

In essence, he was reporting on last summer's excavations in Mexico by the SIU anthropological field section and — and —

Just a moment, please.

And the Instituto Nacional de Antropología e Historia de Mexico? I think.

The Institution's a department of the Mexican federal government. The project was paid for with a grant from the Wenner Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research. Directors of the digging were Dr. Kelley and Ramon Pinhas Chan, a representative of the Mexican government, with assistance from SIU faculty members Howard Winters, William J. Shackelford and Esther Bennett — and 15 students.

Get the way they sneak in — and 15 students, as if the students just went along for the ride. You know who I think did all the work?

Durango is a town in the state of Durango, which is on the central plateau, the Valley of Mexico between the eastern and western mountain ranges.

Specimens from two cleared building groups are still being studied. Dr. Kelley said right near the beginning of his talk, and I want you, whatever happens, to make sure nobody edits THIS paragraph out of the story.

I understood it, for absolutely certain.

And it was the last thing he said that I did understand. For absolutely certain. From here on, kid, there's no guarantee.

But I think he said:

The design elements of the Schroeder red-on-buff pottery place the site as one of a group of North American cultures, including late cultures on the Pacific Coast in the state of Sinaloa to the west and the ruins of La Quemada and Chalchihuites to the south and Zapotec.

(Sinaloa, La Quemada, Chalchihuites everybody knows about, but Zapotec? Who ever heard of Zapotec?)

Architecturally, the general layout of buildings — house platforms and room-situated courts with attached platform-terraces and stairs — is highly reminiscent of the Hohokam ruins (about 1100 A.D.) at San Juan Tehuacan near Mexico City.

(You suppose he REALLY remembers that far back?)

Trade specimens of polychrome pottery and spherical spindle whorls from the Aztalan culture of the West Coast occur late in the Schroeder sequence. At least on a shred of the Chihuahua polychrome

Liking People, Loving To Talk 'You Can't Use Closed-Door Policy And Be Popular'

By Pat Files

"It's the penalty you have to pay for liking people," says Dr. Paul Hunsinger, recently named Most Popular Faculty Member.

"You can't have a closed-door policy. If you're writing a book, you stop in the middle of a paragraph and discuss the virtues of Edgar A. Guest's poetry with a poetry-lover. If your door is closed and locked up tight someone will pound it to splinters if you don't let him in."

"But that I don't love, it causes I do. There's nothing I'd love to do than talk. I just love to talk to people."

Hobbies:

"My chief hobby is my lawn. I have three kids plus a wife Kay Ann, 7; Maria, 2; and Steven, 4 1/2 months, and Rosemary, whose age I'd best not tell."

"Then in my spare time, when I'm not talking, I read and write poetry. Actually, I don't have time to write as much as I'd like to."

Dr. Hunsinger, associate speech professor, comes from Flat Rock, Ohio, the population of which is, he says "between 100 and 110,000, roughly 103."

Dust, Mud Or Asphalt?

The asphalt walkway leading to the Office of Student Affairs' west entrance sets a precedent in the grounds construction at Southern.

It has been customary to "trample your own path" when a shortcut was needed from building to building.

Students usually follow the same same unorthodox channels until the well beaten grass is changed into paths of yellow gritty dust or sloppy soggy mud — as the weather may have it.

The dirt paths cause added work on the industrial staff. Authority from the Office of Student Affairs tell how their freshly watered floors were literally marred very shortly after only one day of activity.

A number of the dirt paths are covered with rock or chat — as was the one leading to the Student Affairs office. Even these are far from satisfactory in either extremely wet or dry weather.

Frequently the university converts the dusty paths into conventional concrete sidewalks. This, of course, is excellent. But with the university's limited funds it cannot construct the more elaborate walkways to take care of every nook.

Perhaps the asphalt walkways are the answer. Less cost; equal service.

There's one catch. The asphaltorkway to the Office of Student Affairs is considered a "service drive." It was constructed to facilitate the operation of motorized vehicles for hauling purposes. Sure, we can walk on it. But it wasn't built for us.

It Didn't Seem Real! Miss Southern Reflects On Her Eventful Days

When emcee Dave White announced Saturday that she was Miss Southern of 1955, "I knew what was happening but it didn't seem real," said green-eyed Nancy Bowers, relaxing a moment from her duties as nurse in the Health Service.

Nancy, sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, won the title in a contest with 19 other SIU contestants.

She had never entered a contest of any kind before however, she was chosen "Dream Girl" at the Phi Kappa Tau formal in March, 1954. What made her choose Southern?

One factor was Southern's quarter system, she said. "Other factors influenced my decision, too. I had seen the Obelisk of a friend, Jo Ellen Ball, a former student at SIU, and everyone in it looked so friendly and everything so informal."

"And when I visited the campus before enrolling, everyone smiled and spoke a friendly greeting and I knew for sure I wanted to come to Southern."

Before Nancy had worked as a nurse at Abrahim Lincoln Memorial Hospital in Lincoln after three years of nurses' training at Peoria Methodist Hospital. She plans to work for a nursing education degree.

"Where I will get my degree is still in doubt, because as far as I will be to leave SIU, I plan to join Gene at Ohio State University after we're married in June."

That's Gene Richards, SIU.

Neely Scholarship To Be Awarded Monday

The campus chapter of the American Association of University Professors will award its scholarship honoring Charles and Julia Neely, former SIU faculty members, at its spring meeting in King's Restaurant, 6:15 p. m. Monday.

Dr. Alexander Calandra, associate professor of physics at Washington University, will speak on the "Modern Meaning of Science."

Carolyn Flochmann Wins First At Toledo Exhibit

Carolyn Cassan Flochmann, wife of SIU philosophy teacher G. K. Flochmann took the coveted Roulet medal and won first prize in oils at the 37th Annual Toledo Art Artists' Exhibition, on display at the Toledo Museum of Art until May 29.

Mrs. Flochmann, a former instructor in art at SIU, won the award for the best group of paintings in his show with her painting, "Register of Motives."

In addition to "Register of Motives," Mrs. Flochmann's paintings figuring in the Roulet award were "Ancestral Voices," "The Burmish Bush," "Bow at Window," and "She Was So Little I Didn't Get Her Name."

The Junior League also honored Mrs. Flochmann by voting her paintings their annual Popularity Award.

Last year, she won the $2,400 Tupperware Art Fund Scholarship.

Eastern Next For Baseballers

Following a double win over Northern last week, the SIU baseballers met Eastern in a double header today at Charleston. Last year, the Salukis and Panthers split two games.

The SIU batmen are almost sure to face Jack Kenney, Eastern right hander, who pitched the only one-guy game in IAC history two weeks ago.

The Salukis will go along with their regular lineup, and Coach "Al" Martin probably will use his two right-handed work horses, Bob Meyer and Ron Ayers.

Bob Ems, forced out of a regular outfield spot by a leg injury, has been impressive in relief but line chores and as a pinch hitter. Against Northern, Ems allowed only two hits in five innings and homered and singled in his two times at bat.

After today's games, the Salukis have three conference wins, three in the regular season, two in the playoffs. They play Western Illinois here Friday and finish the season on the road, facing Michigan Normal and Michigan Central in four games within three days.

Illinois Normal, which split doubleheader with the Salukis several weeks ago, now tops the league with a 5-1 mark. Southern is second with a 3-1 record in conference play.

Northern Faces Non-Loop Foe Tomorrow

The Northern Illinois State baseball team will take a vacation from conference action this week, but will oppose the tough University of Illinois East at Chicago in a game in DeKalb tomorrow. The Huskies will be looking for their first non-conference win of the season.

Northern coach Ralph McKinzie appears certain of one lineup change that would put Al Lawson in centerfield. Lawson was installed in the starting lineup against Southern Illinois last week to take advantage of his outstanding defensive ability. Lawson pleased Coach McKinzie by blasting out a double and a home run in seven trips to the plate.

Tom Lucabchi moves over to rightfield from his centerfield post. That shift leaves Rex Fabry available for duty at first base.

Salukis Beat Eastern Netters 5-4

SIU's tennis team swept all three doubles matches at Charleston Tuesday to come from behind for a 5-4 victory.

Only Capt. Charles Pisoni and Don McLaren won singles matches as the other four Salukis lost to give Eastern a 4-2 edge going into the doubles.

All three Saluki doubles teams had tough matches. The Pisoni-Merriman and Robinson-Whittemberg teams lost their first sets before talking to win, while the Cole-McLaren team won by scores of 7-5 and 11-9.

- The victory once put the team over .500 with a 5-4 record.
- Results:
Pisoni S. beat Stuckey E. 6-4, 6-0
York F. beat Whittemberg S. 1-6, 7-5, 7-2
Ward E. beat Merriman S. 3-6, 6-2, 6-4
McLaren S. beat Conley E. 6-4, 6-2
Ludwig E. beat Robinson S. 6-4, 6-2
York F. beat Cole S. 7-5, 6-4
Pisoni-Merriman S. beat Stuckey-Ludwig E. 3-6, 6-2, 6-4
Cole-McLaren S. beat Whittemberg-Robinson 5-7, 6-4, 6-1
Conley-Fox E. 3-6, 6-4, 6-1

The Salukis will be counting on these men to bring home the bacon in the distance event tomorrow. From the left they are Bob Kaczynski, Howard Branch, Dan Fiori and Ken Walker.

J. C. Caroline Out of School

J. C. Caroline, leading ground game in the Big Ten in 1953 and captain-elect of the 1953 Illinois football team, has dropped out of school temporarily.

Caroline, who gained 960 yards in 1953 but had a mediocre season in 1954 because of injuries, plans to enroll in June for the summer term. If he passes his schoolwork, he'll be eligible for the 1955 season.

School officials said the withdrawal was made in "good standing" and that Caroline would return in June.

SIU, Evansville Golf Match Cancelled

Tuesday's scheduled golf match with Evansville College at the Jackson County Country Club was cancelled.

The Saluki linksters went against the Eastern Illinois Panthers here yesterday.

Thinclads After 3rd Straight State Crown

The return to winning form of Capt. Vernon Sprche has boosted SIU's chances to win the Illinois State Track Meet for the third straight year.

After being handicapped by illness, Sprche posted his first two victories of the year against Normal Saturday, winning both the 100 and 200 yard dashes. He also ran on the winning mile relay team.

Other promising performances in the Salukis 76 1/2 - 54 1/2 win over Normal Saturday were Sam DeNeal's sparkling 50.0 quarter mile, good for a first place tie; Allan Rodgers' victories in the high and low hurdles; and Howard Branch's wins in the 880 and mile events.

Jack Souers, freshman pole vaulter, who set a new stadium mark at Rolla earlier in the season, won as did Dick Blythe in the high jump.

Edmond Hares, husky freshman jumper, and the mile relay team of Sprche, DeNeal, Anthony Velasco and Bob Kaczynski, new holders of SIU record in their

Salukis Underdogs In State Track Meet

The Saluki tracksters, defending champions in the Illinois State Track Meet, will be cast as underdogs in the 14th annual running of the meet at Normal tomorrow.

Langley's squad won the meet in 1953 and 1954. The contest was begun in 1928 and continued until 1939, when it was discontinued until 1953.

Dopesters rate Eastern first, Northern second and Southern, Western, and Normal equal choices for third, according to Leonard "Doc" Lingel, track coach.

Southern beat the Normal squad 76 1/2 - 54 1/2 Saturday and should have the edge over it in this meet, but the Western squad will be the "dark horse," since it has not yet competed with any of the other teams in the contest this season.

Southern's 68-63 loss to Eastern April 27 was only the third loss to the Panthers in Southern's track history.

Although twice beaten the respective events, also came out on top.

The other first place winner for Southern was Bob Kasten, discus.

luki squad has its bright spots. Jack Souers has been flirting with SIU's 13' 3 1/2" pole vault record all season. Ed Hayes, shotput, and Bob Kaczynski, Vernon Sprche, Anthony Velasco and Sam DeNeal, relay team, set new school records in the Eastern meet here.

Al Rodgers, hurdles, and Howard Branch, 880, have also turned in several good performances this season.

The Salukis' next home track meet is slated for 6:30 p. m. May 10 under the lights at McAndrew Stadium. The Cape Indians will provide the opposition.

Normal Tries To Extend Diamond Lead

Illinois Normal will attempt to extend its lead in the IAC baseball race this weekend.

The Redbirds play a doubleheader at Central Michigan today, matching their 5-1 record against Central's 2-4 mark, as both teams are to break a three-way tie for third.

Second place Southern (3-1) is at Eastern (2-2) today, while Michigan Normal (3-3) and Western (2-2) square off that same day at Ypsilanti. All IAC games are doubleheaders.

Northern Illinois, at the loop basement with a 1-5 record takes a breather from IAC play this weekend and goes against nearby foes. Tomorrow the Huskies face Navy Park and eastern Wheaton at Altonville. Tuesday Southern hosts Evansville and Michigan Normal awaits Bowling Green. Wednesday sends Illinois Normal to Quincy College.

Bob Ems, formerly the Saluki right fielder, has been changed to the pitching staff. His line relief pitching and big hat have proved very valuable to the Salukis so far this year.

Netters Face Normal Here Tomorrow

Southern's netmen will meet the tough Illinois Normal Redbirds here tomorrow.

Coach Bill Kruse will stick with the same six who have been starting recently: Charles Pisoni, Bob Merriman, Gary Robinson, Dick Cole, Don McLaren and George Whittemberg.

Normal will take a 6-2 record into the match. It's losses were in Washington U. by a 6-5 margin. Southern bowed to Washington 9-10 and Pennsylv. 1-2.

John Helms and Ross Barlow are the big guns for the Redbirds, who are "considered the top IAC team," according to Coach Kruse.

Huskie Golfers Face Tough Foes

Two tough matches face the Northern Illinois State golf team this weekend. The Huskies meet the University of Chicago in Chicago today and then confront Illinois State Normal tomorrow.

Coach Nye Lukin's Northern sixth and seventh wins of the season against one loss. They split their last two matches, losing to Western Illinois 8-11 1/2 to 4 1/2 and defeating Bradley University by an 11-7 margin.

Intramurals

A triple play, an extraordinary game, two good pitching performances and several high scoring contests highlighted last week's softball games.

The triple play was executed by Lou Carter in the last inning of their game with the P-O-L-E-T's.

Calvin and Ed did off for the P-O-L-E-T's with a double. After South walked, Decker lined to second. Longino who stepped on second and threw to first for the Redbirds, who are "considered the top IAC team," according to Coach Kruse.

Barracks 5 defeated Anthony Hall Roughs, 18-10 and the Dixie Deacons defeated L. Conner, 17-4 in two other high scoring games.

Home Runs: Conner, Boggs, Killa, Collier, Boyd, Wheeler, Lick and Gates all have one home run for the games up to this point.

to win the game. Smith pitching for the P-O-L-E-T's struck out seven, walked only one and allowed two scattered hits as his team defeated the Sig P's, 19-2. The Phi Eus had 12 hits.

Barracks 9 defeated Barracks 3, 2-1. Souder allowed only three hits, walked two and struck out five as he led his team to an easy victory.

Burke's Beavers made only 10 hits scored 21 runs as they defeated record and to face the Sig P's triple play. The triple play didn't help Lou Carter as they were defeated 10-9.

Barracks 5 defeated Anthony Hall Roughs, 18-10 and the Dixie Deacons defeated L. Conner, 17-4 in two other high scoring games.
