Councils' New Role Uncertain

What will be the role of the Student Councils at the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses now that a higher body, the University Student Council, has been organized?

The Carbondale council met Thursday night to try to find the answer. The effort met with little success.

Even William H. Murphy, chairman of the "super council," which is composed of eight representatives, four from the Carbondale campus and four from Edwardsville, could not answer the question.

Purposes of the University Student Council, according to Murphy, is to represent the SIU students in matters pertaining to student welfare, activities, participation in University affairs, participation in University planning and administration and student opinion.

This outline of purposes was the result of a two-day meeting between Murphy, President Delyte W. Morris and several administrative heads.

Council senators had many questions on the actual powers of the present council.

How much student representation should there be under the new system of government? How about the technical makeup of the University Student Council?

These questions were left unanswered.

Murphy hopes that by next spring the new system will have a constitution, or working

Murphy to Attend President's Meeting

William H. Murphy, Student Council chairman, is in Washington, D.C., today attending the President's conference of student leaders from universities across the nation.

According to a letter received by President Delyte W. Morris, President Lyndon B. Johnson called this meeting to talk to the "young leaders who are emerging from our colleges and to get to know them and their thinking as much as I can."

The occasion begins this evening at a reception, at 5:30, by President and Mrs. Johnson; some remarks by the President, talks by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

Later the President's daughter, Lynda, will be hostess at a buffet dinner.

Goldwater Statement on Draft Draws Cheers From Students

More Than 6,000 Greet Campaigner at Train Stop

By Ric Cox

GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater hit upon a theme close to the hearts of SIU students Friday when he centered his remarks on abolishing the draft.

The Arizona senator made

SIU Students Voice Many Reasons for Snubbing Senator

Observers estimate that the bulk of the crowd that turned out to see Sen. Barry Goldwater Friday was students. But what about those who didn't go to see the Republican presidential candidate when he stopped here?

Why did they stay away? "Because I have a blister on my foot!" said Linda Filippi, Sterling, Ill.

Here are some other comments gathered at the University Center at the same time Goldwater was speaking from the rear platform of his train downtown:

"I did not want to walk that far. Besides I had to have breakfast," one student said. Wes Bucey would "rather come to the Union and see pretty girls than go see Goldwater."

Jim White, Cambria, Ill., said, "I do not want to see him."

Van Adams, Litchfield, Ill., felt that there are "much more important things to do than go see Goldwater."

Jim Hibbard said, "Why go see Goldwater when you can see the Scarabs tonight at VTI?" After seeing the senator at the Springfield State Fair, Glenn Campbell does not feel it is important to see him again.

"I will hear what he had to say 5,000 times today. Why go see him?" said Mike Rainey.

Donna Feldman feels that "If he becomes president we will be doomed. It is not worth hearing him contradict himself."

the comments while passing through on a whistle-stop tour of Illinois.

Many students, among more than 6,000 in the crowd, cheered when Goldwater said the only way to end conscription is to make the military service a "prideful career."

The SIU campus has been the scene in past years of demonstrations against the compulsory ROTC program.

Although the Republican candidate received his loudest cheers when he referred to Bobby Baker, the controversial former protege of President Johnson, he also found a soft spot with students when he said: "I've always found that the brightest student wasn't necessarily the one who got the best grades."

A lone, but loud, "Yeah!" arose from the crowd, then other students joined in to give the visiting campaigner a loud ovation.

Sen. Goldwater rolled into Carbondale amidst the familiar chant, "We want Barry." The 22-car whistle-stop special emerged from the south promptly at 10:15 a.m., as the crowds lining the tracks parted—like the Red Sea—to let Goldwater pass through.

Plain-clothed guards, the first off the train, quickly scanned the area through binoculars. The biggest threat, seemingly, was the cloudy sky.

Goldwater's appearance was delayed shortly while candidates for state offices were introduced. John H. Altorfer, Republican candidate for Lt. Governor in Illinois, introduced Goldwater.

Emerging from an observation car at the rear of the train, Goldwater, tanned and dressed in a gray-green suit, received a long ovation from the crowd.

1,000 Men Is Goal

All in Retraining Class Get Jobs Before Course Ends

All nine men in a class of welders, the first in a program to retrain 1,000 unemployed in Southern Illinois, have found jobs even before the end of their 12-week training course at VTI.

E.J. Simon, dean of SIU's Division of Technical and Adult Education, said eight of the men were to go to work Monday in Granite City. Seven will be employed by the A.O. Smith Co., and one at the U.S. Steel plant. Another man left in the seventh week of training to take a job as a welder with Allen Industries, Herrin.

Walter Matthews, job development specialist with the Office of Research and Development in West Frankfort, initiated the contact with A.O. Smith Co., through the Alton office of the Illinois State Employment Service, and arranged for members of the welding class to go to Granite City Wednesday and Thursday for testing and physicals.

All eight men passed the practical application tests and made perfect scores on written examinations. They had completed ten weeks of training in a 12-weeks course, the first class started under the area Manpower Development and Training Act program.

Red China: History's 'Most Successful Failure'

Regime Appraised on 15th Anniversary

By Edward Neilan
Copley News Service

HONG KONG--The Communist Chinese regime celebrated its 15th anniversary Thursday as one of history's most successful failures.

Led by aging Mao Tse-tung (71), the regime can look back on 15 years of successfully regimenting the world's largest population and of imposing, at least to outward appearances, a Communist society over Chinese traditions that have existed for centuries.

But the regime must also face up to some shattering failures:

1. Failure to modernize and industrialize.
2. Failure to improve agriculture dramatically.
3. Failure to improve living standards markedly.

Red China's massive population--more than 700 million and increasing at 2 per cent yearly--still lives on a diet that is long on Communist slogans and short on calories.

Several things are on the minds of the Communist Chinese leaders

Williams, Detroit Free Press
'SEZ WHO!'

as they light their 15th candle. Among them are the sharp ideological disagreement with the Soviet Union, the slowly escalating conflict in Southeast Asia, tense border situations with Russia and India, possibilities of improving trade and enlarging relations with "intermediate zone" Western nations and development of an atomic bomb.

The most important program for Mao himself, however, has been the one to insure "carrying the revolution through to the end" by Socialist education and careful cultivation of "revolutionary heirs."

This sudden preoccupation with the next generation of leaders has been occupying most of Chairman Mao's time of late. It is almost as though the old veteran of the Long March feels his days are numbered.

During the past year, Mao has conveyed the impression of concentrating almost exclusively on the ideological offensive against the Soviet Union and, more recently, the grooming of sound leadership to "carry on."

Other affairs of party and state have been left insignificantly in the hands of a younger group centered around Liu Shao-chi, Teng Hsiao-ping and Peng Chen.

Formation and conduct of foreign affairs are handled mostly by Premier Chou-En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi.

Mao's concern over the cultivation of revolutionary successors culminated in a major editorial in People's Daily of Aug. 3. It called upon the "nucleus of leadership at all levels" to select and train qualified younger talent for positions of greater responsibility under the ideological guidance of the older generation.

The program is being developed with emphasis on the army and the Youth League. A nationwide campaign to "learn from the People's Liberation Army" urges state and economic organs to emulate the army's "correct" political and ideological example and also its training methods.

Thus Mao is falling back on military methods, perhaps a subtle admission that his other attempts at administration have failed.

Crockett, Washington Star
HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Mott Long, Minneapolis Tribune

'HOW LONG WILL IT LAST WITH NORMAL EROSION?'

On Sept. 3, Mao in an unprecedented move decreed that the future rulers of Communist China must be drawn from the worker, poor and peasant classes.

He explained that since these classes were the "most poor and most exploited" it would follow that "they have the most revolutionary political attitude."

The statement demonstrated the anxiety over the advanced age of the present ruling group.

It also expressed fears that the succession might, as Mao put it, fall into the hands of "careerists and conspirators."

By this Mao clearly had in mind followers of Khrushchev's "revisionist" and peaceful coexistence policies, as contrasted to Mao's own tough, revolutionary line.

Several intellectuals "acting on behalf of Khrushchev's 'modern revisionism'" have been discovered recently in high Red Chinese Party ranks. Most notable was the case of Yang Hsien-chen, member of the Chinese Communist Party Central Committee and Principal of the Higher Party School--the training center for future party leaders.

The new purge against intellectuals who deviate from the correct line is couched in the form of a debate over the nature of dialectical materialism.

Yang is said to believe that the basic rule of social development means that things are "united two into one." Mao disagrees, says that there is no such unity of opposites but that things "divide one into two."

This sounds like so much Communist double-talk. But it could be

Valtman, Hartford Times

'YOU HAVE NEVER BEEN A TRUE MARXIST-INTERNATIONALIST- YOU'VE ALWAYS BEEN AN ISOLATIONIST' a pivotal situation for the future of Red China.

By arguing for "two into one" Yang is charged with favoring an end to the class struggle, reconciliation with modern revisionists (Khrushchev, Russia) and acceptance of conciliation between Communist and capitalistic nations.

The "one into two" theory propounded by Chairman Mao claims that the struggle with Soviet revisionists and the East-West conflict is irreconcilable and that the class struggle in all forms must be carried through to the end.

This preoccupation with arguments of party policy is part of Red China's trouble.

De Gaulle Wins 'Vivas!' but Fails to Shake Pan-Am Unity

By Jack Harrison

Charles de Gaulle's trip through South America isn't dimming Latin American friendship for the United States.

Warm Latin welcomes have greeted the 74-year-old French president, but the officials he meets are making it plain that friendship with France is no alternative to cooperation with the U.S.

South American nations, because of their economic needs, must look first to the United States.

France can offer technical and cultural cooperation, but her lack of financial resources makes large-scale economic aid an impossibility.

De Gaulle has visited Colombia, Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and Chile. His 10-nation journey is taking him also to Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil.

Everywhere he has been urging Latin Americans to expand their ties with Europe, and in particular with France.

De Gaulle's talk of a "Latin bloc" in the United Nations has aroused no enthusiasm among his hosts, who think in terms of American and not Latin "togetherness."

The South Americans have conveyed this message to de Gaulle in several ways.

Colombian President Guillermo Leon Valencia spoke right up in public, praising the United States at great length as the visitor from France sat nearby.

In Peru, President Fernando Belaunde Terry tactfully discussed the Peruvian position. He indicated that his nation's connections with France have been mostly spiritual, while the important links with the U.S. are economic and geographic--and vital. He doesn't feel that he must choose between these two relationships.

As his trip progressed, De Gaulle has basked in the pleasant atmosphere of cheers and shouts of "Viva la Francia!" He has gained publicity and good will.

But he has had little effect on U.S.-South American solidarity.

Hilda Nears Coast; 50,000 Flee Inland

NEW ORLEANS, La.--Hurricane Hilda hurled her screaming 150-mile winds toward the deserted marshlands of the Louisiana Gulf coast Friday night. More than 50,000 residents moved inland to safety.

National Guardsmen rushed in to aid in the mass evacuation as the season's most powerful hurricane began a slow and ominous turn toward the central Louisiana coast.

Although Hilda's center was still more than 150 miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico, heavy rains and squalls were buffeting the coastal regions late Friday.

"There have been 50,000 evacuated already," said Frank G. Spiess, acting state Civil Defense director. "There will be more if this thing keeps coming in this way."

The Weather Bureau said Hilda was south-southwest of New Orleans. The eye was moving northward about 7 m.p.h.

The Weather Bureau forecasters said Hilda was still too far offshore to predict where she would strike the coast.

Remembering killer hurricanes of the past, thousands fled their homes, leaving virtual ghost towns behind them.

The thriving seaport of Morgan City--shore-based headquarters for much of the billion-dollar oil drilling operations in the Gulf--was almost deserted. Many commercial shrimp boats call Morgan City, which has a population of 14,000, their home port.

A 23-mile long stretch in the western section of St. Mary Parish was ordered evacuated and school buses were put into service to shuttle evacuees to Opelousas, nearly 80 miles to the north. The Red Cross flew in 10,000 cots to Opelousas for the hurricane refugees.

Civil Defense authorities said U.S. 90 west of Morgan City was covered by rising tides.

Rain-slick highways leading out of the St. Mary Parish area were clogged with automobiles.

Store owners boarded up the fronts of their establishments. Some used masking tape to crisscross their windows, making them resemble giant spider webs.

Hurricane warning flags were hoisted all along the Louisiana coast west of the mouth of the Mississippi River. A hurricane watch extended eastward to Mobile, Ala., and westward to Galveston, Tex.

President Gets Aid Bill Without Remap Clause

WASHINGTON--The House, sensing adjournment in the air, quickly passed a compromise $3.5-billion foreign aid bill Friday that had no word at all about the reapportionment of state legislatures.

A controversial rider about reapportionment, tacked on to the bill after weeks of debate and filibuster in the Senate, had been pulled out by a joint conference committee.

Judge Orders Longshoremen To Halt Strike for 10 Days

NEW YORK -- The International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, ordered its 60,000 striking dockworkers to return to work at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports Friday.

The move complied with a federal court restraining order Thursday night halting the strike for 10 days in the national interest.

Before the meeting of union officials to set in motion the machinery for obeying U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick VanPelt Bryan's order, I.L.A. President Thomas W. Gleason said "We all went out together and we'll all go back together."

The judge acted on a declaration of national emergency by President Johnson.

The order was signed after the customary 3 p.m. hour of "shaping up" the dock gangs for the following day's work.

Some pickets showed up at New York docks Friday morning, saying they had not received orders from their union shop stewards to pull down picket lines.

It is called "Hozhnilne," from the Navajo Indian language, meaning "to win over" or to triumph. The name is pronounced Ho-nahz-nah.

Cal Students Stage Near-Riot, Protest Political Activity Ban

BERKELEY, Calif.--A mob of 3,500 students continued to defy University of California officials Friday in a wild demonstration that included the wrecking of a police car.

The demonstration, which started Thursday morning, was in protest of a university edict banning on-campus solicitation of funds for off-campus political projects.

Expulsion of eight students Tuesday for disregarding the university rule touched off the demonstration, which several times threatened to turn into a full-scale riot.

The crowd began forming shortly after police took into custody a non-student, Jack Weinberg, 24, and prepared to take him to police headquarters on charges of trespassing.

Police said Weinberg refused to stop soliciting funds despite several warnings.

During the demonstration, university officials said, some 25,000 other students remained in classes or away from the demonstration.

Role of Councils Uncertain Under Higher University Body

paper as it will be called, to submit to the Board of Trustees for consideration and approval.

According to Murphy, by the time the University Student Council is in full swing, every organization connected to student activities and government will have to be revamped and have to have a set of "working papers" on file in the President's Office.

This year the councils on both campuses will continue as, before, but, as one student senator put it, "In actuality, we are going on with nothing underneath us."

Another reason for the continuance of the council is that it has been included in the 1964-65 school year budget and allocated money for student welfare and activities.

In other business, the council approved two commission appointments made by Pat Micken, student body president.

Appointed were Joseph Shramovick H. Jr., international affairs commissioner, and Howard Benson, election commissioner.

Benson told the council he planned to run the elections differently this year. He plans to institute a system of voter registration using a computer center and placing the students in separate groups.

The council also set Oct. 21 for the fall election.

IOIS CENTRAL FREIGHT STATION

TO CATCH A GLIMPSE - Many students were forced to roost on the nearby roof of the Illinois Central Freight Station in order to catch a glimpse of Sen. Goldwater Friday. Carbondale police estimated the crowd at between 6,000 and 7,000. Some students climbed telephone poles to look at Goldwater. (Photo by Hal Stoelzle)

Committee, and a few scattered LBJ posters, Goldwater received an exuberant and orderly welcome from the partisan crowd.

Two students were seen carrying a sign that read: "We don't like anyone very much." Another sign read: "Goldwater in 1934."

Making the most of the opposition among the spectators, Goldwater said that he was happy to see members of both parties present, because, he said, the way to solve the country's problems is for the two parties to discuss them.

After a 15-minute talk, which included slams at his political opponent, the GOP hopeful introduced his wife, Peggy, who was presented a bouquet of yellow carnations which she then tossed among the spectators.

Many of the overflow crowd roosted on a nearby roof, while some even climbed telephone poles to catch a glimpse of the controversial candidate.

Goldwater's brief stop in Carbondale was part of a day which began with a speech in Cairo and was climaxed with an appearance Friday night in Peoria.

75 Hours Needed to Change GS Status

Jack Graham, coordinator of the Academic Advisement Center, has announced the procedure General Studies students must take to change formally to a college or school.

"Any continuing student who has completed at least 75 hours by the end of summer session is eligible to change," Graham said. "Any transfer student who has completed at least one quarter at SIU and has at least 75 hours by the end of summer quarter may also apply."

Herbert W. Wohlwend, assistant registrar, announced that the practice of mailing individual reminders to students who deferred part of their fees has been discontinued.

Deadline Tuesday For Tuition, Fees

Tuesday is the deadline for deferred payment of tuition and fees, according to a remainder issued by the Registrar's Office.

Students who fail to clear their fee accounts by Tuesday will have their registrations cancelled and will be withdrawn from school, Wohlwend said.

Tulsa Ace Quarterback May Be Out of Lineup

Salukis See Greater Chance Tonight If News Is True

Buried in the sixth paragraph of a Tulsa news release Friday was the following: "Tulsa coaches have only one other problem besides Southern Illinois--Rhome."

The name refers to Tulsa's great quarterback, Jerry Rhome, whom the Salukis will meet at Skelly Stadium tonight at 9 p.m. Carbondale time. But Rhome, according to the news release, may not be at full strength. Either Tulsa newsmen are trying to make the Salukis relax or Tulsa officials may be trying to play down their star product's apparent sprained ankle.

Following the Arkansas game last week, the report said, Rhome was limping and could not throw well due to a bruised shoulder. How severe the injury to Rhome may be, the Hurriganes are apparently worried. Rhome is expected to be able to go by game time, but if he is not 100 per cent recovered, coach Glenn Dobbs will start sophomore Glenn II, his son, rather than risk further injury to Rhome.

Rhome, who is probably three quarters of Tulsa's offensive attack, seems to be the only threat to the Salukis. Without him, Tulsa could find the going rough because the Salukis are at full strength with no injuries reported this week.

The Salukis have been concentrating on Rhome's pass patterns all week with Doug Mougey and Norm Meyers playing the role of the All-America candidate. Southern's defensive backfield looked good against Rhome (Mougey-Meyers) but of course the real Rhome was not throwing. But the Salukis might not have to face the Rhome arm. At least it may not be at full strength.

SIU didn't make much of a game out of the first encounter between the two clubs last year as they were easily handled by the Hurriganes, 49-6. But Tulsa will recall the game as one of the toughest of the year despite the one-sided score. In that contest, ace Hurricane end John Simmons was lost for the season with a broken arm and a total of 253 yards were issued in penalties. "They (SIU) hit harder than anyone we played last year," has been a common statement among Tulsa players.

Southern will remember the game also, as the Salukis were the first team to see Rhome come into his own. Rhome gained the starting berth at quarterback after sharing it for over half of the season (with Bill Van Burkleo who is gone) by completing 20 of 37 passes for 269 yards and two touchdowns. He has held the job since.

Trying to match Rhome's pending performance will be

MONTY RIFFER

Southern's own small college All-America candidate, Jim Hart, is getting stronger support from his ends, especially Tom Massey, as the season moves along.

Richie Weber, who did not play against the Golden Hurriganes last year, is expected to exhibit one of his finest collegiate performances when he meets the Oklahomans for the first time. The little scat-back gained 95 yards on the ground against Louisville last week and could be the difference in the Saluki backfield tonight.

Backing up Weber will be fullback Monty Riffer who is always good for three or four yards up the middle. Rudy Phillips, who continues to show improvement game after game, will be at the flanker back slot for SIU.

Out of the starting lineup tonight will be fullback Irv Rhodes, who was Southern's leading ground gainer against the Hurriganes last year. Rhodes rushed for 41 yards in 12 carries in that encounter. However, Riffer will get the nod over Rhodes.

Up front for the Salukis will be Massey at split end; Bill Lepsi (235) and Ike Brigham (221) at the tackles; Vic Pantaleo (228) and Mitch Krawczyk (225) at the guards; and Mike McGinnis at the tight end spot.

Howard Twilley will be at the split end for Tulsa; Bob Breitenstein (250) and Joe Brooks (245) at the tackles; Dick Tyson (223) and Ernie Riera (209) at the guards; John Osmond (236) at center; and Mark Maddox at tight end.

Along with either Rhome or Dobbs (who goes 6-6 but weighs only 191) at quarterback will be Bob Daugherty at tailback, Bill Goods at fullback and Jeff Jordan at the wingback slot.

The game will be broadcast over WSIU and WJPF at 8:45 p.m.

Illinois Allows Nonresidents To Vote for President, Veep

On Nov. 3, 1964, the political choices of the voting public will be signified by writing the letter x in a small square on a ballot.

For many this will be the first election they have ever participated in, and some may be confused about residential requirements and voter registration.

The basic rules and laws of voting are determined by the individual states, consequently the procedures are varied in the 50 states.

In Illinois, in order to establish residency a person must have lived in the state for one year, in the county for 90 days and in the precinct for 30 days.

These requirements disqualify most SIU students, and all returning students for the fall quarter.

There is one voting exception however, and that is the new Illinois state law that allows special requirements for voting for the president and vice president of the United States.

Out-of-state voters who have lived in their Illinois precinct for at least 60 days as of the election day Nov. 3, but do not meet other residential requirements, and that includes many SIU students, will qualify for the special ballot if they were qualified voters in their home state.

Persons in this category should file an application with the office of Jackson County Clerk, delmar Ward. The deadline is today.

The county clerk's office will then check the applicants registration in their home state to determine his eligibility to vote on the special ballot.

Students who meet the requirements to establish residency in Carbondale must register on or before Monday in order to retain voting eligibility for the Nov. 3 election.

Monday is also the last date for persons to make address changes.

The county clerk's office is now operating a booth in the Carbondale City Hall to handle new registrations and address changes.

In-state students, who are eligible to vote and are registered to vote in their home counties, are cautioned to apply between Monday and Oct. 29 for their absentee ballot, which will be their only means of voting representation.

SKY DIVERS - Parachute jumpers, similar to those shown above, will be part of the Air Show at the Southern Illinois Airport today. Members of the SIU Parachute Club are expected to take to the air about 2:20 p.m. for their part of the entertainment.

Air Show Buses Available Sunday

Buses will leave every half hour Sunday from the campus to take students to the air show at the Southern Illinois Airport.

The first free bus will leave the University Center at 9:30 a.m. and will continue to run until 5:30 p.m. Return trips will be made on every hour from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The buses will also stop at Thompson Point and Small Group Housing.

The air show, 1 to 5 p.m., will include an aerobatic act in a light plane, parachuting by the SIU Parachute Club and a fly-over of F-100 jets.

On the ground will be displays of military and civilian aircraft, including a Ford trimotor, known as a pioneer in airplane history.

Homecoming Event Has Open Entries

Applications for the Homecoming house decorations contest are now available at the University Center information desk.

According to Claudette Morse, publicity cochairman, the applications can be picked up until Oct. 7. Applications for parade entries may be submitted until Oct. 16.

This year two residence halls may enter cooperatively under the organizations classification. This arrangement may include two women's dorms, two men's dorms or one of each.

Next week Homecoming buttons will be available at the information desk for 10 cents.

Also applications are still available at the information desk for Homecoming committee members.

Freshman Grid Team to Open Monday Against SE Missouri

Perhaps the best freshman football team in SIU history will open its season here Monday night, meeting Southeast Missouri State College at 8 p.m. in McAndrew Stadium.

Facing Southeast Missouri's junior varsity squad will be a crop of talented Saluki freshman, led by six all-state performers. All-stars expected to see plenty of action against the experienced Indians (the junior varsity members play in varsity games) are tackles Jim Krolak (255) of Spring Valley, Al Jenkins (236) of New Orleans, and Ralph Galloway (227) of East Aurora, guards Joe Fwan (192) of Canton and Ron McCartney (193) of Belleville and split end John Ference of Parma Heights, Ohio.

According to frosh coach Frank Sovich, whose 1963 yearling squad had a 5-0 record, Galloway, McCartney, Ewan and Ference will work on both the offensive and defensive units.

Other offensive line starters are tight end Dave Jones (190), tackle Ted Cunningham (216), and center Rich Hawkins (221).

Featured in Sovich's starting backfield is quarterback Charlie Bennett (180) from Benton, halfback Steve Brooks (175), Palatine, flankerback Bill Blanchard (180), Olympia Fields and fullback Bill Hohn (185) of Skokie.

Monday's contest also will mark the first time an SIU freshman football game will be played at night.

SIU students will be admitted to the game upon presentation of their fall student activity cards. Adults will have to pay $1.

Hootenanny Today At University Plaza

A hootenanny will be held today at the University Plaza for students who like folk, country and western and blues type music.

Guitar and banjo players will have the spotlight. The audience will be urged to sing along. Students who have banjos or guitars are urged to bring them along.

The hootenanny will start at 1 p.m. The University Plaza is located north of the Home Economics Building on South Illinois.
