MEET DR. WILLIAM P. DALLMANN; HE LIKES SMOKING AS A HOBBY BUT NOT ON THE S. I. N. U. CAMPUS

New German Teacher's Quiet Humor and Scholarly Manner Impresses Students and Reveals Wide Study

BY MARGUERITE WILHELM
Students of S. I. N. U. meet our new German teacher, Dr. William P. Dallmann. The sure sign of you will be interested in Dr. Dallmann even if you never plan to take German. To you of his German classes, he needs no introduction. You've already discovered his quiet humor, his more complete than any other college, don't turn away. Dr. Dallmann, you will find, is also very greatly interested in your French. "But Dr. Dallmann, won't you say something for yourself?"

"First of all," offered the tall, gray-haired man, "you want the correct spelling of my name" in answer to the reporter's request for an interview. It is William P. Dallmann. Further he stated, "I believe there is a copy of my academic training in last week's paper but here is the more complete list. I attended the College, A. E. F. W., France; Eden Theological Seminary, Yale University, Illinois State-Summer, Washington University and University of Germany, summer."

Dr. Dallmann is not a staid, either, student, as to his hobbies, "Well, what are your hobbies, Dr. Dallmann?" He smiled and answered quickly in his clear, accented voice, "number one, language study."

"Oh, isn't that your work?" "Yes, but it is also my first hobby. You see, I like language study. I have followed it up also beyond what I have to have for my work. You can observe I like hunting, swimming, and gardening. I indulge in few other things, but those above are really my hobbies. You wouldn't call smoking a hobby, would you?" "I don't know, but I'll put it down."

"Oh, you'd better not, they might think I did it on the campus." Upon being assured that it would be made quite evident to the students that he violated no school laws by liking to smoke outside of school, he was satisfied.

"Have you always been interested in languages or did you during your education desire to desire to continue, Dr. Dallmann?"

Quickly he answered: "There is something to be said there. This is English has always interested me. If I heard someone speak a language I did not understand I felt I would like to know it. I have learned a little since we've learned so much about him already, we had better leave."

"Auf Wiedersehen, Herr Doktor Professor Dallmann." "He has a keen personality, has he not?"

Wailing Wall

(Editor's Note—This column is, in every respect, the students' column. Any student wishing to express himself, or "get a hearing" on subjects associated with school matters or reasonably interesting to the student body may do so through this column. Every contribution must be signed by the author. An article of two hundred or less words and any words or shorter will be given preference.—Vernon Hicks.)

Your editor of the Wailing Wall would like to express himself on a matter that concerns not only many students but the outlook of all. That which we exchanged for services or goods" to those students. This matter concerns the actions of a few of the departments of this college in having an ever-changing desire for NEW BOOKS. Three years ago the geography department decided to change the book that was used in Geography 100. After three terms, and after many students had bought this new book, which, by the way, was listed at something over three dollars, the department decided that the book after Mr. Boomer, who is present head of the S. I. N. U. physics department. After graduation, Dr. Daniel was one of five graduates named John who were sent to the Philippines upon recommendation of the department. While in the Philippines he went for and married his fiancee from Illinois, only to have a few months later.

After a seven months' stay in the Philippines, Dr. Daniel worked on his Bachelor degree in Chicago. Unlike the other graduates in the Philippines he was not a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

Let us suppose that two hundred students are assigned to classes in History 110. Well, at the list price of the new history book, $4.12, this amounts to the neat little sum of $825.60. But considering things, that's only a trifle for the boys and girls from the rich Illinois Coal Mining towns and from the fertile farming sections in the beautiful valleys of Rockwell and Riddles Creek!

If there isn't more consistency in the selection of text books, well—God help the poor students for the Book Companies, Book Dealers, Salesmen, Good Salesmen, I should say, who cause educated men to change their minds so often! And Authors will have all.

Mildred Whetzel '32 is married to Mr. Samuel Pfeiler of Gillespie.

On the other hand the mechanizing of industry, with its resulting increase in production and decrease in employment, has made responsible for large numbers of young people to find work that would satisfy an intelligent and ambitious individual.

It is the policy of the present administration to prepare the coming generation of leaders in southern Illinois to meet the problems of a changing world with intelligence and courage, to maintain the fine, democratic traditions of the college, to extend its services to all the people of southern Illinois in every legitimate way, and to try to improve the citizenship of the State of Illinois through the work and the influence of the men and women who go out as graduates of the school.

YOUR HOME IN 1876

By GILBERT VAUGHT Almost all Illinoisans know something about the history and facts of our state, but most of us have only heard things told to us with no real facts really ramming through an old attic. I found an "Atlas of Illinois", which was printed in 1876. Among the things that are listed are: history, geography, maps, counties, county seats, cities, villages, towns, hamlets, and various statistics, and miscellaneous facts of Illinois. I shall begin my first article with the history of Illinois.

The constitution of Illinois was adopted by a convention held at Kaskaskia, August 6, 1818, and provided for a government of three departments. The legislative power was vested in a general assembly composed of a senate and house of representatives. A Governor and Lieutenant-governor were to be chosen for four years by the people. The Governor and judges of the supreme court were to constitute a council of revision, to which all the bills that passed the assembly were to be presented. A majority of the members of the two houses could pass and veto any law.

Kaskaskia was the oldest town in the state and also was the capital of the state. The first stone jail house, Kaskaskia had one built in 1818, and a printing office. There were 150 houses widely scattered, which made up the town. The town was settled about one hundred years before that time by Canadian emigrants of which about one half were French.
