Broken Water Main Causes Trouble In Freezing Weather

A broken water main caused difficult driving along Harwood Ave. early Monday morning when water flowing from the broken eight inch main ran east to U. S. 51 covering the street with a thick sheet of ice.

The break was discovered around 7 a. m. but the workers were unable to repair the damage because they had no way of shutting off the water to the broken main without cutting off the supply of water to the boilers at the physical plant.

The workmen tapped the water supply of the University School and Dowdell Halls so as to have make up water for the boilers in the physical plant, and around 1 p. m. they were able to shut off the supply of water to the broken water main. The water to all the buildings south of Grand Ave. and west of Thompson street had to be shut off during that time. The main was repaired by 3:30 Monday afternoon.

"We know about the break early this morning," said W. A. Howe, physical plant director. "But we had to get water in the boiler room so we wouldn't have to shut off the heat on campus. What we need is an auxiliary water line so that sort of thing wouldn't happen."

BOTANY KEYS LOST

Only one out of every eleven students who took botany during the fall term did not return the keys to the laboratory equipment drawer, according to Rollin Sands, junior laboratory assistant of botany.

Sands issues the keys from the botany equipment room at the beginning of each term. Students pay 25 cent fee for their keys, and when they return the keys at the end of the term their money is refunded.

Last term 220 keys were issued, and only 200 were returned. Sands said that some of the keys were probably lost, and that some students may not have considered it worth 25c to return the keys.

Bicycles Will Serve 3 Point Cause -- Isbell

By Joe Melsi

The bicycle on the SIU campus will serve a three-point cause (1) to ease the parking situation (2) for transportation convenience to and from classes and (3) for recreational facilities, according to Paul Isbell, director of Auxiliary Enterprises.

"The main purpose for the bicycle at SIU is to get ready for the demand that will come," he said. "The bike was introduced to the campus last term as a focal point for a long range program in which the bike will play a vital role in the student."

"With parking needs multiplying faster than facilities, and with expanding enrollment, the bike is a valuable aid to combat the parking situation, but will never completely solve it," he pointed out.

"However, the campus is ready for full time student traffic. More and more bicycle paths are being planned serving as roads. New racks near classrooms are also being planned," he added.

"Also, bicycle transportation to and from classes in the future will be quick and convenient for the student."

"The campus is expanding and the classrooms will be more spread out. Since housing such as Thompson Point and other outlying areas where bicycle drive, will also be spread out, the bicycle will serve well," he said.

"At large universities, bicycles roll along the campus sometimes in hundreds. The bike is very popular where classrooms are far apart," he said.

"The need is just beginning here, and will be a necessary part to the student for a quick and convenient transportation factor," he added.

"The set up would be such that a student could rent or buy a bike, ride in his class, where a parking rack would be installed, ride down a bike path to his next class, and save time and effort."

"The bicycle is cheap transportation. The convenience makes it a demand. And since parking is going to get worse, the bike will help solve many parking problems," he said.

Recreation Is Factor
Also, bikes can be used for recreational purposes. A heavy rental of bikes last term indicated the popularity of the single or tandem for weekend peddling to picnics and to recreational areas.

"And this popularity will continue to rise when the significance of the bicycle is finally realized." There are approximately 12 tandems and between 115 - 135 singles for rental on hand right now.
Rental is $.75 per day for singles; $1.00 for tandems.
Bikes will be sold, and for those who don't want to buy, a certain amount will be kept for rental purposes.
"We won't be able to sell or rent to all, but we will be ready to meet most of the demand," he concluded.
The new location for the bikes will eventually be stored underneath the University Store building.

There are currently being held in the gymnasium, east of the gymnasium.

Today Last For Giving To 'Line Of Dimes'

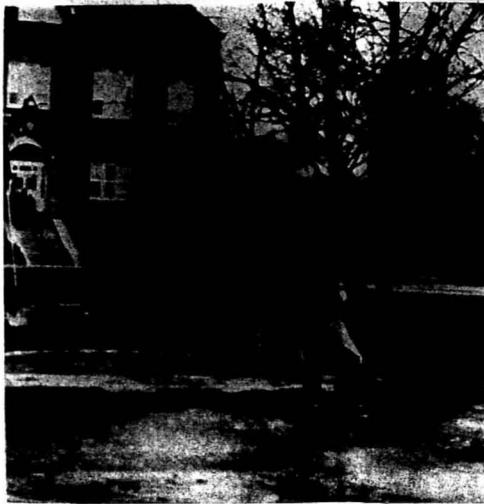

Contributing elements to the slow progress of this year's "Line of Dimes" campaign indicate that the goal to reach Old Main by Friday night may not be attained, but it would be lost, said Bob Bernard, APO drive chairman.

The campaign started Monday morning and will end today at 4 p.m.
Expanding enrollment was expected to be a factor in favor of the increase of contributions this year. However, with the campus spreading out and the faculty already donating to the United Fund, the race to beat last year's mark will have to pack up in the last minutes of the drive. Also, cold weather has been an adverse factor.

The amount of dimes taken on Wednesday at 5 p.m. totaled approximately $115. Last year's contributions added up to more than $300.

The ACE, American Council of Education psychological test, will be given Feb. 4 at 10 a. m. in the Library Auditorium. The second section of the English test will be given Jan. 28 at 10 a. m. in the Library Auditorium.

Some letters have been set out to students who have not taken the tests, according to Tom Nealy of the testing service, and those who received letters should take advantage of this next battery of tests.

Religion In Life Week
Southern's religious organizations are reported to have begun plans for Religion in Life Week at SIU Jan. 28-Feb. 2, according to Jim Edlison, president of the Interfaith Council.
Speaker for the freshmen convocation, Dr. Duke K. McCall, president of the Southern Semester, will also be the guest speaker at the Baptist Foundation the same day at their Baptist rally.

Bill Swing, well known religious lecturer will be featured at the Student Christian Foundation. Although each organization is planning programs, which are yet tentative, a Religion In Life Banquet will be held in the school cafeteria on Wednesday, January 30.

Orientation Test Battery Offered Jan. 21, 28

Students who have not taken the orientation tests in the general test battery are urged to do so when they are next offered.

The next test to be offered is the first section of English, which will be given on Jan. 21 at 10 a. m. in the Library Auditorium. The second section of the English test will be given Jan. 28 at 10 a. m. in the Library Auditorium.

The ACE, American Council of Education psychological test, will be given Feb. 4 at 10 a. m. in the Library Auditorium.

Business, Industry School To Offer New Program Next Fall

A new program is being prepared by the School of Business and Industry for the Fall Quarter. It marks the beginning of a Manual Arts Therapy curriculum at SIU.

Ralph O. Gallington, chairman of the educational dept., emphasized emphatically, "the rehabilitation of certain men as electricians, graphic artists, agriculturists, hospital industry and various industrial arts are incorporated in the training of manual arts therapists."

There are several options of study recognized by the U.S. Civil Service Commission. They are: Metalworking, wood working, electronics, graphic arts, agriculture, hospital industry and the general option which includes an combination of the above.

"After considerable refinement completed Ballington, "the curriculum developed at SIU allows for specialization as defined by the option. Further, it provides basic training in several of the specialties named which would provide the necessary training for the general option. By substituting three courses in agriculture for the basic curriculum, the student could receive a B.S. degree with a major in Manual Arts Therapy. The graduation requirements are controlled by the Industrial Education Department.

"One of the outstanding features of this program is the hospital internship," added Gallington. "The student is expected to spend two summer school sessions working as an intern in manual arts therapy in a recognized hospital. A number of hospitals are provided with staff and facilities to give this training under the direct supervision of a manual arts therapist and of a medical doctor who is able to direct this type of therapy."

"One of the advantages of a student making this curriculum is that he works with small groups generally adults, who are very appreciative of what is being done for them," he continued. "and the hospital therapy rooms are delightful, clean and healthful."
"A manual arts therapist usually starts out with a salary in the neighborhood of $4,000 which increases with experience."

Survey Shows LAS Good For Jobs

A survey of companies who hired college graduates last year shows that about 37 percent of the jobs had qualifications that could have been satisfied by graduates from liberal arts colleges. Actually, about 27 percent of the positions were filled by liberal arts graduates. Half of the companies indicated that they hired about as many such jobs as could qualify.

The survey was conducted by Dr. Frank Edlison, director of placement service, Northwestern University. The survey took in total of 190 companies.

MRH Council Meets, Plans For Elections

The Men's Residence Halls Council, in their Jan. 10 meeting discussed methods of selecting candidates for Spring Elections, heard reports from the Treasurer and Controlling Spending Committee, and answered a request for funds for the Miss Anthony Hall Contest.

The treasurer's report, submitted by Bob Jungers showed a balance of $3,004.55.
Harry Rubin, chairman of the Activities Committee, gave two proposals for selection of candidates for Spring Elections.
That application forms be filled out by candidates and returned to central selection committee, or Hold either a convention or primary as a means of selection.
Robert Jungers, reporting on the results of Controlling Spending Committee meetings, suggested that appointments be made to purchasing agents, and the setting up of a safety fund of $500 to allow for unpaid bills, should the Council funds run out.
Anthony Hall requested $150 appropriation for the Miss Anthony Hall contest and were granted an allocation of $100.

BSU Freshman Week Ends

The gavel was returned to Baptist Student Union Council president Wendell Garrison today in BSU's noonday chapel, as Freshman Week activities ended.
During Freshman Week, the freshmen of the BSU assume all of the duties and take care of all of the activities, according to Wendell Garrison. This year's president was Jim Ebbler, a freshman at SIU.
BSU's freshman activities were highlighted by their noonday chapel service. The Freshmen Week's theme: "The World, The World, And You." This year's president was Jim Ebbler, a freshman at SIU. ### Fellowship Representative SCF Speaker

Bill Swing, field representative for the United Student Fellowship, will be the speaker for the Student Christian Foundation during Religion in Life Week, Jan. 27-February 1, at SIU.

A magna cum laude 1956 graduate of Caruba College, Swing will be visiting campuses throughout the country. He will visit approximately 60 colleges in the school year 1956-57, living alongside the students in their everyday experiences.

Coming to visit college students in a non-professional basis, Swing brings with him the history of a busy student career, including participation in dramatics, journalism, music, and student government.

He served as student body president in both high school and college.

Geographer To Speak Here Wednesday

George B. Cresssey, holder of two Ph. D. Degrees and Maxwell professor of geography at Syracuse University, will deliver an address on the Middle East in Shrook Auditorium January 23 at 7:30 p. m.
"No other living geographer has seen so much of the great continent of Asia," Dr. Cresssey writes the New York Times.
Five visits and eight years of residence in Asia have taken him from the Arctic to the equator and from Turkey to Japan. While on these visits Cresssey made extensive studies in the interior of China, Mongolia and Siberia.
Other travels have led him to five continents and a total of 14 trans-Atlantic flights.
Dr. Cresssey has just returned from a Fulbright research study in Baghdad, where he traveled 25,000 miles of the Middle East.
His books on the geography of Asia have appeared in six languages and in 1952 he was awarded the Davidson Gold Medal of the American Geographical Society for distinguished research in the Pacific area.
His major professional recognition was his presidency of the International Geographical Union from 1949 to 1952.

Ben Hartley Talks At JSA Meeting

"How would you like to make a million dollars?" asked Ben R. Hartley, editor of the Per Milk Magazine of St. Louis, at a Journalism Students Association meeting Wednesday night.
"In order to make the million you must learn basic journalism and learn to be a good business man," Hartley said.
Hartley received his Bachelor of Journalism degree from the University of Texas. He became the editor of Per Milk Magazine in 1955. Before joining the Per Milk Magazine staff, Hartley was employed on the staff of The Lion Magazine.
"It's just as hard to make a million in the industrial press, as it is anywhere else but you have a great opportunity," Hartley said.
The duty of the industrial editor is to tell the company, and it is not his job to obscure the truth or distort the facts.
"I think that the road to success in the industrial publication field is hard, but I am still trying to make a million," said Hartley in closing his talk.
The JSA is also investigating the possibility of sponsoring a scholarship for Journalism students. This was the first "Jobs in Journalism" speaker of the year.

Study Reveals Student Housing Change Trend

The percentage of men students living in the University Residence Halls during Fall Term, 1956 showed an increase of 5.9 per cent over 1955 figures, while the percentage of women in Residence Halls decreased 3.5 per cent. These figures were disclosed in a table compiled by Allan Rogers in cooperation with the University Housing Office. The table shows the number of students living in the various types of housing during Fall Term, 1956, in comparison with the figures for 1955.

The great increase in the number of men students living in University Halls is due to the completion of the Thompson Point Halls, Rogers said. The total number of men in the Halls numbered 877, as compared to 559 in 1955.
There has been no expansion yet in the way of women's Residence Halls. Therefore, although the actual number of women living in Woody Hall showed little change, the percentage of women living in the Hall dropped from 25.12 per cent in 1955 to 21.6 per cent in 1956.

Other findings include:
The population of fraternity houses nearly doubled from 2.49 per cent in 1955 to 4.3 per cent in 1956. Sorority houses accommodated 3.5 per cent of the women students, as compared to 2.8 per cent in 1955.

The number of students living in university-owned apartments decreased slightly—from 3.76 per cent to 3.4 per cent for men; and from 1.85 per cent to 1.7 per cent for women.

The number of men who commute from home decreased in actual numbers from 1,025 to 992, and percentage-wise from 27.77 per cent to 23.6 per cent.
Students with unknown places of residence decreased from 3.13 per cent in 1955 to .10 per cent in 1956.

How About You?

Alpha Phi Omega ends its annual Line of Dimes Campaign today. Each year this organization collects money for the National Polio Foundation to help with research and treatment of the dread disease.

SIU students contribute to this drive without hesitation. But, how many SIU students have stopped to consider protecting themselves against polio?

A letter from a graduate student on the campus described the widespread epidemic that hit Boston two years ago. The group that was hit the hardest by the crippling disease was the late teen through early thirties.

Such an epidemic has never hit this area, but that doesn't mean that one won't.

The Health Service does not give initial polio vaccine shots but it will give two booster shots that follow the first.

School children all over the country have been given the protecting shots. They have a success record of almost 90 per cent if not higher. Only one person who has been inoculated has been known to die of polio.

However, the age group which is most susceptible to the disease is apathetic toward the shots.

When you contribute to the Line of Dimes, think about yourself and get protection from the crippling disease, polio, by having your doctor inoculate you with polio vaccine.

Pi Mu Epsilon Chapter To Be Installed Here Today

The Illinois Delta chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics fraternity, will be installed on Southern's campus today.

The formal installation will be held in the library auditorium this evening at 5:30 p.m. Installing officers will be professor S. S. Cairns, chairman of the department of mathematics at the University of Illinois. Cairns is the director general of Pi Mu Epsilon.

Cairns will also speak at the banquet to be held in the University Cafeteria following the installation ceremonies. He will speak on 'The Peculiarities of Polyhedra.'

The SIU mathematics group, formerly the Delta Rho, will initiate 26 at the installation, with members being on the chapter. Officers of the organization are: president, Ernest Shult; secretary, Shirley Gibson; treasurer, Abd Daqqay;

'Nothing to Write About Me' Polish Economics Instructor Modest About Past

By MARSHALL RIGGAN

A soft-spoken, Polish born, dedicated young man who used a night watchman's job as a stepping-stone to his PhD has come to instruct at SIU.

"I was not trying to write about me," said Dr. Myrosyl J. Melnyk, who taught his first class in economics at Southern, last week.

He was born in Poland and attended high school in tongue twister Bircza and Iremysl. He is a former Polish citizen and member of the Ukrainian Catholic church.

"I was enrolled at the University of Berlin during the bad years when it was hard to get work," said Melnyk.

Even though my grades were high and my tuition was paid I still had to find work in order to live," Melnyk said, "and I tried many odd jobs such as distributing newspapers and night watchman."

As a night watchman, though I did little but sleep until the alarm rang and then we would all go to our little bed helmets," Melnyk added, bowing crinkling humorously in remembrance.

Asked why and how he became interested in the study of economics, Melnyk remembered his father in law was a German banker of the 1930s.

"My friends and I would get together and discuss the world situation. One of these friends was trained in economics and he had a great impression on me," Melnyk said.

Through these discussions began to realize that through economics rather than through things like France, England and Germany were at war," Melnyk added.

Dr. Melnyk said that he began to see that where the principle that moved nations was law, it was becoming more and more influenced by economics.

After receiving his M.A. in economics at a Polish university in Lianzhen, Germany, Melnyk went on to the University of Louvain, Belgium, where he received his PhD in economics.

The thesis Dr. Melnyk wrote for his PhD was published in the University of Louvain.

The Economics Journal said it was an interesting study of the labor in Belgium. M. Melnyk said it was a useful and instructive study.

This was but a summary of the store of a man who claimed to be nothing to write about himself.

"The first and most important impression I received of this man was the obvious spirit of good European born."

Southern Eagles Flying Club Has 1,200 Hours

Members of the Southern Eagles Flying Club, in 1956, flew a record of 1,200 hours, according to T-Sgt. Irving Gast.

The Eagles, with a current membership of more than 100, accepted 25 new members in 1956, who received their private pilot's license. The requirement for private license is that the student have 42-50 hours of flying time.

The club has three airplanes in operation and expects to have two new ones in the near future.

The flying club met on Jan. 9 to appoint a board of directors. Seven were appointed to the board.

The board will be composed of the Dean of Men, a Civil Aeronautics Administrator and the Executive Fiscal Officer, President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer of the club.

Membership in the club is open to all students of the university.

Mathis Art Exhibition In Museum

By Richard Darby

The work of Thelma Arwood Mathis, fine arts graduate student, is on exhibition in the SIU Museum through Jan. 22. The exhibition is partially a fulfillment of Mrs. Mathis' requirements for a master's degree.

A reception honoring the artist was held in the museum Sunday. The exhibition will continue through Jan. 20.

Mrs. Mathis has participated in several art shows in the past, including Cape Girardeau, Mo., the Annual Decorative Arts and Ceramics Exhibit in Wichita, Kan., and the Missouri Art Show at the City Art Museum of St. Louis.

Mrs. Mathis' work in home is primarily in ceramics, oil paintings, and drawings in the past.

She won the grand prize in oil at the Du Quoin State Fair in 1955 and 1956, and the grand prize pen drawing and three dimensional art in 1955.

Mrs. Mathis' ceramic exhibition here contains several bowls and dishes of which most are grey and black. She has a platter which is several shades of grey and brown.

It has a pattern which looks similar to that of a log.

The most colorful of her ceramic exhibition is a small bowl, it has catches of light blue, brown, black and white. Each of these circles contains spots of all the other colors mentioned. It was in the Wichita show.

Mrs. Mathis has an oil painting of a country road winding through a forest in the fall. The trees are white with traces of blue, brown, and red. Many shades of green appear between the trees.

She has a still life oil painting which is blue, white, and green. It has orange accents of black, and contains a few spots of pink.

"Art and development," said Melnyk, "was also impressed by the artist's great interest in research," added Melnyk, "research here not only adds but adds to the scientific study of the human body."

When his story was told, Dr. Melnyk in modest grey suit, helped this reporter struggle in his coat and opened the office door, with the friendly dignity of the European born.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Here Feb. 6

By WARREN TALLEY

Another memorable evening of entertainment will be available for music lovers when the Carbondale Community Concerts Association brings on campus the world-famous Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Under the baton rule of musical director Antal Dorati, the orchestra will present its concert at 8 p.m., Feb. 6, in Southern's Strick Auditorium.

A new and special arrangement has been made for the orchestra's engagement. The group will perform an additional young people's afternoon performance with associate conductor Genald Samuel on the podium.

Special Afternoon Concert

The SIU music department has invited school children from throughout Southern Illinois to attend the free concert, and blocks of seats in Strick Auditorium are being reserved for each accepting school.

The afternoon concert will begin at 3 p.m., but after 2:40 p.m. all empty seats will be made available for the public.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, called by many the "orchestra on wheels," is in the midst of another brilliant season. The famous orchestra has the distinction of playing to the largest average concert audiences in America, both on tour and "at home" on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

In an average season, the group on tour presents over 70 concerts in more than 50 towns, before 150,000 patrons. Its home schedule consists of approximately 40 concerts before 165,000 patrons.

Founded in 1903

The orchestra made its initial tour in 1906, first being founded in 1903. During the years, it has performed in excess of 3,300 concerts in more than 500 cities, in all states except New Mexico and Delaware, in Havana, Cuba, and in all eight provinces of Canada.

This is the 54th season for the renowned group, under the direction of their fifth director, Antal Dorati. Dorati is now in his eighth season, and is also a renowned ballet conductor, famous arranger and composer, and guest conductor for major orchestras all over the world.

Previous to Budapest-born Dorati's direction, the orchestra has enjoyed being under four other famous conductors: Emil Oberholzer, (1903-1921) founded the group. Following him came Henri Verbruggen (1922-1930), Eugene Ormandy (1931-1936), and Dmitri Mitropoulos (1937-1949).

Third In Series

This will be the third in a series of concerts sponsored each year by the Carbondale Community Concerts Association. Outstanding artists (Eileen Farrell) and pianist Is (twin) have already given concerts in Carbondale this season.

The program for the young people's concert will open with Rossini's "Overture to William Tell," to be followed by "Symphony No. 4 in B-flat major, Op. 60" by Beethoven.

A feature of the program will be a symphony picture of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," highlighted by numbers such as "Summertime," and "I Got Plenty of Nothin'."

The main evening's concert will open with Rossini's "Overture to La Cenerentola," "Symphony No. 2 in D major," a 45 minute selection by Brahms will follow.

Violinist, Pianist To Present Sonata Recital Monday Night

By Warren Talley

United States and Europe many times and has published a number of compositions for string quartet, chamber orchestra, and violin. He has been awarded the Library of Congress Coolidge Medal of service to chamber music.

Arthur Balsam was born in Poland and studied music there and in Berlin. He is a former soloist with the NBC Symphony Orchestra as well as guest artist with the Budapest and Guelter quartets. He received two first prizes in international competitions for pianists in Berlin, in 1930 and 1931.

Both of the artists have recorded for Decca, Columbia, and other major recording companies.

First Of Season

This is the first chamber music concert of the season. The organization usually sponsors two or three of the concerts each season.

The Carbondale Friends of Chamber Music, under the leadership of Edith Kaappe, associate professor of English, and George Plochman, as associate professor of philosophy, are made up chiefly of SIU faculty members.

This is the fourth season for the active group, and in the past it has brought many outstanding musicians to the campus. Membership into the group is open to anyone and dues are $10 for a three-year membership.

Program Of Sonatas

A Mozart "Sonata in B-flat major No. 15, K454," will open the program. The Brahms selection, "Sonata in A Major, Opus No. 100," will follow.

After the intermission, the final number by the artists will be a Richard Strauss composition, "So Near In E-flat major, Opus No. 18. The concert will last approximately two hours.

ACCOUNTING CLUB

The Accounting Club will hold its first annual banquet at Engel's restaurant Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Following a chicken or steak dinner (as individually preferred) and a brief program, an informal conversation period is planned in order that those in attendance may become better acquainted.

Don Zima and Eldon Klein are co-chairmen of the banquet committee, and Bill Montgomery are selected as toastmasters. Guests will include Dr. Henry J. Behn, Dean of the School of Business and Industry; Dr. R. D. Swick, faculty sponsor; and Mr. E. C. Erb and Mrs. James Wilkenson, accounting instructors.

All members of the Accounting Club are invited to attend and to bring guests if they desire.

PI Kaps Redecorates

The Pi Kaps have been redecorating the basement of the chapter house this week. Chairman of the project was Pat Yates. New furniture has also been purchased for the living room.

Pi Kap activities undertook pledge duties and formalities in a "Topsy-Turvy Day" Wednesday. The activities were directed by the pledge class.

Initiation of the present pledge class will be held tomorrow at 4 p. m. Following the ceremony, a dinner will be held at Engel's Restaurant.

String Quartet Concert Sunday; Concert, Recital Schedule Out

The University String Quartet will present the 27th concert of the season Sunday at 4 p. m. in Shrook Auditorium. The concert is sponsored by the music department.

Featured with the quartet will be Robert Forman, music instructor, oboe soloist; and Steven Barwick, associate professor of music, piano soloist.

The Sunday recitals usually last 30 to 45 minutes, according to Henry Bruinsma, music department chairman.

They are designed to give an opportunity to week-end visitors, students and faculty to enjoy a period of great music," said Bruinsma.

"Concerto for Oboe" by John Barbirolli will be presented first on the program. It will be given by the quartet with Forman as oboist.

Edward Grieg's "Sonata in C Minor, Opus 45" will be presented with Barwick playing the piano.

The third composition will be "Three Nocturnes, Opus 15," by Alexander Scznanow.

Children's Play Opens Monday

"The Mystery of the Old Fort," a mystery melodrama by Rosemary Mastel, will be staged for Carbondale area grade school children Monday through Friday (Jan. 21-25) at the SIU Playhouse. The play is directed by David Brooks, a speech student from Dupont.

Starting time for the play will be 2 p. m. each day.

The three-act play, second in a series of children's dramas will be sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

March 13, Community Concerts: Leopold Simoneau, tenor, 8:00.

All events will take place in Shrook Auditorium except the convention tomorrow and the senior recitals which will be in the Library Auditorium, and the music festival on Feb. 22 and 23 which will be in the University School Auditorium.

Men's Dorm Has Own Newspaper

The residents of Thompson Point Residence Hall No. 4 have begun printing a weekly newspaper, the Pointer.

A four-page news sheet, the pointer is printed in ditto form and contains news of the hall. Editor-in-chief Jack Saylor expressed hopes of eventually expanding to include all of the Thompson Point Residence Halls.

Job interview dates for next week. Job interviews for the coming week to be held in the Placement Service are:

Jan. 21, Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery.

Jan. 22, White Rodgers Electric Co., St. Louis Independent Packing Co., and the American Red Cross.

Jan. 24, Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Seniors should make appointments before the date of the interviews. The interviews will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

New Staff Handbook To Be Released

A new faculty handbook will be made available to the SIU staff soon.

The purpose of the book is to incorporate various administrative rules, regulations and operating procedures which are not covered in the University Statutes.

The handbook endeavors to bring into one bound volume directives and instructions that have been passed out in special bulletins in the past.

Men Answer

Dr. Palermo Disputes Dames Club

By Gary Heape

(Editor's note: This story was written to present the male side of the controversy stirred up last week by the Dames Club and presented in Tuesday's issue.)

Visualize married men enjoying an evening, "with the boys" playing bridge.

One is called to the telephone. It's his wife.

Mrs. Palermo has just returned home from a Dames Club meeting where she presided over a group discussion on the trials and tribulations of college couples in their first years together.

Finding no one at home, and with a terrible pain somewhere near her appendix, she phones her husband who drops his bridge hand gladly—he's being set!

"No, my wife did not have appendicitis," said Dr. David Palermo, "and she is just getting over whatever was bothering her."

If we are to present a fair and unbiased view of married life in and out of college, it seems only fair that we should include some views from the male section of the matrimonial kingdom.

In a short interview in his office, Dr. David Palermo, assistant professor of psychology, gives some of his opinions on the subject that his wife discussed the previous evening.

Are husbands spoiled?

"Hogwash," was Palermo's immediate reaction to the question that the ladies in the Dames Club answered with a loud, "Yes!"

Palermo then retraced his steps just a trifle and admitted that during his college days he may have been spoiled "to a certain extent."

His reaction to the women's complaint that their husbands try to raise the children by psychology was, "I don't believe in sparing the rod and spoiling the child."

How do you appease an angry wife?

"I have tried three things, walking out, getting angry with her, and paying no attention, none of which has proved effective," said Palermo.

"But, it is so much fun to make up," he added.

Does marriage life go on the same after school as it does while in college?

Nobody Gave A Hoot For J. Paul Sheedy* Till Wildroot Cream-Oil Gave Him Confidence

*"Wise everybody avoid me so?" b-owed J. Paul. "Because you're such a ruffled old bird", replied his best buddy. Well that really opened Sheedy's eyes. He took a taxi-dermist down to the store and pecked up a bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's the picture of confidence because he knows his hair always looks its best from morning till night. So if people have been hooting at your messy hair, scratch for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's guaranteed to keep your hair neat but not greasy. And all the pals will go out of their way to seek to you.

Cagers Meet Normal, Western Grapplers After No. 8

Southern's cage team, the most determined and tenacious in the Interstate Conference, will pit its powers against two of the nation's leading offensive squads—Illinois Normal and Western Illinois—in the IAC road games this week end.

Illinois Normal, according to the most recent NCAA statistics, is third in the nation among small college teams with a 90.8 points-per-game average in offensive play, while Western Illinois was ranked eleventh with an 84.7 average. Southern, meanwhile, has averaged only 73 points per game in compiling an 8-4 record, but has limited opponents to only 67.3. In conference play, Southern has done even better, holding lone teams to a bare 60-point mark—almost a 10 points-per-game better than the nearest rival and almost 30 points per game better than Illinois Normal's defensive mark.

Coch Lyn Hilder, one of the boldgoats against "pop-go-go" basketball, predicts that the outcome of tonight's game against Illinois Normal and Saturday's tilt at Western Illinois will be decided by defensive play.

"We always score enough points," said Hilder, reflecting on the first half of the season. "We only lose when our defense collapses. Take last Saturday for instance. For the first 32 minutes we played sound but our defensive ability made a good club look bad."

SPRINTER

Web Steover swims the 50 and 100-yard freestyles and a leg on the relay team. He'll be out to cop a first against Belmont tomorrow.

FREESTYLE

Joe Barry, a two-year veteran, swam the 100-yard freestyle. He'll lead his talents to SIU tomorrow also.

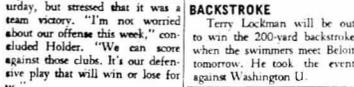

SPRINTER Web Steover swims the 50 and 100-yard freestyles and a leg on the relay team. He'll be out to cop a first against Belmont tomorrow.

After 9th Straight Swimmers Open Home Season Here Tomorrow

Riding on an eight-meet winning streak, Southern's swimmers open their home season in a stiff test against Belmont College here at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Southern's swimmers tripped Washington University, 44-41, last Saturday in their most impressive win since swimming was started as a varsity sport here in 1955. Washington had not lost a swim meet in more than two years. SIU's eight-meet win string is especially impressive when considering that the Salukis won their first swimming meet in history less than a year ago. Since tanning water.

BACKSTROKE Terry Lockman will be out to win the 200-yard backstroke tomorrow when the swimmers meet Belmont. He took the event against Washington U.

Sports In Spurts

The achievements and progress of the SIU swimming team this season and last have been somewhat amazing, and I think worthy of note.

The swimmers have now completed a 2.0 mark for this season, and have won seven straight dual meets, five of their last season. Considering that swimming was started as a varsity sport at Southern only two years ago, we think Bill Houston has done a fine job in developing a winner.

The swimmers are at home Saturday afternoon for the first time this season against Belmont College, which is reported to have a strong team. Starting time for the meet is 2 p. m., and students will be admitted on their activity tickets. It will be a good opportunity to see the swimmers in action. We don't think you'll be let down if you go.

Coch Jim Wilkinson's wrestling team also will be in action at Belmont this Saturday. They meet Eastern Illinois in the gymnasium at 7:30 p. m. No admission will be charged.

The grapplers also have a clean slate this season with a 2-0 record. Both victories have been against Great Lakes, and both came when Ed Hayes pinned his opponent in the last match.

Moet Eastern Grapplers After No. 8

Coch Jim Wilkinson's wrestlers will be after their eighth straight dual meet victory when they open their home season Saturday night against Eastern Illinois.

The match will be in the SIU gym at 7:30 p. m. Two of the eight victories came this year at the expense of Great Lakes when Ed Hayes pinned his opponent in the last match.

The SIU grapplers have not been beaten since February of last year when they lost a match to Indiana University. They won the Wisconsin Invitational and the IAC meets last year.

In the last match with Great Lakes, Southern trailed 14-5, but the last four wrestlers came through with wins to produce a victory.

Southern's scheduled match with Western Illinois Jan. 25 has been cancelled, and Wilkinson has scheduled a match with Ritenour YMCA in Overland, Mo.

- 140 — Lee Grubbs S, won on forfeit when opponent could not make weight
- 137 — Frank Freeman, GL, defeated Spencer Smith S, 7-1
- 147 — Bill Mellons GL, pinned Don Halbert S, 14-8
- 157 — Jim Kinyon GL, defeated Herman Ayers S, 2-1
- 167 — Jim Orlando S, defeated Doug Deneul GL, 8-0
- 177 — Bob Dunkel S, defeated Art Cozay GL, 6-0
- 191 — Gary Burdick S, defeated Frank Martens GL, 5-1
- Heavyweight — Ed Hayes S, pinned Buck Grand GL, 1-45.
- Grubbs also won an 8-6 exhibition from Freeman.

Week's Play Produces Ties In Greek, Indee Bowling Leagues

The race in the Independent Students Bowling League remains a tight affair after Monday's roll-down with the Den and Newman Club No. 2 maintaining a co-leadership status after their respective battles.

Douie Dorferty felt a stinging upset at the hands of the hand-picked Newman Club No. 1. Bob Montague and Ed Langen did the heavy duty work in the whitewash job with 540 and 528, respectively. The Brown Jug crew also suffered in the whitewashing process with Botany Club winning the white brush.

Women's Basketball Tourney In Progress

An all-school basketball tournament will soon be played and won without a man scoring a point, according to recent information released from the office of Miss Laura Evans, assistant professor of physical education.

The finals will be held some time near the middle of February, in the women's gymnasium, and will feature the four outstanding women's basketball teams on campus.

Practice sessions are already be-

Unhealthy Situation

Southern's intramural basketball program is a vast operation, and with athletic facilities at a minimum, the Carbondale National Guard Armory has been used to play in the SIU gym.

Southern is indeed fortunate to have a place such as the Armory in which to hold intramural basketball games, since the entire schedule could not possibly be played in the SIU gym.

However, in the past several weeks, an unhealthy and inconvenient situation has arisen which should be remedied immediately.

Players who have games in the Armory find themselves dressing in the halls and depositing their clothing on the floor while playing.

This is inconvenient, but we realize it is a necessity due to the lack of dressing room space.

But, after understanding in the

Intramurals

In the only other game the Manor easily defeated S.D.'s Rowdy team by running up a 58-38 margin.

The nets will switch with a feminine touch this week in the Women's Intramural Basketball League get under way.

Actual game schedules have not been released but each team that is entered will have at least two practice sessions before it can compete in league play.

The tough Organized House League has completed its play or nearly finished for it ended in a two-way tie. The U. D. Gunners and the Lamplighters, each with a 2-2 record, will vie in a play-off sometime near the 14th of February.

Two forfeits marked Monday night's action but proved lucky for Thompson Point No. 4 and the Brown Jug five.

Hill Beets and H.I.O.H.N. (which is reported to mean House Of Harry Nuss) failed to show up for their scheduled games.

In the two games that were played Monday night, Last Resort and the Manor, scored rather unrespectably victorious.

Last Resort sailed past Slapal 10-0, while Clinton's 26 points and Norton's 25 points, by the score of 64-43.

Brunhofer scored 19 points in the losing cause. These figures do not include Monday night's games in which Steve Clinton and Clint Norton scored 26 and 25 points respectively.
