WRITER RELATES PAST HISTORY OF LITTLE THEATER—PRESENTS LONG LIST OF GROUP ACHIEVEMENT

By CAROLINE COLP

With the formal initiation of its new members last week the Little Theatre officially ended its activities for this school year, which has been one of the most successful it has ever known. The Little Theatre can boast of one of the most distinguished histories of any campus organization. Drama, in one form or another, has been nurtured here on the S.I.N.U. campus from time immemorial. Besides the Little Theatre, once known as the Strut and Fret, such organizations as the Socrats, the now defunct Zetetic Society, and the Y.W.C.A. used to present plays. Before Miss Magnus, the present director-in-chief of the Little Theatre, came to this campus, Mrs. Neely directed S.I.N.U. stage productions.

Show Must Go On
"Chalk" many campus organizations. Little Theatre members must prove themselves to be really interested in Little Theatre ideals—to present the best show possible, both in the quality of acting and in technical detail. A nonpartisan member is desired for a probationary period, during which he or she must work on the show produced during that time. This work may be a suave, sophisticated reading part in the production, or it may be washing dishes or preparing the stage. Whatever the task may be, each is necessary in order to maintain the high level of entertainment for which the Little Theatre has long been noted. In the fall of 1940 a new level of achievement was instituted. Those applicants who had successfully completed the probationary period become apprentice players and technicians. After working on another production, these people become candidates for active membership in the Little Theatre. An impressive ceremony and banquet are the rewards for this group.

In the last few years the Little Theatre's choice of plays has followed a policy of interesting, popular, classic drama represented by various periods of theatre history and the theatre of other countries. The Shakespearean plays, such as "Julius Caesar", which was treated with the modern touch in both staging and costuming in "Yellow Jacket", a 1939 production, the Oriental theatre with its unique conventions in staging, lighting and costuming were portrayed. An early Little Theatre success was Chekov's "Marriage Proposal", which was completely stylized in the treatment of staging and costuming. The most recent Little Theatre production of the classic drama "The 16th Century" was "The Merchant of Venice", which was conventional only in costuming for a simplified stage unit and suggestive lighting were used.

The Birth
The Little Theatre grew out of the ashes of the Strut and Fret Club, which was the first production, "The Cuckooed Moon", in 1935. This show starred such thespians as Elizabeth Ann West, Frank Samuel, and Everett Mitchell. During this period the Homecoming productions were written especially for the occasion, and frequently featured musical talent. In the winter of 1935 the Little Theatre produced "The Bishop Misbehaves", which boasted such talent as Euel Johnson, Frank Thomas, Kate Parkhart, and Ann Langdon. About this period, too, the Little Theatre featured the practice of choosing from the membership two outstanding actresses and two equally distinguished actors for the year. Top honors during 1935 were held by Ann Langdon, Kate Parkhart, Frank Thomas, and Eddie Mitchell. In 1937 "The Cuckooed Moon" was the Homecoming show. Such headlines as Fred Meyer, Joe McDevitt, and Roy Stallings were among those seen in this production.

Baptist Foundation Summer Courses
The Baptist Foundation will teach two courses for the first half of the summer term. One course will be "The Teachings of Jesus", which will largely develop the ethical, social, and spiritual principles that Jesus taught. This course, 325, meets the third hour, and gives two hours credit. The other course will be in the field of church history, and will be designated as "Christianity in America", developing the growth and major leaders of the Christian movement in America. This will also give two hours credit, and will meet the second hour. All students are welcome to take these courses. For further information, see Dr. Geo. L. Johnson, at the Foundation.

MISS MORTON GIVES OUT OBELISKS

After a year's preparation the long awaited moment arrives. Here we see Miss Morton, 1942 editor of the Obelisk, handing a precious record of a year's activities to Claudine Karlee, freshman from Rinard. Yearbooks were distributed to all members of the student body last Monday and Tuesday in the New Gym.

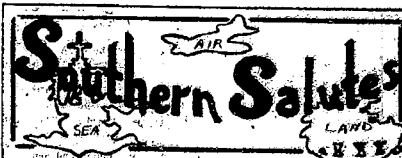

How To Interview

By KEN (ACE) MEDLEY

The Preparation
The preparation for an interview is important. Standard equipment consists of two or three small note pads, a box of sharpened pencils, and a lot of empty pockets. The empty pockets are essential only in case you forget to number the pages of your notes. The trick is to wear out the pages, one by one, as they are filled, and stuff them into a different pocket every time. You have prepared yourself before-hand by putting into each pocket a slip of paper with a number on it. Always use the same number and your notes will always be numbered correctly.

It is unadvisable to undertake an interview with only one pencil. I learned this from experience. Once I owned a non-barrel pencil which cost me a fifty cent. My pencil always worked. When the lead broke and had to get into, but I found out its fatal weakness when I went to interview a man whose wife had delivered triplets the day before. He was a business man and was accustomed to doodling. I asked him how it felt to lose three babies all at once. He grabbed my pencil and said it felt fine, with latex going up and all. At the same time he began to doodle with my pencil on my pad. I asked another question (frustrating I could remember) and he answered, and turned to a new page and took a new pencil. When I asked I was fixing his answer in my head, he doodled happily around his note and asked himself a question. He proceeded to answer it and take notes and doodle. From then on I sat by and watched that three-baby father interview himself. When he finished and was satisfied, he returned my pencil and pad, shook my hand and thanked me for my time, and left me standing in a puddle of cold sweat. His notes, contaminated with doodlings, might as well have been soiled.

Cones
My editor, who was a kindly man when not sober, believed my story and so faced me by saying that was what made newspaper work so darned interesting—you meet so many interesting people. He later fixed me up with an elastic band which was fastened one end to my pencil and one end to me. We found out that would not work, however, after two or three people took my pencil. Any way and it fell back and knocked my front teeth out. Then I used a small chain, but had to give that up too (after most of the buttons on my shirt).

Sometimes when the going gets tough, when our grades hit the doldrums, dates aren't even exciting any more, and we don't have any hopes for the future, we think college is about the worst place on earth. Classes are just a waste of time and instructors fire the air with complicated bits of knowledge while we sit there listlessly bored. Then a few months, we're finally out, whiff, how time flies, and then we look back at college. Just like soldiers the world over are looking back at their college days. Those memories are our most precious possessions. We wouldn't trade places with Joe, who graduated from High School, for anybody's money. So-o-o we're not surprised when we receive letters like this one from Gerald Veach which'll be remembered by the "intramural enthusiasts":

1942 OBELISK RESULT OF HARD WORK AND UNUSUAL TENACITY—WRITER DESCRIBES EDITING

By LOIS LEBETTER

Last Monday morning Southern's students, returning to the campus for another "blue Monday" seige, were greeted with the welcome news that the Obelisks were here at last. This announcement was met with a hurried scramble to locate activity tickets and library cards in order to obtain the long-awaited volumes. The usual round of autographing and ink-splashing was in order and is still being carried on to some degree.

Year Book Trailers
The student who does not work on the staff seldom realizes the tremendous amount of work involved in the publishing of the Obelisk. The first important task is the selection of the staff by the editor. A competent group of assistants is essential for any successful yearbook as the editor well knows. Having appointed his various departmental editors, Morton, 1942 Obelisk editor, immediately began handing out assignments to her various departmental editors, who, in turn, called upon their associates. The assistants were reported by capable assistants who aided in the terrific task of collecting material. Thus by late October a carefully organized machine was set in motion, under the untiring supervision of Miss Morton.

Year Activities Covered
Every campus event and activity received full attention from the college photographers, who always play an essential role in the production of an Obelisk! The more experienced campus journalists, along with the budding newsmen, released their literary talents into the business of writing and compiling the various features of the book. By the beginning of spring the Obelisk, in its embryonic stage, was sent to the engravers. It is at this time that the resourcefulness and dependability of the editor receives its true test. The burden of last-minute details, late assignments, and other loose ends must be caught up and straightened out by the lead executive.

Send-Box
This year's art editors expressed their ingenuity by intelligently designing the 1942 Obelisk in a sandwich of the common "thirdhood-days" variety. The ever-so-underrated covers and the pages of the book are the result of hours of diligent experimentation by members of the staff.

Work Under Handicap
The 1942 Obelisk editor and her staff have been working under the handicap of a slashed budget and various snappy shortages brought about by the war emergency. At times the fate of the Obelisk seemed doubtful when it was found that many needed items were requisitioned for military use. But the book was brought through to a successful publication with the unique distinction of being the first Obelisk of World War II.

AMONG THE INTRAMURALS

With Foehner
During the past week, the Spirits of '76, the Inter-Cooperatives, and the Sigma Beta Sigma have been engaged in the starting phase in the Shogunway-Playoff Plan. As the last game of the week looms up, however, we find the Alpha Gamma being dangerously tailed by the Chi Delta Chis in a race for the fourth spot.

Game of Week.
One of the most thrilling games of the week was played on Tuesday at the Sigma Beta Sigma under the superb pitching of "Pop" Pules. Owned the Spirits of '76 for their first and only defeat of the season.

The Sigma Beta took an early start as they scored three runs in the first inning. The contest was won by Bill O'Brien, John Sebastian, and Dean Roy along with a wild pitch un-der-cked by Florio and several hits of lucky base-running accounted for the three runs. The Spirits first scored in the fourth as the result of "Pop" Pules' home run. In the fifth, Dick Hamann on board, Verdie Cox scored on the hit but Dick Hamann was caught at the plate to end the inning. The Spirits scored again, in the fifth, without the use of a single base hit. Another run was scored in the fifth as Don McMillan doubled in Troy Edwards. In the sixth, to tie up the old ball game, in the seventh, Gene Florio was setting them down one-two-three for the Spirits.

Pulse Pitcher
Pules, who pitched out of a hole in the first inning, finished the game by striking out the last two remaining hitters with the bases loaded in the sixth. Then, in the seventh, he won his own base with a single by sending out a liner to right which was caught by Verdie Cox and ruled almost dead. He then pitched out to the right to score the winning run all the way from first base.

Milosevich Duplicates
On Monday, May 18, Nick Milosevich took the rubber for the Sigma Beta and, by duplicating the first game, Edward Edwards, he again pitched himself into Southern's Intramural Baseball Hall of Fame by hitting a no-hit, no-run game against the Kappa Delta Alphas. Only one man reached first base for the KDAs—Atheyby, who was hit by a pitched ball. The final score was 13 to 0.

Also on Monday, May 18, the Alpha Gamma was a 2 to 4 victory over the Dunbar Aces. The Danbars scored three runs in one big inning, the fifth. Contributing factors were hits by Havel and St. James, which were coupled with a series of errors. The Alpha Gamma had two big three-run innings. In the third, it was the hits of Brush and Heinrichs, the latter's hit going for a double; in the fourth, it was mainly a group of three walks combined with two errors on the part of the Dunbars.

Chi Delta Chi vs. Weather.
On Tuesday, the Chi Delta Chis came menacingly close to the fourth place with the Alpha Gamma by overrunning the Nu Epsilon Alpha squad, 3 to 2. The game was delayed because of the rain, and when play finally started, only a few innings were played before it started to rain once more.

The Chi Delta Chis pitched twice in their half of the inning to take the lead, two to nothing. Afterward, Garren, lead-off man, walked, Roger Spear sent a long, double sending Garren to third, Cholese was then hit by a pitched ball to load the bases. A wild pitch allowed Garren to score from third, while Roger Spear scored a few moments later as Johnny Whitehead bounced out to McMillan.

The Nu Eps' two runs came in their half of the second. McDonald led off the inning with a double and scored on Everett Goddard's error. McMillan, the Nu Eps' snappy left shortstop, also scored in the second as he reached first on Wesley Moye's error. A second score, this time, came in as Spear sent a wild pitch past the catcher.

STATE NORMAL DEFEATS SOUTHERN 75½ TO 55½ IN DUAL MEET HELD THERE LAST FRIDAY

Meet Run Off Under Worst of Weather Conditions; Millspaugh Tops SINU Scorers With Ten Points

The Illinois State Normal Redbirds defeated the S.I.N.U. track and field team 75½ to 65½ at Normal last Friday in snow-furries and a temperature that hung dangerously near the freezing point to record the first dual meet victory in history for the Redbirds over the Linglemen. The final outcome of the contest was in doubt until after the last two events, the broad jump and the relay, had been run off. Normal gained seven points from them, just enough to assure her of victory.

First place winners for Southern were Edward Copeland, who won the high hurdles in the best time that he has made this year, 16.5 seconds; Curtis Baker, who won the shot put; Bill Millspaugh, most efficient javelin tosser of the afternoon; Bill Guiney, who with Millspaugh tied for first in the discus throw; and Harold Maasberg, victor in the pole vault event.

John Scott and Charles Gerfen, Normal performers, each annexed one point during the meet to win high scoring honors. Scott, who last winter was recognized as one of the best basketball players in the mid-west, won the 40 yard dash, the 880 yard run, and the high jump; while Gerfen triumphed in the 300, the 220, and the broad jump. Both of these stellar performers will exhibit their wares here at the conference meet tomorrow.

Bill Millspaugh, sophomore weight man from Norris City, showed Southern's scorers the way to go all afternoon. He marked up a first in the javelin, a tie for first in the discus, and a lead in the shot put. In ten points and proved himself Coach Lingle's most potent performer for the day. Bill Guiney is credited with a tie for first in the discus and a second in the shot put for seven tallies. Rolis Mitchell with a second and a tie for second in the 100, and added a third in the 100 to his list over the high sticks for six; Baker and Maasberg each received five for their winning efforts in the shot and pole vault; and Jack Hayes nailed five out of a tie for second in the high jump and a second in the high hurdles.

Normal dominated the sprinters as they managed to place men in all but two of the nine scoring places in the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes. In the longer runs, the half, and the one and two miles, they scored 22 out of the possible 27 points. However, in the hurdles it was a different story. Southern made 12 points over the Redbirds six over the two obstacle races. In the three weight events, one lone second was the only place Normal was able to score.

While the outcome of the meet seems to be conclusive, fairer weather and a bluer sky might have made some decisive change in the final result.

The summaries of the meet:

100 yard dash—Copeland, N. first; time, 16.5.
220 yard dash—Gerfen, N. first; time, 2:07.5.
440 yard dash—Gerfen, N. first; time, 2:29.
880 yard dash—Scott, N. first; time, 10:28.
1500 yard dash—Walker, S. third; time, 2:07.5.
2200 yard dash—Gerfen, N. first; time, 2:29.

HOT COMPETITION EXPECTED ON TRACK SATURDAY

Some top notch performances can be expected Saturday afternoon when the five track and field teams of the Teachers' Colleges of Illinois, State Normal, DeKalb, Macomb, Charleston, and Carbondale, meet on the track here at Southern to fight it out for the 1942 championship. The defending title is the Huskies of DeKalb, who won last year's annual renewal with some 37 points to their credit; Macomb's second, Normal third, Carbondale, fourth, and Charleston last.

Some times, heights, and distances, would come out of the meet which will be so good on any that can be found in any meet of this size throughout the country. Some of the stars of the various teams are definitely big time performers.

A young fellow named Perkins of DeKalb has been stepping the mile race to Southern track fans two weeks ago as the Leathernecks defeated the Linglemen in a dual meet. Twomey has been running around the four and one-half minute mark and should push Perkins right up to the tape. He is undefeated as yet this year. Other miler to be reckoned with are Cole of Normal, who is capable of running about 4:35; Mitchell, who needs no introduction to Southern fans, who has stepped a 4:38 mile in competition; and Sean Taylor of Charleston.

Taylor of DeKalb has recorded a 1:01 hundred yard dash and ought to win the event tomorrow. Charles Gerfen of State Normal will probably prove something for him to worry about, however. These two sprinters will probably dominate the 220, in addition.

George Young and John Scott of Normal are very quarter miler who should place high in that event, with DeKalb's Clanton and Macomb's Lober rated strong. In the half mile run, Perkins, DeKalb miler, Scott of Normal, Long of Eastern, and Pechino of Carbondale have all chalked up good times. The boys who will see Cole and Rogers at Normal, Johnson of DeKalb, Twomey of Macomb, Mitchell of Southern, and Seaman of Charleston dominate the

Today and tomorrow 225 athletes representing the five different schools in the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference will assemble at Carbondale for the 23rd annual conference track and field meet, and each will be struggling for individual honors as well as endeavoring to drag down top team honors for his school. The golf and tennis meets will be held at the same time.

IN THE SPORT - SPOTLIGHT

By DAVE KENNEY
The spotlight this week turns to a group who seldom find themselves in it but who deserve it nevertheless. It is the writers who have assisted me each week in preparing this page for publication. To Everett Goddard, Charles Foehner, Jack Hedges, Ed Wright, and Leland Liston, I wish to send my thanks and my congratulations for the good work which they have done. I mustn't forget John Whitehead and Moe Zenik, who contributed an occasional work of art, so thanks to you, Moe and John.

The biggest athletic weekend in the history of Southern is on tap today and tomorrow, with the annual meeting of the athletes of the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference here. The two-day program will include the spring business meeting of the conference executives; a faculty golf tourney; the variety tennis meet; the variety soft matches, including the play-off between the Chicago Park, Charleston, Indian mile champ, Ed Gebhardt, wooden champion, and Lavergne McMillan, low hurdle winner. The rest of the squad seems equally strong and it will be a good team that ousts them from the top notch spot in the clash this weekend.

Also back to defend their crowns Southern will have no representative in this division, although men from the four other Teachers' Colleges are entered.

The tennis tourney is to begin at 1:30 this afternoon. It will be run on the college courts behind the gym and on the ones, just south of Harvard Hall. A Coach Charles Tenney's men are given the chance to retain the crown which they have won for four consecutive years. They have defeated two of the teams they will meet today—Macomb and Charleston—already this season by decisive scores. The other pair of squads, DeKalb and Normal, are very strong. The Huskies have a very strong team, Howard Stein, won the conference singles crown last season. The Normal team is built around the strength of their veteran performer, McLaughlin. The final result of the meet, which will be decided on points, is a toss up between Southern, DeKalb, and Normal. If you want to see some good tennis, don't fail to get out to the courts this afternoon and watch Captain Verdie Cox and his band of racketeers go up against the best of the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference has to offer in the tennis line.

most were torn off. Now I use a lot of pencils.

There are many different kinds of people to interview, but in the main they can be divided into two classes: Class I—proletarian; Class II—high-brow. Class I includes people on relief, WPA workers, share croppers, dispossessed families, unskilled laborers, unemployed lawyers, tailors, journeyman painters, whiskey addicts and automobile mechanics. Class II includes preachers, bar tenders, school teachers, political candidates, women who play bridge, cabinet makers, and Eleanor Roosevelt.

When interviewing Class I people, the main thing to keep in mind is that you are trying to dig into their private lives. They resent the invasion into their privacy. Therefore, you have to make them think you are a Class I, too. Once they are convinced you are one of them, they will confide in you. You must be careful about taking notes while interviewing Class I's because most of them are allergic to someone copying down what they say. They become frightened and shut up.

Class II's are easier to interview. All you have to do is flatter their ego. Take notes in front of them. They like to glance at the notes and compose masterful phrases, and wait for you to copy them down. Some times, however, you get what you want and they ramble on and on. It is up to you to find the opportune moment to thank the interviewee and vanquish.
