James Joyce Collection On Display Now

A catalogue about the James Joyce collection which is in the library has been prepared by Alan Martin Colm, humanities librarian. The catalogue, a 13-page description of the collection by Dr. H. K. Crossmann, Dr. Quason, toneristic, is available free of charge in the library director's office or at the humanities department office.

Each of the 34 items in the exhibit are numbered. The items are listed under the same number in the catalogue. The catalogue was printed by University Press.

Crossmann, who has collected works by Joyce since 1925, owns one of the largest private collections by this author. The exhibit is in the first floor corridor.

Included in the exhibit is the first edition of most of Joyce's works. Some of the books are signed by the author.

Books which once belonged to Joyce when he was a college student, letters written by him, a page of the typescript draft of "Ulysses" with corrections in Joyce's hand, and photographs and paintings of Joyce are also on display.

Dames Club To Give Guys Party Tomorrow

Amid a candle-light atmosphere tonight will be members of the SHU Dames Club entertaining their guys.

The club, a group composed of wives of married students on campus, is featuring dancing and entertainment "to get their husbands acquainted with the club." Beverly Adams, club president, said.

The theme, called "Guys and Dames", is patterned after the Broadway production of "Guys and Dolls."

Red and white checked table cloths will decorate the tables, with lighted candles in Chianti wine bottles enhancing the theme.

The program, which starts at 8:30 p. m., lists recorded music for dancing.

The Sabres, a musical combo will back various entertaining acts including piano solo by Katherine Kimmel; a tap-on-tap dance by Sue Blackman; and a pantomime by Charlotte Watkins and Kay McLean.

Barbecued pork, potato chips and omelets will be served.

The Dames Club is a campus organization to assist student wives in becoming acquainted with each other through various club activities.

The club membership is currently near 150.

They expect to sponsor a crazy hat style show sometime in March. The hats will be made from house hold objects.

The dance is the second in a series of activities by the club. It is the first function to which husbands have been invited.

Library Given Folio Of Maps By Army

The Army Corps of Engineers has given the library a folio of maps on Mississippi River Flood control and navigation. The maps cover the 966-mile area between Canada and the Gulf of Mexico.

The maps show the navigation lights and channel line, levee system, bank protection and contraction works, flood control works, cities, towns, landings, sketches of river ports, diagrams of bridges and clearances, sketches of navigation locks, and project channel dimensions.

The folio of maps, the 24th edition, was prepared from latest available information and river survey data of the Mississippi River Commission, U. S. Corps of Engineers, and other federal agencies.

The set of maps totaling 109 navigation use and is 14 and one-half inches wide by 24 inches long and about three-eighths of an inch thick.

Library Director To Appear In TV Film

Ralph E. McGee, library director, will be among a group of people who will make a kinescope film to be used as a 30-minute television program.

The filming will be done in Urbana, and produced by the University of Illinois Library School. It will be a discussion program.

The group will talk about the use of federal funds for general library service in Illinois, and a proposal to set up a regional library service in Southern Illinois. This service would be in the form of a book collection to "supplement existing libraries," according to McGee.

McGee is president of the Illinois Librarians Association.

'Romeo And Juliet' Successful Reporter Ray Reviews Rome's Reactions

By Ray Strat

The Southern Players will add their production of "Romeo and Juliet" to their list of "well-done" performances, as they prepare to present the final three performances tonight and tomorrow.

The play opened last Monday night to a near-capacity crowd. Tonight and Saturday night the play will begin at 8:00 p. m., and there will be a matinee tomorrow afternoon beginning at 2 p. m.

Dr. Archibald McLeod, professor of speech at SHU, is directing the Shakespearean tragedy. Dr. McLeod moves the play fast and the audience never loses interest in the drama.

On Monday night the audience was made up mainly of high school students from Carterville and Mount Lebanon. Their reaction to most of the love scenes was immature and at times it was difficult to hear the characters because of adolescent laughter. However on Tuesday night the cast held the audience undivided attention. It would seem fair to the cast and others who spend hours of preparation to provide a first-night audience of more discrimination.

Louise Ritter, a graduate student, directed the Monday performance as Juliet. She is alternating with Jane Herr, Warrenburg junior.

Both girls played their part superbly to a rapt and spellbound house. There is only one real difference between the two, and this is in voice. At times Louise spoke more intelligently and with more professional quality. They also gave Juliet authenticity with their flowing hair.

William Mall portrayed Romeo with vigor and handsome vitality in the male lead. Perhaps he slightly overplayed his part in opening night.

Jim Merkle in the colorful role of Mercutio and Tom Sill in the role of Tybalt.

Birth Of A Nation To Show Sunday

"Birth of a Nation," the first feature length production in the U. S., is the next presentation of the Southern Film Society Sunday, Feb. 17, at 2 and 8:30 p. m. in the Liberty Auditorium.

The film has been secured from a different source so as to permit attendance by high single admission and season ticket. In addition this film has a sound track of the original musical score.

The story of "Birth of a Nation" is that of the Civil War and the Reconstruction Period. Reviews of the film say, "Historical events such as Sherman's march to the sea, the burning of Atlanta and the assassination of Lincoln, are presented with painstaking care; it is marred, however, by stereotypes of negro characters that are in grotesquely bad taste, though typical of early films."

"Birth of a Nation" has been the subject of a constant controversy since its original presentation in 1915. Historical exaggerations of the Ku Klux Klan have caused many groups to protest its showing to the general public.

The society point out that "Birth of a Nation" is offered here for its historical importance to the cinema, not for its philosophies.

Wesley Crusade Now Over $42,000

The total amount collected in pledges for the Wesley Foundation Building Crusade is $42,784.45. The amount pledged by the Methodist students on SHU's campus. The goal for the student part of the campaign is $7,500.

"We feel that this is a wonderful job done by students on this campus. It shows that they are willing to do part of the work in securing the facilities to carry on the Methodist student work on the campus through the Wesley Foundation," the Wesley Foundation's council reported.

HUH!!!

"No, I don't want any Sunday night classes." This protest statement must be made now by students registering because of a new university policy which says that all students must take other night classes or Saturday classes unless there are circumstances which prevent it. The helpless-looking student being "sectioned" is Don Haren-mehl.

'Blackboard Jungle' Tonight At U. School

"Blackboard Jungle," starring Glenn Ford, Anne Francis, and Louis Calhern, will be shown tonight in the University School auditorium at 6:30 and 8:30 p. m.

The movie, based on a best-selling book and magazine story, is about the experiences of a young teacher who finds himself terrified when his school is turned into a blackboard jungle. Glenn Ford's performance in this movie placed him among top stars in the music polls.

Admission for the movie will be 75 cents for non-students and 20 cents for University students with activity tickets.

NEW ROTC PLANE

The AFROTC traded in old wings for a new pair last week, when the airplane they had been using was sent in for repairs.

The new plane is being flown in from Ithaca, New York, and will be used for administrative purposes and orientation flights for cadets. The new L-17, a four-place liaison plane, is the same model as the old plane but in much better condition.

BOTANY FIELD TRIP

Dr. Margaret Kaetzer, associate professor of the botany department, will conduct a field trip to the Botanical Gardens in St. Louis, Monday, Feb. 25.

Students from Botany 202, second course in General Botany, will accompany her on the trip. Their purpose is to study various groups of the plant kingdom that aren't ordinarily found in this area.

The group will leave here by bus about 6 a. m. and return later in the evening.

Members of the Biology 470 class (Methods in Biology) will plan the tour.

Clings to the road like a stripe of paint!

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that, too—up to 245 h.p.*

Come in and take a turn at the wheel of a new Chevrolet.
