Operating Budget Cut Nearly 3 Million

SIU's operating budget request for the 1957-58 biennium has been slashed to $22,902,139—$2,942,000 less than the university had requested.

Gov. William G. Stronach and the State Budgetary Commission allowed by Sen. Joseph R. Petes, have advised SIU President Delyte W. Morris that the cut must be made.

President Morris appeared before the Senate Tuesday morning in connection with a bonding bill proposed by Stronach which would bring approximately $41 million to SIU in the next few years. If passed, the bill would be to approved by voters in the state. The money would be used for new buildings.

Dr. George H. Hand, SIU Vice President, said Tuesday that no report concerning the capital improvements budget had been received.

The new budget would provide $2,000,000 for salary adjustments and an increase of $309,200 for development of research centers in the Madison-St. Clair County area.

It would be a $8,224,713 increase over the operating expenses of $14,677,426 voted by the legislature for the current biennium. However, a recently approved $400,000 deficiency appropriation supplements funds budgeted for 1955-57 to sustain Southern until July 1.

Largest single item in the budget proposed by the governor is $16,085,243 for personal services up from $10,882,243 allowed for the biennium which will end June 30. The $16,085,243 includes $200,000 from the SIU income fund and represents more than 70 per cent of the total operation budget.

To meet the cost of Southern's rapid growth, the new budget would provide $1,442,868 for anticipated enrollment increases during the next two years; $899,219 to correct inadequacies in appropriations for post enrollment increases, and $500,000 in new funds for rehabilitation and reconstruction of old buildings—a total of $2,642,087. The University had requested $3,846,400 for these purposes.

Also included in the governor's recommendation are appropriations of $300,000 to provide a backlog of books for the new SIU library and $170,000 to put the new Agriculture Building and other new structures into operation.

For improving educational offerings, the new budget would allocate $1,396,844 for increasing effectiveness of existing programs, and $299,480 for new programs and major extensions of present programs.

The governor will recommend to the legislature an appropriation increase of more than $1,000,000 to be earmarked for continuance of current University operations. A breakdown shows $800,000 to continue for two more years budget increases required during 1955-57; $100,000 for placing previous temporary appropriations on a permanent basis, and $108,000 for placing on a permanent basis projects now supported temporarily by outside grants.

MODERN DANCE

The Henry Street Playhouse Company, foremost modern dance group, will present the Henry Street dance-satire, "The Bewitched," in an appearance during the SIU Festival of Fine Arts Monday. The group will dance to the music of such unusual instruments as bows, a giant marimba, metal tubes, and a reed organ with a continuous, 43-note scale. The dance company will appear at 8:15 p. m. in Shroyck Auditorium.

Add 2 More Firsts

Debaters Win Berth In National Tourney

Two more firsts were added to their string by Southern's top debate team, Richard Riecke and Joe Selement, during Spring vacation.

SIU won their first championship in the 22-year history of the Illinois State Debate Tournament on March 16. The teams of Selement and Riecke and Peter Morris and Ted Foster were awarded duplicate championship trophies at the

Sinroll Trial Set For April 29

An SIU murder trial is scheduled for April 29 in Jackson County Circuit Court in Mackinac.

Fred Sinroll is charged with the fatal shooting of Robert Butera, 19, a varsity football player for SIU, on Dec. 12, 1956.

Sinroll is free on $15,000 bond. Butera, of Danvers, Mass., was Sinroll's roommate.

The April term is scheduled to open April 8, with Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds presiding.

Something New Has Been Added

You may have noticed ... the Egyptian has a new nameplate. In the journalistic trade, they call it a "flag."

Our new flag is set in a typeface called Pericles, which type designers classify as an "Egyptian face."

What could be more appropriate for the Egyptian's flag?

COMMERCE CLUB

Carl A. Nagel, of the Alton Board Company, will speak for the National Association of Manufacturers to SIU Commerce Club members at 7 p. m. Tuesday in the University School Studio Theater.

Nagel will talk on "Completion and Opportunity."

An accountant by profession, he is director of the management company, and former budget director.

He is president of the St. Louis Area Chapter of the National Society of Business Budgeting and serves as a national director of the national organization.

As part of the site preparation program, SIU is once again shuffling the plant life on the campus. These shrubs are tournament held at Navy Pier in Chicago.

Selement and Riecke tied for top honors in the District regional tournament and qualified for the eleventh annual West Point debate tournament April 24-27. The SIU team tied with Augustana College with six wins and no losses in the regional meet held at Purdue University March 23. Other teams qualifying for the national meet at Purdue besides SIU and Augustana were: DePauw, University of Illinois, and Notre Dame University.

At the state meet, Riecke was named the tournament's outstanding debater, an honor he has won for three consecutive years. Ted Foster was named the third best debater and Selement the fifth place award in the men's division. In the women's division, Marsha Wiehn was named the second best debater. The team of Selement and Riecke defeated Bradley, Northern Illinois, North Central College, Augustana, and Wheaton, losing only to the University of Illinois in the state meet. Foster and Morris defeated Shurtleff, University of Illinois, Northern Illinois, Northwestern, and Wheaton, losing only to Greenville.

In the women's division of the state tournament, the team of Marsha Wiehn and Regina Miller placed third with four wins and two losses. The three SIU teams compiled a total record of 14 wins and 4 losses in the tournament.

Riecke and Selement will represent SIU on all of the 32 teams from all over the nation entered in the West Point meet.

The defeated teams from Ohio State University, University of Ohio, DePauw University, Purdue University, Butler University, and Western Michigan University to qualify for the national meet.

In winning six of the seven debate tournaments they have entered this year, Selement and Riecke have won 49 debates and lost 7. They have won championship trophies at Northwestern University, Winfield, Kansas; Jackson, Mississippi; Emporia, Kansas; and the Illinois State Tournament.

A traveling trophy will be awarded to the winner of the national meet at the United States Military Academy. The Cadets are the defending champions in the national tournament.

Eyeseore Succumbs Dilapidated Dairy Barn Being Wrecked

SIU's dilapidated dairy barn is finally succumbing to campus expansion.

Adjacent to McAndrew Stadium, the barn has been an eyesore in the shadow of new campus buildings and a source of somewhat undesirable odor — particularly in warm weather.

In use since the University acquired the Simon place of 110 acres 45 years ago as its first experimental farm, the old barn and the tile silo are going down under the wreckers' crowbars.

The barn was once part of a neat farmstead and something of a showplace for visiting farmers of the area and for agriculture students at Southern. Its companion farm home was wrecked two years ago to make way for a parking lot.

Although ancient and far from a model for modern dairy teaching and herd management, the old dairy center was one of the area's first to be adapted to the production of grade A milk in 1900.

Trying to become oriented in Southern's new Dairy Teaching Center one mile west of the campus is the dairy herd of 12 Jersey, 20 Guernseys, and 19 Holsteins moved from the old barn under

Student Fees Increase $16 Fall Quarter

Illinois students attending SIU next fall will face a $16 increase per quarter in tuition and fees.

This is an increase of 48-8 annually. At the same time, out-of-state students will pay an additional $100 a year.

The increase was voted by the Board of Trustees in their March meeting. The board decided to add $15 to quarterly tuition and fee assessments, while SIU students themselves voted last year to levy an additional $1 per term charge for the Student Union Building Fund.

The board action and the Student Union assessment will raise total costs to each Illinois student from $112.50 to $160.50 for the school year, and to out-of-state students from $202.50 to $305.50.

Board Chairman John Page Wharm said the increases were in line with overall policy to increase state fees in general.

Ag Research Center Gets New Director

SIU's Board of Trustees recently named David R. Browning as superintendent of the Cooperative Agronomy Research Center here.

Browning was formerly superintendent of the University of West Virginia Ohio Valley Experiment Station in Point Pleasant, W. Va. He will replace Edward Sullivan, who resigned last September to accept a research position at Pennsylvania State University.

The center, operated jointly with the University of Illinois, carries on extensive research programs testing gain and forage crop varieties and management, soil fertility programs, and chemical weed control.

Edward Lindsay Named Elijah Lovejoy Lecturer in Journalism

Edward E. Lindsay, editor of Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers, and publisher of the Southern Illinoisan, has been named an Elijah P. Lovejoy lecturer in Journalism April 9-11 at SIU.

Lindsay is also president of the American Council on Education for Journalism.

He will speak at the 10 a. m. freshman convocation April 11 in Shroyck Auditorium after visiting journalism classes and meeting informally with students at coffee sessions.

175 Rural Youths Attend Conference

Approximately 175 rural young adults, between the ages of sixteen and thirty, participated in the Illinois Farm Bureau young people's leadership training conference on the SIU campus during spring vacation.

12 Students Initiated Into Phi Delta Kappa

Twelve SIU students were initiated into Southern's chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, professional fraternity for men in education, early in March.

Six other persons, area educators, were also initiated.

2nd Annual Fine Arts Festival Opens Sunday

"An opportunity to see the finest" will be before SIU students for the next 16 days during the second annual SIU Festival of Fine Arts.

The Festival, which will run from March 31 until April 15, will feature top artists from the United States and abroad.

The Festival will begin officially at 3:30 p. m. March 31 with an opening address by Burnett Shroyck, dean of the school of Fine Arts, and SIU President Delyte W. Morris, preceding a vesper program in Shroyck Auditorium.

Trustees Approve 7 Appointments To Staff

Seven appointments to the staff of SIU were approved at a meeting of the University Board of Trustees recently.

Frederick E. List, former director of Public Relations at Shurt College was appointed to the staff of the Community Development Department. List has also served as editor and public relations representative for the Shell Oil Company.

As SIU graduate, Albert B. Milfin, was appointed as sales manager and assistant supervisor in the University Press. Milfin is presently employed with the Missouri Printing and Stationery Company of Cape Girardeau and formerly worked as a commercial artist and as an engineering aide with the Illinois Division of Highways.

The board also employed R. Stanley Gex, head of the department of education and psychology at Eastern Michigan College, for the summer session. Gex will direct a community resources workshop and serve as a lecturer in guidance.

Ronald H. Meyer of the Illinois Natural History Survey was named adjunct professor in the department of plant industry. Adjunct professor, one who will serve the University without pay.

Three public school teachers were approved for part-time teaching positions: Denver L. Dunn, Golconda Grade School, will serve as lecturer in arts and crafts and formerly worked as a commercial artist and as an engineering aide with the Illinois Division of Highways.

The board also employed R.

A New Team, a New Game

With this issue of The Egyptian, a new team has been entered into the lineup.

Some of us are experienced in the journalistic world; for some, it's their first year. We've made a few changes already, plan to make a few more. We'll experiment for a while, feel our way, until we find what seems to us to be right.

Before the game gets fully underway and while our date is still clean, here are some of the rules we plan to follow.

We believe the campus newspaper is a valuable part of university life.

In our editorial columns, we will endeavor to interpret policies and actions of the administration and student governing organizations as we see them. We won't pull any punches.

We plan to say what we think, and invite you to say what you think in the form of letters to the editor.

We will not turn our heads from what some people would call "ugly" stories. We will print the news, and comment quite frequently on it.

We are under no obligation to any political parties on campus, be they Greek, Independent, or what have you.

If you have any gripes about the way we're running this game, you're welcome to air them.

Well, there it is. We'll probably have a few fouls called on us. . . . But we're determined not to foul out.

"Nuff said. . . let's get the game underway."

Across the Desk

By Bill Eppenhofer

Thumbing through the exchange . . .

This fable comes from the pages of The Corrector, a monthly paper printed by the inmates of the Chicago House of Correction . . .

"Once upon a time there were 12 little moles, all of which were very big, and spent many hours with their ducktails. One night they were all standing on the corner twirling their mustaches, and talking jabberwocky when one of them spied a cool, cool tomboone discharged by a constipative lip splitter lying in the debris.

It was decided by one and all to form a real game combo that would bring the rafters down, and set the slick chicks up. Pretty soon all of the cats from round and round started building their nests, and storing their nuts just to come listen to this crazy aggregation. The lowest of the low and the highest of the high, they played, until one day after day, more and more cool ones stopped working and came to listen.

Then one day because the beavers weren't cutting, the chipmunk stopped drilling, and moles quit burrowing, the mountain grew top heavy. Like all things that get too big for their supporters, it tumbled, and even the moles couldn't dig themselves out.

MORAL: To Make A Mountain Out of A Molehill Can Be Disastrous, Even To A Mole."

Seems that Bermuda shorts are causing quite a bit of comment from both students and administrators at various colleges and universities throughout the U. S.

An article in the Technology News from the Illinois Institute of Technology tells of the banning at Adelphi college of not only Bermudas, but for the women) corset-pants, shorts, slacks, pedal pushers, or jeans, and (for the men) J, T-shirts, athletic sweaters, or Bermudas.

This edict was handed down by the Adelphi administration because they are instituting a new "development program" intended to improve the college in general and to aid its expansion.

Wow! Talk about totalitarianism!

At Northern Illinois the problem doesn't seem to be as serious, but one columnist for the Northern Star is pleading for the men to please wear knee socks and sport shoes with their Bermudas.

At Southern, the campus cuties have been wearing their Bermudas all year, but SIU's answer to the Playboy and the Escapade will probably don their's soon.

A sure sign of spring is the opening of the various drive-ins on the outskirts of Carbondale.

Sign seen in a downtown grocery store: "Get them while they last—Sunkist Navel!" (Does this mean that Bikinis are really coming back?)

With the coming of the first warm breezes, we offer these Warm weather Divisions for the idle:

1. Indoor recreation: For coffee, drinking practice and brownie points, try the faculty-student coffee hours in the Student Union.

2. Humor: Talk to the head of your department about your chances of graduating. If you don't get a laugh, he will.

3. House Parties—With booze and girls for those with apartments, with caution for dorm residents.

4. Studying: This will make you a winner in the Mid-terms, a favorite springtime game.

Enough for a start.

Applications are Available Now For Foreign Study Scholarships

Applications are now available for Marshall scholarships in the office of Dr. Ervin Stasek, co-ordinator of student financial assistance.

The scholarships, which are on a reciprocal plan were established in the United Kingdom along the idea of the Marshall Plan.

They entitle men and women to graduate students the right to study in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. The scholarships are for two years of graduate work and the possibility of a third year.

To qualify the applicants must be under the age of 28 the year that the scholarship is awarded and study begins.

A quote from a British Information Service release states that "the awards are an expression of the United Kingdom's gratitude for the generous and far-sighted program for European recovery under the Marshall Plan."

Applications for the school year 1958-59 must be received not later than Oct. 31, 1957.

Any questions concerning the scholarships should be taken to the Marshall Plan.

OFF TO PERU These two SIU co-eds are on the way to Peru to study at the University there under scholarship programs. They are: Marge Kloeker, left, sophomore Spanish major from Germantown; and Betty Seip, Thebes, graduate student, who has been teaching at Carrollton, Ill., the past six months and the two previous years at Bush, Ill.

SIU Prof Was Article Published in Textbook

An article "Indoctrination vs. Education", by Willis Moore, SIU philosophy professor, has been used in a recently published sociology of education college textbook.

Moore's article was published in the book "Education and the Social Order", by Blaine E. Mercey and Edwin A. Carr. The piece was originally written by Moore for the American Association of University Professors' Bulletin.

In the nine-page article, the SIU philosophy professor rejects the notion that children should be indoctrinated for democracy. He says that we should educate our children about democracy, but not treat them like they would be treated under a Hitler-like regime.

Open Letter to Walter Murrish

We noted with interest that your top debate team, Joe Selment and Dick Rieke, have been selected to compete in the West Point National Debate Tournament and started checking on it. As we understand it, the 32 teams qualified to compete at West Point are the best collegiate teams in the nation.

One fellow we asked about the tournament put it this way, "It's like being invited to send your basketball team to the National Invitational Tournament. . . . You have to be darn good to get there."

Selment and Rieke have proven to us that they're good enough. We are extremely proud of their record at the Regional meet at Purdue last weekend. . . . any team that can win six straight from such formidable opponents as DePaul and Ohio State is a good one.

Coch, you've had quite a season. . . . you had two teams tied for the best in the Illinois State College Debate Tournament, and the women's team placed third in their division.

Seems to us that your job is pretty shakable. It would be a unique student or faculty member indeed who didn't know how the basketball or football team made out in their last game, but probably not one in 10 know what the debate team did.

If the Salukis had been invited to the NIT Basketball Tournament, Coach Holder would be a real hero on this campus. We can't remember seeing you carried on anyone's shoulders, or any student group congratulating you and your squad.

We know you get a rich reward in seeing your boys and girls do so well and in knowing that you have done a good job; but we feel that you deserve more than that.

For what it's worth, we at the Egyptian would like to be one of the first to congratulate you and your squad for the fine job you've done.

Southern Eagles Flying Club Plans Spring Quarter Activities

The Southern Eagles Flying Club will hold its first spring quarter meeting April 2 at 7 p. m. in Whiskey Hall.

"We hope to be able to fly more this quarter than last," said Robert Price, president of the club, in a newsletter sent to the 125 members.

A rebuilding program is on tap for the club to enable them to add in more members and increase their activities.

The club enables an aspiring pilot to obtain his private license for approximately $350.

"This is as cheap or cheaper than anywhere else in the state," said Capt. Charles E. Conellus, family adviser to the group. The student pilot must fly at least eight hours with one of the instructors at a cost of $11.50 per hour. About 25 hours of solo flying are required for a cost of $6.60 per hour. This combined with the $10 required to join the club makes up the $350.

The most active student member in the club last quarter was David McFee who flew 16 hours, 30 minutes. The most active faculty flying member was Dr. Jean Boatright who flew a total of 18 hours, 10 minutes.

Movies will be shown and the progress of the club will be discussed at the meeting.

Health Service Secretary Meets Mr. Sideburns

By Gary Heaps

Last weekend Carole Eaton, secretary at the SIU Health Service, and a group of friends drove down to Memphis, Tenn. to an all night gospel singing convention featuring the Blackwood brothers and the Statesmen quartet.

It all started like many other such nights during the past three years since Carole and her friends have been traversing the country-side to the all night singing conventions featuring their favorite gospel singers.

As the car sped toward Memphis, little did Carole know that she was just a few hours from what she called the "most exciting time in my whole life".

"The group of women arrived in Memphis, got a hotel room and prepared to explore the city. Where upon, they met a member of the Statesmen quartet who is personal friend of Carole's.

The man told them to come with him to a good friend of his who lived in a very prominent section of Memphis. They drove through the city and pulled up in front of a beautiful mansion, and rang the doorbell. Who should answer the bell but... the friend's father.

receive calls. They were consoled by the fact that they would be able to meet the young man at the singing that night.

The girl waited breathlessly and finally the time came to meet the guy.

Again the man performing the introduction was the member of the Statesmen Quartet.

"I was so confused and excited as he brought Elvis over to introduce him to me," said Carole.

Sure enough Elvis Presley, Mr. Sideburns himself, was being introduced to her. To further make the secretary useless to her employer for the next month, Elvis asked her to accompany him and two more friends to what Carole described as a "Private Club".

"There were only about 15 of Elvis' friends there," said Carole. "He drank only cokes and was one of the best mannered boys I have ever seen," said the attractive secretary, with a dreamy look in her eyes.

"After leaving the club the four of us went to his home and cooked ham and eggs," she said, "and that's about it."

(Except that the car in which they came back wasn't a car & it was cloud nine.)

Jane Herr Heads Angel Flight

Jane Herr, junior speech major at SIU, has been elected as the new Flight Commander for the AFROTC Angel Flight. The position carries with it the title of honorary Colonel.

Mrs Herr was chosen by members of the Angel Flight along with seven other flight officers, who other officers and their positions are as follows: Operations Officer, Joan Pratte; Adjutant Recorder, Jeanette Foster; Comptroller, Carole Chambers; Information Officer, Joan Bramlett; Angelceter, Bobbie Jones; Angelaires, Marie Hofffield and Barbara Absher.

Retiring officers from the past year are Joyce Hastings, Flight Commander; Mary Jane Chaney, Judy Rose, and Linda Adams.

Professor of the business administration, will be in charge of the meeting.

Journalism Prof Named Head Of Student Christian Foundation

D. Wayne Rowland, assistant professor of journalism, has been appointed acting director of the Student Christian Foundation. He will serve this summer until a permanent director is appointed.

Rowland will replace the Rev. Donald B. Johnson, who resigned recently to accept a pastorate at the Community Church in Carmel Valley, Calif. Reverend Johnson will be the church's first full-time pastor. The church is not affiliated with any denomination.

Rowland will assume his duties after Rev. Johnson leaves early next month, according to an announcement by the Rev. Charles Howe, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Carbondale, and chairman of the Foundation's executive committee.

Rev. Johnson, during his four and one-half years as director, has expanded the Foundation's program for students to include Sunday evening supper club. The present Foundation building on Illinois Avenue provides an upstairs dining room for Christian men attending the University, including some foreign students.

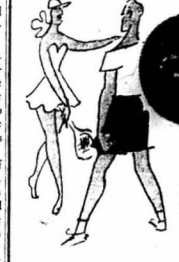

Geology Club Plans Field Trip in April

The Geology Club will sponsor a field trip April 27. The trip will be along the bluffs of the Mississippi River near Campbell Hill and Chester.

Cost for the field trip will be $2.50 for club members and $3.00 for non-members. This field trip is required for students taking Geology 410.

Dr. Donald N. Boydston, Chairman of the SIU Health Education Department, spoke Friday night to the Pope County Teachers Institute at Coltona High School. His subject was "Public Schools Answer their Critics."

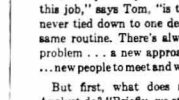

Dr. Elizabeth Greenleaf, co-ordinator of the SIU Student Activities Center, will be recorder for the annual convention of the National Association of Women Deans, and Counselors March 28-April 1 in San Francisco.

"What's it like to be A SYSTEMS ANALYST AT IBM?"

Two years ago, college senior Thomas Wheeler asked himself this question. Today, a Systems Analyst in IBM's Data Processing Division, Tom reviews his experience and gives some pointers that may be helpful to you in taking the first, most important step in your business career.

Why Tom chose IBM
How does a senior like Tom, who was interviewed by at least twenty companies while in college, select his future employer? "In my case," Tom says, "the choice was easy. IBM offered the best opportunities. I knew IBM sales were about doubling every five years—and when I considered the tremendous growth potential of the electronic computer field—I had no trouble making up my mind."

"Besides, I was impressed by the caliber of IBM personnel. They had a broader outlook and an approach to problems in inventory control. The new system will achieve balanced supply and demand of material throughout the entire U.S.—will save money for the Government—and relieve many men from the drudgery of details."

For the past six months, Tom has been working with the Statistical Services Division of Headquarters Air Research & Development Command. "We are designing and implementing a system to link eleven reporting centers to Headquarters by wire transmission," Tom reports. "Data transmitted to Headquarters by this system will be coordinated and then processed by an IBM 650 Automatic Computer."

Explaining IBM's 705 electronic computer
"My job there," he explains, "was to analyze the application of IBM's latest electronic computer—the 705—to regulate the flow of materials and machines used to fill Government contracts."

Diversified Assignments
A leading aircraft company was Tom's first major assignment. "My job there," he explains, "was to analyze the application of IBM's latest electronic computer—the 705—to regulate the flow of materials and machines used to fill Government contracts."

Then came a short, but highly satisfying assignment. At the Bellwood Quartermaster Corps, Tom set up a "SOAP" system (System for Optimum Automatic Programming) de-

Physics Lecture Scheduled at U. Auditorium

A physics lecture, aimed at the general SIU student, will be presented by the noted physicist, Dr. Edward U. Condon, Monday at 10 a. m. in the University School Auditorium.

"Research on the structure and properties of glass," will be the topic discussed by Condon. He will show a half-hour movie to the audience before using the final portion of his hour for lecturing on current research problems in the world of glass.

"This will be a talk that can be appreciated by the layman," said Dr. Charles I. Benefield, chairman of the SIU physics department. "The lecture will not be one of specialized terms, but one of a semi-popular nature."

Condon is currently the chairman of the physics department at Washington University in St. Louis. Before joining the Washington staff, he had a full background in the field of science.

Studied With Sommerfeld
He received his Ph. D. from the University of California in 1926, before going abroad to study in Germany, where he remained until 1945.

Condon joined the Corning Glass Works in 1951, where he worked until 1955. He was also director for the U.S. National Bureau of Standards. He was president of the American Physical Society 1946, and served as president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1953.

The lecture will be open to all SIU students, and the admission will be free.

MAIA HEAD

Roswell D. Merrick, assistant dean of the College of Education, was announced this week as the new president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. The NAIA is composed of more than 450 colleges and universities ranging in enrollment from 200 to 12,000. Before coming to SIU in 1953, Dr. Merrick taught and coached at the Teachers College of Connecticut for seven years.

Pistols, revolvers or other firearms which can be concealed on the person are not permitted in U. S. Mails.

SIU Wins 2nd In NAA Swim Meet

E. Carolina Nips Southern 54-50

Eastern Carolina nosed out the SIU swimmers last Saturday, 54-50, to win the first annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics swimming meet.

Only six teams entered the first NAA meet, which was held at the Southern Illinois University pool. Central Michigan, which had won 32 consecutive swim meets, was favored to cop this one, tailed to appear.

Four pool records were established, and all of the times were recorded as new records, since the meet was the first held by the NAA. Following SIU on the points were Ball State Teachers College, 31 points; Western Ill., 20 points; Beloit, 16 points; and the Illinois Wesleyan, 12 points.

Two Firsts For SIU

Southern capped two first place medals in the meet, as Roger Gounis won the one-meter diving event, and the combination of Joe Barry, Tom Harris, Bob Schulhof, and Wib Stoeber won the 400-yard free-style relay.

Other top point-getters for SIU were Dave Burkhalter, Bruce Coleman, Terry Luckman, and Wib Stoeber, who took second place in the 400-yard medley relay.

Bruce Coleman also came in a close second to his teammate Countin in the one-meter diving event. Joe Barry took seconds in the 220-yard freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle. Another SIU second place was recorded by Laurie Bangman in the 200-yard butterfly competition.

Southern's team strength was hampered considerably when John Huber received a serious cut on his leg during practice the night before the meet. Doctors treated Huber with 80 stitches to close the wound.

The new champs, Eastern Carolina College of Greenville, N. C., set two of the four new records. Its 400-yard medley relay team set a mark of 4:21.2, and Bob Staver eclipsed his own record with a time of 3:22.7 in the 200-yard backstroke.

Three To NCAA

Divers Roger Gounis and Bruce Coleman, who have never lost except to each other in three years of dual competition, along with Captain Joe Barry, will be entered in the NCAA national finals this week. The three-day meet begins in Annapolis, Md. Thursday. Bill Heusser, SIU swimming coach, will make the trip with his three athletes.

SIU was favored to cop the meet, which will attract an estimated 100 schools.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

In its three-year swimming history, SIU has never lost a diving event, thanks to these two, Roger Gounis, left, and Bruce Coleman. These two seniors are competing in the NCAA national diving finals in Annapolis, Md. today.

HATS OFF TO HERRIN

Southern Illinois basketball fans can be rightfully proud of the Herin Tigers, the new high school basketball champions of Illinois.

For the first time since Mr. Vernon (with Southern's Larry Whitlock on the starting five) turned the trick in 1954, the coveted gold trophy has been awarded to a school from down south. The Tiger victory brought the crown to Little Egypt for the fifth time in the past 10 years. Pinckneyville won in 1948, followed by the powerful Mt. Vernon Rams, with Max Hooper and Walt Moore (now with Western Ill.) in 1949 and 1950.

Nothing was cheap about the Herin state championship, as they bowled over three of the state's greatest, Pinckneyville, Elgin, and Collinsville, in their path to the title.

They won because they played the game of basketball like it was invented to be played... as a team game.

Herrin is quite proud of messrs. Box, Tidwell, Gaudoin, Jefferson, and Williams, just as all of Southern Illinois is proud of them.

Hats off to Herrin and a job well done.

The state championship trophy that now rests in Herrin may cost SIU a bright college career prospect. It's no secret that Southern coaches would like to see John Tidwell playing in a Saluki uniform next season. The 6'4 center, was named to the Illinois first team all-state, as well as receiving All-American recognition.

But it's also no secret that the state finals in Champaign were loaded with big-time college basketball scouts and coaches, ready to offer Mr. Tidwell a free education, plus the kitchen sink. Southern cannot compete with this high-powered recruiting under the present IIAAC and University rulings, and whether Tidwell wishes to attend SIU is still another question.

Before a television audience last week, he said he hoped to major in engineering. Southern offers no such degree at present.

COLLEGE CINDERELLA

Several weeks ago, another basketball team entered a tournament. This was a college team, however, entering the NAA playoffs in Kansas City.

The team was Eastern Illinois State, who tied with SIU and two other teams for the cellar in the IIAAC cage nest with a 5-7 mark. After finishing their regulation season, a mediocre one even in optimistic eyes, the lads from Charleston hung up their shoes and packed away their uniforms.

We feel that at that time Eastern became not only a show-up in a basketball team, but a unit of a large team of players and fans working together for a common cause. This is the goal which we feel proudest in having men participate in achieving.

It is a wonderful feeling to win an important basketball game, but it is an even more wonderful feeling to know that we are not, in any real part from the school, but a very real part of an overall spirit of cooperation that will last long after these games are history.

It is for this reason that to you the fans, we extend our sincere thanks. The Coach and Players

One-Run Jinx Strikes Baseballers In South

With the official baseball season still ahead of Glenn "Abie" Martin's baseball team, they have already adopted the "one-run" grin for a mascot.

In the spring exhibition encounters in Louisiana, the Salukis dropped three consecutive one-run decisions. They lost their opener 6-5, the next 8-7, and the third one 1-0.

Southwest Louisiana Institute, of Lafayette, took the SIU initiative, of first two losses. In the opener, with Captain Gordon Lambert on the mound, Southwestern broke the 5-5 tie in the ninth with only one hit. A hit batsman, a walk, and a sharp single to center brought home the winning run.

Avers started the opener for Southern, and allowed only three hits in five innings. Lambert, who also gave up only three safes, finished the game and received the loss.

In the second game, starting pitcher Don Gibbs was knocked after five innings, allowing six runs before retiring. Billy Henderson relieved Gibbs and allowed the final three hits. Ken Monechkin, Saluki second baseman, gathered four singles in five trips to the plate, but Southern's seventh inning rally fell short of the mark by one run.

11 Men Stranded

Southern saw plenty of base runners in their third game, against Northwestern Louisiana Monday, but could not dent the plate. They left 11 men stranded while dropping a 1-0 decision. The winners scored on three walks and a sacrifice fly in the third inning.

Monechkin again paced the SIU lineup, as he collected three for four, bringing his three-game total to seven base knocks in nine trips to the plate.

Roger McKnight, Gerald Thomas, and John Gilmore shared mound duties for the Martintenn.

The SIU nine had six games remaining in the South, before returning to the Southern Campus. Southern's home schedule this year is one of its biggest and best in its history, with 16 tilts from the 24 game card being played on their home diamond.

Their opener will be next Friday, April 5, when they will host St. Louis University. On Saturday, April 6, they will tangle with the University of Illinois in a double-

NCAA FINALISTS TODAY

SIU Bowling Team Wins National Meet

A bowling team composed of SIU students has won the third annual Intercollegiate Bowling Tournament held at Detroit (March 9). Over 50 teams competed in the meet, which was sponsored by Detroit University.

Jack Morgan was high bowler and was named all-events champion with a three-game total of 613. Other team members, sponsored by the SIU student union, were Eldon Klein, Edmund Langen, Stephen Fessler, Wallace Reese, and John Meekles.

Jayvee Cagers Posted 10-3 Season's Record

Coach Jim Sells' Junior Varsity basketball team ran up an impressive 10-3 record during the past season, ending the year with six straight wins.

SIU averaged 78 points per game, compared to 68 for their opponents.

Don Curry, 6-4 forward, led the team with a 13.9 average, followed by Gene Sams, 72.8, 5'4 m; Duane, 12.5; Joe Gonzalez, 10.1; Allen Hill, 9.5; Ted Werner, 8.5; Dick Ruggles, 6.3; and Don McGehee, 6.1.
