Both Rights Factions See Vote as Victory

WASHINGTON--Results of Tuesday's primary elections provided ammunition Wednesday for political exchanges on the Senate floor over the long-debated civil rights bill.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., supporters of the bill, contended that what they called the "2 to 1 defeat" of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in the Indiana Democratic presidential primary was a clear mandate for Senate passage of the bill.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., floor manager for Southern opponents of the measure, retorted that the Wallace showing was "a truly astounding vote. There is no way to devastate that fact."

It was the 49th day of the marathon debate on the bill.

Wallace Gets 30 Per Cent of Indiana Vote

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama claimed a victory for his states' rights cause but Democratic Gov. Matthew F. Welsh held the field for President Johnson in Indiana's presidential primary Tuesday.

In other state primaries, voters proved how much they like a famous name.

Robert Taft Jr., of Ohio, made his first move toward taking over the Senate seat held by his late father, the "Mr. Republican" of his party. Taft won the GOP nomination handily.

Also in Ohio, Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. ran well in a race from which he had withdrawn. The winner was incumbent Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, who collected nearly two-thirds of the votes.

Former football coach Bud Wilkinson was an easy winner in the GOP senatorial primary in Oklahoma.

Sen. Barry Goldwater picked up Indiana's 32 convention votes in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater had been expected to breeze in, but Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, got about a fourth of the votes.

Wallace, who made his Indiana campaign a crusade against President Johnson's civil rights bill, piled up a big protest vote.

With 4,240 of 4,416 precincts counted, Welsh had captured 355,632 votes to 165,437 for Wallace.

This gave the Alabamagovernor 29.6 per cent of the Indiana Democratic turnout and 17.6 per cent of the total vote.

Goldwater polled 227,703 votes and Stassen had 91,119 in incomplete returns. Thus Goldwater had 67.1 per cent of the vote.

WASHINGTON--In a dramatic tie 45-45 vote, the Senate Wednesday rejected a jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill that was opposed by the Johnson administration and leaders of both parties.

State Constitution Revision Is Urged

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. -- The Illinois Association of County Officials adopted a resolution Wednesday urging that a constitutional convention be called to streamline the state's nearly 100-year-old Constitution.

75 Nations Speak in Favor Of Broad Slashes in Tariffs

GENEVA--The drive started by the late President John F. Kennedy to lower world trade barriers was given a ringing endorsement Wednesday by officials speaking for 75 nations at the Kennedy round of tariff talks.

Without dissent, they endorsed an agreement by the world's trading giants--the United States, Britain and the Common Market--to set a goal of a 50 per cent cut in tariffs across the board.

France objected to a U.S. attempt to make the sharp cut the official aim of the negotiations, and so the 50 per cent figure remains only a goal.

Talks were opened Monday by nations belonging to the

Flights Over Cuba Will Be Continued

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday the United States will continue to fly aerial reconnaissance missions over Cuba whether or not the Soviets turn over to Cuba the anti-aircraft missile batteries they installed.

General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade-GATT.

A statement summing up the preliminary talks said the final tariff reductions would be linked with the solution of other problems in negotiations that are expected to last as long as two years. In theory, the tariff cuts should result in more business for all and a brake on rising prices.

The United States is particularly interested in maintaining its market for farm products. At the closed meeting, Christian A. Herter, President Johnson's chief representative, expressed disappointment that more progress on agriculture had not been made.

Delegates reported that the morning meeting went smoothly with no major changes in the statement Tuesday night on setting the tariff-cutting goals.

Other problems to be dealt with include:

--Situations where the United States has a much higher tariff rate than the Common Market.

--Nontariff barriers to trade such as "Buy America" in the United States and special health requirements for imports into many European countries.

--Tariffs that cannot be handled by a percentage rule, but must be negotiated separately.

Campisi to Edit Sociology Journal

Paul J. Campisi, chairman of the Sociology Department, has been named editor of "The Sociological Quarterly," journal of the Midwest Sociological Society. He succeeds another SIU sociologist, Prof. Peter A. Munch.

The journal, now published at Southern, goes to more than 50 foreign countries and into several hundred libraries, Campisi said, as well as to members of the sociological society and other regular subscribers.

Campisi's three-year term as editor will begin next January. He previously served as editor of the journal in 1959-60.

IBM Book System Installed in Library

The new IBM Circulation System had its first test Monday at Morris Library and did as well as was expected, a Library official said.

Elizabeth Stone, assistant librarian, said that "everything worked out very well." She added that the staff was a little slow in operating the new machines, "but this was expected."

Miss Stone said that only 34 books were checked out in the two hour test period.

She explained that most of the items brought to the desk did not have master cards.

Eventually a machine to make the master cards will be moved into the library.

A scheduled trial run for Tuesday was cancelled because of a power failure.

The new IBM Circulation System is the first of its kind in the country.

STARS UNDER THE STARS - The Kinsmen Trio, folk singers who began their successful performances on the SIU campus, will headline guest artists in "Music Under the Stars." The three (left to right) Larry Brown, Mike West and Dennis Jackman, are all students at Southern.

2,500 Youths to Participate In Music Event at Southern

More than 2,500 young musicians will participate in the 15th annual "Music Under the Stars" at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in McAndrew Stadium.

The high school students will assemble on the campus during the day for a round of rehearsals before the big evening show.

There will be a massed high school chorus of 1,000 voices, directed by guest conductor John Schork of Harrisburg; a 1,200-voice grade school chorus, directed by Norman Hanes Jr., of Salem; and a 100-piece high school orchestra, conducted by Lloyd Fritz of Belleville.

Featured soloists will be the winners of the district piano and vocal music contests, who will appear in the Chicago-Land Music Festival later in the year. The Kinsmen Trio, a professional group of SIU students, will also entertain.

Director of Area Services William Tudor will be master of ceremonies and University Vice President John E. Grinnell will welcome the participants. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. In case of rain the program will be transferred to Shryock Auditorium.

'Playboy' Fans Need Own Radio Station

It is with glazed eye and wildly tapping foot that I write to urge the Student Council to make haste in their plans to establish a closed-circuit "student radio station." This, I feel, would be the solution to WSIU's problems: the ever-increasing Top 40-type format, etc. The closed-circuit net might attract the "playboys," draining off these undesirables, who insist on having as their models certain notorious AM stations.

WSIU then might be able to return to the programming of its classic days of old (last year) when announcers were not "d.j.'s," when music was not interrupted by reminders to stay tuned for

"weathercast at quarter past," and when the music was the main concern, rather than the verbal inanities presented before, after and even during the records.

Let us remove the unnecessary talk and re-emphasize the classical and better forms of music.

It would be fitting to recall that WSIU is classified by the FCC as "non-commercial, educational FM." The purpose of such noncommercial stations is to serve the "discriminating minorities." Commercial stations simply cannot afford to.

It's Not Shameful to Be Courageous

I am writing in regard to Thomas J. Anton's letter "ROTC Defense: Remember Pearl Harbor?", April 30). Mr. Anton, at the beginning of his letter, implied, "Why not have compulsory ROTC at Southern?" He did not elaborate on his question; instead, Mr. Anton expressed his disapproval of students' actions against compulsory ROTC.

Although he agreed that Southern would do better if ROTC were on a voluntary basis, Mr. Anton said that compulsory ROTC is here for the present, so we should make the most of it. He also believes it is a shame the way students at Southern act about ROTC.

Mr. Anton's belief, accepting ROTC as it is and making the most of it, is an example of a feeble attitude. Compulsory ROTC can be changed, and any peaceful action against it can be justified.

It takes courage to change what can be changed, it takes grace to accept what cannot be changed, and it sometimes takes a great deal of wisdom to know the difference between the two. If college students were to use Mr. Anton's method for every obstacle or disapproval that was encountered throughout life, they would be in an almost worthless situation.

I would like to know why the students' actions against compulsory ROTC are shameful. Why is it shameful to act with courage, grace and wisdom?

Bomarc Missile Better Than Berlin Wall

This is in reply to Mrs. Winold's letter ("Bomarc Display Called a Strongarm Tactic," April 21) regarding the Bomarc MM-10 missile display in front of Old Main.

I do not believe that the display can be considered an infringement on Mrs. Winold's academic freedom or any of her constitutional rights by any stretch of the imagination. However, we must be tolerant of her views and look upon her remarks as coming from someone apparently inexperienced and uneducated in the problems of today's world where threats of war and conquest are ever present.

Those countries which still remain bastions of freedom are those which have been prepared to defend themselves against any aggressor. As evidence, witness the present war in Viet Nam, revolts in Zanzibar and Laos, and previous conquest of all of Eastern Europe by the Communists.

I wonder if Mrs. Winold realizes that if it were not for the arsenal of weapons the United States possesses, such as the Bomarc, Sidewinder, Sparrow III, Minuteman, Titan and Atlas, defense systems such as Midas "spy-in-the-sky", GAM-72, Samos, and BMEWS, and aircraft such as the B-52, F4B, and A3J that at this very moment she probably would not be allowed to express freely such an uninformed opinion.

I would rather be able to look out the windows of Old Main (thank God, they have not yet been closed up with bricks and mortar) and see a Bomarc missile on display and "Old Glory" waving from the flagpole than to see a Berlin Wall of concrete blocks, barbed wire and steel spikes, with the "Hammer and Sickle" flying overhead.

Many Shades of Meaning

It does not take much looking to see what is dangerous and wrong with the campaign to launch a constitutional amendment that would override the Supreme court decisions against Bible reading and official prayers in public schools.

The amendment proposed by Rep. Becker (R., N. Y.) appears to be favored for congressional support from among nearly 200 bills and amendment proposals that have been introduced in the 1963-64 Congress. The Becker text would give constitutional blessing to "the offering, reading from, or listening to prayers or biblical scriptures . . . on a voluntary basis, in any government or public school, institution or public place."

If at quick glance this sounds inoffensive, take a second look at the words "biblical scriptures." Do they mean the Douay "biblical scriptures" of the Roman Catholics or the King James, or indeed the New Revised version, of the Protestants?

A Wide Choice

Do "biblical scriptures" include the Talmudic scriptures of the Jews and also the Koran scriptures of the Moslems? Do they include Christian Science readings from Mary Baker Eddy's "Science and Health with a Key to the Scriptures," and if so from which of that book's dozens of editions?

After the amendment's backers tell us just what is meant by "biblical scriptures," then let them oblige many sincere questioners by explaining what is meant by "prayers." Does that word mean prayers from the doctrine of the Lutherans or the Jehovah's Witnesses, the Mormons or the Unitarians, the Episcopalians or the Pentecostals, Russian Orthodox or Free Methodists, Nazarenes or Seventh Day Adventists, Quakers or Shakers, Bahai faith or Church of the Four Square Gospel, Amish or the Pillar of Fire, Spiritualists or the House of David?

All of these religious groups and some 500 more are to be found in the United States. One sect has as much right as any other to its notion of "biblical scriptures" and its idea about "prayer."

Varying Preference

If the Becker amendment were to become part of the Constitution, then presumably the locally prevailing "scriptures" and "prayers" would be set by majority rule. That would mean the Talmud in some public schools, the Roman Catholic version in some, the King James in others, and in some the Koran in certain schools because the Moslem faith is growing rapidly in some cities.

If the hearings under the chairmanship of Rep. Celler (D., N. Y.), a Jew, present a cross section of opinion, they will show that religious groups are split wide open on this issue. Episcopal Bishop Pike of California favors the amendment, but the Missouri Episcopalian diocese has resolved against it. Cardinal Spellman, New York, is for it, but Cardinal Ritter, St. Louis, joined in support of the Supreme court decisions as "the law of the land." Some Methodist bishops are on one side, some on the other.

Saluki Golfers' Winning Ways Return With Double Victory

SIU's talented golf team got back on the winning track Monday by defeating two foes in a triangular meet in St. Louis.

Coach Lynn Holder's Salukis, winners in five of six dual matches this season, easily captured their second triangular of the year by trouncing St. Louis University and Washington University. Southern dumped the well-regarded Billikins 19 to 5 and belted the Washington Bears 20 1/2 to 3 1/2.

The wins were the second by the Salukis over the Billikins and Bears during the present campaign.

Southern's impressive effort was led by veterans Jim Place and Al Kruse, who both turned in respectable two over par 74's for the 18 hole match.

Place, a Freeport senior who owns a lackluster 3-2-1 dual match record, edged Ken Roach of St. Louis 74-76 and outpointed John Shearer of Washington, 74-83. Kruse, a Mt. Prospect junior and owner of a sparkling 5-0 team leading record, easily outscored Rich Humel of St. Louis 74-80 and Ron Jones of the Bears, 74-82.

Other winners for the Salukis, who defeated 11 of 12 opponents at the Norwood Country Club Monday, were Gene Carello, John Krueger, Leon McNair and Jerry Kirby.

Carello, a West Frankfort senior who leads the team with a fine 74 average for six dual matches, was the only Saluki to taste defeat in the meet. The dependable veteran beat Billikin star John Hartman 76-80 but then was edged 75-76 by Bob Kohlbrenner of the Bears.

Kirby, whose 5-0 record ties him with Kruse for the team lead, turned in the second best performance of the day for Southern. The hot-shooting West Frankfort ace fired a three over par 75 for an easy win over both of his opponents.

The results:

Place (S) 37-37-74 beat Roach (STL) 35-41-76 and beat Shearer (W) 42-41-83.

Carello (S) 38-38-76 beat Hartman (SL) 40-40-80 and lost to Kohlbrenner (W) 36-39-75.

Krueger (S) 40-41-81 beat Planc (SL) 39-42-81 and beat Dreithen (W) 41-42-83.

McNair (S) 40-36-76 beat Gorman (SL) 41-41-82 and beat Wimer (W) 43-39-82.

Kirby (S) 36-39-75 beat Marquardt (SL) 38-41-79 and beat Bailey (W) 41-42-83.

Kruse (S) 36-38-74 beat Humel (SL) 31-39-80 and beat Jones (W) 41-41-82.

Saluki Netters Gain 12 Straight, Overpower Washington U. 8-1

SIU's tennis team rolled up its twelfth straight victory of the year Tuesday by beating Washington University, 8-1, in a match at St. Louis.

Bob and Roy Sprengelmeyer and Al Pena kept their singles records clean in the match, as each came off with a victory. Roy Sprengelmeyer has won all of his 10 singles matches this year, while brother Bob and Pena have recorded 12 straight.

Carol Hanks, the feminine one-sixth of the Washington crew, was beaten in both the singles and doubles competition. Miss Hanks, who was highly publicized last year after joining the team, lost her singles match to Bob Sprengelmeyer and was half of the doubles team which lost to Roy Sprengelmeyer and Pancho Castillo.

The results:

Lance Lumsden (S) defeated Harry Burris, 10-8, 6-2.

Pancho Castillo (S) defeated Harvey Klyce, 6-4, 6-4.

Bob Sprengelmeyer (S) defeated Carol Hanks, 6-3, 6-3.

Al Pena (S) defeated Tyler Hawk, 6-2, 6-1.

Roy Sprengelmeyer (S) defeated Ray Wexler, 6-0, 6-0.

Game 'Sloppily Played'

Saluki Nine Claims 11th Straight By Beating Southeast Missouri

By Alan Goldfarb

Southern's baseball team played I-don't-want-it-you-can-have it Tuesday afternoon with Southeast Missouri State.

But Johnny Hotz and Kent Collins wanted it, even if no one else did. Hotz and Collins teamed up in the eighth inning, in a sloppily played game marred by nine errors and 16 walks, to give the Salukis an 8-5 win--their 11th straight of the year.

Both teams played like they didn't want to win. The Salukis looked like they were going to coast to another easy victory when they got three quick runs in the first two innings. By that time the Indians didn't look like they would ever want to win any ball games (they had won 10 of 14) as they committed four errors--not counting four walks, a passed ball and a wild pitch by Ray Bahr.

Just so the Salukis shouldn't make the Indians feel too bad, it was Southern's chance to turn the game into a fiasco in the Indian fourth and fifth. The Indians promptly tied it up on three walks by Denny Gentsch and two Saluki errors.

Although Gentsch who started the game, only gave up two base hits, coach Abe Martin felt that his "bread and butter" pitchers--Gene Vincent and Hotz--had enough rest. Martin brought in Vincent who was shelled for three hits and three runs in four innings but he didn't get too much help from his glove men.

SIU scored two more times in the sixth and seventh on a long sacrifice fly by Jim Long, and Bob Bernstein scored from third in the seventh on the second wild pitch of the afternoon by Bahr.

Vincent walked two Indians and shortstop Keith Newcomb rapped one up the middle to drive in Al Kesterman (who pinch-hit for Bahr) and Bill Jungers, to tie it up once again at 5-5. That was all for Vincent. But Martin didn't have too much fear. He brought in Hotz, who quickly put out the fire.

The Salukis, apparently fed up with all the nonsense, came up steaming mad in the eighth. After Gib Snyder (who had a tough day with two errors and going 0 for 5) fled out to left, John Siebel got to second on an error by Jim Glastetter in left.

Kent Collins then smashed his third single of the day. This one went up the middle to drive in Siebel with the go ahead run. Then Mike Pratte, pleasing his mother once again (she brought along a whole contingent of friends this time), rapped a 345-foot triple to deep left to drive in Collins with the insurance run. Bernstein then put the icing on the cake with a double to left (Glastetter apparently lost it in the sun) to bring home Pratte with the third run of the inning.

Hotz put the Indians down one-two-three in the ninth to grab his seventh win.
