RAM Meets Morris, Cancels Forum

★ Council Backs RAM Action In Resolution

A resolution endorsing the statement of student rights and the action taken by the Rational Action Movement was approved by the Student Council Thursday.

The resolution was endorsed by all Council members present except Richard Cox, a senator representing Thompson Point.

The resolution declared that whereas rights are necessary, and whereas there is no permanent guarantee of the existence of rights at SIU, and whereas student opinion hasn't been allowed to define the rights, and whereas RAM has shown an effective voice in obtaining rights, the Council will support RAM.

In other Council action, the fee study report was accepted, allocating $491,000 for activities for next year.

When the Council meeting convened earlier, Pat Micken, student body president and Donald Grant, presiding officer of the Council, announced their formal resignations from the Ad Hoc Committee. They had not attended the committee meeting last Sunday.

At press time for the Daily Egyptian, the Council was out on a two-minute recess following a long, heated argument concerning the acceptance of the latest Ad Hoc Committee report.

The report, printed in the Daily Egyptian Tuesday, called for the election of 24 students from Carbondale and 16 from Edwardsville to the University Student Council.

Morris Terms Spring Festival 'Activity, for the Joy of It'

"Spring Festival is activity for the joy of it, an indication of rising campus spirits in the spring," said President Delyte W. Morris.

Morris was featured speaker at the Spring Festival Assembly held Thursday morning in the Arena.

In addition to Morris's speech, candidates for Miss

Southern were introduced by Terry Cook, chairman of the contest; the Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Robert W. Kingsbury, assistant professor of music, sang; and Bob Quail, chairman of Spring Festival introduced the festival's Steering Committee.

Students and SIU President To Hold 3rd Session Today

President Delyte W. Morris and representatives of the Rational Action Movement were scheduled to begin a third conference at 8 a.m. today.

They held two sessions Thursday, the first from 8 until shortly after 9 a.m. and the second from 2:30 p.m. until almost 5 p.m.

President Morris said, after the afternoon session, that there would be no official statement made about progress of the sessions because the discussions were to continue today.

The meetings Thursday came about after an exchange of letters between RAM and President Morris. The group, protesting what it called the lack of student-rights at SIU, submitted two letters to the President, one Tuesday night, another Wednesday morning. They asked that he and the four vice presidents take part in a public forum on Friday.

Morris replied that his office was always open to any group or individual who felt he had a grievance and suggested that RAM might want to set up a meeting with him after 8 a.m. Thursday. He suggested that the number be limited to 25. Representatives of RAM accepted the offer.

As a result of the discussions, RAM canceled plans for the forum originally scheduled for today.

Pat Micken, student body president and an active member of RAM, said that in the meetings with the President they were attempting to demonstrate that the students have legitimate grievances.

Micken said plans tentatively call for some type of forum or information meeting on Monday. The time and place will be announced later, he said.

The RAM movement got under way last week. Since that time the group has issued a statement of student rights and responsibilities outlining complaints against various University policies dealing with students.

The movement has attracted attention of numerous newspapers, radio and television stations in the area and in at least one instance evoked editorial comment.

An editorial this week in the Herrin Daily Spokesman took note of recent student demonstrations at various colleges and commented that "the young people are playing at being adults and we think it's a good idea so long as they realize that they are playing."

The editorial continued: "The current student demonstrations at Southern Illinois University are certainly of this nature. Students who couldn't find their way across the campus a year or two ago have learned enough in that short interim that they now want to tell the administration how to run the University....

"If the students really wanted to assume responsibilities commensurate with their demands, even in all else we have said, they might be entitled to some of the rights they claim. The point is, however, that they can't run the university even if they think they can. They want privileges, but in a year or two they will walk away from the campus—never to worry about student rights or SIU again.

We think that the SIU administrators should take a firm hand. Among other vitally important things that the students could learn during their college career is that privileges don't come simply because they are demanded. They may as well learn now that the cold, cruel world has more responsibility privilege and we don't know of anything more important that the university can teach them."

Foreign Students To Discuss Jobs

Presidents of the international student organizations at SIU will meet with several representatives of the University at 4 p.m. today in the International Student Center to discuss opportunities for summer jobs.

Frank C. Adams, director of the Student Work Office; Eugene S. Wood, superintendent of University Farms; Daryle E. Keefer, acting coordinator of the International Student Center; and Frank H. Sehnert, coordinator of SIU International Programs, will meet with the students to discuss the job opportunities for foreign students.

RAM, Rights and Censorship

The Rational Action Movement represents a departure from the bitching and griping that has hitherto characterized the apathetic atmosphere at SIU. Individuals who want to know "what is RAM's issue?" or "what specific evil do you want the Administration to rectify?" betray a misunderstanding of this departure.

The realization that a safeguarded right pertains to himself, lends status and dignity to the student, and lays the groundwork for his effective participation in university life.

A student right must be so constructed as to apply at all times, not simply when the administration feels that it might apply. A "right" that may be abridged at any moment is not an operative right, and therefore is no right at all, but a condescension, a dispensation, a crumb dropped from the officials' table, a bottle that at any time may be wrenched from our fingers.

I have been told repeatedly of the vastly increased latitude allowed to student publications at Carbondale in the past year. Student publications, occupying a good amount of my time daily, will have to serve as my case-in-point.

I wholeheartedly disagree that increased "freedom" granted by the Administration, when they allow certain controversial areas to be explored that formerly were "taboo," constitutes any augmentation of student rights at all.

No matter how much latitude they are kind enough to grant us, the line must always be drawn. Students presently have absolutely no part in drawing this line.

Where is the freedom when a caricature of the President of the University, critical of his manner of imposing the final exam policy or allowing it to be imposed, is censored on the grounds that it would tarnish his image and offend certain religious groups? What can a student editor do when notification of this censorship is sent, not to him but to the faculty advisor, on the afternoon of the day the cartoon was to have appeared, so that no replacements could be made?

Where is the freedom when two letters written by students Pat Micken and George Paluch are ordered by Administration officials not to be printed in the issue of Ka for which they were submitted to be printed, without any steps being taken to contact the student editor at all? Had it not been for the unintentional revelation and subsequent reversal of his Edwardsville-made decision at the last minute, Vice-President Ruffner too would have scratched a whole page of Ka. As it was, passages were censored from the letters on the grounds that, in referring to Berkeley students, they were inflammatory.

Clearly, student rights in publication require an end to the machinery which makes this censorship possible. Just as clearly, legal steps need to be taken, to enable an expert to prevent student publications from violating the libel and other laws. At this time, "ultimate authority for the inclusion or exclusion of all material" lies with an Administrative appointee. This authority and responsibility should not apply to all material; it should lie with the Administration only in cases where there is a question of pornography or libel or violations of other statutes, in the opinion of a legal counsel serving the editors and appointed by them.

The difference between these two procedures is the difference between highly fragile half-rights and true student rights to the free expression and publication of student opinion.

The only place to guarantee student rights in publications is inside a framework of student government which has sufficient power to confront the Administration if it oversteps its bounds in the pursuit of the interests of the University. These interests seem in a short-sighted view to require a curtailment of sharp and directed criticisms, which students nonetheless must have the right to make.

Therefore, I as a student and as a student editor, regard it as absolutely imperative that the demands of the RAM for students' rights and responsibilities be met. Until they are, we have no freedom of expression, and this freedom lives at the very heart of every living university.

Lambs

Lambs?
Morry had some little lambs,
(Oh well! Let's don't make fine distinctions.)
Their fleece was white as snow;
(That is, "The color had been bleached out.")
And everywhere that Morry went
He thought the lambs would go.
They asked for rights in school one day,
That was against the rule;
(As interpreted),
He'd rather deny their proper say
Than know they think at school.
And so the lambs were ad hoc'd out,
But still they linger near,
Waiting not just idly about
'Til Morry does appear
"Why do they bleat at Morry so?"
Apathetic children cry;
"so we can learn to live and grow!"
The leaders did reply.
So, he thought he had it by the tail,
That it was indeed a lamb;
But I can see it working now,
To show it is a RAM.

Dave Swan

What RAM is after is no particular remedy for anyone of the host of problems that plague the students at this time. Rather, it is after guarantees of student rights in a self-determined framework of self-government, which will provide the student with the most fair remedies, in the long run, to the current problems and to unforeseen future ones. A "policy" of continually improvising and imposing wonderfully efficient solutions to questions raised by or pertaining to students, is diametrically opposed to the goals of RAM, since it leaves the basic question of absolute Administrative discretion unattacked. We can't be satisfied with having our problems taken care of at the discretion of the Administration, in the selected cases where they choose to come up with solutions.

RAM has delineated areas of student rights and responsibilities which cannot be overstepped by a university that sees its need for responsible and autonomous stu-

FORAM

As you know, a new student movement has emerged here on the SIU campus. It is called the Rational Action Movement (RAM) and was formed by undergraduates to give structure to a growing campus-wide dissatisfaction with the manner in which administrative decisions are being imposed upon the academic community.

RAM endorses the view that those who are affected by policies should have a voice in the decision-making process. In brief, they are asking for the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. After careful consideration, we as graduate students find ourselves in support of the goals and leadership of RAM, and we are writing to urge that you join us in making graduate student support effective. We too are members of the academic community, and we too are affected—in a somewhat different way—by University policies.

RAM has succeeded in bringing together a broad representation of undergraduate student concern. But because the issues affect everyone in the university community, we have formed Friends of RAM (FORAM) to facilitate faculty and graduate student participation. It is especially urgent that your support be enlisted now.

You may contribute in a variety of ways, ranging from direct participation to the lending of moral or financial support. We hope that you will return the attached coupon to us so that we may contact you personally. Or, if you wish, you may telephone a FORAM representative directly at 549-1406.

Too Much Individualism

Civil War Poorly Fought Before 1864, Nevins Says

Allan Nevins, who probably knows more about the Civil War than anyone since Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, told an SIU audience that Americans were pretty lousy fighters between 1861 and 1863.

But it wasn't because they lacked courage or valor—in fact, they could challenge any fighters in the world in valor, the distinguished American historian said.

And to prove the point, he cited one battle in which Grant lost more than 3,000 men in a little more than an hour and another when more than 6,000 Confederate troops were lost in a similar length of time.

Nevins blamed it all on the nature of the time and the type of nation America was during that period. There was excessive individualism which led to lack of discipline and a tendency for showy, spectacular tactics on the part of many commanding officers. In addition, leaders and men on both sides tended to improvise rather than organize, he said.

Lack of discipline, in the early years, seemed to be one of the worst problems. At one point, he said, McClellan's army had 45,000 men missing—either as stragglers or deserters. And at Antietam some 20,000 of Lee's men were missing.

"No American army up to 1864 was capable of making a forced march," Nevins said, "without having a large number of stragglers and deserters."

But by 1864 all that had changed, Nevins said. The showy, theatrical officers had been replaced by the quieter types, such as Grant; the foot soldiers learned discipline; and the tendency to improvise was replaced by careful organization.

Some of the accomplishments during the last year of the war included the use of balloons, a type of submarine, the development of signal flags for communications, the development of the magazine loading rifle, and improved naval warfare.

Nevins, a gray-haired scholar with a raspy voice that sounds something like Carl Sandburg's, came to SIU as a guest of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences after taking part in a ceremony in Springfield marking the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's funeral.

He was introduced as a "citizen of the world," probably because he is Harmsworth Professor of American History at Oxford University in England this year. And he replied:

"I don't aspire to be a citizen of the world—it is enough to be a citizen of Illinois."

They system was outlined in a report given by Frank A. Kirk, commissioner of streets, both garbage and refuse would be combined and picked up once a week by two "compacter trucks" to be purchased by the city.

$700-Million Viet Nam Fund Crashes Past Senate Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Propped by the top leaders in both parties, President Johnson's $700-million Viet Nam war fund bill crashed through the Senate on Thursday amid cries of blackjack tactics.

The Senate passed the bill by a roll-call vote of 88-3 after a fixed five-call vote period of furious debate.

Senator after senator served notice that his vote for the money bill was not to be construed as blank check endorsement for policies that might bog this country down in large-scale land warfare in Asia.

Senate approval of the measure came 24 hours after the House whipped it through by a vote of 408-7, and a little over 48 hours after Johnson asked for its passage "at the earliest possible moment."

The measure now goes to the White House for Johnson's signature.

Voting against it in the Senate were Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis. All seven House votes against the bill were cast by Democrats.

The bill was passed in the Senate with the votes of 57 Democrats and 31 Republicans. There were 8 Democratic and 1 Republican absentees.

Morse, who led the opposition, said the bill gives Johnson far more than a $700-million appropriation. Morse contended it gives the President authority to wage undeclared war, and he predicted it will be followed by the sending of thousands more troops to Viet Nam.

"The President is using this bill," Morse said, "as a vehicle for getting a vote of confidence for his policies in Viet Nam out of Congress."

The blackjack cry was raised by Gruening, who said he approved of Johnson's policies in the Dominican Republic uprising but said the President's message asking for the Viet Nam fund "sought to give the clear impression that a vote against this appropriation is a vote in aid of communism."

Titan 3A Unleashes Pair of Satellites

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The third-stage of a Titan 3A rocket hurtled into space as a flying launch platform Thursday nearly executed four orbital shifts and unleashed a pair of satellites in an important rehearsal for future military space missions.

The fourth ignition of the third-stage engine occurred about 5 p.m., nearly eight hours after the rocket was launched, and placed it in an orbit ranging from 1,725 to 23,172 miles from the earth. The Air Force said the fourth orbit try was a bonus test.

Marine Killed, 2 Hurt In Dominican Incident

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — U.S. Marines fought a hot skirmish Thursday with Dominican insurgents in the heart of rebel territory. At least one Marine was killed and the toll may be three.

The rebels charged there was a violation of cease-fire terms. The U.S. command said the fighting erupted after a Marine patrol took a wrong turn.

The rebels brought the body of one slain Marine to the steps of the Embajador Hotel, Marine headquarters on the outskirts of Santo Domingo, in a Red Cross ambulance. Two wounded Marines were taken to a hospital near the hotel.

U.S. military sources reported one dead, two wounded and four missing, one of whom was believed killed. Two of the missing were captured.

The rebel command announced one Marine was dead, two captured and two wounded.

American newsmen in the rebel zone reported seeing the bodies of two Marines.

A rebel spokesman accused the United States of violating the cease-fire arranged between the rebels and the rival military junta Wednesday by a peace commission of the Organization of American States.

A U.S. military spokesman said, however, the Marine patrol took a wrong turn while operating near the east-west corridor set up to ferry supplies to the international zone for refugees. He said unfamiliarity with the Dominican capital caused the Marines to go into rebel territory instead of returning to their own lines.

Washington announced the U.S. toll in the 13-day-old Dominican strife at 10 dead, one missing and 58 wounded.

The captured Marines were shown to newsmen as rebels took a television tape of them.

They identified themselves as Rueben Garcia, 23, New York City, and Pvt. Darrell J. Southwell, 21, Mason, Mich.

The rebel spokesman said the two would be turned over to the OAS.

Fingerprint Gap in Liuzzo Case Comes Out in Juror's Question

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Both sides rested Thursday in the murder trial of Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., after a juror had pointed out a fingerprint gap in the state's case.

Wilkins, 21, was brought to trial for the March 25 slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39.

Before the defense opened a brief presentation of testimony from six witnesses, juror Clifford McMurphee asked in court whether there were fingerprints on the .38-caliber revolver identified in FBI testimony as the murder weapon.

Gary Thomas Rowe, FBI informer, had testified that the gun belonged to Eugene Thomas, 42, also under indictment in the case, from whom it was recovered after the slaying. But the FBI informer said the weapon was used by Wilkins to fire a bullet into Mrs. Liuzzo during a high-speed auto chase through the night on nearby U.S. 80.

FBI agent Edward Lahey, recalled by the state, testified that when he took the .38 from Thomas' home the day after the slaying he did not examine it for prints.

Rowe had testified that he had a pistol in his hand that night, sitting beside Wilkins in the back seat of the car, when the slaying occurred.

SPRING FESTIVAL MIDWAY COMES TO LIFE

7 Is Lucky Number

1965 Midway Gala to Open at 6 Tonight; Shows, Carnival to Be Run Until Saturday

Seven is the lucky number for the 1965 Spring Festival Midway, which will open at 6 p.m. tonight southwest of the Arena. The Midway will stay open until midnight tonight and will run Saturday from noon until 6 p.m.

This year there will be seven shows, seven booths and seven displays on the Midway, each sponsored by a campus organization or living unit. The seven shows will be presented at intervals throughout the Midway in structures constructed by the various groups.

Two of the structures this year are particularly noteworthy. The Phi Sigma Kappa-Sigma Sigma Sigma structure will be a large showboat, and the Delta Zeta-Delta Chi structure, a pentagon covered with a one-quarter geodesic dome.

Booths will be sponsored by Forrest Hall-University City, Phi Kappa Tau, Woody Hall-Egyptian Sands, Little Egypt Agricultural Co-Op, and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

The Phi Sigma Kappa booth will be selling Spring Festival hats.

Displays will be by the Jazz Unlimited Society, Saluki Flying Club, Alpha Phi Omega, Alpha Kappa Psi, Parachute Club, Student Government and the Obelisk.

Also on the Midway will be two concession stands, a booth containing the trophies and a carnival with seven rides.

Awards will be presented at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Construction got under way at noon yesterday when the partially assembled structures were moved to the Midway area for completion.

"This year's Midway will be the biggest and best ever," says Corky Hilliard, co-chairman of the Midway.

Showboat Sails 'Piecefully' From Greek Row to Midway

A showboat has been constructed in the area behind the buildings at Small Group Housing.

The shipbuilders are members of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority and Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity. They are teamed up for a Spring Festival Midway show titled the "Southern Queen Showboat."

The theme of this year's festival is "Great Moments in Music."

Since the Midway for the Spring Festival is on the southwest corner of the SIU Arena, the builders were faced with problem of transporting the showboat there.

To solve it, they tore the structure apart after completing it behind the fraternity house and carted it in pre-fabricated sections to the Midway by wagon.

Several other interesting problems and sidelights occurred during construction and rehearsal of the Tri-Sigma Phi-Sig show.

Terrance J. McKeon, junior from Chicago, found that he would have to diet so that his rented costume would fit him.

A windy day made paint-splattered girls of Carol R. Polcyn, sophomore from Mount Prospect, and Donna M. Kotarek, sophomore from Skokie. What paint they did get on the structure was somewhat ruined by Timothy W. Ayers, sophomore from Le-May, Mo., when he put white paint over the freshly-applied black that the girls had just done on the hull.

When Raymond N. Fuller, sophomore from Evanston, was asked to play the villain in the show's melodrama, he decided to add authenticity to the part by growing sideburns.

SHOWBOAT BEGINS TO TAKE SHAPE

Fuller says he does mind the extra whiskers a little, but the hisses and boos he hears when he acts out his part make up for the inconvenience.

Charles W. Zoeckler, associate professor of theater, is faculty adviser for the groups' show.

The Midway will open at 6 p.m. Friday and stay open until midnight. On Saturday afternoon, it will be open from 12 to 6 p.m.

Faculty Members Recall Where They Were at End of WW II

By Jesus S. Carlos

On the morning of Monday, May 7, 1945, breathless newscasters broke into the radio broadcasts across the nation with the newflash: Germany had surrendered unconditionally.

By noon on the same day, almost every man, woman and child in the U.S. and servicemen overseas had heard the news.

V-E Day found many of SIU's faculty members in many different positions, situations and places. Today, exactly 20 years older, they look back through the years with misty recollections of that day.

Some were still in the States and never were sent overseas to fight. Ralph E. McCoy, director of libraries, was writing "field and technical manuals" as a faculty member of the Quartermaster School at Fort Lee, Ga. Joseph Vavra, professor of plant industries, then a 24-year-old lieutenant stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., was probably teaching officer candidates that morning.

En route to Pratt, Kan., in a car with three men was the director of ground training for all combat crews in the U.S. Air Corps, now Col. James F. Van Ausdal. The slim, 5-foot-6 commandant of AFROTC at SIU, recalled that he "was just completely overjoyed it was finally over."

Oliver P. Kolstoe, chairman of the Department of Special Education, was back from the war in Europe and training crews in high altitude bombing near Big Springs, Tex.

Joseph E. Burnside Jr., professor of animal industry, doesn't remember exactly where he was or what he was doing on May 7, 1945.

"We were probably somewhere on patrol duty in the south Pacific," he thought. He was 21, crew chief of an ordnance section in the Marine Air Corps.

William O'Brien, assistant professor of recreation and outdoor education and Plan A Program, was then a lieutenant in the Marines waiting at Oahu, Hawaii, for reassignment.

"I was in a tent when someone came down the street and made the announcement heard over the radio," he said.

One man who had every reason to be jubilant was Nicholas Vergette.

"First thing I did was to hitchhike to London to join the celebration," mused the ex-warrant officer pilot in a heavy bomber group of the RAF. The curly haired artist and associate professor of art summed up his feelings as relief more than anything else.

Hellmut Hartwig, professor of foreign language, was in Paris as a captain in the U.S. Army Transport Corps. He was working in a fancy headquarters on the Rue de la Paix, he recalls, when the news of the German surrender came. Hartwig, who is of German descent, reacted with mixed emotions. His mother was in Germany and so were his relatives, two of whom were involved in the anti-Hitler Putsch. Finally he could find out what had happened to them.

Not everybody was under pleasant circumstances on that day. A German language instructor vaguely remembers fleeing as a child from somewhere near Berlin and the oncoming Russians.

The Allied victory in Europe brought out feelings of relief in most people, but the realization and concern that the war wasn't over yet spread soon. Next was the long hard road to Japan.

Howard French, associate professor of German, probably best summarizes the reaction of the men in the services when he greeted the news "with mixed emotions because it didn't mean the end of the conflict for us." He was an airplane crew chief testing the engines of a P-38 when the news reached him in Finchhaven, New Guinea.

O'Brien, Burnside and French all faced the grim prospects of Kamikaze attacks, Baka-bombs and Banzai charges even while outwardly they were pleased about the victory in Europe.

FLAGS OF BELGIUM, CHINA, GREAT BRITAIN, UNITED STATES, RUSSIA, FRANCE AND CANADA FLY OVER A V E DAY CEREMONY IN EUROPE IN 1945

Speeches, Hymns Celebrated V-E Day At Southern's Chapel Program in 1945

By Joe Cook

Twenty years ago today the world was celebrating V-E Day—Europe had been saved from the Nazis.

SIU, which was then Southern Illinois Normal University, celebrated the occasion too, but not in the same boisterous way most of the nation did.

A special chapel program was held in Shryock Auditorium.

The program included several speeches, a hymn sung by the chorus and a prayer by Robert Vance, chaplain elect, according to the Egyptian of May 11, 1945.

Chester Lay, who three days later was to be installed as Southern's seventh president, introduced the speakers, the first being John Allen, curator of the SIU Museum.

Allen, a member of the 6th

Marines in the First World War recalled for the audience the reaction of the men at the front when they heard the news of Armistice Day in 1918.

"The quietness of the moments when the men were gathered around their fire, held a more sacred atmosphere than any church I have ever been in," said Allen.

Following Allen to the podium were five students who presented the ideas and views of the "Big Five."

The words of Winston Churchill were given by Robert Brooks, a student at University High School.

J.R. Hart, a veteran of the African campaign, discussed Russia. Richard Avis spoke of the works of General Charles De Gaulle. Helen Mataya discussed Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and China's place in the world.

James Pleasant, the last of the five speakers spoke of the ideals and goals of the late president Franklin Roosevelt.

After the speeches, the chorus sang "Now Thank We All Our God" and Chaplain Vance gave the benediction. President-elect Lay then ended the celebration by dismissing classes for the rest of the day.

Intersquad Tilt to End Spring Grid Practice

By Joe Cook
Football Coach Don Shroyer will take a final look at his Salukis as spring football practice closes Saturday with the annual intersquad game scheduled to start at 1:45 p.m. at Carbondale Community High School's Bleyer Field. Only four men returning from last year's team that compiled an 2-8 record will be in the first unit's starting lineup.

Senior Jim Hart will be quarterback, senior Monty Riffer as fullback and sophomore Issac Brigham and junior Lew Hines as tackles. The rest of the lineup will consist entirely of sophomores with Bill Blanchard and John Ference as ends, Al Equi and Ron McCartney as guards and Joe Ewan as center.

Sophomores in the starting backfield will be Hill Williams and Arnold Kee both of whom will be running out of the half-back spots.

The second unit is equally as scarce with returning players, for only three will be in its starting lineup.

Senior Mike McGinnis will be at one end, junior Dave Cronin will be one of the guards and junior Doug Mougey will be the quarterback.

The rest of the lineup will consist of sophomores with Bill Hohs at the tight wing spot, Ralph Galloway and Al Jenkins as tackles, Jerry Moore as guard and Rich Hawkins as center.

Behind Mougey in the backfield will be Eddie Richards and Eugene James as halfbacks and Rich Hopper as fullback.

Four lettermen who could not come out to spring practice, but who are expected to be out in the fall include seniors Gene Miller as center, Mitch Krawczyk and Vic Pantaleo as guards and junior Don Deck as halfback.

The SIU football schedule for next fall will find five new teams added to the schedule.

The new teams are State College of Iowa, Youngstown, Wichita State University, Ball State Teachers College and Southwest Missouri State College.

Five familiar teams on the schedule are the University of Louisville, Lincoln university, Drake University, University of Tulsa and Northern Michigan.

The complete home and away schedule:

- Sept. 18 State College of Iowa H
- Sept. 25 Louisville T
- Oct. 2 Youngstown T
- Oct. 9 Lincoln H
- Oct. 16 Drake H
- Oct. 23 Wichita T
- Oct. 30 Tulsa H
- Nov. 6 Northern Michigan H
- Nov. 13 Ball State T
- Nov. 20 Southwest Missouri H

All games except the homecoming game against Tulsa and the final game against Southwest Missouri will be played at night.

2 Softball Games Set in League 5

Only two games are on the Intramural softball docket for 4 p.m. today, and no games will be played over the weekend because of Spring Festival.

The two games on schedule for today are both in off-campus League 5. The Mustangs (2-0) will try to clinch the league title against winless CVD 69 (0-2) on Field 1. The Radicals (2-0) will try to keep up with the Mustangs, when they take on Glover's Violators (1-1) on Field 2.

Martin's Saluki 9 Seeking 8th Victory in Row Today

SIU's baseball Salukis try to extend their winning streak to eight games this afternoon when they travel to Southeast Missouri State College for a return match with the Indians.

The Salukis defeated the Missourians last Friday 13-8 here. Since then Southeast has won three in a row, with Harris Teachers College the latest victim Tuesday, 10-1.

The hot-hitting Salukis will boost a power-packed starting lineup with seven men above the .300 batting mark. Veteran left fielder Kent Collins leads the way as he did at this time a year ago. The senior from Albion is hitting at a .455 clip with 30 safeties in 66 trips to the plate.

Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority has sold "Date and Data Calendars" this year to raise funds for their "altruistic project."

Some of the money will be sent to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Last year at the 11-game mark he was on top with .387, although third baseman Bob Bernsrein was almost alongside with .370.

Next to Collins is pitcher-first baseman Gene Vincent with .367, exactly 100 points better than he was at this time last season. Right fielder Al Peludat also is far above his last year's pace with .359 compared to .303 a year ago.

Center fielder John Siebel is slightly better with a .311 mark compared to .289 a year ago, as is Bill Merrill who has moved above the .300 mark to .306.

The Saluki pitching staff has taken on a more balanced quality with rookie lefthander Wayne Sramek taking some of the pressure off veteran standbys John Hotz and Gene Vincent.

Last year at this time Hotz and Vincent were the only pitchers who had recorded victories—Hotz sported a 6-1 record and Vincent a 7-1-

GENE VINCENT

The two have continued to sail along this year as Hotz is 5-1 and Vincent is 4-1. But Sramek has come up with three victories to help out.

The Salukis returned home Monday for a doubleheader with Tulsa beginning at 1:30 p.m. at the SIU field.

Frosh-Varsity-Alumni Matches In Tennis Slated This Weekend

The University tennis courts will be busy this weekend when the freshman-varsity-alumni tennis championships get underway.

Competition begins at 3:15 p.m. today for the first round of the singles championships.

The second singles round and the first double rounds will start at 9 a.m. Saturday. Sunday afternoon at 1:30 the championship singles and doubles matches will be played.

Representing the alumni will be Charles Pisoni, John Geremich, Pacho Castillo, Bob and Roy Sprengelmeyer, Al Pena, Wilson Burge and Bob Hernandez.

Pisoni at 31 is the oldest of the group. He was Southern's No. 1 singles player in 1955.

Castillo, Pena and the Sprengelmeyer brothers played for Southern last year. Castillo was the No. 2 man, Bob Sprengelmeyer, the No. 3 man and Roy Sprengelmeyer and Pena the fourth and fifth men.

Geremich was No. 2 man for Southern three years ago and Burge was No. 3 man two years ago.

The varsity will be represented by six players: Lance Lumsden, Thad Ferguson, Vic Seper, Larry Obilin, John Wykoff and Ric Snyder.

The freshmen competing in the championships are Mike Sprengelmeyer, Jose Villarete, Johnny Yang and Joe Brandt.

Two transfer students, Enrique Pena and Luther Hansen, will also be competing in the championships.

Tiger-Saluki Track Meet on Saturday

Powerful Lincoln University invades McAndrew Stadium Saturday night and, before it leaves, it may make its mark in the stadium's records.

The Tigers challenge Lew Hartzog's Saluki trackmen in a dual meet. Field events will begin at 7 p.m. with the running contests to start at 7:30 p.m.

Stadium records in eight events appear in jeopardy with the main assault expected to come from the speedy Tigers from Jefferson City, Mo. Probably the standard most likely to fall is the triple jump where the challenge will come from a Saluki freshman.

John Vernon from Nottingham, Eng., appears almost a cinch to break the 48-foot record he set in the 4-way meet earlier in the year.

Vernon has consistently been over that mark since an intra-squad meet several weeks ago in which he leaped 50 feet 5 inches. Another strong Saluki challenger could be high jumper Tom Ashman who may be available for duty much sooner than expected.

Ashman, a junior from Murphysboro, appears now to have only a slipped disc instead of the much more serious pulled muscle it was thought he had earlier this week.

If the school record-holder is able to compete, the high jump mark of 6-6 3/8 may fall. In the earlier home meet, he just missed the record with a 6-6 1/2 leap.

The only other event in which the Salukis appear to have the strength to shatter a record is the mile relay. If all the team were in top shape, the record would be in grave danger.

But Robin Coentry, the team's lead-off man has had foot trouble this week and Gary Carr's legs are just beginning to respond to treatment for an injury earlier in the season.

However, the other two members of the team, Jerry Fendrich and Bill Cornell, appear in good shape, so the possibility of a new record looms. The team has gone 3:09.2 on the road, which is far below the 3:13.8 stadium record set in 1962 by Oklahoma State.

Lincoln has the ability to set the mark itself, though it has also been far under the mark with 3:10.4 at the Kansas Relays its best time.

Lincoln's other record-challengers will be Henri Burton, 9.5, in the 100-yard dash; Al Wheatfall, 21.0 in the 220; Ernest Tidwell, 47.9 in the 440; two-time Illinois prep hurdler champion Warren Hampton of East St. Louis 38.5

in the 330-intermediates and the Tigers' 440 Relay team, 40.5.

The meet will be the last home appearance of the year for the Salukis. After Saturday, the team will have two weeks off before going back into action May 22, at the General Invitational at Fort Campbell, Ky.
