Applications Are Available For Grants

The Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance is accepting applications for special monetary awards, according to Fred Dakak, coordinator.

The grants, Dakak said, are derived from money contributed by several organizations, including the Alumni Association and the Junior Women's Clubs of Illinois.

Students who are upperclassmen and who have at least a 4.0 overall average are eligible. Students should also show some need," Dakak said.

Awards ranging from $50 to $500 are expected to be approved at a meeting to be held within the next month.

Like the Education Opportunity Grants, there are no residency requirements for the awards.

Senate Censures Morris' Letter; Will Draft Reply

The campus Senate in its Wednesday night meeting voted to censure President Morris' letter to the parents of SIU students.

The Senate accepted also a resolution to draft a letter to the parents explaining "how the students feel" on the housing question. It urged that students write their representatives in the state legislature on the issue.

Morris' letter, mailed Wednesday, explained the position of the Board of Trustees on the housing and motor vehicle regulations.

The letter explains that the University is responsible for "wisely expending more than $60 million this year in order that 25,000 young men and

Life Insurance Plan Available To Faculty, Staff

Registration by faculty and staff members for the new SIU life insurance program will close Oct. 15.

An insurance agent will be in the Mississippi Room of the University Center from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 2 to 4 p.m., Thursday and Friday. He will also be there from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday.

Physical examinations are not required in applications made before the closing date.

They will be required after Oct. 15, or the applicant will have to wait until the program is reopened in about a year.

Enrollment cards received prior to Oct. 15 will provide coverage effective Nov. 15.

Protest on Rulings Scheduled Tonight

A rally to protest housing and vehicle regulations has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in front of Browne Auditorium.

A separate meeting has been scheduled by the Student Senate at 8 o'clock in Lawson 151.

women can further their educations."

President Morris said the Board's decision was "logical."

A group headed by student body president Bob Drinan will draft a letter to send to parents.

In other action, the Senate passed Student Bill of Rights and Responsibilities. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Student Rights and Welfare.

Paul Schoen, senator from the School of Business, asked to be given a proxy until the end of his term, in November.

Schoen said he did not want to subject the Senate to criticism because one of its members is personally involved in an issue before the campus body.

Schoen is the son of Sidney Schoen, owner of a Carbondale investment firm and a number of unsupervised housing areas.

Schoen would face impeachment after two absences from the Senate in the case of a normal proxy.

The Senate approved the special proxy consideration and tabled the issue until next week.

The Senate suggested that a two-hour exam be given in upper level courses, but not in General Studies courses.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Academic Affairs.

The Senate will explore the possibility of installing a Xerox machine in the University Center.

Drinan said whether or not the machine is installed the machine is installed is up to University Center of ficials.

Dave Wilson, General Studies Senator, expressed dismay that the bus service sponsored in part by the Senate and intended to serve students, as now being used by the University as an excuse to deny motor vehicle privileges.

He referred to the busses that formerly turned around in the drive of the Malibu Trailer Court, south on Rt. 51.

Residents of the court were denied vehicle privileges because transportation to campus was available.

The court is more than two miles off campus.

The owner of the court has forbidden the bus to turn on his property.

Gus says if he were permitted to have anything to park he would be real mad because there is no place to park it.

Overpass Construction Start Is Delayed About 2 Weeks

The start of construction of a pedestrian overpass of U.S. 51 has been delayed approximately two weeks.

It had previously been announced that work would begin "by Oct. 10." The structure will span the Illinois Central Railroad tracks and U.S. 51 to Harwood Avenue.

The J. L. Simmons Construction Co. of Decatur, low bidder for the project, has not received a work order that will enable it to begin the project.

John L. Lonergan, University architect, said the work order had to be changed over to an existing contract the University has with the construction company. This delayed receipt of the order.

Lonergan said there are a few points that have to be cleared with the railroad, but

Bursar Puts Limit On Check Cashing

Personal checks cashed at the bursar's office must not exceed $25, according to Arthur Albon, Carbondale campus bursar.

Students desiring to cash checks must present their paid fee statement, ID card and local address, he said.

The bursar's office is open from 8-12 p.m. and 1-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8:30-11:45 a.m. Saturday.

this would not further delay the construction.

"After construction begins," Lonergan said, "the project should move very rapidly.

Background of Controversy

Administration's Side of Housing Issue Hinges on Rules 'on Books' Since 1963

By Michael Nauer (Third in a Series)

The dominant theme running through the charges against the administration on the housing issue is that the tightening of the regulations was poorly timed and lacked propriety.

The administration contends that the rules have been on the books since 1963 and that tighter enforcement has been in the wind for the past two years.

On July 1 of this year, the Housing Office sent a letter to all operators of unsupervised housing who were known to rent to undergraduate students.

The letter outlined the regulations at that time and advised landlords against renting to unqualified students.

Anita Kuo, coordinator of off-campus housing, said landlords had been apprised of the situation many times before the July letter was mailed.

However, the move to rigidly enforce the rules and evaluate each student's request individually did not gain momentum until the third week of September.

This followed a surge of requests for unapproved housing outside the two-mile limit set as a guideline for vehicle ownership. A high vacancy rate also occurred in off-campus dorms.

President Delyte W. Morris said the guidelines determining a student's eligibility for unapproved housing were unsatisfactory and thus the University had decided to eliminate the "formulas" that governed students' petitions. Answering charges by unsupervised housing landlords that the University is "con-spring with big business to drive the little man out," SIU officials dismissed the claim as not true.

Joseph F. Zaleski, assistant dean for off-campus housing and undergraduate vehicle registration, said "I don't see how it will drive the small businessman out. We are trying to involve all of the landlords to develop accepted living centers."

The landlords have claimed that SIU will not approve their facilities, because housing such as trailers and apartments cannot be adequately supervised.

Zaleski said as the trailer courts exist today, this is true. "It is not, to say, though, that a trailer court couldn't be arranged to meet the University's minimum requirements," he continued.

Housing, Vehicle Regulations Cause Increasing Tension

The image that exists in the eyes of students of the University is now at a low ebb and probably will slip lower as the present housing-motor ve-

Time, Place To Air Grips

An open meeting concerning the housing controversy will be held at 8 p.m. today at Lawson 151.

The meeting is sponsored by the Carbondale Campus senate, and interested persons will have a chance to air their views and opinions on the recent decision by the Administration to tighten housing regulations.

Ralph W. Ruffner, vice president for student and area services, and Ralph E. Prusok, dean of students, will represent the University.

Householders and students will be able to discuss the issues of the controversy with Ruffner and Prusok, and each other.

Students, who are directly concerned, should take advantage of the opportunity to attend and present their views.

Actions Bring Cycle Rules

To the editor:

Even though I am a student and a cyclist, I feel compelled to offer a resounding "amen" to the editorial by Michael Nauer.

If the cyclists had realized a year ago that restrictions to be placed upon them would be meant to correct those abuses which the cyclists could not correct themselves, they would have taken the necessary steps to eliminate those persons responsible for those abuses. But, since these trustees into the peace of this community persisted, steps have been taken to eliminate the cycles, thus eliminating the whole problem. So, ladies, that's why you can't register those bikes.

I also agree that we still need better enforcement of the existing laws to further curb the violations of those who still have cycles. Maybe then we will get this problem solved.

James W. Hill

hicle controversy rages on.

It is not entirely the administration's fault that the housing situation is so bad; it was students who took advantage of the opportunity to bend University regulations concerning housing and cars.

However, the University must be blamed for allowing students this opportunity in the first place. The housing policy should have been stiffened gradually starting a few years ago when the large off-campus supervised dorms were being constructed.

Now the University is caught in a bind between two groups, the unsupervised and supervised housing owners, and both groups are applying now unexpected pressure on the University.

This pressure is being passed on to the students in the form of more rules, regulations and delay—precisely the things that were in part contributory to the disturbances during spring finals. The time is ripe now for a continuance of these disturbances due to the hasty action changing University policy concerning motorcycles, cars and choice of student housing.

SIU needs more disturbances just as it needs more vice presidents or campuses. If the registrar wonders why there are more dropouts this quarter, he need only look at the official decisions that started last summer concerning motorcycles and continued earlier this fall with student housing and cars. These decisions have in part discouraged some students from returning to school. The ones who came back are disgruntled, and it is not unusual to hear talk of unrest among them.

Instead of another senseless disturbance, students should rally behind their student government for help and support, and express their opinions through the letters columns in the Daily Egyptian and KA. They should also write to, or better yet talk informally with, the campus administrators who effect these decisions.

Better communication between students and the administration is only a part of the picture, however.

Internal public relations of the University are terrible. Decisions such as the one made in early fall on housing and vehicles should be made smoothly, with a gradual phasing of stiffening regulations instead of a quick, sweeping move that satisfies nobody.

'Alestle' Editors Attack Decision To Sidetrack Change in Name

(The Alestle, Edwardsville)

A week-long battle ended Thursday when SIU administrators threatened the editors with loss of their jobs and possible expulsion from school for attempting to change the paper's name.

The papers, to be distributed Thursday under the name of "Spectator," were confiscated by armed university police Thursday morning on the orders Assistant Dean of Academic Affairs Bruce Thomas, and placed in a locked safe to be destroyed at a later date, forcing us to reprint the paper.

The reason? Because we, after consulting with our staff and advisor, changed the name of the paper from "Alestle" to "Spectator."

We felt the name change was long overdue and that we had the editorial freedom to do it. Administrators not only felt the staff could not change the name, but that the name cannot be changed even if approved in a student referendum.

When we suggested that perhaps the new name should be submitted to a student referendum, we were told the newspaper belongs to the university, not to the students and that a change of name can only be made with the approval of a yet-to-be-formed "Publications Committee."

Although we had considered that it may have been better to submit the new name to a vote by students, we also realized from past experience that even with a student ballot cast in favor of the new name, the administration would make the decision it wanted regardless of student opinion.

Our belief was confirmed at the meeting Thursday when Dean Thomas told us there would be no need for a student referendum, because the decision for change has to come from the administration.

It seems to us that a newspaper supported by student activity fees and advertising revenue earned by students would belong to students, not to overly possessive administrators.

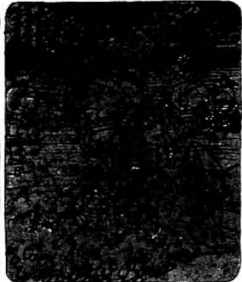

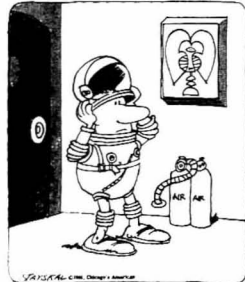

We chose the name "Spectator" because the old Edwardsville Spectator, published from 1819 to 1826, was the first newspaper in Madison County and third in the State of Illinois.

It was the first distinctively anti-slavery paper ever published in the state, and, according to Volume VI of the Illinois Historical Collections, it was "the most influential paper in the state."

The proposed name "Spectator" is appropriate in a number of ways. A spectator is a person who watches, listens and comments. Its historical value fits in well with University Center Director Robert Handy's efforts to create historical significance in the new University Center. The name also represents the entire area—an objective SIU President Delyte W. Morris has long advocated.

The name "Alestle," submitted by an art student as a joke when a contest was held to pick a new name which represented all three centers in 1960, is a combination of Al- for Alton, -estl- for East St. Louis and -e for Edwardsville.

Certainly Edwardsville was not destined to be represented by the silent "e" in the name

Reagan's 'Unprofessionals' May Be Overdoing the Bit

By Arthur Hoppe
(San Francisco Chronicle)

Ronald Reagan as you know is hammering home the fact that he is a non-professional "citician politician." Leading a staff of dedicated non-professionals in a fighting campaign against the tired old political pros.

Personally, I think he's overdoing it.

I say this after joining Reagan at 7 a.m. last Wednesday in Los Angeles for a day's campaigning down in San Diego. A 260-mile round trip. By bus.

"We'd fly," explained Reagan's jolly citizen press director, Lyn Nofziger, "but we wanted to give the press a chance to get acquainted with the candidate. Above all we want to keep the press happy."

So as the sun rose, there we were, 11 happy, red-eyed ace newsmen standing in a parking lot. And no bus.

"Damn," said a non-professional harried aide, glancing at his watch. For Reagan had to be in San Diego by 10 a.m. for a major political address to the National Convention of World War I Veterans.

At 7:14, thank heaven, the bus arrived. And we were all set for a fast drive. Except we didn't have a candidate.

At 7:50, Reagan pulled up looking, as one happy newsmen put it, "well rested." He was charmingly apologetic. A citizen staff strategist announced we'd now have to fly. The bus raced for the airport, arriving just in time to watch the 8:20 flight take off. The next plane wasn't until 10.

Citizen staff members scattered this way and that to charter an aircraft.

The rest of the day went relatively smoothly and Nofziger did his best to make us happy, his best being to get us back to downtown Los Angeles at 8:15 p.m. But he was still as jolly and Reagan as affable as ever.

"And don't forget," said Reagan with mock ferocity as we reached the parking lot, "tomorrow I want everybody to be on time."

I congratulated Nofziger on the most forceful display of unprofessional campaigning I'd ever seen.

He laughed and laughed. "Actually," he said, "the real reason I like the candidate to mingle with the press is to prove that despite everything, he's a pretty good guy."

Well, you can't help admiring a staff that would go to such lengths to make a point. I just hope they'll stop trying to make me happy.

Army Attempting to End Earth Shape Debate

By Frank Macomber
Copley News Service

In the early days of recorded history few men believed the earth was round.

Even today many geodetic scientists claim the earth is egg-shaped, flattening somewhat at the poles and paunchy around the equator. They will get arguments, however, from other scientists, who say the earth is round as a billiard ball. Gemini 11 astronauts Charles (Pete) Conrad and Richard W. Gordon got that impression when they looked down on the world from an altitude of 850 miles.

So nobody really knows for certain the size or shape of the globe, or the precise distances between many of its land masses separated as they are by vast oceans which cover 76 per cent of the world's surface.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is trying to change all that with SECOR. This is the acronym for "sequential collation of range."

The device, designed and built by the Cubic Corp. of San Diego, Calif., is a geodetic satellite, weighing 45 pounds and no bigger than the average portable TV set.

A team of four SECORs hooked rides and rode piggyback on Air Force and federal space agency rockets as early as 1964, because the Army had no boosters of its own.

These four small, bright, aluminum boxes already have shattered a lot of old ideas about the size and shape of the earth, circling the globe at an altitude of 600 miles. Now another team of SECOR satellites is being launched from

TECHNICIAN NIKKI PPESTON AND SECOR

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., to altitudes of up to 2,500 nautical miles. The first of these was launched in August and three more will be launched late this year and in early 1967.

The new SECOR will more than double the efficiency and capacity of the lower altitude group, enabling Army engineers to tie together land masses separated by more than 2,000 miles of water or land, or roughly the distance between the U.S. mainland and Hawaii, and to position islands with a margin of error of less than 30 meters.

The satellites work with four ground stations via transponders, or sending-receiving radio devices, also produced by Cubic, or pinpoint locations on the earth's surface. They have significant scientific, geographic and military potentials. The Army, however, is not ready to outline the military roles of SECOR.

Through the use of electronic ranging techniques, three SECOR ground stations at known positions are used, with the aid of the orbiting satellites, to locate the exact position of the fourth station. With this formula, the location of large land masses and islands can be pegged accurately.

The stations, weighing only 5,000 pounds each are air-portable and can be flown anywhere in the world. Many free nations already have agreed to participate in what the Army and Cubic call a "yardstick for a new age."

The first of the high-altitude SECORs, launched last month, already is telling us the precise locations of Western Pacific islands, and Hawaii. Soon the North American continent will be geodetically (geographically) to Hawaii. And for the first time in history man will know the exact distance between these major land areas.

More precise than radar, SECOR satellites already have uncovered some fascinating fact about the "where" of some Pacific islands. For example, the Ryukyu Islands turned out to be half a mile southwest of where they appear on world maps.

Campaign Being Resumed After Truce

Percy-Douglas Race Has National Interest

By Larry Kramp

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinoisans are watching a political oddity in a Republican effort to unseat a Democratic elder statesman, U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas, 74, with a millionaire industrialist, Charles H. Percy.

The oddity has been a truce. For despite a close race, both candidates abstained from formal campaigning because of the murder of Percy's daughter.

However, work in their behalf is being resumed in failing to upset Gov. Otto Kerner in 1964.

A win by Douglas might reflect voter satisfaction with his support of labor and welfare legislation, as well as satisfaction with relative prosperity under the Johnson Administration.

A moratorium on campaigning has been in effect since Percy's daughter, Valerie, 21, was slain Sept. 18 in the Percy home in Kenilworth, a Chicago suburb.

Their accommodation of each other has extended to exchanging dates on a national television show. Douglas has traded his later interview date for Percy's earlier date so that the Republican nominee need not appear so soon after Valerie's death.

The importance of the outcome of the Percy Douglas struggle is reflected in the interest of national political leaders' concern about voter reaction to controversies like civil rights. This issue was heightened in Chicago by the open housing drive of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. this summer.

President Johnson has visited Illinois once during the campaign. He is expected to return in behalf of some hard-pressed Democratic congressional candidates as well as in support of Douglas.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey canceled a planned appearance before the AFL-CIO state convention because of the Douglas moratorium period, but Humphrey may swing into Illinois later when the campaign reaches a climax.

Appearances by U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts also are expected by Douglas supporters.

Countering these Democratic forays, former President Eisenhower will talk Friday at a fund-raising dinner in Chicago. Former Vice President Nixon will appear in Macomb Saturday and in Moline and Chicago Oct. 8.

Democrats count on the candidacy of Adlai Stevenson III for state treasurer to bolster their ticket. A Stevenson victory over State Rep. Harris Rowe of Jacksonville would stir talk of putting the son of the late United Nations ambassador into competition for higher office. Stevenson outpolled all state representatives in an at-large election two years ago.

Some Democrats regard State School Supt. Ray Page, Republican of Springfield whose re-election bid is challenged by Donald Prince, as the strongest GOP candidate downstate. Prince is a university administrator.

Democrats rely most for vote-getting on Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago and his well-organized precinct captains. But Republicans are counting on a candidacy by Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie for the presidency of the Cook County Board of Commissioners to offset some normal Chicago Democratic strength.

Republicans also produced Earl Eisenhower, brother of the former president, as a contestant for Cook County clerk. He attracted a large vote for state representative in the at-large election two years ago.

In Chicago, Republican congressional challenges are rated outstanding in the 3rd and 11th Districts on the Southwest and Northwest Sides, respectively. Albert Manion is opposing Democratic Rep. William Murphy in the 3rd and Alderman John Hoellen is hard on the heels of Rep. Roman Pucinski in the 11th.

Downstate Rep. Tom Rallsback of Moline, a Republican, has mounted an impressive attack on a Democratic freshman congressman, Gale Schisler of London Mills in the 19th District.

In another close race, in the 18th District, Thomas V. Cassidy, a Democrat, is given a by other candidates, or by national figures serving as stand-ins for them. Aides to Percy and Douglas said this week the two men will resume campaigning in October.

The Illinois Democratic chairman, James Ronan, said the race would be resolved in the last two or three weeks before the Nov. 8 election "when the issues would crystallize."

Currently, Ronan said, the issue is "whether to choose an experienced, well-established legislator against a newcomer who we expect will be pretty ineffective, if elected."

Douglas is seeking his fourth term. Victor Smith, Republican state chairman, said inflation, crime and lawlessness, and conduct of the Viet Nam war are the chief issues.

"The leaders of our party have been warning our people that the signs are set for victory but we cannot fail to get the campaign well organized or we lose," Smith said.

"We have to be realistic and want it badly enough to organize."

A victory for Percy would renew consideration of him as a presidential candidate. He lost luster chance of upsetting Rep. Robert H. Michel. Both are Peorians.

CHARLES H. PERCY

At stake is an Illinois ratio of 13 Democrats to 11 Republicans. Congressional districts are newly apportioned.

Also in newly apportioned districts, Democrats are striving to remain control of the House of the Illinois General Assembly while Republicans are likely to continue to dominate the Senate. Under a court ruling all senators will run for four-year terms. Normally, half of the senate seats are up for election for four-year terms every two years.

Illinois voters will decide whether to adopt a Revenue Article to the state Constitution and whether to rescind a state constitutional rule that county treasurers and sheriffs may not succeed themselves.

In another referendum voters will be asked to ratify a proposal to transfer banks and trust companies from control of the State Department of Financial Institutions to a commissioner and a 10-member board.

Three University of Illinois trustees will be elected.

Housing Rulings Tied to '63 Policy

He said there are many possibilities to alter trailer courts or apartments to make them acceptable, but the landlords have made no effort to do so.

Supervision isn't the only problem facing landlords, Zaleski said, "We are trying to upgrade off-campus housing. There are some standards the unapproved housing groups haven't met, and they won't be approved until they do."

"Discussing reasons students wanted to live in unsupervised housing, Zaleski said he felt there were a number who simply wanted privacy or cheaper rent.

"But, there are many who applied to live in these types of quarters so they could have a car. Almost all of the first 50 I spoke to said it was because they wanted to have a car or bike," Zaleski said.

Commenting on the cheap rent and privacy reasons, Zaleski said the Housing Office had a large listing of small private residences in town that offered cooking privileges, were inexpensive and rented to only a few students, "And these are all approved," he said.

Estimates by people working on the students' Housing petitions are that denials are running about three to one over approvals.

Some students have committed themselves by signing contracts for unapproved housing, and a few of the landlords stated they would not release the students from the contracts.

Commenting on this, Jack W. Graham, dean of students, said, "We hope to come to a meaningful solution between the student and the landlord."

He said there is a possibility a student might be forced to move into approved housing despite the landlord's refusal to break the contract.

Legally, University officials feel they are on firm ground with both the housing and vehicle regulations. According to the University Charter, the Illinois General Assembly empowered the Board of Trustees to create and implement regulations governing the student as they see fit.

C. Richard Gruny, SIU legal counsel, said he believes this is "air-tight" or he wouldn't have "advised officials to proceed as they have."

Gruny said, in matters such as these, the University is a corporate entity.

"The University does not refuse the right to ownership or choice of living quarters. It does, though, make these restrictions a prerequisite to being a student."

Southern holds similar powers granted to other state universities by the General Assembly.

Gruny said these problems and regulations are not unique to SIU. He said the University of Illinois has similar regulations.

Northern Illinois University and Illinois State have required unmarried undergraduate students to live in approved housing before the turn of the decade.

Inez Moves Towards Mexico-Maybe

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - Hurricane Inez, wild and weird as any twister yet spawned by the tropics, lumbered off Wednesday toward Mexico, taking a little heat off the already - battered Florida coasts.

After grinding to an ominous stop just 70 miles from Key West, the mean and unpredictable storm began nudging south-southwest. Top winds were 126 miles an hour.

Forecasters said they might haul down the red and black hurricane warning flags in the Florida Keys, where most people spent the day without lights. But they suggested that everybody in southern Florida keep their storm shutters up just in case.

Weathermen were wary, for Inez has crossed them up consistently since last Friday, when she howled into Cuba after a killing rampage the length of the Caribbean Sea.

In the few hours since she hammered Key West with 90-mile winds-but did surprisingly little damage-Inez had grown more vicious as she fed on the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Weather Bureau advisories estimated the top sustained winds slamming around her large and irregular eye at 100 miles an hour. But a tiny observation post manned by the U.S. Coast Guard in the Dry Tortugas clocked gusts up to 126.

Inez wasn't the terror she had been in the Caribbean, when she slugged Guadeloupe, Haiti and the Dominican Republic with winds that at times screamed at a 175-mile-an-hour pitch.

But she was rapidly regaining some of her old meanness and Floridians feared that if she struck again it would be a deadlier blow. An immense high pressure system over the gulf of Mexico kept the hurricane from turning north toward the upper Gulf Coast States.

Inez had hammered the southeast Florida coast, home of 2.5 million residents, and ridden "the highway that goes to sea" straight as an arrow down the Florida keys.

Ruby Wins Reversal; New Trial to be Set

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby won reversal Wednesday of his conviction for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald and defense attorneys claim he may never again be sentenced to death.

The Warren Commission asserted Oswald assassinated President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963.

Ruby can "walk free on a plea of guilty to murder without malice," said Joe Tonnahill of Jasper, Tex., one of Ruby's original attorneys.

Conviction carries an imprisonment term of two to five years and Ruby has spent almost three years in jail. Judges often consider time in jail as imprisonment time.

Ruby's conviction and death sentence were reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, highest state court in criminal cases.

The court said Ruby's statements to police soon after the shooting—such as, "I hope I killed the s.o.b."—were not spontaneous and therefore were not legally admissible at Ruby's trial.

Ruby's statements were made at least 10 minutes after the shooting and, in the case of his statements to a Secret Service agent after he asked if his answers would be made available to "magazines or publications." This proves he was "not speaking spontaneously," the appeals court said.

The court said Ruby must be given a new trial but not in Dallas County where the killing occurred.

Motorcycle Regulations Cause Unrest in Peace Corps Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Peace Corps volunteers, particularly those in Nigeria, are up in arms over recent administrative decisions dealing with transportation and living allowances, it was learned Wednesday.

The volunteers have been writing congressmen, their parents and Peace Corps headquarters to express their dissatisfaction over the restriction of vehicle use, the closing of hostels and a proposed cut in living allowances.

The volunteers in Nigeria have been the most critical of the changes, it was learned, but a corps spokesman denied reports that they had threatened to go on strike. The spokesman also denied that Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn's trip to Africa Thursday, announced only Tuesday, was scheduled primarily because of the groundswell of dissatisfaction among the volunteers.

The corps announced Tuesday that Vaughn would leave Thursday aboard a chartered flight with a group of 141 volunteers who are being assigned in Senegal, the Ivory Coast and Nigeria.

"Vaughn has wanted to visit our program in Africa for some time," the spokesman said.

The changes which have stirred the volunteers in Nigeria are:

1. The restricting of the number of vehicles, mostly motorcycles and motor scooters, to those who really need them.
2. The closing of all hostels, inexpensive inns popular overseas for traveling students. The Peace Corps operated six in Nigeria which they began closing in August.
3. The proposed cut in the living allowance. Volunteers in Nigeria average between $133 to $149 a month in living allowances depending on the individual circumstances. The cut, which would become effective the first of the year if approved, would give the volunteers a maximum of $128 a month.

Frank Porcaro Still in Hiding

CHICAGO (AP) - There was no hint Wednesday as to the whereabouts of Frank Porcaro, former employe of the secretary of state's office who made charges involving his superiors and Chicago Sanitary District officers.

Porcaro, 62, in a tape recording to officers of the Cook County sheriff's office, reportedly accused certain high officials of the secretary of state's office and of the sanitary district of bribery.

The names of the persons involved and extent of the alleged bribery were not divulged.

North Korean Premier Urges Communists to Close Ranks

TOKYO (AP) - Using tough talk, cajolery and persuasion, North Korea's Premier Kim Il Sung pleaded with the world's Communist nations Wednesday to close their ranks and send fighting "volunteers" to Viet Nam.

At the same time he painted a picture of the disarray in Communism's ranks so gloomy as to suggest that he held out little hope the main antagonists—the Soviet Union and Red China would get together. Until they do, no other Communist nation is likely to dispatch its fighting men to Viet Nam.

Kim, in a major policy address before the opening session of the Worker's Communist party in Pyongyang, said the Communist "volunteers" are needed to counteract expansion of the war by the United States and its Allies which threatens the existence of North Viet Nam.

He also saw them as a means of patching up the tattered unity of international communism.

He said North Korea's

"volunteers" will go to fight whenever Hanoi calls for them. South Korea has nearly 40,000 troops in South Viet Nam.

Kim's speech is likely to create a sensation in Communist ranks. A somewhat mysterious figure who keeps in the background and seldom makes major pronouncements, he spelled out the Communist dilemma over Viet Nam in the clearest and least compromising terms yet.

This is that while North Viet Nam is being attacked by the United States daily and is suffering heavy losses in men and material, ideological differences paralyze the Communist bloc.

Viet Cong Provide World Series Touch

SAIGON (AP) - The U.S. military command in Saigon Wednesday announced the capture of 25 tons of peanuts from a Communist cache. "Just in time for the World Series," said a military spokesman.

Four Books to Be Issued

Four books will be released during the month of October by the Southern Illinois University Press, according to Vernon Sternberg, director.

The books are "Frege's Logical Theory" by Robert Sternfield, "F. Scott Fitzgerald and the Craft of Fiction," by Richard D. Lehan, "The Poetic World of William Carlos Williams," by Alan Ostrom, and the two-volume survey "Twentieth-Century French Literature to World War II," and "Twentieth-Century French Literature Since World War II" by Harry T. Moore.

Frege has been recognized as a valuable link between earlier and contemporary logicians, but his position as an independent and original thinker has been largely overlooked, Sternberg said.

Sternfield's "Frege's Logical Theory" will be responsible in large measure for the firm establishment of Frege's reputation as a philosophical titan and for much of the critical attention that he at last is being given in the United States, Sternberg said.

The books on Fitzgerald, Williams Carlos Williams, and the French writers of the twentieth century will be published by the press on Oct. 10, at $4.95 each. The Sternfield book is slated for publication by the press on Oct. 20, at $8.50 each.

The forward to "Frege's Logical Theory" has been written by George Kimball Plochman, general editor of the "Philosophical Explorations" series, and professor in the Department of Philosophy at Southern Illinois University.

Van Fenstermacher Heads New Faculty of Finance

Van Fenstermacher, a native of Ohio, is the chairman of the new Faculty of Finance established in the School of Business.

Hackett Elected Greek Treasurer

James M. Hackett, a senior from Monee, has been elected treasurer of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Hackett is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, social fraternity, where he has served as assistant treasurer.

LeRoy (Skip) Thomas had to vacate the IFC treasurer's office earlier this quarter when he was elected president of Council. He replaced Bill Reisenbuckler, who did not return to school.

Ph. D. degree from the University of Illinois, came to SIU in August from Kent State University in Ohio, where he was assistant professor of economics.

In making the announcement of the new unit, William J. McKeefery, dean of academic affairs and now acting dean of the School of Business, said courses in the area of finance that have been offered in management and other departments have been grouped together under a Faculty of Finance.

"It is a direction that many schools of business are moving to in order to give recognition to finance as an academic subject," McKeefery said.

In discussing other moves,

McKeefery said both the Transportation Institute and the Small Business Institute have assumed a closer relationship to the School of Business, with their offerings being closely associated to the school's departmental offerings. The directors of the institutes always have had faculty status in the School of Business, he said.

Caravan Planned By Young GOPs

The Young Republicans of SIU will stage a motorized caravan in Carbondale on Saturday and a rally Oct. 13 in Room 171 of Lawson Hall.

Times for both events will be set at a meeting of the organization at 7:30 p.m. today in Studio Theatre

Nominations Are Open for Fellowships

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation has announced that competition is now open for Woodrow Wilson Fellowships for 1967-1968.

Nominations for the fellowships are made by faculty members. The candidates are students considered persons capable of becoming outstanding teachers in the liberal arts and sciences on the university level.

Faculty members' nominations should be turned in to the Graduate School by Oct. 31, according to William Simeone, dean. They must include the student's name, current mailing address, college and proposed field of graduate study.

Joseph G. Bohlen, Moweaqua, Ill.; Jo Miller, Olmsted, Ill., and John S. Strawn, Moline, Ill., are SIU students who received the fellowships last year. Another winner was Winston C. Zoeckler, Carbondale, who finished his undergraduate work at Southern last December and is now studying at New York University.

Two Join Faculty Of Education Unit

The Department of Elementary Education has two new staff members this year, Bernice McLaren in children's literature and Donald Paige in elementary mathematics education.

She received her doctorate in education from the Teachers College of Columbia University and he from Indiana University, where he was teaching in the University Laboratory School.

Paige replaces Harold Lerch who is now at the University of Illinois.

The Reading Center also has two new staff members. They are Allen Berger, a graduate of Syracuse University and Daniel T. Fishco, who has his doctorate in education from Lehigh University. They replace Lawrence E. Hafner, who is now at the University of Georgia.

Job Interviews Is Meeting Topic

On-campus job interviews and the Placement Service will be the topics of a meeting for seniors in the School of Communications.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in the laboratory theater in the Communications Building.

All senior students in this academic unit are invited to attend to learn what should be done to secure visits with employers who will give interviews and also to learn more about the services offered by Placement Service.

English Club Sets Business Meeting

The year's first meeting of the English Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Family Living Lounge of the Home Economics Building.

No program will be presented. All officers except the president will be elected and programs for the year will be planned. Included in the business is planning the sales campaign for The Search: 6th Series, annual publication of student verse.

ELEANOR E. KEELAN

Middle East Is Forum Topic

Eleanor Keelen, of the Methodist Board of Missions in New York City, will speak at the Wesley Foundation Sunday Evening Forum at 6 o'clock Oct. 9.

Tehran, Iran, has been Miss Keelen's "home town" for the past three years. She taught English and history to young Iranian women in a school supported by the United Presbyterian Church.

She will speak on the "Conflict of Traditionalism and Modernism in the Middle East."

Miss Keelen did clerical work in a semi-weekly clinic conducted by the alumnae of the school. The clinic served the needy women and children of the community.

She said she was able to share some of the ideas and attitudes of the Iranian people, and see the country from their point of view.

Konishi Study Reported In Nutrition Journal

Frank Konishi, chairman of the Department of Food and Nutrition, is the author of a research report published in a summer issue of the Journal of Nutrition. Konishi discussed his investigation of the effects of diet, chronic inactivity and exercise on liver and fatty tissues, a study supported in part by a grant from the National Institutes of Health.

Model Job Interview Planned for Agriculture Seniors

Agriculture seniors and Placement Service personnel will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Muckelroy Auditorium in the Agriculture Building.

Placement Service representatives will explain their functions and conduct a model job interview demonstrating proper behavior and attitudes of the prospective employee. W.E. Keeper, dean of the School of Agriculture, invited all graduate students in agriculture, as well as seniors,

HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE?

Eighteen years ago Evelyn Wood, a Utah schoolteacher, made a startling discovery that led to the founding of Reading Dynamics. While working toward a master's degree she handed a term paper to a professor and watched him read the 80 pages at 6,000 words per minute - with outstanding recall and comprehension. Determined to find the secret behind such rapid reading, she spent the next two years tracking down 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words per minute. She studied their techniques, taught herself to read at these faster rates. Now, after years of experience in public schools and universities, she has made it possible for you to benefit from this great discovery.

DOES IT HAVE PROVEN RESULTS?

Results have been reported in Time, Newsweek, Business Week, and Esquire. Demonstrators have appeared on television with Jack Parr, Gary Moore, and Art Linkletter.

Describing Reading Dynamics' impact on some of our nation's legislators, Time said, "Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

SENATOR TALMADGE
Georgia

"It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in the public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational process."

SENATOR PROXMIERE
Wisconsin

"I must say that this is one of the most useful education experiences I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experience I've had at Yale and Harvard."

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with equal or better comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and subsequent tests.

Williams, Kuba Lead Rushers

SIU's Ground Gaining Improves

The stronger running game Southern exhibited last week against Drake doubled its rushing statistics for the season.

The Salukis rushed for 157 yards Saturday, which is 17 yards more than they picked up on the ground in their first two games combined.

The Salukis have passed 76 times, completing 40 for 481 yards or about 12 yards a completion. Southern's opponents have hit on 57 of 111 attempts for 664 yards, about an 11-yard average.

Hill Williams is the busiest ball carrier, rushing 39 times for 108 yards, a 2.6 average for each carry. Roger Kuba has 32 carries for 115 yards, an average of 3.4 yards. Bill Buzard has carried nine times for 14 yards and Eddie Richards has gained 27 yards in 10 carries.

Tom Massey is the leading pass receiver with 14 receptions for 210 yards. John Ference is second with 10 catches for 119 yards, followed by Kuba with nine for 119 yards. Wally Agnew has thrown 71 of the Salukis' passes. He has 37 completions for 447 yards, a .521 completion percentage. Doug Mougey has hit three of five passes for 34 yards.

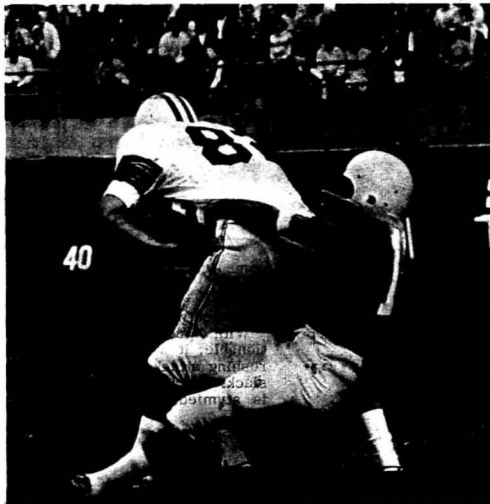

Punter Barclay Allen has kicked 19 times for an average of 38.4 yards a kick.

Tim Kelley is the leading punt returner with six for 20 yards. Williams has the best kickoff return totals with four for 83 yards.

The scoring leaders are Massey with 12 points, Buzard and Bill Hohns with six each, and Tim Kelley with seven points on a field goal and four extra points.

The Salukis have been penalized 263 yards to their opponents' 246.

WHOA, THERE—End John Ference (82) strains against the pull of a Drake defender as he attempts to get a first down for the Salukis after catching a pass from quarterback Wally Agnew. Ference got the first down, but SIU lost 30-7. The Salukis play Youngstown University at home Saturday.

Mougey Stands By for Saturday

Agnew May See Only Limited Action

By Bill Kindt

Southern's passing game may be hampered Saturday when the Salukis go against the Youngstown University Penguins in a football game in McAndrew Stadium.

The obstacle is the availability of passing quarterback Wally Agnew, who was hurt in the Drake game last week. If he is unable to go, his place will be taken by senior Doug Mougey.

In the first three games this season, Agnew has thrown the football 71 times and completed 37 for a .521 percentage.

He suffered a concussion in the third period of the Drake game when knocked down by a hard tackle. Doctors have given him a clean bill of health, but he has been having dizzy spells during the week.

Head Coach Ellis Rainsberger expects Agnew to play against the Penguins, but it still is questionable whether the junior will be able to complete the game. If it is necessary for him to leave the field, senior Mougey will fill in. Mougey, in his two years on the Saluki varsity, has played little, as a signal caller. As a sophomore, he played defensive safety. Last year he was the back-up man to quarterback Jim Hart and played when Hart was injured. Mougey threw the ball 17 times last year, completing five for 93 yards and had two intercepted. Against Drake last Saturday, he completed three passes out of five attempts for 34 yards.

The Saluki rushing game did come up against Drake, but it is still the passing of Agnew that the enemy knows most about and will be keyed to stop.

With Agnew's status questionable, it will be up to the rushing attack to take up the slack. But, if the rushing game is stymied, Agnew will have to go to the air if he plays. If he doesn't play, Mougey will have to do the job and that is what he is waiting for.

Kansas State Has A Winner

(By the Associated Press)

Playing for a consistent loser must be discouraging but not to Kansas State line-backer Danny Lankas, who is happy just to be able to play football. Once a doctor predicted that because of an ankle injury he would never play again.

For his brilliant and fiery efforts in a losing cause against Colorado last Saturday, the 6-foot, 211-pound junior, was named Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press.

Lankas had a hand in stopping 27 of 58 Buffalo plays in Kansas State's 10-0 defeat, its 14th consecutive loss.

The aggressive Wildcat made eight unassisted tackles, assisted on 17 more, intercepted a pass on his own five and returned it 15 yards and batted down another pass on the K-State 30.

Twice he saved a touchdown by stopping Wilmer Cooks, Colorado's big fullback, for no gain a yard from the goal. Lankas suffered a broken ankle and a torn ligament of the ankle in high school.

Weight Room Closes Weekends

The weight lifting room at McAndrew Stadium will be closed for the remaining weekends in October, Glen Martin, director of intramural athletics, has announced.

The weight room will close on Fridays at 3 p.m. and won't open again until 1:30 p.m. on Sundays. The facilities will remain open at the regularly scheduled times during the week.

Coldness Causes Penguin Nickname

Youngstown University, along with SIU, boasts a not-so-common nickname.

The Penguins trace their beginning back to the early days of basketball.

Youngstown players didn't have warmup jackets, so the players allegedly jumped up and down in order to keep warm.

Someone quipped, "They look like a bunch of Penguins," and that is when it all began.

Auto Club to Meet

The Carbondale Grand Touring Auto Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Epps Motors, Illinois 13 east of Carbondale. The meeting is open to persons interested. The club will sponsor a competition at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Murdale Shopping Center.

SERIES TIME—The men have taken over the television in the University Center to view that annual spectacle of the national pastime, the World Series.

Drabowsky Pitching Star

Orioles Win Opener 5-2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Moe Drabowsky, an obscure, 31-year-old hand-me-down, set a World Series record for a relief pitcher with 11 strikeouts and hurled the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-2 first game victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday.

Taking over from starter Dave McNally in the third, after the Robinson boys bombed Don Drysdale with first inning homers, Drabowsky allowed only one hit in 6 2-3 innings.

When he struck out the side in the fourth and fifth the Polish-born part-time stock broker tied a 47-year-old mark put in the books by Cincinnati's Hod Eller against the Chicago White Sox in 1919, the scandalous Black Sox series.

Frank Robinson's two-run homer, following a walk to Russ Snyder, got McNally off to a good start in the first. Then Brooks Robinson, the other half of the Orioles, one-two punch, followed with another homer into the same lower left field stands.

Despite Jim Lefebvre's homer in the Dodger second McNally held a 4-1 edge going to the last of the third because Andy Etchebarren walked in the second, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Snyder's single to left.

McNally suddenly lost all control in the third. After getting Willie Davis to fly out, he walked Lou Johnson, Tommy Davis and Lefebvre, leading the bases.

Hank Bauer brought in Drabowsky, who relieved some of the pressure by striking out Wes Parker but then got too careful with Jim Gilliam and lost him on a 3-2 count, walking in a run.

Drabowsky went to 3-2 on John Roseboro before he made him foul out to Etchebarren, leaving three frustrated Dodgers on the bases.

Drabowsky mixed a fine breaking ball with an assortment of soft stuff and some quickies to strike out pinch hitter Jim Barbieri, Maury

Wills and Willie Davis in the fourth.

He followed this by whiffing Lou Johnson, Tommy Davis and Lefebvre in the fifth. Parker finally broke the strike-out string by lofting a fly ball to Curt Blefary opening the sixth.

The only hit off the veteran right-hander was Willie Davis' single, following the walk to Wills in the seventh.

Coming down the stretch, he appeared to get stronger. In the ninth inning, he closed out the favored Dodgers by striking out Roseboro and pinch hitter Ron Fairly and making Wills bounce out to end the game.

After the home run bombs by the Robinson boys in the first, the Orioles picked up one in the second on a walk, a sacrifice and Snyder's single, then added their fifth and final run in the fourth on Dave Johnson's double, an infield out, a walk to Drabowsky and a force play. Johnson scored while Aparicio was forcing Drabowsky at second,

Record Crowd Sees Dodger String End

A record Dodger Stadium crowd of 55,941 set an all-time Series high for gate receipts with $557,336, erasing the old mark set at the Los Angeles Coliseum during the 1959 Series between the Dodgers and Chicago White Sox.

The defeat was the first ever for the Dodgers at Chavez Ravine in Series play. They had won two straight from the New York Yankees in 1963 and three from the Minnesota Twins last year. In fact, the American League teams had totaled only three runs in those five games, Baltimore tied that in one inning.

Trailing by one game, just as they were a year ago in Minnesota, the Dodgers will call on Sandy Koufax, the ace 27-game winner, to even the Series in Thursday's second game. He will be opposed by 20-year-old Jim Palmer, whose 15-10 record led the Orioles in victories.

Koufax clinched the pennant for the Dodgers in the final game of the season last Sunday in Philadelphia.
