Cuts Request $9 Million

Gov. Kerner Proposes $43.6 Million For SIU

Gov. Otto Kerner proposed a $43.6 million budget for the SIU biennium to begin July 1. This new total is up $11.4 million from two years ago, but more than $9-million less than the amount requested by SIU President Delyte W. Morris.

Gov. Kerner submitted the first $3 billion budget in the history of Illinois in which he proposed a $17.4 million increase over two years ago for the University of Illinois and $22.4 million more for the other four state universities.

Clarence W. Stephens, SIU budget officer, said previously that the $20 million increase was necessary to extend the summer term, provide for the increasing enrollment and permit better faculty salaries. John Rendleman, SIU legal adviser, indicated that some things would have to be cut, but he said he was not sure which items would go.

"The extended summer session may be off," declared Rendleman. "But," he added, "nothing is definite yet. If the longer session must wait, it will be at least two more years before anything will be done concerning this matter."

The new budget is an increase of $630 million over the current biennium. Gov. Kerner has proposed a one-half cent rise in sales tax to cover part of the increase.

Spring Election Pre-Registration Plans Announced

There will be pre-registration for the spring elections April 27, 28 and May 1. Primary election will be held May 2. Petitions for nominations began last Monday and will continue through Monday.

Five polling places have been set up for primary and general elections. Old Main and the corner at the Southern Playhouse will be the polling places for off-campus, Woody Hall, Dowdell, commuters, trailer court and Chautauqua residents. Voting booths will be set up at Lentz Hall, Group Housing, VTI and Southern Hills for residents of those areas.

Students are asked to pre-register at their designated voting area. University ID's will be the only identification needed to register to vote in the two elections.

Campaigning for the primary election will begin Thursday. The general election campaign will get underway the day following the primary election until election day May 9.

Any student who is interested in working at the polls in Old Main should contact the Student Government Office in the Student Union.

Trustees Meet Today In Mattoon

Applications for new doctoral degree programs and suggestions for changes in charges to non-university personnel for services by the clinical services center are among the topics to be discussed today by the Board of Trustees. The meeting will be held in Mattoon.

The two new board members—Dr. M. V. Brown and Arnold Maremont—will not be permitted to attend the meeting unless their nominations are approved by the Senate.

Applied Science Days Numbered

The second restriction of studies offered at Southern will probably be removed sometime in the near future, according to an SIU official.

In 1943 legislation was passed to prevent the University from offering agriculture, engineering, law, pharmacy and medicine studies.

The first restriction was removed in 1955 when Southern was permitted to establish the School of Agriculture. In all probability the restriction on engineering will be revoked in less than a week, a spokesman said.

Awaits Signature

Governor Otto Kerner's signature is the only thing that stands between SIU and an engineering school now. According to a University spokesman who preferred to remain anonymous, there is no doubt that the governor will sign the bill, because of overwhelming margins of passage in both Houses, including the 53-1 victory in the Senate.

Although there was violent opposition to the SIU engineering proposal in the legislature a few years ago, all opposition has withered away. Sen. Everett R. Peters of Champaign, who led the opposition in previous legislative sessions, stated he wouldn't oppose the move.

His change of heart is a result of the vast expansion at Southern and plans to establish an engineering school at the Chicago branch of the University of Illinois, he said.

Interested In Area

Another reason for extreme optimism is that Gov. Kerner is greatly interested in southern Illinois. Signing of the bill would be in keeping with his plans to industrialize this area.

The engineering bill was given to the governor Friday after it passed in the Senate Tuesday. He has 10 legislative days to sign or veto the bill, and this period will end Thursday.

According to the spokesman, applied science graduates in August may receive the B.S. degree in engineering. However, he added, it is too soon to be certain about this.

Dwight Green Speaks At Monday's Convo

Life on the Mississippi River and the important job the steamboat played in it will be featured at the Monday convocation. Dwight Green will be the guest speaker at the 10 a.m. session in Shryock Auditorium.

Movie Hour Features Liz Taylor

Academy award winner Elizabeth Taylor will be featured at Furr Auditorium tonight. Miss Taylor will be seen in one of her first movies, "National Velvet."

Also starring in the film are Mickey Rooney and Donald Crisp. It is a warm, human interest story of country life, highlighted by the running of the Grand National, the world's most thrilling steeplechase. The winning ticket in a raffle starts a series of thrill-packed adventures. The movie will be shown at 6, 8 and 10 p.m.

"The Violent Men" with Glenn Ford, Barbara Stanwyck and Edward G. Robinson will be shown tomorrow night. Taking place in the great Civil War period, it is a stirring drama of the desires and passions which tear apart a frontier valley for life and land.

The story centers around a group of small ranch owners who are faced with the greed of cattle barons. It will be shown at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Admission for both movies will be the regular 25 and 40 cents.

English Proficiency Exam Today In Furr

The Undergraduate English Qualifying Exam will be given today in Furr Auditorium from 9 a.m.-noon. The exam is a replacement for the English 391 proficiency exam.

The test is offered to sophomores and above in the College of Education, to business sophomores and to juniors and seniors in the School of Applied Sciences. It will also be given to anyone who plans to student teach.

The qualifying exam will be given to juniors and seniors in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Monday from 9 a.m.-noon. This test, which will also be given in Furr Auditorium, is a replacement for the required English Test.

The two exams will consist of an objective English test and a written theme.

Dakota Staton Here For Two Concerts

Tantalizing Dakota Staton

Show, Dance End Greek Week Action

She really makes music; music that sounds fresh and sweet. She imprints each song differently. She compels attentiveness, for she is a singer with many meanings. Who is she? She's dazzling, sexy Dakota Staton.

Staton's sexy sounds will invade the Shryock Auditorium scene tomorrow night with two all-school concerts at 7 and 9 p.m., as the popular jazz singer will begin the windup session of Greek Week. The night will end with the Greek Week Dance at Lentz Hall where the Most Valuable Greeks will be named.

Dakota was born in Pittsburgh and began her career at the age of seven, singing with two sisters. When her sisters married and the trio dissolved, Dakota went on as a single, attending high school by day and performing in a night club in the evenings. Today she is one of the nation's fastest rising female jazz vocalists.

Her versatile range and phrasing make each Dakota interpretation individual and all her own. She ranges from numbers with a misty, blues quality to those with a swinging beat.

The Capitol label star sings the wistful "Little Girl Blue," the bright "Anything Goes," and rocks with "Say It Ain't So, Joe." Dakota has waxed seven albums including "Late, Late Show," "Crazy He Calls Me," "Dynamic," "Time to Swing" and "Softly."

Tickets for the Dakota concerts are on sale in the Student Union ticket office. Reserved seats are selling for $1.50, $1.75 and $2. Good seats are still available for both concerts. Tickets will be on sale tomorrow at the Student Union from noon until 5 p.m., and tomorrow night at the door.

Library Donated Large Collection

Approximately 8,000 volumes have been donated to the Morris Library by an unidentified donor. The most recent addition is the largest acquired through gift or purchase. The collection consists of American and British literature of the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

The gift is considered a unique and valuable collection. A large number of the volumes are first or limited editions and many are autographed or presentation copies. The collection is mostly fiction, with some poetry and drama included; over 1,400 are represented in the collection.

The library, which is well-known to collectors, was assembled over a period of 30 years or more by a New York attorney. The donor purchased the collection from the estate of the deceased attorney. Most of the books are in good condition.

Leadership Camp Set For May 5-6

The annual Spring Leadership Camp will be held at Little Grass Lake Campus May 5-6. The purpose of the training camp is to discuss different aspects of leadership.

This two day session is considered an opportunity to learn the qualities necessary to be a leader in residence halls, on the campus and many other situations. The overnight camp has a 100-space capacity. Anyone interested in attending may obtain applications at the Student Government Office. They must be returned no later than Tuesday.

Laughton Lingo To Fill Shryock

One of the biggest names ever to hit campus will converge on Shryock Auditorium next Friday. He is a dramatist. He is a comic. And he's an internationally known stage and screen personality.

Charles Laughton will feature readings from the Bible and English and American literary classics at two concerts April 28. "I have read a lot more books and propose to read some things from them. There have been many, many requests for the old favorites, and if you insist, I will read some of them," declared Laughton.

Laughton, a native of England, is a veteran dramatic actor who has scored many successes in comedy roles as well. His latest film, "Witness For The Prosecution," combines both mystery and drama.

Tickets are available at the Student Union ticket office from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. daily. Reserved seats are on sale for $1.50, $1 and 50-cents.

Unclassified Students Meet Monday

Unclassified students who failed to obtain a 3.0 average last term should plan to attend a meeting Monday at 10 a.m. The meeting will be held in Browne Auditorium to outline study helps, discuss registration procedures and interpret present regulations.

The counseling and testing staff, including the advisers to unclassified students, are available to discuss questions and academic progress.

Should ROTC Be Voluntary

There seem to be quite a few advantages to the argument that ROTC should be voluntary. The story two weeks ago that the Air Force may revamp the ROTC program to make it voluntary indicates that the Air Force has seen a waste of money in many cases, and that a revised program would not only save money, but would in most cases produce better Air Force officers.

Many students at Southern are of the opinion that ROTC has not done an overwhelming amount of good for them. This philosophy doesn't always hold water, for any requirement generally is looked down upon by students. But it does seem logical that two years of drilling once a week for nine months—or a total of 72 times in a college career—does not constitute much of an extended training program.

But the physical aspects of Southern's situation are probably more desperate than many of us realize. Though the proposed Physical Education and Military Training Building will be a huge improvement over ancient Wheeler Hall, the fact remains that nearly one-third of the current enrollment is required to meet the ROTC requirements, and that figure will progress with expanded enrollment.

If students are not gaining from the program, it seems a voluntary system would be of more use in all respects. Under the present system, no more than the most minute glance at military life can be gained by a student who just plans to wait for the draft. The program is basically fitted for young men who plan to make a career of the Air Force.

Why not make it what it should be: a program to prepare interested students for military life, and leave the other aspects—such as discipline, good living habits and the way to dress—to other and better equipped departments?

The Civil War—which will be commemorated at Southern Monday and Tuesday—did more than settle a disagreement between the North and South (if it was settled): it changed drastically the headgear of men!

Four million men spent four years wearing hats and caps of a kind they'd never seen before. Most soldiers were outfitted with the little flat-topped forage caps borrowed from the kepi of the French army. The higher officers wore modified sombreros, such as the skull coverings of Generals Lee and Grant.

Certain groups became readily recognized from their hats. Jeb Stuart's cavalrymen wore black hats with ostrich feather trim; Morgan's raiders sported dashing black soft hats with chicken feathers; the volunteer Zouaves wore red fetzes with blue tassels.

After the war, men returned home to find the familiar perched toppers still intact on the shelf. But four years of fighting even changed man's mind toward hats—and the answer was the derby, which was just beginning to appear in Eastern shops, and to the eyes of freedom-craving soldiers, it represented the dressy, easy-going, carefree feeling which resulted from the four years of turmoil.

Derbies in black, gray and brown were turned out by millions and sported all over the country.

Abraham Lincoln's famous topper was the last to be worn by our presidents except for ceremonial occasions. Abe's hat was nothing but really high. Just imagine that seven-inch topper capping his six foot, four-inch frame!

Dear Editor:

Recently a Mr. Resnick wrote to the Egyptian concerning a letter about dining hall regulations at Thompson Point.

Mr. Resnick criticized the author for not signing his name. I do not see what difference it makes whether the author signed his name or not. Would his complaints be more legitimate, his arguments more valid, his ideal more constructive, if he had signed his name?

Mr. Resnick said ". . . All I can say is that he elected his representatives and should let the council members know his feelings." This is a very clear case of Mr. Resnick's failure either to read carefully or else he failed to comprehend the contents of the letter.

The author clearly reminded the students of Thompson Point that it is their duty to inform their representatives of their personal feelings toward the way they are being represented.

Mr. Resnick and the anonymous author are in agreement on this point. If, in his own words, all Mr. Resnick can say is that he agrees with the letter, I would like to know with whom he is disagreed.

Mr. Resnick also said, ". . . The regulation on dress would not be necessary if people like our anonymous friend would use their own judgment in appropriate dress for evening and Sunday meals."

How does Mr. Resnick know that "anonymous" does not dress appropriately for evening or Sunday meals? The author never said that he did not want to wear appropriate dress to meals.

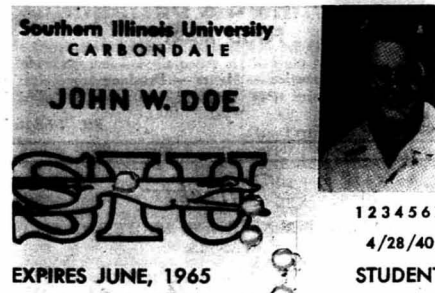

Sincerely,
 Dan Markey

New ID's A Part Of Automation

EXPIRES JUNE, 1965

1 2 3 4 5 6

4/28/40

STUDEN'

Above is Southern's new tamper-proof ID card that can't be destroyed. The new identification card will be issued to all students starting fall quarter. The birth date will be obtained from high school transcript. The plastic card is another move toward automation by the University. The holes in the card are for processing through an IBM machine.

"We hope to make your jobs easier," Dean Isbell told the Auxiliary & Service Enterprises staff at its Monday meeting. Isbell, who is the coordinator of systems and procedures, explained the value of the new student ID cards and the Printapunch machine which is used in the identification process.

He said that IBM cards will give data on students, physical facilities, equipment, faculty members, budget and time. The cards for faculty members will include such information as what hours they have free and what courses they can teach. "The problem," continued Isbell, "is to find how each of these aspects relates to the others."

University Efficiency Improved

Isbell, who has been working on automation at SIU since December, said that the purpose of the program is not to eliminate people, but to make the University more efficient.

He indicated that the new system would eliminate much of the time in checking out a library book since it would not be necessary to fill out a card. A research laboratory is being set up to find possible weaknesses. It was pointed out that the program can save time and expense in any campus department.

The ID cards to be used in the process will be made sometime in May for freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Isbell indicated that the cards can be validated. The machine will not accept the card of a student who has not paid his fees for that term.

Increases Directory Value

Turning his attention to the student directory, Isbell pointed out that it came out in December, 1960, and by the end of the winter term over 65% of the addresses were outdated. The computer to be used by the program would keep the directory up to date by allowing a new edition each term. Instead of printing only 1,200 for 75

Business Fair Slated Tuesday

The Second Annual Business Fair will be held in Muckelroy Auditorium Tuesday from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Marketing, accounting and management will be the topics featured at the career conference.

Dean Henry J. Rehn of the School of Business will deliver the opening address, "Education for Business." The marketing forum, with Dr. Paul Hoffman as chairman, will begin at 9:30 a.m. The function of marketing will be discussed at this session. Also discussed will be the opportunities in the phases of transportation, advertising, market research and wholesaling.

The accounting forum will begin at 10:45 a.m. and discuss the primary duties of the private, public and the governmental accountant. Robert Burger is chairman of the forum, which also will consider the value of a CPA license and the opportunities in the three phases of accounting.

The third forum will discuss the educational requirements of a manager and the chief duties of general, financial and personnel managers. This session is under the direction of Dr. Everett Hong. Comments on the placement Service will be given by Dr. Roye Bryant, director.

The business fair is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi, professional fraternity of commerce and business. Convocation credit will be given for attendance at each of the sessions.

The staff was in general agreement concerning the value of the new program. J. Albin Yokie, coordinator of housing, said his department had spent a year and a half attempting to find some way to expedite processes.

The only Printapunch now available is charged to the President's Office. "It will probably be investigated by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat," Isbell punned.

Councils To Discuss School Colors, Mascot

Student senators of the three SIU campuses will meet in May to discuss school mascots, colors and other items, according to Elizabeth I. Mullins, co-ordinator of student affairs.

The three student councils will discuss whether the three campuses will use the maroon and white of the Carbondale campus; they will also try to reach a decision on whether they will choose different mascots, or adopt the Salukis.

The joint council earlier decided that the branches would use the same diploma, class ring and seal. They will also share the Obelisk with the possibility of having different activities sections for each campus.

Jane Crusius Concert To Be Given Today

Jane Crusius, an El Paso soprano, will sing to fulfill a degree requirement today at Morris Library Auditorium. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Crusius, who is a voice student of Dr. Carol MacClinktock, is the 1960 Miss Southern. She recently acted as hostess in the Miss Southern Acres contest.

Miss Crusius will sing "My Heart Ever Faithful" and "And God Said." She will also sing other numbers composed by Puccini, Faure, Brahms, Carpenter and others. She will be accompanied by Barbara McEndree at the piano.

Tennis Team Meets Iowa

Making a play for their eighth straight victory, Coach Dick LeFevre's netmen meet Iowa here tomorrow at 1 p.m. on the varsity courts behind the Student Union.

Bob Sprengelmeyer and Arnie Cabrera, playing number two and four respectively, have perfect 7-0 records for the regular season. The first place doubles team of Roy Sprengelmeyer and Ron Underwood also are undefeated this season.

Following Saturday's match, the squad will rush off to meet Vanderbilt Monday afternoon.

"With the weather clearing off, work crews will begin laying the surface of the 12 new tennis courts next week," Coach LeFevre mentioned.

The $72,000 project should be completed for the IAC championships here the end of May. In last year's playoffs, Bob Sprengelmeyer won first place honors in the third man slot and Dick King copped the fourth position title.

Roy Sprengelmeyer was beaten for the top honors in the first place rankings by Eastern's Don Garver.

Numbers one and three doubles teams had to forfeit in the 1960 IAC finals, but the second team of Bob and Roy Sprengelmeyer took the crown.

Although Southern is now out of the NAIA, it might be noted that the Salukis captured third in the national tournament on the unofficial standings last year.

The Sprengelmeyers, of Dubuque, Iowa, and Dick King will be contenders for National Collegiate Athletic Assn. titles when SIU hosts the competition in June. Ron Underwood, Arnie Cabrera and John Taylor are ineligible for NCAA play because they played while freshmen.

LeFevre decided this year to go NCAA completely and withhold his freshmen from competition.

An intersquad match between the freshman and the varsity will be played Friday at 2 p.m.

What Is Track Club--PR, Recruiter Or...?

by Bob Meierhans
Sports Editor

Does the Saluki AAU Track Club act as a recruiting agency, or a public relations team, or fund gathering unit for the athletic department, or is it a means to get ineligible stars into action?

With a bit of qualification, it fulfills all these objectives.

Operating under NCAA regulations, SIU cannot field a freshman squad or allow them to compete in varsity meets. The Amateur Athletic Union permits any runner to compete, whether high school, college or independent, as long as they remain amateurs.

In addition, transfer students who don't have resident requirements for our conference or who are scholastically ineligible for a term may compete for the Track Club.

"It hurts a good man to lay off his freshman year," explained Coach Lew Hartzog. "The Track Club offers these men a chance to compete, since the University cannot afford to field a freshman squad."

Public relations and recruiting aspects fall into the same angle. When people across the country see or hear about the accomplishments of the Saluki AAU Track Club, the association with the Southern Salukis is a natural.

"Dave Stryon's victory in the 100-yard dash made people conscious of Southern."

"When athletes see the quality of our performers they want to run on a crack team," remarked the coach. "Certainly that makes contacts easy, you can't deny it."

Since the club has been organized they have saved the athletic department's budget budget thousands of dollars. When Jim Dupree, Sonny Hocker and the Styron twins went to the West coast for the Los Angeles Relays, they were given money for first class air travel, food and hotel accommodations. The tab totaled $1,340.

"Sponsors of the big meets, such as the Knights of Columbus, the Chicago Daily News and the Washington Evening Press, are quite willing to pay to get the top men to run in their meets," explained Hartzog.

This procedure has benefited Southern several times. Louisville wanted to have Dupree and the Styrons compete. In order to get the boys, they agreed to collect bills for 15 of the varsity that otherwise could not have gone.

When first class reservations are given and the distance is not prohibitive, the Salukis travel second class so they can take more of the squad. This represents a savings rather than an expense to the university.

British Milers Banned From Competing In United States

Southern's athletic department has announced a policy of full cooperation with the British Amateur Athletic Board regarding three British milers now attending SIU.

The BAAB refused Wednesday to grant permission sought by the trio until further investigation could be made.

The issues still being contested are whether or not the runners are on an athletic scholarship, and how contact between Track Coach Lew Hartzog and the Brits is to be made.

Mike Wiggs, Brian Turner

and Bill Cornell wish to run in the United States and still maintain their amateur status in Great Britain.

AAU Honorary Secretary Dan Ferris has asked SIU to comply with the request of BAAB official Jack Crump asking the track stars not to compete until a decision has been reached.

Both Southern and the United States AAU have been notified that the Brits wish to run in their wish to maintain their amateur ratings in England.

Golfers Take On Illinois Normal

Coach Lynn Holder's fairway squad will be seeking home win number 35 today against Illinois State Normal University.

The Redbirds of Coach Howard Hancock have four returning lettermen to bolster this year's effort. Capt. Robert "Red" Davis, captain of last season's fifth place conference finishers, will be pacing the linksmen.

Southern topped the Redbirds, 20-4, in their last meeting.

SIU Cricket Club Formed; Meet Set

Cricket anyone? It's not so ridiculous — Southern now has a Cricket Club.

Organized with the aid of a $300 grant from the Office of Student Affairs, a group of SIU students have formed a club and scheduled a number of matches.

The group is composed mainly of graduate students from India and Pakistan, but some are from Australia, British West Indies and South Africa where cricket takes the place of baseball as a national pastime.

With the first match slated for Sunday in St. Louis, the club has arranged meets with Chicago, Louisville, and several Iowa teams. They hope to present an exhibition match during Spring Festival.

Any student interested in playing the game may contact the club secretary, Jim Fountain, CL 7-5768.

Batsmen Tromp Evansville, 17-1; Hit Two Homers

HO HUM

Gerry Marting eases into home chalking up one of the 10 runs slipped across in the sixth inning. The Salukis sent 15 men to the plate during the frame and badgered the Evansville crew for five unearned runs.

10 Tallies Racked In Big 6th Frame

Saluki batsmen ripped apart the Evansville College defense Tuesday, banging out 18 hits to drub the Indiana club, 17-1.

Wally Westbrook, batting 3-5, slammed a home run with one on in the third inning. After driving a long foul beyond the right field pole in the third, Mel Patton collected his round tripper in the eighth.

Southern pounded the Evansville pitching staff relentlessly, picking up two runs in the second and three in the third.

Ten men toured the bases in the sixth frame as 15 batsmen took their turn at the plate. A summary of the inning shows three wild pitches—on which two runs scored—two passed balls, seven hits, two errors and a great big five unearned runs.

Bob Harcastle doubled to lead off the sixth inning romp and was driven home by Mel Patton. A walk for Mike Pratte and a single by Westbrook set the Evansville squad for a barrage.

Westbrook stole home on a wild pitch. Pratte promptly duplicated the feat by romping across the plate as shortstop Gerry Marting took first on a strike out when the Evansville catcher let the pitch slip by him.

Emphasis was on the long ball in the Saluki's fourth win of the regular season. Duke Sutton snagged a pair of two-baggers in his first two times at bat. Harcastle, Burda, and Pratte all doubled in the slambang sixth stanza.

Lefthander Larry Tucker fanned six and walked one, giving up only one hit before Coach "Abe" Martin put in Gary Williams in the sixth.

Two walks and two wild pitches were responsible for Evansville's only run of the afternoon. Being dropped by Hillsdale and Southeast Missouri, whom the Salukis tackle Saturday, the Evansville crew now stands 0-3.

John L. Wooten, custodian at the Agriculture Building, scored a hole-in-one Saturday morning on the fourth hole at Crab Orchard golf course. A large tree partially shades the edge of the green on the 165-yard hole making a straight tee shot a must.

Accompanying Wooten were staff members George E. O'Hara and Kenneth Lautner.

Design Critic Ends Two Week Campus Visit

Reyner Banham, critic of architecture and industrial design, left the Southern campus yesterday, but not before dispensing with some of his philosophy.

Banham, assistant executive director of "The Architectural Review" in London, was a lecturer in the design department during the past two weeks.

His philosophy of design stems not from an economic standpoint, but rather from the designer's view. This is at times at odds with the corporate magnates who finance the building of what he often calls "Brooks Brothers" buildings.

His reference to "Brooks Brothers" type buildings comes from his observations of structures in New York City. The English critic thought New York's attempt to revamp its structures with glass facades made the overall picture look somewhat like a man in a suit manufactured by the famed clothing firm of the same name.

Banham was impressed with design students at SIU. "They're not quite as sharp as European students, but they are dynamic — they're thinkers," explained Banham.

Commenting on the Guggenheim Museum in New York, the British critic said the museum added a new dimension to the language of art buffs. "In England, we have the gallery food, and fresco, and now you Americans have added the Guggenheim ankle," he said. "All three maladies stem from the physical discomfort while visiting a gallery." Banham added.

He will conclude his American tour with a visit to the Yale campus today to lecture on "Design and the Human Sciences." He will return by plane to London tomorrow.

Teacher Retires After 31 Years Service To SIU

After 31 years of service to Southern, Mary Louise Barnes of the School of Home Economics will retire. The associate professor will leave at the end of the summer quarter.

Because of her husband's poor health, Mrs. Barnes will leave and accompany him to Tucson, Ariz.

When she first came to SIU and the home economics department, there were only two teachers, 50 students, one lecture room, one food lab with a Bunsen burner and one oven lab in her department. The home management houses were the separate resident barracks and the department was located at the south end of the first floor of Old Main.

Since the new Home Economics Building has been completed, the modern facilities enable the larger faculty and student body to work more efficiently.

The staff of the home economics department will present a gift to Mrs. Barnes before she departs. Plans are now under way to establish a Mary Louise Barnes Alumnae Scholarship Fund. Faculty members are encouraged to contribute to the scholarship fund.

A dinner party in her honor will be held at the University cafeteria May 5 at 6:30 p.m. Reservations for the dinner should be made no later than May 1.

Applications For Photo Contest Now Available

Applications are available to anyone interested in entering the Photo Contest sponsored jointly by the Student Union and Kappa Alpha Mu, professional photo-journalism fraternity. The entry forms may be picked up at the Student Union desk.

"Campus Life" is theme for the photo competition. Winners will be chosen for each of three categories — people, campus scenes and events. Each winner will be awarded $10.

All pictures entered in the contest must be 8x10 or larger. They should be submitted no later than May 5. First prizes will be announced May 9.

Chinese Journalist Longs To Translate 'Moby Dick'

By E. Powell Johnson

"I would like to translate Herman Melville's 'Moby Dick,' but my English is not polished enough yet"—such is the modest feeling of Peng Yao, Chinese author-journalist-educator who recently finished translating Meyer Berger's 'The Story of the New York Times' into Chinese.

A graduate student at Southern, he plans to publish the translation when he returns to Taiwan after completing his studies in the United States.

Yao edits the "Rambler," "Saturday Evening Post-type" magazine, and is associate managing editor of the "Shin Sheng Daily News" in Taipei.

Paper Size Limited

Yao noted that the Hungarian Revolution provided many difficulties for Chinese papers, which are limited by law to eight pages per issue. He explained that fitting and editing stories from Hungary—and also those from the concurrent Suez crisis—into the two pages allotted to international news was his most "difficult and exciting job."

Yao heaped praise on the Associated Press, whose releases are translated into Chinese, for its coverage of these two international emergencies felt and followed so keenly in Nationalist China.

Among his "about 10" books, Yao modestly labels his "The Falling Moon" as the novel most widely acclaimed by his people. His latest book, "Farewell to the Mountain," was published after his arrival in this country about four months ago.

Teaches In Taiwan

In addition to his careers as a member of the working press and as a writer, Yao also teaches at the Taiwan Provincial Normal University.

Academically speaking, the tables are turned for Yao now in America where, he explains, "studies allow no sleep until midnight." Despite the academic load, the Chinese author devotes some time to reading the works of Jack London and Ernest Hemingway, his favorite American authors.

Yao noted with pleasure the informality and friendliness at SIU—especially the less rigid relationships between students and instructors. The student-professor relationship in China is very formal, but, at the same time, very close; the professor is almost a third parent to the Chinese student.

To illustrate this aspect of Chinese culture, Yao explained the custom in years past of dealing with traitors—not only was the traitor executed, but his parents and his teachers were similarly dealt with for the breach of honor.

Upon completion of his graduate study at Southern, Yao plans to return to his family, to publication of Berger's book, to his posts on the "Rambler" and the "Shin Sheng Daily News," and, most important, he asserted, to efforts toward "becoming a novelist," a role most Chinese accord him already.

Smith-Mundt Grant Awarded To Miller

John C. Miller, graduate assistant in the Activities Development Center, has been awarded a Smith-Mundt grant for a year's study at the University of Caracas, Venezuela.

A 1959 graduate of Rutgers University, Miller is a candidate for an M.S. degree in education from Southern in June. His course concentration is in college student personnel.

A native of Westmont, N.J., Miller intends to study literature and education.

The picture, "Silvery Saplings," was one of 900 pictures entered from 22 states. Salmo is enrolled in the School of Communications.

Spurlin Heads For Oratorical Contest

Fred Spurlin has been selected to represent SIU at the state Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the subject of Alcohol and Its Related Problems. Spurlin is a senior in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

The contest, which is sponsored by the Illinois Women's Temperance Union, will be held at McKendree College April 25. The winner will represent Illinois at the national convention in San Francisco next September.

Group Offers $250 For Best Illinois Manuscript

The Stratford Investors of Chicago will award $250 to the Illinois playwright submitting the best full length play in a contest. The competition is open to residents or students in Illinois who are over 18 years old.

All manuscripts must be accompanied by an application form which may be obtained from Stratford Investors, 208 Valley View Road, Wilmette, Ill. All entries must be post-marked no later than Sept. 1.

Christian Foundation Nears Completion

If plans go as scheduled, the New Student Christian Foundation should be completed by the end of May. Plans for the program got under way in January, 1959 when a fund-raising campaign was launched. Reverend Malcolm Gillespie, director of the program, estimated its cost at $60,000.

The main floor of the building consists of several offices, a lobby and library. The library will contain books on religion and theology which will be made available to all students. The second floor is devoted to a kitchen and dining hall where lectures will be held. The dining hall will accommodate around 120 persons, Reverend Gillespie estimated.

This new program and the structure which will house the program will provide worship, education, service and fellowship to all students.
