The big show will be presented in two showings on Saturday, May 3, at 7:30 and 9 p. m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Admission prices are $1.25 for reserved seats and $1.00 for general admission seats.

This year's Spring Festival, a four-day affair, is being held May 1-4 under the theme of "Dizzyland." Dick Hunsaker is general chairman of the event.

On Thursday, May 1 the festival will get under way with a "Kick-off Assembly" set for 10 a. m. in McAndrew Stadium. At 7:30 p. m. the Aquettes will give their water show in the University Pool.

Society Shows "Dark River" Pic Sunday

A film exposing the conditions on the "yerba mate" plantations of Argentina will be shown Sunday at 2 and 8:30 p. m. in the Library Auditorium.

"Dark River" has been compared to the famed "Bitter Rice" of a few years ago. English subtitles will be used to accompany the Spanish dialogue.

The movie was opposed by police censors of the South American country once run by dictator Peron. However, the demand for the film, was so great that its showing could not be prevented.

Hugo del Carril, director of the film, was recognized by the press and critics for his outstanding work on the movie. He was named best director of the year for his effort.

Sunday's showing is the first in the United States of any of Carril's works. Admission prices are 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for students with activity cards.

Dr Christ-Janer Gives Lecture On Modern Art

Those who wonder just what there is to modern art can find out Monday night at 8:15, when Dr. Albert Christ-Janer presents "What's Modern About Modern Art?"

The lecture, to be held in the University School Auditorium, is a feature of the 1958 Fine Arts Festival.

Dr. Christ-Janer is well-known both as an artist and as an author and lecturer. He is at present director of the School of the Arts at Pennsylvania State University, and has had paintings exhibited at the St. Louis City Museum, the Kansas City Art Institute, the Art Institute of Chicago and the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Story Of Artists In Three Films At Movie Hour

Three films will be shown tonight in the University School Auditorium. "Leonardo da Vinci," "Diastern of War" and "The Story of the Artist" are all scheduled for showing.

"Leonardo da Vinci" will appeal to anyone interested in art, science, invention, history and demography. The film presents his showing of the work of da Vinci with color pictures of the enchanting Italian landscape where most of the great man's life was spent. These shots are followed by reproductions of some of his most famous paintings and sculpture.

"From Renoir to Picasso" is one of the most notable films on art and is acclaimed as a work of film art itself. The film makes a study and comparison of the characteristics of Renoir, the sensualist; Seurat, the intellectual; and Picasso, the instinctive artist.

"Diastern of War" was filmed in French museums by Pierre Kast. The film shows three series of changes done by Goya late in his life.

The time of the showings will be at 6:30 and 8:30. Admission is 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for students with activity cards.

A class of 12 conservation majors will visit parts of Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi.

Cunningham, a former resident of the area for 18 years is considered an authority on the conservation practices of the TVA and has a thorough knowledge of the four-state area to be seen by the class.

Governor Stratton A TSIU Member

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois visited the SIU campus yesterday with his wife. He is seen as he appeared in a special college press conference with members of the Egyptian in the Studio Theatre of the University School.

May 17-25 Dates Set For Ralph Flannigan Band Plays At Greek Week Fest

A Grecian atmosphere will prevail on the SIU campus May 17-25 as fraternity and sorority members participate in the annual Greek Week festivities.

Plans for this year's "bigger than ever" event are complete, according to Bob Key, Theta Xi, and Rosalie Stein, Sigma Sigma Sigma, co-chairman of the Greek Week Committee. This year, for the first time, a concert by a big-name band will be added to the week's agenda.

Ralph Flannigan and his band will be featured in the concert to be given at 7:30 p. m., May 24, in Shryock Auditorium. Jim Butler, of St. Louis Radio Station KMOX, will be master of ceremonies at the Greek Sing. Both events will be open to the public.

"Through these projects and events the Greek Week Steering Committee hopes to make the Greeks on campus more conscious of their obligation to the fraternity system, the university and the community," Key said. "Through the fulfillment of these obligations, we hope to become a stronger and more unified fraternal system," he added.

Official kick-off will be Saturday, May 17, when all fraternities and sororities take part in washing cars at these Carbondale filling stations. Proceeds of the project will be used to send underprivileged children to summer camps. The House for the Blind in Carbondale will also be painted by fraternity members on Saturday.

After the "Greek Sing" Sunday, the week will be filled with meetings, picnics, and a banquet for all Greeks. Following the Flannigan concert, a dance will be held for fraternity and sorority members at Thompson Point. The eventful week will end on a religious note Sunday, May 25, as the Grecians attend the churches of their choice.

Series Starts April 30 'History With Question Marks' Theme Of Gardiner Lectures

"History with Question Marks," a three-lecture series will be given at SIU by one of its own professors — Dr. C. Harvey Gardiner.

A Virginia planter who turned his back on being a public servant, the connection between the past and present and the problems of an author are the subjects of the lectures beginning Wednesday, April 30.

Dr. Gardiner, professor of history, is conducting the lectures to discuss the political, economic and literary phases of history which are never discussed in most history texts.

Most books tell of great men like Washington, Lincoln and Napoleon but they never tell of the common man. Dr. Gardiner explained. There is no mention of the many instances where they faced problems similar to the ones we have today.

"The derivation of problems behind the ideas of these periods and the common man," Dr. Gardiner explained. There is no mention of the many instances where they faced problems similar to the ones we have today.

"The health of intellectual history will be discussed in 'Launching a Bark' on Wednesday, May 14, in the Library Auditorium at 8 p. m. Dr. Gardiner relates the story of Edward Thomson Taylor. Taylor was the son of a famous Virginia planter family who were the first prominent host and hostess in the developing society of the Washington capital.

Stratton Names SIU Grad To Head State Div.

"SIU is the fastest growing University in the state," said Governor Stratton in a special press conference before a group of journalism students and staff members of the Egyptian yesterday.

"The proposed bond issue to provide public building should aid this expansion," said Stratton.

Stratton stated that he planned to actively support the proposed bond issue.

"I am planning a number of speeches in this regard," said Stratton.

"The buildings are needed, particularly so at the college level. We hope to win one 'blow'—so to speak—provide an overlay in building facilities."

Asked if he contemplated any further action in the event the bond issue should fail, the governor had this to say: "We don't like to contemplate failure in anything, and especially so in this case."

Stratton is optimistic about the chances of passing the bond program.

"Strong press support is extremely important in this issue," Stratton stated. "The bond program will provide much expansion in areas such as Southern Illinois."

"We cannot ignore the role which SIU has played in community development," said Stratton. "The part it has played fully justifies its tremendous expansion."

Gov. Stratton also announced the appointment of James F. Cannon, SIU graduate of 1950, to head the State's Division of Industrial Planning and Development.

Cannon is presently living in Mount Vernon and is manager of that city's Chamber of Commerce. He received his B. A. degree at SIU in 1950. He majored in government and minored in administration while at SIU. In 1951 he also received his M. S. at the University.

Formerly of Marion, Cannon married another SIU graduate, Melina Refeufus, in 1951.

Stratton was also asked to give his opinions on job opportunities for young journalists in reporting on legislative matters.

"I think there are tremendous openings for competent people in not only the newspaper fields of legislative reporting, but there is a need for trained persons in communication as technical advisors to various government departments on all levels," said the Governor.

"The role of women has increased also," he added. "One of the girl journalism students asked about opportunities for women in the fields.

Stratton expressed satisfaction with the results obtained from his legislative program concerning traffic safety.

"While I will never be completely satisfied until traffic fatalities are cut way down, the trend has turned toward the right direction," the Governor declared.

"Since passage of the speed - law last July, the rate of traffic fatalities has steadily declined.

"The problem of traffic safety is a constant battle. We cannot rest on our laurels in this matter.

"A sense of moral obligation for traffic safety must be built up in the minds of the people. This feeling is very much akin to the teaching of a parent at an early age not to point a gun at someone."

"This same awareness of danger must be established at an early age."

The Governor was visiting the University with his wife who participated in dedication ceremonies of the SIU Library in a Women's SIU Women's Club.

Mrs. Stratton was presented with the SIU Women's "Leader of the Year" Award in another ceremony conducted by the club.

Faculty Plays In Fine Arts Quartet

Five SIU instructors will join the gallery of stars for the Fine Arts Festival when they present a special woodwind quintet program Sunday. The program will begin at 3:30 p. m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Accompanied by Dr. Steven Barwick at the piano, the Faculty Woodwind Quintet will present music by Milhaud, Poulenc, and a member of the group, Dr. Will Gay Bottje.

Dr. Bottje, who plays the flute in the group, has composed several pieces of music besides the "Quintet for Woodwinds," which will be played Sunday.

Other members of the group are Robert Resnick, clarinet; Robert Forman, oboe; Arthur Barnes, bassoon; and Phillip Olson, horn.

problems of authors' relationships with the public, publishers and reviewers.

Gardiner, who came to SIU last fall, has written several books and articles about the Latin American countries and their inhabitants. He has made several trips to Mexico to gather material for his writings. "The Constant Captain," depicting the story of Gonzalo de Sandoval during the Mexican period of conquest was published by the SIU Press recently.

"Learn a lot about a neighbor and learn to like this neighbor for its differences... there is worth in this," Gardiner said when asked why he is so interested in the Latin American countries.

"Our culture is different from theirs, yet they are located so near to us we can learn much about them," he explained.

Another Gardiner creation "Martin Lopez, Conquistador Citizen of Mexico," was published last week by the University of Kentucky press.

The Editors' Opinions

Students Vs. Motor Vehicles

The student has many things on his mind, the lessons which must be done, the "big date" for Saturday night—all of which means one thing.

"stop-gop" messages until such time as the University provides other means for the motor vehicle.

Granted the motor vehicles move at a slow rate of speed while on the campus sidewalks. But accidents can still happen, as has been proven.

The growing University and the resulting increase of traffic problems is fast becoming a tir-ring infirmity. However, the present pedestrian vs. motor vehicle problem is a direct outgrowth of this situation.

Let us hope that the near future will see the University catching up with problems of this nature. A "Class" sidewalk would be a great boon to a better college.

April Showers Bring Wet Students

For "forty days and forty nights" may not apply to our rainy season in the spring but the recent rains bring about suspensions.

This is the time when the weather is especially unpredictable. Rain one minute and sunshine the next.

A shower is apt to catch the unsuspecting student in the midst of a trip from Old Main to the Ag Building. In this case the best the poor student can do is make a mad dash for the nearest shelter. Sitting through a class in wet clothes is sheer misery. And what student hasn't suffered this experience at one time or another?

About the only time-tested preventative measure is to carry the umbrella at all times. Perhaps the sight of a student carrying an umbrella on a sunny day will attract stars but vanities sacrifice may be to health's gain.

The rains do bring benefits, in spite of all the griping.

The campus shed final signs of winter and adopted the green of spring after the recent rains. And the dust was settled at the corner of Harwood and Thompson.

Anybody have an umbrella for sale? Cheap, that is!

Campus Hall Of Fame

"If you want to do a good job with your activities," says Myrna Kuhn, "it requires a lot of hard work."

Myrna, this week's entry into the Campus Hall of Fame, points out that besides hard work her activities provide enjoyment and relaxation.

The lovely Junior from Palatine has participated in more than 50 campus activities.

As a delegate to the USNSA, delegate to the regional conference, Executive Board member, Dates Lessons chairman, Summer Activities chairman, and Social Senate representative.

Myrna joined the Tri-Sigma sorority in the fall of 1955. behind the news

By Joe Blawie

"The Spring Quarter is always a busy one and this year is no exception.

More events are planned than the student can possibly attend. Quite a variety is offered for the student to choose from for entertainment.

This years Spring Festival promises to be bigger and better than preceding years. And this is as it should be.

The name (at present) of the Spring Festival for this year is "L'Egyptian". A student taking in all of the action will certainly be dizzy before he gets through the weekend. The combination of attractions scheduled for the short space of our days is amazing.

The Carnival will be a "really big show." Carnival time is a gala period of fun and laughter. It is a whole "Show" in itself. The side shows, the barbers, the music and fan fare—all fit into the carnival to make it an event the student cannot afford to miss.

Other events of Spring Festival are equally attractive. The stage show, concert, vaudeville show and many other events of the Festival combine to make it a weekend of fun.

And of course the Miss Southern contest must not be forgotten. There are several "Miss" contests held at SIU, but none approach the glamour and attraction of the Miss Southern contest. This is the big one.

Greek Week, with its most valuable students award will soon be here. No one should miss the sight of the out-of-shape boys giving their all in the track meet. And some of those throwing contests are really pie "gone."

Athletes take their share of the attention during this period. Outdoor events such as baseball, golf, and tennis are scheduled in abundance. And even old man football refuses to be ignored. There are plenty of sports for all-take your pick.

The Egyptian is planning an event of the spring also. We will be moving to new quarters in the near future (we hope).

The new location will have many advantages. Who knows, the bill collectors may even be thrown off the track for a few days. You'll notice the new address is not given.

We'll miss the old familiar sights and noises—the plaster cracked walls, milk scurrying by, the patter of pigeons on the roof.

Miss April is in prominent view on the calendars. Her time is running short for Miss May we take over. By the way, some of the calendar pages are still available. At the Egyptian office.

Gus Bode

Gus sez the motor vehicles aren't really so bad—but the sidewalks remind him more of the Pennsylvania Turnpike every day.

Gus refuses to be a saint. He's not going to wear a raincoat if it means a tour in the Health Service.

Gus says "Ach-Choo!" Gus thinks that "Little Man" is ganging up on him this issue. "Some people will stoop to anything to steal my readers," declared Gus.

Gus is patriotic. He saw a Professor blowing his nose with a red handkerchief the other day and reported it to the campus police.

Gus thinks he'll change his name to Gus Bud to keep in tune with the blossoms on campus.

Gus sez that he always gets a charge outta talking history. He's His scores always give him a job.

Coeds Give Okay College Poll Shows Students Favor Exchange Program

College students appear to be overwhelmingly in favor of a recent cultural exchange agreement signed by the United States and Russia.

Eighty-eight per cent of the college men and ninety-five per cent of the coeds interviewed in a recent survey agree that an agreement to exchange visits of scholars, artists and the like between Russia and the United States is a good idea.

Coeds seem more enthusiastic than college men over such an exchange program. This was borne out further by the fact that proportionally fewer coeds indicated they think it is a bad idea. And although six per cent of the men are undecided, all the coeds interviewed have made up their mind one way or another.

Men of the freshman class are more favorably disposed toward the agreement than are the men in other classes interviewed. Ninety-four per cent of the freshman think the cultural exchange program is a good idea, as opposed to eighty-three per cent of the sophomores, eighty-six per cent of the juniors and eighty-four per cent of the seniors.

Comments supporting opinion that the program is a good idea are generally centered around the notion that it is only by observing each other's countries that the United States and Russia will develop ways of live peacefully.

On the other hand, students who feel such an exchange is a bad idea most generally give as their reason the opinion that it is probably a mistaken idea to put too much faith in Russia's good intentions with respect to the program.

Did you know that the Placement Service is maintained for the benefit of students and SIU graduates who are seeking employment in the teaching field, in the professions, or in business and industry?

THE POSTMAN COMETH

I have recently received several letters from readers which have been so interesting, so piquant, so je ne sais qui, that I feel I must share them with all of you. The letters and my replies follow:

SIR: Maybe you can help me. I came up to college eight years ago. On my very first day I got into a bridge game in the student union. I am still in the same bridge game. I have never gone to class, cracked a book, or paid any tuition. All I do is play bridge.

To explain my long absence and keep the money coming from home, I told a harmless little lie. I said I was in medical school. This made Dad (my father) terribly proud. It also enabled me to keep playing bridge. We were both very happy.

But all good things must come to an end. Mine ended when I came home for Christmas vacation. I arrived to find that Sister (my sister) was in the hospital with an ingrown spleen. Dr. Numbert had to operate, but unfortunately he was run over by a hot-foot cart on the way to the scrubbing room.

WILKINSON WILL FIX SISTER

"Oh, never mind," chuckled Dad (my father). "Harlow (me) will fix Sister (my sister)."

Well sir, what could I do? If I told the truth I would make a laughingstock out of Dad (my father) who had been bragging about me all over town. Also I would get yanked out of school which would be a dirty shame just when I am beginning to understand the weak dub kid.

There was nothing for it but to braven it out. I got Sister (my sister) apart all right, but I must confess myself completely at a loss as to how to put her back together again. Can you suggest anything? They're getting pretty surly around here.

Sincerely,
Harlow Proleta

SIR: Just off the campus where I go to school there is a lake called Lake Widigwagan. Thirty years ago when my father was an undergrad he went fishing one day in Lake Widigwagan and dropped his Dike pie in the water. He dived for days but never found it.

Just yesterday—thirty years later, mark you!—I went fishing in Widigwagan. I caught a four-pound bass. I took the fish home, cut it open, and what do you think I found inside?

You guessed it! Two tickets to the Dempsey-Flynn fights.

Sincerely,
Willie Whyde

Site Near Carbondale

Tells Tale Of Earthy Appeal In Digging For Indian Lore

By Barbara Dorman
 Dig! Dig! Scrape! Scrape!
 ... Sometimes with satisfying success and sometimes with disappointing failure.

That's the story of men and women who are known as museum curators, anthropologists and archeologists. These people get dirty digging in the rich earth and hiking through the woods to gather information on the lives of their ancestors.

Howard Winters, curator of archeology at the SIU Museum, and James Gillilan, research assistant in anthropology at SIU, are two of these people who dig and hike.

Approximately two miles north of the town of Carbondale is a site where relics are being found to help tell the story of the middle and late Woodland Indians of many years ago.

Over a dusty country road, extending about one-fourth mile from the main highway, is a location which looks like an ordinary barn lot. But closer inspection proves that it is a major site of the Woodland Indians who roamed in this area.

The actual site, which Winters and Gillilan were helping to excavate, was approximately 15 by 20 feet in size. The spot was in an open field with a wooded area running north to the Big Muddy River near by.

The Clement's Estate, as the site is known, was excavated last week by Dr. Joseph Caldwell, curator of anthropology at the Illinois State Museum. Winters, Gillilan and several SIU students aided in the search for Indian lore.

"The sun, when this reporter decided to get the on-the-spot story, was hot and sultry.

The car rattled over the rough terrain, and as it neared the gaping hole in the earth, heads popped up to see the intriguing object of civilization.

"Hi," greeted Dr. Caldwell as the car came to a full stop about 10 feet from the digging site. Winters, raising his head, smiled as he squinted against the burning rays of the sun. The student helpers were sitting by a huge mound of dirt, sifting and restoring the damp earth which they had dug from the spot. They were intently searching for bits of pottery and other articles of the Indians.

The hole itself had been dug on several six-inch levels and each shovel of dirt had to be inspected for possible items.

Dr. Caldwell and Winters were poking around a spot in the northeast corner of the dug-out area, which they decided was a former garbage pit. Sacks containing particles of rock, knives and tools were arranged around the area and their contents were labeled as to where they were found.

"Here is a nut shell... possibly either a pecan or walnut," announced Winters. He held the small, hard, dark article above his head so the entire party could see the latest addition to the Indian collection.

"Our main purpose is to get some carbon samples so we can date the site," Dr. Caldwell, an energetic, sun-tanned individual explained. The other articles discovered will also be returned to the State Museum.

The site is probably of the time 500-1000 A.D., said Winters as he examined the pottery and other rock samples taken from the pit.

One level about 12 inches below the ground surface revealed a series of post holes which were darker in color than the surrounding area. If at a later date these holes are fully uncovered and a definite structural design is apparent, it could be the first idea of the type of homes which the Indians had, Gillilan said.

The same area was dug in March, 1940. Moreau S. Maxwell in his publication "The Woodland Cultures in Southern Illinois" described the area and had illustrations of the articles which he found. He did not, however, mention any evidence of structural designs for the homes.

Also, surveys along the new state route which will be located from Marion to Cairo have been made. The group will excavate the sites which have been found as the road crews begin their work on the highway.

How does one know if a certain area is a good site for finding remains of other civilizations?

"Actually you don't always know," Gillilan explained with a smile. "You can look over the top of the ground and check to see if the land would be a good place to live. If you can look around and find little chips of pottery,

A short time later these people appeared in hundreds of American homes through the medium of television.

SIU Sophs Take Part in National Testing Program

During the past two weeks, 12 SIU sophomores participated in a national testing program to provide norms for some new tests.

The testing was sponsored by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey. The test covered general scholastic ability, science, mathematics, reading, writing, social studies, and listening.

The students were selected by scientific sampling techniques and contributed their time on a voluntary basis.

The 12 students participating were: Donald Fenow, Albert Felt, Helen Foster, Tom Fessler, Sally Fusch, Herman Farris, Sharon Farmer, Jerry Fezell, Donna Jo Falkenstein, Sylvia Forbes, Frank Fenzel, Marion Kay Francis.

SIU Girls 'Get In The Act'

Jane White, Dorothy Wingo, Joyce Arnold and Phyllis House, SIU home economics students, appeared on the "Breakfast Show" over Cape Girardeau TV, at 7 a. m. Dr. Helen M. Evans, associate professor of home economics, accompanied with the girls.

The girls modeled the garments which they made in classes and which they wore in the recent Home Economics High School Day fashion show.

Jane wore a brown wool suit on the show. The tailored outfit had a feminine design.

Dorothy appeared in an embroidered blue sheath dress of her own design which she had made in her pattern designing class.

The dress featured a muslin de so overskirt for more formal wear.

Joyce, dressed in a red and white print party dress, made her TV appearance. The dress, fitted at the waistline, flared out into a full sweeping skirt.

A blue wool dress was worn by Phyllis. A beige coat of French design completed this outfit.

"We tried to choose four girls whose garments illustrated different types of feminine wear," Dr. Evans explained when asked how the girls were chosen to appear on the show.

IN THE TWENTIES, up-to-date college gals wore raccoon coats, danced the Charleston and smoked Luckies. What's the rage on campus today? Raccoon coats. The Charleston. And Luckies! The conclusions are obvious. 1. Luckies were tops for taste in the Twenties and still are. 2. Smart smokers knew it and still do. So any gal who takes Luckies to a Roaring 20's party is a Dapper Flapper! And by George, the boy friend who sports 'em, too, is a Couth Youth! Prediction: In the 1980's, raccoon coats, the Charleston and light, good-tasting tobacco will still be in style!

I Might Get Hit

By Ron Jacober
Sports Editor

It rained a little, blew a little, then it rained a little more and blew a little more.

That is the story of the sports scene around SIU this past week. Everything except two golf matches were cancelled by that crude old man called weather.

Rain to a sports writer is as good as snowfall to an Eskimo—no good.

The bad weather did give me a chance to sit down and realize just what was going on around here lately.

Do you realize that the spring varsity team at SIU have won 19 out of 21 events?

With this in mind-it makes me begin to wonder just how far they will go. Just how many wins they will keep stacking up.

The baseball team has won their first eight games in a row and at times have looked like world-beaters. The golf team has won their first seven matches in a row without a defeat and the tennis team has won three out of their first five matches and the track team in their only meet of the year.

THREE EGROUVAS POSSIBLE?

Would it be possible for Southern to do what was thought to be impossible at the beginning of the season, win three IAC titles?

The way I see it there is a possibility of SIU taking the baseball, golf and tennis titles—with a break here and there.

The baseball team has had just about everything since the regular season opened. They didn't impress many people on their exhibition tour through the South as they called up a 4-4 mark, but as soon as the season started they hit their stride and have been playing brilliantly.

One of the biggest question marks before the season started was pitching but that has long since been erased as the Saluki mound corps has come through with flying colors.

The hitting has been spotty at times but has been very timely as always needed to come through when the need was.

With the three victories last weekend over last years champs, Westep, "Abie" Martin's crew has a very good shot at the title. The three games this weekend against a very tough Central Michigan squad may tell the tale.

The golf team, green but very large pasture from studies and/or part-time employment.

Golfers Outlast Weather, Two More Foes; Baseball, Tennis, Track Lose To Rain

Disregarding adverse conditions of wind and a little rain, the SIU golf team continued to roll on this week as they shot past two more opponents to run their string to seven.

Tuesday in probably their toughest match of the season, the Salukis defeated a sharp-shooting St. Louis University team, 11 1/2-8 1/2.

The match was marked by brilliant shooting by both teams. Both teams had four members shoot in the 70's. Robert Ens of St. Louis shot an 82 and John Beatty of Southern shot an 81.

Robert Donarski was the medalist for the Salukis and for the match as he shot a beautiful 74. Jim Foull followed close behind with a 75. Max McDonald and Larry Wood both chipped in with 79.

Wednesday afternoon it was another match and another victory, the seventh in a row, as the Salukis linkmen took on Southeast Missouri State College. Hampered by a very strong wind and a light rain, scores were much higher than the day before. Three of SIU's golfers, Dick Foull, Robert

Loesekam Tops With 395

Fred Loesekam, freshman from St. Louis, is currently leading the hitting parade on the Saluki baseball team with a sparkling .395 average.

Loesekam, who plays right field, wasn't on the starting team in the beginning of the season but was given a chance to play regularly and has never been out of the lineup.

Banging out 15 hits in 38 times at bat, Fred has chalked up a .395 average. Following Loesekam in the "Saluki Hit Parade" is Dick Dillinger with 16 hits in 48 times at bat for a .333 average and Gerald Marting, also not on the starting team in the beginning of the campaign, with 13 for 39 for .333.

W. Sanders is next on the ladder with 18 for 55 for .327. Sanders had three home runs to his credit.

Buddy Velasco, slumping slightly, is leading the team in total hits with 19. He has been at the plate 59 times for a creditable .322 mark.

Velasco is also leading the Salukis RBI's with 16. Dick Dillinger is next with 13 followed by Sanders with 12.

SIU Men Deficient In Swimming

A distressing deficiency in swimming has been noted by a two-year testing program for freshmen by SIU's Department of Physical Education for Men.

Of 1,486 freshmen students tested on a non-competitive basis during the past two years, it was discovered that 22.6 per cent of them could not swim a distance of 35 feet. Moreover, 36.3 per cent of the group tested could not swim 50 yards.

These results, when compared with nationwide studies of college freshmen, are below the average. Of other colleges and universities conducting similar tests for their freshmen, only 15 to 20 per cent experienced difficulties in swimming the prescribed distances.

For this reason, SIU has been pushing the accent on swimming for freshmen in physical education courses. On the basis of swimming tests, fresh are placed in either beginner, intermediate or advanced swimming classes.

In addition to a swimming test, freshmen are given a varied physical aptitude test that gauges the student's co-ordination, agility, balance, strength and muscular endurance.

Twenty-eight per cent of freshmen tested were below minimum standards for similar tests that have been given to first-year college students. This figure is far less alarming than the showing of SIU freshmen swimmers when compared to the national norm.

These tests have shown that 60 per cent of SIU freshmen do not have enough skills or exposure to sports that can be used for a col-

East Side Wants Games

The East St. Louis Residence Center has given a softball challenge to any team on the SIU Carbondale campus.

The East Siders want to play SIU home-base intramural team in a home-and-home series anytime in May.

Any team that is interested in playing the East St. Louis Center should contact the Intramural Office. Teams would have to provide their own transportation to East St. Louis, but the intramural department would supply umpires and equipment.

'Pitches Rain'

Weather Man Wins Again

Old man weather pitched a shut-out Tuesday afternoon over SIU and Washington University as the scheduled game between the Bears and Salukis was cancelled because of wet grounds.

Actually at game time, the skies were clear, and the temperature was in the 60's and the ball game could have played but "Abie" Martin, Saluki coach said that a 7 a. m. when he had to notify the Bears about the condition of the field, there was water standing on the infield from the heavy rains Monday night.

The game has been rescheduled for 1 p. m. on Saturday May 10. A game with the Old Timers is scheduled for the same day at 3:30.

This afternoon the Salukis mound corps has come through with flying colors.

The hitting has been spotty at times but has been very timely as always needed to come through when the need was.

With the three victories last weekend over last years champs, Westep, "Abie" Martin's crew has a very good shot at the title. The three games this weekend against a very tough Central Michigan squad may tell the tale.

riding high on an eight game winning streak and are undefeated for the season.

A clean sweep this weekend of the three games with a very tough Central Michigan squad, who scored 31 runs in a three game series last weekend, would give the boys from SIU a good shot at their first IAC crown since 1952.

Coach Martin, running his win-happy team through an interquad game in place of the Washington game, said that he would probably go along with his "big three" this weekend, John Gilmore, (4-1) Jerry Thomas (4-0) and Ron Ayres (1-0) will go in the three games. Martin said that he did not know who would go in Friday's game and that "it depended on who Central Michigan pitched."

After this big weekend, Abe Martin will take the Salukis to Ypsilanti, Michigan for two contests against Eastern Michigan College next Friday and Saturday alternates.

SIU Bowlers Falter In College Bowling Tourney

By Warren Ray
 "Help," said Wally Reese, when members of the SIU bowling squad were asked to comment on their Friday night showing at West Frankfort in the fifth annual intercollegiate National Bowling Tournament.

Help is what the local entry will need to retain third place in the meet. Last year the University of Washington and Rutgers noosed out Southern's five-man team.

Friday night the SIU quintet faltered and couldn't equal last year's score. With Reese and Jack Morgan returning from the 1957 team, Southern was rated a favorite in the tournament. Reese, a handsome graduate student from Harvard, and Morgan, a 30-year-old geology graduate student from West Frankfort, paced Southern's squad last year. The two stellar bowlers were the only SIU veterans in this year's match.

Morgan, who weighs only 114 pounds more than the 16 pound bowling ball, has a reputation that few bowlers can claim. He bowled two consecutive perfect 300 games March 1, 1957 at West Frankfort. He rolled a 246 game before hitting the two perfect game for a phenomenal three-game score of 846 and had 20 strikes in a row during his hot streak.

Morgan had previously bowled a 300 game Jan. 5, 1956. Last year Morgan finished third in the high individual series in the INBT with an 848 series. Approximately 225 bowlers, representing 45 universities, competed in the tourney.

In the first of the four games Friday, Morgan bowled a respectable 211, but fell off to a 134 game in the third round. He combined a 194 and 190 game but finished with only a 729 series, 119 pins below his 1957 record. Reese hit 745 series in last year's tournament but fell off to a 649 series Friday with games of 186, 164, 148 and 155.

Bob Katicin, a junior business major from Chicago, looked as if he would lend support to the Southern squad. The southern bowler started off with a 189 game but then went down hill with scores of 171, 153 and 137 for a 650 series. David Boudreau, a freshman business major from Monroeville, finished second among the SIU bowlers with a 698 series. Boudreau scored games of 157, 188, 155 and 198.

Joe Dacey, a Hardin graduate student, couldn't find the range in the opening game as he bowled a 96. Dacey came back with games of 151, 165 and 153 but finished with a low series of 565.

Although results from the other expected to capture any trophies. About the only hope for a local award appears to be Morgan's 729 series and even then he will need what Reese asked for, help.

Trophies will be awarded to the high team match score, high team

Buelmann, son of the Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Buelmann of New Berlin, is attending SIU on a state teacher education scholarship. He is vice-president of the Association's Egyptian Chapter at Southern.

In June, Buelmann will attend a convention of Student National Education Association state presidents in Bowling Green, Ohio. The meeting will be held in conjunction with a workshop sponsored by the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The Council of 100 is an organization composed of educators and advisers from 31 southern Illinois counties. Its purpose is to further progress of outdoor education in the area.

Wednesday's track meet scheduled for Wednesday was rained out. It was rescheduled for Wednesday April 30 at 7 p. m.

The Sig Tau "A" team and the Braves both notched fourth straight victories Monday. Sig Tau moved a step closer to the championship in the Fraternity East Division with a rocking-chair 15-2, 15-1 success over Kappa Alpha Psi. The Braves had an easier time in whipping the Thompson Point Warriors, 15-1, 15-0.

Tuesday night at 8, the MRH West-MRH East victor has to battle the league-leader of the Men's Residence Hall North Division, and that game will determine the over-all Men's Residence Hall qualifier.

Student Teachers Get Training

"Teachers from SIU get better every year, Dan Cox, instructor in student teaching and observation said, "and the talk is that they can't be any better."

The student teaching program has much to do with this, he added. Rosemary Barnes, pretty blue-eyed senior from Dupo, and practice teacher at University School, thinks our student teaching program "can't be beat."

What about student teaching? Where is it done, and how can one improve his training personally in order not to fall below the standard set by Southern's graduates in the College of Education?

First, student teaching is conducted in SIU and in co-operative public schools such as West Franklin, Mt. Vernon, and Centralia. The College of Education requires 12-16 quarter hours of student teaching for a B. S. degree in education. The student's practice teaching must have the approval of Charles D. Neal, director of teacher training.

"Teacher training doesn't begin the moment a student takes over the class in his appointed school," Cox said, "but it begins in the home, and every course a student takes will train him by his student teaching."

"If he has trained well in these, when the time comes for him to participate in the actual program, after two weeks of observation to learn the students' names and to get acquainted with the text book, he's ready to go, and will no doubt do his job well."

Selected cartoons are clipped from magazines and displayed, some with original punch lines removed. And you're invited to write your own. The "student-made" lines often are better than the originals.
