SIU Creeps Into Ranks Of Leading Colleges

(This is the last of a series of three articles explaining Southern Illinois University' budget request for operating expenses during the next two years.)

Southern Illinois University, which has grown larger than "name" schools like Dartmouth, Duke, Baylor, Colgate, and John Hopkins University, and has outdistanced big state schools like the Universities of Mississippi, Virginia, Wyoming, Maine, and Oregon.

Southern has reported to the state legislature that it needs $25,264,139 for operating expenses during the next two years to preserve its standing in academic circles.

SIU officials note proudly that enrollment growth from 2300 students in 1951 to 6255 this year did not come about by relaxing scholastic standards. On the contrary, requirements have been stiffened, and Southern rates highly with accrediting bodies like the North Central Association and the Association of American Colleges.

On the other hand, the University says, funds available from the state have not been in keeping with Southern's position and the size of its student body. In many respects, students are being shortchanged in their education.

University administrators cite library needs as an example. An old library building used by the University until last year was so small and so cramped that there was no place to put new books. The library collection was spread out over five buildings, including a couple of gunnery huts, and it sometimes took days to dig out a book a student needed.

Now that the library has been moved into an efficient, modern building, there is plenty of space but the University is years behind in its program of book acquisition.

In a survey of 12 comparable universities, Southern is last in the list of book collection and current periodicals. The survey showed that the school in this group with the largest library had 650,000 books and the average school had 359,000. With a total of 173,000 volumes, Southern has only one-half as many as the average.

Therefore the University has added a $340,000 item for library acquisitions for the next two years as part of the $10,586,713 operating budget increase it is seeking.

Such financial needs are urgently felt in every department at Southern because of the doubling of enrollment in the past four years, coupled with the normal growing pains of a new university.

SIU spokesmen say that Southern's interest in economic and social problems of Southern Illinois make its appropriations needs even more acute. For example, the University started the Vocational-Technical Institute and expanded offerings of the School of Business to train young men and women for well-paying jobs that were going begging in this area. These and other programs of critical importance have proved so appealing that the students have outgrown the teaching facilities.

If its operating budget request is approved, the University hopes to broaden the scope of these practical programs and add a few other Curricula have been mapped out for the training of petroleum geologists for the oil-rich Illinois basin and field workers in community development. Four years of study in applied science would also be offered, and the University would add research grants for projects of are-wide significance like wildlife management in strip mine areas, rehabilitation training, and utilization of forest resources through wood products.

Some of these plans, proposed by educational consultants and area residents as vital to the development of Southern Illinois' potential, will have to be scrapped, however, unless the University's budget gets a favorable reception by the legislature.

SIU officials say their first considerations will have to be for salary adjustments and new faculty appointments. Immediate reduction in class sizes and teaching loads is necessary so that Southern can retain qualified instructors and keep its educational standards high.

Some $17,574,939 for personal services during the next two years is the chief item of the $25,264,139 request for operating expenses.

W-2 Forms Still Not Picked Up For Taxes

Men who have not filed their income tax returns have received as much as 20 years in prison and $10,000 fines.

The SIU Bursar's Office still has a number of student W-2 forms that have not been claimed. All forms must be filed out and returned to Springfield by April 15.

If the forms are not picked up by the students they will have to be mailed out and perhaps may be lost due to the student having changed residence.

Get over here on the double and save everyone some trouble.

Scholarship Offered For Public Health

A scholarship for a junior or senior majoring in sanitary science or public health is being offered by the International Association of Milk and Food Sanitarians, Inc., said Dr. Willard M. Gersbacher, coordinator of the health science program.

The scholarship, which amounts to $300 annually is being offered to encourage students to select and pursue public health and sanitary science as a major study field.

Any student entering his junior or senior year who is in financial need, is in good standing scholastically, and who is majoring in sanitary science and public health can qualify for the scholarship.

Application blanks may be secured by writing to the headquarters office of the association — scholarship committee, P. O. Box 437, Shelbyville, Ind. Applications should be filed on or before July 1.

Woody Hall Sponsors Dance For Awards

Woody Hall is sponsoring a dance to raise money for an Activities Award Fund, tomorrow in the Student Union.

Stratton Announces New SIU Board Member

Gov. William C. Stratton announced last Tuesday that a East St. Louis attorney, Martin F. Oehmke, had been appointed to the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees.

Oehmke's appointment came following a letter of resignation by Robert L. Kern of Belleville, Ill. Kern, editor of the Belleville News-Democrat, said he resigns from the board because of the demands of his newspaper business. He has been a SIU Board member since 1953, when he was appointed to will out a two-year portion of an unexpired term. He was later reappointed to a full six-year term in 1955.

"We hate to lose Mr. Kern," said Pres. Delvite W. Morris. "He has gained great respect during his tenure on the board, and has been a very valuable member."

"While we hate to see Mr. Kern go, we are very pleased to gain a man such as Mr. Oehmke," continued Morris. "He has a fine reputation in his area, and is a highly respected attorney."

The new Board member is a senior partner of the East St. Louis law firm of Oehmke, Dunham, & Boman. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and on the board of directors of Shriners Children's Hospital in St. Louis.

Emergency Bill Passes House, Goes To Stratton

A measure appropriating $400,000 to SIU passed the Illinois House of Representatives Wednesday, and advanced to Gov. William G. Stratton for signing.

The emergency appropriation money is to be used by Southern for commodities and personal services through June 30 when the University can start using the money from its new two-year budget.

"We were greatly pleased, of course, to have the measure approved in such a short time," stated Delvite W. Morris, SIU President. "This is the fastest we've ever had a bill go through, and it is gratifying to have the legislature recognize our needs and problems."

The increase in Southern's steadily rising enrollment made necessary the emergency appropriation request, and if the money had not been granted, SIU's doors may have been closed early this spring.

Southern Eagles Receive Final OK On New Plane

Final approval was given the Southern Eagles Flying Club by university officials on purchasing the club's fifth aircraft, according to Capt. Charles Coxwell, assistant professor of air science and club adviser.

The plane, a Piper Cub which seats two, will provide additional facilities for the increasing membership. It will also be used for training purposes.

It is being acquired for the club by the University from its surplus at Des Moines, Iowa. Captain Coxwell will make the trip to the plane. He will be flown there by the Midwest Eastern Air Service.

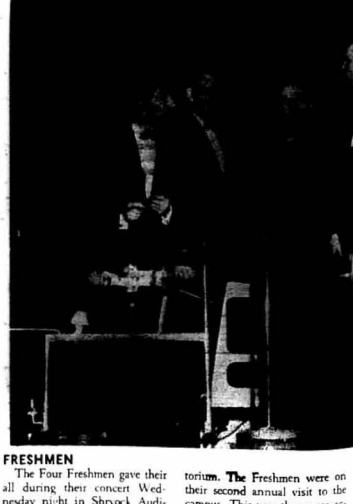

The plane had previously been in use in a high school aviation mechanics class in Des Moines. It will have to pass inspection by the Aeronautic Association of Iowa before it can be flown to Murdair Airport here.

The Southern Eagles have a membership of more than 100.

Selection From Carmen

Miss Paul will sing "O Mio Barchese" from the Donizetti Opera, "La Favorita," and "Lesqu'as" Aeronautic Association of Iowa before it can be flown to Murdair Airport here.

The Southern Eagles have a membership of more than 100.

FRESHMEN The Four Freshmen gave their all during their concert Wednesday night in Shroyck Auditorium. The Freshmen were on their second annual visit to the campus. This year they were accompanied by the Barb Carroll Trio. The concert was presented by Sigma Pi Fraternity.

Trustees Vote To Allow Political Groups On Campus

The SIU board of trustees voted Tuesday to permit certain political activity among student groups on the campus.

Student political groups will now be recognized by the university if they represent parties legal in the state of Illinois and meet the requirements of other campus clubs.

In the past, students were encouraged to join off-campus political groups, but campus political organizations were not permitted.

The board action came as a result of a recommendation by the Joint Council of Higher Education that certain political groups be recognized by colleges and universities.

Mrs. Helen Evans, associate professor of home economics and Howard J. Davis, assistant professor of education were among the new faculty appointments announced by the Board.

The board also approved the appointment of Richard W. Anschutz of Kiene and Bradley, Topeka, Kans., as an instructor in architecture for the VTI. Richard Anschutz will have responsibility for the leading lyric tenor in the Zurich Opera House, Switzerland, was named lecturer in music to replace Floyd Wakeland, who will be on sabbatical leave until June.

The SIU board also announced that James G. Umstadt, chairman of curriculum and instruction at the University of Texas, will serve as lecturer and visiting professor of education at SIU for the fall term.

The board also named a new lecturer in art, Basil E. Brummed Jr., who has studied at the University of Texas and Mexico City College.

There were also several part-time lecturers added to the SIU staff. Henry N. Peters, research psychologist at the Jefferson Barwick's Research Administration Hospital, will be a research psychologist with a Dow Chemical Co. Russell E. Hewitt, vocational teacher at Vandalia High School.

Bryan Kerly, Vienna High School, and Kenneth E. Miller, Enfield High School, were appointed driver and instructor. The adult education department will have four part-time instructors added to their staff. They are Leon C. Walkins, Elizabeth Lindsay, William H. Cooke, and Eileen Whaley, all from Cairo High School.

The other part-time instructors were Richard L. McClain, who will teach accounting, and Betsy Small, who will teach home economics.

The SIU board honored a request of Gov. Stratton and the Illinois Budgetary Commission for the part-time services of John S. Rendleman, SIU legal counsel and assistant to the president. Rendleman will prepare a taxation digest and proposals for fiscal reorganization of the state government.

Chicago Singer Featured With SI Symphony Concert Tuesday

Audrey Paul, Chicago contralto, will be featured when the Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra presents its second concert of the season Tuesday.

The concert, which is sponsored by the Chicago Business and Professional Women Club, will begin at 8:15 p. m. in Shroyck Auditorium.

Miss Paul has scored in leading roles with the Chicago Opera Company and at Meeker Park Concerts in Evansville, Ind. She was acclaimed the best female vocalist at the 1947 Chicago Grand Music Festival.

"March By Barlow" by Berlin will be one of the compositions presented by the orchestra. This march is based upon the Hungarian national anthem, and is often played at the national ceremonies.

The tune was originally composed by Janos Bihari in 1809. Franz Liszt used the melody in his "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 15."

Followed up in the opening scene of his opera "The Damnation of Faust" to portray the passing of Hungarian soldiers.

Other program selections include "Empire Waltz" by Strauss, and Cowell's "Hymn and Graying Tune," which will be presented in memory of Blanche Miller, violinist for the orchestra who died in 1949.

Miss Paul will sing "O Mio Barchese" from the Donizetti Opera, "La Favorita," and "Lesqu'as" Aeronautic Association of Iowa before it can be flown to Murdair Airport here.

The Southern Eagles have a membership of more than 100.

Four Freshmen, Barb Carroll Please Crowds At 2 Concerts

A dynamic instrumental, vocal quartet who left Shroyck Auditorium in darkness and snow a year ago, returned Wednesday to again provoke gusto from Shroyck-filled audiences in a duet concert.

Power failure and heavy snow last February prevented the Four Freshmen from finishing the second segment of their first appearance on campus.

In a friendly spoof of the misfortune, the Freshmen brought out their instruments with candles mounted on them, in their second appearance, sponsored again by the Sigma Pi Fraternity.

"It's good to be back without snow," kidded Ron Barbour, drummer and sparkplug of the quartet. "The people were so great when the lights went out. It's really a pleasure working before a loyal audience."

He sat back stage, prior to the first concert, sandwiching in sentences between signing autographs, while the other three were busy preparing for the concert.

He sat patiently listening to the Freshmen as they answered their prompts. His slim red tie blended with the gray striped sport coat, and his black shining shoes matched gray flannel trousers.

"What makes you guys sound so great," queried a curious observer.

"Well, Ross said, "We just wanted to sing the way it would please us most. It just came out that way. We are not exceptional singers individually, but as a group when our voices blend, it sounds good."

"Our lucky break came at our opening at the Esquire Lounge in Dayton, Ohio. Stan Kenton was in the crowd. He liked us, fixed it up for us to cut a couple of sides for Capitol Records in Hollywood a few months later. We came out with "Blue World."

Many more records his followed for the versatile quartet. Among them is "Day by Day," which sold more than a half-million platters.

They hold great admiration for the guy who gave them the big break — Stan Kenton.

"There's no greater guy than Stan," the slim Ross said. He really gave us confidence. There is no greater leader, no greater voice in jazz sound than Kenton. He is the leader and creator of modern jazz sound."

The Four Freshmen are the first vocal quartet to fit into the progressive jazz set. Since they have created their distinctive style, however, others have tried to copy them, without much success.

"We agree with modern sound, but modestly said, "but if it mo-

Blue Monday

Everyday is a "Blue Monday." Their "house" in the basement of Old Main is crowded and unrequited.
No more than twenty students can take a class requiring the use of the kitchen because kitchen equipment is at a premium. This puts an extra load on teachers limiting students to less subject variety.
In this kitchen laboratory the meals are prepared for guests whose home ec majors like to have. But having guests presents a problem since in this same room classes are held throughout the day.

There is absolutely no work space. No room to cut a dress or to sew the dress. One girl said the department reorganization tables, which were put out in the hall so students in clothing could cut out their outfits.

Four teachers are located in a room hardly large enough for a living room and the other four are squeezed into a partitioned living room and the other four are squeezed into a partitioned hall.

It will be a sunny Monday morning for home ec majors if and when the Legislature passes Southern's appropriation bill. The first building on the list is for this department, costing $2,500,000.

The proposed building could include laboratories for research and demonstrations in foods and nutritions, clothing and textiles, home furnishings, family living, and dining room and kitchens for teaching dietetics and institutional management.

The building has been endorsed by several civic clubs in Southern Illinois, and the need for the building has been highly publicized in the past two months throughout this section of the state.

The publicity has been desired. One of SIU's most crying needs is a home economics building.

Several high schools are better equipped than Southern in this department. Total class enrollments have increased 126 per cent since 1946, and only the lack of staff and classroom and laboratory space have kept the rate of growth from being higher.

Citing the need for better home economics facilities, President Morris says, "In its efforts to encourage the people of Southern Illinois to raise their standards of living, the home economics staff needs to demonstrate good living practices through attractive, up-to-date and well-planned laboratories."

Southern's home economics facilities are now housed in inadequate and condemned Old Main along with the English, History, government and Geography departments. As mentioned before, laboratories and classroom space are practically non-existent.

Campus Pan American Week Festivities To Begin April 14

April 14 spells the beginning of the fourth annual Pan American Week celebrations on the SIU campus.

This year's festivities which include speeches, exhibits and movies, all come under the theme of "The Spanish Borderlands." Headlining this year's program is J. Cary Davis, professor of foreign languages.

The week of activities officially begins on Sunday, April 14, which is Pan American Day all over the Western Hemisphere. However, as SIU is concerned, the program gets into full swing on Monday evening with a film entitled "Sombbrero" in the University School Auditorium.

Dr. Louis G. Kahle, associate professor of political science at the University of Missouri, will be the principal figure in Tuesday's program. He will present the Pan American Address entitled "The Spanish Borderlands Today: The Good Neighbor Policy in Action" at 7:30 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

Wednesday there will be a 2 p.m. talk by Dr. Kahle, philosophically entitled, "Some Thoughts on Practical Good Neighborliness."

Don Bolt, world traveler, lecturer will present the student assembly address Thursday. The address is entitled "Latin America, Neighbors and Partners." Bolt has just returned from a tour of South America.

Another part of Thursday's activities will be presented in a 2 p.m. illustrated talk by Dr. Charles Lange, chairman of the Department of Anthropology, in the Library Auditorium.

Exhibits will be on display throughout the week in the SIU Museum in Aligned Hall. Included will be special exhibits from the Spanish Borderlands.

The members of the Pan American planning committee are: Davis, chairman; Dr. Joseph R. Baxter, assistant professor of history; John J. Kelley, professor of anthropology; Miss Annetmarie Krause, associate professor of geography; Dr. Charles Lange, chairman of the Department of Anthropology.

Dr. Ward M. Morton, associate professor of government; Dr. Carroll L. Riley, assistant professor of anthropology; and Miss Vera L. Peacock, chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages.

Mueller Plays His Composition Here Sunday

"Three Etudes for the Piano" by Robert Mueller, SIU music professor, will be performed for the first time at the faculty recital Sunday, Feb. 24.

The composition, a suite of three movements, was composed by Dr. Mueller last Summer, in Fontainebleau, France, when he was doing postdoctoral research in composition with the famous Nadia Boulanger.

Madam Boulanger is world-renowned as the teacher of such composers as George Gershwin, Walter Piston, and Roy Harris, SIU visiting music professor; and many other leading American composers.

Mozart's "Quartet in D Major, K. 285," for flute, violin, viola and violoncello will be presented by Larry Norris, music instructor, and the University String Trio on the program which will be held in Shrovet Auditorium at 4 p.m. "Sonata for Clarinet and Piano, opus 120, no. 1," by Brahms will also be presented. Dr. Mueller will play the piano and Norris will play the clarinet.

On Monday, Feb. 25, a solo recital will be presented in the library auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The concert will be presented by Lela Hughes, clarinetist, assisted by William McGuire, pianist.

The program will include Brahms' "Sonata in E flat major, opus 120," "Tarantella in G Minor" by Liszt, and Schubert's "Sonatine" 1825. The concert will be given by Hughes as partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of bachelor of music education.

Both of these programs are open to the public free of charge.

Dowdell Halls Forms New Governing Body

The men of Dowdell Hall are forming an Inter-Hall Council. The Council will consist of the eight presidents from the eight living units at Dowdell.

The Council will help make the preparations for all school events and take care of activities at Dowdell. Larry Vanmeter, junior at Southern, is chairman of the committee writing the constitution for the Council.

Library Has 3,500 Pictures

The humanities library has 3,000 pictures filed in its art reproduction collection. This is almost nine times the number in the collection when it opened in September, 1956.

The filing began during the summer quarter. The photographs can be checked out for a week.

About 3,000 others are on hand waiting to be processed, according to Alan M. Cohn, humanities librarian. The collection includes such things as paintings, drawings, sculpture, and ceramics.

Processing is done by clipping and dry mounting pictures from several magazines. If they are on heavy paper, they are filed without the mounting.

Most of the pictures were purchased from commercial publishers and art measures at prices ranging from two cents to one dollar each.

3 Institutes Authorized By SIU Trustees

A campus agency designed to help solve labor problems is one of three new institutes authorized for SIU.

The SIU board of trustees approved proposed plans for a labor institute, a Latin American Institute, and a Rehabilitation Institute at a meeting Tuesday.

The Labor Institute will offer a consulting service on labor and industrial relations, conduct research and special surveys of interest to unions and to management, and provide special courses for industrial personnel and labor groups. It also will map study programs for students seeking careers in this field.

Exchange of students between the United States and Latin America will be one of the aims of the Latin American Institute. It will offer courses through existing University departments which would allow students to major in this field, and the Institute would direct special conferences and programs aimed at better understanding of Latin American countries.

Fuel Specialist To Speak At U. School Friday

Dr. Llewellyn Heard, of the Standard Oil Co., is a man who likes to play with fire. Besides that, as his business, his profession.

As an expert on fuels and combustion, Dr. Heard discovered a long time ago that fire has a great deal of fascination for most people. Therefore, he has developed a lecture-demonstration to tell them more about it.

The lecture-demonstration is sponsored by the local student chapter of the American Chemical Society and will be held in the University School Auditorium Feb. 25, at 7:30.

Fire Magic Is Topic
Dr. Heard calls his talk "Fire Magic," and the way he performs includes a little of each. He puns, makes his explanation of combustion with smoke rings, green flames, and minor explosions.

Dr. Heard is one of the more than 500 scientists working at Standard Oil Company's laboratories at Whiting, Ind. Their job is to study and improve oil products and processes. Most of this research is concerned with fuels and combustion in such places as car engines or in oil furnaces.

The scientific specialty of Dr. Heard, is catalysis — the materials that speed up and direct chemical reactions. Dr. Heard, now a research chemist, is an old hand at teaching chemistry, beginning with freshmen chemistry at the University of Georgia back in the '30's. He joined Standard Oil in 1936, after receiving his doctor's degree from John Hopkins University.

Home economics students working in the halls of Old Main are exemplary of the crowded conditions under which these students must work.

Circulation Increases More Students Using Library Than Ever Before

An average of 2,506 students use the Library daily according to a survey taken by the building's circulation service last week. The average for October, 1955, was 697.

There are an average of 1,821 books and periodicals used daily. In February of 1956 there were 644 books used daily. This is an 88 per cent increase in books used over 1955.

Elizabeth O. Stone, assistant director of libraries for published service, said that conducting a survey in the Library is more difficult than it was when the books were located in the Wheeler Building.

"In the Wheeler Library," said Miss Stone, "all books were enclosed shelves except bound periodicals and reference books, so we had a record of all the books that there were 5,566 records checked out, an increase of 30 per cent over 1955.

"In this Library all our books over 1955."

On moonless nights, armed with shotgun, super-beam flashlight and a whistle simulating the squeal of a rabbit, fox hunters mood down curious foxes seeking prey.

Among the platoons of hunters who shoot their prey and do it all year round with no limit is Norbert Flamm.

A senior in the School of Agriculture, from Cobden, Norbert, an expectant father living at Chatauque, He is 26 and a veteran of the Korean War.

He joined the fox fad a couple of years ago for the sport.
