Sak Polio Shot Series Available To Some Students

Sak vaccine will be made available at the Health Service on Thursday, Jan. 31. The vaccine will be given to any registered student who has not attained his or her 20th birthday.

When making this announcement, Dr. Richard Lee, head of the Health Service, brought out that all students who are eligible should take advantage of the vaccine.

"The student should remember that polio can be prevented but as yet, it can not be cured," said Dr. Lee. "It also should be noted in consideration that students are included among the people who contract polio."

What Can Happen

To emphasize his point Lee described a student who started the fall term at Southern and is now in a hospital.

"One student who contracted polio early last fall is still in the hospital," said Lee. "The only part of his person that he now has control of is his fingers."

"This could just as well happen to anyone who doesn't take advantage of the vaccine."

'Series' Must Be Taken

The shots come in a series of three. The second will be given on Feb. 14 and the third, which is a booster will be provided during the spring term. Anyone who takes the first two shots and doesn't return to school can get the third from their family doctor or other available means. The second shot will be given only to those students who received the first one.

The vaccine is being made available by the State of Illinois and it is a state rule that only those who haven't reached their 20th birthday can be given the vaccine. Dr. Roger Bondage of the Jackson County Health Department, is credited by Dr. Lee for making the vaccine available to SIU.

The Health Service asks that during the days the immunizations

IFC Workshop Saturday For Rush, Expansion

The second annual inter-fraternity workshop will begin Saturday in the University Social Auditorium.

This year the workshop will have limited discussions on two topics, "Rush and Expansion." The two topics will be discussed by at least 10 different discussion groups with 30 members for each group.

The purpose of this workshop is to establish methods by which pledging into the 10 fraternities on SIU's campus may be increased, Cleveland Hammonds, IFC publicity chairman said.

At the workshop's morning session, the groups will discuss the topic "Expansion" from 9:30 until 10:30 a. m. The members of each group will separate and join other groups to discuss the second topic "Rush." In the afternoon there will be a general discussion and the meeting's summary to close the day.

Promoting this IFC meeting are four committees and one discussion leader.

Those being given, students desiring routine medical attention or advice confine their requests to the other available days. The vaccine will be given during the whole day. The Health Service will however see any student who is ill at that time in need of medical attention that day.

"The vaccine is a safe and desirable means of preventing polio," said Lee. "We will do our best to take care of all eligible students who want this protection."

Letter Cites Rules For Scheduling

A letter is being prepared to be sent to the various organizations on campus by the SIU social senate. The letter will list the procedures for an organization to take in scheduling an event for next year.

The letter will include a form which should be filled out and returned to the Office of Student Affairs not later than March 1 or 2 listing the events. If an organization is planning an event in which University facilities must be used, the organization is to secure the forms from the Activities Office, complete them, and return as soon as possible.

An activity must be scheduled before May 15 if it is to be listed on the Girls' Rally Calendar, according to the Social Senate's letter.

Any organization scheduling University facilities which fails to hold that event on the date scheduled, unless due to circumstances beyond the control of the group, will not be permitted to reschedule the event during the year except with permission of Social Senate and the Activities Office. Jan Fegley, secretary of Social Senate, disclosed.

Any group failing to hold a scheduled event will not be allowed priority in scheduling a similar event the next year. Final scheduling will depend upon a proposal next year by Social Senate.

The Social Senate has set up these rules to provide a better social calendar for the coming year and so help keep the Girls' Rally Calendar up-to-date, Jan Fegley said.

Interest In SIU Highest Ever

... Turner

"In the six years I have been making these visits there was more interest shown this year than ever before," said Dr. Max Wesley Turner. Turner made this statement when discussing the students, he saw from area high schools, who stated they would be interested in attending SIU.

Turner, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, talked to students last week as he visited high schools at Litchfield and Hillsboro.

"Not only was there more interest in our school but it was more intense than ever before," said Turner. "It was very interesting to see how interest in Southern has grown over the years."

Turner credited the interest to the reputation SIU has built as big in size while still retaining the little school outlook in giving individual attention to each student.

Summer School Policy Change Recommended

The committee on summer school policy has recommended a more "vigorous" summer session for SIU.

A combination of reasons prompted the recommendation, the main one being the increased number of students who are attending summer sessions since World War II.

Another of the reasons is the committee's belief that the high cost of living has compelled faculty members to obtain "professional employment" during the summer to supplement their incomes from teaching.

The committee has recommended part of the annual budget be set aside for the summer quarter in order that "departmental planning" may take place at an earlier date.

If the suggestions of the committee are upheld a conference between faculty members and their department chairman would take place at the end of each fall quarter to make definite plans for the coming summer session.

The committee outlined three main advantages that the increased activity during summer session would bring about.

1. A complete curriculum would undoubtedly prove attractive to students already disposed to summer school and the increase in enrollment would justify additional finances required.

2. A complete curriculum, with corresponding patronage from students, and the need for full faculty and administrative staff could result in a more efficient utilization of the Physical Plant.

3. The institution would greatly benefit from enhanced faculty morale.

In connection with the recommendations the committee also urged that all construction of a "permanent type" be equipped with air conditioning systems.

In non-military manner, pretty Marie Holifield was named and crowned 1957 AFROTC Military Queen Saturday night at the Carbondale Armory.

The 5' 7" brown-haired coed was crowned by retiring Queen Sherry Craig of Pinckneyville.

The new Queen from Brookport and her court of Janet Osburn, Carole Chambers, Mary Jane Chaney and Jo Ann Arestman, reigned over the event as Duke Ellington's orchestra provided appropriate music.

The coronation ceremony, augmented by the ROTC Singing Squadron and Honor Guard, highlighted the evening affair.

The Queen, who was presented with a cup, will now reign over AFROTC events for the coming year.

Marie, who is 19, has grey eyes and weighs 125, is not a new-comer to the Queen ranks having been last year's ISA Sweetheart. She is a sophomore and is a member of Angel Flight and the Angels.

The dance, which lasted from 9:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m., was preceded by an AFROTC sponsored concert in Shroyer Auditorium.

With a full house and many standing persons, the Duke and company provided a quality of music absent many years from SIU.

Ellington's numbers, which featured every member of the orchestra, entertained a crowd of approximately 1,800.

Between numbers, Robert Crim of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity presented Duke Ellington, also an Alpha Phi Alpha with a Certificate of Achievement from the SIU chapter.

Ellington Musicians Avid Cowboy Fans

Cowboys have an attraction for the members of the Duke Ellington musical aggregation.

Ellington and his aggregation arrived in Carbondale by train about 11 p. m., Saturday. They were spirited away to the Library Lounge for a little relaxation.

Later in the afternoon, Maj. Jack Aldridge gave some of the boys a lift down town. Their destination—the cinema.

Seems there was a cowboy movie on, and they wanted to see it. That's the way they relax.

As Aldridge deposited the musicians at the theater one of them said, "The Duke probably best us here."

FINAL TRYOUTS

The final tryouts for "Rumpelstiltskin," a children's play, will be held on Jan. 31, in the Speech Barn. Students are to pick up their prepared scripts that will be posted on the bulletin board in the Southern Playhouse.

Dorothy Beck, graduate student, will direct the play. It will be presented in the Southern Playhouse Mar. 6.

"This will not interfere with any of the students who are planning to tryout for a major play," said Miss Beck.

SINGING SQUADRON

The ROTC Singing Squadron prepared for the full complement of the SIU cadets and Air Force personnel in Shroyer Auditorium, last Tuesday.

The Singing Squadron opened the program, which was held during the regular drill period, and which featured the final voting for this year's ROTC Queen.

A short speech by Col. A. R. MacMillan, a skit featuring Cadet Bob Dunken and an exhibition of the "Stuckade Shuffle" rounded out the program.

Drive Underway For Hungarian Refugee, More Donations Needed

By Marshall Riggan

Within two months a Hungarian student will sit in class among his American friends.

He was somewhere in Budapest last October, perhaps among the young intellectuals that marched side by side across the Chain Bridge to the west bank of the Danube. He might have been at Kilian barracks with Col. Pal Malezer, or on the roof across from radio Budapest.

He is now in America, among some 150,000 other refugees who have escaped Hungary, beaten yet proud. Soon he will be in Carbondale where he will study the situation of freedom for which he fought so bravely.

Already many groups on campus have contributed to the fund.

"We are proud of the response of the SIU student groups," said Klingberg.

"Already we have received pledges or contributions of $75 to $100 from Woody Hall, $200 from the Student Council, $50 from the men's residence hall council, $8 from Sagawah, $5 from Kappa Alpha Psi and $15 from the International Relations Club."

"Centrals Breakfast Money"

"The girls at Woody Hall even suggested contributing the money they would have spent on breakfast in order to support the drive," said Dabdash.

"There are a few of us here at school who have an inside understanding of the problems of the refugees," pointed out Dabdash.

"We know that if we could support him for a full term, he could begin to support himself once he got on his feet, but we would like to give him full tuition for the first term."

"We are also hoping to find a fraternity that might volunteer to allow the refugee room, rent free, at the house," said Klingberg.

"Perhaps a group of fraternities could work on some system whereby the refugee could spend a quarter at each house."

"In short, what the committee hopes, is full and sincere support from the student body and the various living groups on campus, refugees in New York receiving emergency aid from the World University Service," stated Dr. Frank L. Klingberg, member of the Joint Student Council-I.R.C. Committee.

The University submitted to the World University Service a list of the fields of study that are available here and they will choose a student according to his interest, scholastic ability and willingness to work.

"We hope and feel sure that the student will be chosen in time to begin school here at the beginning of the spring quarter," said Dabdash.

Already many groups on campus have contributed to the fund.

Committee Summarized Project

The committee summarized the project with the following statement:

"America's possibilities for world leadership are entering upon a new hopeful period. We must not lack Hungary. Thousands of Hungarians have laid down their lives in their fight for freedom.

Once before, in 1849, Russian troops crushed the Hungarian republic — Hungarians appealed in vain for American aid at that time. But today America is the leader of the free world. Let us not fail them this time."

Light System Near Library Nears Finish

By the end of June, the lighting system around the library and the life science building should be complete, announced the office of the University architect last week.

The lights have already been installed south of the library and the life science building, but the lights around the animal house, the foot house, in front of the life science and the library, and down the walks to West Grand will not be completed until the end of June.

There are two types of lights being installed around the buildings. The type which will throw light on the walks, will be mounted on foot stands and will contain 500 watt high, incandescent 200 watt bulbs. The smaller lights, 300 watt high, incandescent 200 watt bulbs, and will be used for lighting the base of the building and the pool in front of the library.

Morris Appoints Group For Studying Parking

Of all the words in the English language beginning with "p," perhaps the most used around SIU are "parking problem."

Pres. Delyne W. Morris, has appointed three students and three faculty members to study problems that will arise from the Board of Trustees decision that beginning with the summer session no freshmen will be allowed automobiles.

The decision was adopted by the board on Aug. 3, 1956, with qualifications that such factors as distance from the campus, physical handicaps, married status, students over 21 and other individual problems would be taken into consideration.

"It is our duty to study the policy under which the rules will be enforced," said Dean L. Clark Davis, chairman of the committee.

Other persons on the committee are Lester Schneider, Henry Gay Gimney and Susan Knapp students and Dr. Woodson Fishback, Dr. William Lyle and Dr. Jessie A. Harden, faculty.

"Our recommendations will go to the Student Council and then on to the University Council to be prepared into one document to be submitted to Pres. Morris," said Davis.

Theme Chosen For Pan American Show

A week-long panorama of festivities with the colorful theme of "Spanish Borderlands" will highlight this year's Pan American Festival.

The pageant will run from April 14-20. As in the past, this year's project is sponsored by the Foreign Languages department.

Included in the week-long schedule of events are receptions, exhibits, speeches and a movie that will complement the theme.

Are You Satisfied?

Today, tomorrow, and the future! Today you are attending Southern. You are preparing yourself for the future. Tomorrow you will be walking to "Pomp and Circumstance." You will be prepared. This will be your school whether the connection is that of distinction or shame.

Look about you. Are you satisfied? Are you getting what you want? Are your classrooms overcrowded? How many night classes do you have? Are you lucky enough to have an official study week? Do you have to catch your breath when you climb the steps of Old Main? Do you have a class in the chicken-coop?—or in an ice-cold or suffocating hot barracks? Did you get to go to the last basketball game or did you have the wrong letter on your activity card? This is SIU today!

Tomorrow will be an anti-climax in your life... or maybe a crisis. This will depend on you and the conditions you are faced with today!

The school four years you spend at Southern is only a few minutes compared to the lifetime that Southern will spend with you. Wherever you stamp of "Southern Illinois University" will be your badge. The idea that you are at a school, they tag you on you.

Are you really satisfied? Ask yourself this question? "Would I send my children here?"

Years is a heritage of a handful of students looking in Old Main. Thousands of students from all over the world located on this burning campus. Those before you have given you Southern Illinois University.

This is your school today. It's future rests heavily upon your shoulders and the legislators of tomorrow.

Today you face the fight for tomorrow.

What It Means To You

The building program outlined by the SIU administration in its appropriation request means a great deal to every student and resident of Southern Illinois. The benefits for the students, past, present and future, will be the added prestige of graduating from a progressive school. The benefits for the residents will be an expansion of the services that the University can offer.

Without the building program and budget requested by the University, the prestige on the rise now, will undoubtedly go down. Buildings are needed now and have been needed for some time to relieve the pressures of overcrowding. This overcrowded condition will grow worse under the impact of the expected increase in enrollment.

With the new buildings listed in the program, it might be possible to cut out night and Saturday classes, since they are the result of a shortage of available classroom space. Research facilities would also be expanded so that the prestige of the University would be raised considerably in this manner.

SIU has already begun to gain a reputation as an outstanding school, and this means that it is easier for a graduate to get a job and at better pay. It cannot continue this trend toward a great school without additional facilities. It is in the interest of every student and resident of Southern Illinois to see that these appropriations are passed.

"Duke" Ellington Says There is 'Just Music'

There is just no such thing as new music, "Duke" Ellington said after his concert in Southern Illinois University's Shrock Auditorium Saturday.

"People categorize music into progressive jazz, dixieland, long hair, boogie and others," he said. "Jazz and the others are losing their meaning; they've been used so loosely."

"There aren't any categories to music there's just music," said Ellington.

The "Duke" one of the most famous contemporary American orchestra leaders and composers, played to "standing room only" for the Southern Illinois University Air Force ROTC military ball and concert.

Ellington was dressed in a tuxedo, with black bow tie and white shirt with a large, soft collar.

P. E. Department Teaches 650 To Swim

There are nearly 200 freshmen students who would most assuredly drown in the event of a flash flood or ship wreck, according to information and statistics in the physical education department.

"At the beginning of the year we found that we had time and facilities to handle 650 students in swimming classes throughout the year," said James Wilkinson, one of the instructors of the swimming classes. "So we divided the group according to their ability into thirds... Last Fall term we taught the top third which were mostly advanced swimmers. Winter term 200 intermediate swimmers are being taught, and next term we will teach the beginners."

"Most of these students can't swim at all and now they can swim an appreciable distance," said Wilkinson.

Wilkinson believes that swimming can do more for the student than any other physical education course.

"A student obtains all the objectives of physical education while swimming or learning to swim," said Wilkinson. "And it also has a great carry-over value to nearly everyone swims when they get out of school."

Wilkinson claims that if a non-

IFC Plans Rush, Workshop

The Inter-Fraternity Council decided last night to try holding rush week on a weekend instead of during the week. The weekend for the spring term will be Feb. 16-17, 18.

Other things discussed at the meeting was the co-sponsorship of a bloodmobile with the Student Council, election of a treasurer and plans for the IFC workshop.

The holding of rush week on the weekend instead of during the week brought out many different ideas. Several members felt that it would hurt the rush as many students go home on the weekend. Others felt that night classes hinder rush if held during the week. The fact that the Office of Student Affairs considered weekend rush a good idea, was brought out. What may have been the most deciding factor was that if a person didn't care enough to stay at school one weekend for rush, he wouldn't make a very good fraternity man.

Bob Ruppel, member of Acadia, was elected treasurer when Eldon Klein, president of the Council, broke a tie vote in favor of Ruppel. Klein said the reason he voted in favor of Ruppel was that Cleveland Hammel, the other candidate, was pretty well overloaded with similar work at the present time.

The Council voted to try to co-sponsor a bloodmobile with the Student Council, sometime in April. It was recommended that the dates for the bloodmobile try be set-up to coincide with Greek Week. Also Klein intends to bring the plan before the Inter-Fraternity Council to see if they care to participate in sponsorship of the bloodmobile.

Under old business the IFC workshop was in for lively discussion. Most of the discussion had to do with the times of the meetings during the workshop.

World Premier Of Violin Sonata Highlights Fine Arts Festival

The world premiere performance of Elie Siegmeyer's second violin sonata is among the highlights of the second annual fine arts festival which will begin on March 31.

Louis Kraemer, world famous violinist, will play this composition, according to an announcement made by Dr. Henry Bruhn, chairman of the music department. Kraemer will also play other modern works by Berg, Ravel, Prokofiev and Stravinsky in his April 15 recital which will conclude the festival.

Bruhn said Siegmeyer, a top American composer, may play the piano part in the performance of his composition, "Sonata No. 2" for Violin and Piano.

Other major attractions scheduled during the two-week cultural festival include a lecture by composer and distinguished professor of music, Roy Harris; an SIU opera workshop production of Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi" and the Eugene Williams adaptation of "Dad and the Sea" and a recital by Newman Club.

"Enjoying Our Religion" will be the topic discussed at the Newman Club meeting tomorrow at 8:40.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Father Sebastian, he will meet with the club in conjunction with Religion in Life Week. All Catholic students are urged to attend this special meeting which will be held at the Newman Club House.

New officers elected at last week's meeting are: Bernard Gurn, president; David Green, vice president; David Bourdreaux, treasurer; Mary Blenz, recording secretary; and Joan Darrah, corresponding secretary.

Advertising Workshop Open To Students

The second annual Advertising Workshop sponsored by the Southern Illinois University Department of Journalism and the Illinois Ad Advertising Club will be held in the Library Auditorium on Feb. 15.

Also cooperating with the workshop will be the Chicago office of J. Walter Thompson Advertising Co. The Thompson Company is one of the largest advertising agencies in the nation.

Julian C. Winthrop, who heads the promotion and trade department of J. Walter Thompson's Chicago office, and two other representatives of that firm will lead workshop sessions. The Kraft Foods Company will also send representatives.

The first session will begin at 10:00 a.m., and students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Girls Rally Meeting

Girls Rally held their regular meeting Thursday night in Old Main. Ann Kuehn, projects chairman, asked girls to sign up in uniforms at the Community Center Feb. 6 and at the Symphony Concert Feb. 13.

The girls discussed whether any organization on campus should be allowed to withdraw money from the Office of Student Affairs fund in order to pay for services rendered by the Physical Plant to that group. It was their opinion that the group should pay half of the fee and use the fund for the other half.

Bary Verbe, president, brought up the problem of scheduling events and then concluding them at the last minute. The girls decided that any group who cancelled an event at the last minute should be punished by not getting to schedule events the next year until all other organizations had.

The next Girls Rally meeting is scheduled for February 14.

Mid-East Crisis Topic Of IRC Discussion

Discussion and opinion on the Middle-East situation had a personal significance to members of a discussion panel at the International Relations Club meeting last Thursday night.

The meeting was opened by Dr. Frank Klingberg, faculty sponsor, who outlined the main objectives of the Eisenhower doctrine and gave some historical background on the Middle-East area.

Participants in the discussion who lived in the Middle East were Faramarz Zahedi, from Iran, and Fahmi Dahdud, from Jordan.

"We must unite the Arab world before the doctrine will be claimed," Dahdud said.

Zahedi was for the passage of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

"The military help is good... we have common boundaries with Russia... and the danger is real," said Zahedi.

Three American students presented the U. S. point of view in the discussion.

A busy schedule of activities is being planned by the music department for two opera workshops, according to Dr. Henry Bruinman, chairman of the music department.

The opera students are divided into two groups. One group is under the direction of William Taylor, music instructor, and the other is under the direction of Donald Murphy, music instructor. The students are rehearsing five nights per week for March 5 and April 12 performances.

An Italian comic opera, "Gianni Schicchi," is being prepared by one group, and the other will perform the modern opera "Riders to the Sea" by the distinguished English composer, Ralph Vaughan-Williams. "Gianni Schicchi" was composed by Puccini. Both operas are scheduled to be performed at Cairo on March 5.

On April 12, during the fine arts festival, the group will perform again. There will also be other performances in Southern Illinois.

All of the solo leads, and choral parts will be performed by SIU music students, according to Bruinman.

"Big plans are also underway for a summer opera production," said Bruinman. "The Department of Music is planning a performance of 'Carosel,' during the six-week of the summer term."

"Carosel" was a famous New York stage success. This program will be performed during the seventh week of school at Cairo on the levee of the Ohio River. Auditions for the summer program will be held in the near future, according to Bruinman.

Important to the other countries that no problems will be appearing on the first or second pages of the newspapers for years to come," said Cressley.

Cressley Shows Films
After his address Cressley showed and mentioned pictures he had taken while on his extensive travels in that part of the world to some 1,000 students and faculty members.

The main theme of the films was to show the contrast of the old and the new in the desert regions of the Middle East. There were the camel caravans of antiquity as compared to the modern truck caravans. Another item of interest Cressley illustrated was the search for methods to bring the once fertile lands of the deserts into some form of agriculture production.

High School Story Contest This Month

The sixth annual Best Story Contest is being opened this month by the Southern Illinois High School Press Association. It was announced today by Dr. Donald R. Grubb, director.

There will be eight categories and 24 special recognition certificates awarded for the best stories. The eight categories are: new sports, feature, editorial, original cartoon, original advertising, best news picture, and the added attraction will be a feature about the student's home town. It is being sponsored by the Southern Illinois Inc. The SIH is a fact finding and area promotion organization for the southern region of the state.

Deadline for the stories will be March 15. The winners will be announced in the April issue of The High School Editor, official publication of the SIHSPA.

Ag. Department Banquet, Speech Thursday Night

Students and faculty of the SIU Agriculture department will pull up to the table and taste some of the end products of their endeavor at the annual Agriculture Banquet in the University cafeteria Thursday night.

After the meal which begins at 6:30 p. m. a prominent farmer and educator, Earl Hughes, will speak to the group. Hughes operates a large and highly successful farm in Woodstock, Illinois, has been a member of the staff at the University of Illinois and was at one time a government official in the United States Department of Agriculture. Recently he has been appointed to the Board of Trustees at the University of Illinois.

Another highlight of the post-dinner activities will be the awarding of certificates to the students who have completed short courses in Agriculture here at SIU.

Tickets are available to the public at a price of $1. The total price of the ticket is $1.50, but the Agriculture Club is paying the extra 50c on each ticket sold.

The members of the Agriculture Club who made the arrangements for the banquet are Paul Cannon, Harold Shupe, Vernon Soehn, Ron Shubert, Dick Ellis and Bill Hall.

Office Needed Change
"We realized that a change was necessary for our expanding activities of purchasing activities," continued Cornell. "Three permanent lines just weren't enough to handle all calls. The new system, the surplus property section and the purchasing department proper and allows five calls to be made simultaneously."

The new switchboard is operated by students; thereby allowing full-time supervisory personnel complete devotion to their primary job.

Monthly bills under the old telephone system amounted to $65.60 compared to the $53.00 rental fee which is now being paid with the installation of the new system. Figuring in terms of an annual basis, this amounts to a savings of $151.20.

"I simply cannot tell all the improved features of the system," said Cornell. "Now I am able to place a long-time distance call and utilize all my time while the connection is being made."

"More phones will be installed in the purchasing office at internal demands of expansion," he added. "Our communication problem is completely solved."

sey illustrated was the search for methods to bring the once fertile lands of the deserts into some form of agriculture production.

'Altgeld Dungeon' Egyptian Reporter Explores Cavern

By Marshall Riggan
"The Dungeon" lies below the muffled bleatings and thumpings of a dozen or more music students practicing simultaneously, classes or duties in Altgeld Hall.

That's what they call it — Altgeld Dungeon — that's what the geologists call this important part of the geology department — but not in mockery.

"This is it," said the geologists, leading this reporter under the sign, "Geologists and Janitors," which hung there above the door and down the narrow stair with a twist in them. "Not much to look at, but write what you will."

It really wasn't much to look at but there was a lot of it. The corridors ran long and low to the different departments. Pipes of all sizes criss-crossed along the ceiling making the vertical clearance less than five feet in places.

"You learn to stoop here," said the geologists, pointing to the dust mops hung on the low pipes to ease the pain if you didn't.

To the extreme right of the foot of the stairs was Grindoid Cave or the Paleontology Lab. The lab was heavy with rocks and fossils of all sizes. Some were so small that they could be studied only with a microscope.

"One of the rocks here is so large that if you can press it three times above your head you get an A in the course," said one of the geologists.

One whole side of Grindoid Cave was lined with sagging wooden shelves of rock and fossil samples.

"Fossils are any remains, imprints, casts, or molds of animals which can be found in the earth's crust," said another who was geologist in an ROTC uniform, referring strictly to a dictionary.

It is in the paleontology lab that these fossils are studied.

"Correlation of strata," they call it, "is very important in dating oil and other minerals."

There were cabinets brimming with chemicals and equipment standing here and there against the brick walls. Tables ran the length of the room.

We reentered our straps and went back into the main corridor where we could see at the opposite end the wooden lattice gate that enclosed the archeology area. We could hear, in the main corridor, a piano

Ever met hapless Hugh?

There once was a sophomore named Hugh
Who wrote all his notes on his shoe
Till one day the rain
Washed his notes down the drain
And he flunked Embryology II.

Boo hoo for Hugh. When he finally remembered to get more filler paper, it was too late. How hapless are you? Ever take your notes on the backs of old envelopes... and then try to round up the scraps just before a final? Don't do it. Because it's so easy to drop in for filler paper... ring binders, comp books... all the supplies that will keep your precious notes where you want them, when you want them.

Matmen, Swimmers Triumph

Wrestlers Edge Ritenour YMCA

Coch Jim Wilkinson's wrestling crew kept its win streak going Saturday at Overland, Mo., at the expense of Ritenour YMCA, 22-0.

It was the ninth consecutive dual meet victory and a hard one for the Salukis, as they found themselves meeting a former Big Ten champion and two former Salukis, with some kinkoff opponents thrown in to make the homecoming complete.

Ray Bergfeld, one of Southern's outstanding matmen last year, wrestled for Ritenour against Roy Fowley of Southern, and Fowley defeated him, 8-2.

Also wrestling for Ritenour was Paul Steningburg, another noted Saluki wrestler last year. He defeated Gary Burdick, 5-3. The point was scored at 3-3 in this match with five seconds remaining but Steningburg got a takedown to beat Burdick.

Whitney, a former Big Ten champ who wrestled for Purdue, defeated Lee Grubbs of SIU, 7-9 in a close match.

Relatives of SIU matmen wrestling for Ritenour were: Ed Goebble, brother of SIU's Lee, and Penn Orlando, twin brother of Southern's John. None of the two faced each other.

Sports In Spurts

By Bill Eppert, Editor

Action has been taken by the Intramural Office to relieve the unhealthy situation at the Illinois State Army that was pointed out in The Egyptian more than a week ago.

The Intramural Office dropped the use of the Army for intramural basketball because of inadequate dressing and shower facilities.

Games are now being held in the Men's Gym at SIU, University High School, and Lincoln Grade School.

The explanation given for the inadequate dressing facilities was that the National Guard had converted the dressing rooms into offices. No explanation was given as to why players were not permitted to take showers.

Despite the loss of the two courts at the Army, the Intramural Office reports that the full intramural schedule is expected to draw to a close early in the month.

a close by the end of February.

After the completion of league play, a tournament will be held. The single-elimination affair will take place during the first or second week of March.

The annual free throw tournament also will be held in March. Last year's champion was Lester Foster, who dropped in 93 out of 100 for a new school record.

A somewhat unusual bit of instruction took place at the University of Illinois last Saturday.

The Illinois gymnastics team, after beating Southern in a dual meet, 73 1/2 - 22 1/2, took it upon themselves to give the inexperienced Salukis a few pointers on tumbling, etc.

Illinois' team has several national champions and an Olympic performer, and in addition, they have more extensive equipment. It proved to be a valuable hour for the Salukis.

We think it was a nice gesture from our northern neighbors.

Tankmen Take 8 Firsts, Run Streak To 10

Taking eight of 10 first places and eight second places, Bill Heuser's swimmers routed Western Illinois, 61-25 Saturday at Macomb for their tenth consecutive dual meet victory.

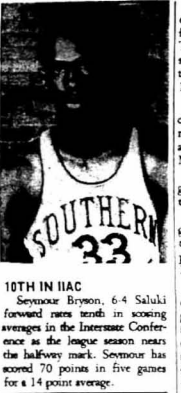

Southern's only losses came in the 100-yard freestyle, in which Salukis took second and third, and the 400-yard free relay.

Turning in winning performances for SIU were Tom Harris in the 220-yard freestyle, Al Cline in the 50-yard butterfly, Bruce Coleman in the diving event, Bob Schulhof in the 200-yard backstroke, Rex Paddock in the 440-yard freestyle, John Huber in the 200-yard breaststroke, and the 400-yard medley relay team, composed of Terry Lockman, Bob Campbell, Laurence Benjamin, and Bob Montgomery.

Southern defeated Beloit College here a week ago for their ninth straight victory.

SIU meets St. Louis University at the SIU pool next Saturday afternoon.

Cagers Seek To Shake Off Road Jinx At Indiana State

Coch Lynn Hole's cagers travel to Terre Haute, Ind. to face a Indiana State College team Thursday night in their third straight non-conference game since they lost to Western Illinois Jan. 19.

Since the Western loss at Macomb, the Salukis have beaten Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington and played a return match with Millikin here Monday night.

Again the Salukis face the road game "jinx" which has haunted them this season.

They have won only one of five games on the road this year, while taking six of seven in the SIU gym previous to Monday's contest with Millikin.

Not much is known about Indiana State, except they play a fast game. They are probably most famous for the fact that two former Illinois high school players, Paxton Lumpkin and Charley Brown from Chicago Du Sable, transferred there from Indiana University at Bloomington.

Neither of them were eligible this season, however, and both dropped out of school during Christmas vacation. Lumpkin promptly signed with the Harlem Globetrotters.

The complete results:

400-Yard Freestyle — 1. Cline (W); 2. Barry (S); 3. Vinick (W); Time—2:53.4

50-Yard Freestyle — 1. Cline (S); 2. Stover (S); 3. Rusk (W); 4. Owens (W); Time—26.5

In another game among Greeks, the "A" team from Phi Kappa Tau dropped Sigma Phi Spilon 58-33.

Lou Guentz made good 10 marks for the Phi Tau's, as Birchler led the losers with 11.

Gymnasts Bow To U. of I.

Coch Bill Meade's gymnastics team traveled to Champaign Saturday and absorbed a 73 1/2 to 22 1/2 shellacking at the hands of the Big Ten and National champs of Illinois.

It was the second defeat of the season in two years for the acrobatic Salukis. Both losses came at the hands of Big Ten teams. Michigan State handed SIU its first loss more than a month ago.

The schedule for the Salukis doesn't show any relief in the future, either, as they must face Ball State, a team which defeated them last year, along with two more Big Ten opponents. A triangular meet is scheduled with Indiana University and Wisconsin University Feb. 16.

Southern was never in the meet Saturday, as a tie for second in the side horse event was the best they could do. Gene Salmon of SIU provided those honors.

Southern's next meet is with Western Illinois here Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

The complete results:

Trampoline — 1. Kazon (I) 2. Heiland (I) 3. H. Avey (I) 4. Counsell (S) 5. Ballester (S).

Free Exercise — 1. Heiland (I) 2. Gombos (I) 3. Kosick (I) 4. Oetle (S) 5. Smith (S).

Side Horse — 1. Black (I) 2. Salmon (S) and Gombos (I) tied; 4. Kosick (I) 5. Smith (S).

High Bar — 1. Tonry (I) 2. Gombos (I) 3. Johnson (S) 4. Curren (S) 5. Oetle (S).

OVER THE SIDE

Gene Salmon demonstrates his talents on the side horse after the SIU gymnastics team lost to the University of Illinois Saturday, 73 1/2-22 1/2. Salmon tied for second place in the side horse event with Gombos of the Illinois.

for the best finish the Salukis could muster. Illinois was a formidable opponent for SIU, having won the Big Ten championship for seven straight years, and the NCAA championship last year.
