President Morris, Faculty Members To Talk Just Like 'Good Old Days'

President Delyte W. Morris will sit down with a group of faculty members Jan. 29 for the first of a series of open discussion meetings dealing with anything the faculty members care to discuss.

The series of discussions was set up by the President after he learned that many faculty members deplored the loss of personal contact with him.

Invitations to critique recent all-faculty meetings resulted in a number of letters recalling the "good old days" when the faculty was small enough to permit a question and answer period.

"I heartily agree there should be open sessions devoted to give-and-take such as is impossible in a large faculty meeting," Dr. Morris said.

"It is hoped that from the discussions will emerge many valuable ideas."

Four meetings are scheduled for the Carbondale campus and two for the Edwardsville campus. The first session here will be Jan. 29.

Library Will Install Electronic Circulation

ELECTRICAL LIBRARY - Library workers began listing catalog numbers of Morris Library books on computer sheets, one of the first steps in changing the circulating system to electronics.

Ralph McCoy, director of SIU libraries, announced yesterday that a new electronic circulation system will be put into operation at Morris Library "probably in September."

When the library circulation system goes into effect, students will not have to fill out cards to borrow books. The system will just require the student's identification card to be presented at the circulation desk.

The identification cards are already coded by means of holes representing the individual's record number and will give data as to the status of the borrower.

There will be four input machines at the circulation desk to check out books, Dr. McCoy said.

Robert Isbell, co-ordinator of SIU's Systems and Procedures, and Larry DeJarnett, Isbell's assistant, are working with Dr. McCoy on revamping the circulation system.

"The original concept for the electronic system was written in Nov. '61," Isbell said.

From that time on Isbell and DeJarnett have been working on this project with library officials.

"This system has never before been successfully installed in a library and will be an innovation to libraries suffering from growing pains such as Morris Library has felt in the last several years," said DeJarnett.

"The electronic circulation system could trace the reading habits of students," Dr. McCoy said, "and comparisons between student's grades and the books they are reading would be accessible."

Siren's Call To Be Heard Twice Today

The SIU siren will be sounded Thursday afternoon at 2:45 p.m. and 3:05 p.m. Purpose of the sounding of the siren will be to familiarize students and others with the alert signal and the take cover signal.

Classes are not to evacuate since this is a siren test only, according to John E. Grinnell, vice president for operations.

The alert signal, a steady blast of three to five minutes duration, will be sounded at 2:45 p.m. This means that information has been received from the U. S. Weather Bureau that there is a severe weather forecast for our area.

The take cover signal will be sounded at 3:05 p.m. This is a series of short blasts of three to five minutes duration, with the blasts separated by 20-second intervals.

This means that severe weather or a possible tornado is imminent. Persons in the area should take cover in designated places.

Campus To Ring With Harmony

A non-professional music show and the SIU Male Glee Club's formal debut will be the highlights of a popular feature at Southern, Harmony Weendend.

"It's A Grand Night For Singing," is the name of the folksong and barber shop quartet song type to be put on by SIU groups in Shryock at 8 p.m. Friday. The Glee Club program of variety music will be staged at 8 p.m. Saturday, also in Shryock. Both are no charge affairs.

Religion Week Opens Sunday

"Religion in the Twentieth Century" will be examined from a variety of angles during Religion-in-Life Week to be held at SIU Jan. 20-26, under sponsorship of the Inter-Faith Council, a group of representatives from some dozen student religious foundations.

Mrs. Southern Contest

Nominations for the sixth annual Mrs. Southern contest are now being accepted. Deadline for entering is Feb. 1.

Any married University woman or wife of an SIU student is eligible. Nominations should be made to Mrs. Peggy Carr, President of the Dames Club at Ext. 457-2028.

Bowling Beauty Bowls Over Bewildered Sportswriter

She may be from Bowling Green, but at bowling she's not green.

Such could describe San Lynn Merrick, women's international intercollegiate bowling and pocket billiards champion. Miss Merrick, from Bowling Green University, was on campus yesterday for exhibitions and instruction work.

Despite a busy schedule, Miss Merrick accepted a challenge from Egyptian Sports writer Tom McNamara who turned out to be quite a (bowling) alley cat.

McNamara, all 5 feet, 4 inches of the renowned sports scribe, unfortunately attempted to incorporate all forms of sports into the bowling match. From the very first frame when Mac lost his footing on the approach and went sliding down the alley in apparent 50-yard dash competition with the bowling ball, the outcome seemed certain.

He later tried his hand at combining basketball and bowling when he dribbled the ball behind his back as he drew back to release the ball.

After that feat, this observer detected in McNamara a desire to try a bit of Swimming, for he acted as if he felt like jumping in the lake.

Miss Merrick's fortunes were more happy, however, as she opened her first frame with a strike and went on to roll four more strikes and five spares in the match.

Friday in Morris Library Auditorium, one time period beginning at 7:30 p.m., the other at 9 p.m.

The subjects of the lectures and symposiums will include the following: "The Twentieth Century View of Love and Marriage;" "You and the Twentieth Century;" "Application of Christian Science;" and "The Prison--A Study in Church-State Relations."

The International Relations Club is cooperating with the student religious organizations in presenting a symposium on nuclear peace and survival.

Results of the match: Miss Merrick, 202; McNamara, 64; and a pledge from Mac that in the future he will stay on the writing side of a typewriter while dealing with sporting events.

In another, and more serious, match yesterday afternoon, Miss Merrick joined with three SIU students, Ann Strawn, Jack Hagerud and Dave Imber, for a doubles match in the University Center bowling alley.

The team of Imber and Miss Merrick won all three games and ended with 1091 total pins to 1001 for Miss Strawn and Hagerud. Individual series scoring was Imber, 584; Miss Merrick, 507; Hagerud, 584; and Miss Strawn, 417.

Prof Plants Channel Catfish To Eat May 'Starve' Before He Gets One

If one SIU professor has his way, southern Illinois will someday be as well known for the catfish it grows as it is for its annual apple crop. At the outset, the term "growing catfish" may sound strange, but this is exactly what William M. Lewis is doing.

Lewis, professor of zoology and director of the SIU fish laboratory, planted his first crop of channel catfish over the Christmas holidays in a pond near DeSoto.

Now he has to wait three years to harvest his first crop. But he won't be idle during that time. He plans to plant other catfish crops in at least eight other ponds in the same area.

Why plant catfish? Here's Lewis's story.

"It is evident that there are at least two major potentials in Illinois for fish: production of recreational fishing and production of food fishes," Lewis said.

"For southern Illinois, the principal possibility of food fish is the channel catfish. It grows well in lakes and ponds; it is a popular fish in this region, quite palatable, and uses non-living food. And it can live in a limited amount of water."

Lewis enlisted the aid of Joe Maroni, a businessman and sportsman, who agreed to let Lewis and a staff of 10 graduate students plant the channel catfish in a pond on his land near DeSoto.

Maroni became so enthused about the project that he's even agreed to the construction of eight one-third acre ponds on his land for the fish-growing experiment. The ponds will be supplied with water pumped from adjoining strip mine ponds.

Lewis said the channel catfish were obtained in Arkansas. In the spring, the fish will be paired and placed in the various ponds with milk cans to serve as spawning sites.

Lewis and his staff will feed the fish daily with specially prepared pellets. After spawning, the fingerlings will be moved to different ponds and fed until the coming fall. Then they will be removed and stocked in new ponds.

The feeding process will continue through the second and part of the third summer until the fish reach about two pounds.

"Then they will be harvested as food fish," Lewis explained.

"I think we'll eventually have large scale fish farming in southern Illinois," he added.

Models Of Buildings On Exhibit Jan. 29-30

New architects' models of Morris Library, the Physical Education-Military Training Building, and the proposed University Park Residents Halls, will be on display during the "Know Your University" exhibits Jan. 29 and 30 at the University Center Ballroom.

The two-day program of exhibits was planned by the Special Interest committee of the University Center Programming Board to bring into focus the complete picture of the University from its multitude of integral parts.

Colleges and schools and their individual departments plus the student and administrative departments have been asked to prepare and explain displays. Hours for viewing the displays are from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Jan. 29, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Jan. 30.

Schools and departments signed to participate to date include:

The School of Agriculture: Agricultural Industries, Animal Industries, Forestry and Plant Industries.

The School of Technology: Applied Sciences, Industrial Education and Engineering.

College of Education: Elementary Education, Health Education and the Department of Education and Supervision.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences: Physics.

On-campus services and offices planning displays include: Area Services, the Transportation Institute, the Office of Student Affairs, Counseling and Testing Center, University Housing, Health Service, Office of Financial Assistance and the Office of Student Activities.

Planners of "Know Your University" are hoping for a greater understanding of the total scope of the University and for an informal faculty-student interchange in areas of academic interest.

Plant Industries Receives Grant

The Atomic Energy Commission has given the SIU Plant Industries Department a $12,000 grant to purchase equipment and materials to be used in radioisotope instructional programs.

According to A. B. Caster, chairman of the department, the equipment will be used for a laboratory section of a course for training in the use of radioisotopes in agriculture and related sciences.

Intramurals Cancelled

All intramural basketball games for tonight have been cancelled because of the SIU-Southeast Missouri game. The games, however, will be rescheduled.

White Tie And Tails New Glee Club Attire

The University Male Glee Club will have a new look about it when it presents its first public concert of the term at 8 p.m. Jan. 19 in Shryock Auditorium.

Alexander Caputo, guitarist, and Alan Stevens, harmonica player, will appear in the performance of folk songs.

Bill Hudgens Named Assistant Director Of Auxiliary Enterprises

B.D. (Bill) Hudgens, vice president and branch manager of the Mercantile Mortgage Co. in Carbondale for the past nine years, has been named assistant director of Auxiliary Enterprises for Southern Illinois University.

Hudgens, a graduate of Southern in 1948, is presently treasurer of the SIU Alumni organization and has served on the Alumni board since 1957. He received his LLB from Washington University in St. Louis and is a member of the Carbondale Planning Commission and commanding officer of Naval Reserve Composite Unit Co. 9-109.

Activities: Graduates Get Together For Coffee On Thursday

A plan started last year at Southern to get graduate students together on an informal, cup-of-coffee basis, will be resumed, according to the University Center Programming Board.

The first such session this year will be held Thursday from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the Ohio Room of the University Center.

In addition to graduate assistants, teaching assistants and faculty members who teach in the graduate school are invited. There will be no cost.

Student activities scheduled for today will include the following meetings, movies, and musicals:

The Cinema Classic for this week, "High Noon," will be shown at 7:30 in Ballroom A. The movie is free.

The Judo Club will meet in the Quonset Hut at 5 p.m.

The Womans' Recreation Association Intramural class basketball league will meet at 4 p.m.

The Modern Dance Club, a co-educational group, will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the women's gymnasium.

The Dames Club will have their monthly meeting in the Family Living Laboratory at 8 p.m.

There will be a piano recital given by a senior student in Music, Dan McEvilly, at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Two groups of new students will meet with student leaders tonight. Group A will meet in Room B, and Group J will meet in Room C of the University Center at 9 p.m.

The Education and Cultural Committee of the Programming Board, sponsors of the Creative Insight series, will meet at 9 p.m. in Room B.

The Resident Halls Council will meet in Room E at 9 p.m.

The Interservice Christian Fellowship will have a meeting in Room B at 10 a.m.

There will be a soil conservation meeting for Agriculture students in the Agriculture Seminar at 1 p.m.

Tickets for the Military Ball and Review in Blue will go on sale at the Information Desk today.

The sixth annual Farm Credit Workshop, sponsored by the Department of Agricultural Industries, will be held Jan. 24-25 in the Agricultural Building Seminar Room.

The Industrial Education Club will meet at 10 a.m. Monday in the Electrical Shop, T-25. All club members are asked to be present, officers said.

The Thompson Point Library will celebrate its official opening with an open house on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. The library is located in the Student Government office in Lentz Hall.

The University Center Programming Board's Service Committee is sponsoring a shopping bus trip to St. Louis Jan. 19.

The bus is expected to leave the University Center at 8 a.m. Only $1 will be charged for the round-trip fare.

The committee makes one stipulation: anyone wishing to go must sign up today.

ACT Make-up Exam Offered To Freshmen On February 2

The Testing Center will offer on Feb. 2 a special make-up session for a mandatory exam required of all entering freshmen.

The test is part of the American College Testing Program which was adopted by SIU last summer.

Students must pre-register for tests immediately at the Testing Center between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at building T-18, on Harwood Avenue. Deadline for pre-registration is Feb. 1.

Failure to register will result in the Testing Center nullifying Spring registration of THETA XI PRINCESS -- of the Pin and Paddle Formal, Julie Harris, reigned at the dance Saturday night. Julie, 21, is a theatre major from Highland Park.

Pi Sigma Epsilon Initiates Eleven

Pi Sigma Epsilon, national marketing fraternity, initiated eleven new members Sunday in the Library Lounge.

Following the initiation, a dinner in honor of the new members was given at the Logan House. Dan Jostedt, a professional member, was the speaker.

Those initiated were Stan Allen, Ray Beno, Jack Buente, Joe Culliane, Mickey Joffe, Jerry Kelly, Jerry Lash, Patrick Withers and Mark Yeates, students, and James Moore, marketing instructor and Jostedt.

Virginia Harrison, head of the school of nursing at SIU will leave Jan. 21 to attend a board of directors meeting of the Illinois League for Nursing in Chicago.

Miss Harrison has been secretary of the League for the past six years.

Suggestion Box For Ideas Put At Information Desk

Got an idea? If you have, there is a place for it at Southern.

Just write it up, the Service Committee of the University Programming Board advises, and drop it in the suggestion box at the Information Desk in the Center.

It may not be a novel idea but it is functional, the committee reasoned; why not tap 11,000 minds rather than a handful, for helpful ideas?

The box has been up a few days and has already produced some workable ideas:

1- "We need more campus phones..." Free phones for student emergency use are being installed in Morris Library and the Home Economics buildings. This service is being sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs.

2- "Could chili be served in the Oasis room?"...this is being planned.

3- How about more activities rooms in the Center being turned into study rooms? Rooms A, C, and H are now available for study whenever the Center is open.

Any suggestions at all may

Woodwind Quintet To Present Concert

The Faculty Woodwind Quintet will present a concert at 4 p.m. Sunday in Shryock Auditorium.

William Betterton, bassoon; Robert Forman, oboe; Phillip Olsson, horn; Robert Resnick, flute; and Howard Wooters, clarinet, will play D minor's "Wind Quintet in G Minor, Op. 56, No. 2;" Hartley's "Divertimento for Cello and Woodwind Quintet," with the cellist Peter Spurbeck; and Beethoven's "Quintet, Op. 16."

All are the members of music faculty at SIU.

be put in the box. The box is opened daily and the suggestions or ideas are forwarded to the department of the University most closely related.

The committee decided many little conveniences, changes or additions are missing simply because no one has thought about them.

Films To Show Use Of Library

The first of two lectures on film demonstrating the use of the library will be shown today at 10 a.m. in the Morris Library auditorium.

The film will be repeated Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in Browne Auditorium and Jan. 18 at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Morris Library auditorium.

The film is designed especially for new students and freshmen in English 100, 101 and 103. Attendance is voluntary.

A second film covering further use of the library will be shown next week.

Moise Tshombe Surrenders Katanga To United Nations

KOLWEZI, Katanga, the Congo--

Katanga President Moise Tshombe gave up his secessionist fight Tuesday, when he announced the surrender of Katanga.

He quickly won assurance of a general amnesty as his only condition for Congo unity under U. N. Secretary-General U Thant's reconciliation plan.

In a three page communique to newsmen at his emergency capital, Kolwezi, President Tshombe read out slowly the text which stated the government of Katanga wanted to avoid further destruction which would plunge the Congolese people into misery for "the profit of foreign interests."

Tshombe declared, "We are ready to proclaim immediately, before the world, that Katanga's secession is ended, to allow United Nations troops freedom of movement and to return to Elizabethville to supervise the ways of applying U Thant's plan."

Thant, "often skeptical of Tshombe's declarations in the past, welcomed this one. He expressed hope this would end the conflict and destruction which have been needlessly experienced in Katanga."

Tshombe's capitulation came in the 19th day of a U. N.-Katanga war, the third such conflict since he led his copper-rich province from the Congo after Belgium freed this former colony in 1960. Western diplomatic and economic pressures contributed to his downfall.

BERLIN--

East Germany's Communist chief Walter Ulbricht denounced Red China's attack on India's Himalayan frontier as Soviet Premier Khrushchev listened at Tuesday's opening of a conference of world Communist leaders.

Ulbricht did not mention the Red Chinese by name in denouncing their policies in general, but employed the usual device of attacking little Albania's Red leaders who echo Peking's views. Three members of the Chinese Com-

Business Grad Tests Offered Saturday Feb. 2

The Educational Testing Service has designated the Counseling and Testing Center of SIU as a test center for the Feb. 2 Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business.

This marks the first time that Southern has been a test center for this test and reflects the growing number of Southern graduates working toward advanced degrees in various academic areas.

Registration for the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business can be made by obtaining a Bulletin of Information for Candidates at the Counseling and Testing Center.

Application must be made by Jan. 19, 1963. A list of Graduate Schools requiring this test is available at the Counseling and Testing Center.

munist delegation listened with stony countenances. Khrushchev occasionally nodded in agreement with the speaker.

Referring to the "regrettable" Chinese-Indian conflict, Ulbricht said, "Unfortunately neither we nor the government of the other Socialist states were consulted, nor even informed of the starting of the Indian-Chinese conflict."

LOME, Togo--

Togo's ruling committee of unemployed soldiers today struggled with the problem of forming a civilian government for this jobless nation.

The nine-man junta decided to build a new army as mourners at a nearby village chanted at the funeral of assassinated President Sylvanus Olympio. Only seven per cent of the million people have regular jobs in this newly independent country.

Southern's Band Department To Hold Percussion Clinic

The SIU Band Department will present a day-long percussion clinic at the University Center Ballroom from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Roy Burnes, New York jazz drummer, and Albert Payson, Chicago symphonic percussionist, will be guest artists.

Burnes, former player with Woody Herman, Benny Goodman and other dance bands, now plays with the studio band working for the Merv Griffin television show. Payson plays in the Chicago Symphony. The two will demonstrate techniques with different percussion instruments.

One session will include a four-man demonstration with Burnes, Payson, Don Canedy, SIU Band Director, and Neal Fleugel, a graduate assistant in percussion instruction at SIU.

CHICAGO --

Col. Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU, was quoted yesterday as saying two high ranking officials of the U. S. Olympic committee may lose their jobs because of "support to the NCAA."

The Chicago American article named the two as Kenneth L. Tug Wilson, president of the committee and Asa Bushnell, secretary and commissioner of the Eastern Colleague Conference.

WEATHER REPORT--

The Weather Bureau forecast temperatures from 5 to 17 degrees in Northern Illinois today and from 17 to 30 in the south.

At least seven deaths in Illinois were attributed to the weather yesterday.

Lowest reported reading in the state Tuesday was -23 at Freeport, which broke a 33-year record by 3 degrees.

The show will be presented March 1 and 2 in Shryock Auditorium.

$2,400 Donated For Soil Study

A grant-in-aid of $2,400 for 1962-63 experimental study of ways to reduce water losses from the soil by the use of fatty alcohols has been received from Proctor and Gamble Co., Cincinnati, O., by the Plant Industries Department.

A. B. Caster, department chairman, said the grant will further last year's preliminary studies by Joseph Vavra, SIU associate professor of plant industries. The object is to learn if certain chemicals can be added to the surface moisture losses by evaporation and plant transpiration.

Activities Create Committee Openings

Ever' expanding activities and increasing interest in the work of the University Center Programming Board has prompted student president, Jerry Howe to call for more volunteers to work on committees.

Howe said any student interested can find out what committees have openings and how they operate by stopping in room H of the Center any time all this week. Someone will be on hand to explain and answer questions, he said.

This is a good time for students to make a start in committee work at the Center, according to Howe, because monthly sessions in continuing leadership training will be starting Jan. 23.

There are about 100 students who will be attending these sessions as members of standing committees. The first one will be held in the Liver Room at 6 p.m.

At this meeting, some aspects of the College Union Association will be discussed and plans for the incompleparts of the Center building will be explained.

At later meetings of Continuing Leadership Training, films will be shown on planning more effective programs and meetings and becoming a more effective leader. The sessions are to be held the fourth Wednesday of every month.

Economics Prof Heads Committee

C. Addison Hickman, Vandevener Professor of Economics, will serve as chairman of the social science committee of the National Academy of Science when it meets in Washington, D.C., Jan. 17-21.

The committee will review applications for post-doctoral fellowships awarded by the National Science Foundation and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for work in the social science field.

Purdue English Prof To Talk Here Jan. 21

"The Artist as Hero" will be the topic discussed by Meurise Beebe, professor of English at Purdue University on Jan. 21.

The lecture, sponsored by the Department of English, will be in the Studio Theatre at University School.

Ex-Student Held for Stealing Farm Machinery

Gary T. McGowan, a student at SIU last quarter, is being held in custody by authorities in New Madrid County, Mo., charged with involvement in a farm machinery heft ring.

McGowan, 19, is from El Dorado. Authorities in the sheriff's office in Harrisburg said he was arrested in Saline County just before Christmas and was extradited to Missouri.

Four persons have been arrested for alleged involvement in a series of thefts in area states. Authorities said about four other persons have been implicated in a confession of one of the persons held.

Some of the stolen items reportedly connected with the case include a tractor taken from Paducah, Ky., and sold for $2,150 in Ohio; mower parts taken from Morganfield, Ky., and sold in Ind.; a garden tractor taken from Cairo and sold in Ohio; a mower taken from Newton; a post-hole digger from Marion; a plow from Salem; and a post-hole digger and scoop from Metropolis.

Russians Are Old Hands At Managed News— Press Agency Is Convenient Mouthpiece

THE TWO FACES OF TASS by Theodore E. Kruglak. $5, 263 pages. The University of Minnesota Press, Minneapolis, Minn.

By Charles C. Clayton,

Professor of Journalism

The current debate in this country over the propriety—not the right—of any government agency in a free society to “manage” the news gives added significance to Theodore E. Kruglak’s provocative study of the Soviet news agency, Tass. There is a vast difference between “managing” the news and outright propaganda, as American newsmen would be quick to point out, but the basic issue, which is the people’s right to know, applies to both sides of this semantic coin.

Those in government, including the outspoken advocates of “managed” news, the Pentagon, argue that even in a cold war we give hostages to the enemy by functioning in a gold fish bowl. Hence, it is to our advantage, not to distort the news, but to control the timing of its release. It is to the credit of American journalism that communication media in this country, not only reject this premise, but point an accusing finger at the fatal fallacy inherent in this view. Clio reminds us that in history’s long perspective truth is the most powerful weapon the free world can mount against all forms of dictatorship.

Tass is the logotype of what is in the English translation, the Telegraphic Agency of the Soviet Union. Its official title also lists it as “attached to the Council of Ministers of the USSR.” It is, as the author underscores at the outset of his book, the monolithic news agency of a monolithic state. It is, Mr. Kruglak makes clear, not only an official voice of Moscow, but also of all of Moscow’s satellites except Red China, where the growing rift between Moscow and Peking is evidenced in the breach between Tass and the Chinese news agency, Hsin Hua.

In view of the fact that Tass is subsidized and controlled by the government, it is not surprising that it has more than one face. The author conveniently lumps the new agency’s other functions under one face although they are not closely related. One of Tass’ extra-curricular functions is espionage and the book reviews in convincing detail the findings of official bodies in Australia, Canada and other countries concerning this undercover activity. There has not been any conclusive evidence of such activities in the United States, but it is hardly a secret that Tass men come under the careful eye of the FBI.

Another function is propaganda, both for domestic and for foreign consumption. The very fact that Tass is willing to offer its news service free of charge to the press of other countries is tacit evidence of this objective. It is interesting to note, as does the author, that in many instances editors in countries outside the Soviet orbit prefer to pay for the services of the American news agencies, or of Britain’s Reuters rather than use Tass’ free dispatches.

Without It — He’s Sunk

Cartoon by Don Hesse, of the St.

Louis Globe-Democrat, reprinted from The Quill.

American readers will be interested in Mr. Kruglak’s report on what news is sent from Tass bureaus in the United States to Russia and how that news is presented in the Soviet press. He points out that not only is the news slanted to fit the conception the Kremlin wishes to present of the United States, but there is a “time lag on such important stories as the flight of a Cosmonaut, or a political story while the Kremlin decides the best way to make international hay with the event.”

The author is the director of the Leysin American School in Leysin, Switzerland, and was formerly chairman of the Department of Journalism and later vice president and provost of Long Island University. His study traces the historical background of Tass, reviews its relationships through the years with American news agencies and examines as closely as is possible the agency’s relationship with the Kremlin. There is an interesting, but not very illuminating chapter on journalism education in Russia; it confirms the fact that all journalistic activity in the Soviet Union is controlled by the state.

The author, in the judgment of this reviewer at least, leans over backward to be objective. He is almost naively optimistic about the future of coexistence on news communication and suggests that “provided the trend that has developed in the role of Tass since the death of Stalin continues, there is hope that the two faces of Tass will become one.”

As one who has had the opportunity to observe functioning of Communist new agencies outside the United States, I find it hard to subscribe to his optimism. The only encouraging fact I could find is that there is a growing suspicion of both Tass and Hsin Hua by editors in other lands, which makes it more vital than ever that we in America remember that truth is the only weapon against which no dictator has ever been able to devise a defense.

Game At CCH Gym:

Undefeated Southeast Missouri Favored To Beat SIU Tonight

Fourth-ranked SIU and 10th-rated Southeast Missouri collide tonight at 8 o'clock in a basketball game at Carbondale Community's Bowen gymnasium.

Southeast Missouri is undefeated in 11 games and is favored to beat SIU. The Salukis, however, are hopeful for an upset victory.

Tonight's meeting will be the first of two between the schools this season and first since 1961 when the Missourians handed the Salukis a 87-84 defeat in the NCAA college division regional finals.

Dave Henson, SIU captain, recalls that loss and says the squad will be ready for the game. "Most of the team still remembers that heart-breaking loss in the NCAA and we will be seeking revenge tonight," Henson said.

Jack Hartman's squad is fresh from wins over Kentucky Wesleyan and Western Kentucky. SIU turned back Western Kentucky, 88-79, Monday night. It was the Salukis' fifth straight win without a loss to major-college opponents.

Hartman is expected to stick with the same starting lineup which figured in the two wins over Kentucky schools. Forwards Dave Henson and Joe Ramsey, center Lou Williams, guards Harold Hood and Paul Henry are expected to answer the opening whistle.

Williams led the Salukis in scoring Monday night with 17 points and is the top rebounder on the squad. His jumping ability drew raves from the partisan SIU crowd in the win over Kentucky Wesleyan Saturday night.

Williams hails from Indianapolis (Ind.) and came with Hartman from Coffeyville.

Rod Linder, who has scored 21 and 13 points respectively in his last two appearances, will see considerable action tonight. Linder, junior guard from Centralia, appears close to winning a starting position in the future.

Southeast Missouri, is coached by Charles Parsley and features a balanced scoring attack. The Southeast Indians like to run-and-shoot as their 85-point per game average bears out.

Southeast Missouri, is expected to start Bill Giessing, Carl Ritter, Marvin Taels, Don Ringstaff and Paul Ranson. Giessing and Ritter have been the Indians top scorers all season.

"Cape has a real sound team with good shooting and a good fast break," Hartman said. "I hope our defense will be able to stop their fast break."

"We will be hitting the boards hard to prevent the fast break from getting started," Hartman added. "Our boys are ready and I'm sure the game is going to be one of the best this season."

LOU WILLIAMS LEAD SCORER IN LAST GAMES

Saluki Swimmers Out To Revenge Last Year's Defeat By Cincinnati

Cincinnati, SIU's swimming opponent Saturday, has been among the top ten at the last two NCAA swimming championships. But this year the Bearcats are missing four standouts from the 1961-62 squad that ranked seventh in the nation.

Nevertheless, with seven lettermen back, led by All-American Gary Heinrich, and some promising sophomores moving up, Cincinnati should remain one of the better college swimming aggregations.

Heinrich, the only senior on the roster, finished second to Murray Rose in both the 400-yard and 1500-meter freestyle events at last year's NCAA meet. He will again be the Bearcats' big threat in the distance freestyle and individual medley events.

He will also probably swim some butterfly as well. He holds six Cincinnati records. The 1962 - 63 Bearcats should have good balance, with the only soft spot in the butterfly (if Heinrich swims other events).

Letterman Gerry Sapadin, who has done 22.8 seconds in the 50 and 50.3 in the 100-yard freestyle events, leads the list of sprinters. Sophomore standout Cleon Wingard and lettermen Bill Donohoo and Fred Terauds back up Heinrich in the 220 and 440 freestyle.

Veteran Ed Beck, who may be ready to crack the Bearcat 200-yard record, is tops in the backstroke, and he will have help from sophomore Jon Heimann.

SIU lost to Cincinnati last year 54-40 after beating the Bearcats in 1961. This year's meet in Cincinnati promises to be of top-flight caliber.

SIU, led by freestyle sprinter Ray Padovan and versatile captain Jack Schiltz, promises to be headed towards an outstanding season after last year's 2-4 season.

Cincinnati is the first of several top teams which Southern will face. Other tough schools include Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa State.

Ex-Saluki Booter A Rough Rider

The Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League, announced the signing Thursday of Mike Mosher, ex-Saluki kicking star.

Mosher, who played for Southern in 1959, averaged more than 50 yards per kick in college and kept that mark up the past two years while playing for the Louisville Raiders of the United Football League.

In 1961 with the Raiders, the 6-2 210-pounder from Cleveland, Ohio was said to have booted a 70-yard punt that stood as the longest in pro ball that year.

The Rough Riders who needed a good defensive back, may have the answer to the team's long-standing punting problem by the signing of Mosher.

BB Game Tickets 1 O'clock Today

Brown Does All:

SIU Tries Recruiting West Coast Athletes

Bill Brown, assistant athletic director at Southern and a man of many jobs, went to the West Coast last week in an effort to recruit some of the top junior college boys in the area.

Brown expressed interest in the area because of the success Southern California had this season with junior college football players.

Brown said that California has 64 junior colleges in the state and the boys are looking for colleges which to enroll in June.

"We hope to get a few of the boys from the area," Brown said. "You would think that California universities could handle them. But that's not the case. They can only handle a few and the others fall by the wayside. We are trying to protect against this."

"We can use almost anything next season with the schedule which we are up against," Brown continued. "Everywhere I went it seemed I bumped into another coach from a college searching for talent."

"You would be surprised at how much people in the West know about SIU," Brown added. "They know our enrollment figure better than I do. In fact most of the coaches come up with statements like, 'Boy, you sure are growing out there, aren't you?'"

These are the kind of statements which make Brown and other SIU athletic personnel and university officials happy. "It is readily apparent that our information service is doing a tremendous job promoting the university," Brown said.

Brown does many things for SIU. He lines up the football schedule, recruits boys for all sports, makes public appearances to promote the university. In addition to these duties he also finds time to handle the Benchwarmers Club, which is an organization furnishing money to the scholarship committee in order to give deserving athletes scholarships.

Carmen Piccone, SIU football coach, says Brown is not replaceable. "He can sit down with a boy and his parents and in two hours have the kid ready to sign a contract for Southern," Piccone said.

Arabian Dolls To Rattlesnake Skins Now Offered By SIU Museum

Whether you want to borrow a ten foot stuffed alligator, a mounted bat or an ostrich egg, the museum has it.

Esther Bennett, curator of education, has announced that many items are available to student teachers, students and area schools as visual material to supplement classroom lessons.

A partial list includes was models or preserved specimens of such amphibians as frogs, salamanders and toads. There are mounted specimens of many mammals and thirty-five stuffed birds in boxes with glass sides.

Several stuffed reptiles and many models or preserved specimens of snakes are available. This includes snake skins, snake skulls, fangs and poison.

Panels of rocks, minerals and mineral products of Illinois are mounted on boards for easy demonstration. In the field of paleontology there are assorted plant and animal fossils.

Pioneer life is a broad category that offers a variety of real objects or models. This contains such divisions as transportation, lighting, weaving, houses, household items, shoe-making and soap-making.

Another section includes dolls of over 23 different nations or areas. Many pictures and slides also are available on a variety of subjects.

For anyone interested in dinosaurs there are 13 plastic models of different types. Also, plastic models of several birds and mammals are offered. Several historic items on Indian life may serve as valuable aids.

The museum has just added science charts on "The Electric Bell," "How the Day Grows," "Seasons," "The Eye" and "The Thermometer."

Also added was an electrostatic generator, steam engine, steam turbine, jet engine, gas diesel, Vanguard satellite model, and a vending machine mechanism.

These loan materials may be borrowed for periods of two weeks from the Curator of Education, University Museum. They must be picked up and returned to the museum by the person borrowing them.

The University Museum is located in Altgeld Hall and the telephone numbers are 453-2593 and 453-2693. Complete loan materials lists may be obtained from the museum.

Wrestlers Make Two Changes In 1963 Schedule

Southern's wrestling team has made two changes in its schedule in order to have at least two weeks between meets.

Oklahoma State who was originally scheduled for Jan. 28 has been moved back until Feb. 16 when the Cowboys face the Salukis in a Saturday night meet in the Men's Gym.

The Salukis were slated to face Indiana State in Terre Haute on Feb. 14 but that date has been moved back to Mar. 9.

Wanted: Paper-Backs

Book Exchange Planned

Establishment of paper-back book exchange centers is planned by the Student Government, which is asking help to start the program.

University Faculty and Staff members, who have paper-back books they no longer need, are asked to donate them to the program. Books may be sent to the Activities Development Center, or arrangements can be made to pick them up.

WSIU-TV In Use By 42 Area School Districts

Instructional television courses broadcast over WSIU-TV, (Channel 8) were utilized by 42 southern Illinois school districts in the fall of 1962.

Evaluation sheets have been received from the 461 area teachers who are using the Southern Illinois Instructional Television Association broadcasts.

Courses offered during the first semester include science 1-6; general science 7-10; social studies 5 and 8; creative drama 1 and 2; primary art 2 and 3; music 1-3; language arts 3 and 4; arithmetic for the gifted 5 and 6; French and II; and senior high American history.

The most widely used programs are music in 85 classes with 2,334 students and art in 61 classes with 1,681 students. Eight other programs are viewed by from 1,000 to 1,500 students each.

Creative drama and senior high American history will be dropped from the second semester schedule.

INFERIORITY CAN BE FUN

The second gravest problem confronting college students today is inferiority feelings. (The first gravest problem is of course, the recent outbreak of moult among sorority house canaries.) Let us today look into the causes of inferiority feelings and their possible cures.

Psychologists divide inferiority feelings into three principal categories:

1. Physical inferiority.
2. Mental inferiority.
3. Financial inferiority.

(A few say there is also a fourth category: ichthyological inferiority—a feeling that other people have prettier fish—but I believe this is common only along the coasts and in the Great Lakes area.)

I at us start with the feeling of physical inferiority, perhaps the easiest to understand. Naturally we are inclined to feel inferior to the brawny football captain or the beautiful homecoming queen. But we should not. Look at all the people, neither brawny nor beautiful, who have made their marks in the world. Look at Napoleon. Look at Socrates. Look at Caesar. Look at Lassie.

We are inclined to feel inferior

What I mean is that you can't always tell what's inside a package by looking at the outside. (Sometimes, of course, you can. Take Marlboro Cigarettes, for example. Just one glance at that jolly red-and-white package—so bright and pert—so neat but not gaudy—so perfectly in place whether you are at a formal dinner or a beach picnic—so invariably correct for any time, clime, or condition—one look, I say, at this paragon of packs and you know it has to contain cigarettes of absolute perfection. And you are right! That pure white Marlboro filter, that fine, flavorful blend of Marlboro tobaccos, will give you a smoke to make the welkin ring, whatever that is. So those of you who have just been sitting and admiring your Marlboro packs since the beginning of the semester, why don't you open a pack and light one? Light a cigarette, I mean—not the package. Then you can settle back and smoke your Marlboro and, at the same time, continue to gaze rapturously at the pack. Thus you will be twice as happy as you are if that is possible.)

But I digress. Let us turn now to the second category—mental inferiority. A lot of people think they are dumber than other people. This is not so. It must be remembered that there are different kinds of intelligence. Take, for instance, the classic case of the Sigafos brothers. Claude and Sturbridge, students at Wake Forest. It was always assumed that Claude was the more intelligent just because he knew more than Sturbridge about the arts, the sciences, the social sciences, the humanities, and like that. Sturbridge, on the other hand, was ten times smarter than Claude when it came to tying granny knots. But no matter: everybody looked down on "Stupid Sturbridge," as they called him and looked up at "Clever Claude," as they called him. But who do you think turned out to be the smart one when their granny aimed got loose and ran away? You guessed it—good old Stupid Sturbridge.

We arrive now at the final category, financial inferiority. One way to deal with this condition is to increase your income. You can, for example, become a fence. Or you can pose for a life class, if your college is well heated.

But a better way to handle financial inferiority is to accept it philosophically. Look on the bright side of poverty. True, others may have more money than you have, but look at all the things you have that they don't—debts, for instance, and hunger cramps.

And what about friendship? You don't need money to have friends, and let me tell you something, good people: the older you get the more you will realize that nothing is so precious as friendship, and the richest man in the world is the one with the most money.
