Buckle Speaks Before IFC About Conflicts

"By meeting together like this we may be able to understand each other better and maybe work out some common problems and misunderstandings," Jack Buckle, head of the men's residence halls, as he spoke before the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Buckle met with the group at their regular meeting Thursday night in Old Main. He explained his views and then held a question and answer session.

The speaker explained that he personally doesn't have any bad feelings toward fraternity life.

Stand On Fraternities

"The fraternities have the same place in my mind as any other group at SIU," said Buckle. "I object to them only as a subject to any group that makes a selection of members for reasons other than compatibility and worth."

Later in the discussion period several members brought out that they believe members are picked for compatibility and worth here at Southern. Buckle said he agrees that SIU fraternities are usually fair. He brought out that in all the time he has been here he has never known of a student who wanted to join a fraternity and was unable to do so. Along this line, Buckle said that as far as he knew there are no segregated fraternities at SIU.

This, one member explained, was governed by the national policy of the certain groups that the fraternities which are national must abide by the national rules.

Buckle said he understood this but he doesn't believe that any group should be governed by off-campus interests that don't follow the policies set forth by SIU.

One question asked was if

Buckle felt that the fraternity man at Southern was a certain type.

SIU Fraternity Man

"Although this is true of some campuses, it is not so at SIU," said Buckle. "In a group of men at SIU you would not be able to tell a fraternity man from any other student because of dress or mannerisms."

Another subject touched by Buckle was the conflict that develops when a student lives in a residence hall and belongs to a fraternity.

"When a student belongs to both groups at once," said Buckle, "there are times he must choose one or the other. No matter which he chooses he is penalized."

"If he goes to the house meeting and not the fraternity meeting he is penalized. The same thing happens if he decides to attend the fraternity meeting instead of the house meeting."

"I think that a student should give his loyalty to the place where he lives."

Residence Halls Should Help Student

Buckle said he doesn't like to report students for bad conduct but it is his duty. He outlined the three objectives of the residence halls program.

He believes the hall should help the student prepare himself for learning, have a varied and helpful activity program and supply the student with the maximum in living conditions. He believes that Thompson Point comes close to realizing this.

At the business meeting the Council received a report on the bloodmobile they are co-sponsoring, took information for the rush booklet and discussed rush and IFC workshop for next year.

Second 'SIU Review' Features Cunningham

The second "SIU Review," a television show, was aired over WSIU-TV in Harrisburg Wednesday night. The first program was on Jan. 16.

The department in the "spotlight" was the geography department. Dr. Florid Cunningham, chairman of the geography department, was interviewed by Bill Moll.

Talent featured during the 30-minute show was Jo Ann Henson, Pat Cook and the Gary Wittlich Trio. Jim Hankins filled in as drummer for the Wittlich Trio because the regular drummer could not attend.

LaDonna McMurray gave a five-minute newscast pertaining to coming events on the SIU campus. Bill Turner was master of ceremonies.

"Anyone that wishes to appear on the program should call the radio studio," Turner said.

Speaker Tells Convo How To Appreciate Art

Two guides in looking at art were given by Angela Boswin, staff lecturer of the Metropolitan Art Museum, at a freshman convocation Thursday.

"There are two approaches to looking at art," said Miss Boswin. "They are the physical approach and the artistic approach. In the physical approach we are primarily interested in the geography and history involved in the painting."

"The main factor in the artistic approach is how the painting stimulates the eye, and how the artist uses colors. You don't use a brush in a painting the same way you do in painting a fence."

Miss Boswin lectures to high school students and adults at the museum. She has a radio program on art, and she has traveled extensively in Europe to observe art. She received her master's degree at the New York University Institute of Fine Arts where she studied art history.

Bowlin For Rousseau

Theodore Rousseau, Jr., curator for the Metropolitan Arts Museum, was scheduled to be the speaker on the program, but he could not appear because of illness.

The topic of Miss Boswin's speech was "Masterspieces of art in the Metropolitan Art Museum Collection." She specializes in medieval art.

Slides of the museum's paintings were shown while Miss Boswin narrated. The auditorium sound was being repaired, so a portable one was used. Adjustments had to be made during the program, because the projections were too big.

Audience Reacts

Miss Boswin pointed out that the background in a painting is used to either accent or lessen the figures in a painting. She devoted much of her lecture to work by Rembrandt.

Although most of the students seem to enjoy the program, some talked during the lecture, and a few laughed and whistled when the first picture of an almost nude woman was shown.

Burnett H. Shrock, dean of the fine art school, said that he was "disappointed" by the reaction to the painting, but Ben P. Watkins, assistant professor of art, said that the reaction was normal.

They Were Just Confused

The students were embarrassed by the nude, said Watkins. "This associated it with burlesque. Audiences at that stage of development usually react that way. They can fuse sex with art."

C. Horton Talley, dean of the School of Communications, said that freshmen students act better this year than they have in the past two years.

Maurits Kesnar, Renowned SIU Professor, Dies of Cancer

Maurits Kesnar, 57, former chairman of the SIU music department died last Friday evening of lymph cancer in Marion Memorial Hospital.

Kesnar had been ill with cancer for the past four years, and gave up the chairmanship of the music department last year when his condition became worse.

Kesnar, a native of Holland, was a well-known figure on the SIU campus. He was known for his information regarding the Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra in 1949. He recruited musicians of the area to play concerts in Carbondale at other area communities.

Before coming to America, Kesnar played violin with the Royal Dutch Opera, the Amsterdam Symphony and the Wiesbaden Symphony before coming to this country.

In the United States he served as a member of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Kesnar was an internationally known musician, and is listed in "International Who's Who," "Who's Who in Music," "Who's Who in Illinois," as well as similar publications in Germany and England.

As a composer and author Dr. Kesnar composed music for woodwind instruments, violin, piano and complete orchestration works. Many of his compositions are still being published. Just before his death he completed "Outline of Chesterton's," a text book which is scheduled to be published this year. He was also engaged in research for a modern opera on the Civil War.

Dr. Kesnar had lived in this country for about 35 years. He received his master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Iowa. He completed his undergraduate work in Amsterdam before coming to the United States.

During World War II he served as a physics instructor in the Navy.

Kesnar is survived by his wife, the former Mary Gets of St. Louis to whom he was married in 1930 and a son Peter of Decatur, a grandson, and a sister in Amsterdam.

A cholera requiem mass was held yesterday at St. Andrews' church in Carbondale and burial services were held in Valhalla Cemetery, St. Louis.

Audrey Paul To Sing With SI Symphony Tonight In Concert

"The cultural assets of a symphony orchestra are considered by many community leaders to be indicative of just one more opportunity for fine and gracious living."

Henry A. Bruinsum, chairman of the music department, made this statement in an interview about the Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra will present its second concert of the year tonight at 8:15 p. m. in Shrock Auditorium.

The orchestra is in its eighth season. It was organized in 1945 by Dr. Maurits Kesnar, professor of music. The orchestra's membership, of which about half are SIU students. Some of the area members drive as far as 75 miles to practices which are held Tuesdays on campus.

In addition to concerts given on campus, the orchestra annually plays concerts in other communities. A program was presented in a Du Quoin high school auditorium Monday. Later this year the group will play at Chester and Cairo.

Audrey Paul Featured

Audrey Paul, Chicago contralto, will be featured in tonight's program. She has had leading roles with the Chicago Opera Company, and at Mesker Park Concerts in Evansville, Ind. She was acclaimed the best female vocalist at the 1947 Chicago Grand Music Festival.

Bruinsum, who will conduct the orchestra tonight, said that a symphony orchestra has importance in a community besides its cultural aspect.

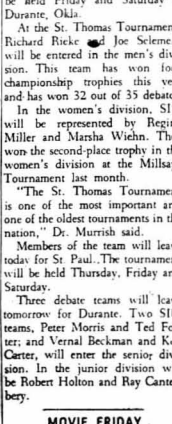

"The General Motors Corp. decided a few years ago to locate one of its large factories in a Michigan city because it had a symphony orchestra," said Bruinsum. "The other towns had none."

"When the Southern Illinois Symphony orchestra was organized, it was considered at that time unique in its service to a local area. Since that time other area orchestras have developed all over the country. Dr. Kesnar has frequently been consulted by directors of these other organizations.

The Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra, which was organized as an area project of the University, and we consider it to be one of the most important of the music services we offer to SIU and Southern Illinois.

"We think of the symphony orchestra as having the same function as the art gallery, museum or other organization preserving or producing works of art."

"Southern Illinois is fortunate in having an organization like this to create the great pieces of musical literature which otherwise might never be heard here."

Memorial Selection For

"Hymn and Fuguing Tune," by Cowell will be given in memory of Blanche Emlen, Hegerin violinist for the orchestra, who died in January. Julian D. Emlen, her husband, is an SIU senior electronic technician for radio and television. Selections of the program include Berlioz's "Bacchus March," "Pres des Ramparts de Seville," from Bizet's "Carmen" which will be sung by Miss Paul; "Semiramide," by Rossini; "Caucasian Sketches," by Ippolitov-Ivanov; and Strauss' "Emperor Waltz."

Freak Hits Campus

The weather, a game for some while a problem for others, has become the multi-faced animal wearing horns and wagging a tail.
The biggest problem for students is to find the one outfit in the morning offering protection from the cold, rain, wind and heat. Then the next day the problem arises, "Now I need a different outfit with the same purpose." Most wardrobe don't offer the variety.
On the other hand, the more sentimental type student regresses to the weather of yester-year. Ag majors say it is good for the soil. Home ec majors, if they each had their own home, would say it is bad for wash or cleaning day. The general campus consensus is, "Man, just don't know what it's good for."

Take it with a grain of salt... just because the hair won't curl, shoes have slunk, or exhaustion has set in from changing clothes too much... remember, it won't be the same tomorrow!

It Hasn't Sprung

It is really here? Weather of late has prompted many students at SIU not to indulge in the little wishful thinking in a form of Bermuda shorts, short-sleeved shirts, and the washing of cars.
Whos, students! True, the signs are beginning to appear. The sun has been shining brightly, the weather being, and some trees are helmy to bud.

We even noticed the Honorable Pres. Morris and spouse enjoying the sunny weather last week with a bicycle ride across campus.
However, we challenge Mother Nature to keep it up and we don't think she'll accept.
Contry to many obvious signs, it is still the month of February.
And spring has not sprung.

APO Holds Meeting For Scout Workers

Alpha Phi Omega will hold an open meeting for Feb. 29 at 7:30 p. m. in the club room of the Student Union for all former scouts who are presently engaged in scouting work.

Coffee and cookies will be served.
APO, national service fraternity, was established at SIU in 1948. It is comprised of students who have been Boy Scouts or who are doing scout work.

MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

Duster Thomas has recently resigned his position as head basketball coach at Pinckneyville. Duster insisted that he may be persuaded to coach again if he were given more money than he made at Pinckneyville—$5,900. I don't know how much Lynn Holder is making as basketball coach at Southern, but whatever it is, it's too much.

Maybe I shouldn't say anything against the coaching of Holder, as I am only a Southern fan and student, and fans and students sometimes get "ried away" and say things they wouldn't say under normal conditions when they're talking basketball.

But judging from what I've seen and heard the past four years, Lynn Holder is definitely past his peak as a good basketball coach.

The things I've heard have come from reliable sources, if Lynn's own players can be judged as reliable sources. I don't have a sound knowledge of the fundamentals of basketball, but whenever I walk into the gym I can see banners hailing Southern as conference champs for the years 46-47, 47-48, 49-50. Holder brought these teams home. We've had a seven-year drought. Why? We haven't the facilities. I will admit that the facilities in 46-47, 47-48, 49-50 were no better. We have the students, both on the team and in the stands, who are not developing their full potential as basketball players, as was brought out by Bill Epperheimer in last Tuesday's Egyptian.

I'm very interested in hearing the views of other students and fans on this subject. Am I all wet? Or am I barking up the wrong tree? Or are there other students who feel the same as I feel on this subject.
I want to see a new head basketball coach at Southern, and I want that man to be Duster Thomas.

Clyde Reynolds

Dear Editor:

I would like to congratulate your paper on the column entitled Sports In Sports on the sports page of the Feb. 18 edition.

Although until this time the column or the entire paper hasn't taken any drastic stands on anything I'm happy to see that the paper or whoever is responsible now is taking steps that may correct a serious fault of the athletic program. This is Lynn Holder.
I have watched SIU's basketball teams in action now for four years and I'm still waiting to see Mr. Holder use his material to the fullest extent. This year's basketball team has some fine talent if he would use it. I am almost inclined to believe that he picks his team out before practice ever starts and will not change it when things get rough.

Another bad fault of our basketball coach is that he doesn't even seem to go out to get some of this fine Illinois high school talent. He does pick up some from the area but not what he could if tried or took a little extra effort. I rather doubt if he even knows that they play basketball north of Centralia.

If it would be possible I'd like to see and read an explanation from this man for his handling of basketball teams this year and the previous ones.

Keep up the good work and who knows, the team may get a little confidence and forget their handicap. Lynn Holder.
Yours truly,
Wayne Raguse

Dear Editor:

I just read your column about Mr. Holder. I think your ideas were fine, but I think your words should have been stronger.

If Holder were better qualified, he would have our basketball team in the money, so to speak, instead of in the place they are now in.

Why don't you write an article in the paper to inform the students here how to get what we want: A new coach.

Respectfully,
Harold Clark

Dear Editor:

I would like to compliment you on your article in the Tuesday edition of the Egyptian. This article expresses my opinion exactly.

It seems to me that out of six thousand students a coach could find five basketball players. Actually, the potential and interest is on the ball team, but they haven't got a coach.

Even if the team doesn't win all of their games, they'll at least deserve the right to have a coach behind them. Our so-called coach is letting a potentially good team sweat to keep out of the cellar position. Is this the kind of coach we are paying for?

A basketball team will reflect on a school, and a winning team or at least a team with a smart coach behind them will draw students to a school. And with these students come the future teams.

Is Lynn Holder the man we want for the job of representing us as the coach of our basketball team?

Sincerely,
Bill Brown

20-Year-Old Coed Is Only Girl in Ag. Class
By Gary Heape
"Love of the great outdoors is the main thing that prompted me to major in Agriculture," said Gene Duane, 20-year old lass from Chicago.
The pretty miss from the "Big Town" stands alone as Southern's only contemporary woman agricultural major. The discreet, quiet mannerisms of the dark-eyed Miss Duane seem completely contradictory to the hypothetical stereotyped clumsiness of the average "college hopper."
The tall, attractive brunette graduated from Waller High School on Chicago's North Side in 1953. She worked for the state of Illinois for three years before coming here.
One would think it most enjoyable to be the only woman in a class of 30 or 40 male students. "For the first couple of weeks I was very ill at ease in my classes," she said. "But, now I am getting used to it."
"However, it would be nice to have four or five more girls in the class, because it seems that everything I do is outstanding," said the Ag. major with a delicate sweep of her pony tail.
Miss Duane, who lives at Barrett Dorm, termed her romantic status as "indefinite."
After completing her college work she would like to get for a foreign consultant's job attached to the U. S. government. Her second choice of occupation would be live-

Winter Final Exam Schedule Released, Tests Begin March 14

Final exams for the winter quarter will start on Thursday, March 14, and continue through Tuesday, March 19.
Examinations will begin at the hours scheduled and run for one hour and 50 minutes except for classes which meet only one or two hours a week. Exams for those classes will begin on the hour of the half-hour, and will run for 50 minutes.
When an examination conflict occurs, the student is to take the exam that has the most credit hours. The instructor of the course that has the fewer number of hours is to arrange another time for the student to take that exam.
Some students attending at night may not be able to take exams scheduled for the daytime. Each department will have to arrange special examinations for such students. This is for students who are fully employed during the day.
Any student who must miss the final exam may not take it before the time scheduled for the class. In such a case the instructor records a "W" followed by the tentative grade with a "12" indicating the number of weeks attended. A "W" grade must be completed within one year from the end of the term. If not, it will remain as an incomplete grade.

Cagers Upset Normal, Western

Seymour Bryson, setting a new school rebounding record and scoring 31 points, led the Saluki cagers to a 101-90 IAC victory over favored Illinois Normal Friday night at the SIU gym.

Bryson garnered 22 rebounds while sinking nine field goals and 13 free throws. He was ably assisted by Warren Talley and Larry Whitlock, who scored 22 and 21 points, respectively. It was the first time Southern has gone over the century mark this season.

Normal, with two 6-8 players on the first team, was out-rebounded, as both tall boys grabbed only 17 rebounds between them, and the team as a whole snared 40, compared to SIU's 65.

It was "Pinnacle Night" at the game, and Talley performed well before his former mentor, Merrill (Duster) Thomas. Thomas was presented an "I" jacket at halftime ceremonies by Athletic Director Carl Erickson, to make him an honorary SIU letterman.

Free Throws Provide Margin
Southern's margin of victory came at the free throw line, which was a switch for the Salukis. They made 35 of 53 free throws, while Normal made 22 of 34. The referees' whistles were blowing frequently during the game, and most of the fouls were on the Redbirds. Two of their men fouled out, and four others finished the game with four personals. Talley, Bryson, and Richard Jones fouled out of Southern's lineup.

The Salukis' victory was a hard-earned one, as they had to come from behind several times in the contest. An interesting phase of their floor game was the apparently well-placed free break they used to accomplish this purpose. Southern's teams in the past, including this year's, have been noted for stressing defense.

After the Redbirds jumped off to a 6-0 lead, Southern overtook them and led 17-10 with 13 minutes left in the half. SIU built a 10-point advantage, but Normal rallied to trail by only two, 42-40, at intermission.

H' Century Mark
Normal stayed with the Salukis until 5 minutes remained in the game, when Talley, Lambert, and Bryson teamed up to score nine straight points, and the Redbirds were never able to catch up again.

Gene Sams scored the basket that put SIU over the 100 mark with four seconds remaining in the contest, as he scored on the front of a last break.

Bryson's feats in the contest were accomplished in 29 minutes. He was nerked with three fouls with six minutes left in the first half and fouled out with five minutes remaining in the contest.

Bob Welch, a replacement for Richard Jones in the starting lineup, performed creditably, scoring 10 points, and jumped high enough to grab nine rebounds.

Cagers Upset Western, 88-83

Southern's amazing cagers, sparked for the second straight night by the hot shooting and rebounding of Seymour Bryson and Warren Talley, pulled a major upset on Saturday night when they edged league-leading Western Illinois, 88-83, in a thrilling double overtime contest.

Playing before a packed house at the SIU gym, the Salukis gave the fans their money's worth as they handed Western its second loss of the campaign, and ran their own record to 13-10 for the season and 5-6 in the conference.

Beating the Leathernecks at home was nothing new for SIU, however, as they have turned the trick the past two years. Both times, it was Western's only loss of the season. Illinois Normal handed Western its only other loss this year.

Talley Hits 23
Talley scored six of SIU's 13 points in the second overtime, four of them on free throws and two on a jump shot.

Tied at 75-75 at the end of the first overtime, SIU immediately took the lead in a second extra stanza and never relinquished it. Bryson started it with two free throws, but Western's Chuck Schramm hooked one in to knock the score again. Talley sank two charity tosses before Chuck Behrens led the Leathernecks to a 79-75 tie with 3:15 remaining. Talley came back with a two-pointer a minute later to give the Salukis a 81-79 lead, and the Leathernecks never came close again.

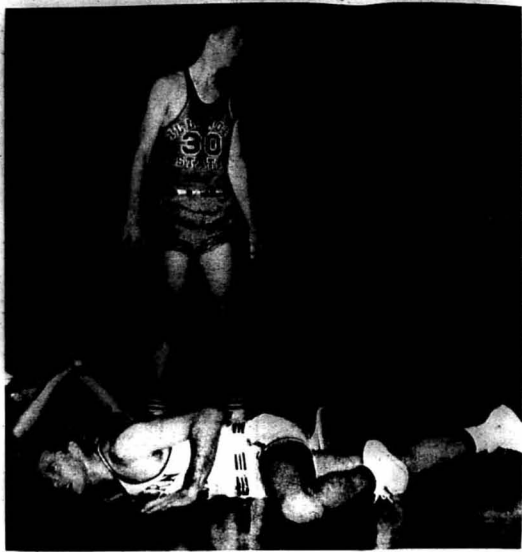

Richard Jones made two free throws and Larry Whitlock followed with two a more, while Behrens had hitting a bucket for the visitors. Talley and Behrens both made three throws before Whitlock sank one more charity shot to end the scoring with two seconds remaining.

Moore Muffs Chance
Regulation play ended at 73-73 and Western got the tip to start the first overtime. Behrens, who potted 20 points for the night, sank one as Western held the ball. Talley shot and missed, and Western took control again. Walt Moore, a former St. Vernon prep star, then muffed his chance to put the game on ice for the Leathernecks by missing a lay-up. Southern grabbed the ball and Bryson took a nice pass from Talley to sink a fade-away jump to tie it up. Both teams then missed desperation shots to end the first overtime.

Southern started the game cold, with Western scoring eight points before Whitlock broke the ice with nearly four minutes gone. It was Whitlock who gave Southern its first lead of the game with eight minutes gone.

The lead changed hands several times the first half, with SIU holding a 39-36 edge at intermission.

Lead Exchanges Hands
Tied 67-67 with three minutes remaining in the game Talley made two free shots and Bryson hit a jump to give SIU a four point lead, but Schramm hit a jump and a hook to tie it up. Whitlock then put Southern in front with a jump

TIME FOR REST

Southern's Larry Whitlock and an unidentified Illinois Normal player have just hit the floor in this action from the game Friday night. The Salukis beat the Redbirds, 101-90, to go over the century mark for the first time this season. The player on the right is Tony Carle.

recovering over the floored men is 88 Tony Carle. Southern came back Saturday night to upset Western Illinois, 88-83, in two overtimes.

Swimmers' Streak Halted By Chicago

The SIU swimmers' 14-meet winning streak was broken by the University of Chicago Saturday night, but the aquatics team came back Saturday to defeat Lovola of Chicago.

On the brighter side, the SIU gymnastics team won its first game of the season Saturday, defeating Eastern Illinois at Charleston.

Results and scores of the meets were not available in time for today's paper.

Sigma Pi Moves Up In Greek Bowling League

Sigma Pi, led by Wally Rees's 578 series, moved into a tie for first place in the Hellenic Bowling League last week by defeating Theta Xi 3-1. Ed Langen was high for Theta Xi with a 547 series. Tau Kappa Epsilon defeated Tri Sigma, 3-1, in a match on Thursday. Lyndall Martie led the winners with a 508 series, while Marie Ann Wargo led the Tri Sigs with 502.

Alpha Sigma Epsilon won all four points by forfeit. Because of conflicts in schedules, other games were to be bowled later in the week.
