Council Gives $56,000 Of $215,000 Student Budget To Athletics For Academic Year

By Clarence Pratt Staff Reporter

A $125,000 student activities budget recommended by the student fiscal committee was approved by the Student Council Thursday night. The budget of student activities fees for 1959-60 now goes to SIU officials for consideration, along with a similar recommended budget made up by Director of Student Affairs I. Clark Davis.

The Council's recommended allocations direct $56,000 to athletics, with varsity sports getting $50,000. The remainder goes to the intramurals and women's varsity sports.

Student medical benefits are given $71,200, and the EGYPTIAN and the Obelisk receive $44,000 collectively, in the budget approved by the Council.

Other big chunks of the $215,000 go to: Student Council, $6,550, of which $3,000 goes to a continuing fund; SIU band, orchestra and chorus, $5,150; lectures and other student entertainment, $4,000; and $4,000 to the Student Union.

The approved budget allocates $212,980 to specific areas and recommends that the remaining $2,020 be added to funds for additional long-term scholarships administered under the National Education Defense Act.

Other recommendations: For debate activities, $3,500; for an emergency fund administered by President Morris, $3,000; New Student Week, $2,600; general expense fund, $2,600; for the student handbook, $2,200; and for the AF-ROTC, $1,850.

Under the Council budget Campus recreation would receive $1,500, Spring Festival is scheduled for $1,000, and Hi-o is estimated to get $700. The Social Senate would get $800, and each of the four classes would receive $100.

The livestock judging team was allowed $375 by the Council, $300 was put into the swimming fund which allows students to use the University High pool, and library activities was given $150.

The Council set aside $100 for an emergency fund for student welfare.

The Student Council Budget was drawn up by a committee of Student Body President Bill Berry, Senator Zelma Johnson and Senator Ken Cannon. Berry, presenting the budget to the Council, explained that the committee felt that student activity money should support a broad program of interest.

Sports Request Cut

Acting in this way, Berry explained, it was recommended that varsity sports receive $50,000 instead of the $77,000 requested.

Officials in all areas covered by the budget turned in requests for specific amounts. Many of the requests were cut in the committee's attempt for a broad program, but nearly all groups were allocated funds in excess of those received this year, according to Berry.

The $20,000 recommended for the Obelisk is in line with a new plan, approved by President Morris, whereby students will register for their yearbooks next fall and pay $2 for the book in addition to activity fees.

Under the present plan, Berry said, with the rise in production costs and the numerous yearbooks not picked up by students in the past, it has become evident that some new system is called for. Rather than have all activity fees raised whether or not the student desires a yearbook, or selling the Obelisk outright, only the students who get a yearbook will pay the additional $2.

BUDGET BREAKDOWN

This drawing shows the breakdown of the SIU campus budget for the 1959-60 academic year. The budget was approved by the Student Council last week and will now go to the Office of Student Affairs for approval or disapproval.

Campus Current Features Music, Two Films

Dr. Robert Forman, assistant professor of music, will be the featured speaker at the Campus Currents program Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in the Studio Theater, University School.

The program will consist of two films: "The Brotherhood of Man" and "Begone Dull Care." The latter is an experimental film with jazz as a background accompaniment.

These films on music will be the basis for the discussion which will follow the showing. Forman will answer student's questions and lead the discussion.

SIU Student Dies In Auto Accident

Lionel H. Picheny, 19-year-old junior psychology major from Chicago, was killed in a three-car accident just west of Southern Acres Sunday night, and Carole Chambliss, senior from Marion, was injured.

Picheny was driving west on Rt. 13, according to authorities, when his car swerved into the path of a car driven by Lt. Clinton Noren of Ina. The accident occurred about 8:30 p. m. and Picheny died at 10:30 p. m. at the Marion Hospital.

A car driven by Leon Noel, 36, driving behind Noren, was unable to stop and plowed into the wreckage.

The car Picheny was driving was borrowed from Dave Urleton, a friend, to go to Carverville for a sandwich.

The accident occurred near the road leading to the Crab Orchard Sportsman's Club, not far from the main entrance to Southern Acres.

Miss Chambliss and Noren were hospitalized at the Marion Hospital. The young lady received severe head and leg injuries. Noren, on leave from Maiden Air Force Base, Maiden, Mo., suffered a broken right leg. He was transferred to a military hospital yesterday.

Picheny's body was transferred yesterday from the Wilson-Frick Funeral Home in Marion to the Piser Funeral Home of Chicago. He is the son of Elias and Dora Worthman Picheny.

Vel's Sign Friday For Monthly Check

The monthly sign-up for veterans attending college under G. L. Bill (PL 550), will be Friday, May 29. The last sign-up of the spring quarter will be on the veterans last day of examinations, covering the period June 1-16.

For veterans registering for the Summer session, the Registrar's Office has announced several differences pertaining to the payment of subsistence allowance.

The following adjusted schedule will be observed in figuring the course load: Undergraduates must carry 10 quarter hours to qualify for a "full load"; 7-9 quarter hours for a three-quarter load; and 5-6 hours for a one-half load. Graduate students must carry seven hours to qualify for a full load; 6 hours for a three-quarter load; and 45 hours for a one-half load.

Although a student may receive full University credit for a short course, Veterans Administration Regulations provide for payments on the basis of course duration. For example, a veteran registered for full-time, including one short course, will be paid full-time only during the time that the short course is in session.

During the remainder of the semester, his load will be reduced in accordance with the number of regular length courses he is taking.

In no case will the veteran's course load be determined by the amount of University credit received, but by the dates of the course.

GOV. STRATTON

Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton appears today at the special Convocation for the year at the University Center and other campus buildings.

The ceremonies begin at 10 a. m. at McAndrew Stadium, and will feature other Illinois State officials and University officials.

Finally Finds Home

'Take' Turkey No More

The Teke turkey is no more. "Rodan the Flying Monster" the white turkey that had stayed at the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity house on University Avenue since last Monday finally found a home.

Members of the fraternity found the lost bird wandering down a nearby street and took it home with them Monday. They couldn't find an owner for the large turkey, and the bird didn't seem to want to leave.

He liked to eat with the Tekes, and waited around for the table scraps. It was alright "having turkey for lunch" every day, but having Rodan roosting on the Teke sign was too much.

As one of the members put it, "It got to be a little messy."

With no owner in sight, and with Rodan getting less and less popular with the fraternity, someone had to do something.

The problem was finally settled by giving the bird to the fraternity cook. The Tekes have a less boarder, and it's a safe bet one cook had turkey for dinner recently.

TALK TURKEY

Rodan, the Flying Monster, cranes his neck to catch a glimpse of a pretty female turkey, maybe, on University Avenue. Members of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity have given this added turkey, who has adopted the "Teke" house sign as a roosting place such a name. Trouble is, the bird won't fly at all—just sits on his perch day and night. No owner can be located for the white turkey, who was found wandering down a nearby street last week. Rodan was taken home by a Teke, and has been confined to a cage since. (Val Biggins' Photo)

No Classes Saturday Only; Memorial Day

Work, work, work. No rest for the week student.

Memorial Day, which is Saturday, will be celebrated by Southern by dismissal of classes for that day only. The oft-heard rumors around campus that either Friday or Monday will be holidays have been quelled by the University.

Under the provisions of the Civil Service benefits policies, when a legal holiday falls on the sixth working day of the week, the day preceding shall be observed as a holiday; therefore, Friday will be observed as a holiday for all Civil Service employees. This means that all such employees will be excused from work except those required for the necessary operations of the University.

Day's Events

Here is the Program of today's events which all students faculty, and friends of SIU are urged to attend:

Dedication of the new University Center by Governor William G. Stratton, followed by a review of the SIU Air Force ROTC Cadets, 10:15 a. m., McAndrew Stadium. (In case of rain, this event will be held in Shryock Auditorium.)

Outdoor chicken barbecue in honor of Governor Stratton, 11:40 a. m., Agriculture Building Grounds.

Dedication of Plaques for Small Group Housing Units, 2 p. m., Construction area west of Thompson Lake.

Dedication of Plaques for Family Housing units, 3 p. m., Construction area on Wall St., south of University trail at Park.

Senior Banquet Set June 2 At Cafeteria

The Senior Class Banquet will be held Tuesday, June 2, at the University Cafeteria, at 6 p. m. All June and August graduates are invited, including those receiving bachelors and masters degrees, and VTI graduates.

Reservations for the banquet must be made by May 27 at the SIU Alumni Office, Ext. 4716.

Beatniks -- Beds For Melons

Plant Industry researchers have come up with a new device—hammocks for lazy watermelons.

To save space, personnel of the plant industries greenhouse watermelon vines to overhead water pipes, solving the special problem only led to another problem: how to keep the fruit from breaking the vines.

Accustomed to lying flat on the ground, the vines were unable to support the weight of the blossoming melons when strung to the water pipes like string beans.

With typical SIU speed, the new problem was solved. Taking a piece of "gunny" sack and tying it securely to the pipes above, the workers made a cradle for the young watermelons.

This proved to be sufficient support, for as the melon grew it nestled snugly in its new home and seemed content. With tender care and close watch, the first of many melons matured to a ripe, juicy 40 pounds.

The watermelon vines are not a part of the regular research being conducted at the plant industries greenhouse. Along with cucumbers, squash, cantaloupe, tomatoes, carrots and other summer vegetables, the melons were grown as an experiment for an advanced class in vegetables, under the guidance of Dr. William Andrew.

During the experiment, the class could observe the stages of growth of the plants, and Charles Lobenstein, research assistant working in the greenhouse. The maximum growing period under the best conditions was discovered in this experiment.

Greenhouse personnel also learned that, even though the lazy melons wouldn't support themselves, they would mature in the greenhouse. Other plants in the melon family, (squash, cantaloupe and cucumbers) had to be taken from the hot-house because they became infected with a plant disease.

TP Election For Senator June 2

A special election for a second senator from Thompson Point has been called by Student Body President Bill Berry. The election will be Tuesday, June 2, in Lentz Hall.

Petitions for candidates have been let, with approximately ten petitions being circulated, Berry said.

Voting procedures for Thompson Point residents will be the same as in a regular election. Those students who do not have activity cards must not authorize from the student government to vote. Authorization may be obtained through Monday, June 1, at the student government office.

The second Thompson Point senator is authorized by the Constitution because of the number of votes cast in the all-campus elections May 12.

Governor Dedicates University Center At 10:15 a. m.; Marks 6th Visit To Southern

By Bob Hays Egyptian News Editor

Today's visit by Illinois Governor William G. Stratton marks his sixth trip to SIU for building dedication ceremonies since 1953.

The 13 new SIU structures to which the Governor already has signed convocation or plaques include the Home Economics Building, Thompson Point Residence Halls, Agriculture Building, Morris Library, University School and Woody Hall.

"SIU is the fastest growing University in the state," Gov. Stratton told a group of students and staff members in a special press conference last year.

At that time, the Governor was visiting Southern with his wife, who participated in dedication ceremonies of Morris Library.

Supported by the Board of Trustees, Stratton actively supported the proposed bond issue which failed to obtain voting passage last fall.

"We cannot ignore the role which SIU has played in community development," said the Governor. "The part it has played fully justifies its tremendous expansion."

Today's ceremonies will be

Felix Nigro Writes Book

"Public Personnel Administration," a book written by Felix A. Nigro of the SIU government department, has been published by the Henry Holt Publishing Co. of New York.

The book gives a close look at a typical public agency and the involved planning and carrying out of a personnel program.

Before coming to SIU in 1957, Nigro taught at the University of Texas and the School of Public Administration at Florida State University.

For three years, he worked in public administration at the University of Puerto Rico. For a year and half he served as professor for the United Nations in the Advanced School of Public Administration in San Jose, Costa Rica.

SIU Withdraws Support For Zoning Bill

After a one-and-a-half hour discussion with the Jackson County Board of Supervisors and the Carbondale City Council Friday, the SIU Board of Trustees agreed to withdraw its support from the controversial zoning bill in the state legislature.

The proposed bill would give SIU the power to zone a wide area surrounding the University campus as to the size, type, and use of buildings. The city and county had claimed the bill was an infringement on their rights.

The County Board and City Council in turn gave their assurance that they plan improved zoning ordinances in the near future.

If costs are reasonable, the three groups together will hire an unbiased outside agency to study the area and recommend a comprehensive zoning plan. This procedure could require up to two years, they estimated.

Can't Read, No Glasses? See Union

"Are you one of those students who can't read your assignments because you lost your glasses?"

Perhaps the Student Union can help. Thousands of dollars worth of unclaimed glasses, pens, watches, umbrellas, clothes, jewelry and other articles are gathering dust in the Student Union lost and found.

If you have lost anything, take a few minutes of your time to stop by the desk in the Union and check.

It would help the Student Union if these articles were redeemed before the spring quarter ends.

Welcome To Southern

Gov. William G. Stratton means to Southern's campus today for the sixth time. It is mutual friendship which brings the top man of Illinois to our University campus.

Since 1953, Gov. Stratton has dedicated 13 new SIU structures. He has watched Southern grow as the University officials and students have been striving to further the goals and ideals of the University.

Two area radio stations will carry the dedicatory ceremony address by Gov. Stratton so the area residents, who also have an interest in the growth of Southern, may hear his words.

Welcome to Southern, Gov. Stratton and our other guests for the day. May your stay be pleasant and may you soon return as Southern moves ahead in the future.

Student Center A Building, Plus...

The University Center is a building. But more than that it will provide services, conveniences, and amenities to the members of the University... students, faculty, alumni and guests.

The Center will bring together the representatives of various areas, religious and liberal convictions. In this building they may work together toward common goals and objectives. In doing this, they will achieve a new respect for others, for themselves and for their University.

Some people will be drawn to the Center for fellowship and recreation. Others will participate in informal discussions that are stimulating, inspirational, and educational. Many will respond to the Center as the symbol of the uniting force of keeping order outside the classroom.

The students and faculty at Southern have long had the desire for a permanent University Center building on campus. The dreams for such a building began to crystallize into action in 1950, when the temporary student center opened.

Since that time, many hours have been spent in discussing the possibilities and problems of erecting such construction. Many persons are responsible for this "dream come true". They have given of their time, talent and finances to bring the hope into reality.

The students have paid fees to help finance the Center. The University has given the idea "push - power and go-ahead". The alumni have been interested and helpful in achieving the Center.

Now we are at the end of the road of "dreams" and entering the haven of "realism". We are all united in our enthusiasm and pride at this time. While many students will never be able to enjoy the Center, we are at the end of the road of "dreams" and entering the haven of "realism". We are all united in our enthusiasm and pride at this time. While many students will never be able to enjoy the Center, we are at the end of the road of "dreams" and entering the haven of "realism".

Yes, the University Center is a symbol... a symbol of the teamwork, loyalty and spirit of the students, faculty, administration and alumni to Southern.

Memorial Day... Don't Get Killed!

Memorial Day weekend is approaching. With this weekend will come many motorists traveling along the highways in Illinois. Many of these motorists will be Southern students going home or to recreational spots for the special weekend. It is extremely important that everyone drive carefully on the highways at all times, but it is especially true this weekend as many automobiles appear on the highways.

Gov. William G. Stratton has declared an emergency "Traffic Condition Red" alert for the Memorial Day holiday which starts at 6 p. m. Friday and continues through midnight Sunday.

The Illinois Division of Traffic Safety, on order from the governor, has alerted all state and local law enforcement agencies to the tremendous increase expected in traffic during the 54-hour holiday. Last year, 27 persons died in Illinois traffic accidents during the Memorial Day weekend.

Virtually every police officer in the state will be on duty during the Red Alert. Air patrols will work over major highways to assist state police in spotting and apprehending traffic violators. Drunk drivers, speeders and those who fail to yield right of way will be the principal targets for enforcement authorities.

While the police and other agencies will be on the job for the weekend, it is also important that each driver be alert. Carelessness causes many accidents and costs many injuries and deaths.

Book Returns

Set June 17

Elizabeth O. Stone, assistant director of libraries at SIU, has made the following announcement concerning the return of books to Morris Library before the end of the term:

Since many students will not be in residence during the summer session, it is necessary to have all books returned at the end of the spring quarter. Therefore, books borrowed by students from the Morris Library will be due no later than the last day of the spring term examination period.

During the school year loans are made to undergraduate students for a period of two weeks and to graduates for four weeks. However, during the closing days of the spring quarter students may find their loans are for less than the usual two or four week period making the books due no later than June 17.

Gus Bode Says

Gus was invited to share the cornerstone program with Gov. Stratton. But he sees someone is just trying to identify him.

Gus sees he thinks Herbert should be put in the cornerstone, since he is running competition to the Old Campus Philosopher.

Gus is already looking forward to New Student Week, but he wonders how many more he has to go yet.

Gus wants everyone to know that he is happy about the new Student Center, since he'll probably be around to use it.

Senate Passes Entrance Tests Proposal

Measures permitting state supported colleges to set up entrance requirements on a scholastic basis were passed by the Illinois Senate Tuesday. The bill will now go to the House.

The bills would make more definite the authority the university trustees and administrations believe they now have, to screen out high school graduates who fail to pass entrance tests.

The bills would apply to Southern and the four schools under control of the Teachers College Board. Those schools are Eastern Illinois University, Illinois State Normal University, and Western Illinois University.

SIU vice-president Charles D. Tenney said, "It is my understanding the bill is not necessary, and it still leaves the option with the various Boards of Trustees as to what entrance requirements shall be applied."

He said Southern probably would not restrict admissions on scholarships as tightly as other schools perhaps might, because in Southern Illinois there is no other school of its level to which excluded students might go.

However, no policy has been formulated so far at SIU, Tenney said.

Backers of the bill said the universities are crowded and have to turn some prospective students away. They said classroom space should be given to young people who demonstrate their ability to profit by university training.

Opponents contend that any student should be given the chance to see if they can make good at the universities.

Secretary Dulles Dies Of Cancer, Pneumonia Sunday

(Washington)
John Foster Dulles died early Sunday morning at the Walter Reed Hospital, where he had been receiving treatment for cancer and pneumonia.

Dulles, former Secretary of State, was surrounded by his family as he lost his battle against cancer which he had been fighting since 1956.

At Geneva, the Big Four conference was convened so Secretary of State Herter could fly back to the United States to attend the funeral of Dulles.

Last weekend found the Big Four conference beginning hard, secret bargaining. The Big Four seemed to agree on the start of bargaining to clear the way for an East-West summit conference.

The western powers seem to be satisfied in getting Russia to come to a standstill arrangement over disputed Berlin, so they can arrange a top level parley this summer. The West has made it apparent, however, that any move by Russia to settle the Berlin question in any sort of drastic one-sided action will end the idea of a summit meeting.

(St. Louis)
A big roundup of stray dogs by citizens armed with guns followed the killing of a small boy in suburban Hazelwood Saturday. A pack of dogs attacked and killed Mark D. Draper.

Fifteen dogs were killed and two captured in the roundup which ended late Saturday evening.

(Miami, Fla.)
Miami detectives seized a batch of military equipment apparently destined for use in the Caribbean area Saturday.

Machetes, field tents and 5,000 rounds of ammunition were seized by authorities. The incident followed a roundup of 13 persons, including the Dominican Republic's Consul general, in an alleged plot to aid foes of Fidel Castro, Cuban Premier.

Sources said that an attack against Castro had been arranged for the first part of June, but the seizure of supplies and officials would probably delay the counter-revolution.

(Washington)
The White House has urged an upward trend in the entire American educational system, with new emphasis on science.

At least 30 billion dollars a year, or double the present yearly expenditure, has been proposed for the national educational program.

Some of the improvements in the system include doing more to enhance the prestige of teachers, adapting programs to the varying competence of students, and improve our scientific education at all levels.

(Atlanta)
The Southern city of Atlanta has begun integrating its public library system, in accordance with other major southern cities.

Atlanta library employees were instructed last week to serve Negro patrons as well as whites. Major cities in Arkansas, Tennessee, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, North Carolina and Virginia have taken similar actions. Meanwhile, libraries in Montgomery, Mobile and Birmingham Ala., Columbia, S.C., and Raleigh, N. C., continue segregation.

Chemistry Men Get SIU Posts

Two Master's degree candidates and five graduating seniors in chemistry at SIU have been awarded assistantships for a graduate study next year, according to Department Chairman J. W. Necker.

Roy Foley of East St. Louis, who will receive a master's degree from SIU in June, has been granted an assistantship for a Ph. D. study in chemistry at Michigan State University. He received a bachelor's degree from Illinois Normal University.

Rodney Ruch of Springfield, a 1955 graduate of the University of Illinois who also will receive a master's at SIU in June, will pursue doctoral studies at the University of Michigan.

Three of the undergraduates will continue as assistants in Southern's graduate chemistry program. They are Kenneth Grencze of Mt. Vernon, Robert Parks of Stonestoff and Reginald Schlobach of Carbondale.

Donald K. Harris of Chicago Heights will study at Northwestern University and James Howell of Chester will study at the University of Illinois.

Bernice Barbee Kamm ... A Student At SIU

Bernice Kamm

Would Study More--Mrs.

"If I had it all to do over again, I'd stay home and study more," declares Bernice Barbee Kamm, this week's student at SIU. The attractive senior says one of the mistakes most students make is not taking the courses seriously enough. "I can sure tell the difference in both mine and my husband's grades since we've been married," Bernice comments. "I don't really know why they're so much better, because we don't study any more than we did then, it seems."

Bernice is married to Richard Kamm, junior social studies major from Lebanon. They were married five months after they met two years ago at a summer meeting of SIU Greeks. A member of Delta Zeta sorority, Mrs. Kamm hails from Crossville, a small town about seven miles from Carbondale. A senior majoring in women's physical education, she plans to teach after graduation.

Dick, who is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, and Bernice talked easily in their small trailer on East College Street. The conversation went from grades to Greeks to the panty raid last week. Bernice Help Concerning Greeks, Bernice says she would not have finished college had it not been for pledging a sorority. "The organized house in which I lived when I first came to Southern was really bad," she comments. "The girls there just had nothing on the ball, I don't know how to say it, but sorority girls are just more on the ball."

"My sorority mother in Delta Zeta really helped me a lot. She made me realize how important it is to study and make good grades. "One thing I would advise new freshmen to do is to follow specific patterns for study. She says there should be a definite time, place and style of study for each course. She emphasized several times during the half-hour interview Saturday afternoon the necessity for talking classes seriously."

Would Take Classes Over "I just wish I could take some of those classes over that I didn't

Trumpet Causes Suspended Fine, Jail Sentence

One of some 500 students who released some of their restlessness Thursday night by visiting women's dorms is paying dearly for his endeavor. One student was charged with disturbing the peace and fined $100 and given a one week in jail sentence, which was suspended by Carbondale Police Magistrate Robert Schwartz.

The group congregated about 10 p. m. near a house on West College Street to witness what was reportedly a "strip show" by three women students living in an apartment. Distorted rumors concerning the "show" had been circulating all week, and the first three nights of the week found increasingly larger groups of men students waiting anxiously near the house.

The 500 - strong left the West College area and proceeded to Woodwoody Hall when Campus Police and University officials came on the scene. The girls in Woodwoody were taken to the basement by SIU Security Officer Tom Leffler, and the group left shortly. They then went to the Alpha Gamma Delta house, and back to the rear of Woodwoody. Went To Thompson Point A jaunt through the Thompson Point Woods followed, and the two women's dorms were visited by the campus mob.

Campus police, State Police, Carbondale police, University officials and County officials dispersed the crowd with no trouble, and the campus returned to quiet, though rumors were flowing like water on Friday concerning the night's episode. The student arrested was carrying a trumpet which was blown occasionally, and followed by cries of "charge!" from the 500.

Campus police were praised strongly by Leffler, who said "they did a terrific job of keeping peace with the group by keeping their hands." No Action Against Girls Dean of Women's Events M. On said disciplinary action has been taken against the girl or girls involved in the earlier chapter last week, and that the decision was still pending.

Dean of Men I. Clark Davis said, "The gathering was spontaneous and orderly, yet it was a grievous incident in the history of SIU. "The harm done by a few inciters of this action to the good name and future job opportunities of SIU's students is such that students are genuinely concerned about such an action being repeated."

Davis said appropriate action will be taken as cases are reviewed. "Future participants in such action will be faced with the consequence of terminating their experiences in higher education at SIU. The taxpayers of Illinois cannot be expected to subsidize the education of persons who by their lack of self-discipline hinder the educational opportunities of others," Davis said.

And so we have another student at SIU. And so we have another student at SIU. And so we have another student at SIU.

Senate Prepares To Vote

Engineering Schools Cannot Meet Needs For 420 Engineers Next Year -- Morris

Existing engineering schools, whether or not engineering courses are offered. If the restriction on an engineering degree is removed, the few courses not already offered would cost a total of $90,000 per year. This cost is no greater than that of the laboratory - type courses which must be provided if the engineering restriction is not removed.

Since the cost of engineering training here and elsewhere is no greater than the cost of training in comparable professional fields already offered, one can only ask why the young people of this area should be denied the opportunity to receive this training at SIU," Morris added.

Southern this week released a 140-page report on errors in the Illinois Commission on Higher Education study released last September. Also released were the plans for the beginning of the engineering school. The budget cost for the first biennium would be for $180,000, not the $8 million as estimated in the Commission's study.

Seven new courses would be started for the program, including six specialized courses for seniors and juniors, and one for freshman engineering orientation. Such a program would require four new teachers, who would also aid in the present applied science program, by teaching extra sections of existing courses.

The budget denotes that about half the $90,000 would go for yearly salaries for the new teachers, and the other half would be spent for equipment and supplies. University officials said that upstate observers are not considering that the school would not be built in one year, and that by the time the program is complete, more engineers would be required for this area. Another factor which some observers may be overlooking is that all but seven of the program courses are already being taught at SIU. Dr. Charles Tenney, SIU vice president, said no new building would be required for the program, until enrollment grows beyond the capacity of present facilities. Some of the differences in the two reports (Southern's and the Commission's) include the number of employers and companies contacted for the research. The Commission report gives conclusions based on 275 firms in the state, and only 23 of the 275 were in Southern Illinois.

Southern received returns from 79 area firms. Another difference in the two reports is that the Commission research noted 311 engineers employed, and the University research showed 1,402 employed.

The Illinois House of Representatives last week passed the proposal to lift the engineering ban at Southern by a 109-44 margin. The Senate will vote on the bill in the near future. If the Senate passes the proposal, it must then be signed or vetoed by Gov. William G. Stratton.

Six Foresters Author Research

Six members of the Carbondale Forest Center at SIU are authors of recently issued publications concerned with forestry research. W. P. Clark and T. M. Headlee, forest products technologists, teamed up for "Roof Your Lumber and Increase Your Profits". Leon Minckler and Russell Ryker, research foresters, pooled their talents to write "Partial Conversion of Poor Hardwood Stands to Conifers by Planting". D. J. Neebe and Steven Boyce, research foresters, co-authored "Site Index Curves for Eastern Cottonwood".

Clark and Headlee's article is an extract from the Forest Products Journal summarizing an air-seasoning study on red oak which showed that lumber in roofed piles dries faster, more uniformly, and with less lowering of grades. Minckler and Ryker's publication deals with tests at the Kaskaskia Experimental Forest in Southern Illinois on converting poor hardwood stands to mixed stands of hardwood - conifers. They have found that successful conversion depends chiefly on the size of the forest openings planted, and the quality of the site.

COFFEE BREAK?

Something new has been added to SIU's Home Management House — Turkish-style coffee breaks. Pouring the coffee from a Turkish coffee pot, call a Jevve, is Miss Hazel Crain, supervisor. Miss Crain joined the SIU faculty last fall after serving for two years as home economics instructor and dean of women at the American Academy for Girls at Uskudar, Turkey. Advanced home economics students live in Southern's Home Management House for six-week periods to gain experience in food preparation, bud-

Graduates Notice

Job Prospects Better This Year; Frantic Hiring Past

Job prospects for this year's college graduating class are somewhat better than they were a year ago. But the frenzied, frantic hiring that marked the mid-50's has disappeared.

The outlook is good for high school graduates, too, but if at all possible they should plan to continue their education, either at college or in a vocational or technical school.

That is the word from experts in the U. S. Labor Department. They are optimistic, but with reservations. This is the way they see the situation.

There is a strong demand for college graduates with good records in science, mathematics and engineering. Those with poorer grades should be able to get jobs, but they may have to look longer and settle for less.

Job prospects are also good in such fields as accounting, law, the health services, teaching, business administration, journalism, home economics and secretarial.

Teaching Demand Not Filled

Teaching is a field where the supply is not expected to catch up with the demand for many years. The National Education Assn. recently forecast a shortage next fall of 135,000 teachers, about the same as last year. The shortage is particularly acute in the scientific subject fields, and in the elementary grades.

Job prospects in the newspaper industry are bright. Many schools of journalism have reported a sharp decrease in the number of graduates over the past few years. In addition to newspaper reporting, there is an increasing number of jobs in such allied fields as advertising, public relations, radio and television.

Women would appear to have the best of it in this summer's job hunting. The department says there is a great demand for women graduates with stenographic skills and broad college backgrounds who can advance to administrative positions. There also are many jobs available for home economists and librarians.

Sociology Gets New Chairman

Paul J. Campisi of Washington University was named Friday to succeed Joseph K. Johnson as chairman of SIU's sociology department.

Johnson, who will continue to teach, also will become editor of the sociology journal to be published at SIU.

The board of trustees appointed Campisi, at the rank of professor, effective Sept. 23. He has taught in the Chicago City Junior College, at Indiana University, and at the U. S. Army

University in Florence, Italy. Johnson since his release from the Army in 1947. The journal will be edited next year. The Sociological Quarterly, which replaces the current semi-annual Midwest Sociologist, the official journal of the Midwest Sociological Society now published at Washington University.

Among the new associate professors for the coming academic year will be Ping-Chin Kuo who has held a number of high positions in the Nationalist Government in China and has served as a special political assistant to General Chiang Kai-shek. Now director of the Department of Security, and at the U. S. Army

United Nations, he will teach history at SIU. In other action, the board named two visiting professors for the summer term, two additional for the fall quarter, including Herman Cherry, a student of Thomas Hart Benton, whose paintings have been exhibited at the major galleries and have been reproduced in Life, Time and other magazines. Henry M. Hagg, former director of research for the Missouri Food Administration who has served abroad with the Food Foundation for the past two years, will be a visiting professor of agricultural industries during the coming academic year.

Senate Passes Bill

Entrance Exams Requirement Not Effective In Fall -- Morris

A bill passed by the Illinois Senate last week, but which is expected to have trouble passing the House, is not regarded by Southern as effective this fall in turning away freshmen who fail entrance examinations.

The bill passed by the Senate would strengthen the now effective option of refusing entrance to students who make a low grade on entrance exams in the six state supported universities.

SIU President Delyte W. Morris said, "I do not regard the bill as a directive to the six schools to start this fall to turn away freshman applicants who fail to pass the entrance tests."

"We have been strengthening our testing and counseling program for some time, and will continue to do so." Currently, Southern accepts all students who have a high school education, regardless of their grades on entrance testing and their standing in their high school graduating class.

These students who were graduated in the lower one-third of their high school class have been placed on probation for the first quarter. If their grades were not satisfactory (Under 3.0) after their first quarter, they were then either dismissed from college or placed in a non-degree program for courses of special training.

The proposal in the General Assembly barely received enough votes to pass the Senate and is expected to face strong opposition in the House. Most of the senators who voted against it were Democrats.

Senator Egbert Green (R-Pekin) and a member of the School Problems Commission, said "We expect them (the six universities) to turn away those who fail to make satisfactory grades in the entrance tests." Green indicated he wanted the new program initiated during the Fall quarter or semester.

Design Features Burin Work

Dramatic, exciting, unusual, effective—these are all adjectives applicable to the work of Will Burin, visiting professor of design at SIU, which is on view in the design department's lounge.

"The unprecedented peace of research and business has brought a flood of scientifically and technical communication of an equally unprecedented volume," Burin said. "The character of this research has grown more complex and visually abstract of late."

"These changed conditions pose an exciting challenge to the design of visual communications," he added. The exhibit consisting of prints showing Burin's visual work and some of the work itself, show how Burin in this challenge.

Among the works shown is one of a Burin depiction of what an atom would look like. Color and black and white photographs show this atom design, which is large enough for people to walk inside.

Much of the work shown is from graphic designs done for a drug company by Burin. Besides the atom design, advertisements for the company are shown.

An article in Industrial Design, March 1959, showing Burin's design for a U.S. Information Service display at the 1958 West Berlin International Fair is also on view in the lounge. This fair display utilized a huge ribbon of heavy aluminum foil strung about the room as a unifying element.

The principles employed in meeting the technical and scientific challenge "require fusion by an aesthetic agent or principle to give them life and beauty," according to Burin.

You can reproduce the experiment. It's easy as T. (Yes, you can do it in the bathtub.) Assuming that you have first visited your friendly tobacconist, simply light your first Winston and smoke it. Reasoning backwards, the discovery proceeds as follows: first, you will notice a delightful flavor, in the class of fresh coffee or of bread baking. Obviously, such flavor cannot come from the filter. Therefore, it's what's up front that counts: Winston's Filter-Blend. The tobaccos are selected for flavor and mildness, then specially processed for filter smoking. This extra step is the real difference between Winston and all other filter cigarettes. Besides, it's why Winston is America's best-selling filter cigarette.

SIG TAU SERVICE AWARD PRESENTED

Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity's Service Award will be presented at the athletic banquet Wednesday night. It is given to the varsity letter winner who is outstanding in citizenship and service to the University.

Alumni visiting the house last week were Cooper Bowers, Jim Kaufman, Les Godman and Jim Anderson.

The theme of the exchange party with Delta Zeta held Sunday night was "Beachcombers Ashore" Pledges from both organizations provided the evening's entertainment. Faculty guests included Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien and Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Stephens.

Gary Wintich recently gave a recital at Shryock Auditorium.

DELTA ZETA'S HOLD INITIATION

Seven pledges will be initiated into Delta Zeta society tonight at the sorority house.

To become members are Edna Owen, Ruthie Steinmarch, Rose Searcy, Susan Donham, Linda Barkley, Linda Sunday and Carol Robertson.

These pledges fulfilled their last week of pledgeship by painting and decorating the sorority basement for the active members. Pre-initiation ceremonies were held Monday night which prepared the women for the ceremony.

A beachcomber party was held Sunday night with Sigma Tau Gamma. It was held in the fraternity's back yard, and pledges of both groups gave entertainment.

WOODY HALL FORMAL HELD

Saturday night was the date for this year's annual Woody Hall Formal. Guys in suits and girls in long and short formal gowns glided across the patio and lawn to the music of the tempos from the jukebox.

Theme of the dance this year was Aquatic Allusions. On the stairwell of the main lobby was a huge green tissue occupant with long dangling arms. One of his arms was poking around in a sea chest which was filled with treasures of foil.

The decorations were carried on out onto the patio and sidewalks of Woody. Out on the walk leading from the dorm was a huge pink and white oyster. The oyster was open, and a big black pearl was resting in its bed.

Fish nets and paper fishes decorated the walls of the building and the railing and bushes of the patio.

After entertainment Social Chairman Rita Moll introduced each of the candidates for the 1959-60 Mr. Woody. Each man was escorted down the main steps of Woody by his date to the formal. The audience then watched quietly until she placed the golden crown on Bill Norvell's head, the new Mr. Woody.

Pi Kappa Delta Gives Awards At Banquet

Several students and faculty members were honored at the recent Pi Kappa Delta annual banquet held in Murphysboro.

Pi Kappa Delta is the national honorary fraternity for those who have done outstanding work in forensics, speech and debate. Presenting Sunday night were the SIU Debate Awards. These awards, given each year to the outstanding members of the intercollegiate debate squad, are in the form of individual trophies. This year, Paul Black and Keith Sanders received the honors.

The yearly "Kahuna Awards" was also presented at the banquet. This is awarded to the debater committing the most "goofs" during the year. Black won that honor also.

Last year, the award went to Vernal Beckmann, graduate assistant in speech, who accidentally picked up a brief case containing all of the debate material of Oberlin's debate squad and brought it back to SIU.

Each year an honorary membership in Pi Kappa Delta is awarded to a member of the faculty who has supported the ideal of the group. This year's recipient was Dr. Earl Bradley of the speech department. Bradley is the national president of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensics honorary society.

Gary Bengston, president of the group the past year, received the highest honor bestowed by the organization, that of "special distinction." Degrees of honor went to Black and Sanders, who won recognition for Southern oratory.

Elections of officers also took place at the banquet. Sanders will take over as president, vice president is Kent Brandon and secretary-treasurer is Sharon Loveless.

Principal speaker for the program was Dr. Ralph Micken, chairman of the department, and special guests were Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Baird, distinguished visiting professor in the speech department. Baird has written several nationally recognized books on speech and debate.

New members to be initiated at the meeting were Black, Miss Loveless, James Petty, Michael Morris, Mary Ann Thies and Ann Hughes.

FIRST PRESIDENT

Southern's Dean of Agriculture, W. E. Keeper (right), installs Eugene Fritche as the first president of the school's new Agriculture Honorary Fraternity which was activated May 14.

Membership is based on high scholastic achievement as well as leadership qualities. Other officers are: Gerald Rea Krawczyk, censor; Harold E. Brunten, chronicler; Gilbert Kroening, treasurer; Raymond Rippe, guide and Larry Dale Stewart scribe.

There's NOTHING FINER than Artcarved WEDDING RINGS

Anyone who has attended SIU for three terms can receive an Obelisk free. Persons attending two terms must pay $1.80, and the cost for one-term students is $3.60.

Obelisks will be mailed to students if they leave a mailing charge of fifty cents at the Obelisk office.

The Journalism Students' Assn., will sell plastic yearbook covers in the distribution building. Cost of the covers will be 25 cents.

Woodson C. Fuller, vice president of Phi Eta Sigma, presided at the initiation.

To qualify for Phi Eta Sigma, a student must earn a 4.5 grade average for the first school term or a combined grade point average of 4.5 for the first two school terms.

Dr. Max M. Sappenfield, SIU director of personnel, Phi Eta Sigma member whose son was one of the initiates, gave a brief talk after the ceremony.

"I like to think of myself as standing in loco parentis (in place of parents) to each of you this evening because I know your parents can't be here. As a parent of one of tonight's initiates, I believe I know better how each of your parents feel about this than you do. I know your parents are very proud of you. "I'll do my best to feel proud

Club Notes

ACE HOLDS PICNIC-MEETING ACE, The Assn., for Childhood Education, will hold its next meeting tomorrow night at 4 p. m. in the kindergarten room at University School.

After the meeting, the group plans to have a back yard picnic at the home of Mrs. Friedla. The meal will begin at 5 p. m. at her home at 1101 Walkup.

Southern's letterman and coaches will be honored Thursday night at the 14th annual All-Sports Banquet at the Carbondale Elks Club.

Highlight of the 6:30 banquet will be the presentation of each of you for them because you really have made a major achievement — one which I am sure is merely the forerunner of future achievements, both in college and after. "You are... to be congratulated for this... achievement."

Ad Club Joins National Set

The Advertising Club will be the 67th chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, at an installation dinner Monday in the University Cafeteria.

SIU's chapter will be called the Charles H. Sandage Chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, named after Dr. Charles H. Sandage, head of the division of advertising in the College of Journalism and Communications at the University of Illinois.

"Sandage is a very distinguished advertising educator and we wanted to honor him," said Dr. Donald G. Hileman, associate professor of journalism and faculty adviser for the chapter.

Sandage will be the main speaker at the installation ceremonies. He will also speak to SIU journalism students at an assembly at 10 a. m. Monday.

The chapter will be installed by Professor Milton Gross of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri. Gross is national secretary of Alpha Delta Sigma. ADS chapters from the University of Illinois and University of Missouri will have undergraduate representatives at the dinner.

Official representatives of the Advertising Club of St. Louis, the St. Louis Council of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, and the Illinois Advertising Club will also attend the installation.

Ten undergraduate members and seven professional members will be initiated into the chapter. Undergraduates are: Robert Bessler, John Finch, Jack Folkers, James Hankins, Robert Howald, William Jamison, Leo Meyer, Jack Rechin, Dennis Ritzel and Darwin Wieser.

Professional members are: Harlon Matthews, advertising manager of the Carbondale Division of Kroger Co.; Jack Barringer, advertising manager of Mammoth Department Store, Mt. Vernon; Don Hargus, assistant copy chief, Christian Board of Publishers, St. Louis; Thomas Gore, advertising manager for Diagraph-Bradley Corp.; Jack Brundage, Jay Friedla and William Smith of the Southern Illinois advertising staff.

Alpha Delta Sigma was formed in 1913 at the University of Missouri. The 66th chapter was installed at Texas Christian University earlier this spring. To be a member a person must be majoring in marketing, journalism or radio - television and must pledge to go into the field of advertising. He must be a junior have a three-point over-all average, and have a 3.5 average in his major.

Tennis, Baseball Teams Win IAC Titles

Netters Win Four Singles, All Three Doubles Titles

SIU completely dominated the IAC tennis championships last weekend as they won their second consecutive net crown at Ypsilanti, Michigan.

Heavy favorites going into the meet, the Salukis didn't disappoint anyone as they won four single titles and all three doubles championships.

Jerry Budzdek mopped up in the number one singles with a 6-9, 6-0 victory over Clark Nelson of Eastern Illinois. Jim Jarrett (No. 2) and Marvin Cohen (No. 4) won their matches in the finals in straight sets also. Ron Underwood had to go three sets to stop Bob Martian of Eastern Michigan.

Actually the meet turned out to be a dual meet between Southern and Eastern Illinois. Only Hank Grant of Illinois Normal and Bob Martian of Eastern Michigan made the finals besides Southern and Eastern. All three doubles matches in the finals paired Southern and Eastern Illinois. Ron Underwood and Jim Jarrett, Jerry Budzdek and Dick King, and Jerry Gruen and Marvin Cohen all won their doubles matches in straight sets. The tourney was held on the campus of the University of Michigan because of lack of facilities on Eastern Michigan's campus.

Southern, point-wise, carded 25. Eastern Illinois followed with 16, Illinois Normal 7, Eastern Michigan 6, Central Michigan 3, Northern Illinois 3, and Western Illinois with one point made up the second division.

Thursday, at the University of Notre Dame, the Salukis were blanked for the first time this season as the Irish won it's 18th consecutive intercollegiate match, 9-0. It was the eighth shutout for Notre Dame this season. SIU however, still finished the season with a fine 11-3 overall record. Losing only to Ohio State, Indiana and Notre Dame.

Southern won the IAC title last season with 18 points. Eastern was a close second with 17 points.

Results (Singles Only)

Western Wins Golf Title; SIU Slips To 4th

Southern's golf team again posed their best dual meet season in history, but as last year, they just couldn't come through when the blue chips were on the table.

SIU, 14-3 for the regular season, didn't finish last however, as they did last year. They managed to finish fourth last weekend.

Western Illinois won the golf title for the ninth straight year. The Leathernecks finished first with a total of 611 strokes. Northern was a distant second with

Fantastic Hayes Jones Leads Hurons To 3rd Straight Title; SIU 4th

"Mr. Track", Hayes Jones, IAC most single-handedly won the IAC track title for Eastern Michigan last Saturday at Ypsilanti Michigan as he won a four firsts. Southern placed fourth in the meet.

Hayes and company totaled 56 points and they need every foot of them as Central Michigan was credited with 53 points. Illinois Normal was third with 29, Southern fourth with 27, Northern 25 1-3, Eastern Illinois 23 1-3, Western 11 3.

Jones, recently named outstanding runner in the Drake Relays, piled up 25 points as he won first in the 100-yard dash (.09.8), 220-yard dash (.20.9, new record), low hurdles, (23-3), High Hurdles, (374.4). Mauri Jormakka of Eastern Michigan was also a double winner as he won first in the mile and two-mile.

The victory was the Hurons third consecutive IAC title, and their eighth title since 1950. Harold Bardo won the only first for Southern as he high jumped 6-1. John Flamer finished second in the mile as did Gleghorn in the 120-yard low hurdles.

IAC TRACK RESULTS

627 strokes. Eastern Michigan was third with 629 strokes. Following Southern (644) was Central Michigan, 655, and Eastern Illinois and Illinois Normal with 673 strokes.

Dick King of Western, was the medalist at the meet played on a tough course. King shot rounds of 70 and 78 for a 148 total.

Bill Barnett was the Salukis highest finisher (fifth) with 78-76-154. Dick Foulk finished seventh with a 156 total (78-78).

Take Doubleheader At Eastern Illinois For Title Clincher

The SIU baseball team all but put the icing on its first season in history last Saturday as they swept a doubleheader at Eastern Illinois, 9-7, and 8-2. Friday's single game was rained out.

The two wins gave coach "Abe" Martin's squad a 14-2 mark in IAC play as they beat every team in the league at least twice. They lost one to Western, one to Central Michigan, and the third one to the Huskies of Northern Illinois.

The title was Southern's second consecutive IAC pennant. The Salukis won the championship last spring with a 10-3 mark. Eastern Illinois is now 8-9 for the season which drop them out of the second spot. Western Illinois was 9-6 going into a three game series with Eastern Michigan last weekend. SIU won the first contest, a wild one, on only five hits. Daring base running which caused Eastern to commit six errors, and six walks helped the Salukis cause.

Southern posted an early 4-0 lead and went into the ninth with a 9-3 cushion. The Panthers rallied for four in the ninth but it wasn't enough. Southern on a post-season bid to the NAIA baseball tourney.

Bullocks Lead Rats To IM Track Title Sigma Tau Gamma Stroves To Swim Title

By John Felt
Amor Bullocks Rats, set two records while winning three events as he led his team to the intramural track championship.

By sweeping off the 220-yard dash in 22.8 seconds, Bullock set one record from the record that Hank Warfield set in 1950.

Moving to the broad-jumping pit, Bullock gave the small crowd another thrill. On his first jump he equaled the old record. However, on the last try, he missed a leap of 20' 10" to wipe out the previous high of 20' 9 1/2".

Bullock's winning time in the 100-yard dash was only .2 slower than the existing record of 10. The fleet performer was also second man on the winning 880-yard relay team.

Second place Sigma Pi, placing in every event except the softball throw, could not match the performance of Bullocks and his teammates. The game Sigma Pi's finished with 34 1/2 points, 9 1/2 behind the first place Rats.

Summary of Events:
100-yard Dash (10.2) Bullock, first; Longmeyer, second; McCarris, and Gowe, tie for third; and Baker, fifth.

220-yard Dash (22.8, a new record) Bullock, first; Terry Cronis and Jim Baker, tie for second place; Larry Meyer, fourth; and Joe Wesner fifth.

440-yard dash (57.0) Randy McClary, first; Alan Tucker, second; James Thomas, third; Bill Williams, fourth; and Edgar Moore, fifth.

880-yard Dash (2:14) Oscar King, first; Fred Kuhn, second; Larry Lynch, third; Walter, fourth; and Robert Schobe fifth.

Low Hurdles (1:6.1) Becker, first; Devore, second; Cecher, third; Loving, fourth, Roman, fifth.

880-yard relay (1:40) the Rats first; Sigma Pi, second; Peyton

Place, third and Swimming team fourth.
High Jump (5'10") Jim Braun, first; Bruce Roman, second; Lloyd Sanford, third; and Rower and Fisher, tie for fourth.

Shot-put (45'11 2/8") Bob Wallen, first; Nick Soedner, second; Phillip Fair, third; James Sivers, fifth.

Broad Jump (20'10", a new record) Bullock, first; John Fisher, second; Jean Moore, third; Chuck Lerch, fourth; Billy Joe Miller, fifth.

Softball Throw (303'3") Ken Shultz, first; James Crawford, second; Jean Moore, third; John Ahronovich, fourth; and Nick Soedner, fifth.

Final Team Standings:
The Rats 45
Sigma Pi 34 1/2
Tau Bulldogs 13 1/2
Peyton Place 13
Alpha Phi Alpha 5
Delta Chi 5

SWIMMING
Sigma Tau Gamma used their depth to amass a total of 30 points and win the intramural swim meet Friday, May 22.

Before the night was complete, new intra-mural records had been set in the 50-yard freestyle and the 100-yard freestyle.

Because of a change in rules this year, the winning time for the 50-yard freestyle was established as the record time.

Sigma Tau Gamma had to win the 220 yard freestyle relay and place a man in every event to finish ten points ahead of Epperson Swim Club. Tau Kappa Epsilon finished two points ahead of the swim club to take third place with 18 points.

Don Strand, a state finalist in high school clipped 1.5 seconds off the previous 50-yard backstroke record as he completed the two-lengths in 28.8 seconds.

3 Students Injured In Car Accident

Three SIU students, David Cundiff, Cleveland Matthews and Don Waller, were injured in a car-truck collision near Pinckneyville May 20.

Waller remained in a Pinckneyville hospital for observation, while Cundiff and Matthews were released. Waller's injuries were not reported serious.

Police reported the car in which the three students were riding collided with a gasoline transport truck. Police reports did not indicate who was driving the car.

The truck driver was not injured.

FORD SPEAKS AT EFFINGHAM

Dr. James L. C. Ford, professor of journalism at SIU, will speak at the Effingham High School commencement Thursday.

"Rights On Responsibility" will be Ford's topic as he speaks before the 113 graduating seniors in Effingham.

Before coming to SIU in 1955, Ford taught journalism at the University of Oregon, University of California and Montana State University.

He has served as cable editor of the New York Bureau of the Chicago Tribune, as a writer with Fairchild Publishers, and as editor and cable editor of the New York bureau of United Press.

Concerning The Outdoors

By Larry Meyer

Why don't those who own hunting dogs work them at other times during the year in addition to the period of a few weeks before the season? I asked myself this question after having had what bird dog enthusiasts term "a thrilling moment afield".

I spent the weekend before last at my home, which is in the southern part of Champaign County. Pheasants are plentiful in this area, and I can see them either in the morning or evenings by driving out in the country within a four or five mile radius of Pesotum, my home-town.

Late Saturday afternoon I took Jack, my 10 1/2 year old German Shorthaired pointer, for a ride in the country. There were some wheat fields along a three-mile stretch of road, and pheasants were standing near the edges of most of the fields.

There were no cars on the road at the time, so I stopped near each place in order that Jack could observe the ringnecks. His seeing them combined with my familiar reminder of "Bird, Jack! Bird — Bird!" and my obedience commands which he has heard many times during past seasons, added more spark to his instinctive desire to hunt.

He gave the pheasants his undivided attention, and even from the car he was at times as motionless as if he were on point ten or twelve yards from one hidden in a shucked corn field. Jack eventually thought the birds were crippled when they began to run away, because he frantically tried to get out and chase them.

Of course it would have done more harm than good for me to have let Jack hunt in a field where pheasants were running ahead. At the sight of a dog, they merely would have run faster and then flew when the dog got closer to them. This has a bad influence on my dog, because he often gets excited under these circumstances and then hunts too fast and out of proper range.

When I finally reached the creek at the end of the stretch, I saw a lone cock pheasant sneak into a strip of alfalfa which bordered the east side of the creek. The bird stopped just inside of the field, and I could see him peering at the dog and about 30 yards away with just his head sticking above the level of the alfalfa.

I gave a few words of encouragement to Jack as I turned him loose. I watched the pheasant sit tight as the dog passed by about ten yards to the left of him. As I began to follow, I saw the bird continue to sneak toward the creek's edge.

I moved on past the spot while Jack roamed to the end of the strip without finding a pheasant. I was anxious to go back to the place where I had seen the bird, because I was confident that the dog would pick up the scent and would then be able to follow the trail.

Jack did get the bird's scent exactly as I had expected him to, but the sly ringneck seemed
