Three embers attend Council meeting by Proxy

Lack Of Quorum Causes Debate: Only 9 Present

By Dick Darty
The council devoted most of its last meeting to trying to decide whether or not it was a quorum. The meeting had hardly gotten underway when one member commented that there were not enough members present to take legal action. Only nine of the 16 members were present, but two members claimed a total of three votes by proxy.

The Editors' Opinions The Vanishing Council

The Student Council has been plagued with attendance problems in the past. For one reason or another members have not been present to discuss and transact important business. At times the all important quorum has not been present.

However, the Council reached a new high or perhaps low would be a more apt word in their attendance problem last Thursday evening.

The meeting started with 9 members present. Since this is far short of the necessary quorum a bit of legal business was invoked. And the legality of the action is doubtful. Voting by proxy was allowed. This means absent members could cast their vote through those present.

The Student Council Constitution DOES NOT mention voting by proxy. It was "assumed" sometime in the past.

The fallacy of the method of voting by proxy is fairly easy to see. When new business comes up at a meeting it must be discussed. Although an absent member may have been familiar with the motion and made known his wishes, the discussion might throw a different light on the subject.

But aside from this it is just "bad business". The body elects 16 Council members to represent them. Eight cannot do the job.

The Student Council proceeded with business as usual Thursday evening. Some members voted, albeit somewhat sheepishly, for 2 or 3 absent members.

The Council even started discussion and approval of the proposed new student government with 8 MEMBERS PRESENT.

Finally at this point the Council woke up. One member realized the ridiculousness of the situation. Probably others had the same thought but were willing to play the game.

A special meeting was called for the next day to complete the discussion of the proposed student government.

The green dragon of attendance has reared its ugly head many times but until the Council solves the problem students will not be getting the representation they deserve.

Comments Short And Sweet

By Len Baldyga

Read the other day that not only is this nation plagued by the ills of a widening economy, but that in addition, squeezing a laugh out of people is a harder job to do than getting them to spend their savings.

It isn't really so hard to laugh. Without the aid of nitrous oxide (laughing gas) or without such other artificial devices as feathers (applied with alternating movements to the ribs), I have been laughing at this world ever since I came into it.

A laugh is defined as being an expression of mirth, satisfaction, or derision, with ample signs of the face accompanied by explosive or "checking sounds of the throat."

That's all there is to it. Being happy with this life (Albeit Sans Money), I've managed to chuckle at everything around me.

Some of the reasons why people are not laughing these days has been blamed on the gloomy forecasts of various economists and worldly philosophers. This may be true, for I heard one fellow scribble say the other day that things were so bad that he was planning to sell his golf clubs.

DURWELL - YOU'VE CERTAINLY IMPROVED THE PAPERS YOU'VE BEEN HANDING IN TO ME LATELY!

out of green 'chese isn't really such a thing of concern. I was discussing these problems with a friend over dinner the other day (I munched green chese while he ate chicken). Finishing his repast, the friend then asked for some detergent in order to brush his teeth. Naturally, I inquired, "Why detergent?" He answered he always used detergent after eating chicken. It helped him clean an otherwise fowl mouth.

SDX Initiates Seven Pledges

Seven members were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi national professional journalism fraternity last Wednesday night.

The local chapter now has 14 members. Requirements for membership are average grades and approval of the chapter.

Bill Eppelheimer, vice president of the organization, served as editor of the initiation of Willard Christine, Ron Jacober, Carl Matz, Len Baldyga, Joe Blewett, Dick Darby and Jim Wiggs.

Having been initiated, each member will receive "The Quill", a professional magazine for journalists. Upon graduation the chapter will attempt to place the students in journalistic jobs.

"Our organization is not as big as some," said Charles C. Clayton, faculty sponsor for the fraternity, "but it is about average."

"We have professional chapters in Chicago, Peoria, Urbana and one chapter covering the southern Illinois area."

Gus says that he tries to keep moving these days because he is afraid he might get planted if he stands still.

Gus Bode

Gus sez, "It's easier to pay a parking fine than to spend two hours trying to talk them out of it."

Gus sez, "Students don't need our campus—it's only 51 blocks to downtown Carbondale."

Gus sez—A motor company was going to increase production this year, but they've heard about Southern's auto policy and have decided to close down.

Gus is still mulling because he wasn't appointed to one of the jobs on the Egyptian. Claims he has more experience than any of the editors who are working. After all, Gus says, he has been an Egyptian writer for years.

Gus says that since beauty contests are so seldom held around SIU, he wants to judge one of them this spring before he graduates. EDITORS NOTE: It is extremely doubtful if Gus will graduate in the foreseeable future. (3) It will take him at least 10 years to pay off his parking fines.)

Engineering Not Dead Issue

A state study group has announced that industry will be polled on the need for an engineering school at SIU.

The group, a subcommittee of the Illinois Commission on Higher Education is completing a survey of colleges offering pre-engineering courses but not degrees in engineering. The industry survey is to follow.

Results of the two polls will be included in a report the subcommittee is to make before the Legislature in 1959.

The final step in the study will be to consult with heads of engineering schools in the state and with officials of SIU.

The question of an engineering school at SIU has been a "sleeping one" since the defeat at the last session of the legislature.

But while it may have been sleeping it has not been forgotten by anyone.

Perhaps the survey will not turn up results that will weld a great deal of power before the legislature in 1959. But we believe the results will show the great need of industry in Southern Illinois for the engineers which would be produced at SIU.

SIU needs the engineering school and Southern Illinois needs it. Let us hope that we will have it in the not too distant future.

H. S. Students 'Take' Campus

The SIU campus was really "jumping" with students Saturday—high school students that is.

Teen-agers from all of Southern Illinois were on campus. More than 1,800 high school students visited in one of the university's biggest days for high school students to date.

Girls far outnumbered boys because the biggest event was the annual High School Home Economics Day. For this event alone, 62 schools and 1,250 students registered.

The colorful dresses worn by the girls added quite a splash of color to the campus. They seemed to fit with the greening shrubbery to present a pretty picture of spring. The visiting students had plenty to see and plenty to do at SIU. They were split up into groups and give guided tours of the campus.

There were several other events beside the Home Ec Day. The Industrial Education Fair attracted 275 teenagers and teachers. The students had entered 499 exhibits for the fair.

The Southern Illinois School Press Association meeting at University School also drew a goodly number.

All in all the high school students were shown quite a day. Perhaps many of them will remember it when the time comes to choose a college.

Newton Notes

A Student At SIU

He may think that Gus Bode is the "Kilroy" of Southern Illinois University, but Robert Eugene Newton, 19-year-old math major from Karnak, is a student at SIU and that's the important thing.
Robert, who lives on a cooperative farm of nearly 1600 acres near Karnak, doesn't believe in the old caricature showing a farm boy dressed in overalls and a straw hat. In fact, he is just the opposite. He drives a sleek red convertible, wears buck shoes, and says that there is one thing wrong with them: it is too Southern.

"There is just not enough of them."
"I would like to voice my opinion on cars at Southern," said Robert as he took his checkered jacket off. "I don't believe that Southern has any right to keep cars out of the city of Carbondale. They may keep them off of the campus, but that is the only right that they have."

"I don't like the idea of giving a freshman student choice of being kicked out of school, or paying a fifty dollar fine for having his car down here. The least that they could do is give him a warning or two."
The subject changed from cars to boats as Robert began to talk about Southern and its problems in a free, confident manner.
"I thought the boat idea was good. SIU is spending a lot of money for building—why not buy the boat and use it for both educational and recreational purposes?"
"Do think math is a hard subject?" asked Robert as the reporter changed the subject. "I think math is pretty hard, but a lot of it can be blamed on the poor facilities that we had at high school."
"I don't know whether consolidation for small high schools would be good or not, but I believe that it is worth a try."
"Sometimes, I believe that it is worth a try."
"Sometimes, I believe the university is trying to be too tough on the students. I don't think we should be responsible for Russia's Sputniks and Muniks. They shouldn't try to flunk you out of school just because Russia has made scientific advances. It is the generation before us that is at fault—not us."

Robert believes that the business prices set up too high for college students. He says that they make a killing. Because of the high prices, Robert said that he is for ditching them.
"Another thing that I don't like is the registration system here," said the short, husky sophomore. "I hate it all the way down from appointments with advisers to registration itself."
"The advisers don't take enough interest in the students. Of course, I realize that they are busy and that they have a lot of students to take care of, but a new system of some type should be arranged."
"I don't particularly like the required P. E. courses here either," said Robert as he twiddled at his collar. "I think that golf, and stuff like that—I just can't see. I hate to hard on you in some courses like swimming. They wear you out, and then want more from you. Something like golf can be used and enjoyed for the rest of your life, but gymnastics and stuff like that—I just can't see."
"I am not going to slam the ROTC department, but I do believe that better facilities should be provided for winter time marching. It is just too cold out there."
At the end of the interview, the reporter tried to sell Robert a Sigma Delta Chi pinup calendar, and he said "See, I told you there were good looking women here, and that calendar proves it."

Summer school starts promptly on Monday, June 16. Those slaving students receive Independence Day, July 4, for a holiday. Final exams are on August 6-7, with commencement on Friday, August 8.

Salukis Erase Eastern Twice, 3-0, 17-5; Take 4-0 Mark To Univ. Of Illinois Today

By Ron Jacob
Sports Editor

The Saluki baseball team combined brilliant pitching and good hitting to sweep a doubleheader from Eastern Illinois University Saturday afternoon on a beautiful sun-kissed afternoon, 3-0 and 17-5.

In the first contest John Gilmore was the whole show as he hurled a brilliant five-hit shutout and was the hitting star as he connected for 2 for 3, one a long home run.

Gilmore was almost invincible as he faced only 29 men in the contest, a mere two over the minimum. In the last five innings, the big left-hander faced only fifteen men. Only one man reached base during those last five innings and he was retired in an impressive double play.

Southern scored first in the second inning when Fred Loeseckam, freshman from St. Louis, hit a long home run into right center. They didn't score again until the sixth when Gilmore singled. A F. E. Jones lined out. Manning singled but was forced by Bridges. With Bridges on first and Gilmore on third the Salukis then pulled one of their sharpest base-running plays of the year. Bridges broke for second with a 0-2 count on Roger. Bryan Leach, Eastern's catcher, attempted to throw Bridges out at second. When the throw went to second Gilmore stole home to complete the double steal.

In the seventh inning Gilmore figured in the scoring as he hit the first pitch for a home run into right center field. This completed the Saluki scoring in the first contest.

The second game started off in direct contrast to the first game as Eastern scored in the first inning on a walk and a triple. SIU retaliated in their half of the first as "Ichy" Jones led off with a single. After a fly out and a force out Roger Bryan hit his first of three doubles of the game into left field for a run. Fred Loeseckam continued his fine hitting as he singled to right scoring Bryan.

Jerry Thomas, Saluki pitcher, then settled down and began to

Scored Four
The Salukis scored four runs in the third inning on two hits and two walks an error and a wild pitch.

In the fifth inning the Salukis continued to batter the Panther pitchers as they scored six more runs on five hits, three of which were for extra bases.

Ron Ayres, SIU's number one hurler last season, pitched the seventh inning as he was testing the finger he injured in the opening game of the exhibition tour at the University of Missouri about three weeks ago. This was Ayres' first appearance since that time and although he looked good he was touched for two runs because the SIU defense folded behind him as they made three consecutive errors.

In the eighth inning Southern batted around again as they scored four runs on two hits and four walks.

The game was marred by some very poor defensive play by both teams as Southern made seven errors and Eastern made seven bobbles.

In that last doubles match, the team of Arnie Cabrera and Dick Daley of Southern jumped off to a quick lead as they took the first 2 set, 6-3. Van Haver and Frosty Roberts, of Southwest then came in from behind to win two straight sets for the deciding point of the match.

In Saturday match against Mississippi, the Salukis won only one singles match and one doubles match as they were defeated, 7-2. 0. Jerry Gruen won his singles match but he teamed up with Jim Shanklin to win Southern's only doubles match.

Cinderman Run Over Bears, 88-43

Led by double winners John Flamer and Lorie Lambert, the Saluki track team started off the season with a sparkling and surprising victory over Washington University, 88-43.

Flamer won the mile and two-mile runs while Lorie Lambert won the high and low hurdles.

Marion Rushing, one of the most outstanding athletes in SIU's history, broke Southern's oldest record when he threw the javelin 195 feet 11 and one-half inches. It was a new varsity and stadium record. The old record was held by Paul Brown and was set in 1932, with a throw of 193 feet 8 and one-half inches.

The Saluki cindermen swept two events, the pole vault and the 220 yard low hurdles. The pole vault went to Jack Souers with Robert Cahill and Emmet Ellis following behind in the 220 lows. Lorie Lambert won with Dale Glegghorn and Tim Bennett taking second and third.

In the mile relay, Ron Helberg, Southern's anchor man, was ten yards behind Washington's anchor man when he was handed the baton. Ron put on the steam and won by a yard to give Southern the winning time of 3:36.4.

Carver Shannon, the Salukis' flashy halfback on the football squad, took the 100 yard dash and followed with a close second in the 220. Carver also threw the shot put and took third.

The meet was the first of the season for both teams.
