Funds Voted For Federal Project Here

Funds for construction of a $690,000 federal forestry research laboratory on the SIU campus were approved by the House of Representatives Wednesday.

The funds were included in a compromise bill appropriating $1,321,615,800 to finance the Interior Department for the fiscal year starting July 1. The bill was sent to the Senate, the Associated Press reported.

Earlier, University officials were notified by telegram from Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., that the funds had been approved by the House-Senate Appropriations Conference Committee.

William J. Tudor, special assistant to Vice President Ralph W. Ruffner, appeared before both the Senate and House Appropriations Committees in March. Sen. Dirksen accompanied him to the Senate hearing and Congressman Melvin Price of East St. Louis and Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort appeared with him at the House Committee hearing.

SIU leased a tract of land adjacent to the School of Agriculture building to the federal government in February, 1965, upon which to build an office and laboratory for the Carbondale Forest Research Center. It is one of seven under jurisdiction of the North Central States Forest Experiment Station with headquarters at St. Paul, Minn. The Carbondale Center now occupies space in the Agriculture Building.

A planning appropriation of $50,000 was approved at the last session of Congress and it is understood plans for the building have been drawn and delivered to the General Services Administration.

Meanwhile, bids totaling $91,902 were opened this week on the Carbondale campus for a companion project, the construction of greenhouses for forestry research on a 40-acre tract of land in the University's experimental farms area. The bids have not yet been evaluated.

Electricity Fails Barracks Area

A large-size transformer serving the barracks northwest of the Agriculture Building blew up early Wednesday morning, causing a power failure in the area.

The blow up is believed to have been caused by lightning accompanying the storm which began late Tuesday evening, according to a spokesman for the Physical Plant.

Workers hoped to have the transformer replaced by late Wednesday evening.

Executive Will Lecture Here On 'Doing Business Abroad'

David W. Ortlieb of Evansville, Ind., president of Mead Johnson International, will deliver the third and final lecture in a series presented this year by SIU's School of Business.

Ortlieb's talk, "Doing Business Abroad: The American Symmetrist," will be given at 8 p.m. today, in Ballroom C of the University Center.

Ortlieb, who has a master's degree and a doctorate in business administration from Indiana University, is a former faculty member in the School of Business there and is the former executive secretary of the University's Master of Business Administration program.

He joined Mead Johnson and Company in 1959 and advanced to his present position in May, 1964.

He is a member of the board of directors of several international companies and recently was appointed a faculty associate in the Indiana University Graduate School of Business.

Old Carbondale College Served Through 1860s But Now Extinct

By Evelyn Augustin

Would you believe a college newspaper named the Egyptian Marvel?

How about an instructor who teaches French, German and embroidery?

Maybe an essay on "Shall the Graves of the Confederate Soldiers Be Decorated?"

Don't laugh, friends. They were all right here in Carbondale during the 19th century.

The school was Southern Illinois College, which was first proposed in 1856 but did not begin operations until 1861, according to an article in the Southern Illinoisan.

Founded by the Alton Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, the school was first named Carbondale College.

In 1866 the school was sold to the Christian Church, which changed the name to Southern Illinois College. The school was later sold to the city of Carbondale and is in no way connected with SIU.

No one knows where the original building of the school stood, but a present structure directly east of and connected to Lincoln School at 429 S. Washington St. is apparently an addition to the original building.

H.H. McElvain, a long-time resident of Murphysboro, found two copies of the college's Egyptian Marvel printed in April and May, 1868, when he was looking through some possessions prior to moving.

An advertisement in the monthly publication lists a president and seven teachers. It states: "Our large corps of teachers, and large number of classes, enable us to grade our pupils thoroughly, and classify them so as to accommodate the wants of all."

The enrollment in 1868 was 300. Students could choose

For Poverty Areas

Teachers Corps Jobs Are Open

Applications for the National Teachers Corps are available at the Placement Services in Anthony Hall.

The corps is a teacher-training and recruitment program designed to supplement educational facilities in poverty-stricken areas across the nation. It is sponsored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Deadline for filing applications is May 31 to be eligible for an assignment by summer.

The program is open to undergraduates who will receive degrees before date of assignment, to those with bachelor's or master's degrees and to experienced teachers.

The teacher-internship program for those with little or no teaching experience includes a two-year service and study program. After receiving pre-service training, the teacher intern would be eligible for part-time, tuition-free, graduate study while working in community service and teaching.

In addition to locally scaled salaries for service in various parts of the country, the program includes pre-service stipends, expenses-paid travel and relocation, and injury disability and life insurance for career teachers as well as interns.

The corps needs several thousand career teachers and teacher trainees for the coming academic year to complete the teaching staffs in poverty areas.

A spokesman said that SIU may have a corps training program this summer but plans are still tentative.

Israeli Will Speak On Mid-East Here

Avraham Brichta, a member of the staff of the Consulate General of Israel in Chicago, will speak at SIU next Tuesday.

He will discuss "Israel and the Middle East" at 7:30 p.m. in Morris Library Auditorium.

The speech is sponsored by Southern's International Relations Club in cooperation with the Jewish Student Association. It is a sequel to the conference on Arab affairs held in February in cooperation with the Arab Student Association.

Brichta was born in Czechoslovakia in October, 1936, and spent the Second World War under the Nazi occupation there. After the war he joined the Zionist Youth Movement "Gordania." Migrating to Israel in 1949, he served in the army during the Sinai campaign, and served later in the artillery division.

Winning 'Sundowners' Quartet Includes SIU Student Member

An SIU student is a member of the Sundowners, a barber shop quartet, which recently sang its way to the Illinois District championship.

The student, David R. Brady, from Homewood, Ill.,

has been with the group since it was organized a year and a half ago.

Six months after the group was formed they won the Illinois District Novice Award. In September, the Sundowners won the Illinois District Championship and last May again won first place in the statewide contest. This qualifies the group to compete in the International contest to be held in Chicago in July.

The Sundowners will sing Saturday night in La Salle, Ill., and June 11 in the Kiel Opera House in St. Louis.

Other members of the group are Larry Wright, Greg Wright and Doug Miller, all from the Chicago area.

Today's Weather

Partly sunny with little change in temperature. The high will be 70-75. The record high for this date is 92 set in 1964 and the record low of 38 was set in 1925, according to the SIU Climatology Laboratory.

Manager System Deserves Support

Carbondale voters will face an important decision Tuesday in a referendum to change from the present mayor-council form of government, to the city manager form.

The most significant step in the right direction will be if the voters of Carbondale choose to adopt the manager system.

Because Carbondale is Petain Casts Shadow on Battlefield

VERDUN, France — No smoking will be allowed on shell-torn areas here when President Charles de Gaulle and 100,000 other French veterans of World War I gather May 28-29 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the battle of Verdun.

A discarded cigarette could ignite one of the thousands of unexploded artillery shells that have lain hidden in the ground since they fell half a century ago.

But the most dangerous explosive is a political time bomb: the controversy over the late Marshal Philippe Petain who stopped the Germans here in 1916, but surrendered to them in World War II when he headed the country. His government sentenced to death in absentia Gen. de Gaulle for carrying on the struggle on the side of the British.

There is a glaring gap in the cemeteries holding the 400,000 French and German soldiers who fell here. Petain's body is missing. The hero of Verdun is buried on the rocky isle of Yeu off France's Atlantic coast where he died in prison in 1951 at the age of 95.

The marshal's supporters want his remains transferred here. But De Gaulle has refused to authorize it. This disagreement became an issue in the presidential election last December.

Reburying Petain here and rehabilitating his memory on the 50th anniversary of the battle could be a sort of hatchet burial between members of De Gaulle's Free French movement of World War II and those who were loyal to Petain's government, which gave in to Nazi Germany.

—Copley News Service

growing rapidly, the mayor's job is no longer part-time. The person who makes plans for the city must have the knowledge to formulate ideas that will better the city and provide a promising outlook.

A professional person, one who has special training in this area, should be hired. Centralia adopted this system seven years ago. The former city attorney remarked that it was the "greatest thing that ever happened to Centralia."

A Carbondale city official remarked that if the manager system is adopted, no one who is now affiliated with the city will be considered for city manager.

For such a plan to be adopted, voters should go to the polls and cast their ballots. Students and faculty at SIU who meet the Carbondale voter requirements should do likewise. It has been estimated that approximately 1,000 persons on the SIU campus are qualified to vote in this referendum.

Students and faculty should check to see if they can vote Tuesday and if they can, do so.

Such a referendum has been long overdue but now that it's here, the plan should be adopted so that Carbondale, like Centralia, can achieve what it's capable of.

Powell Blocks Bill, Blasts Union Heads

The Rev. Adam C. Powell hasn't been a particular favorite of ours but in his action to kill the "common situs picketing" bill we find ourselves in agreement with him.

He scuttled the measure by announcing he wouldn't call it before the House Education and Labor Committee which he heads. What surprised some perhaps was his angry outburst against labor leaders. He called them "senile" among other things and suggested they step aside for younger men. Many unions have been dragging heels or flatly balking at admitting Negroes to their ranks.

In these days in Congress of pass-it-now, read-it-later one must be thankful for blessings even from court-dodging the Rev. Mr. Powell.

Students Must Be Interested In Interaction, Government

To the editor:

Being a small community in itself, a university must have not only such necessary requirements of life as food and social interaction, but also a student government.

Because of the large size of a university such as SIU a student government must not have the same effect as a government such as the "Daley Machine" in Chicago. The University government should not control the student, but let him control himself.

In a recent debate between the three candidates for president of the student body several topics of concerned students' interest arose. Among these topics were student interaction, communication between the student and the university government, and the need for more election booths.

In the past year it has been said that the University government has been a particular interest group without very much concern for the student. This problem was not blamed on both the government and the student, but only on the government. A lack of interaction cannot be blamed on only one of the two groups involved; it must be the fault of both.

In recent discussions about the current elections with students I have learned that this lack of interaction is not only the government's fault. Answers like "Who is Drinan?" "No, I'm not going to vote, I just want to finish school," and "Elections—what elections?" are sure signs that this lack of interaction is a charge that the student must equally face.

Since man is a social animal communication is necessary in almost if not everything he does. And communication is a vital factor in a government for and by the student. There is a very weak system of communication between our student government and ourselves, but this problem could be solved by five or six students with a little of their time and effort even if the new president fails to cope with the problem.

The student can put the student back in government. A new party such as the Drinan Rebellion is not needed nor is an old party needed to turn over a new leaf.

A need for more election booths is a definite sign of a lack of both communication and interaction by the student and the government. If either of the two improved the other would go along. If only the student would interest himself in government new election booths would not be needed because he would go out of his way to put the candidate of his choice in office.

This problem in student government could be solved then by a greater interest by communication and interaction by both of the parties involved. Because we are citizens of this particular community we must each have a part in its control for each of us wants to lead a better life. A better government can bring about a better life for all of us. Each of us are the ones who can better this government.

Students Boycott 'Pierian Spring,' Reader Replies

To the editor:

Yes, Dr. Adams, (Francis D.); in this part of the world, the Pierian Spring has run dry, for the Boston Symphony Chamber Players (which performed on May 6) was a particular demonstration of replenishing it.

Moreover, it was another concrete example in implimenting one of the objectives of Southern Illinois University—that is, "teaching how to love the best but keep the human touch."

It seems to me that this objective is being strangled by consuming indiscriminate quantity of hamburgers for aesthetic consideration, while t-bones are being boycotted by students in name as such.

Art Consultant Defends 'Thing' In Wham Court

In reply to Thomas E. Jordan's letter (in your May 10 issue) about the "thing" recently placed in the Wham Education Building court, let me hasten to unmask "the criminal."

It is I, Katharine Kuh, art consultant to SIU and art editor of Saturday Review. Also, let me thank Professor Jordan for accusing me of "tastelessness." I've always been leery of taste, either good or bad, and am convinced that art has nothing to do with any taste, nor with long words like "aesthetics." It has only to do with life.

I understand that Professor Jordan, chairman of the Department of Educational Psychology, has written several books. I assume that when these are mentioned he expects them to be identified by title and author, a courtesy he denied to Claire Falkenstein's "Sun."

Or perhaps my hasty investigation of Professor Jordan has been a bit more thorough than his research on a distinguished American artist. As for the trees, I doubt whether we need worry about them. Trees have successfully defended themselves against much more severe competition than a dynamic metal construction.

Though the sculpture has been temporarily removed while a proper stone base is being made for it, the "Sun" will soon return to warm the little court and the trees.

Aussies Might Extend 3 Mile Ocean Control

PERTH—Australia is considering extending its jurisdiction over coastal waters from the present three miles to 12 miles.

The main reason is the increasing interest being shown in coastal waters by Russian fishing and "research" ships.

Australia now exercises jurisdiction only over waters within three miles of the coast. Many other countries extend their control to 12 miles.

Fisheries experts are becoming increasingly concerned about the growing interest Russia has been showing in the fisheries potential of the sea around Australia.

A little over a year ago a large self-contained Russian fishing fleet, complete with a big, modern mother ship, cruised slowly up the south and west coasts of Australia. They were outside territorial waters but were obviously investigating future possibilities.

It is thought that Russia, which operates fishing vessels in every ocean, may be about to start large-scale fishing around the coast.

More than 12 Soviet fishing vessels have called at Australian ports for bunkers and stores in the last 12 months.

A big expansion of fishing in Australian waters is just around the corner. Foreign capital, most of it British, is beginning to be invested in big amounts in Australian fishing ventures.—Copley News Service

Baby Sitting Isn't Teachers' Job

By Robert M. Hutchins

Daniel Coit Gilman, the first president of the Johns Hopkins University, advised one of his most eminent professors to attend church regularly for the sake of the university's public relations. To the same end he reprimanded another professor for smoking in public.

That was 80 years ago. About the same time a distinguished professor at Columbia, John W. Burgess, wrote of a candidate for an academic post, "He is a gentleman, a scholar, a man of good appearance, possesses some property and voted for Mr. Cleveland in 1884."

The notion that professors must be "respectable," in a highly conventional sense of that word, because the public relations of the university can be damaged by their unconventionality, seems to be associated with the idea of a university as a center of child care. The professor must be a model of behavior because his principal function is to teach young people how to behave in ways acceptable to society.

This view is, of course, very popular with parents. They naturally prefer to have the university do what they find inconvenient or impossible to do themselves. The outrage of the citizens of California at the strange goings-on at the students at Berkeley reflected a feeling that the university had failed to instill proper Californian standards of private grooming and public order in the youth of the state.

In the midst of the great controversy years ago about requiring California professors to take a loyalty oath, a well-known citizen said to me, "If we are going to hire these people to look after our children, we are entitled to know what their opinions are."

To him a professor was the next thing to a baby sitting

ter. Since a baby sitter could obviously make no claim to academic freedom, how could a professor do so? To him the idea that a professor is not an employee, and therefore cannot be "hired," would be incomprehensible. The conception of a university as an autonomous intellectual community and of the professor as a member of that community is one that Americans have difficulty assimilating.

The professor seems to be gaining independence of social pressures, not because the idea of a university is better understood, but because of the value society has come to place on his specialized competence. The professors of the country are going to provide us with the knowledge that leads to power and prosperity.

Who would now think of interrupting the work of a Nobel laureate by requiring him to regulate the deportment of the young? For that matter, what university president would now venture to advise him to go to church or to refrain from smoking?

No such odor of sanctity surrounds the teachers in the elementary and secondary schools. They are still baby sitters. Some advance has been made. They may now use cosmetics, but they may not write plays that have "bad" words in them without arousing public indignation.

And they are still employees. Judge Michael A. Orenic of Will County Circuit Court in Illinois upheld the other day the dismissal of Marvin L. Pickering, a teacher at Lockport High School. Pickering had published a letter charging that the school board had spent money on its athletic program while at the same time saying it did not have money to raise teachers' salaries.

Judge Orenic said, in language suggesting that he could use more schooling, "The greater public interest of the schools overrides the issue of freedom of speech rights of a teacher."

Writer Argues Ineffectively For Added Federal Powers

"Freedom Through Power," by William Withers. New York: John Day Company. 1965. 245 pp. $4.95.

Some typical quotes: "Capitalist planning is not highly organized." There is "a need for greater centralization in planning." "What is proposed is further centralized planning." "The need for greater centralization of planning and control through the federal government must be recognized." This premise is certainly open to debate.

The thesis of this book is that the average person in the United States has lost power continually since pioneer days. "It is the inequality caused by the concentration of power that destroys liberty, equality and individualism; and if democracy is regarded as the affirmation of individualism, concentrated power destroys democracy."

The first 174 pages are devoted, on a historical basis, to the development of, and variations on, the theme of "how individual rights have been reduced by the growth of big business."

Withers contends the goals of our capitalistic society are balance, growth, efficiency, freedom and equality. His formula for successful achievement of these aims is, "the average man can only regain it (freedom) by insisting the federal government assume more power."

He recommends development of a national plan by a committee composed of representation from the National Association of Manufacturers, labor unions, Committee for Economic Development, consumers, farmers, state, and local government planning bodies and 15 or 20 federal planning agencies.

As a backup to the "Supra Plan" there should be vigorous use of existing governmental regulatory agencies, enforcing antitrust legislation, Pure Food and Drug Acts, etc. There would be parity concepts for everything: wages, income, salaries, profit, rent, farm and investment.

This all-purpose parity program would stem from a recognition (shades of Locke, Bentham, etc.) of natural laws guiding the policy to achieve the general interest.

"We should require the radio, press and television, to give us facts rather than digests and biased views." Then he further states, "The voters must be assisted in getting at the information which is the basis of continuity in political activity." This raises the whole question of what is a fact and what are the socio-political-economic implications of a given fact. He rates Americans for Democratic Action as one of two excellent sources of voter information and fact dissemination.

While arguing for greater economic efficiency, the author also deplores the evils of specialization. Economists have recognized that pricing efficiency and operational efficiency goals are often diametrically opposed.

A writer concerned with socio-economic theories should leave his readers in no doubt to his knowledge-ability if he is to convert them into followers. He must be surefooted among the many mazes of theory. He must be aware of other current literature and there is a growing body of such writing associated with economic growth problems. It does not seem to me that Withers demonstrates these qualities in this book.

Castro Plots to Subvert Nation Through American Ace Newsmen

By Arthur Hoppe (San Francisco Chronicle)

As you know, Mr. Fidel Castro is going to subvert the whole Western Hemisphere. Personally, I never did understand exactly how he was going to do it. I didn't, that is, until I saw with my own eyes the diabolical workings of his fiendish plot.

The moment of truth arrived with the morning's mail. For it brought a large gray envelope from the Cuban Ministry to the United Nations in New York. Inside were no fewer than four mimeographed tracts of official Cuban governmental propaganda — all obviously designed to subvert the loyalty of us ace newsmen.

The first tract was entitled "Feverish Activity in Cuba to Prepare for and Greet the Tricontinental Conference." Swept off my feet by the title, I read the whole thing. It said the feverish activity included cleaning streets and sidewalks, building "a European pastry shop" and marketing "a new beer bottle" which will hold "double the amount" of the old beer bottle. In addition, it said, metal workers had pledged to make 38 million tin cans to show how deeply they felt about the conference.

Well, there's nothing to subvert an ace newsmen like a hot story about a forthcoming conference. All that dimmed my enthusiasm was the fact that this particular forthcoming conference had already been held last January.

Thus I kind of skipped through the next tract, a two-page speech entitled "Our Strength Lies in Unity," by Youssef El Sebai, general secretary of the Preparatory Committee of the Conference of Solidarity of the People of Three Continents. Which, as I say, had already been held last January. Anyway, he said solidarity was a good thing.

ARTHUR HOPPE

That got me down to a three page document, "Great Possibilities in Oil." This said, in essence, that there were great possibilities in oil.

At the bottom of the stack was the piece de resistance:

a fascinating, three page propaganda article entitled, "Cuban Lobster: A Source of Income."

After a page of statistics, it told all about how lobsters were caught, new ways of catching lobsters and how Cubans were working very hard to catch more lobsters. Because lobsters are worth a lot of money, which is certainly propaganda for some economic system or other.

Having waded through all this propaganda, I leaned back and checked myself carefully to see whether my loyalty was subverted. I was heartened to find I had no overwhelming urge to clean my sidewalk, open a pastry shop, drink beer, make a tin can, preach solidarity, drill for oil or go lobster fishing.

No, I said confidently, government propaganda may work fine at home, but abroad most of it's a waste of mimeograph ink. Poor Mr. Castro, I said confidently, trying to subvert the Western Hemisphere with dreary press releases that... it was at that moment my eye fell on a simple legend stamped on the envelope.

Good Lord! Here in my hand was evidence that the diabolical Mr. Castro had at last found a fiendish method to make propaganda effective in its historic aim of destroying enemy governments. For the legend said:

"POSTAGE DUE, 15¢."

7 Fined on Intoxicants Charges

Seven students have been fined on charges of underage acceptance of alcoholic beverages and one student arraigned on a charge of illegal transportation after police stopped a car Saturday with students in the trunk.

Upon stopping the car, police found four students in the trunk with an open wine bottle. Police charged John J. Billings with the alleged illegal transportation of the bottle.

Authorities said 10 students were in the car, they were returning from a party at Giant City State Park. Seven of the students were found guilty by Magistrate Robert Schwartz, on charges of underage acceptance. The seven were fined $25 each plus $5 costs.

The seven students are Barry J. Dupuy, Jerry Paramski, Gerald A. Koncan, Jerry Jones, Dan E. Meyer, Thomas L. Huling and James W. Owens.

All students involved in the incident have been reprimanded by University officials and warned that any future incidents involving alcohol will result in their suspension from the University.

Corpsmen Needed For Pacific Isles

Peace Corps staff members will be on campus today and Friday to recruit volunteers to serve in Micronesia, the U.S.-administered United Nations trust territory in the Western Pacific.

Because of the "urgent" need to send volunteers to Micronesia, no Peace Corps placement tests will be required and all applicants will be notified by telephone within 15 days of acceptance or refusal.

A first contingent of several hundred volunteers is needed to begin training in Hawaii in July and to arrive in Micronesia by October.

A second group is needed to begin training in Hawaii in October and to arrive in Micronesia by January.

The Peace Corps staff members will be in the Ohio River Room of the University Center to provide information on the program and to answer questions.

Winner's Observation

Interview Most Difficult Part Of Wilson Fellowship Contest

"... I think the most difficult part was the interview," said Joseph Bohlen about the competition for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowships. "They asked me questions for half an hour. The pressure was tremendous. I told them I wanted to study human biology. I'd get started talking and they would cut me off to ask another question. "There was no feedback, so I didn't know how I struck them. I felt I presented myself well, though."

Bohlen must have presented himself well, for he was awarded a fellowship that will pay his tuition and $1,000 a semester for his graduate work in human biology at the University of Wisconsin.

He will graduate from SIU in June with a 4.6 grade average. He studied pre-med at SIU for three years before switching to zoology.

A six-foot-one blond from Moweaqua, Bohlen said he "really wasn't given much encouragement" during the competition.

"I was nominated by Harvey Fisher, chairman of the Department of Zoology," he said. "Many of the recipients come from the humanities field, and my major is in the science field."

Blyshak Will Head Phi Sigma Kappa

Edward S. Blyshak, a senior from Pittsburgh, Pa., has been elected president of Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity.

Other officers elected were Robert J. Kary, vice president, Granite City; Paul E. Bahan, secretary, Jacksonville; Thomas F. Tatarczuch, treasurer, Chicago; Edward W. Zastrow, Morton Grove, sentinel; and Kenneth A. Rank Jr., inductor, Mount Prospect.

The new officers will be installed Monday and their terms will run to winter quarter.

JOSEPH BOHLEN

The competition was keen throughout the investigative procedure used by the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship board. Bohlen outlined the procedure he went through.

"I had to prepare a 1,000 word statement of interest and accomplishment. I wrote on the Future of Man in Space... what it'll be like in, say, 10 years... from a biological standpoint."

"I also had to have three letters of recommendation sent to the board."

Then came the interview. "Their last question threw me a curve," Bohlen said. "They said since I had defined human biology as a science, why didn't I apply for a National Science Foundation Fellowship?"

"You see, there is a minor clause in the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship that says if you win both fellowships, you are obligated to take the NSF. But I hadn't even applied for the NSF."

"I didn't believe it when I received the letter saying that I had won."

What is "human biology" and why did Bohlen choose the University of Wisconsin? "Human biology," explained Bohlen, "is a new field. It encompasses physiology, anthropology, sociology and psychology. I choose Wisconsin because it is one of the few schools in the nation that offers this curriculum. It is No. 1 in physical anthropology. And... I wanted to stay in the Midwest. I feel at home with the professors in this part of the country."

"The program I'll be in is interdepartmental. I'm sold on it. You receive a well-rounded view—the whole scope."

Before starting his studies next fall at the University of Wisconsin, Bohlen is going to take a vacation.

"My folks offered me a car or the cash equivalent as a graduation present. I love to travel... so I'm going to Europe this summer."

VISTA Will Seek Volunteers Here

Volunteers In Service to America (VISTA) representatives will be on campus today and Friday to talk to students interested in working with the organization.

Volunteers would live and work in areas of poverty in the United States for one year during which they receive living expenses and $600. No experience or educational background is needed to join. The student must be over 18.

There are currently 2,100 vista volunteers engaged in activities all over the United States.

Philippine Steamer Sinks in Storm

MANILA (AP) — A small trading ship picked up 136 survivors Wednesday among 262 persons aboard the steamer Pioneer Cebu, sunk Monday by Typhoon Irma. Some told of panic, screaming mothers, and battles to the death with sharks in raging seas.

As the search was pressed for others aboard the doomed, 740-ton vessel, the government launched an investigation into rescue operations to see why it took more than 40 hours to find the survivors.

The trading ship Diana picked them up from lifeboats, rafts and even from the half-sunken hull, north of Cebu Island in the central Philippines, said reports from the scene. Yet rescue craft had searched the area Tuesday and reported they sighted nothing in the stormy waters.

The 136, and two bodies, were taken to Bantayan, a small island 25 miles from where the Pioneer Cebu radioed she had been driven on a reef. One survivor had his foot bitten off by a shark and was treated at Bantayan.

The Philippine News Service correspondent in Cebu quoted Ramon Aldaneze, 39, as saying the ship capsized about 30 minutes after radioing she was aground.

He said Capt. Flore Yap, who is still missing, ordered the passengers to abandon ship shortly before she sank.

"Panic ensued," Aldaneze said. "I heard many yell, 'God, please save us.' Children shrieked and several passengers made a dash for a lifeboat but this also sank."

Aldaneze said he grabbed a lifejacket and climbed aboard a raft. Two other passengers, including a young boy, tried to get into the raft but were carried away by the huge seas.

Another survivor, Manuel Reroma, 19, a mess boy on the ship, found water on the raft was up to his waist. He said he could hear people shouting in agony as sharks attacked them.

A third survivor said that after the ship "rolled over and sank" the next thing he knew he was adrift in a raft.

"A girl tried to hold on to my neck but I fled, otherwise I would have drowned too," he said.

OUR BOY AT THE INFLATION DIKE

Kidnapper Shot Down, Girl Captive Escapes

SHADE GAP, Pa. (AP) — A mad kidnap-killer was shot to death Wednesday in a running gun battle with state police and two teen-age farm boys. His kidnap victim for almost a week, 17-year-old Peggy Ann Bradnick, escaped safely.

William Diller Hollenbaugh, 44, came within yards of escaping the largest police cordon in recent Pennsylvania history. A closed gate on a farm just off the Pennsylvania Turnpike blocked his dash for freedom and led to his ultimate death.

Hollenbaugh, a former convict and for 13 years a patient in a mental hospital, left a trail of violence before he fell in a farm yard with a slug in his neck, apparently from the shotgun of a 15-year-old farm boy.

The man, described variously as the Phantom Sniper and Mountain Man, shot and killed an FBI agent Tuesday, and critically wounded a deputy sheriff whose care he commandeered in his attempt to break through the cordon.

Jack Conny, press secretary to Gov. William W. Scranton, said the fatal shot is believed to have been fired by Larry Rubek, a son of the owner of the farm where the gunfight took place.

"Young Larry fired his shotgun as another state trooper fired at Hollenbaugh," Conny said. "It is believed Hollenbaugh was struck simultaneously by rounds from the trooper's gun and the shot by Larry."

An examination of the body, however, by Dr. Russell C. McLucas at the funeral home, showed only one slug struck Hollenbaugh, a large caliber bullet apparently from the type gun wielded by the youngster. It entered the rear of the left shoulder and exited in front where the shoulder and neck join.

The gunfight climaxed the massive manhunt started last Wednesday when Hollenbaugh walked out of the woods and snatched Peggy Ann as she walked home from school with her five brothers and sisters.

Prisoner Out After Serving Spy Sentence

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Barry Gold, first American convicted of atomic spying, said—on his release Wednesday after 16 years in federal prison—that he told the government “everything I knew, every shred, about everyone” who gave secrets to the Soviet Union.

“I know nothing more, nothing,” he said in a private interview—the first he has ever given. “The last time the FBI questioned me was quite a few years ago, and I can’t even remember the date.

“I wiped the slate as clean as I could after I was arrested”—May 1950.

“I’ve done the very best I could do to atone. And now I’m looking forward to the future.”

Gold, 55, wants to work as a biochemist in a hospital or medical laboratory “though I’d like to wait a little while, maybe a couple of weeks just to get used to being home.”

Gold came out of the Lewisburg Penitentiary in a heavy rain but “for me the sun is shining.”

The Philadelphia bachelor, convicted of transmitting nuclear secrets to Soviet agents during and after World War II, was sentenced to 30 years, the maximum under the espionage law, short of death. He’ll complete the final 14 years under parole.

FBI agents arrested Gold on information furnished by Dr. Klaus Fuchs, British atomic scientist who stole America’s nuclear secrets while working in this country. Fuchs gave the data to Gold who relayed it to Soviet agents.

After his arrest, Gold cooperated with government agents and was chief prosecution witness at the trial of many members of the atomic spy ring.

Illinois Supreme Court Denies Rehearing of ‘Tape’ Decision

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court denied Wednesday a rehearing of its March decision that a legislative commission may have access to tape recordings hinting at bribery in the 1965 legislature.

Unless further litigation is attempted, the court is expected to issue an order this week or next that a lower court release the tapes.

The rehearing had been asked by Albert E. Jenner Jr., Chicago lawyer representing the Currency Exchange Association.

The commission was created by the legislature during its 1965 session after Chicago’s American publication of purportedly recorded conversations of currency-exchange lobbyists in a Springfield hotel room.

After an investigation, the commission is to report to the 1967 legislature.

The commission was blocked by a Circuit Court ruling in Sangamon County that neither it nor a grand jury could have access to the tapes because they were illegal.

Inmate at Stateville Prison Attacks Guards With Shovel

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—An inmate in Stateville Penitentiary went on a rampage Wednesday, mauling six guards with a shovel before he was subdued.

Warden Frank Pate identified the inmate as Daniel Sconiers, 22, Cook County.

Pate gave this account: Sconiers was assigned to a group of 75 prisoners on a coal-loading detail at the power plant when guard Hazen Maltby saw him slip away to a yard area.

Sconiers ignored Maltby’s order to return to his assignment and Maltby called to Lt. Lester Ford for help. Sconiers swung at Maltby and Ford with the shovel and then fled to the canning plant.

In the canning plant Sconiers struck Lt. Donald Whitehead and Lt. Gerald Miller who attempted to halt him. The prisoner then ran to the general store area where he hit Capt. Martin Shifflet and Lt. Ray Dilday before he was finally subdued.

Grain Research Granted $10,000

The Illinois State Department of Agriculture has granted SIU $10,000 for continuing research of grain transportation problems by Walter J. Wills, chairman of the Department of Agricultural Industries.

The project has been under way for nearly two years as a statewide study. Wills says it is concerned with grain transportation rates, changes that have been taking place in grain movement patterns and their effects on rate charges, the availability of transportation facilities for moving grain and the developments in storage for grain.

Preliminary information on the findings will be reported by Wills at three public meetings being arranged cooperatively by the U.S. and the Illinois Departments of Agriculture for May 16, 17 and 18. The sessions will have special interest to representatives of various grain carriers, handlers and buyers.

The May 16 meeting will be for persons in the northern part of the state and will be held at Ottawa. The second session will be May 17 in Springfield. The meeting for Southern Illinois will be May 18 at Sandoval.

Wills says a final report on the study is being prepared as a School of Agriculture publication.

Please don't zlupf Sprite. It makes plenty of noise all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zlupf is to err.

What is zlupping?

Zlupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzlllup!

It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zlupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment, if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well... all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING. WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

Netmen to Meet Notre Dame Here in Season's Final Match

The SIU tennis team will play its final match of the season against the University of Notre Dame here on Friday. On April 23, the Salukis lost to the netmen from Notre Dame, 4-5.

The Fighting Irish has not been defeated since the Salukis met them.

Southern has had six straight wins in the past two weeks, and now has an impressive 17-3 record.

Coach Dick LeFevre expects Friday's match to be even tougher than the first with Notre Dame. Joe Brandi, No. 1 Saluki, has left school, and the rest of the team has had to move up a notch in their positions.

Lothar Hansen, who moved up to the regular team in the No. 6 position when Brandi left, has not been able to win a match so far.

The SIU mentor said, however, that "on paper it looks bad, but we should have a good match Friday afternoon, and I think we have a chance of winning."

The lineup for the Notre

The four-girl squad finished with 61 points for a close second to the University of Illinois team, which received 63. Five teams entered the meet.

Pavesich, Kirkland Lead in Hitting, Pitching

Paul Pavesich and Don Kirkland are the leaders in the hitting and pitching department respectively, according to the latest SIU baseball statistics.

After 36 games, Pavesich is hitting .306, and sophomore righthander Kirkland is 6-1 on the mound.

DON KIRKLAND

Rich Collins, out temporarily with a pulled leg muscle, is second to Pavesich at .291. Switch hitting Jerry Evans, What's this tale about pitchers being unable to hit?

In his shuffling of lineups, Coach Joe Lutz could well have two starting pitchers playing in the other positions.

Don Kirkland and Wayne Sramek are currently hitting .357 and .293 in that order. Sramek, in 41 trips to the plate, has hit safely a dozen times and driven in nine runs.

Kirkland has 10 for 28 and has brought six runs across.

Normal, of course, was founded in 1869 and is the predecessor to good ol' SIU.

who also has been switching positions, is close behind at .288.

The next three in line are Bob Bernstein, .268; Russ Keene, .259, and Tex Sandstead, .253.

Pavesich has a comfortable lead in runs-batted-in with 22 for the season, four more than the surging Russ Deene. Seven of Pavesich's RBIs came in one contest.

Bernstein has brought 16 home, and Collins has 15 to his credit.

Pavesich and Bernstein have three home runs, Collins two, and George Toler, Wayne Sramek and Don Kirkland one each.

Jim Panther continues to hold down his earned run average with a mark of 0.43. Despite this, Panther took his second defeat against four victories last week. The big righthander has pitched 42 1/3 innings this season.

Bill Liskey, who has allowed but one run in his last four games, has an earned-run average of 0.98. He is 6-2, after dropping his first two starts of the year.

Kirkland, who along with Liskey has made 10 appearances this year, has a 1.88 mark. He also won his last six ball games, with three shoutouts to his credit.

Wayne Sramek, whose 57 innings of work is just one batter shy of Kirkland's, has allowed 2.21 runs a game. His record is 3-3.

Howard Nickason, who has won two games and lost none, has an ERA of 3.06, the highest mark of the big five of Coach Joe Lutz.

Kirkland and Sramek are far out in front in strikeouts, with 75 and 63 respectively.

Southern has shut out 11 opponents on the season, and has been blanked twice.

Eight games remain in the regular season schedule for the Salukis. Their final home appearances will be this weekend against Illinois College and Parsons College.
