20 Per Cent Increase

Carbondale Dry Cleaners Quietly Boost Prices, Survey Discloses

Carbondale dry cleaners, scared off of collective price increases last spring on threat of antitrust prosecution, have quietly upped their prices anyhow, according to a Daily Egyptian survey. The result is about a 20 per cent hike for almost all of the services the cleaners offer.

On Feb. 16, six Carbondale cleaners in a joint advertisement said they would raise their prices effective Feb. 20.

But, when Richard E. Richman, Jackson County state's attorney, launched an inquiry into the matter, several of the firms "reconsidered."

A check Friday on the cleaners showed all were charging at least as much as they had planned to get as of Feb. 20.

One shop, in fact, announced a suit cleaning price of $1.75, or 25 cents more than originally planned.

Last spring the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce said it had no control over prices in Carbondale and that it wasn't the "responsibility of the Chamber to exert any control over members" in such cases.

Richman said earlier that if there is collusion or price fixing on the part of the dry-cleaning businesses, the state could file either criminal or civil action against the concerns involved.

McLeod to Attend Theater Convention

Archibald McLeod, chairman of the theater department at SIU, will attend the annual convention of the American Educational Theater Association in New York Aug. 19-22.

McLeod will set up an exhibit of the winners in the 1967 national stage scenic design competition which is conducted by SIU and which will be sent on tour of colleges and universities by AETA and the SIU theater department.

Inquest Planned In Cyclist's Death

Jackson County Coroner Harry Flynn said Friday that an inquest into the death of Steven Kagan will be held sometime next week.

"I am preparing for an inquest to be held sometime next week in Carbondale," Flynn said. He said he had to prepare for a place to hold it, summon jurors and witnesses.

Kagan, an SIU graduate student, was killed last July 6 in a traffic accident west of Carbondale on Illinois 13.

Proposal Would Allow Parties

The Commission on Social Fraternities and Sororities has proposed a new rule about drinking that would bring Greek off-campus parties out in the open.

Randall Nelson, professor of Government and a member of the Commission, stated that an off-campus social function where alcoholic beverages are served would be registered through the Office of Dean of Students which would approve the location.

Nelson is also a Carbondale city councilman.

"It must be held at a reputable place of business that has an open bar for those members that are of legal age. It would then be up to the owner of such an establishment to carry out the state law," Nelson said.

Nelson stated that a group not registering such a function will be dealt with severely through the office of the Dean of Students.

Nelson said the key to the implementation would be through the appointment of an assistant dean in the office of Dean of Students. He would act as a mediator between them and the administration.

Appointment of an assistant dean will depend, according to the Commission, "on the operating paper based upon the Commission's study and suggestions received from interested members of the University Community at large."

SIU Faculty Salary Schedule Moves Up, AUP Shows Study

By Holim Kim

SIU's faculty salary scale has moved one notch up in the 1966-67 academic year from the previous year, according to the annual AAUP (American Association of University Professors) survey.

The improvement is in the minimum compensation scale, which moved up from a D rating to a C rating. In the average compensation scale, Southern's C rating remained unchanged.

The AAUP report last year did not list SIU among the universities rating better than C in both average and minimum scales. The list, however, did include the other Illinois state universities.

According to the June issue of the AAUP Bulletin, SIU last year was one of 275 colleges and universities in the nation that paid $10,000 or more in average salaries. The survey was based on 862 institutions that reported.

Institutions which improved the minimum scale from D to C, as SIU, numbered 98.

The survey assigns letter grades of seven categories—AA and A through F—for each academic rank and for both average compensation and minimum compensation.

In 1966-67, for example, the AA rating in average compensation for full professor was $24,510, and AA in minimum compensation for the same rank $17,220. The F rating for the same rank was $7,430 and $6,520 in the respective categories.

Despite its improvement, SIU still trails two Illinois state universities in overall ratings. Southern is behind the University of Illinois in average compensation (U. of I. received a B rating) and behind Northern Illinois in minimum compensation (B).

U. of I. received Bs for all four ranks (three professional ranks and instructor) whereas SIU received a C for full professor and Bs for the rest.

Although the ratings for four ranks are identical for all the regional universities—Eastern, Northern, Western, Southern and Illinois State—Northern has an edge over the rest in the overall minimum scale.

The survey makes a distinction between compensation and salary, the former including remuneration above the bare salary. Such a difference exists for all the Illinois universities, except Illinois State and Western where the two figures are identical.

The average compensation for all ranks at the six Illinois universities are:

The University of Illinois—$12,132.

Southern—$10,591.

Eastern—$10,504.

Northern—$10,390.

Illinois State—$10,255.

Western—$10,044.

The nation's leader in average compensation is still Harvard University which pays $18,700. The remainder of the top five are the University of Chicago ($17,376), Parsons College ($17,268), Stanford University ($16,947) and California Institute of Technology ($16,487).

The overall average compensation at 862 reporting institutions was $11,289, average salary $10,387.

The average salary at SIU was $10,347 in 1966-67 ($9,824 in '65-'66) and average compensation $10,591 in '66-'67 ($10,018 in '65-'66).

1,650 SIU Student Loans Approved

Federal funds for loans to 1,650 SIU students have been approved by the U.S. Bureau of Higher Education, according to Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-West Frankfort.

Gray said the funds, amounting to $570,462, were made available under Title 2 of the National Defense Education Act.

SIU will provide 10 per cent matching funds.

Gus Bode

Gus says that after living for years in Carbondale's free enterprise chicken coops he doesn't see too much wrong with SIU housing.

The Green Leaves of Summer

Photos by Ling Wong

The beauty of nature—the green leaves of summer. Summer sunlight filters through the branches of the trees to cast shadows in myriad shapes on the ground. Fruiting trees and bushes provide a touch of color to the usual green and brown of the woody setting. Insects also enjoy the tender green leaves—but not for the aesthetic value.

Pitlock Named To All-Star Team

Skip Pitlock, starting left-handed pitcher for Coach Joe Lutz's baseball team this season, was named to the 1967 Central Illinois Collegiate League All-Star team.

Pitlock, who did his hurling for Lincoln this summer, finished the season with a 10-2 won-lost record with an earned run average of 1.76. He also recorded 119 strikeouts.

NFL Sophomore Jim Hart Hopes to 'Be Ready'

By Jay Randolph, KMOX Radio "The Voice of the St. Louis Football Cardinals"

Last week in a period of 36 hours the football Cardinals lost Charley Johnson to Uncle Sam and they lost a preseason game to the NFL entry, the New Orleans Saints.

The loss of Johnson wasn't completely unexpected but it was felt he might not pass the physical this time around. The cardinal quarterback has been disqualified for physical reasons the past two years. Many observers think that the Army could have waited a few months, too. Johnson will don a uniform of a different color on August 22.

Beyond the fact that Jim Hart is suddenly the number one quarterback for St. Louis, we can tell you he is a 23-year-old second year pro who might remind you of the boy next door. "I've got an awful lot to learn," says the Southern Illinois product, "and the most important item is quick recognition of the defensive set-up. Johnson, a great guy, told me the first day, "Be ready."

Hart was overlooked by both leagues in player drafts, and was signed by the Cardinals on the recommendation of Don Shroyer, St. Louis assistant coach, who tutored Hart at SIU.

Hart spent most of 1966 on the taxi squad, keeping charts, and then was promoted to back-up for Terry Nofsinger when Johnson hurt his knee.

"I am proud of my football record at SIU," Hart continued, "I'm just sorry we didn't win more games. I give my dad credit for helping me. He knew I liked sports and encouraged me."

Hart's only regular NFL competition was in last season's closing outing against Cleveland. In the pre-season opener against New Orleans last Saturday, he completed 14 of 18 passes for 198 yards.

Hart may be involved in many losing situations, the Cardinals may feel a need to find a veteran to handle their quarterbacking, but for what it is worth, we rate Hart one of the outstanding quarterbacks in pro-football. He has a superb arm and his long range potential is greater than that of the man he replaces.

KMOX Radio will continue its daily coverage of the Cardinal camp at Lake Forest, Illinois as the Big Red prepare for their first St. Louis appearance against the Baltimore Colts on Monday night.

Hippies Know What Joe Namath Would Say

By Tom Wood

Advertisement appearing in the New York Times' classified section-- "Wanted: Full-time opportunity with metropolitan day nursery. Responsible, mature, middle-age male. Endowed with abundance of patience, expects to leave private sitting position with reliable New York firm, in favor of quietude of large nursery head coach's head office, New York Jets."

Weeb Ewbank, head coach of the Jets, has been bothered, of late, by a meddling in-law. It's New York American Football League team's management, namely one Sonny Werblin, who owns his contract.

Werblin has been dictating training camp rules to Coach Ewbank. Werblin, hailed by some as "broadcasting's greatest promoter and salesman," feels that his adopted child Joe Namath deserves special consideration.

Ewbank, not really the captain Bligh Mr. Werblin might think he is, holds to the old football philosophy-- "What's good for all is good for Joe, too."

And any hippie could tell you whom Diamond Joe, the $400,000 swinger from Beaver Falls is backing.

Namath came to camp in August looking like he's either forgotten his guitar and been misled by an LSD guide, or the barber's union had been on strike all summer.

He was back to earn a living throwing bullets at lean All-American types after an off-season of throwing passes at Miss America types.

Unfortunately, a football training camp doesn't usually qualify for mention in an F. Scott Fitzgerald novel and Joe felt less than content.

Mr. Werblin stood behind his walking bankroll, declaring "Joe is a superstar, and deserves special consideration."

Ewbank still believes Joe ought to stick to the routine and join the in-crowd at the Peekskill camp.

Maybe Ewbank should give up trying to tame a guy that "The Bear" couldn't handle, after all Weeb's just tall enough to look Matt Snell between the hip pads.

Maybe the Saprtan system can survive with a "Show Biz Star" leading the troops out of the locker room every Sunday.

Maybe the Jets will join the Pepsi generation and the management will move training camp to Vegas or even Hollywood next summer.

Maybe Sonny Werblin has achieved his ambition of becoming a "grown-up boy."

And maybe it's a good thing Diamond Jim never played for Frank Leahy. After all, the old Irishman would have a tough time telling the kid to learn to "Pay the Price!"

Joe's already got a cash-green Lincoln Continental, a penthouse pad with a genuine camel skin rug and an Afghan.

And Ewbank's the guy who cut the quarterback named Huarte, whose high school coach one said "he works so hard you have to chase him off the field."

Cheer up, Coach, there still isn't another weak-kneed passer around who can thread a diamond tie-clip from 50 yards out like Namath.

And there might even still be a Santa Claus, but Joe'll tell you five'll get you ten he agrees with Mr. Werblin.

Carew's Replacemen Delivers Pair of Game Winning Hits

Rookie sensation Rod Carew was called into military service late in the season, and Ermer called up Jack Hernandez who played shortstop for him at Denver. Hernandez promptly delivered a couple of game-winning hits.

"He played the best shortstop in the Coast League at Denver," Ermer recalled.

Ermer believes he also has the "fastest 36-year-old catcher in baseball," in a journeyman named Hank Izquierdo, who has been used as a pinch runner. Defensively, though, the Twins are counting day to day on Jerry Zimmerman backed up by veteran Russ Nixon.

The Twins are known for their power, but their big guns are not hitting for percentage. Harmon Killebrew, who has been leading the majors in home runs, nursed a .260 batting average. Former batting champ Tony Oliva was only a little better with six weeks to go, and Bob Allison was fighting to keep around the .250 mark.

Carew and Cesar Tovar were big factors in keeping the Twins close in the early going. Tovar, a slick fielder Zoro Versailles give the Twins excellent coverage at second base.

The Twins figure every team is tough for them, and Ermer's assessment of the league's balance gives an inkling of the reason for the current close race.

"There are no patsies in the American League this year," he said.
