Labor board postpones decision

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The executive director of the Illinois Educational Labor Relations Board jumped the gun when he told union leaders the labor board had decided SIU employees could vote this semester on whether they want to unionize.

The labor board decided to postpone its decision and let the administration respond to motions for an early election on unionization, Robert Perkovich, executive director of the IELRB, said Sunday.

He said the labor board has not set a date for its final decision on the matter.

Perkovich said when he learned of the postponement, the union offices were closed and he could not reach them until Friday.

The motions for an early election were filed by University Professionals of SIU and the Illinois Education Association, the two unions vying to represent SIU employees if they decide to unionize.

Perkovich said he told the unions late Thursday that the labor board had made a decision and University employees would be able to vote this semester on whether they want to unionize.

The chancellor's office issued a news release Friday that said it had been asked to submit its response to the IELRB by Tuesday and that the labor board would consider the University's response at its meeting Thursday.

Gary Kolb, IEA member, said he had concerns about trying to have the election too early.

Union members were expecting a vote in early April after Perkovich's initial statement.

"It might not be possible to hold the election this semester, but I hope it is," Kolb said.

He said votes from overseas employees, which could take as long as a month to be received, needed to be taken into consideration.

Police take hard line on wife abuse

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

Carbondale police are taking a tougher stance toward violent crimes committed in the home.

Under a new policy, police officers will arrest domestic abusers on state charges if they have probable cause to believe a crime has been committed. The couple's domestic violence history will not be a factor in the decision to arrest.

Carbondale policy follows trend

Lt. Tom Busch, who proposed the policy adopted Feb. 11, said the new approach is "definitely more arrest-oriented."

He said the policy emphasizes the criminal aspect of domestic violence and the need to make arrests when probable cause exists.

"It doesn't have to be tremendously strong probable cause, either," Busch said. A bloody

Democrats to pull out all stops for Poshard

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

The Democratic party estimates it will cost at least $450,000 to get state Sen. Glenn Poshard elected to the 22nd District congressional seat.

Congressman Beryl Anthony of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said the party will give Poshard $10,000, and use of equipment, a field staff and media center.

Republicans will funnel more than a half million dollars into the district to get a Republican elected, but Democrats won't allow them to buy a seat, he said.

"We know how much money they (Republicans) have to spend and do spend," Anthony said.

Republicans running for the seat are Peter Prineas and Patrick Kelley, both of Carbondale. Kelley attended the National Republican Congressional Committee's congressional candidate conference in Washington, D.C., in January.

Poshard said he wants to raise $200,000 locally. The remaining $250,000 would come from political action committees and other donations.

Anthony said Poshard, D-Cartersville, currently represents a district that includes about 40 percent of the 22nd Congressional District's population. "Really all he (Poshard) needs to do is to take what he's already done in the past and expand it out a little more," Anthony said.

Anthony, who oversees all 435 congressional races and serves on the House Ways and Means Committee, said he has been fighting in Washington for rural hospitals and a rural health care delivery system.

"Name one issue on the streets, be it old or young, and it will be health — catastrophic health," he said. "There is an absolute fear out there of somebody being forced to go to the hospital or a nursing home and being bankrupt."

"You are a leader in an area that is going to take national leadership to solve," he told Poshard.

Poshard said: "I'm not going to change my agenda just because I'm going to Congress. I want to stay with what I consider to be the basic issues that concern my people in Southern Illinois because those are the same issues that have manifested themselves all over this country, and I have a head start in dealing with those issues."

Illinois' economy mirrors the entire nation's economy, Poshard said. Illinois paid $338 million interest on its debt while the nation spent 14 percent of the national budget on its debt, he

Kidnappers warn against retaliation

TYRE, Lebanon (UPI) — The suspected kidnappers of a Marine officer attached to a U.N. truce observation force warned against U.S. retaliation and battled rival militiamen combing southern Lebanon for the missing American.

U.N. peace-keeping forces and the moderate Shiite Muslim militia Amal continued their relentless search for Lt. Col. William Richard Higgins, 43, who was abducted Wednesday south of the port city of Tyre.

"We are continuing the search in the Tyre area because we believe the captors were keeping the colonel in the region," said a U.N. officer as his troops used police dogs to search the mountainous 300-square-mile district.

In possibly related action, Lebanese security sources said Israeli troops and five tanks stormed a southern Lebanese village just outside Israel's border "security zone" with Lebanon and detained three Shiite Moslems.

The sources said the Israeli unit rolled into the seaside village of Biout Es Siyad, eight miles south of Tyre and four miles south of the coastal area of Ras El Ain, where Higgins was abducted while driving in a U.N. convoy.

The Israeli military could not immediately confirm the report. The security zone was established in 1985 after Israel withdrew most of its troops from Lebanon.

Hezbollah, the pro-Iranian group believed behind Higgins' abduction, said the United States should not attempt any military retaliation or operation to save the Marine. Higgins' kidnapping raised the

Heavy rains drench Rio, hamper rescuers' search

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — Rescuers hampered by drenching thunderstorms Sunday dragged nine bodies from the wreckage of a hillside geriatric hospital partially crushed in a landslide officials say may have killed as many as 70 people. Authorities also warned that widespread flooding in Rio de Janeiro state could cause an epidemic of leptospirosis, an infection of the eyes, liver and kidneys caused by rat urine in flood waters. Officials reported at least nine deaths from the disease and more than 100 people hospitalized, with the numbers expected to increase.

Two Arabs die in Palestinian 'Day of Rage'

DEIR AMMAR, Israeli-occupied West Bank (UPI) — Two Arabs were shot to death Sunday — one possibly by Israeli civilians — in a Palestinian "Day of Rage" against a peace-seeking mission this week by U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz. The deaths brought to at least 59 the number of Palestinians killed since anti-Israeli rioting erupted in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip 10 weeks ago.

Shultz, Soviets talk arms, rights, Afghanistan

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz met Sunday with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze and made progress towards breaking impasses on arms control, human rights and Afghanistan, a State Department spokesman said. Shultz's visit comes as the Geneva talks seeking a reduction in strategic, or long-range, nuclear missiles appear to be making little progress. The two countries had hoped to sign a treaty at an expected Reagan-Gorbachev Moscow summit cutting the total number of missiles by 50 percent.

Tutu condemns bombing, S. African air raid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) -- Archbishop Desmond Tutu in a statement Sunday condemned a terrorist bombing that killed 18 people in Namibia and a "tit-for-tat" South African air raid against guerrilla bases in neighboring Angola. Police and military officials say 18 people died and 31 were seriously injured Friday when a 55 pound bomb exploded in a crowded bank in Oshakati, a military and administrative center near Namibia's northern border with Angola.

Pipeline letter could hurt Peres, officials say

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — State Department officials are concerned that disclosure of a letter from Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres to Attorney General Edwin Meese concerning an Iraqi oil pipeline could inflict serious political damage to the Israeli leader, The Los Angeles Times reported Sunday. U.S. government officials especially are concerned about damaging the foreign minister's status because Peres is widely viewed as the United States' major hope for a breakthrough in Middle East peace efforts, The Times said.

Official defends Israeli treatment of uprising

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin, under fire for his handling of the Palestinian uprising in the Israeli-occupied territories, defended the Israeli policy Sunday of meeting violence by violence. Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, considered to be among Israel's more moderate leaders, dodged questions about the recent killings of Palestinians by Israeli soldiers and repeated his call for an international peace conference to end more than two months of unrest.

Dukakis, Bush take first place in Texas poll

HOUSTON (UPI) — Vice President George Bush has re-established himself as the prohibitive front-runner and Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis has captured the lead among Democrats in a poll of Texas voters published Sunday. The poll, conducted for the Houston Chronicle by two University of Houston political scientists, gave Bush the support of 66 percent of those surveyed who said they planned to vote in the March 8 Texas Republican primary.

County urged to end graveyard segregation

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — County commissioners will be asked Tuesday to restore a weed-infested, all-black cemetery to the manicured condition of the adjacent white cemetery and to tear down the fence that separates the two. The Rogers Cemetery, where many of Manatee county's black residents have been interred since the late 19th century, and the adjacent Fogartyville Cemetery, a final resting place for whites, both are private burial grounds.

Festival ends artistically

By Edward Rahe
Staff Writer

Groups from 17 countries performed native music and dance numbers to a capacity audience in Shryock Auditorium Sunday, bringing a colorful ending to International Festival '88.

The Cultural Show began with a fast-paced Japanese drum performance by a group of Japanese youths from St. Louis, sponsored by the Japanese Student Association.

"The Discovery of America" by the Latin American Students' Association included a series of high energy dances from the Mayan period to a colorfully-choreographed rendition of "La Bamba".

The Cultural Show was the climax of activities for the week-long International Festival in which 24 foreign student associations representing nearly 100 countries took part.

The festival was organized and sponsored by the International Student Council and co-sponsored by International Programs and Services, the Student Center and the SIU Foundation.

The Cultural Show was the climax of activities for the week-long International Festival in which 24 foreign student organizations representing nearly 100 different countries took part.

Festivities began last Tuesday with the grand-opening ceremony at the Student Center.

International artifacts were displayed over the weekend in the Student Center International lounge.

Other events included an international sports exhibition Friday at the Student Recreation Center, an international fashion show Saturday evening at the Student Center and an international buffet Sunday afternoon.

"It (the festival) was and eye-opener in that people who come from so many different customs, so many different worlds, could work together to put together a program that has effected positively the seven or eight thousand people that have come to visit us."

Fabian De Roza, president of the International Student Council and administrator of the festival, said.

American Indian dancers from the American Indian Center of St. Louis took part in this year's activities. This was the first time American Indians were represented.

"The overall picture of the festival is the sharing of cultures, and we're here to do the same thing." Dick "Iron Foot" Lees of the American Indian Center said.

"If everybody would take the opportunity to try and understand the different cultures regardless of whether it is from another country or community within the area you live, you can learn to accept them and their culture, then you've embraced another group of people," Lees said.

Placement offers job hunting help

By Steven Starke
Staff Writer

Sometimes it's a matter of who you know to get the job you're looking for but more often than not it takes patience, hard work and determination. A little help doesn't hurt either.

The University Placement Center, located on the second floor of Woody Hall, may be that helping hand. The center provides services on career decision making and job search strategies for undergraduate and graduate students and alumni.

"The office doesn't actually place students in jobs, but serves as a mediator or facilitator to hook students up with potential jobs," Richard E. Gray, placement center director, said. "The student is the only one who can get the job".

Services available to students include consultation to assist with development of job search skills. Workshops in resume writing and interviewing skills are offered free of charge.

Students also are given access to bulletins that list weekly job openings and to occupational literature and other material in the placement center library to assist students in researching possible job environments.

For a $15 fee, students can register with the center for credential mailing, referral, and campus interviewing privileges.

On-campus interviews with recruiters also are open to students whose qualifications match the needs of visiting employers.

Official: company's loan to create 50 jobs

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

The $150,000 Carbondale loaned to Uly-Pak Inc. is likely to create 50 jobs for the city, company president Keith Howard said.

The city is financing the loan with a state grant.

Howard said Uly-Pak, which manufactures plastic bags, has begun training 15 new employees since expansion began in November. The company now plans to train two to three new employees each week.

"This is another important piece of the puzzle we're trying to put together," Howard said at a news conference Friday after Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs officials announced the grant.

Orlen Wallace, chairman of the Carbondale Industrial Corp., said the jobs the grant will provide are just one of the benefits Carbondale and the surrounding area may receive from Uly-pak's expansion.

The state's Community Development Assistance Program awarded Carbondale the money to loan to Uly-Pak for seven years at a 5-percent annual interest rate. When the loan is repaid, the money will be placed in a revolving loan account for other new or expanding businesses to use.

Other businesses that have received loans under the program include Jeremiah's Restaurant and American Resources Group in Carbondale.

Frank Moreno, director of Economic Development for Carbondale, said too little money has been repaid into the account for a second round of loans to be given out. But, he added, there is no deadline to reuse the loan money.

Howard said Uly-Pak will use the loan money to expand its current 20,000-square-foot building to 50,000 square feet, and to build a 20,000-square-foot warehouse and a two-story addition to the south side of the existing building.

The addition would expand employee facilities and offices on the ground floor and provide a room on the second floor for medical drape production.

Uly-Pak, located at 800 Industrial Park Road, also has received $700,000 from the Carbondale Industrial Corp., which owns the Carbondale Industrial Park. The money will be used to construct a building the company will lease.

End voter apathy: the choice is yours

THE ILLINOIS PRIMARY will be during spring break, but students don't have to sacrifice their voting privileges to sunbathe in Florida or to visit their families.

Simply by filling out an absentee ballot request form, available at a table in the Student Center from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. today, students can ensure their vote will be counted.

While we're on the topic of voting, it's appropriate to mention the coming student elections. The Undergraduate Student Organization is looking to an election day sometime in April, and we strongly urge participation.

THERE ARE SOME, however, who don't care if their votes are counted because they go through life operating on the erroneous assumption that "my vote won't really matter."

Of course not. With such self-defeating attitudes, it wouldn't matter if these misguided people had a hundred votes per person. They'd manage to dream up some flimsy excuse for not exercising the right to suffrage so many battles were fought to secure.

In the 1960 presidential election, the race was so close that with just a few more votes in each Illinois precinct, Richard Nixon could have defeated John Kennedy.

SOME AMERICANS WHO don't vote contend that there's no candidate worth electing. Maybe the real problem lies with the voters and not the candidates. It may require a little effort to look beyond the candidates' slick propaganda to their records and stances on issues, but it's worth the work. The chief beauty of democracy is that there's always a choice, and the better informed voters are, the better equipped they are to make the right decisions.

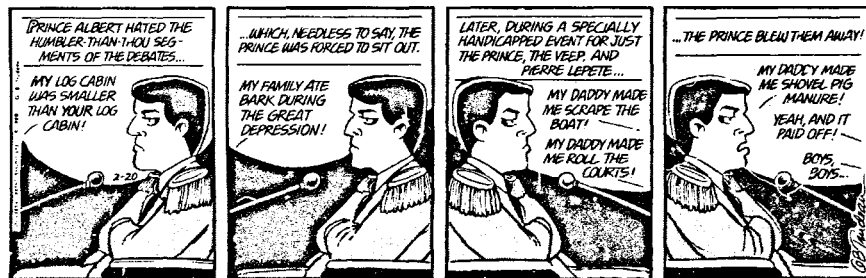

The LaRouchites, followers of right-wing extremist Lyndon LaRouche, were able to embarrass the Democratic party in Illinois with unexpected victories in the 1984 primaries — largely because of the apathy of uninformed voters.

NON-VOTERS ALSO may be discouraged by the complexity of elections, especially when talk of delegates and the electoral college is heard. But these people should remember the words of Sir Winston Churchill, a man well acquainted with the terrors that can result from allowing the wrong people to seize power.

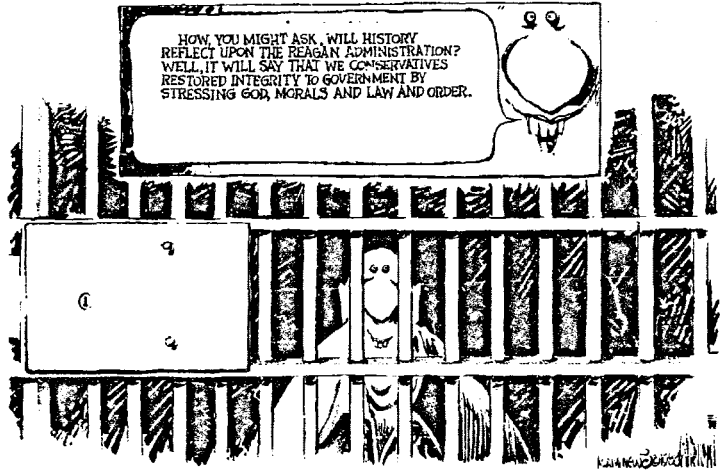

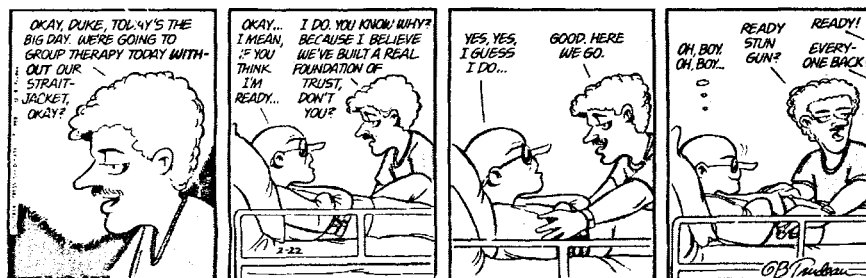

"Democracy is the worst system devised by the wit of man," Churchill said, "except for all the others."

So the next time you hear people saying their votes wouldn't matter anyway, remind them the choice is yours.

Letters

"Motel Hell" critic closed minded

To John Taylor, who wrote the letter about the "unbelievably evil" film, "Motel Hell," and commented that the writers and producers of the film should be "institutionalized for life":

My dear closed-minded, unconstitutional, easily-offended, happy-to-say non-acquaintance, you are the one who should be put away.

It is people like you who burn books and cut films that they find offensive. Look around you, sir. There happen to be a lot of people inhabiting this planet other than yourself, and

I do not see how you possibly can feel you have the right to make decisions for any human being other than yourself. Do you honestly believe your opinion is that much greater than mine?

I am fed up with whiny people like yourself who voice their obnoxious opinions every time something offends them, trying to get their way and make the world a better place to live in. Well, I am happy to say that I do not live in your world, nor do I condescend to your petty ideas about censhorship. It is one thing to say that a film, book or work of art is bad, but it is quite another thing to suggest that the work should be destroyed, or not be shown to anyone else just because you did not find it to your taste.

Go crawl back in your little shell, and don't bother us with your opinions unless you have something worthwhile to say, and can say it with a little respect to the people who have to listen to your tripe. — Scott Hille, sophomore, Cinematography.

Morris Library must be top fiscal priority

The editorial in the Feb. 11 Daily Egyptian was a particularly profound one for the future of the University.

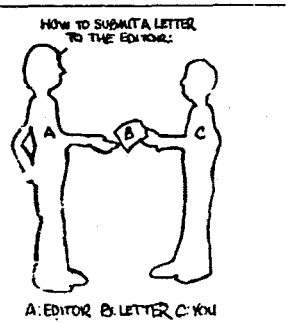

The editors hit the nail right on the head by pointing out how the SIU-C administration frequently pours money into cosmetic changes rather than trying to improve the academic climate of the University. The admissions Reception Center is an excellent case in point. While Morris Library continually is forced to tighten its belt, SIU-C spent a sizable amount of money on a public-relations center to entice students to come to a university already bursting at the seams! Wouldn't it be nice if students chose SIU-C because of strong academic programs and a "world-class library?"

Morris Library benefits everyone at SIU-C, and therefore should be given top priority for funding in both good economic years and bad.

The library is the lifeblood of the University, and slighting its needs is no way to strengthen the academic image of SIU-C.

I hope the administration has not completely lost touch with the importance of academics and scholarship at SIU-C, and will stand up and do what is necessary to protect Morris Library, the University's key resource. — Michael Madigan, associate professor of microbiology nose or black eye would qualify as sufficient probable cause for arrest of a domestic abuser, he added.

"There are not necessarily more reports of domestic violence and the law has not changed substantially, but our approach will," Busch said. "You'll see more arrests and prosecutions. We recognize domestic violence as a crime and will treat it as such."

He said the stringent approach may deter potential offenders.

"We will be making more arrests and hopefully word will get out," Busch said.

Busch proposed the policy after attending a regional seminar in St. Louis on police policy toward domestic violence in December 1987. The seminar was sponsored by national and regional law enforcement agencies that advocate strict enforcement of criminal codes in relation to domestic violent crime.

Busch said police departments around the country are adopting strict policies to deal with domestic violence.

"Just because two people are husband and wife doesn't mean they can hit each other. That's a battery," Busch said. "It's as illegal as a fight on the Strip, and it won't be tolerated within city limits."

"Some (people) may be recent but if a violent crime occurs we have a responsibility to investigate," Busch said. "It is a violation of state law and it would be extremely dangerous if we didn't investigate."

The Illinois Domestic Violence Act of 1983 classifies any criminal violence between family or household members, including violence between unmarried, divorced or separated couples, as domestic violence.

"You don't have to be living together or married to be considered an offender," Busch said.

The new policy replaced a more lenient policy adopted in 1983.

Busch said under the former policy, domestic violence usually was approached as a "family fight," and police would "temporarily diffuse the hostility."

"There would usually be hugs and kisses by the time we'd leave," he said, but added that ignoring the problem is not right.

"Domestic violence has the characteristic of escalating — it tends to be more violent as it is repeated," Busch said. "Not calling the police tends to reinforce it.

"It can escalate to domestic homicide, which is not that uncommon," he said.

"Domestic violence is a serious crime against the individual and society," Busch said. "It culminates in an unhealthy atmosphere to bring up children and is destructive for all in the family."

Local police follow trend

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

The Carbondale Police Department's new arrest-oriented policy toward domestic violence is indicative of a national trend by enforcement agencies to curtail domestic violence in their communities.

"The number of departments that have specific policies for domestic violence definitely is on the upswing," Lt. Tom Busch said.

Busch proposed Carbondale's new policy after attending a Dec. 1987 Seminar that emphasized punishment of domestic violence offenders.

The seminar was sponsored by the Victim Service Agency, the National Association of Chiefs of Police and the U.S. Department of Justice. Busch said the participation of so many groups indicates the support of the tougher policy.

A Jan. 1986 report by the Crime Control Institute said 48 of the 173 largest U.S. cities have changed their policies or trained their personnel to combat domestic violence. Forty-seven departments have arrest-oriented policies similar to Carbondale's, the report said.

Recent studies indicate that arrest is an effective deterrent against repeated domestic violence.

A study in Minneapolis by Lawrence W. Sherman, a University of Maryland criminology professor, showed only 19 percent of people prosecuted for domestic violence repeated their offenses within six months. Thirty-five percent of the unpunished subjects became repeat offenders.

Busch said domestic violence may result in homicide if it is not dealt with.

According to a study by Kansas City police, 90 percent of spouse killings occurred in homes to which the police had been called in the two previous years. Police were called over five times in half the cases.

Statistics compiled nationwide indicate that one-third of female homicide victims in 1984 were killed by spouses or lovers.

Police Blotter

Two men were hospitalized with major injuries and cited for driving under the influence of alcohol following an accident at the intersection of East Walnut and Washington streets at 2:28 a.m. Sunday, Carbondale police said.

Freddie L. Wills, 45, of Culp, Ill., was taken to St. Louis University Hospital and Brian J. Husted, 28, of Sherman, Ill., was admitted to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale. No further information could be obtained from the hospitals.

Police found a loaded handgun in Wills' pants and charged him with unlawful use of a weapon.

A glass door on the northeast corner of Life Science I was reported shattered Thursday evening, according to Security Police reports.

A building services worker reported the damage, estimated at $300, at 6:30 p.m. Police do not know what was used to break the door.

A burglar stole $300 in currency and property from the residence of Gary Gischer, 18, at 516 S. Rawlings St. between Friday night and Saturday afternoon, Carbondale police said.

Mercy killing essay in journal prompts a legal, medical debate

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dr. George Lundberg is going to court to protect his right of confidentiality, but the noted physician is not trying to protect a patient; he's trying to protect a source — in this case, a physician who killed a patient.

As editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Lundberg is the person who ultimately decided to print "It's Over, Debbie," an unsigned essay in which a doctor admitted the mercy killing of a young woman dying of ovarian cancer.

Lundberg says he published the piece to spark debate about euthanasia. There has been less debate than outrage, however, and the article has turned from an ethical issue to a legal one.

A Cook County grand jury subpoena was issued last week for all AMA records concerning the Jan. 8 article, including the author's cover letter, the original manuscript and any pertinent memos or staff notes.

But the AMA contends Lundberg does not have to comply with the subpoena because he has the right and obligation as a journalist to protect his sources.

Kirk Johnson, the AMA's general counsel, is expected to file papers with the county Circuit Court Monday to quash the subpoena, citing the Illinois Reporters Privilege Act and First Amendment protections.

"We view the basic author-editor-reviewer relationship as just like the doctor-patient, lawyer-client, priest-confessor or reporter-source relationship," Lundberg says. "There is a fundamental confidentiality there that must be protected."

The Illinois act provides for such protection, stating that "no court may compel any person to disclose the source of any information obtained by a reporter" unless the information cannot be obtained otherwise and disclosure is essential to the public interest.

But whether the AMA is covered under the act is a matter to be determined in court as well, probably in the next two weeks. Doctors, lawyers and journalists all have an interest in how it turns out.

"This raises some absolutely terrific questions," says Geoffrey Stone, dean of the University of Chicago law school. "Questions, by the way, that have no answers right now. This case will determine them."

The question of whether the editor of a scientific journal is a journalist at all is the one that seems to interest journalists the most.

Many reporters covering the continuing controversy are troubled by the fact that neither Lundberg nor anyone else at the journal made any attempt to verify the account they published.

"We function with the assumption that the authors are not liars," Lundberg says, while emphasizing the essay was worth publishing even if it turns out to have been hypothetical. But hypothetical stories, though they may win Pulitzer Prizes, are frowned upon in the journalism community.

"If we would have gotten an essay like that from somebody claiming to have committed a murder, I'm sure we would try to verify it," says Howard Wolinsky, medical reporter for the Chicago Sun-Times. "There would be no reason for us to run it just as an educational exercise."

Wolinsky, whose paper has paid close attention to the controversy, says he's also concerned that the AMA has made it clear it will reveal the doctor's identity under a valid court order.

"They're saying to this guy, we're going to protect you up to a point, but if we lose we're going to turn you in," Wolinsky says. "It seems like they are trying to play the journalists game but they are not playing by journalist rules."

"All it means is the American Medical Association will obey the law of the United States of America and believes in the judicial process," Lundberg counters. "I don't find that at all in conflict with the fact that we would seek to exercise the protections allowed us."

Transplant program adds infant with brain defects

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (UPI) — Baby Evelyn, missing most of her brain when she was born, was on life-support systems Sunday at Loma Linda University Medical Center while doctors waited to see if her organs might be transplanted into other babies. If the infant, born early Saturday in San Antonio, is declared brain dead within seven days and one or more of her organs is successfully transplanted, it will be the first time a controversial procedure has been used involving an anencephalic baby born in the United States.

Hospital spokeswoman Anita Kockwell said doctors were carefully monitoring Evelyn's condition Sunday and had noted no immediate changes.

The baby's arrival at Loma Linda Saturday came hours after another baby born with the same fatal defect was declared dead after a worldwide search failed to find recipients for his organs.

John, like Evelyn, was born with only a brain stem. He was declared brain dead

Thursday, two days after his birth, but had been kept alive on a respirator as doctors searched for infants needing a heart or liver.

Rockwell said a worldwide search failed to find a recipient for the infant's heart or liver.

"Out of respect for the brain-dead infant and with the consent of his mother, Dr. Joyce Peabody removed artificial life support from Baby John," Rockwell said. The infant's heart stopped beating at 2:15 p.m.

Evelyn, born at Wilford Hall "Surgical Center in San Antonio, is the daughter of Airman First Class Aaron Todd Keys, 21, of Gastonia, N.C., and his wife, Judy, 22, of Houston.

The baby arrived at Loma Linda shortly after 8 p.m. PST Saturday aboard a chartered airplane, Rockwell said.

MacNaughton said the couple, stationed at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, learned in the 15th week of her pregnancy that their first child would be born anencephalic but decided against an abortion.

Swaggart confesses his sin to all, steps down

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Television evangelist Jimmy Swaggart, who helped topple PTL preacher Jim Bakker from power by exposing his sexual encounter with Jessica Hahn, asked forgiveness Sunday for his own sin of moral failure and stepped down from the pulpit for "an indeterminate period."

Swaggart's action followed reports the Assemblies of God denomination, based in Springfield, Mo., was studying charges by rival Louisiana preacher Marvin Gorman that Swaggart was seen with a prostitute.

In an emotion-charged, 20-minute confession to some 7,000 followers at his Family Worship Center on the sprawling campus of Jimmy Swaggart World Ministries, Swaggart individually begged forgiveness from his wife, Frances, his family, the church, followers throughout the world "and most of all, my lord and my savior, my redeemer."

His appeals for forgiveness evoked uncontrolled sobbing and several standing ovations from the packed congregation. Comparing his time of trial to that of the biblical David of 3,000 years ago, Swaggart read from Psalm 51:

"Have mercy on me, O God, according to thy loving kindness; according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions.

"Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.

"For I acknowledge my transgressions; and my sin is ever before me."

Bill Askins, a worshipper standing at the back of the center with a Bible under his arm, called the moment a victory for Swaggart over Satan.

"That's the bravest thing I ever saw," Askins said. "It's going to separate the wheat from the chaff."

Swaggart did not go into detail about his sin, nor did he challenge media reports he had been seen leaving a motel room with a prostitute, or that there were photographs. He said the media had been fair, objective "and even compassionate" in its reports.

"I do not plan to whitewash my sin. I do not call it a mistake or a mendacity. It is a sin," Swaggart said.

Forrest Hall, secretary-treasurer of the Louisiana District of the Assemblies of God, read a statement before Swaggart spoke. He said the evangelist already had made a detailed confession to the church, his wife and his family of "specific incidents of moral failure."

He urged Swaggart and the members of the church to not respond to any questions about the matter, and to refrain from speculation and imagination. "This is a church matter," he said, drawing strong applause.

Hall's message indicated Swaggart would receive more lenient treatment than Bakker, taking note of his 28 years of service to the Assemblies of God and the facts of his open confession.

"In the opinion of the officers of the Louisiana District," Hall said, "he has shown true humility and repentance and has not tried to blame anyone else for his failure."

Hall said district officials had a duty to determine appropriate disciplinary procedures after a hearing, but with the recognition "the underlying principle involved in discipline is redemptive ... and that justice can sometimes be best served with mercy."

"I will step out of this pulpit for an indeterminate period of time, and we will leave that in the hands of the Lord," Swaggart said.

He said the ministry would continue under the leadership of the Louisiana District Council of the Assemblies of God.

Gorman, who the Assemblies of God has not confirmed as the source of the allegations against Swaggart, is a former preacher in that denomination who now runs a storefront ministry in New Orleans.

Son of former leader to return to Egypt to face conspiracy trial

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — The eldest son of the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser, in statements published Sunday, said he will return to Cairo from Yugoslavia soon to face charges he helped a group that attacked U.S. Israeli citizens.

Last week Khaled Abdel Nasser was among 11 Egyptians indicted in Cairo on charges in connection with attacks against Israeli and U.S. Embassy workers between 1984 and 1987 that killed two Israelis.

Nasser, 38, is charged with financing and supplying arms to the underground group that allegedly launched the attacks.

His father led a 1952 revolt that overturned Egypt's monarchy. The elder Nasser later became Egypt's second president and was the nation's leader between 1954 and 1970. He propagated Arab unity and the struggle against Israel and U.S. imperialism.

The Egyptian Bar Association, meanwhile, rallied to the defense of Nasser and the association's leader said Egyptians act in self-defense when they kill Israelis.

And in Egypt's capital an unknown woman claimed, in a telephone call to an opposition newspaper, that the underground group will launch new operations soon.

Egypt's top prosecutor has demanded the death penalty for Nasser and 10 other men on charges of forming the underground group Egypt's Revolution that claimed responsibility for four separate attacks against Israeli and U.S. personnel between June 1984 and May 1987. Two Israelis were killed in the attacks and five Israelis and two Americans were wounded.

Nasser, in a statement published by the pro-Nasser newspaper Sawt Al-Arab, or Voice of the Arabs, said he will return to Cairo once the Egypt's Revolution trial begins.

The trial of the 11 men by a State Security Court, and for nine others accused of aiding and abetting them, is expected to begin in about two months.

number of foreign hostages held in Lebanon to 23, including nine Americans.

"Threats and outrages from Washington have been increasing since the abduction of the American officer, Higgins, in southern Lebanon," said Hezbollah in a statement released in Beirut.

"We warn the American administration against making any stupid action against our people. ... America is not allowed back in this country," said Hezbollah, which contests Amal's control of southern Lebanon.

The underground Organization of the Oppressed on Earth, identified by terrorist experts as one of several factions linked to Iran, has claimed responsibility for the Higgins abduction and accused the Marine of being a CIA spy.

Higgins is the head of the 75-member U.N. Truce Supervision Organization, which oversees truces among Middle East nations. He arrived in Lebanon in June after serving for two years as a junior assistant on the staff of former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

Supremacist testified in court: racist leaders urged men to kill

FORT SMITH, Ark. (UPI) — A white supremacist is to resume testifying today about a 1983 summit meeting of racists who exhorted their supporters to kill judges, politicians, blacks and Jews and stick their heads in "Aryan warrior tote bags."

Dale Strange testified Friday that at the Aryan Nations Congress in Hayden Lake, Idaho, white supremacist leaders called the federal government illegal and said it did not uphold the U.S. Constitution.

Strange said one of the leaders, James Ellison, head of The Covenant, and the Sword and the Arm of the Lord, of Mountain Home, Ark., warned that the discussion amounted to treason.

Ellison is expected to testify this week as the government's key witness.

Strange said most of the speeches at the congress were impassioned and racist.

He said the discussion included talk of "Aryan warrior tote bags" to hold the heads of murdered judges, politicians and minorities.

The federal trial involves 10 white supremacists charged with seditious conspiracy. One of the 10 and four others are also charged with plotting to kill a federal judge and an FBI agent, and two are also charged with interstate transportation of stolen money.

Michael Martin, a student-journalist who with fellow student Anne Russell conducted interviews at the Hayden Lake compound in 1983, testified Friday that Louis Beam Jr., former grand dragon of the Texas Ku Klux Klan, told him the government would be overthrown and a new constitution in place by 1989.

Strange said much of the talk at the 1983 meeting centered on unifying white supremacist groups, with Beam, who is also on trial, discussing a nationwide computer network to coordinate various white supremacist groups.

Russell testified that Beam referred to the U.S. government as an "illegal, criminal regime."

Martin and Russell also testified Friday that Beam told of a point system to reward members who killed the movement's enemies.

'Crackpots for Christ' await apocalypse

GARY, Ind. (UPI) — A dozen members of a church congregation still were holed up Sunday, waiting for a tornado to strike down all but the righteous.

For seven weeks, the believers have been hunkered down in the Repairers of the Breach Church of God in Christ. They are waiting for a tornado that was foretold by Annie Sims, the wife of Elder M.S. Sims.

She predicted the apocalyptic tornado would come Jan. 3 but then changed that prediction to January 24th. Church members say the fact that the tornado has not appeared only means God is giving people more time to repent.

Elder M.S. Sims said the tornado will come as a vengeance from God.

"...a whole 'nother side to God," said Sims, thumbing through his battered Bible to prove his point. "Sure God is good, and he is loving. He is all those things, but he is also a jealous God, just and vengeful.

"That's what this tornado is about. We believe the whole world will be affected by this and this is going to wake them up," Sims said. "Yeah, this will get their attention."

Sims quotes a verse from the Old Testament: "The Lord revengeth and is furious; the Lord will take vengeance on his adversaries and reserve wrath for his enemies."

Kaufmann, a 6-foot forward who was Ms. Basketball in Illinois for 1987, came off the bench and sparked her team. In a three-minute span, she hit four baskets, including a three-point field goal that pulled the Redbirds within four, 65-61 at 5:52.

"We handled their pressure for a while," Scott said. "But when Kaufmann hit those two buckets, we certainly lost our composure."

Illino's State put five players into double figures. Susan Wellman had 18, Pam Tanner 13, Amber Lindbeck 12, and Leslie Ferrell 12. Yet it was Kaufmann's 13 points that was the difference late.

"Jill (Hutchison) told me that my role is to give the team a spark," Kaufmann said.

The Illinois State press continued to give SIU-C fits. Reserve Shannon Fulton stole the ball off the press and sent Tanner for an easy basket that tied the score at 71 with 2:42 left. The partisan Illinois State crowd came to its feet on the play and Scott called her fourth time out.

"We started to play a little shaky when they threw the press on us," Saluki forward Mary Berghuis said. "We got mixed up. There was so much noise that we were communicating on the court, but we just couldn't hear each other."

Up to that point, it had been Berghuis and Bridgett Bonds who dominated. "Berghuis and Bonds? Lord, we couldn't stop those two," Hutchison said.

Berghuis scored a career-high 26 points on 11 of 15 shooting. She was instrumental in building the 11-point lead. With 15 minutes left, Berghuis took a Cathy Kampwerth pass for a weak side layin that put the Salukis ahead by eight, the largest lead up to that point of the game.

Bonds, coming off a bout with the flu, finished with 16 points and six rebounds. Her free throw at :30 pulled SIU-C within two, 77-75, and set up the last series of plays.

After Illinois State missed a free throw, Bonds got the ball in the low post and attempted a shot at :15. But Ferrell stuck with Bonds and swatted the ball away for her third blocked shot of the game. The Salukis then kicked the loose ball out of bounds.

"Bridgett was tired. Maybe I went with her more than I should have," Scott said. "I called one time out just to let her catch her breath."

Deanna Sanders intentionally fouled Tanner, who then made only one free throw. With nine seconds left and Illinois State up by three, Tonda Seals (13 points) attempted a three-point field goal. She missed and Berghuis grabbed the long rebound.

Berghuis' rebound basket from 10 feet was good at :02. The Salukis were a point short as time expired.

Women's track team sets 3 records at Champaign

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

The women's track team set three school records at the Illinois Invitational in Champaign this weekend.

"We probably had the best meet of our year," Coach Don DeNoon said.

Freshman Danielle Sciano won the 600-meter run in a record-breaking 1 minute, 35.47 seconds. She was the only Saluki to win an individual event.

The 4 X 800 relay team of Vivian Sinou, Lisa Judiscak, Jane Schumacher and Rosanne Vincent set a record of 9:13.77 to finish second. The record has been broken three times this season by three running combinations.

"The 4 X 800 relay team really ran well," DeNoon said. "We'll run a different combination in conference and I still think we can run even faster."

The 4 X 800 relay team of Vivian Sinou, Lisa Judiscak, Jane Schumacher and Rosanne Vincent set a record of 9:13.77 to finish second. The record has been broken three times this season by three running combinations.

Vincent broke her record in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:13.64. Though a personal best, Vincent's time only put her at third. Vincent, who was out with injuries for most of the indoor season, set her previous record Feb. 13 at the Golden Shoe Invitational in Madison, Wis.

Judiscak placed fifth in the mile with 4:55.13. She improved her career-best time by six seconds.

Dora Kyriacou placed fourth in the 400-meter dash with a personal-best 56.91.

Beverly Klett placed fourth in the high jump, going 5 feet, 5 inches.

Sinou placed fifth in the 3,000 meter with 9:55.64. "Vivian is running fatigued. She ran the 4 X 800 and the 3,000 and then came back to run the mile," DeNoon said.

Brenda Beatty, who finished third in the triple jump at 36-8, is coming alive just in time for the Feb. 26-27 conference meet, DeNoon said.

The 4 X 400 relay team of Vincent, Danielle Sciano, Michelle Sciano and Felecia Veal finished in third with 3:56.09.

"Andy Pettigrew still hasn't gotten quite back," Cornell said. "We're still not really sure what he's capable of doing."

The mile relay team of Kevin Steele, Billie King, Erick Pegues and Garrett won the event with a time of 3:16.86.

Brian Bradley placed second in the long jump at 24-9 1/4.

"Brian Bradley had a real good series in the long jump," Cornell said. "He had five jumps over 24 feet and is favored to win the conference."

Demetris Theocharous finished fifth in the high jump with a leap of 6-10 1/4. "He beat all the favorites for the conference championships except for Tom Smith (of Eastern Illinois)," Cornell said. Smith won the event at 7-3 1/4.

Shane Weber placed sixth in the pole vault with a jump of 15-6 1/4.

Eric Bomball placed seventh in the shot-put at 53-5. He also finished fifth in the 35-pound weight at 52-4.

"We had our ups and downs in the meet," Cornell said.

By Jeff Grieser
Staff Writer

The odds were against the Wild Dogs hockey club when it took to the ice to battle Washington University at the St. Louis Arena.

The Thursday night game was close for the first 25 minutes before the more experienced Washington team took over and defeated the weary Dogs 8-2.

Scott Brydges got the Dogs off on the right foot when he scored the game's first goal midway through the first period. The club fought its way through the rest of the opening period, which ended at 1-1.

It was downhill after that. The Dogs lost a key player when star defenseman Tony Krause dislocated his shoulder in the opening minutes of the second period. Krause was injured when he was run into the boards and then ended on the bottom of a pile of players. A St. Louis Blues trainer who examined Krause said Krause's shoulder was injured enough to keep him out of the game.

Scott Jeffreys was involved in a rumble with a Washington player and missed the last 10 minutes of the period.

Despite struggling early, the Dogs managed to tie the game at 2-2 in the second period on a goal by newcomer Michael Tauber. The goal was Tauber's second since joining the team.

"It was great to score a goal on professional ice," Tauber said. "It was definitely a big thrill."

Washington University scored its third goal soon afterward and didn't let up.

"They're (Washington) much more conditioned than we are," goalie Darren Kohlenberger said. "It was a great experience for us, though, and we shouldn't be ashamed of the way we played."

Wild Dogs general manager Wade Farrell said he was pleased with the fans' reactions.

"It was nice to hear some cheers for once," Farrell said. "Everybody on the team was glad to see the turnout."

More than 140 fans from SIUC were at the St. Louis Arena to cheer on the Dogs and then to watch the Blues defeat the Los Angeles Kings, 7-4, in an NHL game after the Dogs' battle.

It took a while for the Salukis to get started. NIU jumped out to an 11-4 lead as guard Randy Norman scored nine of the Huskies' first 11 points.

The Salukis took a 19-18 lead on two straight baskets off offensive rebounds by Saluki center Dave Busch. The Salukis never trailed after that.

The Huskies tied the game at 27 with five minutes left in the half but then Saluki guard Steve Middleton exploded. He scored 10 points in the next 1:40 to put the Salukis up 39-29.

"It took me a while to get started," Middleton said. "I came out and had a few turnovers but then I got into the flow."

NIU pulled within 43-37 by halftime.

In the second half, the Salukis extended their lead to 79-61. The Huskies were able to come within 82-74 with 1:36 but could not come any closer. After missing free throws to allow the Huskies back into the game, the Salukis hit 10 straight down the stretch.

"It was a game that we got to be able to win," Saluki forward Randy House said. "We did that and that's the bottom line."

The Salukis outrebounded the Huskies, who average eight more rebounds per game than their opponents, 49-48.

Middleton scored a game-high 28 points. He also grabbed 17 rebounds and dished out seven assists.

House had 23 points, nine rebounds and five assists. Kai Nurnberger had 21 points, six rebounds and six assists.

"We got nice play from a lot of people," Herrin said. "Nurnberger, Middleton and House all moved the ball very well and hit the open man. Dave Busch played a good ballgame. He's making progress."

Busch scored a career-high nine points, grabbed eight rebounds and blocked two shots in 20 minutes.

Salukis step over Huskies, 92-84

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

It wasn't a conference win but the Salukis will take it.

The men's basketball team beat its upstate rival, Northern Illinois, 92-84, Saturday night at the Arena.

The Salukis took advantage of the rescheduled contest to build some momentum going into their final three Valley games. The game was scheduled for Dec. 19 but was postponed when the referees failed to show.

The referees made the game this time, enabling the Salukis to avoid what was originally scheduled to be a nine-day layoff.

"It turned out to be a very favorable move as far as playing a game at this time," Coach Rich Herrin said. "If we hadn't gotten to play it would have been very tough next week."

The Salukis improved to 10-14 overall. NIU dropped to 6-18.

Ron Harrer qualifies

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

If at first you don't succeed ...try, try again.

For six weeks, members of the men's track team have been trying to qualify for the national indoor championships.

At the Illinois Invitational in Champaign this weekend, Ron Harrer did it and Bret Garrett came oh so close.

Harrer qualified in the 35-pound weight with a throw of 62 feet 3 inches. His first-place throw, a 2-foot improvement on his season best, was well above the national qualifying standard of 60-8 3/4.

"He's (Harrer) feeling awfully happy," Coach Bill Cornell said.

"I was pretty close (to qualifying) last year," Harrer said. "I felt I had a pretty good chance (this year)."

Harrer also placed third in the shot put with a personal best throw of 55-0 3/4. "I felt real well," he said. "After qualifying in the (35-pound) weight, I was on cloud nine and it carried me over in the shot."

Garrett just missed qualifying in the 800-meter run by two-hundredths of a second. "I was just sick," Cornell said. "You can't even snap your fingers that fast."

Garrett, who came in third with a time of 1 minute, 50.52 seconds, said: "I was pretty surprised because I thought I had it. I was kind of mad and excited at the same time.

"I really didn't run my race," he said. "I ran everybody else's but mine."

Garrett has two more chances to qualify, at the Missouri Valley Championships Feb. 26-27 at Illinois State and at the Florida Fast Times Invitational March 5.

The national championships will be March 11-12 in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Garrett is certain he will qualify. "I will very definitely. I'm positive I'll qualify in the next two meets. I'll do whatever it takes," he said.

Andy Pettigrew, who tried to qualify in the mile, placed fifth with a time of 4:11.76.

Women's basketball falls to Redbirds by 1

NORMAL — The coronation of the Gateway Conference crown won Illinois State is only a formality now.

Bolestered by a risky and often erratic full-court press, Illinois State survived eight ties and ten lead changes and edged the SIU-C women's basketball team 78-77. The loss dashes any hope the Salukis had of capturing a third consecutive regular season conference title.

Because of Eastern Illinois' victory over Indiana State, Illinois State has sole command of first at 17-7 overall and 13-3 in the conference with only Bradley and Western Illinois left on its schedule. SIU-C (16-9, 12-5) fell to fourth.

"I don't think we gave it away," Coach Cindy Scott said. "But we sure gave them the opportunity. Our kids played their hearts out but they didn't think during the last seven minutes."

Saturday's Horton Field House crowd of 1,632 saw Illinois State come back from an 11-point deficit midway through the second half on the strength of its man-to-man pressure that forced 16 SIU-C turnovers.

"I really feel we were fortunate," Illinois State coach Jill Hutchison said. "For 35 minutes Southern outplayed us. I was disappointed we couldn't get into a full-court game earlier. But our press caused them to turn the ball over a few times and that gave us momentum."

Frenchman skis to glory; Polish hockey player expelled

CALGARY, Alberta (UPI) — A surprising Frenchman returned lost alpine skiing glory to his country Sunday and a Polish hockey player brought dishonor to his nation on a day when springlike weather again disrupted the Winter Olympics.

Uncharacteristically mild conditions, with downtown temperatures climbing into the 50s for the second straight day, softened the bobsled run to the point the two-man event had to be postponed. Snow turned mushy over the cross-country trails and winds blew what little powder remained off the slopes of Mount Allan, leaving only ice to cover the alpine runs.

The bobsled delay was the eighth weather-related postponement of the Games.

Franck Piccard of France captured Sunday's first gold medal by winning the men's super-giant slalom in 1 minute and 39.36 seconds. It was Piccard's second medal of the Games, having won a bronze in the downhill.

He is the first male medalist from France in an alpine event since national hero Jean-Claude Killy won three gold medals in Grenoble in 1968.

"I made a lot of little mistakes all over the course," Piccard said. "I wasn't happy at the finish but I got happier and happier as each racer finished. It was like winning backwards."

Sunday's race was Piccard's first international victory. Pirmin Zurbriggen, Olympic downhill gold medalist who was being touted as a possible winner of four races, finished tied for fifth.

Out of the competition, the International Olympic Committee expelled Polish hockey player Jaroslaw Morawiecki after he had tested positive for steroids. The test was conducted after Poland's 6-2 victory over winless France last Thursday, the Poles only Games hockey victory.

Poland was forced to forfeit the two points it earned for that win, ensuring the Poles will miss the medal round.

The IOC said samples taken of Morawiecki's urine showed a presence of the anabolic steroid testosterone at levels exceeding the limit permitted by the IOC. He was the first player booted out of the Olympics, which began Feb. 13.
