READY FOR MOVING- Workmen place a timber beneath the temporary building formerly used for biology laboratories as they prepare to move it a block south of its present location. Left to right are Richard Magerkuith, Tom Fisher, and his son, Jim, all from Pinckneyville. Several of the buildings are being moved to make room for forthcoming construction.

World Premiere Of Illinois Drama Slated for Chicago

"Make Her Wilderness Like Eden", the official play of the Illinois Sesquicentennial, will have its world premiere on Dec. 26 in Chicago.

Archibald McLeod, chairman of the Department of Theater, announced that SIU was invited to take the play to Chicago by the Museum of Arts and Industry.

The invitation came after the enthusiastic response the play received when the first act was presented to the arts program committee of the Sesquicentennial Commission on Nov. 19.

The play was written by Christian H. Moe, associate professor in the Department of Theater.

The play will run from Dec.

26-Jan. 1 in Chicago. Times of performances have not yet been announced, according to McLeod.

The musical score for the play was written by Robert Mueller, professor of music. William Pitkin, retired professor of history, served as historical adviser.

McLeod said that he would do the casting for the play this week.

Educators Discuss Foreign Students' Role

"The Role of the International Student at SIU" was the subject of a conference held Monday at Little Grassy Lake.

Attending the meeting were several of the vice presidents, heads of various departments, and members of the International Services Division.

Robert W. MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs and acting president, spoke on the commitment of SIU to educate students from other lands.

He alluded to R. Buckminster Fuller's description of the earth as a giant spaceship. He said that if the human race doesn't learn to work together it may be destroyed together.

The education of students from underdeveloped countries is not a gift but a mandate, he said.

MacVicar mentioned that the presence of international students also worked to broaden the understanding of United States students in regard to foreign cultures.

The need for research in international affairs was also underlined by MacVicar.

Ping-chia Kuo, chairman of the Department of History, spoke on the contribution of international students to the University.

He said that the University needs to promote mutual discovery between students of other lands and those of the United States. Kuo suggested that this could best be accomplished by intellectual friction.

He said the result could stir up ferment and break down the inertia of American students.

Kuo said that this would be much more valuable than programs for the international students planned by administrators.

Southern has 778 international students from 81 countries enrolled for the fall quarter at SIU. Of these, 193 students receive financial aid from SIU.

Directory for '67-68

On Sale at Bookstore

Some 2,700 new student directories for the 1967-68

school year for the Carbondale Campus were distributed Monday. They may be purchased at the SIU Central Publications Office, Building T-86, or in the University Center Bookstore. The price is $1.25 each.

The new directories contain several sections including telephone information numbers, SIU office numbers, and student and faculty sections. The student section lists each student's name, home address, campus address and phone number, student classification, and marital status.

This year the Edwardsville Campus student directory is a separate book. It will sell for $1 each and will be distributed later this week.

SIU to Make Space Changes

Eight temporary buildings on SIU's Carbondale Campus will be demolished this week to make room for a further extension of the campus loop road. The road now terminates between Mill and Pulliam Hall. After the extension, it will end at University.

The former Plan A house at the corner of Mill and Forest, the old Industrial Education shops, and the student Affairs headquarters near McAndrew Stadium will be among those torn down this week, according to Rino Bianchi, administrative assistant to John Rendleman, vice president for business affairs.

In addition to the three houses north of Woody Hall, two houses formerly occupied by the Department of English and three recently-acquired properties north of them will be cleared.

The Department of English and the Graduate School have been moved to remodeled barracks north of the University Center. Forty-six offices are included in the English Department's space. Graduate and teaching assistants remain on the third floor of Old Main.

Removal of the old Industrial Education and Student Affairs barracks clusters will complete site-clearing for a new Central Administration and Services Building, slated to go out for bids this winter.

The Industrial Education shops have been moved to the ground floor of Pulliam Hall's industrial education wing.

Student Affairs moved earlier this year to the Washington Square dormitories on S. Washington.

In other space changes, the second floor of the Good Luck Glove Co. building on S. Washington, under lease by SIU, has been assigned to the School of Fine Arts for art laboratories and a dance rehearsal hall.

The first floor of Doyle Dormitory, adjoining the old Baptist Foundation, has been assigned to the Department of Foreign Languages for office expansion.

The Safety Center is scheduled to move soon from a house on E. Grand to remodeled quarters in the Butler Building south of the Physical Plant offices.

IRV WERMONT

Educator Will Discuss Processes of Memory

Irv Wermont, author, lecturer, educator and presently public relations director of a large New England corporation, will be the featured speaker at the convocation series at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Thursday in Shryock Auditorium.

Wermont, a former business and radio executive, will discuss the human memory processes. He will illustrate and explain the basic principles that aid the process of remembering.

A graduate of Northeastern University School of Law and of Emerson College, Wermont has had 30 years of experience in education and communication.

He will also conduct a seminar for all interested students at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 161 of Lawson Hall.

This seminar session is designed to give students a chance to question Wermont concerning his techniques as well as view additional demonstrations. Convocation credit will not be given for the seminar session.

More than 100 reservations have been received so far for the 48th annual conference of the Illinois Association of Women Deans and Counselors here Nov. 30 and Dec. 1-2.

Loretta K. Ott, assistant dean of students at SIU for commuter, married, and graduate students, said that 110 reservations had been made with the SIU Division of Extension and that more are anticipated. Mrs. Ott is chairman of the committee on local arrangements.

This will be the first year the conference has been held in the southern part of the state. Some of the conference highlights will be talks on innovations in education by Gary Lonnon of Decatur-Lakeview Junior-Senior High, Mrs. Diane Callin of Penton High School, and Jack Graham of SIU; the banquet address by Dean Oliver J. Caldwell of the SIU Division of International Services; and a Saturday morning address, "Communications and Decision Making," by Maude A. Stewart, professor of psychology at Ohio State University.

SIU Student Killed In Auto Accident

An SIU student and his father were killed in a head-on auto collision near Humboldt, Ill., the Monday before Thanksgiving break.

Randolph Hahlbeck, 19, and his father, Donald E. Hahlbeck, 45, of Rantoul, and two other persons were killed in the accident. Hahlbeck, a fourth quarter freshman, listed his major as engineering technology. He was still enrolled in general studies.

The two other victims in the crash were recent graduates of Eastern Illinois University in Charleston. They were both teachers in the Arcola school district.

Postal Changes

With the Christmas season in sight, the U.S. Post Office is in a frenzy with the prospect of transporting hundreds of millions of Noel greetings to hundreds of millions of people. The Post Office needs help. Yet why have we taken for granted that the postal service must be a government monopoly?

Presently, a federal law prohibits private enterprises from competing with the U. S. Post Office, although private persons may provide mail service, but only if the letters also carry U. S. stamps. A simple act from Congress could repeal this law.

The argument is that private firms would concentrate on delivery of first-class mail and especially urban delivery—on which the Post Office makes a substantial profit—while leaving to the Post Office the junk mail on which it loses money.

Users of first-class mail are now being overcharged to subsidize the distribution of this junk mail, just as local delivery subsidizes mail for remote areas. Even now, prices are due to change soon on postage rates—six cents for a letter first class, 10 cents for air mail.

Competition, even for a government agency, would benefit the general public. The existing system would have to allow the improvements that competition would bring.

However, the general public has no effective lobby. The biggest obstacle to introducing competition is a lack of imagination.

Some genius must now come up with some unfettered enterprise to lift the strain and monopoly of the U. S. Post Office. The time has come to reshape the postal legislation. How about next Christmas as a deadline for these changes?

Red Tape Cut

Hats off to one SIU administrator who has made a positive effort to further the higher education of two local collegiates.

Robert W. MacVicar, vice president of academic affairs, was confronted on the telephone Thanksgiving Day by two students who complained there was no place open on campus for studying. MacVicar disregarded the normal channels of red tape, phoned the Security Office and an hour later the Home Economics Building Lounge was opened for the two scholars.

Which only goes to show one thing: At least two students will graduate from Southern having experienced the niceties of the student-administrator relationship.

Letters Welcome

The Daily Egyptian solicits letters to the editor. Any subject may be discussed. However, letters should be brief, not more than 200 words or about one and a half typewritten pages, double spaced, will be accepted.

All letters must be signed, including writer's address and, if possible, telephone number. The editors reserve the right to apply routine editing procedures to make the contributions conform to the law, decency and space.

Letters to the Editor:

Fraternal Death?

To the Editor:

It is the objective of this letter to bring forth a comprehensive observation of SIU's administrative policy regarding the sorority and fraternity situation. The fundamental problem in evaluation of the present policy stems from the crux of the most basic problem in the system itself. It is difficult to take an objective look at a situation when the university community, Greeks inclusive, is not aware of what the administration's basic policy is at SIU.

The administration has long been promising the organizations on Small Group Housing a fundamental, desirable behavior-pattern policy. The administration has obviously been establishing absolute, nonfluid, temporary restrictions designed to equalize an immediate situation rather than developing a direct long-term basic policy.

"Daily Trivia"

To the Editor:

We have long been interested in the Daily Egyptian for its unique layout and style. Your publication serves as a "fine" example for study by journalism classes, not only here at SIU but also nationally. The Egyptian is unparalleled in its want of criticism.

We were especially interested in your latest bit of "front page news," concerning the "criminal act" of one William Moffett. Bill Moffett is a jaywalker! We feel that jaywalking should "obviously" be exposed to the public. We are sure that this case will serve as fair warning to all would-be jaywalkers.

We also feel that the subjugation of trivial articles on racial prejudice in our elections and the abolishment of the loyalty oath to secondary space in your paper is in keeping with the quality of the Egyptian.

Your simplification about Bill Moffett's character was also quite interesting to us. We "hope" that you have attained your goal of convincing your readers that such activities as jaywalking are directly connected with civil disobedience and attempts to overthrow the government.

Keep up the "good" work.
Dale Ground
Greg Ballin

After another year of evaluation by the committee, a working plan was submitted to the administration. The administration rather promptly established one more list of absolute, intangible rules the Greeks are forced to follow in this next year of evaluation.

One finds himself pondering the rather obvious possibility that the administration's intention is to restrict the fraternities and sororities out of existence. No organization can function successfully if its freedom of change, self-guidance, and self-betterment is drastically restricted. Without an overall policy statement relevant to the "Greek System" the organizations are assured of a slow, quiet death. If this is the University's intention, let it be known.

Room for Tyranny

To the Editor:

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat article "No Room on Campus for Tyranny" reprinted in Tuesday's Daily Egyptian contains a particularly ironic indictment of Ray Lenzi's efforts as student body president.

If the author feels that the desire for student responsibility in education as manifested in the call for authority in social regulation, curriculum organization and the use of funds is an attitude appropriate to kindergartners, he must believe that only pre-schoolers could want to be teachers or educational administrators.

Ann Giles

Misplaced Emphasis

To the Editor:

In his "Open Letter" (KA, November 9, 1967) student body president Lenzi seemed to feel that the problems at Southern revolve around the "administrators of this University, President Delyte Morris in particular, (who) are inherently too conservative and too separated from the challenge the University faces to meet current demands and needs."

It is apparent from his "Open Letter" that Mr. Lenzi has much to learn about responsible and amateur journalism. Does the University really subject its student body to "terrorism"? Is SIU really "as far from a democracy as one can conceive"? Must all students really "be willing to perform acts which can interfere with the orderly working process of the University?"

Perhaps Lenzi and his "student power movement" might be more successful if it were to undertake a program to make improvements in the student body and leave administration to the more competent and responsible administrators. Would not the SIU environment be improved if students were to place a greater emphasis on academic achievement and less on motor vehicles, off-campus housing, drugs, under-age drinking and petty crime?

How about it, President Lenzi? Let's deal with the big problems first. It may be true that "students have no power or dignity." But dignity cannot be demanded or bestowed. . . it is earned.

William O. Dwyer

Childish Theatrics

To the Editor:

On Nov. 15, the northern entrance to the student union was again the scene of a non-violent, non-verbal, non-sensical demonstration: "A Silent Vigil for Peace in Vietnam." I am not aiming this writing to you as a group, that would lead only to an endless parade of vituperative editorials, but rather to that proud father who saw fit to bring his small child to see daddy at his best.

I shouldn't have to remind many that Wednesday was a cold day with blustery winds. When I passed and saw the child held high by the father like just another poster, I was more than a little angry. The child looked frozen, his face was reddened and his nose was running. But daddy was proud!

Now I say to you, why not let your group's ideas stand upon merit rather than resorting to a cheap, irresponsible theatrical trick to gain empathy? After seeing the child, the feeling toward you and your group could hardly be described as sympathetic.

I ask, for the child's sake, for you to search into that evidently diminutive sense of responsibility you possess and see if you can't see your way clear to spend a little of that money you're saving from not getting haircuts and not buying razor blades to purchase the services of a babysitter. Leave the child at home--we've got enough crybabies on this campus.

Greece Agrees to Turkish Demands

ANKARA Turkey (AP) — A political leader emerged from a meeting with Premier Suleyman Demirel Monday and said Greece had accepted Turkey's basic demands in the Cyprus crisis. He added that only differences over application of the agreement remain.

Irfan Aksu, chairman of the New Turkey party, and other opposition leaders met with Demirel during a recess in a Cabinet meeting called to discuss the latest Greek proposals. Demirel had called in all opposition leaders to get a national consensus.

Aksu said the Greeks had agreed to the key Turkish demand that Greece withdraw some 12,000 troops Turkey claims are stationed on the Mediterranean island nation in violation of the Zurich agreement setting up the independent Cyprus republic in 1960.

Greece agreed to pay compensation for the 25 Turkish Cypriots killed Nov. 15 in fighting with Greek Cypriot forces at two villages, Aksu added. This battle brought on the latest crisis.

Aksu said the Greeks had withdrawn Gen. George Grivas from Cyprus. The Turks blamed Grivas, a Greek who commands the Cypriot armed forces, for the attack on the villages and demanded his ouster. He has been in Athens since shortly after the crisis erupted.

The latest Greek proposals were brought to Ankara from Athens, by President Johnson's personal envoy, Cyrus R. Vance.

He prepared to return to Athens carrying Turkish answers to the latest Greek proposals. Vance was completing his third round trip between the two capitals in five sleepless days and nights of mediating.

Informed officials say the disagreements which remain are a matter of face-saving and timing. The substance of the diplomatic negotiations are being kept secret. However it is believed the remaining issues are:

-Will Greece begin withdrawing the troops on Cyprus first or will Turkey make a gesture to ease its powerful threat to invade Cyprus.

-How long a period will be allowed Greece to withdraw its troops from Cyprus.

Turkey has insisted all along that Greece make the first move.

For World Bank Post

McNamara Reported Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has been nominated by President Johnson to become the next President of the World Bank, the Washington Post said Monday night.

The nomination was submitted to the bank's 20 directors at an informal meeting last week, the paper added.

Neither the White House nor the Pentagon would confirm that McNamara is on his way out and would not comment on the report that Texas Gov. John Connally may succeed McNamara in the Defense Department.

If it is approved as expected by the Bank's 106 member nations, McNamara probably will begin his new career early next year, The Post said.

Connally, however, flatly denied the report Monday night, saying, "there is not a word of truth in it," The Post reported.

McNamara's departure from the Johnson administration has been rumored for months. According to the Post, a long-time friend of the McNamara family said, "He's been wanting to leave for so long. And he needs it, too. He's dead."

That McNamara has now finally decided to move on was confirmed by sources within the international financial community, the Post reported, adding that one of the World Bank's directors said the nomination was submitted last week by Livingston Merchant, United States representative on the bank board.

Merchant earlier had told The Associated Press that "It is not a matter I can discuss."

"It was submitted," the Post source said, "as the final choice of the United States. Other names had been considered earlier but McNamara was the one decided upon."

Eugene R. Black, a former World Bank president, commented: "I think it's a perfectly marvelous appointment and I'm very happy about it."

The first news of the selection—which has been rumored in financial circles since September—was published Monday in the London Financial Times on the basis of information supplied by a World Bank director. McNamara, said the London paper, was chosen over several other possible nominees including David Rockefeller of the Chase Manhattan Bank, David Bell, former administrator of the Agency for International Development, and C. Douglas Dillon, former Secretary of the Treasury.

Hearing Set On Colleges

CHICAGO (AP) — The Citizens Advisory Committee of the Illinois Board of Higher Education decided Monday to hold a public hearing Dec. 15 on the question of which body or bodies should govern proposed senior colleges in Springfield and Chicago.

A special committee of the board is seeking recommendations on governance from the citizens committee, an advisory committee of college presidents and an advisory committee of faculty members.

The advisory committees will submit their recommendations to the special committee Dec. 18. The special committee, in turn, will submit its recommendation to the board Jan. 10 at which time a decision could be announced.

The governing bodies now functioning are the trustees of the University of Illinois, the trustees of Southern Illinois University, the Board of Regents, the Board of Governors and the Junior College Board.

The University of Illinois and SIU trustees govern complex multi-purpose universities while the other bodies govern universities or colleges with a more limited scope of offerings.

Both the Springfield and Chicago senior colleges will be the commuter type, with no dormitories planned at present. Masters degrees will be offered in some subjects, but no doctorates.

William McKnight of Bloomington, chairman of the citizens committee, said representatives of the five governing bodies, representatives of private universities in the Chicago area and other interested parties probably will speak at the public hearing.

It was a terrific buy.

2. That's what you said about the splunking outfit you bought last week.

Listen—that was marked down 50%.

3. And the conidor eggs? Could you refuse 2 dozen for the price of one?

4. No wonder you're always broke. But look at the buys I get!

5. If you want a good buy, why don't you look into Living Insurance from Equitable? At our age the cost is low, and you get solid protection now that continues to cover your family later when you get married. Plus a nice nest egg when you retire.

Daniel Cote Joins Two-Year Highway-Civil Tech Program

Daniel N. Cote has been named assistant professor in a new two-year highway and civil technology program at the SIU Vocational-Technical Institute.

Appointment of Cote, 37, was confirmed by the University Board of Trustees at its November meeting.

Cote came to SIU from Raleigh, N.C., where he was head of engineering technologies at W. W. Holding Technical Institute. He was previously employed as a sanitary engineer with the North Carolina Board of Health and as instructor at North Carolina State University.

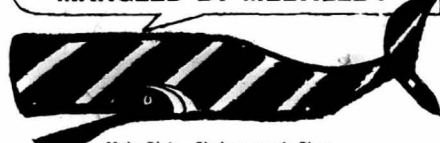

A native of Champaign, Ill., he received the bachelor of science in civil engineering from Duke University and the master of science in civil engineering from North Carolina State University. He served two years in the U.S. Army.

Cote is married to the former Jo Ann Kelly of Saginaw, Mich. They have five children; Daniel Jr., David M., Kelly Ann, Bridget Mary and Meghan Kyle.

The highway and civil technology program was instituted at VTI this fall to train technicians with relatively wide backgrounds rather than specialists in a single subject such as surveying or materials testing.

EVIDENCE OF INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP—Prof. and Mrs. Nelson Bossing of SIU's College of Education receive hundreds of Christmas cards each year from their former students all over the world. With Christmas still a month off, greeting cards have been pouring into their home. This year the Bossings expect to have more than 1,000 cards from their friends.

Befriend SIU Foreign Students

Couple Fosters Good Will

International students at SIU say Prof. and Mrs. Nelson L. Bossing are two of their favorite Americans, both as hosts and friends.

Bossing, visiting professor of education at SIU, and his wife have befriended students from foreign lands since their own school days. But not until 1951, the year when Bossing went on an official mission to Japan as an educational adviser, did the Bossings begin to enlarge their contacts with students from all parts of the world.

Since then the professor's home has become a center for molding mutual understanding among the students. With different political, religious, and racial backgrounds, hostile or hospitable in tradition, the students sit in the dining or in the living room to exchange greetings as well as ideas.

The Bossings have sponsored annual cookie parties for international students at SIU since they came here from the University of Minnesota in 1962. They entertain students with cookies made from recipes of more than 30 countries. "The major purpose of the parties is not tasting cookies, but to bring students from different parts of the world together and to help them to get acquainted with one another," Mrs. Bossing said.

During the Christmas season the couple receives hundreds of greeting cards in English, Spanish, Chinese, Japanese, and other languages from remembering friends. They have been pleased by these evidences of friendship.

Letters from students clearly revealing their appreciation of kindness, thoughtfulness, and hospitality of the hosts include such comments as "the invaluable opportunity to meet people from many countries," and "for ever one of the most attractive memories in the United States."

Now as university professors, government officials, or medical doctors in their home countries, the former students who were entertained by the Bossings extend their hospitalities to people from America as well as from other lands. "How we wish it should be possible for us to copy your example at least by a fraction," a Hindu professor wrote the Bossings.

"Hoffman" Opera Cast Named For Production in February

Marjorie Lawrence, SIU research professor, has announced the cast for the full-scale production of the opera, "Tales of Hoffman," to be presented in February.

Miss Lawrence will direct the opera and her associate director will be William Taylor, with stage direction handled by Darwin Payne and costumes by Richard Boss. Herbert Levinson, conductor of the Southern Illinois Symphony, will conduct the music.

Major roles will be sung by Linda Sparks of West Frankfort; Sandra SirHendrey, Evansville, Ind.; Raeschelle Potter, Gulfport, Miss.; Gloria Barringer, Huntersville, N.C.; Peggy Parkinson, Centralia; Pamela Sanabria, Wilmette; Judith Albrecht, Edwardsville; Jeremy Dawe, Marion; Jeffrey Troxler, Birmingham, Ala.; David Thomas, Carbondale; Vincenzo Benestante, Chicago; Michael Craig, Homewood; and Glenn Bater, Alsip.

Varsity Newcomers to Debut Against Frosh

Center Bruce Butchko is 6-7 and the most prolific freshman scorer to play for SIU. He broke several of Walt Frazier's scoring records last year. He's strengthened his play since last year, but still lacks quickness and dedication in pursuing the ball, according to Hartman. He does, however, give the team a potent scoring punch at the pivot.

Hartman explained that Butchko "needs to learn that he's a big boy and can use that size to his advantage."

Junior Willie Griffin and sophomore Rex Barker will start at guard.

Griffin is an outstanding defensive player who, according to Hartman, "has shown great improvement."

"Willie is the quickest player I've ever coached or seen," he said. "When he gets himself organized he'll compare with the top players we've had in the past."

Barker is the biggest surprise of this early season for Hartman. "We appreciated Rex's talents before," Hartman said. "But, his progress has exceeded our expectations. He is determined to play."

Backing up the starting five will be Craig Taylor and Bobby Jackson at guard, Juarez Rosborough at center and Jay Westcott, Bill Steppe and Howard Keene at forward.

Taylor's "disappointing progress" has kept him from earning a starting spot, according to Hartman. "He just hasn't shown us he wants to play as badly as Barker has."

Jackson has shown surprising progress. Hartman said he will see a lot of action this year.

Westcott is a top-notch shooter. He lacks quickness on defense, but will probably see a lot of action. Steppe, another sophomore, has been impressive in early drills. Keene is the transfer who played for LSU prior to serving with the Armed Forces. His time out of organized ball has dulled the 6-6 forward's skills, but Hartman expects a little experience will help that.

The starting five for the frosh will be Mike Hessick of New Athens, at center, Tom Mc Bride of Hoopeson and Terry Buhs of Bunker Hill, at forward, and B.J. Trickey of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Roger Westbrook of Centralia, at guard.

The freshman lineup will be taller than the varsity, thanks to the 6-10 Hessick, 6-4 McBride and 6-3 Buhs.

The freshmen are coached by Jim Smelser, who Hartman said usually has a couple of tricks under his sleeve.

Basketball Tickets Available Early

'67 Cagers to Debut Against Frosh

By Tom Wood

SIU's experience - short basketball Salukis will get their first taste of action tonight when they take on the freshmen in the Arena. The contest will begin right after a 6:45 showing of the 1967 NIT championship game film. The game will give Coach Jack Hartman his first look at the Salukis under actual game conditions.

"We play this one just like a regular game," Hartman said. "We won't know just what they'll be doing until they do it. It'll give us a chance to make adjustments as we go along and see how the boys will respond to them."

And Hartman has emphasized that if there is one thing the Salukis lack which worries him, it's their lack of previous playing time.

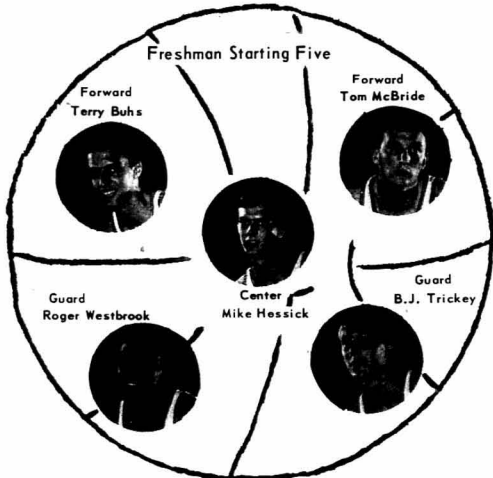

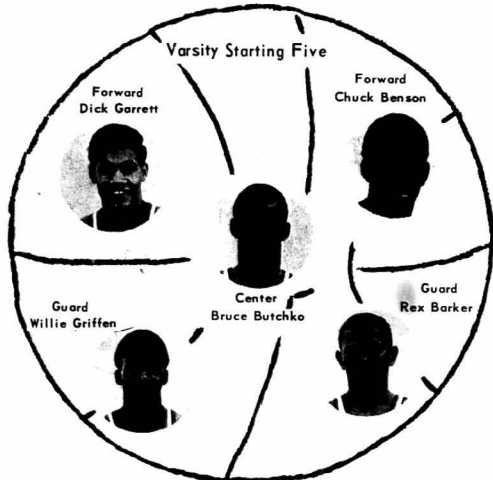

Four new faces will take the court for the opening tipoff against the freshmen. Dick Garrett won't be the only familiar one, but he's the only one who was there at the center jump throughout last year. Garrett, whom Hartman calls a complete player—"an outstanding shooter and a fine defensive player who does a good job rebounding for his size, a combination you don't find very often," will be joined at forward by Chuck Benson.

seemed to grow taller by the game last season, saw quite a bit of action at both center and forward. He's one of the outstanding defensive players anywhere, according to Hartman, who says Benson has improved markedly on offense.

Benson, a 6-4 junior who

NIT Videotape Will Be Shown Before Game

Saluki basketball fans will get a look into the past and future tonight when they gather at the Arena to see the annual freshman-varsity game.

Beginning at 6:45 p.m. the fans will get their look into the past, at last year's team capturing the championship of the National Invitational Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

The videotape game will be shown in its entirety, just as seen on national television last March, complete with a play-by-play commentary by a professional announcer. In addition to the final game, there will be highlights of all the games leading up to the Saturday showdown between SIU and Marquette.

Immediately after the films the 1967-68 Saluki varsity squad will get its first test of the season from the freshmen.
