Pettit: Tuition boost not ruled out

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The Chancellor said Tuesday that he would not rule out a tuition increase if the University were forced to accept the funding level the Illinois Board of Higher Education has said would be recommended if there were no tax increases.

The IBHE will recommend an increase of less-than-1 percent in state funding for SIU.

"That's the last thing we would want to consider. That doesn't mean it's totally ruled out," Chancellor Lawrence Pettit said.

He said there weren't any "sacred cows" if cuts need to be made.

"There has to be some context for it, though," said Pettit. "We can't just start whacking away."

He said he would know more specifically what types of cuts the University would need to make under the less-than-1-percent increase scenario after he meets with vice chancellors and campus presidents in the coming weeks.

"We need a modest tax increase in income tax, not just for higher education, but for human services in general," he said, adding, "I just have to believe we're not going to be put in the kind of predicament" the University will be in if the tax is not increased.

The IBHE said that if a tax increase is not implemented, it will recommend the Carbondale campus receive $47,000 more than last year and that the Edwardsville campus receive $311,000 less than last year.

"We have not changed our recommendation," Ross Hodel, deputy director of fiscal affairs for the IBHE, said.

"We are only responding to a request from the governor's office to make a determination of what will happen if higher education doesn't get a budget increase," he said. "We're still working very hard for a tax increase."

Pettit said he does not blame the governor for the budget situation.

"I think all the governor is doing is showing everyone what it's going to be like without a tax increase,"

Pettit said.

He said that if a tax increase is not implemented, "it's not just higher education that's going to suffer, it's the whole economy, and that means everyone."

USO to decide on fee increase

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

The Undergraduate Student Organization will vote on whether to support a $9 increase in the student medical benefit fee at its meeting at 7 p.m. tonight in the Student Center Renaissance Room.

The increase would pay for a 20 percent increase in the cost of student health insurance beginning next semester.

Day of Action II being planned

The student medical insurance premium is the part of the health fee that funds the contract premium to Blue Cross, which covers off-campus emergency treatment and some special laboratory and x-ray costs. Blue Cross is raising its premiums by 20 percent.

The vote will determine whether the USO will support a $5 raise in the fee for the summer semester and a $9 raise for the fall semester and spring semester of 1989. This would raise summer fees from $18.25 to $23.75 and fall and spring fees from $30.50 to $39.50 per semester.

Sam McVay, director of Student Health Programs, will speak to the USO regarding the fee increase.

Simon finishes strong in Minnesota primary

By United Press International

Down but not beaten, Sen. Paul Simon rallied to make a strong showing in the Minnesota presidential primaries Tuesday.

Among the Democrats with 4 percent of the precincts counted, Dukakis had 36 percent, Simon 17 percent, Jackson 16 percent, Gephardt 8 percent, Gore and Hart had one percent each.

Among the Republicans, with 25 percent of the vote counted, Dole led Republicans with 43 percent, to 29 percent for Robertson, 15 percent for Kemp and 10 percent for Bush.

Going into Tuesday's contests, Gephardt led the Democrats in the number of delegates committed and projected with 26, followed by Dukakis with 22 and Simon with 20.

After finishing second in Iowa and third in New Hampshire, Simon was $500,000 in debt and said he would have to win either in Minnesota or South Dakota to stay in the running.

But a surge of contributions, estimated at around $250,000 and urgings that he stay in the race, led Simon to backtrack and announce that he would fight for the nomination all the way to the Democratic National Convention in July.

Although the Minnesota and South Dakota contests were viewed more as a chance to give Dukakis, Dole and possibly Gephardt some momentum going into "Super Tuesday," and providing perhaps a last serious opportunity for Simon and

Prof: Stiver's case may not hold up

By Dana DeBaumont
Staff Writer

A professor in constitutional law said a civil lawsuit American Atheists plans to file against the Carbondale Elementary School's District and Bible-quoting teacher Curtis Caldwell probably will not stand up in court.

Thomas McAfee, a professor in constitutional law, doesn't believe that University student John Stivers will be awarded money for damages if a lawsuit is filed. Stivers has asked American Atheists to file a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court in Benton.

Stivers said he is suing both the district and Caldwell for the "irreparable damage" caused to his daughters because of Caldwell's Bible quoting. Stivers is the father of two eighth-graders who attend Lincoln Junior High

The controversy erupted after Stivers complained that Caldwell, a master's student in linguistics, violated the constitutional separation of church and state and students' civil rights when he lectured on religion while substitute teaching math classes at Lincoln Junior High School.

Stivers, who is an atheist, said his daughters' classmates have a different opinion of them than they did before the controversy began. Parents have told their children not to play with his daughters, he added.

"Carbondale's our home and these kids have been labeled 'devil' and kids claim that they (his daughters) have put curses on them,"

Marine's kidnappers mum on Lebanese hide-out

TYRE, Lebanon (UPI) — Moderate Shiite militiamen clamped roadblocks around the stronghold of rival Iranian-backed extremists Tuesday, suspecting that kidnapped Marine Lt. Col. William R. Higgins has been moved to the hideout. Officials of the moderate Moslem group, Amal, also said they have at least two of Higgins' abductors in custody but they have not provided any leads to the Marine's whereabouts.

Afghan guerrillas OK interim government

PESHAWAR, Pakistan (UPI) — Afghan guerrilla leaders agreed Tuesday to a proposal for an interim government in Afghanistan that would retain seven members of the pro-Soviet regime during a Soviet troop withdrawal. The breakthrough proposal for a 28-member interim regime also recognizes for the first time the legitimacy of negotiations in Geneva on the withdrawal of Soviet troops.

Shultz reports Soviet arms talks progressing

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz said Tuesday he made progress in talks with Soviet officials on cutting strategic nuclear arsenals, but cautioned "a lot remains to be done" in the quest for a treaty "that will work." Shultz briefed NATO allies on his discussions in Moscow with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze before flying back to Washington.

Salvadoran rebels kill 2, injure 8 in ambush

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Leftist rebels Tuesday killed two women and wounded eight other people aboard a bus operating in defiance of a national transportation boycott, army officials reported. They said the ambush of the bus on the Pan American Highway occurred as it was taking employees of a textile company to work in San Martin, 10 miles east of San Salvador.

Democrats propose non-lethal Contra aid bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Democratic leadership unveiled Tuesday a proposal to provide $25 million in non-lethal aid to the Contras in place of the $36.3 million package requested by President Reagan but rejected by the House earlier this month. The plan is scheduled for a House vote Thursday and Democrats said they expect to win enough Republican support to pass the measure even though it does not include any of the military aid sought by Reagan.

Students seize building in anti-racism protest

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — Fifty students occupied a Hampshire College building in an anti-racism protest Tuesday while students at the nearby University of Massachusetts began a two-day class boycott so they could discuss campus racism at special seminars. Hampshire College president Adele Simmons stood in the rain and tried to persuade demonstrators to let her in to negotiate with them, but was denied admittance to the building.

Nuns face expulsion for supporting abortion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Sisters of Notre have issued the second and final formal warning before expulsion from the religious order to two nuns who refuse to retract their support for the right of legal abortion, it was learned Tuesday. In identical Feb. 17 letters, Sister Catherine Hughes gave Sisters Barbara Ferraro and Patricia Hussey until March 5 to bend to demands that the two refrain from making any public statements that can be construed as supporting abortion.

Group seeks more funding for substance abuse care

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — An organization of drug and alcohol abuse treatment providers Tuesday urged lawmakers to boost state funding for treatment programs that can help reduce the $7 billion economic loss attributed to substance abuse in Illinois. Treatment programs throughout the state are running out of money and some programs have two- to three-month waiting lists of people seeking treatment, said Melody Heaps, president of the Illinois Alcoholism and Drug Dependence Association.

Chancellor insists all employees should belong to common union

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

In response to motions for an early election on unionization, the chancellor's office reaffirmed its view Tuesday that all SIU employees should be represented together under unionization and that department chairpersons should not be represented.

Unions have been working for three years to let University employees vote on whether they want to unionize, but the unions have not reached agreement with the administration.

The unions feel that the two campuses are distinct and should be represented separately. The administration feels the two campuses should be represented together.

The unions also feel that department chairpersons should be considered faculty for the sake of unionization, while the administration says "departmental chairs are the university's 'front line' of management" and therefore should be considered administrative.

The Illinois Educational Labor Relations Board indicated that it wanted an early election on unionization and would impound department chairperson votes until it could determine if they should be considered.

The administration says, however, that "several federal court decisions have set aside election results in instances where employees did not know the parameters of the appropriate bargaining unit" and therefore "could not cast an intelligent vote."

The University's response said, "Common sense dictates that the IELRB not direct an election in which such an obvious challenge to the validity of the election is open to any party that does not win the election."

Students plan second budget-cuts protest

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Students will return to Springfield on April 13 to lobby legislators about budget cuts in higher education.

Last year students from colleges and universities across the state gathered in the Capitol for a "Day of Action" to protest the cuts.

Students, along with the Illinois Student Association, are now planning Day of Action II.

This year's theme is "We're coming back ... and we're bringing our friends." The protest will follow a similar format as last year, with students leaving for Springfield in the morning and holding a rally to lobby legislators at the Capitol.

Heidi Leisner, the Undergraduate Student organization governmental relations commissioner, said the commission is working on plans to get SIU-C students involved.

An agenda will be presented at the Graduate and Professional Student Council meeting tonight and funding requests have been submitted to the USO, she said.

Leisner added that nothing can be planned until the commission gets funding. The group is considering advertising on Cablevision and in the Daily Egyptian, she said, as well as flyers, in order to get students involved in the protest.

There will not be an on-campus rally this year because it was not very successful last year. The emphasis, she said, is being placed on the rally in Springfield.

Saluki sports need Charlotte West

SIU-C NEEDS CHARLOTTE West as its next athletics director.

Since coming to Carbondale in 1957, West has proved her administrative abilities and, perhaps more important, her loyalty to SIU-C. After going through two athletics directors in the last six years, SIU-C is in dire need of a stabilizing influence in the athletics department. West can provide that stability.

SIU-C sports fans still are stinging from the way the University was used as a personal stepping stone by its last athletics director, Jim Livengood. Less than 10 months after Livengood was hired in October 1985, he interviewed for the athletics director job at the University of Wyoming, all the while claiming absolute loyalty to SIU-C.

Just before Wyoming was to make its final decision, Livengood withdrew from the race under heavy criticism from SIU-C sports fans. Livengood claimed his withdrawal proved he was true to the maroon and white. But his claim became much less convincing when he accepted the athletics director position at Washington State University in August 1987, less than two years after having been hired by SIU-C.

WEST, WHO WAS NOT even made a finalist in the search that brought Livengood to SIU-C, was named interim athletics director.

Saluki sports cannot tolerate being used as an administrative farm team for the big-league schools. SIU-C needs an athletics director dedicated to improving Saluki sports instead of improving his or her personal status.

In a typically altruistic move, West has stated she will not apply for the permanent position unless she feels her colleagues in the athletics department think she is the best candidate for the job. West obviously is not out to promote herself, but rather SIU-C athletics.

In addition to her irreproachable loyalty, West is a first-rate sports administrator and very well respected among athletics directors throughout the nation.

In 1973, while serving as SIU-C's director of women's athletics, West was the first woman named to the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Ten years later, she was the second woman ever elected to the association's executive committee. West also served on the U.S. Olympic Committee in 1978.

SINCE SHE TOOK charge of women's athletics at SIU-C in 1974, West has been instrumental in building women's sports into a nationally respected program. West also was a key figure in the formation of the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference, in which the SIU-C women's athletics teams compete. She was inducted into the SIU-C sports hall of fame in 1987 for having coached six women's teams at SIU-C and for the progress she helped bring about in women's athletics.

By hiring West, SIU-C not only would get a top-notch administrator, it also would take a huge step toward breaking the barrier of gender in major college athletics. West would be the nation's only female athletics director of a university that plays football in the NCAA's Division I.

The University will begin a national search for a new athletics director around March 1. For the sake of SIU-C athletics, it is to be hoped that West will throw her hat in the ring, and that the University does not throw it back at her.

The GOP Race Enters a New Phase.

Letters

Only the poor understand poverty

This letter is directed to Brian J. Anderson and the many others who might think as he does. Pigs!

Mr. Anderson, have you ever in your life lived in the slums? Do you have any inclination about what it would be like to be that poor? Well, if you don't know, I'll tell you. The houses are not clean when you first move in. There are usually broken windows, dirty floors, paint chipping off the walls, rats in the kitchen and if there is a refrigerator it usually doesn't work. Because of the unsafe conditions of the neighborhood, I slept with a gun.

During the times I lived in the slums, I was working at a regular job and because of my lack of education this was the only living I could afford. I was lucky because I was not born in this type of environment; I just visited the slum for awhile.

My main point is there are some people who abuse the system, but not the majority. I quote your letter, Mr. Anderson. "Hey, we the almighty government are aware of the fact that you destitute, uneducated pigs are completely incapable of maintaining your own lives." It seems to me you are including anyone and everyone on welfare, or for that matter, anyone who is stuck in the slums. This is generalizing, and most well-educated people know that generalizations are usually wrong.

I understand how much those dumpy slums must make you disgusted when you have to drive by them. Also, it must really be frustrating to think those "pigs" won't get up off their rears and do something to contribute to society.

Mr. Anderson, I have a suggestion for you. Why don't you go live in the slums and see what it is really like before you generalize?

In conclusion, I think a person like you would be happy that the government subsidizes abortions. By the way you expressed yourself in your letter, it seems you would be more interested in taking the cheap way out.

You see, if the government did not subsidize abortions, these women of the slums wouldn't be able to get abortions (unless you condone the hanger method). Thus, we would throw a lot more money into the dumps they live in.

You made it clear that you are totally against giving away any money at all. Do you believe that one day these people are going to come out of their miserable situations on their own? Or do you think that possibly we should just let them starve? It is really funny to me. On one hand you are totally against abortion and on the other hand it seems you would rather see people starve. How much money do you think comes out of your tax dollars to help the poor live in dumps? I can see you think it is too much. Hey Mr. Anderson, could you spare a dime? —Vicki Aponte, sophomore, social work

Teachers oppose Tripp's denial of tenure

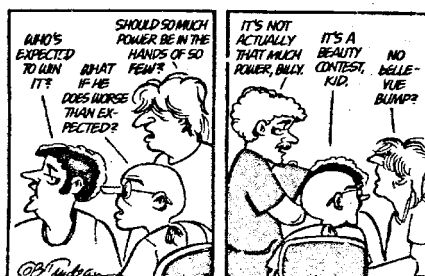

We teach composition to foreign students and we are writing to protest the denial of tenure to Dr. Luke Tripp.

Many foreign students come to America with a view of the country and people which has been built upon stereotypes. Frequently, these stereotypes are especially negative regarding black Americans. Part of our job is to expose our students to many different aspects of American culture in order to help them make judgements based on actual experience rather than on stereotypes.

Dr. Tripp has been of great help to us in this regard. He has visited each of our classes to discuss and answer questions about the experience of blacks in America. His lectures are clear, dynamic and informative, and his openness to the foreign students encourages them to ask questions about black American culture that they otherwise might be too reticent to ask. In short, Dr. Tripp provides a valuable service to us and our students by helping dispel some of the stereotypes many of them have about black Americans.

We hope that the director of the School of Social Work, the dean of the College of Human Resources and the administration as a whole will reconsider Dr. Tripp's value to the Black American Studies program and to the University community. Not only will the BAS program be further weakened without Dr. Tripp, but the goal of eliminating interracial and intercultural misunderstandings will become a more remote possibility. —Katherine M. Bezak, Mary Black and Martha Ineichen, graduates, linguistics.

Prosecution witnesses continue testimony in stabbing death trial

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

The second day of the jury trial of a Murphysboro woman charged in the stabbing death of her sister will open today with new testimony from prosecution witnesses.

Witnesses provided conflicting accounts Tuesday of the stabbing incident for which Dianne Drakeford, 31, is charged with first-degree murder. The trial continues at 9 a.m. today in the Jackson County Courthouse.

Drakeford is charged with three counts of first-degree murder and one count of armed violence in the Sept. 12 stabbing of her sister, Ellouise Burton, during an argument outside the Palms tavern, 222 N. Washington St. in Carbondale. Burton died the next morning at Carbondale Memorial Hospital.

Jackson County State's Attorney John Clemons introduced numerous witnesses during the five-hour jury proceedings. Questioning by public defenders Andrew Zinner and Robert Van Derhoff attempted to establish Drakeford's actions as self-defense.

Witnesses disagreed on when Drakeford first wielded the kitchen knife and on the nature of physical contact made by Burton and Drakeford before the stabbing.

Belinda Ross, Drakeford's 15-year-old daughter, testified that Burton pushed Drakeford first, but Drakeford threw the first punch in the argument and fistfight preceding the stabbing.

Ross testified the two argued about an alleged affair between Burton and John Drakeford, the defendant's husband.

She said Burton had been drinking gin for an hour before the incident.

Ross' boyfriend Bill Ollie, 21, also said Burton first pushed Drakeford, but he said Burton struck the first blows of the fight.

Both witnesses said Drakeford produced the knife after the fighting had begun.

A Palms employee said Drakeford merely had tapped Drakeford on the shoulder. He said Drakeford produced the knife before the fight and that Burton was protecting herself by hitting Drakeford's knife-hand.

Clemons summoned other witnesses from Carbondale Memorial Hospital and an acquaintance of Ollie's who drove Drakeford to the hospital.

Drakeford sat attentively throughout the trial, and broke into tears when Clemons produced pictures of the stab wound on Burton's upper right shoulder. Defense attorneys unsuccessfully contested the admissibility of the pictures as evidence.

Stivers said. "When they call me on the phone crying, I think that's damaging."

McAfee said he's not sure that the district or Caldwell are legally responsible for the harm Stivers' daughters have suffered since Stivers made his complaint.

The school board acted in a quick and responsible manner when it was notified of the matter, McAfee said.

The teasing Stivers' daughters have been subjected to is what happens in "this kind of political contest," McAfee added.

"Kids will be kids," he said. "That doesn't justify what has happened to his kids, but I do not see it (the teasing) as something Caldwell inflicted on the daughters."

Stivers said he will seek monetary compensation, but refused to speculate on an amount.

John Vinson, a Texas lawyer who will be one of the lawyers handling Stivers' case, said he hasn't begun investigating the case, but that he hopes to file a lawsuit by May. Vinson is the lawyer for the American Athiests.

"I still have to do a lot of research," Vinson said. "I really don't know what's going on because I haven't been there. It's a serious problem when a Christian front is trying to force opinions on kids. It looks kind of good for us."

Vinson said the lawsuit will be filed in the federal courts instead of state courts because Vinson isn't a member of the Illinois Bar Association. Vinson is a member of the Texas Bar Association.

Vinson did say that the school board's decision and how it's worded could speed up filing of the lawsuit.

"If they come out and endorse him (Caldwell), which I don't think they will, I will file the suit almost immediately," he said.

Larry Jacober, superintendent of the Carbondale Elementary Schools District No. 95, said the board will release a statement on the controversy at its 7 p.m. meeting Thursday in the Brush Administrative Center.

If a decision is required, it will be made at the meeting, Jacober said.

USO, from Page 1

The USO will also vote on whether to support a Day of Action II. Last year the USO supported the Day of Action, when students from colleges and universities statewide went to Springfield to protest cuts in state funding for higher education.

The Illinois Student Association and many faculty and staff organizations across the state have called for a second Day of Action on April 13.

The theme for the Day of Action II is "We're coming back... and we're bringing our friends."

Another item on the agenda is whether to support a reconsideration of the financial aid budget.

The Graduate and Professional Student Council said a survey taken of SIU-C students to help determine how much financial aid students may get underestimated many expenses.

The USO resolution calls for more than one source of data to be used for the survey, that the survey be taken every year instead of adding on inflation and that separate budgets be established for Pell grants and Guaranteed Student Loans.

Absentee ballot forms available at dining halls

Applications for absentee ballots will be distributed in dining halls by the Undergraduate Student Organization, the SIU College Democrats and Southern for Simoc.

Tables will be set up from 11 to 3 p.m. today and March 1 at Grinnell and Trueblood halls and from 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday and March 3 at Lentz Hall.

Absentee ballot applications must be mailed immediately, because they must be in the county clerk's office at least five days before the election, Andy Leighton, member of SIU College Democrats, said.

Anyone is welcome to get an application, including off-campus residents, Leighton said.

The deadline for voter registration has passed and registration will not be open again until three days after the March 15 primary.

Dole, bidding for a double win, took a commanding early lead in the Minnesota GOP caucuses, with Vice President George Bush mired deep in fourth place. Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis took an early lead over Gephardt among Democrats.

But the South Dakota

primaries were a disaster for Kemp, the Republican congressman from upstate New York, who was running a distant last, and Illinois Sen. Paul Simon struggled to escape the cellar in the six-candidate Democratic race.

The victories in South Dakota gave Dole and Gephardt, both losers in New Hampshire, badly-needed jump starts to their campaigns.

Simon, asked about exit polls that showed him losing in South Dakota, said, "We have only seen South Dakota. In South Dakota, we did not do as well as I had hoped, but we weren't demolished either."

U.S. missile aid to allies OK'd according to INF treaty's terms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — INF treaty negotiator Maynard Glitman said Tuesday the medium-range missile accord will allow the United States to assist allies in their missile programs, even though U.S. systems are being destroyed.

Glitman, appearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee for a second day of a line-by-line review of the pact, tackled a potential controversy over a short item in the Intermediate Nuclear Forces Treaty governing superpower behavior.

Also testifying about the accord Tuesday was former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who spoke to the Foreign Relations Committee. Kissinger has criticized the treaty's particulars but supports it as necessary to preserve the NATO alliance.

Article 14 of the treaty calling for the destruction of U.S. and Soviet ground-launched missiles with ranges from 300 to 3,400 miles, declares each side "shall comply with this treaty and shall not assume any international obligations or undertakings which would conflict with its provisions."

Treaty skeptics have been looking for assurances the pact does not close out U.S. options after the subject missiles are destroyed, and Glitman tried to ease their concerns

Tuesday, laying out specifically how the language was arrived at and pointedly telling the Armed Services panel that Soviet efforts to limit U.S. cooperation with its allies were successfully resisted.

He said Moscow, with other language, had sought ways "to either put the brakes on NATO activities or to have a basis for observation that we were not complying with the treaty" with other help to allies.

The United States, he said, would be free under Article 14 to modernize battlefield-range nuclear weapons in Europe and even to provide some assistance to allies who might want to build their own intermediate-range missile systems.

Guidance equipment will be salvaged from missiles due for destruction, and Glitman said the United States could provide guidance system help to allies. What they cannot do under the treaty, he said, is provide any prohibited item—a missile, a missile stage or a launcher.

But, he said, if too many components were provided to an ally, that might come close to "recreating" a prohibited system and could be called into question.

Asked specifically if the United States could help England or France, which have their own nuclear weapons programs unaffected by the treaty, Glitman said,

"It does not prohibit the production and transfer of lesser components, including guidance elements ... These kind of issues will have to be looked at on a case-by-case basis."

And Glitman cautioned against tampering with the provision, saying, "We got Article 14 where we wanted it."

Police Blotter

A University student and an Ann Arbor, Mich. man were charged with theft by police after an alleged attempt to steal a sign from the front of Sidetracks bar at 101 W. College St. Monday night.

A bartender apprehended David A. Balkcom, freshman in cinema and photography, at 10:17 p.m. while he and Brian P. Bickner, 18, of Ann Arbor, Mich., were carrying the sign across the railroad tracks east of the bar, according to Carbondale police reports. Bickner, who escaped on foot, later surrendered to police.

Both were taken to Jackson County Jail to await a bond hearing Tuesday. The sign, marked "SIDETRACKS," hangs on the front of the building and is valued at $600.

AMA records in mercy killing out of jurisdiction, lawyer says

CHICAGO (UPI) — An alleged mercy killing by a physician described in the American Medical Association's prestigious weekly journal very likely did not occur within the jurisdiction of the Cook County grand jury seeking the doctor's name, state records indicated Tuesday.

Furthermore, officials said the Cook County state's attorney's office has ready computer access to the handful of deaths which match the description given in "It's Over, Debbie," an essay in which a young doctor admits to giving an allegedly lethal dose of morphine to a 20-year-old woman dying of ovarian cancer.

The availability of these records could prove crucial to the validity of a county grand jury subpoena seeking all AMA records concerning the essay, including the author's cover letter, the original manuscript and any memos discussing the Jan. 8 publication.

In a motion filed in Cook County Circuit Court late Monday, AMA lawyer Robert Portman attempted to quash the subpoena, arguing the state's attorney violated provisions of the Illinois Reporters Privilege Act. He also cited First Amendment protections in the motion, which Judge James Bailey continued until March 18.

The Illinois act provides that someone seeking privileged information must apply in writing to the Circuit Court to set aside the protection, prove in a hearing there is no other available source for the information and show the disclosure of the information is clearly in the public interest.

Portman said the state's attorney cannot show there is likelihood the alleged incident took place in his jurisdiction, nor even that it occurred. Portman also said the state's attorney made no attempt to determine the doctor's name outside the subpoena, and could have checked hospital records in Cook County to determine if a 20-year-old woman had died of ovarian cancer recently.

"What they say we failed to do would be almost an impossibility," Special Deputy State's Attorney Mark Rakoczy responded. "If it was never reported (as a suspicious death), how are we going to find out now?"

Steve Perry, Illinois assistant deputy state registrar, said the state's attorney could easily find out such information.

Prison violence in Illinois rising slowly, report says

CHICAGO (UPI) — Violence is on the rise in Illinois state prisons and the consequences could be substantial if overcrowding, among other problems, is not addressed soon, a prison watchdog group warned Tuesday.

The John Howard Association, a non-profit organization which monitors Illinois prisons, issued its annual "State of the Prisons" report and announced seven policy recommendations it said it would fight to have passed in the General Assembly this year.

"Unless the necessary steps are taken for both the short and long term, Illinois will be faced with continuing crises, including the loss of lives both inmates and prison staff," the report stated.

Since July 1984, nine inmates and three staff members have been slain at the state's correctional facilities. Since fiscal year 1983, the average monthly disciplinary reports have increased by 67 percent, the group said.

The state prison population currently hovers around 20,000.

Although the report attributes recent incidents of violence and deficiencies in basic prison services to overcrowding, the group stressed that building additional prison space is not the answer.

Instead, the association recommended a change in the way prison sentences are imposed, including the reduction and, or, elimination of mandatory minimum sentences, and urged the expanded use of alternatives, such as probation and residential community programs for lesser offenses.

AIDS testing results will be limited by state

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Illinois Department of Public Health plans to limit information about results of the state's mandatory premarital AIDS screening, a department spokeswoman said Tuesday.

However, spokeswoman Linda Haase denied that the new policy was being taken in the wake of criticism of its report about the first person to test positive for the deadly virus.

The Illinois Gay and Lesbian Task Force blasted the department for revealing last week that a Kane County woman was the first person to test positive for antibodies to the virus.

White supremacist reveals murder plans

FORT SMITH, Ark. (UPI) — The key witness in the government's trial of 14 alleged white supremacists told a federal court jury Tuesday about the slaying of a pawnshop owner and an aborted plan to assassinate an FBI agent.

James Ellison, the former leader of the Covenant, the Sword and the Arm of the Lord, a religious-military group that was based in north Arkansas, testified that Richard W. Snell told him he had killed a pawnshop owner in Texarkana during a robbery.

Ellison said the planned assassination of FBI agent Jack Knox of Arkansas was aborted because of a traffic accident.

Ellison is serving a federal prison sentence for racketeering and weapons law violations when he led the CSA. He is considered an unindicted co-conspirator in the case.

It was Ellison's second day of testimony in the trial of 14 men accused of seditious conspiracy and plotting to kill Knox and U.S. District Court Judge Franklin Waters of Arkansas.

Ellison testified Monday that Waters and Knox were targets because they were involved in the prosecution of people who harbored fugitive tax protester Gordon Kahl, who was killed in a 1983 shootout with authorities at his home in Smithville, Ark.

Snell, 57, of Muse, Okla., is a former Church of Christ minister and was affiliated with the CSA. He was sentenced to death for the 1983 slaying of a Texarkana pawnshop owner and is serving a life sentence for the 1984 shooting death of an Arkansas state trooper.

He is one of the 10 men on trial for seditious conspiracy and he also is charged with conspiracy to assassinate the federal officials. Prosecutors have said the conspiracy was financed through robberies and counterfeiting and was to be carried out by bombing, destruction of utilities, pollution of public water supplies and killing of federal officials and minorities.

Ellison testified that in November, 1983, Snell and two others went to Texarkana and returned to the CSA camp in north Arkansas three days later with a quantity of firearms and jewelry. Ellison said he learned through news reports that a man was killed and that he asked Snell about it.

"Wayne Snell said he (pawnshop owner) was an evil man, a Jew, and he just needed to die," Ellison said.

Between the time of the pawnshop shooting and the state trooper shooting, Ellison said Snell and co-defendant Lambert Miller, 47, of Springfield, Mo., came to him with a diagram of the floor plan of Knox's house. He said they wanted to know how much explosives would be needed to blow up the house.

At a later meeting, he said Snell, Miller, co-defendant David McGuire, 25, of New Albany, Ind., and Greenville, Ill., and two other people met in Ellison's home. He said Snell said he was ready to kill Knox.

Ellison said Snell and Miller were going to carry out the plan and that McGuire asked if he could go along and participate. He said the killing was set for Dec. 26.

Goetz fires lawyer in civil case

NEW YORK (UPI) — Subway gunman Bernhard Goetz has fired the lawyer who was defending him against a lawsuit filed by three of the four youths shot by Goetz on a subway train in 1984, his criminal lawyer said Tuesday.

The civil attorney, however, said he quit the case.

The disagreement between Goetz and his civil attorney, Joseph Kelnor, was disclosed a day after a judge ruled Goetz must stand trial in the Bronx for the lawsuit, which seeks more than $60 million in damages.

Kelnor said early in the day that he was quitting because Goetz wasn't cooperating in the case.

"I am making a formal motion today," Kelnor said. "He (Goetz) has not cooperated to the extent we need to defend him."

Kelnor declined to elaborate. Goetz himself would not comment on the matter, but his criminal lawyer did.

Attorney Mark Baker insisted the subway gunman and his civil attorney had an "amicable difference of opinion" and Goetz "basically" fired Kelnor.

"I just spoke with him (Goetz). He had been indicating to Mr. Kelnor that he did not have the desire to continue working with him," Baker added.

Baker said he and his partner, Barry Slotnick, had "absolutely no problems with Bernhard Goetz's cooperation on our case. He trusted us and I believe we did a good job for him. If anyone would suggest that he was uncooperative, I would dispute it vociferously."

The criminal attorneys, however, had replaced another lawyer, Frank Brenner who resigned in January 1985 because of "irreconcilable differences."

Swaggart admits 'moral failure,' agrees to two-year rehabilitation

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) A motel resident said she regularly saw disgraced television evangelist Jimmy Swaggart visit a seedy section of town known for the by-the-hour motels and prostitutes, a newspaper reported Tuesday.

Peggy Carrier, 39, a resident of Tony's Motel on Airline Highway, told the New Orleans Times-Picayune that detectives hired by rival evangelist Marvin Gorman questioned her about Swaggart's activities.

She told the detectives she had seen Swaggart on several occasions visiting the nearby Texas Motel and the Travel Inn where he would park his luxury car in the rear, the newspaper said.

The detectives have been working for lawyers handling a $90 million defamation suit Gorman filed against Swaggart, who frequently has railed against pornography from the pulpit and led a political movement for tougher enforcement of laws against pornography.

Gorman was delocked last year by the Assemblies of God following charges from Swaggart he had been involved in multiple sexual affairs. Gorman, who admitted to having one adulterous liaison seven years earlier, reportedly provided the church with a photograph showing Swaggart leaving a hotel with a known prostitute.

Following a meeting of more than eight hours Monday, leaders of the Assemblies of God ordered Swaggart to undergo two years of rehabilitation and banned his preaching for the next three months, following his detailed confession of a "moral failure."

Swaggart's ministry contributes $10 million annually to the Assemblies of God. The ministry employs an estimated 1,200 workers and was receiving about $500,000 in donations every day.

Neither Swaggart nor church leaders have made public the nature of the moral failure, but various media reports indicated it involved paying a prostitute to perform pornographic acts.

Swaggart has not responded to the reports, but in a tearful confession before followers at his Family Worship Center, he said the media had been "fair, objective and even compassionate" in covering the scandal.

An unidentified church source quoted by the Washington Post said Swaggart, who initiated the investigation of the Jessica Hahn sex scandal that toppled fellow evangelist Jim Bakker, has had a lifelong fascination with pornography.

During the meeting with the 19-member Louisiana district council of the Assemblies of God, Swaggart confessed to "specific incidents of moral failure" and agreed to the terms of his rehabilitation, church officials said.

The church's most popular preacher was not defrocked like Bakker because he confessed and submitted to rehabilitation, members of the council said.

"We'll be merciful, and he'll be restored," the Rev. Robert King said.

Advice To The Drug Worn

by Dr. Buzz
A weekly column answering alcohol and drug questions.

Dear Dr. Buzz: Is it true that smoking marijuana will discolor my teeth like cigarettes do?
-A tokin' question

Dear Tokin': You can kiss your pearly whites goodbye! Our dental hygienist resource person says you have a choice of designer colors for your teeth. Cigarettes turn your teeth brown, marijuana turns your teeth green. Nice, huh? Also the tar in one joint is equal to the tar in 4 cigarettes so what color do you guess your lungs are?

Dear Dr. Buzz: My roommate comes back to our room drunk every weekend. When he's drunk he gets loud & obnoxious. I'm afraid we'll get written up on a disciplinary report by our R.A. What should I do?
-Cornered

Dear Cornered: Have you ever tried to talk with a person while they're drunk? Better yet - have you ever tried to make sense out of that conversation? Here are some guidelines that may help you and your roommate.

- DON'T attempt to argue or reason with your roommate while he's drunk.
- DON'T become upset or angry with him, remember, it's alcohol talking, getting upset with the situation will only intensify the problem.
- DON'T offer him coffee or soft drinks in order to "sober him up." Cold showers won't work either & could shock his system.
- DO talk to him in a calm, non-judgmental voice in order to reassure him.
- DO encourage him to lie down and sleep, making sure he lies on his side to help prevent his choking to death in case he vomits. (YUK!)
- DO call for help if he becomes uncontrollable or if you sense an impending emergency.
- DO talk to him when he's sober and try to come to an agreement about your concerns. There are a number of people who can help support you and your roommate. Your R.A. is a great place to start. Also, the Wellness Center has good information, groups, & classes which may be of help.

If you have a question about alcohol or drugs - send it to Dr. Buzz c/o the Wellness Center or call 536-4441. Look for your answer in Dr. Buzz's column.

Prairie fires clean lake habitat

By Steven Starke
Staff Writer

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will be burning off several areas around Rend Lake through March to revitalize prairies essential to Southern Illinois wildlife.

The controlled or prescribed burns are used to control the natural succession of the ecosystem, John Mabery, corps park ranger, said. This provides upland wildlife, such as quail and rabbit, with a better environment to produce their maximum population.

Certain types of animals are not found outside of the prairies so the areas need to be kept open, Mabery said.

"By burning the prairies every two to three years, unwanted woody grasses and vegetation can be kept out," he said. "The resulting ashes act as fertilizer to strengthen the returning prairie grasses. The procedure is inexpensive, quick, and beneficial to wildlife."

The procedure involves turning up soil, a process known as bush hogging, to eliminate burnable materials around the designated burning area and prevent the fire from spreading out of control.

The burning is dependent on the direction of the wind. A back fire is set to burn slowly into the wind while a flank fire is set to each side of it, making a three-sided border. A head fire is then lit to burn with the wind between the other fires, which will control it, Mabery said.

Mabery noted that this time of year is best for the procedure because the roughest part of winter has past and cover for the animals is not as essential. It also is early enough in the year to avoid conflicting with the nesting season.

Mabery warns that driving through the area on days of the burns may be hazardous.

USO plans open house to ignite interest

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

The Undergraduate Student Organization is trying to encourage involvement in student government by holding an open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today in the USO office on the third floor of the Student Center.

"Basically we're just wanting people to be able to understand more about USO and be able to give their input about student government," Susan Hall, USO chief of staff, said.

The event also will give students a chance to meet the USO representatives from their region, Hall said.

This is "an open forum to them" if they have ideas for projects or anything else, she said.

All USO senators, commissioners and executive cabinet members will spend at least an hour in the office to answer questions, Hall said.

Invitations were sent to all Registered Student Organizations and to University officials who head advisory committees with student representatives, such as Sam McVay of the health advisory committee, Joe Camille of the financial advisory committee and Ingrid Clarke of the Ombudsman committee.

Chancellor Lawrence Pettit, President John C. Guyon and vice presidents also were invited, Hall said.

The event was planned in about two weeks, Hall said, but "we wanted to have it early enough in the semester so people who want to get involved in different projects can get involved now."

Bradley's Hawkins hits 63, pushes average to 35.6 ppg

DETROIT (UPI) — Bradley Coach Stan Albeck has guided such NBA stars as George Gervin, Otis Birdsong and Michael Jordan. Seldom, however, has he seen a performance that matched Hersey Hawkins' latest display.

Hawkins, the nation's leading scorer with a 35.6 average, had 63 points in No. 14 Bradley's 122-107 win over Detroit Monday night, hitting 21 of 28 shots from the field, including three three-point field goals, and 18 of 20 from the free-throw line.

"The thing I like about him is that he plays so hard on the road," Albeck said of the 6-foot-3 senior guard. "The stuff we run for him is basically what we ran for Gervin, Birdsong and Jordan, and he's really responded."

Detroit's Archie Tullos scored a team-record 49 points, breaking the mark set in 1978 by Terry Duerod, but he was more impressed by Hawkins' performance.

"Hersey is a great, great player," Tullos said. Tullos made 18 of 33 field goals, including four three-pointers. "It was just a pleasure to play with him. I picked up a few things I'm going to try to incorporate into my game."

Detroit Coach John Mulroy said: "We really got a taste of Hersey Hawkins. We got a taste of what it's like to play against an NBA-type player. We tried everybody and his brother on him, but nobody — and I mean nobody — could handle him. He went wild."

Movement is the key to the success of Bradley, 20-4, this season. Hawkins runs from screen to screen and when he gets open, point guard Anthony Manuel delivers the ball. Manuel is second in the country in assists. He dished out 12 in Monday night's game.

"He's the best player I've ever played against," the Titans' Mike Brown said of Hawkins. "I sure got tired trying to guard him. The thing is, he's a lot like (former Boston Celtic) John Havlicek. He's always moving. He was constantly moving the entire game, and they got him the ball."

Hawkins admitted the Braves switched from their normal game plan Monday night.

Hawkins broke the Missouri Valley Conference record for most points in a game, held by former NBA great Oscar Robertson.

"But tonight, it got to the point where everybody said, 'The hell with defense, let's go out and score some points.' I had a lot of layups; a lot more layups than I usually have. I knew that when I was scoring a lot of points and when the team was saying give me the ball, that's when I knew I was close to a record. I just got into a groove."

be the last home game for four seniors. Anne Thouvenin, Mary Berghuis, Regina Banks and Bridgett Bonds make their final appearance in the white uniforms.

Of late, starters Berghuis and Bonds have played especially well. Bonds leads the team in scoring at 11.5 points per game while Berghuis is at 11.4 ppg. "They play hard because they don't want to see their careers end and not get into the tournament," Scott said. "So many good things have happened here with them, it would be a shame to end it now."

—Tonda Seals is averaging 10.0 ppg. In the last two games she missed last-second shots that would have either won the game or tied the score, however, Scott voiced support for the junior guard. "I have great confidence in Tonda. Next time it could be different," Scott said.

—Berghuis had a career-high 26 points against Illinois State and eclipsed her season-high of 22 against Western Kentucky on Dec. 19, 1987.

candidate for the MVC Newcomer-of-the-Year honor. He is scoring 20.2 ppg in conference games.

"Eddie has shown a willingness to want the ball in crunch time," ISU coach Ron Greene said. "He still has several areas in which he needs to improve, such as strength and stamina, but he's come a long way since the start of the season. He does a good job of moving without the ball, finding the open man on passes and working to create a shot."

Center Olufemi Akinola (1.9 ppg, 1.6 rpg), who has received limited playing time, is the likely candidate to replace Alakija in the starting lineup.

Alakija was averaging 8.8 points and 5.4 rebounds per game.

Other probable starters include guards Richie Adderley (6.7 ppg, 1.7 rpg), Ron Cheatham (8.6 ppg, 2.4 rpg) and forward Dion Campbell (6.3 ppg, 4.1 rpg).

The Salukis lead the overall series, 38-27.

Nets player admits drug problem

NEW YORK (UPI) — New Jersey Nets forward Orlando Woolridge told NBA officials he has a drug problem and needs treatment, the league announced Tuesday.

The announcement came one day after the Nets fined Woolridge $22,250 for missing the team bus and two weekend games.

Woolridge's agent, Larry Fleisher, spoke to his client Tuesday and said the forward would meet with the league's drug counselor today. Fleisher refused to disclose details of the conversation, citing attorney-client privileges.

Fleisher also is general counsel for the union, which has declared the collective bargaining agreement which allows for the NBA's voided anti-drug program — void. The league and the union have tried in vain since the end of last season to reach an agreement, and Fleisher has started steps to decertify the union as the players' bargaining agent.

Fleisher said, however, he would not allow the collective bargaining negotiations to prevent Woolridge from gaining treatment.

"We maintain there is no drug program because there is no collective bargaining agreement," Fleisher said. "But I would not let that get in his way of receiving help. If it is true that Orlando needs help, then we will do what is necessary to help him."

Patriots' owner halts auction of Sullivan

BOSTON (UPI) — Stadium Management Corp. filed for federal bankruptcy protection Tuesday, stalling the planned auction of Sullivan Stadium, home of the New England Patriots, the team's attorney said.

Stadium Management, owned by Patriots' Vice President Chuck Sullivan, filed for protection from creditors under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Boston, attorney Joel Kozol said.

"The Sullivans have struggled for too long to work out their financial problems with their creditors," Kozol said. "They will now have the relief and the assistance the courts can provide."

"We are hopeful the Sullivans will be able to reorganize their affairs in a manner which will allow them to retain ownership and control of both Sullivan Stadium and the New England Patriots."

Is It True...

That Students In The 1980's Only Care About Themselves?

We don't think so!

In fact, we're setting up a new drug & alcohol program to help students help each other...by sharing information and experiences and providing resources where students can get accurate, unbiased information.

This new program is called S.O.S. - Self Over Substance. There will be three parts to the S.O.S. program. Some will be available next week others are in their developmental stage. They are:

- 1) A weekly column in the Daily Egyptian called "Advice to the Drug-Worm."
- 2) S.O.S. Peer facilitator program-a group of students trained in the most up-to-date information and referral resources.
- 3) Resource Center-containing videotapes, books pamphlets and audio tapes for checkout.

Become part of the Self Over Substance Prevention Program

We'll provide the training, information and materials and introduce you to a network of other concerned students. You'll provide a little of your time, energy and caring.

Salukis take on Sycamores tonight

Indiana State's first game since teammate's death

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

To avoid playing one of the top two seeds in the Missouri Valley tournament, the men's basketball team will have to defeat Indiana State at 7:08 tonight in Terre Haute, Ind. It will be the Sycamores' first game since center Rotimi Alaktja died after collapsing from an enlarged heart during practice last Friday. "The tragedy that happened at Indiana State is a tough thing for anyone to handle," Saluki coach Rich Herrin said. "They're going to come out in one of two ways. Either they'll be down mentally or they'll come out and really respond," he said. "I'm fearful that they will really come out with an intense effort for their teammate."

The sixth-place Salukis, 10-14 overall and 4-7 in the Valley, have two games left. The team will play Illinois State Saturday and Bradley on Monday, both at the Arena. "This is probably the key ballgame on our schedule," Herrin said. "If we beat Indiana State then I feel that we will at least finish sixth and won't have to play Wichita (State) or Bradley."

Indiana State, 7-18 and 3-9, is at the bottom of the Valley. "We shouldn't overlook them because they should have beaten us here," Herrin said. The Salukis won the first meeting, 82-72 in overtime. A last-second basket by Kai Nurnberger after Steve Middleton deliberately missed a free throw put the game into overtime.

The Sycamores are led by freshman forward Eddie Bird

(15.0 points per game, 4.6 rebounds per game). He has come on strong after a slow start.

In the third game of the season, his brother, Larry, along with 30 members of the Boston media, watched Eddie as the Sycamores played at Boston University. Bird went scoreless as he was 0 for 11 from the field.

Since then, Bird has developed into a leading

Women have 1 shot at tournament bid

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

Following Saturday's 78-77 loss to Illinois State on Saturday, women's basketball coach Cindy Scott said coolly: "We don't deserve to be in the conference tournament if we don't beat Eastern Illinois."

The Salukis, 16-9 overall and 12-5 in the Gateway, meet second-place Eastern Illinois Thursday at the Arena. At stake for the fourth-place Salukis is a spot in the conference tournament, the winner of which gets an automatic berth in the NCAA's.

A loss by SIU-C and two Drake victories over Wichita State and Southwest Missouri would jeopardize the Salukis' chances of getting in.

"The bad news is we're on the respirator," Scott said. "The good news is we're still breathing."

The conference losses this season were Eastern Illinois (62-50), Illinois State (79-59 and 78-77), Drake (57-52 in overtime) and Indiana State (60-57).

Three of those defeats have come in the last five games. "The losses have been tough to swallow. I feel real bad for our kids," Scott said. "They've suffered through some tough losses. Maybe we ran out of luck this season."

"This team deserves better."

"The bad news is we're on the respirator. The good news is we're still breathing."

—Cindy Scott

Interestingly, some of the other coaches in the conference are saying the conference tournament wouldn't be the same without the Salukis.

"They are a quality team," Illinois State coach Jill Hutchinson said. "They represent the class of the Gateway."

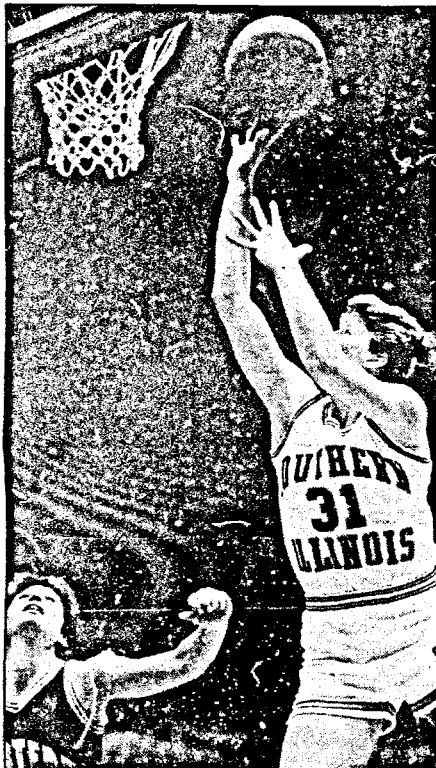

Wichita State Karen Harden tabbed the Salukis as the team to take the tournament just two weeks ago.

And even Barbara Hilke, whose Eastern Illinois Panthers stand in the Saluki's way, said: Southern has a great team, well coached. We will play them tough, because that's what the situation dictates. But we understand that they are playing for their season.

and freshman Chris Price has an injured shoulder.

"If I have a wish for a team, it is to be healthy," Brechtelsbauer said. "If that happens, I'll take my chances with our youth."

The 17-player roster has just three seniors and one junior. The rest of the team is comprised of underclassmen.

"They may be young, but they have great experience in quality softball. We're not going to take a backseat to anybody," Brechtelsbauer said.

Two teams on the schedule were ranked in the preseason national poll.

The Salukis play No. 7 Florida State on March 16 in Tallahassee, Fla., during the March 15-20 spring road trip.

They take on No. 13 Western Illinois on April 9 in Macomb. Western Illinois is one of four

After Games, Blair could add to success

CALGARY, Alberta (UPI) — On the day after she won a gold medal, the marketing of Bonnie Blair began in earnest.

The United States has not had a new female sports heroine since Mary Lou Retton in 1984, and Blair has the warmth, big smile and personality to appeal to advertisers. Now she has something else that is a special, a gold medal, which very well may be the only one captured by an American woman in these Winter Games.

"Sure, it would be nice to get a little something out of it, but I'm not counting on anything yet," Blair said Tuesday, hours after she won the 500-meter speedskate event in world record time.

According to her agent, Jim Fink, a family friend from Blair's hometown of Champaign, there are several possibilities available to her.

"A campaign slogan has already been developed," Fink said. "Bonnie Blair, a Woman and a Winner."

Asked how much he thought a gold medal was worth, Fink said, "there is

East German, Finn win 2 golds

CALGARY, Alberta (UPI) — East Germany's Frank-Peter Roetsch and Finland's Matti Nykanen became double-gold medalists at the Winter Games Tuesday.

Strong winds that have plagued the Games disappeared Tuesday and clear, crisp and calm weather allowed every outdoor event to go off as scheduled for the first time since the opening ceremonies.

The ideal conditions came too late, however, to save more than $850,000 (U.S.) in lost ticket revenue originally earmarked for Canadian amateur sports.

no dollar amount on a gold medal. A gold medal is worth the quality of the human being who won it. Bonnie is a special person. She has no concept yet of who she is."

Among the possibilities mentioned for Blair were Disney World and

In the first two medal events of the day, Roetsch captured the 10-kilometer biathlon and Nykanen won the 90-meter ski jumping competition that had twice been postponed by winds.

Finals in ice dancing were scheduled for the evening, as was the women's 3,000-meter speedskating race. Anticipation was also growing for the long-awaited figure skating showdown between American Debi Thomas and East German Katerina Witt. Their compulsory figure competition begins before dawn today.

American Express. Fink added, "Food companies may want her, a beer company, cosmetics, women's clothing. She has everything Mary Lou Retton had. I hate myself for making that reference, but she was a small person who went out and beat the bigger person, David slaying Goliath."

Before she concerns herself with the business world, Blair is turning herself only to the business which brought her to Calgary. She has two races left, the 1,000 Friday and the 1,500 Saturday, and she intends to add to her medal collection.

"I've been feeling good ever since I've been here," the 23-year-old Blair said. "I've felt good on the ice, physically and mentally. If I can skate to my best potential, medals can be won in the 1,000 and in the 1,500 as well."

Speedskating to the Blair clan is a tradition. Her father, Charlie, was at a skating rink in Cornwall, N.Y., at the time Bonnie was born; all her five older brothers and sisters skated, winning national and North American championships; and Bonnie started skating at age 2 even though her family couldn't find a pair of skates small enough for her feet.
