Salukis Favored in Michigan Game

2 Tie Votes Get No Action

Two ties in the campus election Wednesday bottlenecked the meeting of the Student Council Thursday.

Unable to reach a decision on how to handle a two-way tie for the School of Technology senate seat, and a three-way tie for the School of Fine Arts senator, the Council postponed action until next Thursday night.

It was proposed at the meeting that the Council's constitution be amended to declare the seats void for this year, but nothing definite emerged from the discussion.

The Council was disturbed about the apathy of students toward the two senatorial seats in question. It seems each of the students in the tie received only one vote--their own write-in.

It was decided, however, that four of the Council members would present the problem before an ad hoc committee this week and let the council take action next week.

In other action, the Council decided to have Howard Benson Jr., elections commissioner, recount the votes to see if the General Studies students were entitled to another senatorial seat.

Under the present constitution, there is supposed to be a senator for every 500 students.

The General Studies polls supposedly recorded more than 1,000 ballots cast Wednesday. If this is verified after a recount, a special election will be held in two weeks to seat another General Studies senator.

The Council also passed a bill to support the mock election to be held Tuesday.

The body voted unanimously to recognize an off-campus house, the Hofbrau Haus, 504 S. Rawlings.

Several senators reported student complaints about some polls opening late and closing

FRANK N. TRAGER DISCUSSES U.S. SOUTHEAST ASIA POLICY

Determination Needed

America's Advisory Policy Is Not Enough, Speaker on Asian Affairs Declares Here

By Ric Cox

"America's foreign policy of being merely defensive and advisory in Southeast Asia is not enough to win the war," Frank N. Trager, professor of international affairs at New York University, said here Friday.

Trager, an authority on Burma and Southeast Asia, made the statement in an interview after his address at the University Center to more than 150 specialists on Asian affairs.

Friday was the opening of a two-day meeting of the 13th annual Midwest Conference on Asian Affairs on the SIU campus.

Asked about the effects of the coming election on Americans foreign policy in Southeast Asia, Trager said it "may bring about a change in U.S. policy on mainland in Southeast Asia."

Assuming President Johnson's reelection, Trager said: "President Johnson will have to make a determination whether to withdraw from, or negotiate on, the Vietnamese situation; or to decide that the United States must become an active participant in order more speedily to end the Communist war in Viet Nam."

Trager also commented on the effect the recent world changes will have on Southeast Asia.

"Acquisition of a nuclear bomb by China, the transition from Khrushchev to Brezhnev or anyone else in the Soviet hierarchy will in no substantial way affect the conflict between the Communist world and their forces contending against the governments and peoples of Southeast Asia," Trager said.

Cautious Contest Expected; Massey Is Off Injury List

By Richard La Susa

The simple words "proceed with caution" will serve as a guideline for the Salukis this afternoon when they meet a scrappy Northern Michigan football team in Marquette, Mich.

The encounter with the Wildcats is the final road game of the season for the University Council To Discuss Exams

The University Council is holding its weekly meeting in the Renaissance Room of the University Center today.

Among the items on the agenda are two concerning final exams.

One deals with methods to bring about orderly implementation of the new final exam system while the other is a discussion of a possible time break prior to finals.

Other matters up for consideration and discussion are faculty elections, promotion policies, revision of admission standards at the master's level and the publication of monographs and periodicals.

Salukis, and will be heard over WSIU-FM and WCIL radio starting at 12:30 p.m.

The Salukis have a 2-3 record for season, while the host Wildcats are 3-3.

Southern is considered the favorite in this, the third meeting with the Wildcats (each club has one victory). But SIU head coach Don Shroyer is looking forward to the contest with caution. It is known that NMU is difficult to beat on its home grounds and the Saluki squad has yet to prove that it can win consistently.

After last week's victory over Drake, Shroyer was pleased with the play of some individuals--notably quarterback Jim Hart, flanker-back Rudy Phillips and line-backers Willie Wilkerson and Jack Holderer--but was not particularly satisfied with the over-all performance of his new double-wing-T offense.

"Against Drake," said Shroyer, "we didn't get the better running speed from our backs that we expected," the running game, needed to supplement Hart's improved passing, was emphasized in practice this week, and Shroyer is again expected to use the double wing against the Wildcats.

Outside of Hart, who had his best day of the season in the 28-19 win over Drake, and the blocking linemen, the key men in Southern's pro-style offensive attack are half-back Rich Weber and flanker-back Phillips, Weber, a Mattoon senior, is the Salukis' leading ground-gainer at mid-season and Phillips, of Decatur, is the squad's top scorer and pass receiver.

With the new double wing set-up, Phillips' speed is better utilized because he is given more of an opportunity to carry the ball. Under the Salukis' standard pro-set system, Phillips is used mainly as pass receiver.

The Wildcats scouted the Salukis at Drake last Saturday, and, according to coach Ferzacca, "were consid-

"For though the Conservative party and the Labor party differed on such questions as nuclear development, multilateral nuclear forces and the Common Market, they held in common strong views as to the desirability of maintaining and enhancing the relationship among members of the Commonwealth."

In addition to his visits to Southeast Asia, Trager has worked for the Armed

Khrushchev Dropped Down the 'Memory Hole'

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev has become an unperson.

For a week now there has been no public indication in the nation he long dominated that such a man ever existed.

His picture has disappeared from public places. His books are no longer heaped in display in stores.

The nearest that the men who shoved him aside have come to admitting there ever was a Khrushchev is to attack leadership failures obviously attributed to him.

Criticism of the "cult of personality" used to mean Stalin. Now it means Khrushchev.

The attacks may soon become more direct, naming Khrushchev and attributing all sorts of sins to him. But, for the moment, he has been dropped down the memory hole.

That was the term George Orwell used in his book "1984" for the incinerator that destroyed records. When policy reasons in Orwell's imaginary state dictated that a person should not have existed, all references to him were dropped down the memory hole. Historians referring to him went that way and so did current material. He became an unperson.

There are no signs that the books are being destroyed here. That would be difficult.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, the new first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, and Alexei N. Kosygin, the new premier, have pledged to carry on such Khrushchev policies as peaceful coexistence and improvement of living standards. They referred to party meetings over the last eight years.

The policy positions of those meetings were set forth in speeches by Khrushchev. That may be the reason his books, collections of his speeches, are still available on a somewhat surreptitious basis.

The tide also is going out for Khrushchev's role in World War II. Before he achieved power in the four years after Stalin died, Khrushchev was credited with only a small wartime part. In recent years he has loomed large in histories and anniversary articles, particularly on fighting in the Ukraine, where he was long the party boss.

The 20th anniversary of the liberation of the Nazi armies would have been an occasion for lavish praise of Khrushchev's role. Instead, articles on it appearing after Khrushchev's ouster ignored him.

POSSIBLE VICTIM

This Week in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On Oct. 22 in 1928, Herbert Hoover wound up his campaign for the presidency by declaring in a speech: "Rugged individualism is basic to the American system."

In 1944, U.S. warships opened the Battle of Leyte, biggest naval action ever fought. The result was destruction of Japanese naval power.

In 1962, President Kennedy announced an air and sea blockade of Cuba to halt the flow of offensive weapons to the island.

On Oct. 23 in 1776, George Washington's troops withdrew from the Island of Manhattan.

In 1929, the New York Stock market dropped down $5 billion in an avalanche of selling.

'WHAT'S IN IT FOR US?'

Philosophy of Self-Reliance Motivated Herbert Hoover

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON -- Two contradictions he revealed in his most critical moment were enough to make President Hoover a fascinating figure in American history.

He had seen and been a part of the government in World War II when, to survive and win, it went all-out in using its resources and controls.

But -- as President in the depression he stopped far short of going all-out in meeting the crisis which threatened devastation worse than war.

He organized and distributed relief for millions overseas during and after World War I.

But -- as president he would not give direct government help to the needy in the American depression. Why? The answer is in his philosophy.

He preached self-reliance, calling it individualism. He thought all men should have equal opportunity for happiness and fulfillment.

This, he felt, required a minimum of interference by the government or dependence on it.

It was the dominant view in the 19th century in which he grew up. It was not his own philosophy. He inherited it.

There was a flaw in it which neither he nor many others ever seemed to perceive: All men, because of differences in birth and circumstances, do not have equal opportunities.

The view was rooted in 18th century France and England, where men like Adam Smith felt government controls had become oppressive and were stifling the development of men and nations.

In his "Wealth of Nations" in 1776 Smith became the great spokesman for a minimum of government interference, the let-alone philosophy which swept the Western world.

Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson felt the same way. But Jefferson and Smith and others like them -- from before Cicero up till now -- were not completely realistic.

They had a mystical belief in a "natural law" -- more important than any man-made law to the contrary -- that men were not unequal but had a natural right to equal opportunity.

This assumption was so prevalent in their time it is hardly a coincidence that in the same year, 1776, Smith wrote his book and Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence.

Without their belief in "natural

Shoemaker, Chicago's American

THERE GOES THAT GOOD SAMARITAN

law" it seems impossible that Smith could have produced the "Wealth of Nations" or Jefferson the Declaration of Independence.

Nor was it odd in a practical way that Jefferson and Jackson wanted limited government. They were living in an early America, mostly agricultural, where people could be and often had to be self-dependent.

Theirs was a different America for this one, heavily industrialized, with most people in cities, and therefore interdependent.

The Jefferson-Jackson view held up to the Civil War and was paralleled in England, where Liberals, anxious for freedom in all directions, warred against government involvement or intrusions.

Here the let-alone philosophy took a turn after the Civil War. With industrialization leaping ahead, business got a lot of help, directly or indirectly, from the government and the Supreme Court right up to the depression.

There were other voices, less prevalent in the 19th century but infinitely more influential in this one, who talked government responsibility. They had to wait years to be vindicated. Hoover absorbed some of that, too.

It explains why, although he stopped far short of using all the government's resources in the depression, he went further to combat it than any depression president in history.

One example will show the long let-alone tradition in the White House before Hoover ever moved there.

In 1887, when Congress passed a bill to give direct government relief to drought-stricken farmers in Texas, President Cleveland vetoed it, saying: "though the people support the government, the government should not support the people."

Hoover did far more in the way of using government resources after the crash than Cleveland might have thought of, but it was still not enough.

In holding back on direct relief to the needy he was in the main American stream up till then.

Red China 'Invited' For Nuclear Talks

WASHINGTON--A State Department spokesman declared Friday that "the channels for dialogue" between Red China and the older nuclear powers are open.

Press officer Robert McCloskey made the statement, and said it "would be all right" with the United States if the Chinese Reds were invited into Geneva disarmament talks.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant suggested Thursday that the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Red China should meet next year to discuss a total nuclear test ban and nuclear weapons control measures.

McCloskey said the United States interprets Thant's proposal to be for a "dialogue" among the nuclear powers, including Red China.

"The channels for a dialogue are open," McCloskey said. "The British, French and Soviet governments are represented in Peking, and we (the United States) have periodic talks with the Chinese Communists in Warsaw."

At the same time McCloskey said that although the channels are open to the Red Chinese "we haven't heard anything constructive from them yet."

He charged that "the Chinese Communists have repelled world opinion by starting atmospheric tests in the face of agreement by 107 countries to ban such tests."

Three Hungarians

Defect in Tokyo

TOKYO -- Three Hungarians--one a member of his nation's Olympic team--defected Friday and flew to the United States to ask for asylum, Japanese police reported. The two other Hungarians were tourists here for the Olympic Games.

The Olympian, Andras Toro, 24, finished fourth in the Canadian canoe singles.

The other two men, Denes Kovacs, 42, and Karoly Molnar, about 38, were reported to have decided the Olympics presented a good opportunity to go to the United States where they have relatives.

Frank Luther Mott Dies at Columbia

COLUMBIA, Mo. -- Dr. Frank Luther Mott, dean emeritus of the University of Missouri School of Journalism and Pulitzer Prize-winning author, died Friday in a hospital here. He was 78.

He was dean of the journalism school from 1942 until he retired in 1951.

Dean Mott was visiting professor at the SIU Department of Journalism during the 1960 winter term.

Dean Mott, in ill health several years, had been in the hospital since the death of his wife last Sept. 13.

He won the Pulitzer prize in 1939 for Volume II and III of "History of American Magazines." Four volumes were published and he was working on Volume V when he entered the hospital.

Yank Cage Team Beats Russia, But Soviets Win Medal Race

TOKYO -- A silk-smooth, inspired United States basketball team, stung by widespread speculation that their Olympic dominance was at an end, crushed Russia 73-59 Friday and won the gold medal for the sixth straight time while Joe Frazier of Philadelphia won the heavyweight boxing title.

The Soviets, however, grabbed off boxing and gymnastic medals at a pell-mell rate and overtook the United States in the total medals' tabulation on the last full day of competition in the 18th modern Olympics.

The Russian gymnasts collected seven medals, including two gold, and the boxers added seven more, three of them gold. In all, the Russians added 19 pieces of Olympic hardware to their collection for a total of 96.

The United States, meanwhile, got only two--the golds by the basketball team and Frazier--for a total of 90.

The only event on the final day of the Games today is equestrian grand prix jumping.

The present medal totals show Russia with 30 gold, 31 silver and 35 bronze. The United States has 36 gold, 26 silver and 28 bronze.

Government Appeals Contempt Rulings

JACKSON, Miss.--The Justice Department moves today to appeal a federal judge's effort to jail the U.S. district attorney and the U.S. attorney general.

It is a strange judicial clash, still mainly obscured by grand jury secrecy.

In a dramatic court session Thursday, Dist. Atty. Robert Hauberg refused to sign several indictments prepared by a "blue ribbon" federal grand jury.

A court official in Jackson said the signature of a U.S. attorney on indictments is normal procedure, and Hauberg's signature would be required on the indictments in question because of the judge's order.

Dist. Judge Harold Cox ruled Hauberg guilty of contempt of court. He also ordered civil contempt of court proceedings against acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

Instead of jailing Hauberg immediately, Judge Cox allowed five days for an appeal to be filed.

The grand jury is the one summoned into session at Biloxi to consider evidence in the murder of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss. No indictments involving that case were returned.

GOP 'Racist' Campaign Film Repudiated by Goldwater

LOS ANGELES--Sen. Barry Goldwater repudiated Friday as "nothing but a racist film" a Republican campaign film he ordered withdrawn earlier in the week.

Goldwater, in a brief news conference, referred to the film, "The Choice," which dealt with the subject of rising crime, declining morality and violence in the streets.

It stirred up a storm earlier in the week when the television networks refused to show it unless certain portions were deleted.

The film was sponsored by Citizens for Goldwater-Miller and a campaign organization, Mothers for Moral America.

Goldwater said he hadn't heard of the film before Monday.

He added, "It shows a lot of riots. They say they show a lot of white rioters as well, but I feel that it will incite trouble if it is shown. I will publicly repudiate it if the film is shown anywhere."

Later, he said, "I do publicly repudiate it now."

In Washington, a spokesman for Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, said "I don't think we'll have any comment" on Goldwater's remarks.

The film cost $65,000.

Hoover Casket Goes to Capitol

WASHINGTON--The body of Herbert Clark Hoover was taken to Washington Friday to permit the nation to pay its final respects to its 31st president.

President Johnson was waiting at Union Station when the train bearing Hoover's casket arrived from New York.

The casket was removed from the train for a slow procession to the Capitol, a half-mile away.

The sealed casket will be on public view in the rotunda of the Capitol today, resting on the same catafalque that bore the bodies of Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy.

It then will be flown to Iowa for burial Sunday in Hoover's native state.

Miss Southall Helped Start Child Care During War

A woman of national recognition and background, Maycie K. Southall, has joined the Department of Elementary Education staff this fall as a visiting professor for the academic year.

A native Tennessean who came here from George Peabody College in Nashville, she has served as a member of the National Commission for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and was educational consultant to the Sixth General UNESCO Conference in Paris.

Miss Southall has been a member of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association and has served on the executive committee of the NEA department of elementary school principals.

She has served as national president and national secretary-treasurer of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary society in education. She received its achievement award in 1941. Last year the society established the Maycie K. Southall Scholarship, worth $2,500.

Miss Southall, who has her doctorate from Peabody, helped set up child care programs in war-crowded centers during World War II when

Born in Columbia, Tenn., she began her career as an elementary teacher in Tennessee and was state supervisor of elementary instruction in North Carolina before joining the Peabody Faculty.

Education Dean Recommends Teachers for 'Disadvantaged'

"Nearly one-fourth of America's youth are disadvantaged by reason of racial discrimination, low standing or poverty," Elmer J. Clark, dean of the SIU College of Education told a student convocation at the University of Nebraska today.

"One of several possible solutions to the problem is colleges and universities instituting special programs for the preparation of elementary teachers of the disadvantaged," Clark said.

Emphasis should be placed on the selection of superior teachers who are dedicated to the cause of helping the lower class student raise his level of aspiration, he said.

The program would include special orientation courses in sociology, psychology, and social work; work experiences in depressed areas; and student teaching assignments with disadvantaged children.

Clark challenged doctoral students to identify and pursue research problems related to this field. He listed foundations and agencies from which funds might be obtained for such research.

While at the University of Nebraska, Clark will meet with the executive committee of the National Society of College Teachers of Education. He is the secretary-treasurer of that organization.

Shell Oil, SIU to Cooperate In Work and Study Program

The Shell Oil Company, Wood River Plant, and the Student Work Office will initiate a cooperative work study program for majors in chemistry beginning winter quarter of 1965.

Any chemistry student participating in the co-op program, will work in the research laboratories at the Wood River Plant as a research assistant.

Student Work Office and the Shell Oil Company plan to make this a six-month experience followed by another six months of academic work at the University.

The work office soon will begin to interview chemistry students interested in this program. Presently, only juniors and seniors majoring in chemistry, and having at least a 4,000 average will be interviewed. Interest on the part of the applicants will be one of the major criteria in selecting the participants.

Students in the program will be able to continue their academic work on a limited basis at the Edwardsville campus. While participating in this program, the student will receive a minimum of $450 a month during his on-the-job experience at Wood River.

Any student interested in the program should talk with Bruno W. Bierman or Harold Reents at the Student Work Office.

Student Arrested, Fined for Theft

Joseph Petraitis, 18, a freshman from Carbondale, was put on disciplinary probation through the fall quarter after being charged by Carbondale police with shoplifting.

Petraitis took two spark plugs from a Carbondale store Monday, police said. He was fined $50 and $15 court costs by Judge Robert Schwartz and given a 90-day suspended sentence.

Petraitis told the Office of Student Affairs he bought a set of spark plugs from the store and used them for a week before discovering that two were defective. When he returned them to the store he did not have the sales slip and the store would not make an exchange. A spokesman in the O.S.A. said Petraitis was later seen taking two plugs and was apprehended by Carbondale police.

VTI Enrollment Hits 1,069, 17 Per Cent Rise Over '63

Enrollment rose to 1,069 students this year at the SIU Vocational-Technical Institute.

This is a 17 per cent increase over last year, said Marvin Hill, acting director of VTI.

All the 26 VTI programs except five are two-year courses. The one-year programs are practical nursing, cosmetology, welding in the machine technology program, and clerical and calculating machines in the business programs.

The SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education has three functions: noncredit adult education, the government manpower training program, and the VTI day program.

The adult education night classes began in 1951 and day classes in 1952. "In twelve years the program swelled from 35 students and 7 teachers to the present 1,069 students and approximately 70 staff members," Hill said.

The programs at VTI include commercial art, electronic data processing, machine drafting, building construction, mechanical technology, industrial wood technology, and printing technology.

Automotive technology, dental technology, dental hygiene, cooperative retailing, the various business programs, cosmetology, practical nursing, aviation technology, electronics technology and the newly accredited mortuary science program.

Saluki Cross-Country Runners To Compete in Chicago Today

Track coach Lew Hartzog takes his young cross-country squad to Washington Park in Chicago today to meet the University of Chicago track club in a dual meet scheduled to get underway at 1:30 p.m.

Senior Bill Cornell, who has just recovered from an illness, will once again lead the Salukis. He will be supported by his teammates Herb Walker, Jack Leydig, Alan Ackman, John Trowbridge and Jay Beeskow.

erably impressed with Phillips and Hart."

While three-fourths of the starting SIU backfield is set for today's game, the starting fullback assignment still is up for grabs. Irv Rhodes, a Ronco, Pa., senior, started against Drake, but gained only nine yards and may be replaced by Monty Riffer. Riffer, Vandergrift, Pa., started the season at first-team fullback but failed to impress the Saluki coaching staff.

Turning to the SIU line, Shroyer probably will go with a starting unit made up of ends Bonnie Shelton and Mike McGinnis; tackles Mitchell Krawczyk and Lewis Hines; guards Isaac Brigham and Vic Pantaleo and center Bennie Hill.

The defensive backfield, which underwent something of a shake-up last week, will include linebackers Rhodes, Wilkerson and Holderer and backs Phillips, Weber and Wayne Thames.

Shroyer also received the good news Friday that Tom Massey, the Salukis sensational sophomore end who fractured a cheek bone in Tulsa three weeks ago, will be able to play today.

Hartzog also plans to run his freshmen in the meet. Probably the most exciting freshman is Danny Shaughnessy, who ran the four mile course here in the record time of 19:05 in the DePaul meet.

Other freshmen who are expected to run are Tom Curry, Jerry Kurfman, Carl Vinson and Dave Magee.

The Salukis are next scheduled to run in the Central Collegiate Championships in Chicago on Nov. 13. The team is also scheduled to run in the National Championships in East Lansing on Nov. 23 and the National Federation Meet in Chicago on Nov. 26.

Educators to Seek Close Coordination

Easing the path from high school to college will be explored at a meeting of educators Monday morning at SIU.

It will be the first session of a committee suggested by Ray Braun, president of the State Association of High School Principals.

Charles D. Tenney, vice president for planning and review, will be host for the 10:30 a.m. session, in the president's office. Termed by schoolmen an "articulation study," the committee will seek closer coordination between college admission procedures and high school counseling practices.

Solving the problems encountered by entering college freshmen through information imparted at high school advisement level will require cooperation at both colleges and high schools, Tenney said.

Tenney and J. Ward Barnes, principal of the Eldorado High School, are co-chairmen for Monday's meeting.

Other members of the committee include high school superintendents William O. Fisher of Orland Park, Eugene McClintock of Centralia, Harold Mescher of Cairo and John D. Mees of Carbondale; high school principals Tom Jones of Carmi, Robert L. Miller of Olympia Fields, F. Ernest Tuthill of Hillsboro, Fred Riddle of Collinsville, W.W. Downing of East St. Louis, J. Ward Barnes of Eldorado, and Andrew A. Moore of Chicago. University representatives, in addition to Tenney are Charles W. Sanford and Lowell Fisher of the University of Illinois.

early during the Wednesday election.

It was explained that the election commission had trouble finding people to man the polls and that difficulties were compounded by Sen. Hubert Humphrey's visit.

In final business, the Council discussed the problem of students going on campaign poster raid.

It seems that some students are especially fond of cutting the pictures off the Homecoming queen posters and hanging them on their walls.

"There are regulations to govern and discipline students who carry on such activities," a senator said. "But it would take the National Guard to make the rules effective."
