Cycle Safety Regulations Win Support

University support for a legislative proposal to require separate tests and licenses for motorcycle operators in Illinois has been recommended by the Committee on Motorcycle Safety. Volume 47

The committee also commended the concept of a student traffic control board, and recommended more motorcycle parking areas and separate parking regulations for weekends, holidays and special events.

These recommendations were made in addition to regulations passed by the committee and which will go into effect Sept. 1, and be enforced by the Security Force.

These regulations include: 1. The prohibition of side saddle riding.

2. The limitation of exhaust noise levels as measured by a decibel rating scale.

 The demonstration of riding ability and the requirement of a written test of knowledge of motorcycle safety and accident information.

4. The possession of a valid driver's license, proof of liability insurance, and, if the student is under 21, a statement of parental consent to own a motorcycle.

5. The parking of motorcycles only in specifically posted areas within the periphery of the Campus Drive.

New SIU Entertainment Series To Bring Celebrities to Campus

DO I HAVE TO HAVE MY RECEIPT? - The 1966 Obelisks arrived Thursday morning, and hundreds of students lined up to receive theirs at the Obelisk office at the northwest comer of the Agriculture Building. Students must have ID cards to pick their books up. Copies of receipts are on file.

Summer Plans Semi-Monthly Pay Checks Set for Fall; Procedure for June Payment Explained

Student workers will be paid twice a month beginning this fall, according to the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office. Students are now paid once a month.

The change in payroll procedure is being made with the help of the Data Processing Center, Raymond DeJarnett, associate director of student work and financial assistance, said.

DeJarnett also said that students may work up to 150 hours a month during the summer quarter.

As in the past, students are allowed to work more hours on campus jobs because class loads in the summer are usually lighter.

Students who are currently authorized for student work and plan to continue in the summer or fall will not need new work authorizations.

new work authorizations. The Student Work Office also reminded students who will not be on campus June 20 when pay checks are issued that they take the following steps to have their checks mailed to them:

Either mail or bring to the Payroll Office, 807 Elizabeth St., a self-addressed, stamped kin envelope large enough to hold the the unfolded check.

The student should print his full name on the envelope as it appears on his check each month.

Indicate on the envelope the month for which the check is to be mailed. Students who wish to have more than one check mailed to them during the summer must provide an envelope' for each month a check is issued.

Students must clear all accounts on campus before leaving. Students who owe for fines, textbooks, etc. will have their checks held by the Bursar's Office until these accounts are cleared. The Payroll Office cannot mail checks in such cases. Those student workers who

Name, Variety Being Sought

A new program series of major entertainment, including a Broadway musical, a modern opera, and dance groups has been scheduled for the 1966-67 school year.

The tentative title for the presentations is the "Celebrity series," according to Paul Hibbs, SIU director of programs.

Hibbs said the Student Activities Office in conjunction with the Office of Director of Programs will sponsor a new series of night entertainment next year similar to that of other large universities.

"We are trying to schedule them on weekends," Hibbs said. "We are enlisting the help of several departments on campus to assist in bringing a wide variety of entertainment here.

Hibbs said the following four events have been scheduled to appear in Shryock Auditorium:

Oct. 1 - "Half a Sixpence," currently a Broadway hit musical. Two evening shows are planned.

Nov. 10—The internationally known Martha Graham Dance Group.

Feb. 1, 1967 — George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," which will be niaking its first national tour of onenight stands. A matinee and evening performance are planned;

April 12, 1967 — The Serge Jaroff Don Cossack Singers and Dancers.

Ticket prices have not yet been set, Hibbs said, but he estimated the musical play and opera tickets will be in the $1 to $3 range. The shows normally charge up to $7 or $8 when on cour.

"We are going to get some kind of subsidy to make up the difference," Hibbs said. "We want the shows to be priced so the students can take advantage of them."

City Moves Toward Managership

The southwest wards of the city seem to have made the difference in the Carbondale, election for a city manager form of government.

form of government. This fact came out in the meeting of the City Council Thursday morning at City Hall during the official canvass of the election results.

Wards 5, 7, 9 and 11 cast over 1,000 votes of the 1,900 total ballots for the city manager plan.

Mayor D. Blaney Miller announced at the meeting that he had sent a letter to the International City Managers Association, Chicago, announcing the results of the election and inviting interested parties to apply for the Carbondale job. He said the city will "move as rapidly as possible in regards to this."

The Council adopted a resolution stating that the manager plan is now the official plan of municipal government for Carbondale and that it will take effect as soon as a managen is appointed.

are reference as soon as a manager is appointed. This caused City Clerk Elizabeth Leighty, a bit of difficulty. In calling for a vote she had to refer to members as councilmen rather than commissioners, their title prior to the election. A salary for the new manager has not been determined. Miller said this was open for negotiations.

On the suggestion of Councilman Frank Kirk, the Council agreed to work together with citizens' groups in screening the applicants to three.

The Council and mayor will make the final choice from these three.

Miller objected to laymen being in on the final selection on the grounds that "It's our responsibility . . . we're the ones that get the blame or the credit." •Pop Should students have the right to evaluate their instruc-tors? If so, will their criti-cisms and praise be of value, or will they be swayed by the grades they got and the amount work required by the course?

We think that students should have the right to comment on their instructors. Just be-cause there isn't a written book of commentary now doesn't mean that the word doesn't get around about each teacher. What's more, this oral evalua-tion may tend to be extreme one way or the other simply because it is oral rather than written.

As to the students' objectivity, well, it's strange, but many times the teachers that are the hardest and require the most work get the most favorable reviews. It's the ones who are boring, patronizing and completely uncoop-erative that get "no" votes. Despite what parents and teachers think, and what most college students like to admit, the majority of students are here for an education. We respect and recommend any respect and recommend any instructor who can make learning a pleasant exper-ience, no matter how much work we have to do for him. To tell other students about

Secondly, evaluation would have the be done every year so that the book would always give a picture of the changes and growth ture of the changes and growth of teaching methods, as well as keeping up with the in-creasing number of faculty members and class listings. These drawbacks can be overcome by good organiza-

U. S. Exchanges Weather Data With China, Other Countries

Saigon-The United States is in almost daily contact with Red China, among other As-ian nations, in gathering vital weather information for the Viet Nam war.

A U. S. Air Force mete-orology officer at Saigon airport said swapping weather data, even among nations which do not have diplomatic relations, is a common practice.

Most of the nations are linked through the Internation-al Weather Organization (IWO) and the practice has gone on for years.

This is under-standable. To murder a man for biosecontector of the self into for his race or his religion is the most heinous of all murders

But in Watts Piot No. 2 this winter a white truck driver, caught making a delivery in the neighborhood, ran ahead of a howling Negro mob and begged refuge at houses, the doors of which were locked against him. So the mob caught and killed him.

One Day, One War, One Company

By Bob Poos

BONG SON, South Viet Nam (AP) - This is build sur, sourh viet Nam (AP) - Inits is the way the war goes while the politicians and the generals row over the future of Viet Nam: Last week a battalion of the U.S. lst Cavalry, Airmobile, division won a clearcut victory, wiping out a battalion of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong regulars.

Cong regulars. But mostly this war doesn't bring big battles and victories. You see that in a day with B Company, 2nd Battalion, 7th Cavalry, which has the official radio designation of "Hardcore" from its exploits in the Ia Drang Valley battle last November November.

It set out in search of the enemy in a valley about five miles south of Bong Son, an area long an emeny stronghold. Bong Son, 280 miles north of Saigon on the coastal plain of central Viet Nam, is one of the few allied bastions

"Hardcore," commanded by Capt. Mike Kalla of Cleveland, Ohio, knows the terrain well. His men marched back and forth in it, fighting much of the time, during operations last Jan-uary, February and March. "I wonder if we'll find anything," said Spec.

"I wonder if we'll find anything," said Spec. 4 Chuck Burns, 19, of Buffalo, N.Y., just prior to climbing aboard the helicopter that was to take him- and five other soldiers into the landing zone.

The comment was made with no emotion whatever. Experienced soldiers don't predict what will happen. They just live from day to what will happen. They just not non ac, a day. Burns' helicopter nosed down, to just above the treetops until it approached a mountain. Then it and the four other choppers on the lift shot upward, barely cleared the mountain and dipped down into the valley below. Just before the helicopter touched ground the soldiers leaped out and ran, bent over and zigzagging for the jungle cover around the clearing. Panting in the 100-degree heat, they joined other troopers in establishing a defense line. Securing a landing zone frequently means a Securing a landing zone frequently means a battle for survival. But this time not a shot battle for was fired.

Capt. Kalla quickly organized his elements and got them moving through jungle and along a swift stream. "I didn't much like that trip down the valley,"

Burns said. "Hillsides

"Hillsides were too close. A sniper could have had a ball with us." A pattern familiar to almost every man in the detachment soon developed. Move forward, maintain flank security, halt while the point or lead element checks out tunnels, caves and huts.

YOUNG MEMBER OF 'SUICIDE SQUAD' - This is one of a group of boys, aged 11 to 15, who compose what they call the "Suicide Squad." They vowed to die in defense of the pagodas in Da Nang if necessary. (AP Photo)

Soon one man collapsed in the heat and had soon one man collapsed in the heat and had to be taken out in a medical evacuation heli-copter. But this is a tough company and its men carry only the essentials of survival; weapons, ammunition, spare socks and one meal of C rations plus two canteens of water. No one else succumbed to the heat.

During a short break, Burns sat wearily on an embankment near a cluster of huts. His uniform was soaked with sweat but his eyes never stopped searching the surrounding brush. He saw a flash of black in the river bed, seized his rifle and dached ouer dashed over.

Burns came back grinning with a 12-year-old boy in tow. The young soldier laughed as he said to his-comrades "Look here, guys, I've went and captured me a Cong. Why, he came at me with his bare hands." The other troopers laughed back as the skinny,

The other troopers laughed back as the skinny, smiling child sat down among them. They offered him C rations and he ate rapidly. "Too hot to eat, anyhow," said a sweating trooper, handing over a second can of rations. Just then a soldier about 100 yeards away ran forward, dropped to one knee and fired his M16 trille. "Some guy just popped out of the woods and I'm pretty sure he had a weapon," the man yelled to Lt. Edward Haydash of West Hartford, Conn., B Company's executive officer. The squad of soldiers moved out but found nothing. A sudden rain and thunderstorm developed. For half an hour torrents of rain poured down, first cooling off the troopers and then making their uniforms clammy and uncomfortable. They paid little attention. They rain stopped as sud-denly as it started.

Another village loomed up. It was cautiously inspected and cleared.

Inspected and cleared. Burn's platoon was at the rear of the column and he talked a little of his experiences: "You know I've never even been scratched. I've had first aid packets and canteens shot away and bullet holes in my jacket and pants but Old Charley hasn't nicked me yet. And he ain't going to if I can help it. "I've killed men, seen them die, and I don't like it. But I joined the Army and volunteered for both the infantry and Viet Nam, so I'll do my job as long as I have to. "But man I'm getting short. Just 55 days to do in the country and if I'm lucky this will be my last operation."

He rumpled the hair of the Vietnamese boy and said: "I sure do like kids and I think this war is harder on them than anyone else." The troops moved another 100 yards and halted again, to check out some caves. Burns said he's been thinking about staying in the Army but had changed his mind, at least for the moment:

"I figure I'll go back and finish high school. You can't get a job as a garbage collector if you don't have at least that much education. "And then I'm going to go to work. I'm going to get the best job I can, and then I'll get a better one if I can. I figure you don't get nothing better one if I can. I figure you don't get nothing in this world if you don't work for it, and I plan to work hard when I get home. "'The war? I don't think I'll talk much about the war. It's just been something I had to do and I did it. I'm proud of what I've done and where I've been but the Army pays me $85 a month to kill people. I do it and that's all there is to it."

Men were grumbling about delay, saying: "Hell, we're only a few hundred meters to the pickup zone and now we're bogged down. Should have been there half hour ago.

Finally the column got moving again and the men marched wearily across a wide rice paddy. They turned the little boy loose after loading him down with C rations and sat down to wait for big Chinook helicopters that took them away in bites of 40 men at a time. "It's just been another day," said Burns.

Living With Sex: The Student's Dilemma, by Richard F. Hettlinger. New York; The Seabury Press, 1966. 185 pp. $4.50.

The striking thing about this book is the confusion that it can contri-bute to the already complex and controversial issues involved in the dilemma of reconciling traditional codes of sex behavior with present-day campus sex practices.

The author, a chaplain at Kenyon College for men, is critical of both moralistic as well as permissive attitudes toward premarital sex and urrouts to chart a realistic and "truly Christian" approach to re-sponsible sex standards. Written about college men and ad-dressed primarily to men caught up dressed primarily to men caught up in the sex dilemma, this book covers such topics as Sex Lust and Love, Doing What Comes Naturally, Jesus and Sexuality, Sex-All Alone, Sex-All Male, Love Makes It Right, and others, all of which are interlaced with a vernacular and references obviously intended to portray a close acquaintance with the vocabulary and reading habits of the male subculture and thus, presumably, with its sex life as well. Since this book with is intended as a solution to some of the present-day sex maladies, at times one might wonder if, in this case, the cure isn't worse than the illness. But, be this as it may, the strengths of the book are found in strengths of the book are found in three sections concerned with (1) our double faced society—a society which claims one set of sex stan-dards while supporting another, (2) the student as a scapegoat—being blamed for many sex degeneracies which, in reality, are generated by society itself, and (3) an insight-ful analysis of the popular and purple Playboy Philosophy. The confusion which this book is likely to engender, however, con-cerns the author's view of the role which the Christian Church should play in developing responsible sex

Church cannot compromise on the principle that the final intimacy of sexual intercourse should be preserved for the commitment of mar-riage itself. This seems to imply that the horse should be led to the water but all caution taken to make darn certain that he doesn't get a drink! And, to add to this the notion that the complexities of sex and the realities of the twentieth century sometimes make it necessary for persons to compromise their ideal codes introduces a relativism which for some time now has provided interesting dialogue for enlightened discussions, but which I doubt can be of much help to those for whom be of much help to those for whom this book is intended—persons emo-tionally entangled in trying to make responsible personal decisions con-cerning the present - day sex dilemma.

Johnson Hints Tax Hike May Not Be Necessary

Campaign Exposes Dominican Partys' Split Still Exists

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)-The campaign for next Wednes-day's election is exposing dav small but eloquent signs that the political cleavage which split this city into warring camps during the 1965 revol-ution still exists. warring Despite long, costly' and occasionally successful re-unification efforts which followed that revolt, Santo Domingo remains a politically divided city.

The central part of the city, an area of less than a square mile was in the hands of the constitutionalist forces during the rebellion. The greater part of Santo Domingo, and the country, were controlled by the civilian military junta. Units of the inter-American Units of the inter-American peace force stood between the two sides. Barbed wire and barricades marked a crude-shaped boundary separating the belligerent zones. The barricades were removed last

Law May Encourage Donations From Public

WASHINGTON (AP)-About 36 million Average Joe Amer-icans would be encouraged to contribute up to $100 to their favorite political candidates under a sweeping election law revision proposed Thursday by President Johnson.

Johnson told Congress the time has come to replace cynicism with "public confi-dence in the elective process" by modernizing laws he said are "more loophole than law."

The President sent Congress a proposed bill which he said is designed to achieve four broad purposes: "1. It would for the first time make effective past efforts to achieve complete pub-lic disclosure of campaign funds. The bill would require all candidates and all committees supporting them for fed-eral office to report, clearly and promptly, the sources of all their funds and how these funds are spent. "2. It would also require disclosure by members of Congress of gifts and income.

"3. It would revise existing law and for the first time mak effective the ceilings on the size of contributions.

"4. This proposal seeks a goal not even contemplated by earlier laws-the active en-couragement of widespread public participation in the financing of political campaigns through tax deductions."

Johnson wants a separate line on every income taxform for contributions up to $100 to any candidate or organization in any federal, state or local election campaignor primary.

"This deduction would be allowed in addition to the standard deduction and would not be limited to those who itemize their deductions," the President's message said.

Johnson also proposed that -All candidates and all committees supporting federal candidates be required to report every contribution and every expense item above $100. Candidates for president and vice president would be included for the first time under this provision.

-Members of the Senate and House be required to report income from all outside sources other than invest-ments. This would include money received for speeches and for consultant or legal fees.

A $5,000 limit be placed on the total financing that any candidate may receive from any one source. "The present $5,000 limit could not long be evaded," Johnson said, "by evaded," Johnson said, "by putting the maximum amount into different pockets in the same suit."

-Existing ceilings on total expenditures by candidates for public office be repealed.

This was the clear indication of a canvass by the As-sociated Press which disclosed that 44 senators would support a thinning out of the six U.S. divisions now deployed in Europe.

However, only 15 senators in this group willing to take a stand on the issue supported a proposal by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to cut the U.S. commitment to a token level of one division.

An equal number indicated they feel the United States must maintain a strong defensive stance on the Continent.

The issue will be affected by efforts to revise the North Atlantic Treaty Organization setup because of France's forthcoming withdrawal of its forces from NATO command.

Asked whether he would approve of a reduction of U.S. forces to the token level suggested by Mansfield, Repub-lican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois pointed to the NATO problem.

"This troop question is difficult because the NATO situation is so fluid-we don't know to what length French Presi-dent Charles de Gaulle will dent Charica o." he said.

"But we have assumed free world leadership and there is a question of how much this calls on us to do."

WETUMPKA, Ala. (AP)-A Negro mother, claiming a burial site offered by city officials for a soldier sonkilled in Viet Nam isn't suitable, planned Thursday to bury him in a national cemetery.

Mrs. Johnny Williams, re-jected an offer of a plot in the Wetumpka city cemetery say-ing, "I do not want my son buried in an out of the way place for unknown people. He was not an unknown. He fought for you the city officials and many other people."

In Washington, the Justice Department said it is investigating the matter, but has re-ceived only informal reports.

The grave site offered by Mayor Demp Thrash was an an emergency burial place on the fringes of the cemetery. He said there are no other plots available.

Thrash said an Army lieutenant came to him several days ago, seeking a burial site for Pfc. Jimmy L. Williams, and he told the officer there were no good plots available.

Viet Picture

Causes Stir

NEW YORK (AP)-A Dela-ware congressman raised a question Wednesday about what he termed an apparent discrepancy between news picture captions and a news story in reporting a recent event at Da Nang, South Viet Nam.

Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr., D-Del., told the House that The Associated Press and United Press International each had transmitted a picture of a woman lying wounded on a stretcher, a baby beside her. The Washington Star, he said, carried a news story referring to a wailing baby propped against the body of a dead woman.

The Associated Press, after checking its Saigon office, said AP reporter Robert Poos, who was wounded as he left the pagoda grounds where AP's picture was taken, reported the woman was not dead nor was the picture posed.

The picture poed. by an AP staff photographer showed the mother's arms in three different positions. In Saigon, Richard Critch-field, the Star's Asian correspondent, said he believed the woman and the baby in the AP picture were the same as he described but he was not positive.

SIU Students Slam Cab Rates As Absurd, Unrealistic, Unfair

described the new taxi cab rates when the Daily Egyptian conducted a survey.

George E. Dorey, a senior from Blue Island, said the "new rates are ridiculous."

He added, "the cabs are taking advantage of a good thing in this town."

Florenia Varveris, a junior from Skokie, and Raldon Fife, a junior from Pittsburgh, Pa., both had the same feeling. "We take a cab for speed and yet the drivers pick up at least one or two more pas-sengers and we usually are the last persons to reach our destination and are charged the most." Both girls live in Zone 3.

Edward Moore, a junior from Little Rock, Ark., thought that the rates were "much from Little Nock, ... that the rates were "much too high in proportion to stu--" budgets." "The Zone dents' budgets." "The Zone limits should be extended and gers," Janice Nichols, a junior from Wood River, said. She also said that from where she lived in Zone 2, a ride to campus isn't worth 60 cents.

Richard H. Stapel, a senior from Calumet Park, drives his own car but commented anyway. "I ride a taxi very seldom but I don't think the rates are too high." Donald Hunt, a senior from Chicago Heights, came up with a suggestion for the cab compaines.

"I can see where they could increase the fare slightly but with a corresponding increase in efficiency. As the rates stand right now, they're un-realistic.''

TO STUDY ZYMOPHAGE - Isamu Kondo, professor of bacteriology of Jikei University in Tokyo, will study zymophage, a virus found in the yeast cells, doing his postdoctoral study here.

Research Facilities, Campus Impress Japanese Professor

Isamu Kondo, professor of bacteriology at Kikei Univer-sity in Tokyo, decided to do postdoctoral work at SIU be-cause he admired the pioneer studies of yeast cells done by Carl C. Lindegren, emeritus professor of microbiology.

Lindgren is an internationally known geneticist and the world's foremost authority on yeast genetics. He was the first man to discover that yeast cells are sexually different.

He is the author of "The Yeast Cell: Its Genetics and Cytology," which is consider-ed by many to be the out-standing book in this field.

Kondo, who has been here since March, first heard the SIU professor's name when Lindegren attended the 1965 International Conference of Genetics in Tokyo, Kondo became interested in Linde-gren's theories when he read some of the American professor's publications on zy-mophage, a virus found in mophage, a v the yeast cells.

Kondo was invited to study zymophage with Lindegren for one year.

The Japanese professor is impressed with the research facilities at SIU as well as the beauty of the campus.

"I have never seen such a beautiful campus before," he said. "The lab is equipped with every facility we need, and it is quiet."

The Japanese visitor was surprised to find that there were so many automobiles and Japanese-made motorcycles on the campus. He said Jap-anese college students cannot afford to buy cars.

The bacteriology professor, away from home for the first time, confessed he sometimes suffers from homesickness. Kondo, 47, left his kinder-garten-teacher wife and 12-year-old son in Tokyo.

Kondo has worked with Kikei University since he received his medical degree from the University's school of medicine in 1946.

Play Opens June 2 Salukis to Face 'Tough' District Foes

By Mike Schwebel

Southern will be in a very select group in district tournament action beginning June 2, with two of the four teams in the field highly rated in the nation.

Ohio State, with a 19-5-1 record, currently holds the number three spot in the latt Associated Press poll. The Salukis first chalest lenger, Western Michigan, is ranked seventh in the poll. Of the top ten, Southern has played only one of the teams in regular season play, the St. Louis Billikens, who had to settle for a split with the Salukis in St. Louis on May 15.

Southern shut out the Bills in the opener, 3-0, before the home club came back to take the second game 4-2.

Southern has beaten one large conference winner and could possibly face another could possibly face another one before the season is over.

St. Louis, with one of their our losses coming from the four Salukis, is the Missouri Val-ley Conference champ. The Billikens took the best-of-three series over Wichi-ta to win the crown. Over-all, the Bills finished 27-4.

In tournament play, there is the possibility that the Sa-lukis may face Ohio State, the Big Ten Champ.

Thanks to the Salukis, the University of Illinois finished one game over the .500 mark at 14-13. The Illini were 5-5 in the Big Ten conference, which was good for a sixth place finish.

The Saluki record has ballooned to 24-17 as a result of a two-week long stumble. In the last two weeks, Southern has dropped six of nine contests, four of those in a row. Since regular season ac-tion, they have shown a 17-9 mark after returning from their Spring tour with a los-ing 7-8 slate.

Rich Collins, back in action after a pulled leg muscle took him out of the lineup for a few days, is leading the team in hitting at .299. Steady Paul Paveshich is next at .292. Jerry Evans is next with a

.280 mark, with Bob Bern-stein following at .266. Pavesich leads in RBI's with 23, followed by Russ Keene's

Don Panther continues to lead the hurling department in earned run averages with a 1.12 mark, after a jump from 0.43.

Bill Liskey is closing in on Panther with a 1.31 ERA. Don Kirkland, Wayne Sramek, and Howard Nickason have marks of 2.24, 2 spectively. 2.55 and 3.00 re-

A tale of two cities could make an interesting story if someone happened to pop a couple of home runs out of Illinois Field, each in the opposite field.

A homer over the right field fence at the University of Illinois' home baseball dia-mond would find the ball hit to Champaign. One slammed over the left field side would wind up in Urbana. Not many people could boast of hitting the ball in two different cities from the same park

Salukis Will Play 3 Weekend Games

The baseball Salukis will try to get on the winning side again this weekend, as they tune up for action in the NCAA District 4 tournament begin-ning June 2. Southern will attempt to end a four game losing streak at Pittsburgh, when they meet the University of Pittsburgh and Duquense University. Coach Joe Lutz will start with sophomore righthander Don Kirkland in the first game, a single contest Saturday against the University of Pittsburgh. In the Sunday doubleheader against Duquense, Bill Liskey will handle mound chores in the opener, while Howard Nickason is the probable Nickason starter in the nightcap.

Quaglia Will Head Advertising Group

Robert L. Quaglia, a junior from Herrin, will serve as president of the SIU chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, for the next academic year.

Other officers elected were Jack W. Zimmanck Jr., Park Forest, Ill., vice president, and Richard Modzelewski, Chicago Heights, secretary treasurer.

Quaglia received the fraternity's outstanding service key award for distinguished service to the fraternity during the past year.

Teal Hunt Season To Begin Sept. 17

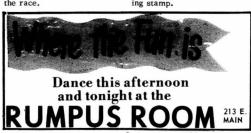

The season for blue winged and green winged teal will start Sept. 17 and run through Sept. 25. Hunting will be permitted four hours a day except for the first day. The daily limit is four teal. A hunter is allowed to have eight in his possession.

A hunter must obtain a teal permit from the Illinois Department of Conservation be-fore Aug. 15. Applications will be accepted starting June 1. Requests for teal permits must include the following: hunter's name, his address and county of residence. Hunters must have a valid 1966 hunting license and hunt-ers over 16 years old must have a federal waterfowl hunting stamp.

Healthy Trackmen Scent Victory at General's Invitational

SIU will enter a healthy, complete track team Saturday at the General's Invitational meet at Ft. Campbell, Ky. Last year the Salukis won the meet by a substantial margin.

Four years ago, SIU entered only six men in the General's Invitational, but they nearly won it.

Freshman competition is allowed in the meet, and about 15 teams are expected to enter.

First place winners in 1965 for the Salukis were Oscar Moore in the 3-mile, Tom Curry in the steeplechase, and George Woods in the shot and discus events.

This year there will be 18 events, and two of the opposing teams in the invitational, Murray State and Western Kentucky, have already been de-feated by SIU in regular season competition. Some of the other college teams entered are Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee State. Army teams will include Ft. Bragg and Ft. Campbell.

Moore will enter two events, the mile and the 3-mile. Woods will compete in the discus and the hammer throw events, and Iohn Vernon will enter the

Finals Week Reason Golfers Won't Play In NCAA Tourney

Coach Lynn Holder will not take his golfers to the NCAA national championships next month for the first time in the tournament's threeyear history. The veteran Saluki coach said his main reasons for the decision were that the weeklong tournament comes during finals week, and the team has already played a long schedule.

Southern had finished high in both previous tournaments, emerging as the champion in 1964 and finishing second the next year.

The Salukis finished this season with a record of 13-9-1. This was the poorest record of any team Holder has fielded since 1954 when Southern went winless in 10 matches

But a number of factors went into the season's final record. The Salukis lost all five matches during the spring trip and followed that with a 13-4-1 record in the regular season. Three of the four losses during the regular season were to Notre Dame, Illinois and Wisconsin, and the only other set-back was a narrow 91/2-81/2 loss to Southeast Missouri.

That loss to Cape snapped the Salukis' three-year home winning streak. Holder's teams have set a record of 63-3-1 at home over a period of 12 years.

The team's low scorer was Gary Robinson, who was a sophomore at the start of the season. He wound up with a season record of 13-8-1 and the best average, 75.2. By midseason, Holder was calling him the most promising sophomore he had ever coached. The Sterling native coached. The Sterling native also carded the lowest single score of the season, 68.

The only member of the squad who will not return next year is Tom Muchleman. The Alton senior, whose gradua-tion comes a year after that of his brother Bill, played in the No. 2 slot most of the year behind Robinson and finished with an average of 77.4. He posted a record of 10-8-3 with a low single match of 73.

Tied with Muehleman for third in average strokes for the season was Jack Downey. The junior from Mount Ver-non also carded a 77.4 average and had the best record on the team with his 15-6-1 mark. Downey played most of the season as Holder's No. 3 man and had a low score of 72 on three occasions three occasions.

Playing right behind Downey was Jim Schonhoff, another junior. The Quincy native finished with a record of 15-8 and recorded a low score of 73 twice. His 77.2 average was second only to Robinson. Rounding out Holder's young lineup were Steve Coale, Phil Heckel, Bob Safforth and Phil Stamison. Coale got off to a rough start as he lost four and tied one of his first five matches. He snapped out of the matches, He snapped out of the slump late in the season, how-ever, to win four straight. Heckel played most of the season as the No, 5 man, winning 13 and losing five with a 77.6 average. Safforth, another sopho-more age into only one match Safforth, another sopho-more, got into only one match and lost, and Stamison finished at 5-10-1 and a 79.2 average. Holder will have back all of these golfers except Muehle-man next year, and can probably look forward to an improved record then.

Lines for Indianapolis '500' Make Southern's Look Small to race on Memorial Day should leave well in advance, because the lines that form on the Sunday before would put SIU's lines to shame.

Spectators will see a field of 33 cars compete for the highest stakes in auto racing, with a probable race average that will be about 10 miles an hour faster than last year's record of 150.686, set by Scot-land's Jimmy Clark.

The field is made up of rear-engine cars, most of them powered by Ford, with the ex-ception of one front-engine roadster with an Offenhauser engine.

Significantly, the Offen-hauser powered car, designed in the outmoded Indianapolis roadster tradition, was the slowest car in the final qualification trials Saturday.

Mario Andretti, the U.S. Auto Club champion, captured the pole position for Monday's race by setting a sizzling 165.899 average May 14 at the Brickyard.

Among the first - time starters in the 500 will be two

Mantle May Catch Lou Gehrig in '66

NEW YORK (AP)-Mickey Mantle likely never will catch Babe Ruth but he can pass Lou Gehrig on the all-time home run list before the 1966 season is over.

Mantle hit two homers in the same game for the first time since Aug. 12, 1964 Wednes-day night when the New York Yankees bombed Los Angeles 11-6.

The two homers for a career total of 477 boosted Mickey into the No. 8 position on the all-time list, just behind Eddie Mathews of Atlanta, who has 470. Gehrig is next in line with 493. Of course, Willie Mays of San Francisco already has set a National League record with 515 and is going after Ted Williams, Jimmie Foxx and Ruth although the Babe's total of 714 is way out there

Students planning to travel international Grand Prix the Indianapolis 500-mile figures, Jackie Stewart of figures, Jackie Stewart of Scotland, and Graham Hill of England.

Stewart won the Grand Prix of Monaco on Sunday, and Hill placed third.

Among those running in domestic cars will be Dan Gurney, whose five All American Eagles are brand-new.

SIU students planning to attend the race are advised to order tickets in advance to obtain the best seats to see the race.

A $5 admission is charged for the infield, with bleacher tickets starting at $12.

Indy Speedway Predicts Attendance

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)-The Indianapolis Motor Speedway said Thursday it expects more than 275,000 at Monday's running of the Memorial Day classic.

That's as close as it has ever come to disclosing the attendance at the 500-mile race except to the Internal Revenue Service.

The speedway also forecast a possible record total of television viewers and radio listeners for a sports event. Not even the IRS will have an accurate count on that.

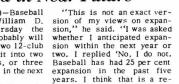

Commissioner Expects Majors To Expand in Near Future

NEW YORK (AP)-Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert said Thursday the major leagues probably will consist of either two 12-club circuits, each split into two six-team divisions, or three eight-team leagues in the next rew years. ""I am a firm believer in expansion," Eckert said. "Either or both of these plans is worth a solid look. Just when and how expansion will when and how expansion will come about, I am not prepared to say right now. "No time table has been set. Expansion may come any-where from three to five years or it may come later." or it may come later.

In a recent interview in San Francisco, Eckert was quoted as saying that expansion was not in baseball's immediate plans and it "might be as many as eight to 10 years" before four new clubs would be added markable accomplishment. I believe further expansion markable accomposition in the believe further expansion should not be immediate. "I was then asked whether I believed there would be expansion in eight or 10 years. I replied, 'Yes, I certainly believe that we will have four more franchises in eight or 10 years.

The conclusion by some was that I felt expansion would not come sooner than eight years. That was not my intent. My feeling was then, and is now, that expansion is a possibility anytime after two years
