'Witch Doctor' to Perform Nov. 7

Jean-Leon Destine and his Haitian Dance Company will perform on campus Nov. 7. The "Caribbean Festival" that Destine and his group present will be sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Department with the University lectures entertainment committee, at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

A native Haitian, Destine was among the first to recognize the Voodoo (correctly, Vodun) dances as great art. Eventually he was admitted as a student and disciple, and under the tutorage of a Vodun priest learned the philosophy of the ancient, superstition-laden belief. For his outstanding services in interpreting the arts and lore of his people, Destine wears the Cross "Officier Honneur et Merite," the highest honor Haiti has bestowed on an artist.

Although the drum is the most important in Haitian folklore, many other instruments accompany Destine's dance, including the vaccine (bamboo trumpet), tchatcha, acon, tambourine, flute, bells and others.

The sizzling drummers featured in his company are Alphonse Cimber and Jacques Succes, Haiti's most celebrated percussionists, who not only accompany the dancers but offer a "Drum Conversation" duet.

Destine himself played the title role in the prize-winning film "Witch Doctor."

Some Classes Out Saturday

Saturday's class schedule will follow the same pattern used for previous Homecomings, Robert A. McGrath, registrar, said.

Classes which meet only on Saturday mornings will meet as usual, McGrath said.

But those classes which meet during the week with one class meeting on Saturday will not meet this Saturday.

Students are reminded that the only classes dismissed Friday will be those taught in the College of Education. Classes are being dismissed in order to permit faculty and interested education students to attend a meeting of the Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association in the SIU Arena.

All other Friday classes will meet as scheduled.

Sigma Xi to Hear Research Director

Samuel J. Aji, director of research at the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia will speak at 8 p.m. today in the Agriculture Seminar Room.

The lecture, sponsored by Sigma Xi, scientific fraternity at SIU, will deal with "The Biochemistry and Physiology of Microbial Toxin."

Aji, a native of Poland, has had a distinguished scientific career. He served first on the faculty at the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis and later as chief microbiologist in the chemical section and assistant chief of the Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C.

Gus Bode

Gus says with all the emphasis being placed on the "one university" idea lately, he thinks SIU's motto ought to be changed from "Deo Volente" to "E Pluribus Unum."

Directory Comes Off Press, Being Sent to Campus Units

The SIU Directory is now available at the University Book store. Distribution of the book began Tuesday.

Students may purchase copies of the directory for $1. All University offices will receive copies this week, officials said.

A spokesman for Systems and Procedures, which coordinates the planning and distribution of the directory, said that more than an adequate number of copies has been printed.

The directory, bound in a bright red cover, contains a listing of the names, addresses and phone numbers of students and faculty on both SIU campuses.

The directory is divided into four sections, each printed in different colors: green, blue, yellow and white.

Students can be seen squinting their eyes to see first if their names have been correctly listed, then to search for information concerning their boy friends or girl friends.

Although bigger type is used for staff listings than for students, the type size is the same as last year's.

The Registrar's Office reported that more than 2,200 students returned cards indicating a change of address or phone number.

Tickets Available For Homecoming

Approximately 2,000 tickets are still available for the Homecoming show Friday night at the arena. Dave Brubeck and Allan Sherman will be the featured entertainment.

The Student Activities Office also announced that tickets are still available for the Homecoming dance.

Tickets are on sale at the information desk in the University Center.

Shryock Ceremony to Honor One of Five Contest Finalists

Southern's 1964 Homecoming queen will be crowned at 7:30 tonight in Shryock Auditorium.

The glittering crown will be placed on her majesty's head by the mysterious King Menes, in ceremonies drawn from the traditions of ancient Egypt.

Selection of the queen was made by 1,600 students who voted in the recent election, but the winner's name will not

Morris to Receive Gold Mouse Cage

"Invent a better mouse trap and the world will beat a path to your door."

Several members of Lab-Line Instruments, Inc., will beat a path to President Delyte W. Morris' door tonight, thanks to the invention of a better mouse cage by three SIU staff members.

Morris will receive a gold-plated cage, along with a plaque, at a banquet this evening commemorating the sale of the one-millionth disposable animal cage by Lab-Line Instruments, Inc., of Melrose Park, Ill.

The cage was invented by Isaac Shechmeister of the Department of Microbiology and Harold Cohen and Robert Hunter of the Department of Design. They turned the invention over to the SIU Foundation which contracted with Lab-Line to make and sell the products.

Making the presentation to Morris at a banquet at 5:30 in the Renaissance Room of the University Center will be Alexander Newman, president of the company, and several other company officials.

Freshman Convocation Today Will Feature Concert Pianist

Scott Morrison, pianist and harpsichordist, will present today's convocation programs at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Morrison is a man of varied talents--pianist, lecturer and actor. He has been voted "top attraction" on many concert and Town Hall series and has been sponsored by some groups for the third and fourth time.

The artist has studied piano and composition with some of the outstanding teachers in this country and abroad. In London he worked with Tobias Matthey, teacher of Dame Myra Hess.

In the U.S., Morrison studied in New York City with Carlos Buhler and at the Juilliard School of Music. He will be announced until the moment she is crowned.

The five finalists are Diane C. Blakemore, a senior from Saluki Hall; Juniustine M. Gee, junior from the Hamilton House; Cheryl Schnitzmeyer, senior from Woody Hall; Karen D. Tumbleson, senior from Thompson Point; Linda K. Wood, junior from Small Group Housing.

The queen's court will also participate in tonight's ceremonies, including two attendants, Linda Thornburg and Carol Grigg.

A reception for the queen and her court will be held at 9 p.m. in Ballroom B of the University Center.

The queen and her attendants will ride in the Homecoming parade Saturday and will appear at the football game in the afternoon.

Tickets for Game Go on Sale Today

Student tickets for this Saturday's Homecoming football game between Southern and North Texas State will be on sale in Room H of the University Center today and Friday from 8-12 a.m. and 1-4:30 p.m.

The Athletic Department says these tickets, at 75 cents each, will be available Saturday morning until noon. Students must present an activity card, not a fee statement, to buy a ticket.

Regular general admission tickets will be sold at the gate, Saturday morning at $2.50. There are a few reserved tickets remaining and they may be purchased at $3.25 in room 118 of the SIU Arena.

APO's Second Bonfire Burned; 1st Overruled: Too Flammable

Approximately 120 men hours went up in flames at Wednesday night's Homecoming bonfire.

That is how many hours Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, spent constructing the bonfire material. The fraternity men began working on the project Saturday night, with railroad ties donated by Illinois Central Railroad as chief material. When they had finished the structure, they were told by Saluki parrolmen that railroad ties could not be used this year because they are too hard to extinguish.

Consequently, the men salvaged some scrap lumber and built a second potential bonfire Tuesday evening. Helping them gather the new material and transport it were Koppers Company Tie Plant and Keene Trucking Co.

Jerry Pickar, APO president, and Hugh Janssen, project chairman, were in charge of the project.

Fraternities Start Bidding on Sunday

Open bidding for social fraternities will be held from Sunday to Nov. 20.

Students may visit the fraternity houses at any time during this period.

A student must visit at least two houses and have a member of each fraternity house he visits sign a card verifying he was there. These cards then are turned into Ron Eaglin at the Housing Office.

Open bidding is an opportunity for male students to become acquainted with the men they will be associated with during their college lives, said Dave Welte, vice president and rush chairman of the Interfraternity Council.

This offers an advantage over the more formal 3-day rush, in that, more time is allowed to meet the men, Welte said.

Church Group Pictures Planned

Group pictures of members of the Church of Christ Foundation will be taken at 7:30 tonight at the new Student Center, 805 S. Washington.

The newly purchased center is being redecorated.

WHAT'S UP? - Hundreds of students in the Thompson Point area Tuesday heard a screaming siren and witnessed the scene above in which Thomas Loeffler, SIU security officer, chased down and arrested a "drunk" driver. It really was just a staged event to permit students in a press photography class to cover a spot news event. Charles Vineyard of the Security Office played the role of the driver. This photo taken by Richard Kolb was finished in seven minutes.

Orchestral Music for 'The Boy Friend' To Be Interpreted by Four Musicians

Four musicians will interpret the entire orchestral score for "The Boy Friend," which opens this week with Friday and Saturday night performances.

Gil Lazier, musical director for the play, who also has one of the lead roles in the production, said, "We are striving to achieve the maximum sound from the minimum number of players."

Members of the "miniature orchestra" include Joan Lash, a senior from Carbondale, playing the piano; Earl Walters, senior from Danville, playing alto and tenor sax and bass clarinet; Ken Wille, sophomore from Granite City who will play the trumpet.

and Bob Bauer, sophomore from LaGrange, who will handle percussion.

Lazier explained that the Southern Players Playhouse is not equipped with an orchestra pit adequate for a complete orchestra, so "The Boy Friend" will employ the next best means of musical accompaniment.

The score has been revised to fit the abilities of the four-member group. The resulting sound will include all parts of the full orchestra score, but on a smaller scale.

The actor-music director went on the say that the play is a spoof on the Roaring Twenties, and the score itself is a parody of the music of this period.

"It's a jazzy kind of music, and we use brassy instruments," Lazier added, "a kind of cross between Louie Armstrong and Guy Lombardo."

New York Theater Company Will Perform at SIU Branch

New York's Circle in the Square Theatre, now on national tour, will bring its company to SIU's East St. Louis Center Auditorium for a performance of Eugene O'Neill's drama, "Desire Under the Elms," at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 11.

The program, open to the University community without charge, is the first in a series of special concert series arranged by the University's Special Meetings and Speakers Committee.

The theater company appearing in this production is the same which presented O'Neill's tragedy in a run of 380 performances in New York City last year.

In past years groups of students from SIU's Carbondale campus have driven to East St. Louis for some of the performances.

SIU Debaters Tie for First

Southern's debaters tied with Northwestern University for first place in a tournament at Western Illinois University, Macomb. Freshmen Sue Cattani and Gary Strell were undefeated in five rounds of debate, taking the negative on the topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Establish a Program of Public Works for the Unemployed." Karen Kendall, sophomore, and Keith Phoenix, freshman, also on the negative team, lost only one round out of the five. On the affirmative teams, Becky Sheeler, senior, and Marsh Miller, junior, won four out of five rounds. Cathy O'Connell, freshman, and Janet Trapp, sophomore, won three and lost two, in the week-end meet. "This accomplishment indicates that there is considerable talent amongst our underclassmen and that the future of the SIU debate squad appears bright," said Marvin D. Kleinau, speech instructor and adviser to the group.

It's That Time Again

Homecoming--that wonderful time of the year when the alumni swarm the campus for reunions and the undergraduate momentarily puts his social life first and his studies last--is probably the most exciting event of the year.

Southern's alumni of all ages, shapes and sizes return to their alma mater perhaps to try to relive some of their happiest days. Some may feel more like freshmen than alumni when they arrive on campus after many years absence to find the old familiar now unfamiliar. Buildings have leaped from the ground and the very face of SIU has changed.

For alumni, Homecoming is places to see, people to meet and perhaps a little celebrating to do. But the excitement of Homecoming is by no means restricted to alumni alone; underclassmen have their fun too. Class work is pushed into the background, and work of another kind takes its place.

Students put final hectic touches on house decorations or finish that float for the parade. Creativity is at its best, and anything within a five mile radius of Carbondale that hasn't been tied down or locked up has probably been temporarily or permanently "borrowed" for a house "dec" or float.

Yet there are two faces to Homecoming. One is happy, one is sad. For the young, Homecoming is a time to gather memories to be relived later; for the old, it is a time to attempt to relive the memories that have long been gathered.

One cannot deny that time and life march on. Places, people and things all change, and a road once traveled can never really be retraveled. There is only one road, and it is one-way. Homecoming is a wayside where the old traveler rests and traces the route he has taken, where the young traveler rests and anticipates the route ahead. It is then, for all, a respite in the problems of a million Monday mornings.

Russia Pulled Sly One With Voskhod; 3-Man Ship Is Space Race 'Tortoise'

By IRA C. EAKER
Lieutenant General,
USAF, Retired
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON--On Oct. 12, when the Russian 3-man spaceship Voskhod hit the headlines, the Soviets at last "dropped the other shoe." For more than a year our scientific and military communities had been awaiting anxiously the next Russian space venture. It was known that Soviet space efforts had not declined. On the other hand, there was evidence of increased emphasis.

While Voskhod was still in orbit, our scientists and military leaders began evaluating the purposes and accomplishments of the enterprise.

Although all details of the first 3-man space flight are not yet available--the Russians were characteristically chary about releasing items of military significance--some conclusions seem valid. Ex-Premier Nikita Khrushchev was playing a favorite Soviet game of outwitting the capitalists when he implied more than a year ago that Russia had dropped out of the space race and no longer was interested in being first on the moon. His statements, it is now clear, were designed to slow our program.

That effort had considerable success. Many scientists and some political leaders during the last year have advocated that we decelerate our space programs and abandon our plan to land astronauts on the moon by 1970.

The Russians have again won an important propaganda victory--the first multiple-crew spaceship in orbit. They were undoubtedly aware that we planned to launch our 2-man Gemini spaceship in a few months.

How better to belittle and devalue that program in the eyes of the world than by orbiting a 3-man vehicle some months earlier.

The Voskhod flight clearly shows that the Russians still lead in some vital areas in the space race. It also confirms the judgment of those who have believed all along that the Russian space effort was oriented toward control of space rather than peaceful scientific discovery.

As one worried scientist in the space program said recently when asked what the Soviets were up to in space, "Put yourself in the Russian leader's place.

"What would he consider the most important use of space? Would it not be that which would promote and hasten world domination by communism."

The Voskhod space experiment indicates clearly that the Russians can be first in space with a Manned Orbital Laboratory (MOL). This means they can have weapons in space before we have the means to intercept, inspect or deal with such weapons. Also, since the MOL is a necessary prior step to a safe lunar journey, there is strong indication the Russians can be first on the moon.

In these circumstances what do we, as a prudent people, do? I put this question to a military patriarch I have long admired. His reply merits the earnest consideration of all thoughtful patriotic citizens.

"I believe nearly 90 per cent of the Russian space effort is devoted to programs which will permit domination of space. This, of course, can mean domination of the earth.

"I believe that under these circumstances we should assemble our best scientific and military minds and give them the task of figuring out what is the worst thing the Russians could do in space, and the best thing we could do to counter it.

"The plan thus evolved should then be pursued with constant vigor. Fundamental to such a space plan must be the determination that by the time any hostile nation has a weapon in space, we must have the capacity to intercept, inspect and if need be, destroy it."

"Would you advise that we abandon or curtail the lunar program?" I asked.

"No," he replied. "I believe in the Apollo program. It will be worth many times its cost. We have ample resources to complete the moon landing in this decade and at the same time provide the necessary space defenses.

"Incidentally, I have been cheered by the evidence of close cooperation between the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the military. It is evident both realize that their programs need not be competitive."

Finally, with a wry expression, he concluded, "Come Nov. 4, our leaders can get back on the job. I do hope they will stoke the fires under our space programs."

The trouble with being tolerant is that people think you don't understand the problem. --Boonville (Mo.) Cooper County Record

Social Outcast?

Kremlinologists Worried: Red Boss Dislikes Parties

By Arthur Hoppe
San Francisco Chronicle

Our ace kremlinologists are having a terrible time figuring out who's in charge of Russia these days. At first, they thought it might be Mr. Brezhnev, mainly because he's the new head of the Communist party. But then it turned out he wasn't much of a party man.

As they gravely noted, Mr. Brezhnev was "conspicuously absent" from the very first party the new regime gave in the Kremlin, a reception for Cuban President Dorticos.

True, Mr. Brezhnev's picture appeared on the far left in a line of posters several days later, a clue of tremendous significance, assuming the poster men didn't louse things up. But then he failed to appear at all at the big party celebrating the liberation of Kiev from the Germans 20 years ago. And every ace kremlinologist shook his head worriedly, frowned and said, "You know what that means."

Certainly we do. The meaning is clear to all us long-time students of Soviet affairs. But, personally, I'm worried. For there's just the remotest possibility it could mean that Mr. Brezhnev doesn't like parties. And, if so, disaster lies ahead.

First, Mr. Brezhnev will face grave domestic problems at home.

"Oh, how nice," says Mrs. Brezhnev, opening the mail at the breakfast table. "The Mikoyans have invited us over for a reception. Goodness, don't we owe them?"

"Bah," says Mr. Brezhnev. "Soggy canapes, warm champagne. We will spend a quiet evening at home curled up with a good book, like 'The Use of Non-organic Fertilizers in Increasing Borscht Production.'"

"You never take me anywhere," wails Mrs. Brezhnev. "You're ashamed to be seen with me. You don't love me. The spark has gone out of our marriage. My mother warned me..." And so on.

This will tend to make Mr. Brezhnev a little irritable. Like most men faced with domestic problems, he will grow more adventurous away from home. In about a year, I figure, he will be calling up our State Department, which will refer him down through channels to one of our ace kremlinologists, perhaps Mr. Entpossel.

"Listen, Entpossel," says Mr. Brezhnev, "if you Americans don't knock off aid to Outer Kurdistan, I am pushing The Button--or my name isn't Leonid Brezhnev!"

"How do you spell that?" says Mr. Entpossel.

"B-r-e-z-z. What do you mean, how do I spell it? This is Leonid Brezhnev, the leader of world Communism."

"Brezhnev... Brezhnev..." says Mr. Entpossel. "Hm. Sorry, old man, but I don't find the name among those who attended the opening of the Moscow Girl Pioneers Cookie Sale. Nor the Festival for Falkland Freedom, Nor... Must be some mistake."

"Mistake!" roars Mr. Brezhnev. "I am pushing The Button!"

"Look, whoever you are," says Mr. Entpossel. "Is this call collect?"

***

So I hope that if Mr. Brezhnev is in charge, he will reform and become a good party man. For how will we know that he's the man with the fate of the world in his hands unless he gets out there and whoops it up nightly? Yes sir, I'm sure that'll make each of us feel much more secure.

The very states that scream the loudest about centralization are the ones who depend the most on the central government for their own survival.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether centralization is good or bad.

But there can be no doubt about what is causing it. It is the refusal of local government to do the job of governing.

SIU Film Director Invited to Meeting

Frank Paine, director of film production at SIU, is one of 60 Midwest educators invited to participate in an American Assembly on Cultural Affairs and Foreign Relations to be held Nov. 5-8 at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio.

The seminar participants will meet with representatives of the U.S. Information Agency and the State Department to assess the U.S. cultural exchange program of films, television, books and music, as well as the foreign student programs, and to make recommendations for improvement in these activities, Paine said.

342 Foreign Students Here; Total Up 33%

Coming from as close as Canada and Mexico or from as far away as Burundi or Malawi, Southern's International student body this year brings together representatives from 63 different countries.

Taiwan leads the list with 43 students at Southern, Iran is second with 33 and Korea has 27 students currently enrolled.

According to the International Student Center, the total of 342 represents an increase of nearly one-third over that of last year. Of the total, 133 are freshmen or transfer students. In addition, nearly one-half of the foreign students are enrolled in graduate programs.

Foreign students' majors vary as much as their origins, but it has been found that the Chinese students tend to major in journalism, physics, and microbiology; the Korean students in business, management, and accounting; and students from Iran and India frequently major in government and geography.

The Laotian and Vietnamese governments sponsor several elementary education programs for their college youth. A number of African students are now enrolled in the School of Agriculture through a program sponsored by the African Scholastic Program in American Universities.

Southern has evidently provided a satisfactory "home away from home" for its international students; the International Student Center says it receives a number of letters each year from foreign students who have been graduated or have transferred, commenting on the hospitality and friendliness of the SIU campus.

After Hours Study Gains Popularity

Morris Library's after hours study room "seems to be popular" says Ferris S. Randall, director of the library.

The room, located in the old Textbook Service area, provides a place for students to study after the library proper is closed.

Robert Keel, circulation librarian, said the room is nearly filled until about 11 p.m., then the number of students drops to about 10.

The room, which also houses the library's two-hour reserve books, accommodates about 60 students.

Randall remarked that by the middle of November the room will be equipped with $1,000 worth of reference books which have been recommended by the four division librarians.

Throngs Mob Johnson in LA; Goldwater Links Dems, Reds

LOS ANGELES--Downtown throngs estimated by police at 150,000 gave President Johnson a tumultuous welcome Wednesday as he rode up Broadway through cascading confetti and spoke in front of City Hall.

At every intersection from 9th to 1st Streets the beaming President gave a short talk.

Generally, his words encompassed young people, the elderly, medicare, economic growth and peace.

The campaigning chief executive said at each stop: "I want you to meet the boss of the President of the United States."

His wife, Lady Bird, in a lime green coat and dark green dress, would stand up, smile and wave at the crowd.

And at each stop Sen. Pierre Salinger, Johnson's former press secretary, introduced himself and then said, "I'd like you to meet President Johnson."

Salinger is seeking election against Republican senatorial nominee George Murphy.

Also in the President's car were California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Brown's wife Berniece, and Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif.

The chief executive arrived by plane from Albuquerque to carry his campaign into Southern California, an area in which his Republican opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater, is believed to have his greatest strength in the state.

Johnson, seeking California's 40 electoral votes, will be followed into the area today by GOP vice presidential nominee William E. Miller, by Goldwater Friday and Democratic vice presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey on Saturday.

OSHKOSH, Wis. --Sen. Barry Goldwater declared Wednesday that he has been "attacked by extremists for not outlawing extremism," and demanded that Democrats repudiate what he called Communist support.

"Now I'm not accusing any Democrat of being a Communist," the Republican presidential nominee said. "But I am getting a little sick and tired of their not denouncing this Communist group, not denouncing their backing."

"I haven't heard a Democrat candidate yet say that he doesn't want the Communist party working for him," Goldwater said, and added: "I don't want any Communist working for me or voting for me in this country. If I know of any Communist that ever thinks of helping me, I am going to tell him to get out."

"All I ask of my opponents is that they do the same thing."

Goldwater's comments came Wednesday at Oshkosh, Wis., where he brought most of a crowd of 1,600 persons in the high school auditorium to its feet, cheering, when he brandished a copy of The Worker, Communist party paper, and said it urged voters to "smash Goldwaterism" to make easier the path of socialism.

Carrying his campaign to the places he thinks hold the key to Republican victory--the grass roots, nonmetropolitan areas--Goldwater was greeted by warm, friendly crowds and warmed equally to the reception.

But in several of the day's speeches, he rebuked churchmen for becoming "loud advocates" of Lyndon B. Johnson, when, Goldwater said, the President represents thinking opposed by "every church I know."

Supreme Court Will Not Hear Goldwater 'Equal Time' Bid

WASHINGTON -- The Supreme Court refused Wednesday to hear arguments on Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater's demand for free equal radio-television time to answer President Johnson's Oct. 18 address on world affairs.

Indications were that the decision was 6 to 2 but this was not announced. The court only said that Justices Hugo L. Black and Arthur J. Goldberg dissented and Justice Byron R. White took no part.

There was no comment from the majority.

But Goldberg said he considers the questions raised as "substantial" and he recited the law at some length. He and Black said they thought it important that arguments on Goldwater's plea be heard today, as he requested, since the election is next Tuesday. The court recessed last Monday until Nov. 9 but the justices could order a special session at any time if they desire.

The petition said the Federal Communications Commission's order denying Goldwater equal time was "erroneous and without foundation or basis in law."

The justices considered the case in a three-hour session.

Welcome Given Curt Flood Family

ALAMO, Calif. -- Negro baseball star Curt Flood and his family settled into their leased $35,000 house Wednesday after a warm greeting from their white neighbors instead of the loaded shotgun they had been warned to expect.

The St. Louis Cardinals center fielder was all smiles. His pregnant wife wept for joy.

"We think it's so fine you are here," said Mrs. Joseph Cone, a neighbor.

Virginia Loses Fight for Stay Of Order to Remap Legislature

WASHINGTON -- Virginia lost in the Supreme Court Wednesday an effort to stay a lower court's legislative reapportionment order that would cut the terms of incumbent senators from four to two years.

Chief Justice Earl Warren turned down without comment a petition by State Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Button for a stay so the question could be considered by the full Supreme Court on a later appeal.

This lets stand an order by a three-judge federal court in Alexandria, Va., which on Sept. 19 ordered Virginia to reapportion both its House of Delegates and Senate by Dec. 15. The tribunal directed that both Senate and House seats be put up for election by January 1966.

The lower court followed up a Supreme Court order of last June that Virginia must reapportion its legislature as nearly as possible on the basis of population in time for the already scheduled November 1965 election.

Current members of the House of Delegates were chosen in 1963 for two-year terms. The lower court said "orderly procedure" would suggest that the members continue until expiration of their terms in January 1966.

But the incumbent senators, also chosen in 1963, were elect to four-year terms. The court said there is "no warrantable foundation" for permitting them to serve beyond January 1966.

Button told Warren that no other U.S. District Court had ordered a state legislature to cut the terms of its own members. He said the Supreme Court had allowed members of both houses of the Maryland Legislature to stay in office until 1967 and Button asked that Virginia's get similar treatment.

However, it was noted in New York that a special federal court has ordered that state to reapportion by next April and to hold a special election in 1965. This would mean legislators elected this year will serve only one year instead of the normal two.

Button was not immediately available in Richmond to comment on Warren's decision.

Gov. A. S. Harrison, Jr. already has made preliminary plans to call the legislature into special session in line with the court's Dec. 15 deadline.

Virginia's appeal was among several knocked down by the Supreme Court last June in ruling that seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a "one-man, one-vote" basis insofar as practicable.

Viets Express Regret

Saigon Admits Planes Strayed into Cambodia

SAIGON, South Viet Nam-- Cambodia won ammunition Wednesday from Saigon for its propaganda campaign against U.S. and South Vietnamese armed forces trying to root out Communist Viet Cong bases along the Cambodian-Vietnamese frontier.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman announced the unarmed U.S. Air Force C123 transport felled by gunfire from Cambodia Saturday inadvertently had strayed over Cambodian territory in foggy weather. He said the United States regrets the intrusion.

The crash killed eight Americans who were aboard the transport on a supply-dropping mission. Guerrillas were found to have looted the bodies of personal effects when a ground-air recovery party arrived Sunday at the wreckage, strewn across a central Vietnamese hillside about 250 yards inside the frontier.

The spokesman said there also is a possibility that three armed helicopters in the recovery operation crossed the frontier. Fired upon by a hostile ground party near Dak Dam, they returned the fire and may will have damaged some structures, he said. It was not specified whether Dak Dam, a former French army post a mile inside Cambodia, now is in the hands of Cambodians or the Viet Cong. South Viet Nam's Defense Ministry confirmed a charge by Cambodia that Vietnamese planes bombed the Cambodian village of Anlong Kres Oct. 20.

The ministry blamed the error on faulty maps and expressed regret. It said the government takes full responsibility and is prepared to pay compensation.

At the United Nations in New York, Cambodia declared that American and South Vietnamese planes made a second attack on Anlong Kres Saturday.

A letter addressed to the Security Council president, Sir Patrick Dean of Britain, said "the royal Cambodian government can only rely on appropriate action by friendly governments to ensure that an immediate end is put to unjustifiable acts of war directed against Cambodia."

Prince Norodom Sihanouk's regime, which wants a new Geneva conference to reaffirm Cambodia's borders and neutrality, called the United Nations powerless in this dispute. Sihanouk has rejected a Security Council suggestion that U.N. observers be posted at the border.

Gomulka Says Kremlin Bosses Reassured Him

WARSAW, Poland -- Back from a meeting with the new Kremlin leaders, Wladslaw Gomulka declared Wednesday the Soviet party leadership accepted Nikita Khrushchev's resignation, "having proper grounds to do so."

The Polish party leader then expressed a hope that the rift in world communism could be healed.

He described the Kremlin shake-up as in accordance with "Leninist principles of interparty unity" and said Polish-Soviet cooperation will be strengthened.

Gomulka was one of the leaders who had praised Khrushchev after his downfall was announced to the world Oct. 15. Apparently, Poland, like other Eastern bloc nations, feared that the Kremlin shake-up might portend a trend back to tighter control from Moscow as in the days of Stalin.

Gomulka met at the border last week with Khrushchev's successors, Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, who have been trying to reassure the restless Eastern bloc.

Eisenhower Leaves Hospital Today

WASHINGTON -- Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower--back in good voice after a bout with a respiratory ailment--will leave Walter Reed General Hospital at 9 a.m. today, Army spokesmen said Wednesday evening.

The 74-year-old five-star general entered the hospital Thursday because of a moderately severe inflammation of his windpipe and bronchial tubes.

Ex-Justice Burton Is Dead; Was 76

WASHINGTON --Harold Hitz Burton, retired Supreme Court justice, died Wednesday in George Washington University Hospital. He was 76 years old.

Death came at 4:40 p.m. The justice had suffered from Parkinson's disease--a nerve ailment--since the time of his retirement from the high court in 1958 and doctors attributed his death to this, along with the complications of kidney failure and pulmonary trouble. The justice had entered the hospital on Oct. 7.

Burton was a former mayor of Cleveland and served as Republican senator from Ohio from Jan. 3, 1941, to Sept. 30, 1945. He was a senator when appointed to the Supreme Court by President Harry S. Truman. He served on the court for 13 years, from Oct. 1, 1945 to Oct. 13, 1958.

WIU Voters 'Elect' Johnson, Percy, Too

MACOMB, Ill. -- Students at Western Illinois University gave overwhelming majorities to President Johnson and Charles H. Percy, Republican gubernatorial candidate, in a mock election Tuesday.

Johnson received 1,062 votes to Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater's 588. The gubernatorial vote was Percy, 1,098 and Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner, 588.

Other major state races were won by Democrats.

SIU voters also gave Johnson and Percy mock election victories Tuesday. Democrat Paul Powell won out over Republican Elmer Hoffman for secretary of state in the only other race.

Pitkin's 'Computer' Adds Life to History

President of Illinois Historical Society Is Tireless Researcher

After one of William Pitkin's history classes recently a graduate student compared his mind to an electronic computer.

"Mention a date or a fact and you can almost see his brain light up and start sorting historical data connected with the time or event," the student said.

Another agreed but added: "There is a big difference, though. He manages to put life into it, to make it timely and interesting and most of all to make you want to go out and read everything you can on the subject. You don't get that from an electronic computer."

Pitkin, an associate professor of history and the newly elected president of the Illinois State Historical Society, would have modestly disclaimed the comparison had he overheard the conversation.

He probably would have tugged at his lower lip pensively as he frequently does and said, "Well now..." and gone on to recall an incident in history to make a comparison.

To say that history is Pitkin's whole life would, of course, be overstating the case. But it certainly accounts for a great deal of it. Even if he wanted to, he just couldn't leave his subject in the classroom when the dismissal bell rings.

Although he has been a teacher and historian some 40 years, he still spends more time reading and studying in a week than any dozen students. When he is not in class you generally will find him prowling the stacks in Morris Library in search of an elusive fact, or closeted in his carrel reading, making notes or writing.

And at home, where his study is overflowing with books, largely of an historical nature, he is usually at work researching or writing on an historical paper or doing "homework" for next day's class, although he may have taught the course for years.

Vacations for Pitkin and his wife, Minnie Mae, executive aide to President Delyte W. Morris, frequently turn into an historical fact-finding tour.

From an historian's point of view, Pitkin is singularly lucky. His only child, James A. Pitkin, is a geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey in Washington, D.C. So when he and his wife visit their son he has an opportunity to do research at the U.S. Archives and the Library of Congress, two major repositories of historical data.

Does Mrs. Pitkin mind all this?

"Oh, my land, no," she will tell you. "I'm interested in history too, especially Illinois history."

She Spots Markers

On their motor trips, she serves as a spotter for historical markers, just in case one slips by him.

"If there's a historical marker, we just have to stop and read it," Mrs. Pitkin said.

Pitkin's election as president of the Illinois State Historical Society is a fitting reward to a man who has devoted himself to the study of history in general, and Illinois in particular.

He has criss-crossed the state countless times in search of clues that will help fill in the historical picture of the state. He has spent untold hours digging through books, personal papers, official documents and records wherever he could find them.

But through it all, he has kept a close eye on present-day developments and can, with the aid of his vast historical knowledge, put them in their proper perspective as easily as most students can think up an excuse for cutting a class.

In this long and often lonely task, he has come to know the state of Illinois probably as well as any man alive.

A colleague, John Clifford, associate professor of history and a social studies librarian, noted Pitkin's "genuine interest and outstanding ability in local history."

"I think it is an excellent thing for a society such as this to honor a man from the academic field as its chief officer," Clifford said. "It is a personal pleasure to know that a professional historian is functioning as the society's president."

Pitkin, by nature, is soft spoken and gentle in manner. He doesn't go in for classroom dramatics or attention-getting gimmicks. He is a scholar who knows scholars aren't born, they are made.

As a result, one of his compelling interests since 1945, when he first came to SIU and when he became an active member in the Illinois State Historical Society, has been making history interesting to high school students. He has been one of the prime movers behind a regularly published historical journal for Illinois High School students.

Most of the articles are written by junior and senior high school students and carefully checked by competent historians before they are published. The journal also carries articles written by historians and teachers. Pitkin himself has written a number of articles on Illinois history for it.

He Publishes Articles

In addition, he has published numerous articles on the historical journals. And he has prepared two books for publication, "The D. H. Brush Civil War Journal: From Cairo to Little Rock" and "The Cairo Rendezvous: Prelude to Victory in the West." The Progressive Movement and Theodore Roosevelt have been a major interest for years.

His election to the presidency of the Illinois State Historical Society obviously will present two problems for him.

It will take him away from his own research quite often as it did one recent week when he participated in the dedication of the Southern Illinois Historical Center at Olney Community College one day and took part in the 10th anniversary observance of the Randolph County Historical Society in Sparta the next.

And it also will take him away from his neatly groomed lawn at 906 Carter St. with its carefully trimmed trees and shrubs and -- his pride and joy -- a handsome, six-foot red barberry hedge.

A person who knows him quite well, noted with a wry smile: "History's about the only thing I can think of that would make him neglect that hedge."

Delta Zeta Chooses Woman of the Year

Helen Neal Radke, noted educator and president of the National School Board Association for the year 1963-64, has been named Delta Zeta sorority's woman of the year for 1964. She became a member of Delta Zeta sorority at the University of Washington, Seattle.

Announcement of the selection was made simultaneously throughout the nation Saturday as Delta Zeta collegiate and alumnae chapters celebrated the 62nd anniversary of the sorority.

The Carbondale alumnae chapter and Gamma Omega collegiate chapter at SIU observed the anniversary with luncheon and Founder's Day service at the chapter house.

Miss Imogene Beckemeyer, mathematics instructor, was program chairman for the event. Toastmistress was Mrs. Wayne Hutchinson of Marion, president of the alumnae chapter.

Diversity Rife In Plans for Homecoming

Homecoming week is in full swing and students have made plans for the gala weekend which accompanies a homecoming.

Students' plans range from going to the stage show and dance, to, of all things, staying home and studying.

Jerry Looft, a junior with an undecided major, came up with perhaps the strangest idea for the weekend. Jerry is going to shun activity on campus and go duck hunting.

Some students, such as Mike Levin, a senior majoring in psychology, will have to work all weekend and miss the entire program.

Craig Rasmussen, a freshman majoring in sociology, will also be working, although his job won't require much painstaking labor. Craig will work at the game and the stage show.

Bonnie Burns and Carol Wolfe, freshmen majoring in nursing, will stay home and study this weekend.

Of course, the fortunate students will be taking in the color of Homecoming. Shelegh Clutts, a sophomore majoring in home economics education, will attend the game and the stage show.

Sandy Schanche, a sophomore with an undecided major, and Jim Johnson, a senior majoring in Biology, will be present at the stage show, the parade and the game, while Edwina Parson, a freshman majoring in special education, has decided to attend only the football game.

Mickey Hughes, a junior accounting major, will be going to the stage show and the dance. Nancy Chasey, a sophomore majoring in home economics education, will attend the stage show and the dance. Nancy also is serving on the queen's committee.

City Council Plans Street Barricades For School Safety

Barricades will be erected on High Street at the intersection with Springer Street every school day from 7:45 to 8:15 a.m. and from 3:15 to 3:45 p.m., because of action taken at Tuesday night's Carbondale City Council meeting.

Concern for the safety of students from heavy traffic using the street when they are boarding and departing from buses was said to be the reason for closing it to private traffic during these times.

The council's action will make it necessary for parents to find an alternate route for delivering their children to Community High School and for picking them up in the afternoon. It was suggested that the school parking lot could be used for this purpose.

The barricades are to be operated by school personnel and will be opened at authorized barricaded hours to school buses only, residents of High Street, visitors to such residents and cars having a valid reason for using the street.

By this action people parking their cars on the north side of High Street will have to use the high school lot in the future. In this way, visitors to the residents of High Street will be able to use parking spaces on the street, the use of which had been limited.

Weber Working Out

4 Injured Salukis Mending, Might Be Ready for Eagles

The word out of North Texas State University this week is "dismal," but things are just about as gloomy in Southern's camp as the Salukis fight off injuries in preparation for Homecoming.

The Eagles are locked in a frustrating chain of three straight losses and the Salukis are battling off a series of injuries. However, the Salukis are getting back on their feet and might just pull a surprise on the depressed Texans.

Saluki backfield coach Jerry Hart told the Egyptian Wednesday that his wounded backs may be ready for action although their playing status depends on the team physician.

Rich Weber, Hart's prize running back, "worked out Tuesday after sitting out practice Monday." He feels that Weber will probably be ready to return to the lineup after missing last Saturday's Northern Michigan game.

"Mike McGinnis is limping quite a bit but Monty (Riffer) is feeling real good," added Hart. McGinnis, a tight end and Riffer, a fullback, were shaken up pretty badly last Saturday but will more than likely be in uniform Saturday. It's up to the doctor to determine their playing status.

Another casualty is halfback Wayne Thames who injured a knee in last week's game. Hart said Thames went to the doctor Tuesday night, but he had not received any word as to Thames' condition by Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, back in Denton, Eagle coach Odus Mitchell is having his problems too. The Eagles have lost close contests to West Texas State,

New Mexico State and the San Diego Marines. Mitchell feels his team should have, or at least could have, easily won all three.

"What's bad is the way we're losing them," said Mitchell. "We have a breakdown somewhere and fail to score over and over again."

In the 16-3 defeat at San Diego last week, the Eagles pushed to the Marines' 6, 3, 6, and 12-yard lines without scoring. Cumulative statistics in three departments point out the Eagle defensive lapses.

Opponents have averaged 18 yards on 37 pass completions -- good news for Saluki quarterback Jim Hart and end Tom Massey--16.8 yards on 12 punt returns and 22.5 yards on nine interception runbacks.

Chances of the Eagles bettering their 1-4-1 season hinge on a backfield which counts only on A.D. Whitfield. Whitfield has gained 329 of the Eagle's 556 rushing yardage while averaging 4.2 per carry.

The Eagles have switched to the same pro-type offense the Salukis use and are throwing more this year than ever before.

Quarterbacks Corkey Boland and Henry Cooper share the signal calling duties, with Boland passing for 335 yards on 24 completions in 64 attempts. Cooper has thrown only 47 times and has completed 19 passes for 207 yards.

The Eagles have scored only three times through the air, so the Saluki defensive secondary, SIU's weak spot all year, might not be heavily bombarded for the first time in seven games.

Although the Boland-Cooper passing combination hasn't been potent as far as scoring is concerned, the Eagles have three fine pass receivers in Herb Carr, Carl Lockhart and Mike Bailey, who leads the team in scoring with 12 points.

Bailey, a split end, has caught 12 passes for 132 yards and two touchdowns; Carr, a tight end, has nabbed 15 passes for 212 yards. Lockhart, halfback and top punter in the Missouri Valley Conference with a 39.3 average, is the team's top receiver with 18 receptions for 210 yards.

EAGLE PASSER -- North Texas State quarterback Corkey Boland will lead the Eagle passing attack against the Salukis in the 43rd annual Homecoming game Saturday.

Wittenberg U. Tigers Hold Top Small College Poll Spot

By the Associated Press

The Wittenberg University Tigers topped The Associated Press small college football poll for the fifth straight week.

The unbeaten Tigers whipped Denison 40-14 last Saturday for their sixth straight victory and topped the voting by the AP panel of 15 sports writers and broadcasters with 129 points.

They received seven first-place votes, four seconds, two thirds, one seventh and one eighth.

Prairie View of Texas continued its upward climb with two victories and nosed out Florida A&M for the No. 2 spot in the Top Ten with 95 points to 92 for the Rattlers.

A week ago Monday Prairie View defeated Wiley and on Saturday demolished Arkansas AM&N 31-13. Florida A&M edged Tennessee State 22-20.

Texas A&I jumped from seventh to fourth after a 13-12 triumph over Lamar Tech while Youngstown moved up from eighth into a tie for fifth with Louisiana Tech. Youngstown downed Baldwin Wallace 26-6 while Louisiana Tech beat Northwestern Louisiana 16-7.

Rounding out the Top Ten are San Diego State, No. 7, followed by Susquehanna, Los Angeles State and Massachusetts and Minnesota Concordia, the last two tied for 10th.

109 SIU Students Will Compile Voting Returns Tuesday Night From 39 Illinois Counties

An organization of 109 SIU students has been completed for the compilation of election returns Tuesday night.

The groups will receive and compile returns from 39 counties in Illinois, and will be a part of the nationwide Network Election Service (NES).

NES was formed by the five major news services and radio-television networks. Returns will be relayed from the precincts to sub-centers such as Carbondale, and in turn relayed to state and national headquarters.

The NES group in Carbondale will handle presidential, gubernatorial and congressional returns from the 21st and 23rd districts of Illinois. These will be received by a special telephone system, tabulated at the sub-center, and forwarded by telephone to state headquarters in Chicago. Personnel whose applications have been accepted will be notified by telephone by the seven supervisors: Fred Beyer, Rich La Susa, Frank Messersmith, Patricia Rigor, Erik Stottrup, Gary Sans Souci, Marie Vincenti, and Walt Waschick.

Headquarters will be the Community Room of the Carbondale Savings and Loan Association at 500 W. Main St.

John M. Matheson, sub-center manager, said a rehearsal is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, and the students manning the center will report for work at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday.

The NES operation in Illinois has been assigned to the National Broadcasting Co., Inc., and the SIU Department of Journalism taken the responsibility for covering the 39 counties for NES.

Sports Groups Are Warring Again Over Amateur Policies

Boydston Complains AAU Fails to Promote Gymnastics

The cold war is over. The truce has been broken and now the real battle begins—a truce that has been terminated now that the Olympics are over, the Associated Press reported.

The AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) and the NCAA are at it again and the first major shot is expected this week when the NCAA Council meets to formulate and publish a policy to control amateur athletics in this country.

Donald Boydston, SIU Athletic Director and President of the United States Gymnastics Federation, filed a letter to Jay-Ehret Mahoney, president of the AAU urging the AAU to "reflect on this new era in gymnastics and view the USGF program and accomplishments objectively."

Boydston sent the letter as a result of the United States' recent showing in gymnastics in the Tokyo games, where the U.S. did not win one of 44 medals awarded to both men and women.

"It is obvious from the results of the recent Olympic Games," Boydston began his letter, "that the United States must improve its domestic gymnastics program to be competitive internationally."

The SIU athletic chief pointed out to Mahoney that the U.S. has not won a gold medal in Olympics gymnastics competition since 1932. The United States' failure to win any medals in Tokyo "indicates the AAU's failure in advancing and promoting the sport," continued the letter.

This year's U. S. gymnastics team did not even come close to winning a medal. Makato Sakamoto, a 17-year-old Los Angeles high school student, was the number one U.S. finisher but he wasn't even in the top 20. Rusty Mitchell of SIU, finished 32nd. Dale McClements, an SIU coed, was first among the U.S. women but she could do no better than 34th.

Boydston went on to say in the one-page letter, "Despite the AAU's constant threats and ineligibility rulings, the USGF already had done more to improve and promote gymnastics in the USGF's two-year history than the AAU has accomplished in the last two decades."

An NCAA spokesman told the Associated Press Tuesday, "There are no more rules, not unless the government steps in again. I think it's safe to say that something more than talk is going to happen."

The NCAA spokesman was referring to the Federal government's intervention in the long NCAA-AAU feud which was temporarily terminated after the late President Kennedy asked the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur to step in.

Boydston's letter formally requested the "AAU to abandon its policy of harassment and join in the greatest and most progressive gymnastics program in the history of the United States."

The letter invited Mahoney and other AAU representatives to meet with representatives of the USGF at the Sheraton Hotel in Chicago Nov. 5, to possibly form a policy concerning the two factions.

When the NCAA Council meets this weekend "they undoubtedly will formulate and publish a policy," said the NCAA spokesman.

"The NCAA members want a policy, a guideline, something to stand on. This policy should be newsworthy," the NCAA spokesman added.

The NCAA and the USGF-AAU set-up works like this:

The AAU holds the international franchises for sanctioning of amateur sports in this country. The NCAA and the USGF, which represent the nation's colleges and their athletes, feel they should have a greater voice in the administration and sanctioning of their athletes in international competition.

"That, essentially, is what the fight is all about," explained Bob Green of the AP."

Unbeaten Nebraska Cornhuskers Lead Nation in Total Defense

NEW YORK--An equal balance between a strong offense and a tight defense, whether it achieved by platoons or all-around good play, is a virtually unbeatable combination in football. And that explains why Nebraska now has the longest major college winning streak, 13 straight.

Team defense statistics issued Wednesday by the NCAA Service Bureau show that while Nebraska's attack slipped a bit from its previous high, the Cornhuskers have developed the outstanding major college defense.

Nebraska held Colorado to 31 yards on 50 plays last week to gain the No. 1 spot in total defense. No. 2 in rushing defense and No. 7 in pass defense. It is the only team to appear in the top 10 in all three categories.

Over-all, the Huskers have yielded only 799 yards in six games, an average of 133.2 yards a game and 2.76 yards per play. On the ground their opponents have averaged 63.7 yards per game and in the air 69.0 yards.

Louisiana State, fought to a defensive standstill by Tennessee, moved into second in total defense with an allowance of 156.4 yards a game.

Sparks Philadelphia

Lucius Hot in Debut

NEW YORK (AP)--Lucius Jackson must have brought some of that Olympic goodwill back from Tokyo with him.

Jackson, the 6-foot-9 star of the U.S. basketball championship game victory over Russia last week, exhibited peace-loving tendencies in his first National Basketball Association game Tuesday night.

They came during a fight that erupted between Jackson's Philadelphia teammate, Dave Gambee, and St. Louis' Charley Vaughan. When Gambee and Vaughan started swinging at each other at one end of the court, players from both benches rushed to join in.

Not Jackson, though. "I was standing there keeping more guys from getting on the pile," the 240-pounder explained afterward. "I was watching."

That was about the only time during the game, though, that Jackson stood around.

The rookie from Pan American College made his presence felt, particularly under the boards in Philadelphia's 100-81 victory over the previously undefeated Hawks.

Jackson scored only 10 points but grabbed 14 rebounds, high in the contest.

Notre Dame, Texas, Nebraska Picked in Top Saturday Games

TOKYO (AP)--If you dig a hole from Tokyo right through the earth you will come out on the 50-yard line of Philadelphia Stadium, where Navy and unbeaten Notre Dame meet in their annual football soires on Saturday.

Here are this week's picks by Harold Claassen, Associated Press sports writer:

Notre Dame over Navy: The Irish have a defense that will keep Roger Stauback in check long enough for John Huarte and Jack Snow to get their aerial circus into action.

Georgia Tech over Duke: The Blue Devils' victory string ends on their home grounds.

Ohio State over Iowa: The Buckeye line yields ground grudgingly while their Willard Sander picks it up in big chunks.

Southern California over Washington: The Huskies are the West Coast's biggest disappointment.

Texas over Southern Methodist: The Longhorn halfback corps is big, lean, hard and speedy. In addition, Jimmy Hudson is becoming a top-flight quarterback.

Michigan over Northwest-

USC Quarterback Best Last Week

NEW YORK (AP) -- Craig Fertig, quarterback for the University of Southern California Trojans, was named Back of the Week Wednesday by the Associated Press.

Fertig threw four touchdown passes and over-all completed 21 of 28 passes for 371 yards in a 26-21 victory over California last Saturday as the Trojans bounced back from their defeat at the hands of Ohio State the previous week.

In the last two minutes of play Fertig completed six straight passes for 95 yards, the last for 22 yards and the winning TD. In addition he averaged 37.6 yards on punts.

Bill Wolski, Notre Dame halfback; Jim Grabowski, Illinois fullback, and Bob Schweickert, Virginia Tech quarterback, were high up in the weekly voting by sports writers and broadcasters.

Wolski rushed 18 times for 102 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Irish beat Stanford.

Grabowski also scored three touchdowns on runs of 33, nine and four yards. Altogether he rushed 171 yards on 27 carries against UCLA.

Schweickert scored two of Tech's touchdowns in an upset of Florida State.

NBA Shooters Get Head Start On Wilt the Stilt, Who's Ailing

NEW YORK (AP)--All those old familiar names are there in the National Basketball Association scoring statistics released by the league Wednesday. All of them but one.

You can't help noticing the absence of Wilt Chamberlain's name. The 7-foot-1 San Francisco star hasn't played any games this season, because of a stomach disorder.

Wilt's illness has left the field wide open for the rest of the NBA shooters. And they'll need as big a lead as they can get because Chamberlain is expected to return to action this weekend.

While the Warrior star was convalescing, Jerry West jumped off in front in scoring with 122 points for a 30.5

average. Baltimore's Baile Howell is second with 11 and a 23.2 average. Figure include games through Monday.

Nate Thurmond, who is filling in for Chamberlain in the Warrior scheme of things tops the rebounders with 9 to 38 for Boston's Bill Russell.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson remains the No. 1 play maker with 43 assists in four games. St. Louis' Cliff Haga has a .371 shooting average to lead that department an Adrian Smith of Cincinnati tops the foul shooters with 18 of 19 for .947.
