Decisions on Calendar, Finals Not Yet Reached by Council

Final decisions have not yet been reached on proposals to revise the University calendar and to return to a two-hour final exams system.

Reaction from the Campus Senate favoring two-hour finals has been received and the matter will be taken up at the Nov. 9 meeting of the University Council, according to Roland Keene, secretary to the Council.

Points of protest have included a scheduled three-day spring break in the calendar as it was first announced.

The matter of revising the calendar has been presented to the Campus Senate. A decision on guidelines for the calendar could be reached before the Nov. 9 meeting of the Council, Keene said.

If a set of guidelines is re-

Senior Crowned By King Menes

Nancy Sunderland is Homecoming queen.

Long live Queen Nancy!

Miss Sunderland, a senior from Alton was presented by King Menes, the traditional, mysterious sovereign of SIU homecomings, in the coronation ceremonies in Shryock Auditorium Thursday night.

The royal court consisted of Johnny Belle Blake, Janice Giachetti, Sharon K. Johnson, Jane Pinkstaff, Sandra Lee Stice.

Janet Mercer and Janis Dunham served as attendants to the queen.

Students chose the queen and her attendants in an all-campus election Friday.

Steve Jasper served as master of ceremonies. Other performers were Joyce Gimmel, court dancer; and Leighton Rockafellow, court soloist.

At the climax of the ceremony, King Menes announced the new queen.

Janis K. Ockerby, 1965 Homecoming queen, presented her successor with her flowing, red cape and a dozen red roses. Menes crowned Miss Sunderland with the tiara that will be hers during her year-long reign.

Queen Nancy, her court and attendants attended a Homecoming reception at 9 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom.

The entire court will be presented during the Homecoming parade Saturday morning, during the halftime ceremonies of the SIU-East Carolina State football game that afternoon and at the queen's dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Ballroom.

Wilson cited the reasons for his resignation as stemming from a "feeling of powerlessness, futility and bitterness," and the fact that he had been unable to reach any understanding with the administration in the area of student rights.

Following Wilson's resignation, the senators completed the week's business and adjourned in almost record time.

Bob Drinan, student body president, submitted copies of a letter to the senators that was drafted by the National Student Association concerning the draft and the United States commitment in Viet Nam. Drinan said he endorsed the letter and that it will now be forwarded to President Johnson.

The letter stated the NSA believed the growing commitment in Viet Nam is not in tune with the threats placed on America's interests.

In a report regarding the Nov. 4 Board of Trustees meeting in Edwardsville, President Morris has indicated that only Drinan, Ann Bosworth, Bard Grosse and Terry Proffitt will be allowed to address the board, it was announced.

Initially it was planned that a large number of students from the Carbondale campus would attend the meeting, but

Alums Find Changes Don't Affect Memory

Well alums, you've made it back again.

As you wander over the familiar paths you'll notice a few more buildings, a few more students, a few more rocks and fewer motorcycles.

The University is not quite the same as when you were here, but then, it never is. The seats in the classrooms, the dorms, McAndrew Stadium, the University Center, and the bars downtown are now filled by different people. Although the place is the same, the faces are different.

That's the stuff that memories are made of.

By now you have been approached by a number of groups seeking your support, either financial or moral. Fraternities need money to add that new stereo to the chapter room, and the student government wants outside help to have regulations and restrictions changed.

You have pumped hundreds of hands, nodded your heads a score of times, and pledged your aid to the brothers over that fourth pitcher of brew.

Your old roommate, the one you haven't seen since graduation, is also back. He was the one who said marriage would only come after he made his first million and had an apartment in the East Fifties on Manhattan Island.

Today he has a splitlevel in suburban Skokie, three kids and a station wagon. Plans do change.

The classmates themselves look different. Wing-tip brogans have replaced sneakers, and nylons and heels are where bobby socks and loafers used to be. Shoulder length tresses have given way to the more manageable bobbed cut, and some hairlines have moved back before an expanding forehead.

The conversations have changed a little also. Your classmates no longer argue about the need for more academic freedom, the elimination of ROTC or the need for compulsory attendance.

Now it's the cost of cornflakes, rising taxes, parking problems, air pollution and the national debt.

So alums, times and people change. Each Homecoming brings nostalgia and a little disenchantment, but that's all part of it.

Homecoming, like apple pie, grandmother's house, the 4th of July and trading stamps, is an American institution. It's kind of an institution here too, so have a good time, and welcome back!

Michael Nauer

Student Image Affected By Prankster's Bonfire

Two observations can be made about the incident in which the bonfire for Homecoming was ignited a night early.

First, Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity, spent much time in gathering the wood for the fire.

This time and effort was wasted when someone decided it would be a good joke to light the fire Tuesday and destroy part of the Homecoming festivities.

Alpha Phi Omega rebuilt the woodpile so the fire could be ignited Wednesday as scheduled.

It's doubtful whether the fraternity who rebuilt the pile thought it much of a joke.

Nature Needs Modern Noah

In the past four centuries 162 species of birds have become extinct, mainly as a result of either man's plunder or his indifference to their fate.

Tomorrow hundreds of exotic species of birds, mammals, and fish may disappear from the face of the earth forever. Conservationists, zoologists, wildlife specialists and zoo directors met recently in San Diego to discuss the plight of such strange creatures as the Tasmanian thylacine, the Arabian oryx, and the belted sandfish.

The consensus is that, to preserve the marvelously multifarious creatures of the earth, man must provide a kind of Noah's ark. He will do so, not in response to an antediluvian injunction, but only if he realizes that to allow the extinction of species of wildlife is an indictment of enlightened civilization.—The Hartford Times.

... AND LIFE CANNOT EXIST ON EARTH BECAUSE OF ITS ATMOSPHERE OF SMOKE, GAS FUMES, AND SOOT.'

Kennedy, Verwoerd Slayings Similar-No Reason for Either

The man who killed South Africa's Prime Minister Verwoerd has been adjudged insane—a not unexpected development, but one which stresses curious similarities between the assassinations of Dr. Verwoerd and of President Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy's assassin probably would have pleaded insanity had he not been killed himself by a man who did plead insanity. After both assassinations, people jumped at what seemed to be obvious explanations, and in both instances they proved wrong.

The Dallas crime was hastily and widely blamed on "right-wing extremists" who had reason to dislike Mr. Kennedy. The assassin turned out instead to be a shiftless ex-Castroite who had lived in Russia.

Whatever impelled the two men to their deeds, it was not reason. In earlier times and in more primitive countries, there has generally been an understandable reason for murdering heads of state and government, however cruel or inadequate it may have been. History abounds in examples of rulers and would-be rulers who met untimely deaths at the hands of conspiring political enemies and sometimes even relatives. Assassination was a more or less accepted, if untidy, method of removing an obstacle to ambition.

It seems ironic that in this "age of reason" many of the most appalling crimes have been committed for no apparent reason at all — most recently the tragic murder of Valerie Percy. Of the four assassinations of American Presidents, not one was committed by a sane man for a logical reason. Abroad as well as here, the job of assassination is being increasingly left to the crackpots.

Maybe there is an encouraging explanation, namely that if a man has a logical reason for hatred, he is capable also of reasoning that assassination nowadays won't help his cause and is more likely to hurt it. Modern democratic governments cannot be overthrown by doing away with one man. Or maybe the explanation is simply that security officers are better able to guard against rational and thus foreseeable attacks than against irrational ones. — Chicago Tribune.

Policy Won't Build Chiefs

To the editor:

When I came to this University, I was told I signed away my unalienable right to freedom of speech, the freedom of contract (housing), and to the freedom of choice of my own transportation.

I am now told what to do, when to do it, and how to go about it. The education I receive here is one of how to be ruled and not one of how to act like an adult. The people graduating from this University could never make presidents because they wouldn't know how to govern if they got elected. We at this University are truly a pack of sheep.

In case you hold with my opinion, I am starting a club. In this club there will be no leaders, no workers, no speakers and no action. We will never have a meeting because no one in the club can take part.

So, if you want to join, get someone to send in your name, because you can't formally get involved in matters pertaining to you personally. Joseph A. Slivinski

Rebel Priests Start White Collar Union

The Rev. William H. DuBay, rebellious Catholic priest in the Los Angeles diocese, has carried out his threat to form a clerical union. Father DuBay and another young priest have formed the American Federation of Priests.

We suppose this unique labor organization will be known as a whitecollar union. The next steps would seem to be application for membership in the AFL-CIO and contract demands for time-and-a-half —with Sundays off.

Chinese Perfect Missile

TOKYO (AP)—Red China claimed today the development of a missile system to carry nuclear bombs. It announced a guided missile with a nuclear warhead, lofted Thursday, "accurately hit the target at the appointed distance, effecting a nuclear explosion."

How far the missile traveled was withheld, but the test recalled a prediction last March by U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that the Chinese within two or three years would have an atomic strike capability of 500 to 700 miles.

The blast—the fourth announced by Peking since 1964—came while President Johnson was visiting neighboring Thailand. It thus raised speculation that its timing may have been designed to take Asian eyes off the President's trip and the aftermath of the Manila conference.

Peking portrayed the blast as good news for Hanoi, saying:

"The possession by the Chinese people of guided missiles and nuclear weapons is a great encouragement to the heroic Vietnamese people, who are waging a war of resistance against U.S. aggression."

This was not exactly a forecast that nuclear weapons might be used by the Communist side in Viet Nam. Use of these weapons by the allied side has been urged in some U.S. quarters, but U.S. military men and such authorities as Dwight D. Eisenhower have discounted their potential usefulness.

The official New China News Agency said China is developing its nuclear arsenal to oppose the "nuclear monopoly and nuclear blackmail by the United States and the Soviet Union, acting in collusion." It mentioned in this connection the nuclear nonproliferation treaty now being studied by Moscow and Washington.

The announcement contained only one paragraph as to the test itself and gave no details, nor any indication where it was held.

The paragraph said: "On Oct. 27, 1966, China successfully conducted over its own territory a guided-missile nuclear weapon test. The guided missile flew normally and the nuclear warhead accurately hit the target at the appointed distance, effecting a nuclear explosion"

Presumably the site was the Uighur testing ground in Sinkiang Province in remote northwest China. The Chinese are believed to have conducted their first three tests there. The first atomic device was exploded Oct. 16, 1964.

LBJ Flies to Thailand; Says North Can't Win

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—In a challenge to North Viet Nam, President Johnson says the United States and its allies in South Viet Nam have built a military shield "strong enough to prevent the aggressor from succeeding."

Until North Viet Nam withdraws its forces, "we must continue to resist the aggression that threatens South Viet Nam," he said in a report Thursday to the American people.

"We do so because we believe that the Communists will unbolt the door to peace only when they are convinced their military campaign cannot succeed," he declared.

The speech was taped in Manila and released as Johnson spent the day relaxing at the resort village of Bang Saen after 10 strenuous days on his Far East tour.

He goes by helicopter today 68 miles northwest to Bangkok where he is to be welcomed by King Bhumibol and Queen Sirikit.

In his two-day visit to Bangkok, he will have an opportunity to discuss with Premier Thanom Kittikachorn the growing Communist guerrilla menace in Thailand's impoverished northeast.

Johnson also will have an opportunity to see some of the 27,000 U.S. soldiers based in Thailand although he is not scheduled to visit any of the five air bases from which American pilots fly to bomb targets in North Viet Nam.

Johnson's speech was in the form of a report on the Manila summit conference and his flying visit to the big U.S. coastal base of Cam Ranh Bay in South Viet Nam.

'Report for Physical' Actor Hamilton Told

NEW YORK (AP)—The local draft board Thursday ordered actor George Hamilton to report for a physical examination in what was described as a move to "get all the possible information possible into his record."

Hamilton, a frequent escort of President Johnson's elder daughter, Lynda Bird, has been deferred from active service on the grounds that members of his family are dependent upon him for support.

Four Ministers Resign Cabinet In Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard decided Thursday to run West Germany with a minority government after the four ministers of the Free Democratic party resigned in a budget dispute.

It was the first time in the history of the 17-year-old Federal Republic that this has been tried. Erhard's Christian Democratic party has only 245 of the 496 votes in the Bundestag. But he can only be overthrown if the opposition gets together and elects a new man. This has never been tried either.

The crisis arose over the 1967 budget, heavily burdened by promises to buy arms in the United States, Erhard saw no way to balance it except by raising taxes. The Free Democrats, with important local elections coming up, resigned rather than approve.

Comsat Launches New Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—The newest communications satellite raced with measured accuracy Thursday night toward a targeted point 22,300 miles above the Gilbert Islands in the Pacific.

The Communications Satellite Corp. —Comsat— said tracking signals were coming in clearly and everything appeared to be working well.

Next Sunday, around 5:45 p.m. EST, Comsat engineers will order into action a small motor designed to kick the satellite out of its eccentric, greatly elongated orbit into the circular orbit which, at the proper altitude, will synchronize the spacecraft's speed with the turning velocity of the earth.

Once it is on station, the spacecraft will go into test service transmitting telephone calls and television patterns.

Women 'Licking Lids' to Save Money

NEW YORK (AP)—Shoppers are sampling, pinching, switching and snitching their way through the supermarkets these days, leaving a trail of empty cookie packages and licked lids.

"If we don't catch 10 people a day at breaking open packages we're kind of disappointed," says Fred Gallant, manager of a Safeway store in Dallas, Tex.

"People switch labels on meat to get 20 or 30 cents off, mash the tomatoes, and pull the leaves off the lettuce," he said.

An Associated Press survey of supermarket managers and shoppers found numerous reports of melon pinching, cookie nibbling, jelly-tasting shoppers sampling the grocer's wares on an eat now, pay later, if at all, plan.

The supermarkets complain it costs them millions of dollars a year and contributes to higher prices.

"We've had women open a peanut butter jar and dig their fingers in it for a taste," said an Atlanta, Ga., supermarket manager.

A shopper in Atlanta said: "I even saw one woman break open a jar of preserves from a vacuum-sealed jar, lick the underside of the top and then put it back on and return it to the shelf."

A Santa Ana, Calif., market claimed it lost $1,100 in two months through the switching of meat price tags.

"A customer will take two meat packages out of the refrigerated bin, one low-priced and the other high," said an A&P manager in Dallas. "She'll walk up and down the aisles until she's in a secluded spot and then change the labels."

A Safeway store spokesman in Los Angeles said he knew of a woman who weighed dozens of eggs so she could pick out the heaviest 12 for her carton.

"We find cereals opened often," said an Atlanta supermarket manager. "Often it is a child who has opened it to find the prize in it. These days a child often knows which boxes contain the prizes. Occasionally you'll find a mother who brings the box to the cashier and pays for it.

Phillip White, a Dallas grocer, said some shoppers are "so picky they do more damage to the fruits and vegetables than was done in the entire shipping process."

A Detroit woman with two children said she frequently opens a box of cookies and lets the kids nibble them while she shops.

"It keeps them quiet and happy and I can get my shopping done much faster," she said. "Of course I pay for the cookies on the way out."

But a woman in Atlanta said she had put packages back on the shelf after her child opened them.

"I figure I do enough shopping there for them to absorb the loss," she said.

Drivers Training Questioned

CHICAGO (AP)—Alan S. Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, said Thursday there is no evidence that driver training does any good.

Boyd said that while he is "inclined to accept" the notion that driver training is better than nothing, "there is no evidence to support driver training as having any particular benefit."

Boyd's remarks were recorded for broadcast next week over the Mutual radio network and other stations.

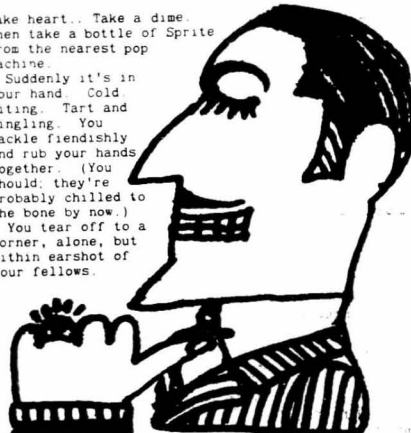

He said that with millions of dollars spent annually for driver training, "we ought to try to find out what is being

Last year, thousands of lawyers, bankers, accountants, engineers, doctors and businessmen went back to college.

And not just for the football games.

We'd like to clear up what appears to be a misunderstanding. It is somewhat popular on campus to decry a business career on the grounds that you stop learning once you start working for Cliché Nuts & Bolts.

That idea is groundless. We can't speak for Cliché, but we can for ourselves—Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System. 6 out of 10 college graduates who have joined us over the past 10 years, for example, have continued their higher education.

How're these for openers: W.E.'s Tuition Refund Plan lets employees pursue degrees while working for us. Over 6 thousand have attended schools in 41 states under this plan. We refund more than $1 million in tuition costs to employees a year.

To name another program: advanced engineering study, under the direction of Lehigh University, is conducted at our Engineering Research Center in Princeton, N. J. Selected employees are sent there from all over the country for a year's concentrated study leading to a master's degree.

You get the idea. We're for more learning in our business. After all, Western Electric doesn't make buggy whips. We make advanced communications equipment. And the Bell telephone network will need even more sophisticated devices by the time your fifth reunion rolls around. The state of the art, never static, is where the action is.

At Western Electric, what's happening is the excitement and satisfaction of continued doing and learning. If this happens to appeal to you, no matter what degree you're aiming for, check us out. And grab a piece of the action.

Museum Presents SIU History in Photos

The SIU Museum has prepared a special display for Homecoming weekend, and it will be shown both Saturday and Sunday.

It is designed to illustrate the history of the University and is entitled "Southern in Motion." Included are many photographs dating back as far as Southern's first graduating class in 1879.

All the buildings that were constructed from the late 1800s to the early 1900s are

A photograph of the first Old Main shows before it was destroyed by fire. Photographs of other old buildings include the Allyn Building, the Wheeler Library, and the Parkinson Building.

Photographs of each SIU president from the first, Robert Allyn, 1874-1892, up to the incumbent Delyte W. Morris can also be seen.

One of the most interesting items on exhibit is the general plan that was drawn up in 1942. It is a sketch showing the proposed design of an expansion of the SIU campus 25 years in the future.

Another historic piece on display is the original fountain pen which the late Adlai E. Stevenson used in signing three Senate bills that created a separate Board of Trustees for SIU.

The display illustrates how the Saluki was selected as Southern's mascot. Included are pictures of all the Saluki dogs from the first mascot, King Tut, who was killed in 1954.

Mrs. Georgia Harrison was both the artist and designer of the exhibit.

The museum will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. It will also be open the same hours on the weekend of Parents Day.

Owner of Little Store Recollects Earlier Days Spent at Southern

Editor's note: One of the old-timers on campus is W.W. Trobaugh, whose wares have been offered to students for over 30 years. For the benefit of returning alumni, here's a current report on him.

By Sally Murphy

"My name's W.W. Trobaugh. The first W stands for William...but I never use

W. W. TROBAUGH

William," said the white-haired gentleman.

"I didn't think you were coming today. I thought maybe they told you that I've had too many stories written about me...I can't even remember how many times I've been interviewed," he added.

Trobaugh is 86 years old and he is the owner of the tiny store in the barracks outside the north entrance to the University Center. "I own the store, but I don't own the building," he said. "The University owns all the property in Southern Illinois."

"I came here on the first day of September, 1932, and started a filling station," he began. "I had a house on the corner of Harwood and Thompson — right out there where the bicycles are now."

"I worked six years with the pumps, then 12 years with the pumps and the store," he continued. "Then, on the Tuesday after Thanksgiving...in November, 1950, they took the pumps out. On the 28th day of May, 1953, I got moved into this building. I guess I own the only private business on campus," he added.

"I sell candy, soda, ice cream, and a small line of groceries. I sold 99 sandwiches yesterday and 101 sandwiches Friday."

Trobaugh has quite a memory for dates and figures. "They become a part of me," he said.

As he talked, he stood erect with his hands folded on the counter. He wore a blue ivy league sweater — and looked like someone's grandfather who had come back to college.

"I went to college here in 1898 and 1899, when Old Main and Altgeld were the only buildings on campus," he said.

"On the 15th day of September, 1900, I began teaching school. I came back to summer school in 1901, and then I taught school for six more years."

He then farmed for 21 years after marrying in 1903. Trobaugh now lives with his second wife, Edith, at 508 S. Beveridge St. His youngest son, Carl, manages the University Bookstore.

Trobaugh works alone in his tiny store from 7 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Monday through Friday. He likes the students who frequent his store. "They're very much the same as all the others before them have been," he said, "very nice and courteous."

Harmon football highlights

Saturday is the first reckoning day for two of the three leaders of the Big Eight Conference. 16th-ranked Missouri meets 17th-rated Nebraska in Lincoln in a struggle for supremacy, and we'll pick the Tigers of Columbia to beat the Cornhuskers by three points. Oklahoma, No. 3, the other contender, is a seven-point favorite over Colorado.

In the Southwest Conference, both top teams are in trouble. Texas A & M, 3 and 0 in the conference, is a 7-point underdog to Arkansas, ranked 9th nationally. S.M.U., No. 11, is going to be upset by 14th-ranked Texas. The difference is one point.

Tulsa will lead the Missouri Valley Conference by itself on Sunday, disposing of co-leader Cincinnati by 22 points.

The two teams on the top rungs of the Atlantic Coast Conference should still be in a tie for the lead after Saturday. Maryland will whip South Carolina by two, and Clemson should win over Wake Forest by seven points.

With the three top teams in the Southeastern Conference all undefeated in conference competition, Decision Day may be a few weeks away. Alabama, third in the country, is a lop-sided 30-point favorite over Mississippi State, and Florida, No. 6, will scuttle Auburn by twenty-one. The other leader, 18th-ranked Georgia, goes outside the conference where it is favored by 8 points over North Carolina.

Top dog in the Big Ten — and the only team with an unblemished record in league play — is Michigan State, the Number Two team in the nation. The Spartans are a big 31-point choice over Northwestern.

Undefeated Miami of Ohio is sitting in the top spot in the Mid-American Conference. The Redskins are favored to bump Bowling Green this week by 20 points.

After 2 Years of Defeat

SIU Wants Homecoming Game Victory

The bonfire has gone to ashes twice now and everyone is anxiously awaiting the festivities of the weekend. In the course of planning your homecoming weekend did you ever stop and wonder what lies behind the Homecoming tradition at SIU?

Where did it all start? In 1921 the first Homecoming at Southern was proclaimed. Here's what the Egyptian of Nov. 11 that year said about the event:

"It (Homecoming) is a project this year in which SINU throws open her doors to welcome back her thousands of former students. Next year it will no longer be a project, but an institution . . ."

The institution is entering its 46th year of existence Saturday. The only interruption in the annual game came in 1943 because of World War II.

For the first Homecoming Southern played host to Cape Girardeau, with whom they tied 0-0. Since then SIU has played 15 different teams at Homecoming. Southern has an overall record of 22 wins, 19 losses and 3 ties.

Back in 1921 Southern was officially Southern Illinois Normal University and the team was called the Maroons. Included in the homecoming record are two six-game winning streaks. These came between 1929 and 1934 and also from 1958 through 1963.

The 1930 team, which dumped Illinois State 39-0, was Southern's only undefeated squad. Glenn "Abe" Martin, director of intramurals, was a member of that team. SIU started its last six-game streak with a 36-7 victory over Washington and Lee in 1958. The string continued with triumphs over Eastern Illinois 7-0, Illinois State 33-6, Eastern Illinois 34-14, Illinois State 14-0 and finally a 27-0 triumph over Northern Michigan.

That victory was the Salukis' last Homecoming success. Since then SIU has been beaten by North Texas 14-13 and Men students have been given a special invitation to join the Badminton Club which meets each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Large Gym.

Marilyn Harris, club leader, said men students seem to think the club is only for women since it is sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association. But the club is open to both men and women, she said.

Tar Heels Losing

North Carolina's last winning football season was in 1963 when the Tar Heels won 9 of 11 games.

Tulsa 55-12 in last year's game. Two of Southern's Homecoming games have been played against Shurtleff College of Alton, whose campus is now the sight of the Alton center of SIU's Edwardsville campus.

Southern's easiest Homecoming triumph was a 41-0 rout of Eastern Illinois in 1941. The worst beating suffered by a Southern Homecoming squad was last year.

The SIU record stacks up this way against the 15 opponents: against Eastern Illinois Southern is 9-3, against Illinois State 4-3-1, Southeast Missouri 3-1-2, Western Illinois 1-3, Northern Illinois 1-2, Washington University of St. Louis 0-2, Shurtleff 1-1, Washington and Lee 1-0, McKendree 1-0, Eastern Michigan 0-1, Central Michigan 0-1, Northern Michigan 1-0, North Texas 0-1 and Tulsa 0-1.

'Nothing Impossible'

Coach Predicts Navy To Beat Notre Dame

By Jack Kneece
Associated Press Writer

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Navy Coach Bill Elias predicted this week that his sky-high Middle football team would beat No. 1 ranked Notre Dame Saturday.

Navy, which is 3-3 for the season, has revved up so for the clash Saturday that Elias went out on a limb with the prediction, adding:

"In all sincerity, I've never seen a team as high as this team since I've been here.

"I have so much faith in this group of young men I'm confident that nothing is impossible. I think we'll win it."

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian, in a long-distance chat with Elias and writers, would not predict victory and even said that service academy teams have so much spirit that anything could happen on any given weekend.

Elias and his staff feel that there are other plus factors the oddsmakers have overlooked in the 26-point spread favoring Notre Dame.

The biggest is that spectacular sophomore end Jim Seymour has an injured ankle and will probably not play--though Parseghian would not commit himself on that question when asked by Elias.

Another is a report that quarterback Terry Hanratty's tossing arm is not in the best shape following a mild sprain.

"You take away Hanratty and Seymour," said Elias, "and you have the same team that we played to a standstill last year in their own backyard."

Elias referred to the fact that Navy led the Irish 3-0 until moments before the first half ended when Nick Eddy took a screen pass 55 yards for a touchdown. Notre Dame went on to win 29-3, but it was the Navy feeling that--had they taken a 3-0 lead to the dressing room--they could have pulled it out.

PULLING FOR SOUTHERN IN 1966--The Saluki baseball batgirls, formed last spring, proved to be a novel attraction wherever they appeared. The girls were mentioned in such national publications as Sports Illustrated magazine and made numerous radio and television appearances throughout the local area. They are, left to right: Debbie Tighe, Aledo; Donna Frieboes, Mounds; Rae Stahl, Carmi; Kathy Henschel, Rosamond; Linda Svoboda, LaGrange Park; and Cindy Lopicola, Brookfield.
