Cook blasts task force for report delay

By James Derh
Staff Writers

The lack of a Service Evaluation Task Force report is hampering the ability of advisors to advise students and忙着 the Undergraduate Student Organization President Jerry Cook said.

"I have realized the task force's report is not coming, at least within the time frame that we told our constituents that it would be," Cook said Wednesday. "We are now faced with the responsibility of advising the administration of student opinion on service areas without the benefit of that report."

But the chairman of the task force, Vicki OIgl'ty, said Thursday that the task force report will be completed by Friday evening.

Cook called for the task force last year to determine student opinion on the merits of service student services. The task force was asked to submit the report by Dec. 6 last year.

Cook said he sent a memo to Kelly March 7 requesting "an update of the report, even though it is 1/24 not been completed." He said he has not heard from the task force since.

Kelly said the memo, which highlighted an "incomplete or "report delay," asked for any assistance whatsoever," Kelly said. "It's hard to make things more difficult for us."

But Cook said USO support of the task force was never withdrawn.

A escalation of organizations funded with student activity fees was not in the scope of the Undergraduate Force, Cook said.

"The task force was charged with reviewing areas where student input had been little or none," he said. "We felt that the task force needed concern itself with the areas where student control of the Student Senate."

The Senate is currently dealing with the Recognized Student Organizations and has total control over those dollars, Cook said.

Kelly acknowledged the USO, the Graduate and Professional Student Council, the Faculty Senate and the International Student Council.

City, student issues highlight Westberg-Crim mayoral debate

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

Mayor candidates Robert Crim and Helen Westberg met to debate the issues Thursday night and continued a tradition of disagreeing with each other.

Speaking to about 100 people in Student Center Ballroom D, the candidates debated a range of topics, including the Halloween celebration and student participation in city events.

Throughout the debate, Crim continued to be a dominant theme in the campaign, as he was hampered by an "alternative choice" while his opponent offers nothing new for the city, Westberg said.

Westberg, who has "won" the City Council decision in the past year, countered with an argument she has raised before: "It's time to turn the direction of the city that the heading and will use her experience to continue moving in that direction.

"I think that's it to get the entire community involved," she said.

Faculty concerned about pay cuts

By Philip Fournier

If SIU-C reduces faculty and staff salaries to handle an estimated $12 million shortfall for fiscal year 1984, the results will be detrimental, a law professor said Thursday.

"It seems to me there could be a long-term detriment in making up any shortfall through a salary decrease," said Samuel Tenenbaum, who spoke at a general faculty meeting called by the Faculty Senate. Tenenbaum said a decrease would make SIU-C even less competitive, especially in the Law School.

Choruses of people have prompted the governor to urge the Legislature to approve a $1.6 billion tax increase for next year.

David Arey, chairman of the senate Committee on Commissions, asked what Thompson's position on higher education are, and how much SIUC ranks among.

John Baker, assistant to President Albert Sumi, responded that the Illinois Board of Higher Education has not made SIUC's budget, and "the cold truth is that SIU-C is 12th on the list."

"We want a budget that will be a full budget," Arey said.

"This is an important issue," Baker said.

Conservation jobs feel the pinch

By Terry Levecke
Staff Writer

Local workers for the Illinois Department of Conservation are starting to feel the pinch of Gov. James Thompson's $130 million dollar budget for fiscal year 1984. This week, 136 classified workers in this region of the state received layoff notices.

Statewide, 560 layoff notices were issued in anticipation of cutbacks that would go into effect: July 1, if the General Assembly does not approve a tax increase, said Phil Childs, Illinois and Southern Illinois University public affairs officer for the department.

The layoff notices are part of the cutback program: the department announced earlier this year that layoff notices would also be the cutback program. The department was down to 1,800 employees, and the lake will still be open but all maintenance staff will be cut down to a patrol once a week. Childs said.

"If we get a tax increase and the cutback program goes away, the department will be able to hire more workers," Childs said. "The losses of the governor's budget forced all agencies to cut back.

All types of positions in the department are subject to layoffs. In the local chapter of American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, maintenance workers, resource technicians and managers, construction supervisors, maintenance equipment: operators, rangers, clerks, typists, and accounting clerks were involved in a "diversified" event that would include activities throughout the city.

"It makes sense to go ahead and do this way," Childs said. "This is a federal pressure. We're just trying to go to a park for a month and then all of the sudden not be able to use it. It's better to close them now for a smoother transition."
resigned and were not replaced by those organizations. The USO, which charged the task force for political motivations, was forced to hire an outside consulting firm to evaluate the impact on the mission and morale of the USO. The recommendations from the Budget Advisory Committee were based on a study of the financial condition of the University and recommendations from other constituencies — both academic and nonacademic. The recommendations were made available to the public and the administration, and the USO is still considering them.

The University was facing a financial crisis, and the task force was established to address the problems. The recommendations from the task force are expected to be released soon, and the University will determine how much money will be available and how it will be spent. The University is also considering the possibility of eliminating some programs and departments to save money.

Judge sentences Teamsters leader

CHICAGO (AP) — A stern federal judge, charging Roy L. Williams "sold out the working man," imposed a provisional 55-year sentence Thursday for the Teamsters president's role in a conspiracy to bribe a U.S. senator. But a substantially shorter sentence is likely after a medical exam.

April 1st to pre-register for this test.
The Student Senate voted Wednesday night to change the date of the USO election to April 13.

The election was tentatively scheduled for April 20, senators from both the Maverick Party and Trojan Party sought to have the date changed. Since the terms of all student senators expire at the end of this semester, all 38 senate seats will also be open for re-election.

The positions of USO president and vice president were also declared open for re-election. The position of student trustee will also be up for election.

The Senate also approved a Student Welfare resolution Wednesday night in favor of a fund-raising drive. Harold McFarlin, for the fund, has been accepted as a candidate for a heart transplant at Stanford University and needs $10,000 for the operation.

The Student Welfare Commission of the USO has been working on plans to raise money for the fund. The appointment of Steve Petrow as Minority Affairs Commissioner also received senate approval. Petrow's appointment was tabled at the Senate's last meeting since it had not been presented to the USO Committee on Internal Affairs.

Why doesn't DE write about issues that matter?

That's it. I'm really disgusted and I'm tired of this "academic deterrent"! I've been reading about the Daily Egyptian and the campus happening with the recent contro­versy surrounding the parties at 660 W. Gillette. I have not seen any of the articles the DE staff has written about this topic. It's a shame that it seems that some are not interested in their jobs. I truly believe that the writers of the DE should write about matters that not only concern the students but the general population as well.

Does the DE have competent enough reporters to find the perpetrators of this and many other crimes? I believe not. How can the DE continue to be bearable to the students if the writers report about the events that are happening on campus?

Non-aligned movement not dead; not luxury but necessity

The recent non-aligned nations' conference held in New Delhi March 7-17 sparked a new movement for moderate for the movement. Held in the Vijayanagar region of India, the conference participated by well over 60 heads of states and 101 foreign ministers. The conference's outcomes have shown that the movement started by this conference will continue to be an important part of the political process for the Indian people.

While there is still the Cold War, the arms race, the gap between North and South, the problem of information, the intensification of aggressive forces in the third world and in the middle east, the radical and colonialist policy of South Africa and so on. But above all, the superpowers are still at war - we come to terms on disarmament. On the contrary, the arms race is being escalated. The arms trade, in particular from North to South, is also increasing.

Yet amidst such problems and controversies, the outcomes of the recent meeting can be termed positive. For in­stance India Gandhi and Gen. Zia Ul Haq, leaders of India and Pakistan (whose countries have fought each other for four years) signed a new five-year agreement in New Delhi. The agreement established a new scientific and cultural cooperation. Yasser Arafat of the PLO personally pleaded with President Amin Gueyeli of Lebanon to withdraw his forces. And whenever the Lebanese government requested it, the PLO has said it would withdraw forces only when Syrian forces did.

Color Chicago politics black and blue

Belinda Edmonson
Staff Writer

CHICAGO POLITICS have traditionally been of the sen­sationalist mould, earning it a reputation as a city run by rather suspect means. Its reputation has not been helped any by the recent local elections, which started when Harold Washington, the black candidate for the Democratic party, was elected the party's candidate from incitement Mayor Jane Byrne and challenger Richard Daley. Byrne suddenly decided to become the black candidate, then equally suddenly decided to drop out on the day that her campaign and former Mayor Kennedy appeared in Chicago advertising for Washington. In her absence, Byrne, in thinly veiled, but still implicit, implied that a black mayor would lead the city to ruin. Washington's le­gislature was not for cause, but for his race.

MOST LIKELY, Byrne decided to stay out of the race and received little support for her move and was heavily criticized from all corners. Fellow laborer Daley condemned her write-in campaign as an "appeal to racial divisiveness." Byrne had in effect appealed to the basest instincts of the white electorate, hoping that the ensuing wave of panic would carry her to re­election.

What is really sad about all this is that the black voters have tried such a tactic if she hadn't won the vote, the white electorate of its voting. When one consi­ders the recent "demon­strations" that have taken place in Washington by residents of the black electorate could not be termed positive. For in­stance India Gandhi and Gen. Zia Ul Haq, leaders of India and Pakistan (whose countries have fought each other for four years) signed a new five-year agreement in New Delhi. The agreement established a new scientific and cultural cooperation. Yasser Arafat of the PLO personally pleaded with President Amin Gueyeli of Lebanon to withdraw his forces. Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak met Jordan's King{} Husein and Arafat, who had called for such a meeting to discuss ways to end the conflict and for a peace treaty with Israel in 1978. This leads me to state as a citizen of legal age that the more moderate non-aligned nations that emerged in the conference are not dead. It also leads me to think that the possibility of a peaceful settlement in the Middle East is indeed a possibility.

This game is absolutely no fun

After two and a half years of buying lots of B1900 radio-controlled model planes and plugging a quarter an hour into parking meters, I made a 1993 New Year's Resolution. I was going to find a red sticker space every day and be prompt for commitments. I might have been well initiated into the Parking Garage Game. I have discovered a few un-written rules that I think should be obeyed by you:

- It is fair to wait behind a car stopped in a space but it is unfair to pull in front of them and wait. Therefore it is very unfair to pull in front of a car that has been waiting and then try to backup for a space before they have a chance to get it.
- If you have been parked in the garage and are waiting to or park that car, you should walk down the aisle your car is parked and check the space. Whatever the case...a car parked sounds like a classy deal: why don't you spell the invitation correctly?

USO leaders neglecting city matters

John Schrag
Staff Writer

THANK GOODNESS SIU students have the Undergraduate Student Organization leaders looking out for them. This group of people has always protected student civil rights ever since the mid 1960's when all of their fellow comrades in education, ``staying out yet another attempt by the diabolical city officials to oppress them." The problem is that they arrived a month too late to attack a problem that doesn't exist.

For the past month city officials have been considering changing some of the city codes and enforcement policies in order to better control legal violations that occur at student parties. This action is both overdue and is something to approve of. The city's proposed action would not ban student parties, but rather clamp down on partners who don't have the consideration to keep their revelry within legal bounds — the same rules that all SIU-C students are subject to. At any rate, through City Council and staff meetings during the last month quite a few seemingly reasonable proposals have come forth.

ENTER THE USO. It seems that our illustrious student leadership was outraged when it learned Monday that City Manager Carroll Fry had compiled a report studying and butt the students to do anything without consulting the USO. When USO president Jerry Cook was asked how he was going to proceed with action at Monday night's council meeting, he said he couldn't do anything without consulting his cabinet, but whatever he said was true as yet another of Mr. Fry's efforts to limit the student voice in city council proceedings.

He complained of having this problem just too much too late, and said that Mr. Fry should have the "common courtesy" of consulting the city council whenever the city takes action that would affect student interest. Now I have some real problems with phrase that.

First of all, Carroll Fry has better things to do than play babysitter in the USO. And isn't it a little naive to think that Fry is going to roll Cook whenever the city is considering a matter that could be unpopular with student opinion. It's a bit like telling Ralph Nader to keep General Motors posted on what he's got to do.

FURTHERMORE, JERRY COOK and his gang have no excuse for being clueless and ignorant by Fry's action. The City Council directed Fry to compile the report three weeks ago, an event that was publicized by the Daily Egyptian.

And even if all the USO leaders are deaf, dumb and blind, they still would have known what was going on at city hall if they had someone attending City Council meetings. Last academic year, USO appointed Mark Philbrick to serve as a student liaison to the city. In that role he picked up the council agenda packets every Friday, attended most of the council meetings on Monday nights and met with city officials formally and informally. Unfortunately, Philbrick is not around any more.

This year, USO stopped picking up the agenda packets and the student liaison to the city has avoided council meetings like they were herpes. In addition, USO has failed to name a student representative to the Liquor Advisory Board this year and only recently even named someone to the Citizens Advisory Council.

OF COURSE, Cook could fire USO's current liaison to the city, but it's not a good political move to fire oneself. That's right. Cook appointed himself student liaison to the city and has yet this year to address the concerns of the last in formal meetings of the month when they allot special time for him to do so. He did, however, show up on thurs nights when he isn't scheduled to speak.

Cook says he doesn't "have a problem slotting people to council meetings and USO's absence was encouraged by Cook himself, largely due to a personnel reduction at the City's Personnel Office.

Bruce Brown, vice president for student affairs, expressed concern over the lack of student life was there; some student leaders were found of the same. There were of some who made the student council representatives to the Liquor Advisory Board,\n\nUSO leaders representing the students on this campus and in that capacity they need to actively monitor and participate in city affairs. But it is too late for that kind of thinking now, and it seems like the city council is not giving serious consideration to any of our concerns.

It's a case of better late than never, but it should have been allowed to happen again. USO makes all SIU-C students look bad when its ignorance on the part of city council members to improve the city's political process.

In time for our student leaders to spend more time playing politics and more time regularly participating in the city's political process.
Novelist to read hot, cold stories

One of the hottest women writers in the U.S. is coming to Carbondale this week. Yes, Ann Beattie is coming to town. Beattie has published over 40 short stories in the New Yorker, more than anyone save possibly for Updike or Bartholomew. Her latest collection of short stories, "Burning House" was rated one of the ten best books of 1982 by the New York Times Book Review. Recognition has come from both popular and academic circles. Beattie received an award in Literature with the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters and has been mentioned in most literary journals as one of America's major writers. Her work has even been called "the best of the century," a Hollywood-like screen play based on her first novel, "Chilly Scenes of Winter." Beattie will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the Student Center Auditorium. Beattie, who has a Hitchcock-style wax, on during the film, will be present to speak and respond to questions. Admission will be $1.50.

She will also give a public reading of her work at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Davis Auditorium in Wirt. Events are sponsored by the Department of English, Research Administration and Development, Office of Academic Affairs and the Student Programming Council.

Dramatists to debut works

By Jeanna Hunter
Staff Writer

Three of SIU-C's aspiring playwrights will see some of their works presented for the first time at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 6 to Sunday, April 10 in the Laboratory Theater.

The three plays were not only written by students but are also directed and produced by students. The evening will begin with "On Holiday" followed by "Violet's" and end with "Family Secret." On Holiday was written by Ken Robbins, a former doctoral candidate at SIU-C and a professor at Newberry College in South Carolina. It is a play about an aging Civil War hero who returns with his family to the battlefield where he was wounded. Cindy Tottpn, a graduate student in acting and directing, is the director.

Written by Pam Billingsley, "Violet's" is about a young couple who trace their family roots by uncovering information about a piece of land they plan to purchase. Billingsley's play "Quilt Pieces" was produced in McCleod Theater last semester. "Violet's" is directed by Mark Rabin, a graduate student in acting and directing.

"Family Secret," written by Leslie Sloan, a graduate student in playwriting, is directed by Greg Turley, a graduate student in acting and directing. It centers around a father returning on Father's Day and his explanation for why he left.

Tickets for the performance are $2 and are available from 12 noon to 4 p.m. at the McCleod Theater Box Office or at the door. Latecomers will be seated during the intermission.

Brass ensemble will give recital

The Faculty Brass Quintet of the School of Music will present a recital at 8 p.m. Monday in the Old Baptist Foundation Chapel. The quintet will perform transcriptions, arrangements and original works from the 17th to 20th centuries.

The members of the quintet are Robert Allodi, trumpet; Francine Sherman, French horn; Robert Weiss, trombone; Clifford Shaver, trumpet; and Randall Foil, tuba.

The recital is free and the public is invited to attend.

Old Main Room to get nostalgic Old Main look

By Jeanna Hunter
Staff Writer

The Old Main Room will have a new "old" look if Denny Hays' intermediate interior design class gets its way.

By redesigning the Old Main Room to resemble the original Old Main Building, destroyed by fire in 1969, Hays and the members of the class hope to restore it to the memories of people at SIU-C.

Besides capturing the aura of the original Old Main Building, he said the designs offered will provide a first-rate dining facility. The final design of the new Old Main Room may be a combination of several different students' proposals.

The class is redesigning the Old Main Room as part of its required curriculum. The 11 class members have been working on their designs for about three weeks.

The design will include a new front for the restaurant as well as a new interior. Hays said a public presentation of the plans will be from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday in Quigley 122A.

At this time, professionals from New York, St. Louis and Chicago along with the Student Center staff and John Corker, Student Center director, will be on hand to comment on the designs.

The members of the class are

Fred's

Why is it that hundreds of people who can't stand country music, never listen to a country station and never dance to any kind of music, do come out and dance up a storm to the country music of FRED's?

For them, Fred's has captured a "mood" that they have personalized a large group happening. The music is only one ingredient, the food decor with its maps and menu tables and recycled cans each tray is another. But the most important ingredient is that Fred's celebrates its customers. The customers become the event they are "for their show and the party is really being held for them.

Egg hunt planned

Two thousand decorated eggs are ready to be hidden for a children’s Easter egg hunt to begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at Evergreen Park, according to Euclides Soares, chairman of the event.

The program is free to children under 13. Prizes will be given to those children who find numbered eggs, Soares said.

Soares said the egg hunt was organized by Abbott Hall of Thompson Point.

Yamaha National "Wide Open House" Set for April 9 through 17

Speede Yamaha celebrates Start of 46th Year in Cycles

April 9 through 17 is set for a National Yamaha W.O.H. OPEN HOUSE and Speede’s Yamaha will be right in the thick of it on the local scene, with all kinds of nice things for everyone visiting the store during that time.

There will be free prizes for the first 20 customers each day: Tire gauges, caps, hats, T-shirts, plus a free hot dog, and a free Mountain Dew soft drink courtesy of Fast and Soopers.

The Phantom Tire has come out of retirement to challenge riders once again to find its hiding place. April 1 starts the season, and any cycle owner wishing to be a winner must come to Speede’s to register in and get an Official "Hunting License" to participate. The tire will be worth $100 in trade the first day and drop in value $2 per business day until found. A new clue on its location is to be posted in the shop each Saturday at 9 a.m. on the bulletin board for all to see. Previously, contest winners were: Mr. Pat Terry (1948) and Mr. John O. Beimfohr (1966). Join in!

Chicago (AP) - The switchboard at Lincoln Park Zoo should be going ape again this April Fools’ Day: Sibu the Orangutan will help field silly telephone calls for a third year.

“Sometimes he has the phone to his ear and breaks into big grin. We can’t tell if something is being said on the other end or whether he’s just making faces,” said Grbartin.

The health and fitness guide mentions a workshop to discuss a broad spectrum of ideas, approaches and practices which lead to spiritual and overall well-being with emphasis on exploring practical means of spiritual enlightenment. Meets from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday in Mississippi Room. No registration required.

Ailing women netters go south with reshuffled doubles lineup

By Sherry Chisenhall
Staff Writer

To put it in the words of women’s tennis coach Audy, "things have to get bet-

Audy’s team leaves for Mississippi with only six women able to compete in the Southern Conference Tennis Tournament, a six team tournament hosted by Mississippi University for Women.

Last year the Saluki tennis squad lost its last two matches by injuries, followed up by this year by illnesses. Audy was notified at the beginning of the week that Amanda Allen would be out of commission with pneumonia, followed shortly by the discovery that Stacy Sherman has mononucleosis and will be out for several weeks.

Allen has been one of Audy’s most consistent players on the doubles court and will be a costly loss for the Salukis. Audy said Allen and Sherman have been the staple of the SIUC doubles roster, and the loss of a whole double team will be a considerable loss.

Forwards Krist Stauffer and sophomore Maureen Harney will be called on to fill Allen and Sherman slots in the lineup. Alessandra Molinar and Mary Pat Kramer will move up to number two doubles and Stauffer and Harney will take over the vacant number three spot.

"Alessandra and Mary Pat are capable of stepping in and doing well at number two," Audy said. "They’re smart and patient and will take the time to set the point up.

"It always hurts to have people taken out of the lineup, especially a whole doubles team," she said. "I still think we’re in good shape, though. Kris is the type of player we will step in and do the best she can. She might be hurt by the lack of playing time, but she’s a good athlete and has a good attitude.

"Kris and Maureen haven’t played together much as a doubles team," she said. "They both like to play the forehand, so we’ve had to make a few adjustments. This weekend Kris will play the backhand and Maureen will play the forehand, and we’ll see how it goes. They basically just need to communicate.

Alabama appears to be the favorite in the tournament, followed by SIUC, Memphis State, Murray State, Alabama-Birmingham and Mississippi. Audy said if the Salukis can get past the first round of the tournament they have a realistic chance of finishing second.

"We’ll have to play well to do well, considering our physical problems," Audy said. "Even the people we’ve got going aren’t at full strength. Everyone knows they have to do the best they can at their position.

"I’m pretty confident Kris and Maureen can step up and hold on," she said. "It always hurts when a team has to undergo a change, but we just need to keep our attitude positive. We still have our top two, and Maureen has played well at number six.

"If we can make it through the next few weeks, things have to get better," she said. "We’ll have Amanda back, which will add some strength back to our doubles. I figure the month of April is probably shot, so we’re looking toward the conference championship now and getting everyone healthy for that.

Saluki fortunes at the tournament in Mississippi rest on the luck of the draw. Barring a first-round match with Alabama or Memphis State, the Salukis will play at second place despite the loss of Allen and Sherman.

Aging and disabilities...

London: The Queen’s 90th birthday will be marked with a variety of events, from a street party in her honor to a military parade. The event is expected to draw hundreds of thousands of people to the streets of London. The queen, known for her love of animals, will be presented with a new pet dog by one of her guests.

Football team set to scrimmage

The SIU-C football team will cap its first week of spring practice with a scrimmage Saturday at McAndrew Stadium. Kickoff is set for 11 a.m. and the scrimmage will start at 9 a.m. and last until 11 a.m.

Football coach Roy Dempsey said his team has looked well with this week, especially some of his new players.

The bad news is that Terry Taylor is doubtful. The junior, who is entering in the long jumper, 100- and 400-meter relay, injured his toe in last week’s practice and may not make the trip.

The Salukis are looking for good performances from high jumper Stephen Wray, the lone NCAA qualifier thus far; Mike Keane, Tom Musser and Kris Murphy in the 100- and 1600-meter relays.

Jones' gang vs. Cards in series

A Mike Blumhorst base hit on the edge of the rain against the Cards in a series against the Saluki team goes about its offensive duties.

With runners on first and second, Coach Itchy Jones scored hit and run to first baseman, and Blumhorst reached out and tapping a ball to the exact location where the third baseman had gone. That player, on his way to covering home, lunged backwards, but the ball went into left field and the Salukis had another run.

"It gets the key one and it doesn't hurt the offense," said Jones. "Sometimes you get hot and stay hot for a while."

After a roug Florida trip that saw the Salukis play some national powers, and then a cold and blustery homestand, Jones can see a break in the clouds.

"If the weather breaks, I think we're going to be off Ellis, Boehn and Bellissimo.

But now Caulfield and Ws'Xki both appear to be close to their old selves, and the pressure will be off Ellis, Boehn and Bellissimo.

Where the Salukis are .54 or .55 if you count the low to Illinois Central College in last weekend's tournament (the NCAA. rule regarding the recording of games against junior college teams is foggy at best) will finish this weekend is anyone's guess. It's a certainty that the Evanston nine will be favored to win SU-C's pool, but however the tournament goes, I don't quite sort out her team's chances against the very solid Springfield competition.

"We've got Creighton, Missouri, Northwestern, some highly talented teams," the 16-year veteran said. "I hesitate even to guess where we can finish."

It might take the pressure off the hitters, but they haven't seemed to mind scoring five or six or more runs to win a game.

The 1-4 Salukis are just a few hits shy of a 300 team batting average. Right now they stand at .529.

And a previously ailing hut now appears to be off Ellis, Boehn and Bellissimo.

The Salukis have made up for their power shortcomings with line drive singles, doubles, timely stolen base, and an occasional hit-and-run basehit. "We've got about four or five guys who can bale the last," said Jones. "I wouldn't be afraid to hit and run with anyone of them."

"We don't ask them to hit to right field, we just tell the hitter to make contact."

Juanes dominates Saluki awards night

By Dan Devine
Associate Sports Editor

Darnall Jones tried hard, but the emotion of the moment finally overtook him.

At the annual Saluki basketball banquet Wednesday night at the Student Center, Jones received the Most Valuable Player award, the Most Inspirational Player award, the scholastic award, the free throw shooting award, a senior award, and a special presentation for playing in all 108 games of his four-year career at SIU-C.

Brought to the microphone for the second time after the MVP honor, Jones lost his composure for a minute while thanking his parents for their support and had to be rescued by Coach Al Van Winkle's offer of a glass of water.

"Like the coach said, it hasn't been easy for the four years," he said. "I had to tell you the truth it hasn't been easy the last two years either. It has been a rough four years. It's tough to leave without a winning season."

The 6-4 Jones has been a Saluki mainstay throughout his career, batting taller forwards to a standstill, hitting jumpers from the corner, turning offensive rebounds into points, constantly working, and in part keeping an often overmatched team from completely folding up.

This year Jones was second on the team in scoring with 11.3 per game and third in rebounding at 5.1 per game. He led the Salukis in playing time, averaging 31.4 minutes.

After a nondescript freshman year, Jones went on and dispelled the doubts of those who felt he could not play at the Missouri Valley Conference level. He averaged 9.3 points in his sophomore and junior years, and with his 11.3 this season, became the Salukis 20th all time leading scorer.

Not Antoine Carr numbers, but as Jones said, the Saluki basketball program has been on the upswing.

The Salukis honored five seniors who lasted through four seasons here, and gave senior awards to a total of eight players.

Jones, Charles Nance, Karl Morris and Johnnie Payne were four-year seniors. Jones are four year veterans, and James Copeland, Ken Byrd and Anaclete said, "It's a great day for us.

Jones got another award, this one for scholastic achievement.

Indiana doesn't have Jim Spivey to push distance runners around anymore. But that won't stop them from running over track teams.

"They still have an outstanding team," said men's track and field coach Lew Hartog, who will see just how good he, Dione Sartore and his Salukis dual the Hoosiers in Bloomington, Ind.

But the Indiana runners and sprinters are just as the same as we out with in the weight events and have good jumpers. But our kids won't roll over this week. They're a very competitive right down the line.

That may be putting it mildly. Despite the talk of gaps, coach Sam Bell, the Hoosiers are deep in depth.

And that's without Spivey, who completed his eligibility after the indoor season.

The Hoosier workhorse captured more Big Ten titles than anyone else and won the NCAA mile at the Indoor Championships.

The indoor Big Ten championships will also be without its world class pole vaulter, Dave Volz, who has a bad ankle. He'll be watching from the stands but don't think Bell is losing sleep over his team's condition.

Miler details, he calls them, they are enough to keep the rest of us who are on the verge of doing well. But Indiana will need more than Nix to beat a balanced team like SIU-C. The Hoosiers will also need top performances from those who haven't quite reached their potential.

"We are looking for a lot of breaks this upcoming home meet where we are on the verge of doing well."

Salukis in top company in SW Invite

By the team leader hitter Kelly Neilie steps up to the plate at 8 a.m. Friday morning, the rest of the squad will have a tournament around the Springfield, Mo. course and take in the practice sessions of some awfully tough ball clubs. The psychological impact that that will have on Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer's diamond gang remains to be seen.

The Northwest Missouri State Invitational, one of the region's more prestigious softball tournaments, takes place this weekend as 17 teams from across the nation, including the host Bears, converge on Springfield to take a shot at the coveted title. Many of the teams there would love to be just a shot away from walking away with any other tourney title, but in typical Missouri fashion, it will be a showcase affair for the host of challengers to the USPS throne. SIU-C has been cast in a pool with three other regional teams: Northwestern, Southeast Missouri and Southeast Missouri.

"Northwestern is a team to be contended with," Brechtelsbauer said of her squad's first opponent in the weekend classic. "They're favored to win the Big 10 championship, and I would rank them right now as the top Division II team in the nation."

Delphia's last game was their attempt to fend off the Wabashians, they'll move on to their opening round game with the Bears. The played them in the fall and it was a close game. The Bears were able to pull their team out of the 9-2 game with the Bears. But they did take this game and we are coming from behind to pull that one out," the Saluki coach said. "I saw Northwestern play at Oklahoma, and they're a much-improved squad."
