166 die in Mexico’s worst aviation disaster

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A Los Angeles-bound Mexican Airlines Boeing 727 carrying 166 passengers and crew slammed into a mountain Monday in central Mexico, killing all aboard in what the carrier called the worst disaster in Mexican aviation history.

The jetliner crashed near the town of San Miguel del Alto, 80 miles northwest of Mexico City, minutes after taking off from Benito Juarez International Airport for the Pacific resorts of Puerto Vallarta and Mazatlan, as well as Los Angeles.

Gabriel del Rio, adviser to the Communications Ministry, announced at the airport that there were no survivors. Del Rio said the pilot was separated from the head of the plane, the woman, and said the plane crashed into a 17,000-foot mountain near Morelia, in northeastern Mexico.

An executive with the airline, Eduardo Kuri said only two passengers, the son and daughter of the pilot, were bound for Los Angeles. The rest, including a still-undetermined number of foreigners, were headed to the Pacific resorts of Puerto Vallarta and Mazatlan.

Bad landing conditions and the remoteness of the site, which was located near the nearest road.

Soldiers, firemen and volunteer rescuers from the two surrounding states headed to San Miguel del Alto where they loaded bodies onto stretchers and carried them out of the wrecked plane. Mexican television reported. Mexican television reported.

Mexicana officials said the four jetliners would be taken to Mexico City's Aeroparque for identification.

A local radio reporter in the town of Orocopia, near San Miguel del Alto, told Mexico City's Radio Network that passengers in the area saw the plane explode in a ball of fire in the air before it hit the mountain. There was no confirmation of that report.

The reporter said the plane split into two sections when it crashed and debris was scattered over a three-quarter mile area near San Miguel del Alto, where 979 people live in the state of Michoacan.

Candidates stress campus issues

By Brett Yates

Staff Writer

The Undergraduate Student Organization should spend more time helping students on campus than pursuing issues of national and international scope, USO presidential candidates Dan DeFosse and Phil Lyons said during a debate Monday in the Student Center.

DeFosse, Trojan party candidate and senator from the School of Education, said the purpose of the USO is to tackle on-campus issues directly relating to students — not spending great deals of time pursuing national and international issues.

"The main purpose of the USO is to represent students here at ISU," DeFosse said. "There are many things here that are not being done that need to get done.

Lyons, Phoenix candidate and West Side USO senator, agreed with DeFosse that more time should be spent working on campus.

As far as national and international issues go, I don't know why we pass resolutions on them, because everyone has their own individual opinion," Lyons said. "The only time we should support a national or international issue is when it directly affects a local issue."

Lyons cited the SIU Foundation's investment in South Africa as an example.

Both candidates said they would decrease the number of meetings of the senate to the University administration.

DeFosse said ministry officials who support continuation of the current pass-fail system.

Concerning student relations with the city, DeFosse said that the USO needed to be "nice" and try to work with the city in problems concerning students. "I think we have a good relationship with the city," DeFosse said.

Lyons said that relations with the city have not been friendly and students have lacked a voice in city government.

"There are certain things the city is doing, such as R-2 Zoning and liquor taxes, that are directly aimed at the students," Lyons said. "We need someone to represent our voice in the city.

Lyons said two more of his goals if elected would be to get more students to vote on their own issues or simply sign a letter provided by the USO. The USO will then pay for postage and mail the letter.

"The purpose of this campaign is to make our fellow students more aware of how the federal budgets affect their lives and to inform our representatives in Congress of our unspoken concerns in financial aid funding will still place on members of the community," Lyons said.

Gus says the USO letter campaign may at least let people who know some SIU-C students can write — but somebody should check the boxes before they're mailed.

Silent march, vigil planned to protest nuclear arms

By Jim McBride

Staff Writer

On March 4 about 100 people participated in a die-in designed to raise students' awareness to the dangers of nuclear war and clarify the need for a nuclear-free zone on campus.

On Tuesday these participants are expected to wear black and participate in a silent march through the Student Center at 9:30 a.m., says Brian Blank, chairman of the U.S.-America Peacetime Project, sponsor of the event.

Members will wear black coffins and a model of a missile. After marching through the Student Center participants will proceed to the Free Forum Area and conduct a silent vigil at 12 p.m., when the Civil Defense sirens howl in memory of their "deaths" on March 4.

Throughout the day there will be bands playing in the Free Forum Area and speakers addressing the issue of nuclear war. Blank said he is hoping students will be persuaded to vote in favor of the referendum on the USO proposal asking that the campus be declared a nuclear-free zone.

Joblin affirmed despite new hotel proposal

By Jim McBride

Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council approved a memorandum of intent Monday designating Robert Joblin as exclusive developer of the proposed hotel/convention center, despite another recent development offer from the Crystal Development Corp. of Boulder, Colo.

Crystal Development and the Ibis Hotel chain of Europe submitted a development proposal in November 1985 for the proposed hotel-convention center. Both that proposal was questioned after city officials learned that no hotel franchise or equity commitments had been made by authorized third officials.

Representatives of both Crystal Development and Bob Joblin later indicated to the City Council that proper hotel franchise and equity commitments had been made.

The council chose Joblin and Associates of Little Rock, Ark., after receipt of the project Jan. 22, after permission representation from Crystal this to submit another proposal.

City Manager Bill Dixon told the council Monday that he had recently received a letter containing another development proposal from Crystal Development.

Dixon told council members they had three options regarding the memorandum of intent: to approve the memorandum of intent, to delay action on the memorandum to study the proposal before the next council meeting, April 7, or reject the memorandum and accept the new development proposals.
Soviet leader urges Reagan to discuss nuclear test ban

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev continued Monday to press his offer to discuss a nuclear test ban, urging President Reagan to "take a responsible approach" despite Reagan's earlier rejection of the offer. The Kremlin leadership has maintained silence on Reagan's quick rejection of Gorbachev's offer Saturday to meet in a European capital to negotiate a total ban on nuclear testing.

More Challenger wreckage found, recovered

CULPEPER, Va. (UPI) — Navy salvage divers hauled up more still-covered wreckage from Challenger's crew cabin Monday amid coded radio messages that may have referred to efforts to recover more remains of the ship's astronauts. An earlier radio transmission from the USS Preserver, anchored 18 miles offshore over the crash site of Challenger's smashed crew compartment, interrupted its work at one point to rescue a bird that apparently had been injured by a boat, said Navy spokesman Lt. Marc Allen.

44 killed in Mozambican transport crash

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — A Mozambican air force Antonov-26 transport plane crashed and burned shortly after takeoff from the northern city of Pemba Sunday, killing 41 civilians and military personnel, Portuguese news agencies reported Monday.

Five other passengers among the 49 people aboard were listed as "gravely injured," according to an official statement issued in the capital of Maputo.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Hundreds of Protestant rioters hurled gasoline bombs, bricks and stones at any who opened fire with pistols, bullets in daylong skirmishes Monday in the streets of Portadown on the anniversary of the 1968 Easter rebellion. By nightfall, about 50 people had been injured, 13 of them police officers, during a day of violent demonstrations.

Built-out cars littered the streets, and fires raged in buildings set ablaze by protesters.

Reagan to propose limits on liability awards

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — President Reagan will propose limits on jury awards in liability cases to reduce the cost of insurance and increase its availability, the White House said Monday. A senior administration official said Reagan has accepted a number of recommendations from his Domestic Policy Council and will ask Congress for legislation "to forward reform that could make insurance more affordable and more available and take certain steps that would limit the size of claims and the size of awards" in civil suits.

Child deaths are preventable, specialist says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An estimated 10,000 of the world's children die every day from diseases that could be prevented by vaccines, but the death toll has declined in the past five years, a disease control specialist said Monday. Dr. William Feige, executive director of the Task Force for Child Survival, said measles, whooping cough, tetanus, diphtheria, polio and tuberculosis kill 3.5 million children annually and permanently disable an equal number.

Officials agree not to ban pesticide used to kill birds

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The chemical used to kill about 25,000 starlings at a central Illinois power plant last winter should not be banned, state officials agreed Monday. Instead, the Inter-Agency Committee on Pesticides decided to impose temporary guidelines on companies that use the chemical Fenthion for bird eradication. Fenthion also is used widely by farmers in the state to control insects on livestock and by others to control mosquitoes.

Task of outwitting is fitting for fools
By Cletoria Slider
Staff Writer

On the first day of April, you might be tempted to send friends on a fool’s errand or dupe them into believing or doing something absurd.

At least this is what most people expect to experience on April Fool’s Day, says Dr. Henry Vyverberg, professor in history.

Vyverberg said the practices of April Fool’s Day are of obscure origin.

According to Encyclopedia Americana, making a fool of someone on April 1 was thought to have arisen with the celebrations of the vernal spring equinox.

Some historians believe April 1 resembles the Hilaria, a festival celebrated in ancient Rome on March 25, and the Halfastival of India, which ends March 31.

Jace Charles, a seventh-grade teacher at Lincoln Junior High School in Carbondale, said April Fool’s Day is a day students look forward to because they get a chance to outwit their teachers.

“I don’t usually initiate the fooling,” Charles said, “but I may decide to participate.”

Charles, who has been teaching at Lincoln for 16 years, said students and teachers have been known to fool each other in various ways.

She said teachers have fooled students by throwing pop quizzes, saying that essay questions are beneath a class map when really April Fool’s is written there, and by switching classes with other teachers.

Charles said he believes that April Fool’s Day is more common among junior high school students than grade school students because as students get older, they like the feeling of outwitting teachers.

The timing of April Fool’s Day is related to the vernal equinox, when nature fools mankind with sudden changes in weather, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. One example of this is the change from rain to sunshine.

Many people find April 1 to be obscure, but many folklorists believe the custom of playing someone for a fool on this day was begun in France in 1664 with the adoption of the reformed calendar. According to the Encyclopedia Americana, New Year’s Day was once on April 1. A person who resisted changing New Year’s Day from April 1 to January 1 was victimized by pranksters on April 1 and this became known as “poison d’avril,” April fish.

5 referenda also on USO ballot
By John Tindall
Staff Writer

Undergraduate students will be asked Wednesday to not only elect new student government officials, but also to give their opinions on five referenda ranging from making the campus a nuclear-free zone to whether Thanksgiving break should be split into two parts.

One question on the ballot will be whether $1 from each student’s fees should go to the Illinois Student Association, or whether there should even be an ISA chapter at SIUC. The ISA functions as a lobbying group on behalf of its members to fight tuition increases and cuts in student aid at the state and federal levels.

Students will also be asked whether they support the addition of both pregnancy and abortion coverage to the student health insurance program.

The addition would create a $4 increase in the student health insurance fee. A second part of this proposal would provide pregnancy benefits but exclude the abortion coverage, which would drop the additional charge from $4 to $2.

Another question on the ballot is to determine whether students would be willing to increase student fees by $10 to $20 per semester to pay for a campus and city-wide bus system. The system would create student work, provide service to the entire campus, the city, all major off-campus housing areas and the University Mall.

The nuclear-free zone question asks students whether they would support having the campus declared a nuclear-free zone, meaning SHC grounds could not be used for wartime testing, designing, production, deployment or storing of nuclear arms.

The Thanksgiving break question asks whether students would favor shortening the present 9-day break to a 4- or 5-day break and adding a break near the end of October.

Fire danger called critical
By Tom Mangan
Staff Writer

After a weekend of widespread brush fires throughout Southern Illinois, fire officials at Shawnee National Forest say a combination of dry grass and windy conditions makes the fire danger range from “very high” to extreme.

Three small brush fires were reported Monday by Dennis Gill, assistant fire control officer at Shawnee headquarters in Harrisburg. Shawnee firefighters fought six fires Saturday, the largest burning about 40 acres, with others ranging from a few acres up to about 10 acres.

Rutledge, 6 acres.

One fire was reported but the danger of fire remains high, he said.

Phil Knudson, assistant ranger at the Shawnee Murphyboro office said firefighters battled three brush fires Saturday in his district, which covers all of Jackson County and some of Union County. Although fire reports have dwindled since the weekend, Knudson says the possibility of serious fires still remains.

He says a lack of rain, warm temperatures and high winds have contributed to prime conditions for a major fire.

High winds of 15-30 mph, which fanned blazes over the weekend, can help carry a fire over a large area that can’t be easily controlled.

Some of the weekend fires were suspected to have been started by burning garbage that got out of control.

Knudson discourages the burning of any garbage or starting a fire of any kind, largely because dry grass and ground debris, once ignited, can tear out of control in a matter of minutes, faster than no one but professional firefighters can control.

The largest of the local fires occurred Saturday near Heritage Hills subdivision, south of Carbondale along U.S. Route 51. Shawnee firefighters joined crews from Carbondale, Carbondale Township, Makanda Township and Denoto in fighting the blaze that blackened 40 acres and took about four hours to extinguish.

Although more than 65 acres of the 260,000-acre forest were burned, no one was injured.

April 2, Student Elections
DE editorial ill-conceived and confusing analysis

The March 27 editorial, "Through Back Door," was an ill-conceived and confused analysis of an international incident.

The analysis began by describing Nicaragua's invasion of Honduras as a "convenient" incident, and the Nicaraguan army fighters. To contend that the invasion was somehow an error lacks any semblance of serious thought. If the invasion of Honduras does not warrant our sending $20 million in aid to that government, then I wonder how would the U.S. invade Nicaragua would have to further its aggression before the U.S. would be justified, if ever.

The analysis went on to state that the event may have been a total fabrication or "the troops entered Honduras without their government's knowledge." It supposed that 1,500 armed soldiers casually stroked across the border, oblivious to border conflicts for which they were armed, seems remote at best.

However, these invasions, regardless of their charac-erization, pose a threat to Nicaragua's neighbors. These "mistakes" to portray Nicaragua's rhetorical suggestions that it seeks a peaceful resolution to the conflict, and undermines regional stability.

The editorial speculated that the event was "one more lie by the Reagan administration." This anti-Reagan pronunciment is not new but I was surprised by its brazeness. Dozens of letters submitted by mail should include the author's address and telephone number. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.

Election issues information

On Wednesday, students will be voting on a resolution to vote in the Undergraduate Student Organization elections. Three serve as statements from candidates in this year's election. The SIU Board of Trustees.

The SIU Board of Trustees has established a Student Senate and Student Association both on this campus and in the statewide organization. This question is whether we want to financially assist a student organization that lobbies for educational, political, and social issues.

2. A proposal has been made to shorten the present nine-week break to a four to five day break, and then remove the next semester break near the end of October. This is to state the position of the students on splitting up Thanksgiving holiday from the four day weekends, one of which might be placed on Halloween weekend, therefore closing dorms and forcing on-campus residents to go home or find shelter elsewhere.

I support Southern Illinois University being declared a nuclear-free zone in this sense, there shall be no department testing, designing, production, deployment or storing of nuclear arms on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The fourth issue, "Would you support the addition of both pregnancy and abortion coverage to the Student Health Insurance Program to be funded by a $.4 increase in the health insurance fee?" and could support abortion. It is our stance that we believe that the student health insurance program that did not include abortion coverage to be funded by a $.4 increase in the student health insurance fee?" will serve as the final statement to Sam McVay, director of the Student Health Program.

The fifth issue, "I support the establishment of a campus-wide bus system which will create student work, give students 30-minute service of the entire campus, 30-minute service of the City of Carbondale including all major off-campus housing areas and the University Mall with a $10 to $20 student fee each semester," will serve as an informative source for USO to see if we want to pursue this matter further.

There is a lot of hard work going into the implementation of a bus system for our campus. This means campus, city, state, and the state red tape. A bus system would be nice, but do students want to help pay for it?

All of us will have to live with the outcome of the Wednesday election and I hope you include your vote. — Tony Appleman, president, USO.

Phoenix Party the way to go

The April 2 election is very important on this campus. The students will be electing the Undergraduate Student Organization president. The Phoenix Party is slating the more capable candidate for three reasons.

First, program development. Neal Lyons' programs are realistic as well as the student's.
University Mall will be among 5,000 shopping centers in the United States and Canada cooperating in a Child Identification Sign-Up.

KIDS is a weeklong effort to get children between the ages of 3 and 14 to voluntarily come in for fingerprinting. Joining the mall are the Carbondale City Police, the Southern Illinois I-Search Department and McGruff the Crime Dog.

The local effort is part of a national campaign being organized by the International Council of Shopping Centers, the association of the shopping center industry. They estimate 12 million youths will take part in the national program.

The prints are being provided without charge and will be given to parents for safekeeping, along with instructions to release the prints to the police only if there is an urgency need for identification. Along with the print card, parents will receive a safety leaflet outlining basic rules of child safety and encouraging them to discipline their children following the rules.

The police are cooperating to assure that all prints taken meet police standards. A law enforcement officer will be present at all shopping centers to assist in fingerprinting and to screen fingerprints to make certain they meet police criteria.

Fingerprinting will take place at the mall from noon to 5 p.m. April 7-11, at which time child safety videotapes will be shown.

Foreign experts to visit tech meeting

High technology experts from West Germany and France will join national specialists April 8-9 at SIU's Third Annual Materials Technology Center Conference for a state-of-the-art look at new uses for solid carbon materials.

The conference will feature Erich Fitzler, director of the Institut Fur Chemische Technik in Karlsruhe, West Germany, and take place in the Student Center Auditorium. His address, "The Future of Carbon-Carbon Composites," will explore possible uses of the materials in biomedical and nuclear technology, engine parts and flame-resistant structures.

Fitzler's presentation will be at 11 a.m.

The Materials Technology Center, directed by Maurice A. Wright, was established in 1983 by Gov. James Thompson to promote research in new materials and encourage high technology materials-related industries to settle in Southern Illinois.
Aquino will be challenged, pro-Marcos party says

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) - Eighty members of the splinter political party of deposed ruler Ferdinand Marcos arrived Monday they will challenge the powers of President Corazon Aquino and reconvene the National Assembly she abolished last week.

As the party announced the challenge, Aquino met with Adm. William Crowe, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and U.S. Ambassador Stephen Bosworth for talks on last month's military-led revolt that toppled Marcos, restoring U.S. military ties with the Philippine Armed Forces and U.S. aid.

The lawmakers, representing about two-thirds of the former Marcos cabinet and Marcos New Society Movement (KBL), in the defiant announcement said they had formed a provisional committee to study unifying four KBL factions into a single party to oppose the new government.

The new party will be under a new name and a reorganized leadership, the KBL officials said.

"I am waiting for the day when we will come back to power," former KBL member of parliament Lorenzo Teves said during the meeting. "Unless we unite we shall never achieve this," Teves said.

A panel also was formed to study whether to mount a court challenge to the provisional charter enacted by Aquino last week that abolished the assembly and gave her powers at least as great to those of the deposed president.

The measures were reached during a raucous, three-hour meeting attended by the top leaders of the KBL, including former Prime Minister Cesar Virata, former Deputy Prime Minister Jose Rono, former Labor Minister Blas Ople and former Assembly Speaker Nicario Yungco.

The officials called for a reconvening of the assembly on April 14, the day set after the 1986 great assembly proclaimed Marcos the winner of the fraud-marred Feb. 7 election and went into recess.

"We want to assert our belief in the fact that the Batasang has not been abolished," Ople said.

Appleman cited a memorandum from Joseph Camille, director of Student Work and Financial Assistance, to Bruce Swinburne, vice president for Student Affairs, that shows a projected drop of more than 10 percent in the Pell Grant programs for the following fiscal year if the current ‘46 budget proposal is accepted.

As far as the money is concerned, Appleman says he is very strongly in favor of providing funds to students for the letter-writing campaign and he’s willing to call on colleagues to take the time to participate in the letter campaign.

He disputed the claim that students are too apathetic to get involved in such a campaign, insisting instead that the students are just too busy.

Providing form letters that simply need to be signed will help those who might not find time otherwise to write a letter, Appleman said, although he said personal letters would be more effective.

Andy Leighton, student trustee, also encouraged students to participate in the letter-writing campaign, agreeing with Appleman that a concentrated effort on the part of students can be effective.

He said this week’s campaign will coincide with a campaign to the Senate of the United States urging representatives from Wisconsin to vote against the $18,000 signed letters to Washington to symbolize that “Gramm-Rudman is a sure disaster.”

Leighton also said 4,000 special envelopes from the Common Sense Budget will be available to send the letters to Washington.

The envelopes call for the senator to put one penny inside, which it says is more than many major corporations and multimillionaires pay in tax each year.

Leighton said the envelopes can be sent with or without a letter and the USO will provide the envelopes to be placed inside.

All students interested in sending a letter, either with or without one of the form letters, are invited to visit one of the USO tables that will be set up throughout the Student Center during the campaign.

local issues and to make it possible for Registered Student Organizations to obtain vending permits on Grand Avenue during Halloween.

DeFosse said Lyons’ idea was improper in regard to the state law. DeFosse cited a state law, which grants special permission to those engaging in any kind of enterprise that competes with local businesses.

“When it comes to becoming involved in a Halloween situation it might sound good, and maybe we all think it’s great, but the USO cannot become directly involved,” DeFosse said.

Lyons said he would try to work around this if elected. Lyons said he would also like to establish a handicapped student directory, try to get more students registered to vote, obtain book vouchers for students who receive the college’s financial aid, and make the USO president an ombudsman to solve student problems.

DeFosse responded that he favored registering students to vote, but that the USO should do so with the assistance of RSOS and try not to do it alone. He said that if he selected his priorities would be to clean up the administration of the USO and follow through with legislation passed by the USO senate.

Elections will be Wednesday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Old Main Lounge on the second floor of the Student Center.

Councillor John Yow voted against approving the agreement with Joblin but added he wanted to review Crystal Development’s new agreement with the city and to approve the memorandum of intent with Joblin.

Yow said he was concerned about Joblin’s involvement in a lawsuit with Joblin if the memorandum was not approved.

“I feel very strongly about not delaying this,” said Yow. “I think that, that put Page 2.”

Joblin agreed, adding that putting a hold on approving the memorandum would provide “ fodder for a lawsuit.”

Yow said he couldn’t predict Joblin’s reaction if the agreement was not approved.

Richard Hayes of Crystal Development urged the council to approve the agreement with Joblin, saying that a lawsuit between the city and the company could mean trouble for the city.

“If you think you had trouble with Stan Hoye, just wait until this one hits,” he said.

The memorandum of intent is a preliminary to an actual development agreement. It establishes a maximum cost of $4.75 million for the city’s role in construction of the center’s parking garage, foundation, first and second stories of the hotel, as well as the hotel tower.

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) - Libyan leader Moammar Kadhafy said Tuesday that U.S. aggression in the world "could lead to a cataclysm," but insisted he would not alter his military strategy to attack American bases in Libya.

In an exclusive interview in his meager, rundown offices of Tripoli's Green Valley, Kadhafy warned he was "ready to fight" the United States if necesario. He said the United States could rage beyond Libya's borders.

If "war takes place between us and America, we have the right to hit any American targets anywhere in the world," said the man whom President Reagan has described as "flaky" but who appeared calm and collected as he spent an hour outlining his views.

"Reagan is childish," Kadhafy said, smiling. "He plays with fire. He doesn't care about international peace.

'Blood Grant,' a play by Evanston playwright Joanne Koch about a female scientist determined to carry out her father's psycology experiments, will be presented Monday.

'Rapid Transit,' a play by New York playwright Shannon Keith Kelley that is set in a subway station and revolves around a woman and how they come to terms with death, will be presented Tuesday.

Both plays are directed by Porsephone L. Folde. Also assisting to the performances is free. The event is co-sponsored by the Illinois Arts Council.

The Laboratory Theater is next to McLeod Theater in the Communications Building.

Khadafy 'ready to fight' if U.S. pressures is supporting forces against the government in Angola, Afghanistan and Nicaragua.

"What does he mean by this?" He plays as if he were in the theater. If it goes on like this, it could lead to a cataclysm.

With a war "Hello, how are you?" the slender, 5-foot-11-inch Kadhafy sat down beside a visiting journalist on an upholstered sofa in a room inside his heavily fortified Bab al Aziziya compound. Soft Arab music and a sweet aroma filled the air.

He appeared tired, possibly the aftermath of his confrontation with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Gulf of Sidra last week, but there was no sign of the illness and sleeplessness described in a U.S. CIA profile on Libyan leader.

He swiftly focused on the U.S. operation last week that saw American planes fire two consecutive days on Libyan surface-to-air vessels, and three ships, reportedly sinking three. Washington has denied Libyan reports that three U.S. planes were shot down.

"The fleet has left, and this is, of course, a victory, not only for Libya, but for the whole world," said Kadhafy, speaking in the English he learned as an army officer during a staff course in communications in Wilton, England.

Asked whether he would negotiate with the Reagan administration, which has accused Kadhafy of fostering international terrorism, he replied it was "useless."

"Reagan is completely ignorant in international policy," said Kadhafy. "I think he does not even know the significance of the Gulf of Sidra. Geographically, he does not know where it is.

Kadhafy said he had heard that America "is a very complex society" and that many Americans themselves are poverty-stricken, some so much so that they are driven to suicide.

Groups seeking support to send gifted students to college camp

By Darci Allen
Staff Writer

Two economically disadvantaged grade school students from northeast Carbondale have the opportunity to attend MacMurray College this summer but can't afford the cost—$425 per person.

Thomasena and Johnson Bell, children of Monica Bell, an SIUC student in special education, were identified by their principal and the instructor of their school's gifted program as children who would benefit from the summer sessions MacMurray holds for gifted and talented children.

Sixth students at Parrish School.

The sessions include special interest classes ranging from computers to music to tennis and other recreational activities. Field trips are also sponsored.

Three groups, Coordinated Youth Program of the Emurra C. Hayes Center, Ministerial Alliance of Carbondale and Synergy are organizing a fund-raising effort, said Brenda Garrison, director of the Coordinated Youth Program.

Garrison said they have enclosed the support of religious and Greek organizations as well as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to help raise the needed funds to send the youngsters to camp.

About 40 groups of this type have been sent letters asking for a $20 donation, she said.

"If all 40 respond, we will have $800 and the Coordinated Youth Program will pick up the rest," she said.

Ministerial Alliance of Carbondale has already paid the 20% deposit, said Garrison.

On April 27, a local church will be the site of a ceremony that will allow the groups to give their donations directly to the children, said Garrison.

A "launching program" is scheduled for sometime in June to send them on their way, she said. There will be some of Johnson's paintings and drawings hanging and Thomasena will play a number on the piano, she added.

Thomasena, a sixth-grader, plays the piano and sings.

Johnson, a fifth-grader, is an art student.

The seminar is sponsored by the Faculty Development Committee.

Alaskan volcano erupts, causes darkness at noon

ANCRAGE, Alaska (UPI) - Augustine Volcano exploded Monday with its biggest eruption in 10 years, sending ash and volcanic debris in a plume eight miles high and turning day into night in a fishing village 70 miles away.

The small community of Homer, population 3,000, felt the brunt of Augustine's wrath when the ash-laden cloud blackened the sky at noon.

"It got dark enough that the street lights came on," police dispatcher Deena Bensen said. "People were coming in getting those face masks."

Although the wind should have blown ash away from Homer, about 70 miles northeast of the volcano, Augustine's explosion was so great that meteorologists believe it may have changed the direction of the wind.

The eruption was its biggest since it began a series of eruptions early Thursday, geophysicist John Power said. "It was the largest we've observed," he said. "But since the blast it's been very quiet. A lot of pressure was released."

A minor earthquake registering 3.8 on the Richter scale was measured at the time of the huge eruption, and the health officials in populated Augustine Island where the 4,500-foot volcano sits kept watching.

Power said he believed decreased volcanic activity may be caused by the force of avalanches cascading down the volcano.

The avalanches could be snow and ice, mud flows and

American Marketing Association preparing for annual conference

By Dari Allen
Staff Writer

The SIUC chapter of the American Marketing Association is getting ready for its annual conference to be held in Chicago April 17-19.

Last year the chapter placed second in the Outstanding Chapter competition and this year, first place is its goal.

At this time of the year, all AMA chapters make a plan outlining events that will be held, attendance expectations and monetary goals and send them to...........

The theme to this year's conference is "Marketing Yourself in the Age of Communications and Technology." Representatives from 70 chapters are expected to attend.

Several executives from major corporations will lecture at the conference on topics such as marketing management and communications.

Robert B. Lee, senior vice president of major properties for Walt Disney, will be the keynote speaker.

"Mountain man" escapes, 4 states on alert

ROISE, Idaho (UPI) - Guards with bloodhounds searched the foothills of the Owyhee River back country Monday for Claude Dallas, the mountain man and killer who slipped out of a2 day detention and vanished.

"It's hard to tell if he's going to the hills - the place he knows best - or if he's just going to leave the country," said Idaho Patrol Warden Arroyo Aways. "Of all the people I hate to lose, he's at the top of the list. Dallas was a notorious criminal and a hot item."

The 36-year-old survivor and marksman became the subject of two books, "Outlaw" and "Give a Boy a Gun" - after he shot down two game wardens at his remote camp and then eluded his pursuers for 18 months in the black rocky hills, canyons and desert along the Owyhee River.

Jack Olson, author of "Give a Boy a Gun," said Monday that Dallas was "a dangerous man with dangerous friends."

Arave sent eight four-man teams of guards and dogs into the vast Owyhee back country of Boise, along the borders of Oregon and Nevada, but there was no trace of the wily fugitive.

Authorities in Wyoming, Washington and Montana were alerted in case Dallas made for Canada.

With the Undergraduate Student Organization elections set for this Sunday, students may wonder what the president of the USO is and what the functions and responsibilities of its officials are.

According to Justin Paratore, assistant to the vice president for operations and student adviser for the USO since 1981, the USO represents undergraduate student organizations, and has jurisdiction over Registered Student Organizations.

The USO president receives $3,250 a year as a grant in aid and the USO president pro-tem receives $2,250. Paratore says the USO president can appoint commissions and to USO commissions, recommend members to the Student Senate Board of Governance and veto USO legislation. She says the USO president is liaison between the senate and the administration and should convey senate resolutions and recommendations to the administration.

According to the new USO constitution, the USO vice president has the responsibility to preside over all official meetings of the senate. He is entitled to vote in the event of a tie and is responsible for presenting all bills passed by the president to the senate within three calendar days.

In fiscal year 1987, the USO is expected to receive about $288,972 in student fees to allocate to Registered Student Organizations. USO says Larry Juhlkin, assistant to the vice president for student affairs. For fiscal year 1986 the USO received $272,161.

The USO Senate Committee of Internal Affairs has the power to temporarily suspend USO officials and begin impeachment proceedings against USO personnel. Paratore says the committee is primarily designed as a watchdog over USO activities.

Greeley, author of the chart-topping "The Cardinal Sin" and "Brother's Keeper," is considered a controversial figure in the Church because of his prolific works revolve around love, sex and sin, and his view on the Church.

Greeley is also a journalist and sociologist. He writes and lectures about the two professions and has published in newspapers and magazines. He is also a professor at the University of Arizona.

Admission to the lecture is $2.50 for the general public and $1 for students.

The lecture is sponsored by the Student Programming Commission, Student Senate Committee. A reception will follow the lecture in the Student Center Gallery Lounge.

It was incorrectly stated in Monday's Daily Egyptian that the Board of Trustees awarded a three-year contract to the Marriott Corp. Marriott received a guaranteed fee contract.

It was also incorrectly stated that President Albert Stewart Smith had submitted to the USO resolution on the food service contract. Smith told Appelmann he needed to send a copy of the resolution to the food service contract. Smith told Appelmann he needed to send a copy of the resolution.

Quakes jolt Northern California
S AN FRANCISCO (UP) — A strong pre-dawn earthquake on an elusive faultline jolted residents awake in communities 200 miles along the Northern California coast Monday, slightly injuring six people but causing only minor damage.

The 3:55 a.m. PST temblor, the third in the San Francisco area in three days, registered 5.2 on the Richter scale. Scientists saw no special significance in the sudden activity.

The quake swayed high-rise buildings, sent dishes crashing to the floor and slid furniture in communities 200 miles along the coast and 100 miles inland. It snapped power lines in the San Jose area, leaving about 10,000 residents without electricity.

Its epicenter was placed in an uninhabited area 12 miles southeast of Fremont near San Isidro. It occurred on an unnamed fault 8 miles east of the Calaveras Fault.

“IT was a good jolt,” said a resident in Walnut Creek. “The walls were creaking. The doors swung open, and the animals were running around.”

San Jose police officer Glen Smiley, shaken from his sleep, said, “It was a rather rude awakening. There was a rumbling and a roll, then an abrupt bump and a couple of more rolls.”

Bruce Bolt of the University of California-Berkeley Seismological Center said he saw no relationship between the weekend’s activity and the belief that earthquakes usually occur in the spring.

“We look at the statistics of earthquake occurrence, we don’t find any cycles associated with the seasons,” he said.

And there was no apparent link with the eruption of Augustine Volcano in Alaska. “Volcanic activity is going on all the time and so is earthquake activity,” Bolt said. Treated for minor injuries at Fremont’s Washington Hospital were a man who scraped his head while diving under a table and a woman who injur ed a toe stubbing out of bed. Four others slightly hurt were treated at Alexian Brothers Hospital in San Jose.

Two relatively strong aftershocks with magnitudes of 3.6 and 3.1 followed the quake. There were 200 smaller ones.

Students give Touch of Nature a new look, receive experience

By Rich Heaton
Student Writer

Touch of Nature Envi ronmental Center is getting a new look and is helping SIUC students get hands-on experience along the way.

The center is changing its entrance and administrative areas and creating an educational corridor at Camp 2. Forestry and plant and soil science students are doing the work for credit and experience.

Students from three of Karen Stoehr’s landscape design courses and from Paul Yambert’s environmental interpretation course are participating in the project.

Plans developed by Stoehr’s advanced landscaping course are being used for the renovation. The entrance area will be divided into three sections: the entrance, a new parking lot and information center, and the administrative area.

The administrative area will be changed to house an open-air shelter for classes, presentations and picnics. An existing parking lot will be resurfaced and sidewalks and ramps will be constructed to make the area more accessible to handicapped persons.

Students in the two beginning landscape courses and the environmental interpretation course will move a blacksmith shop to Camp 2 this spring. The move is part of Touch of Nature’s plan to build an educational corridor. Yambert’s class will move the building, while Stoehr’s classes will help select the building site and landscape the area.

Yambert’s class is divided into three teams. One group will do the logistic work for the move; one will conduct research to make the shop as authentic as possible; the third team will research pioneer games to use as learning tools.

Yambert says the shop will be taken apart log by log. Each log will be coded to ensure correct reconstruction.

“We are always concerned about being criticized for being in an ivory tower,” Yambert said, referring to students getting hands-on experience.

“It’s good when we can get just one example of incorporating what the student learned into the real world.”

Stoezel said, “I think experience is one of the best teachers. Also, it makes it more exciting for the students if they can relate something real to what they are doing.”

The center encourages participation by classes and offers internships in all program areas at Touch of Nature conferences and meetings, environmental workshops, special populations, wilderness adventure programs, youth advocacy and administration.

Women netters come back after initial losses to win 2

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

The SIU-C women's tennis team went 2-0-0 this weekend, losing to Murray State University before rebounding with wins over Mississippi State and Mississippi.

Led by No. 2 singles player Danielle Chevreau, with three of four matches, the Salukis defeated the Bulldogs, 7-0, overall on the 1985-86 season and 3-2 in spring action.

Coach Judy Auld said she was also pleased with the performance of No. 4 singles player Julie Burgess, who won three of four matches. Maric Coeh also went 3-1, while the No. 2 doubles team of Burgess and Coeh won two of four. No. 3 doubles teammate Susan Steubly and Sherri Knight also went 3-1 on the weekend.

"It was a pretty good weekend all-in-all," Auld said. "We've really been struggling because of the lack of practice time."

Auld said the transition from indoors to outdoors was difficult one and that the young team, consisting of entirely freshmen and sophomores, would improve with each outdoor match of the season.

Auld added that the team should have beat Murray State and the 7-2 loss to Centenary was "a lot closer than the score indicated."

"We're starting to mature with experience," Auld said, adding that she hoped the good weather would hold up and allow the Salukis to practice before kicking off the Gateway schedule two weeks from now.

Men netters add 3 in loss column; matchplay continues to improve

By Martin Folan

Although the Saluki men's tennis team lost three points to its loss column over the weekend at the Mid-America Invitational at Wichita, Kansas, matchplay continued to improve.

The 9-6 shutout at the hands of Oklahoma State University did not account for such on the scoreboard in favor of SIU-C. Head coach Lars LeFevre appeared pleased with his team's play.

There were two good matches, at Nos. 1 and 5 singles LeFevre said "Per (Wadmark) lost to Pat Connor, 6-2, 5-7 and 6-2. Connor is ranked 16th in the nation. That's the only set he lost in the tournament."

Freshman Fabiano Ramos withstood a strong wind and took his opponent three sets before losing, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-4. Oklahoma State will probably play in the NCAA tournament in May unless it is up a few points within the next few months, LeFevre said.

The Salukis chalked two wins and played five three-set matches before losing to Oklahoma University, 7-2.

Saluki Nos. 3 and 5 singles Jairo Aldana and Juan Martinez beat their opponents, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-4. No. 2 singles player Chris Visconti also triumphed in the level of competition but dropped the match to Wayne Sluice, 6-3, 6-7 and 4-6.

SIU-C netted three wins against Oral Roberts University and nearly won the match. Wadmark beat John Rigas, 6-2, 6-2, Lars Nilsson (No. 4 singles) ousted Roy Bramer, 6-4, 7-5, and Fabiano Ramos (No. 6 singles) scored, 6-3, 6-3 against Jeremy Dufault.

With the meet tied at three, the Salukis had their sights set on victory. "We lost first doubles, so we were down," LeFevre said. "For second doubles we were serving in the third set, but it got away from us since Aldana and Ramos and Martinez won their first set, 6-3, and led in the second set, 5-4, but lost five straight games to end the match, 6-3, 6-4 and 7-5.

"We should've won that match, but we'll live through it," LeFevre said, complimenting Ramos and Martinez on the match.

Women golfers fourth at 'Topper Invitational

The Saluki women golfers soundly defeated Gateway Conference rivals last weekend but finished fourth in a six-team field at the Lady Topper Invitation in Kentucky.

With 12th-ranked Kentucky entered in the 36-hole event played Friday and Saturday at Kentucky's Woodlands Golf Course, coach Sonya Stalberger expected a Wildcat victory.

Kentucky outscored SIU-C by opening with an awesome 292 strokes and added a final round 309 to walk away from the field with a 601 total.

Stalberger coached her team to continue in such fashion, they should easily qualify for the NCAA tournament in April.

Kentucky State, which opened with an even 299 strokes and added a final round 309 to walk away from the field with a 608 total.

Stalberger said, "Fourth place is nothing to sneeze at."

The Salukis tallied 651 strokes, blowing away defending GCAC champion Illinois State's 671 and Southwest Missouri State's 686.

"I feel it's a big plus -- we did beat the two Gateway teams by quite a margin," Stalberger said. "That makes us feel more confident in looking toward the conference championship."

Hofstra University would have been the seventh team in the Gateway this year, but it did not have enough players.

Liz Fry of Kentucky took top honors in a field of 41 golfers with rounds of 71 and 74 for a 145 total on the par-72 Kentucky course, which takes the top 15 teams in the event.

The best battle occurred for second place, as host-school Western Kentucky posted a 626 total. Missouri trailed by two after the first day but held third with 636 strokes.

"The three ahead of us had good tournaments and they are strong teams," Stalberger said.

The Salukis now stand at 1-2.

Norris Division up for grabs; Hawks no longer dominant

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Norris Division race, once seemingly in firm control of the Chicago Blackhawks, has come down to the last week with three teams in the hunt for the title.

The Blackhawks, Minnesota North Stars and St. Louis Blues will be competing to win the division with one week to play. The division winner gets home-ice advantage for the first and, should it advance, second round of the playoffs.

The blackhawks, who have slumped in the past two weeks, own a one-point lead over the Stars and a two-point lead over the Blues heading into this week's action. Chicago also has a game in hand with four to play while both Minnesota and St. Louis have five remaining.

"We'd like to win the division for pride reasons, but we also want the Chicago Stadium crowd behind us and the first two rounds,''' Chicago's Ed Olczyk said. "It's a big advantage having the home ice as we found out last year.''

Although the race is close, Chicago is still in the driver's seat for the final week.

The Blackhawks play a home-and-home series with Minnesota Tuesday and Wednesday and then face the Blues Saturday and Sunday. If Chicago can split those two series, it clinch the title.

But the North Stars have played the best hockey in the division since the All-Star break, thanks to improved goaltending and an ability to shoot up some defensive holes.

The North Stars host the Blackhaws Tuesday, then switch to Chicago on Wednesday night. The North Stars conclude the regular season Saturday at home against Detroit, the team with the worst record in the NHL.

The Blues, who host Toronto Tuesday, play at home against the Blackhawks Saturday and end the season in Chicago Sunday.

Cox fractures ankle while fishing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Donny Cox suffered a small chip fracture on his right ankle and will be out for an undetermined amount of time, a club spokesman said Monday.

The accident happened Sunday afternoon at St. Petersburg and Cox was scheduled to make the road trip to play Los Angeles that day and instead went fishing.

The accident happened when Cox jumped off a sea wall, estimated to be about three feet high. When he landed on the sand, he twisted his right ankle and rolled over. Cox went home and put on ice on the sore ankle.

The Cardinals took X-rays Monday morning and found a break. Stan London, the team doctor, was flying back to St. Louis but trainer Gene Gieselmann said Cox would be able to fly to Tampa Airport where London determined that Cox's ankle was not serious enough for a cast at this time.

The Cardinals said a determination on whether a cast was necessary and how long Cox will be out will be made Wednesday. Cox has not been placed on the disabled list yet.

Maxwell did concede the Cardinals' chances of finishing first in the National League East is "improbable" and would "be diminished" without the services of Cox.

season, with freshman Lori Day and sophomore Lisa Peterson combining for a 72 team ERA, allowing just 10 earned runs on 52 hits in 97 innings pitched.

Peterson tossed a four-hitter this weekend after losing a two-hitter to Western Michigan, 2-1. Sporting a 3.5 record and a 0.67 ERA, Peterson leads the team in strikeouts with 31.

Day has complete games in six outings, including a one-hitter over Spring Break, and has allowed just three earned runs and 15 hits in 42 innings. With an 85 ERA of 39 and a 4.42 record, Day has an excellent strikeout to walk ratio of 8.12.

Brechtlebauer said the games were important because the Gateway Conference schedule starts this weekend when the Salukis travel to take on Western Illinois and the Salukis' conference favorite Bradley Lady Braves.

Both Tuesday's game with Arkansas State and Wednesday's with Evansville are scheduled for 3 p.m.
Softball squad seeks to cut Tomahawks short

The Saluki softball team, 7-7 on the season, will tune-up for the upcoming Gateway Conference title race by facing non-conference opponents this weekend at Evansville Tuesday at 3 p.m. and at the Evansville Aces Wednesday at 1 p.m.

With a .380 record, one might expect to find the Salukis' statistics average at best. But a glance at the stats might leave one thinking he was evaluating an undefeated team.

"We're improving every week," coach Kay Breithaupt said. "We're just one play or one hit away right now and we'll start getting those plays soon."

With a 231 team batting average and 42 runs on 86 hits, the Salukis have outhit and outscored opponents (150 average, 36 runs scored and 52 hits), mostly on the hitting talents of the 'Big Three'.

Centerfield Rhonda Snow, shortstop Jenny Shapry and catcher Kelly Fox have terrorized opposing pitchers, combining for well over one-third of the Dogs hits and runs.

In a two-time junior college All-American before transferring to SIU-C, improved her average by over .400 points this weekend by going 7- for 14 at the plate during the three-game series this weekend.

Redbird Invitational: Making it to the fourth of the four team nationals, Snow had four hits including the game winning hit in contests against Western Illinois and Central Missouri.

The senior leads the team in runs scored (41), hits (71) and doubles (3).

Continuing her torrid pace of last season, Shapry is the model of consistency, hitting, for a .341 average. The senior shortstop hit by the same average last season, a team high and good for third-place in the conference.

Fox, a transfer student from Walsh Community College, coming to the Salukis in the spring, hit .200 and extra base hits (4), scored fewer runs than last season (1), but still clicked 250 over the weekend.

Overall pitching has been a problem, going 5-1 with a 7.88 era.

All-star teams select 2 Saluki cage recruits

By Steve Merritt

Sports Editor

Two recruits who have signed letters of intent for Saluki basketball coach Rick Herrmann have been named the Illinois Basketball Coaches' Association All-State team.

David Busch, a 6-foot-11, 190-pounder from Hoopset-East Lynn, helped guide the Corn- jockeys to a third-place finish in this year's Class A NCAA Regional tournament. Busch committed himself earlier this spring.

Herrmann also opted to keep his Class A All-State first team, averaged 16.8 ppg and 8.8 rpg for the 32-2 Cornjocks, who finished third in the Class A state tournament before advancing to eventual champion Terre Haute.

Busch also averaged 4.5 blocked shots per game, but coach Randy Feulner said his biggest need is to physically mature and fill up his 350-pound frame. "Jay Schaffer, who played his senior and junior years at Browning by the way, rehired the coaching staff to both recruiting and get a letter of intent in the fall."

Schaffer averaged 16.4 ppg on .39% percent field goal shooting while playing a major role in the Benton Rangers' 23-2 record.

Coach Herb Henderson describes Schaffer, the leading r counder and scorer, as "a strong defensive player around the basket.

The 6-foot-6, 205-pound Schafer blocked 79 shots and pulled down 220 rebounds (16 ppg) while helping his team advance to the sectional tourney to which the Rangers lost to Carbondale.

NCAA title chases: disparity is evident

By Anita J. Stoner

Sports Editor

Women's basketball faces a parity problem. It became obvious as the Lady Longhorns of Texas A&M stamped their name on a 34-0 record and the national title.

The "road to Lexington" differed from the "road to Dallas", as grave differs from pavement.

Look at the scores along the way. Texas A&M, 97-81, for the Southwestern Conference; California, 87-91, for the Women's National Invitational tournament; Texas, creamed Western Kentucky, 90-45, and USC defeated Tennessee, 83-55.

...There were no such blowouts in the semifinals to decide the men's championship race.

Both men's and women's title games between the Dallas and Lexington were decided by a 1-point margin on the swings of fate. It's that's why people would pay $750-$1,000 for a men's Final Four ticket.

That's the Lady Longhorn third string could start for just about any team in the country.

Louisville tops Duke

DALLAS (UPI) - Freshman Persiv Ellison struck for 25 points Monday night to help Louisville complete its remarkable ascent to the pinnacle of college basketball, defeating Duke 72-69 to win the NCAA championship.

In capturing its second national title, Louisville dethroned the nation's No. 1 team - a squad that won 21 straight games, had not lost in more than two months and had established a national record for most victories in a single season with 37.

The No. 7 Cardinals offset the scoring of the All-America Johnny Dawkins and the punishing defense of Tommy Amaker with the inside play of the 6-foot-9 Ellison. Louisville concluded in triumph a season that began forlornly.

The Cardinals were 11-4 before rampaging through the rest of the schedule. Louisville won 21 of its last 22 games, ran off a final streak of 17 in a row and finished at 22-7, becoming the first team in 20 years to win two titles in this decade.

The Cardinals led 70-45 with 27 seconds to go following a pair of foul shots by Ellision. They then had to sweat out the last 30 seconds as Duke surged. Jay Bilas delivered a layup in 19 seconds left to cut the lead to 70-67. Billy Thompson of Louisville then missed the front end of a 1-and-1, giving the Blue Devils a chance.

Danny Ferry, the reserve freshman center who hit the winning basket in Saturday's semifinal against Kansas, put in a follow shot after a scramble in the lane with three seconds to play to cut the lead to Louisville one point lead to one point.

Milt Wagner, the Cardinals' senior guard who had a decidedly off night, was fouled and converted both free throws, putting the Louisville lead of 72-69 with two seconds to go.

"It's over, shouted Louisville guard Jeff Hall. He then secured the victory by stealing the final inbound pass.
